QUEEN'S STUDENTS OPPOSE REDUCTION IN GOVT. GRANT

More than 100 students of Queen's University, Kingston, this week went on record as opposed to the reduction in the Ontario government grant to the institution, if it necessitates increasing fees.

A notice of protest was placed on the bulletin board, with the assurance by J. M. Coldwell, representing the Canadian students' assembly, that it is "officially taking up the matter." More than 100 students signed sheets of paper hung under the notice.

PUBLIC NOTICE

I have been instructed by the Municipal Council to notify all citizens that no relief will be granted from April 1st, 1939, until further notice; also that Good Friday, being one of the holidays to be observed locally, all stores and other business places are expected to close in accordance with the Business Men's Agreement, made at a meeting held in 1937, and at which time all agreed to observe the designated holidays each year. Good Friday was on the list, with Easter Monday left optional, and the Council sincerely hopes that all business men will live up to their agreement, and close their shops on Good Friday.

Dated at Winchester, Ont.. this 4th day of April, 1939.

E. M. SHAVER, Clerk.
Village of Winchester.

Municipal Council Discontinues Relief

At the regular meeting of the Municipal Council, held in the Council Chambers on Monday night, it was decided to discontinue all relief from April 1st until further notice.

The clerk was authorized to return the 1937 tax roll to the counties' treasurer at Cornwall for collection of arrears. Since the roll had been handed in to the local treasurer, the arrears were reduced by $500.00, the council was informed. The 1938 rolls are still in the hands of the tax collector, Mr. R. M. Elliott.

The new assessor, Mr. W. J. L. Boyd, reported that the work of assessing local property was almost completed and the books would be returned to the clerk within a week or so.

Discussion took place regarding the purchase of fifty additional chairs for the town hall auditorium; also the building of a vault in the clerk's office to store municipal records, etc. Both matters were held over for further consideration by the Council.

The clerk was instructed to write a letter to Mr. J. T. Elnaugh, Superintendent of the Municipal Works Department, and Mrs. Elnaugh, congratulating them on their 40th wedding anniversary, and expressing the Council's appreciation to Mr. Elnaugh for services rendered to the municipality during the 20 years in which he has been head of the Works Department.

Owing to the severe ruts which have formed on the local streets, making motor travel extremely difficult, it was decided to have the frozen ridges chopped out at once, and the Road Supt. was notified to engage additional men to complete the work.

Council's attention having been drawn to the fact that one local business man was not going to close his shop on Good Friday, in accordance with the business men's agreement, made at a meeting called for the purpose of designating the holidays to be observed locally, in 1937, the Clerk was authorized to have a notice published to the effect that the Council requests all business men to fulfill the agreement and close their places of business on Good Friday, it being one of the days decided upon to be observed as a holiday.

Members present were: Reeve T. O. Keyes, Councillors Ernest J. Christie, F. M. Cass, Albert Turner and J. K. Ault. and the clerk. Edward M. Shaver.

Kemptville ratepayers will enjoy a four-mill decrease in their tax rate this year according to a decision reached by the village council at a special meeting there on Saturday. The 1939 rate is 10 mills. Reductions were made in the general rate of 1 1-2 mills, the school board levy, 1 mill. In addition the 1 1-2 mils provincial subsidy will be passed on to the ratepayers. It was decided on suggestion by Reeve J. G. Langstaff that the dates for payment of taxes be set at April 30, August 30 and December 31.

Accounts totalling $1.260.51 were passed at the meeting.

Williamsburg Club Presents Fine Play

Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh Honoured By Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Elnaugh, highly respected citizens of this place, received the congratulations of their many friends on Monday on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary, which they celebrated at their home on Dufferin Street.

In honour of the event. Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh tendered an anniversary dinner with a number of intimate friends as guests.

Following a special church service in the evening, Mr .and Mrs. Enaugh were invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. J J. McKendry, where they were honoured by the congregation of the local Baptist church, of which they are devoted members. As guests of honour, they were the recipients of a number of beautiful gifts, accompanied by an appropriate address.

Presentations Made.

The presentations were made on behalf of the congregation, as follows: hall tree, by Dr. J. J. McKendry; silver butter dish and knife, by Miss Della Barkley; casserole, by Miss Jean Wyatt and a beautiful Bride's Book, by Miss Vivian McKendry. The address was read by Miss Rebecca Stenhouse, and was as follows:

Winchester, April 3rd, 1939.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh:—

Today, no doubt, your minds have gone back to an interesting wedding which took place in St. Peter's Church, Kennington Lane, England, forty years ago, in which you were the two main participants.

Looking back it will doubtless seem but a few short years. During those years you have experienced both sunshine and shadow which is the common lot of humanity. Just as those two phases are necessary to produce the sturdy plant, so they are necessary to produce the stalwart Christian.

We are glad that your path led across the "Big Water" to Canada and to Winchester and thus to our church.

Since coming here you have become a very necessary and very valuable part of that church.

In the heroic way in which you have met the handicap of ill-health, Mrs. Elnaugh, in which you have exemplified very clearly that though

"I cannot always see the way,
Where Thou Almighty God dost move!
But I can always, always say
That Thou art Love"

Your witness for your Master has extended far further than you have any idea of.

You. Mr. Elnaugh, in your willingness to serve in whatever capacity you may be needed, are filling, too, a very necessary place. You are proving that you are ready to use the talents given you, "in His Service."

So with the hope that you may yet be spared many, happy, useful years together, realizing that,

"They who tread the path of labor follow
where My feet have trod;
They who work without complaining do
the holy will of God.
Where the many toil together, there am
I among my own;
Where the tired workman sleepeth, there
am I with him alone.
I, the peace that passeth knowledge,
dwell amid the daily strife,
I. the bread of Heaven, am broken in the sacrament of life,
Every task. however, simple, sets the soul that does it, free;
Every deed of love and mercy done to man is done to me.
Never more thou needest seek me; I am
with thee everywhere—
Raise the stone and thou shalt find Me,
cleave the wood and I am there."

We ask you to accept this little gift as a token of the esteem in which you are held and the affection that we, your friends, feel for you.

Signed on behalf of the Church, Mission Circle and Sunday School, Pastor. R. F. Willson; F. M. McKendry, J. J. McKendry.

Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh replied to the address and expressed their appreciation for the beautiful gifts, after which dainty refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Letter From Council.

Among other messages received by celebrants, was a letter of congratulations from the Municipal Council, which also expressed the Council's appreciation to Mr. Elnaugh for the very efficient service he has rendered to the municipality as Supt. of the Works Department. over a period of years.

Married In London.

Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh are natives of London, England, and were married on April 3rd, 1899, at Vaux Hall, Upper Kennington Lane, London, by the Rev. Edward Denny, rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church. Mr. Elnaugh was a son of the late Jesse T. Elnaugh and Elizabeth Ellis, of South Lambeth, London, while Mrs. Elnaugh was the former Miss Elizabeth Mary Carrette, daughter of the late Richard Carrette and Caroline Dorett, of Wandsworth Road, London.

No Relatives Here.

With the exception of one son, Jesse Elnaugh, who resides at Preston, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh have no relatives living in Canada. Mr. Elnaugh has two brothers, Thomas W. and John W., and four sisters, Mrs. Hannah Blundon, Mrs G. Griffith, Mrs. R. Havers and Mrs. W. Horton, all of whom reside in England. Mrs. Elnaugh has two sisters, Mrs. T. Wood and Mrs. W. Wood, and one brother, George Carrette, in England, and one sister, Mrs. W. Sproat, who lives in South Africa.

Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh resided in London for thirteen years. In 1912 they decided to come to Canada, and crossed the Atlantic about the same time as the ill-fated "Titanic" made its maiden voyage and met with disaster.

Settled Near Spencerville.

Upon their arrival in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh settled on a farm near Spencerville where they remained for one year. They then farmed at Ventnor for a little over a year, after which they moved to Mountain Township. In 1917, their home and most of their belongings were destroyed by fire and they were forced to start homesteading all over again. It was at this time that they took up residence in Winchester, where they have remained for the past 22 years.

Through hard work and careful management, Mr. and Mrs. Elnaugh purchased a property on Dufferin Street, and the home which they have established is noted for its kind hospitality and Christain atmosphere.

Is Civic Official.

For several years Mr. Elnaugh has been superintendent of the Municipal Works Dept., and his knowledge of the muncipal sewerage system, streets, etc., is of inestimable value to members of the Municipal Council year after year. He is also a member of the local Fire Brigade and performs the duties of special constable when his services are required. Being a general handy-man, he has never lacked employment. As a matter of fact he has few leisure moments at his disposal and at tmes, finds it difficult to cope with the many jobs entrusted to his care.

Mr. Elnaugh is in his 60th year, and is enjoying excellent health. He attributes his good health to regular habits and plenty of hard work. Although the earlier years of his life were spent in London, where the environment of the beer saloon was very marked, Mr. Elnaugh has never taken a drink of liquor and is not a tobacco smoker. He is keenly interested in church work and is a member of the Trustee Board of the local Baptist church. He also takes an active part in all enterprises that are beneficial to the social life of the community.

Still Active Despite Ill Health.

Mrs. Elnaugh, who is 61 years of age, is not enjoying the best of health, but is still active in church work and contributes much for the cause of charity. During the years of the Great War she was a member of the Red Cross and did her share to provide socks, mitts, etc. to make things more comfortable for the boys on the front lines in France.

It is the earnest wish of their numerous friends here, that this esteemed couple may be spared to celebrate many more happy wedding anniversaries.

Bonus To Stimulate Cheese Industry

Granting of a bonus of one cent a pound for high-grade export cheese, grants for the construction, reconstruction and equipment of cheese factories including insulation and refrigeration are provided for under legislation which will be presented to Parliament shortly by Hon. James G. Gardiner, Mnlister of Agriculture.

Notice of the cheese legislation is given on the order paper of the House of Commons yesterday.

Encourage Co-operative Marketing

Mr. Gardiner announces his intention of introducing legislation to encourage the co-operative marketing of any kind of grain, other than wheat, and of other agricultural products defined in the act, by guaranteeing the initial payment of co-operative associations.

Aid for the cheese industry will stimulate quality production, and Ottawa district will be considerably benefitted because Eastern Ontario is the largest cheese producing area in Ontario, and probably in Canada, Allan C. Fraser, secretary-manager of the National Dairy Council, stated.

Improvement to the factories would also be a stimulant to the production of higher quality cheese. Cheese producers had been agitating for aid, generally speaking. Their own association had been asking the Government to do something for the industry. so as to avoid declining production. and no doubt what was now proposed was a partial answer, he said.

THOUSANDS OF PRINTED MATTER SEIZURES MADE

The Dominion government made thousands of seizures of objectional printed matter and received many complaints in 1938, according to a return tabled in Parliament recently by Revenue Minister Ilsley.

The government seized 26,639 magazines, 16,040 pamphlets, 3,897 newspapers, 581 books and 155 photographs of an obscene nature as well as 3.917 publications considered subversive.

Complaints from collectors of customs and excise and other persons and organizations concerning subversive, immoral or obscene magazines totalled 1,400.

Further Dredging On Nation River This Year

Further steps to alleviate the flood conditions along the banks of the Nation River will be taken this year with the inclusion in the supplementary estimates of an item for $43,000 for dredging. The provincial government will also contribute.

Already a large amount of dredging has been done in the vicinity of Plantagenet and this work will be continued this year. The contract has already been awarded by the Department of Public Works.

The Nation river annually goes on a rampage causing considerable damage. It is expected that by deepening the channel further this flooding will be greatly minimized, making the land adjacent to the river available much earlier for planting.

The Press would appreciate it, if local citizens would send in their list of Easter visitors as early in the week as possible.

Uses Same Watch Over Half Century

In one of Robt. Ripley's interesting "Believe It Or Not" cartoons, recently published in the Ottawa Journal, it was noted that Bill Brown, a prominent member of the New York State Boxing Commission, had carried the same watch for 44 years. It was given to him by his mother on his 21st birthday and has never stopped or been repaired, according to Ripley. That is a pretty good record, but, believe it or not, Reeve T. O. Keyes can go Ripley one better. He has been carrying the same watch for the past 55 years and it still keeps accurate time, although Mr. Keyes will admit that it has stopped on occasions when he would forget to wind it.

After reading Ripley's reference to Mr. Brown and his watch, Mr. Keyes' attention was drawn to his own time piece, and as he reminisced, he recalled the day he purchased the very watch that he carries at present—over half a century ago.

When a lad of 13 years, he attended school at Inkerman (the same stone school that serves the community today). Being an industrious young chap, he decided he wanted to earn some money of his own and undertook to sweep and dust the school rooms each day. for which he received the meagre sum of 25c per week. Saving his quarters until he had accumulated $15.00, he purchased a watch—the watch he still carries. It is of silver hunting-case design, and although it's engravings have disappeared due to wear and tear, Mr. Keyes would not take anything for his ancient time piece.

BEHAVE OR FIGHT

The question of peace for Europe seems to have become more settled during the past week with the sudden change in tactics employed by Great Britain in dealing with Herr Hitler of Germany. Instead of accepting his latest steal as a matter of course, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced that Great Britain and France were willing to fight at the side of Poland and Roumania if either country were invaded by the Nazis. Plans are progressing for a "Stop Hitler" bloc that may prove to be very effective in disrupting Herr Hitler's future plans for more aggression to the East in Europe. The German dictator now has to behave himself or fight—and he can take his choice.

This new move on the part of the democracies has silenced the Feuhrer effectively. On Saturday he made a long-winded speech at Wilhelmshaven in which he raved for over an hour on "Germany's place in the sun" and the fact that Britain had caused the Great War while Germany was defenceless and unprepared. He failed to mention Poland or Roumania or indicate where he might strike next, for it is doubtful if he wanted to further strengthen the growing opposition to his despised European policies.

It now appears that Great Britain and France are prepared for a showdown and no further nonsense is to be tolerated. Such being the case it is possible that peace is secure for the time being at least. In any event, Herr Hitler will likely do plenty of thinking before he takes any more drastic steps towards European domination, for he stands perilously close to the end of the plank.

ONTARIO RAISES ITS VOICE

The unanimity of the Ontario Legislature on the motion of Col. Hunter as amended, calling upon the Dominion Government to prepare for a war emergency by passing legislation that could be invoked at any time for the mobilization of wealth and man power for the defence of our free institutions demonstrated that in face of differences on other subjects our country is first and foremost, says the Collingwood Enterprise-Bulletin. "Premier Hepburn and Opposition Leader Col. Drew both declared a national emergency existed owing to the decidedly unsettled situation in Europe. Other speakers including Aurelien Belanger endorsed the resolution, all avoiding any semblance of debate. The object of the resolution, it was said, was not intended to embarrass the Dominion government, but simply to give a recorded expression of opinion on behalf of the province. That is quite as it should be. The Legislature of the province can but speak for itself, while the Dominion government has to give voice for the nine provinces. It is well, ever, that the Federal government should know the feeling of the provinces, and especially of Ontario.

THE FLAG TO FLY

Considerable interest is being shown by various cities and towns that the King and Queen will visit in May, in what flags are to be flown in honour of the occasion.

The Royal Standard may be hoisted only when the King or Queen is actually in a building and never when Their Majesties are passing in a procession. The present form of standard has been in use since the accession of of Queen Victoria.

It bears the arms of England, three lions couchant, in the first and fourth quarters; the arms of Scotland, a single lion rampant, in the second; and the harp of Wales in the third.

It is understood that the usual custom is for an officer of the royal staff to have the standard and deliver it to the proper person with instructions for its use. It must be returned to the officer as soon as it is hauled down.

The Union Jack is the proper flag to be flown during the royal visit. The red ensign is a mercantile marine flag, the blue ensign is for Canadian government ships, and the white ensign is for the use of the navy.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Cheer up, Spring is "just around the corner."

In accordance with an agreement made in 1937, local merchants are asked to co-operate in the observance of Good Friday as a public holiday.

To date the Nation River has refused to budge from its banks and thoughts of a "big" flood this year are gradually beginning to dwindle.

To sport fans of the district chief interest this evening centres on Boston where the Toronto Maple Leafs open their battle with the Bruins for the Stanley Cup.

Rumour has it that Premier Mussolini of Italy is becoming luke-warm about the Rome-Berlin axis. This would not be surprising, for to date the "gravy" has fallen mainly to Herr Hitler with Il Duce snatching for the "drippings."

Only six weeks remain until Their Majesties arrive on Canadian soil. It will be a great day for Canadians and we hope that all the children of this district are given the opportunity to visit Ottawa during the Royal visit and join in the glorious welcome that will be given the King and Queen.

Notifying your newspaper office to stop your paper when it is several years in arrears is not sufficient. What do you think the publisher has been sending you his paper all these years for? He expects his pay. Pay your subscription, pay him what you owe him, and he will willingly stop your paper. But don't pay him, and if he sues you, that will be your own lookout. For subscription accounts, like every other kind of account, can be collected via division court.—Stirling News-Argus.

ONTARIO GAZETTE USELESS

(Barrie Examiner)

"The Ontario Gazette is the greatest fraud that was ever perpetrated on the people of this province," declared Ald. R. D. Humphreys, Oshawa barrister, when the city council was asked to okay a bill for advertising the sale of vacant lots in the Gazette. It is not read by one person in 10,000, yet, we have to advertise tax sales in it and pay for it." Mr. Humphreys is right. The Gazette makes a little revenue for the Government at the expense of municipalities and citizens. If the Government is sincere in its desire to reduce costs, here is a good place for it to start.

ABOUT RADIO LICENSES

(Stirling News-Argus)

According to evidence given before the Parliamentary Radio Committee recently some 150,000 of the million and a half radio owners in Canada evade paying their radio license each year, in addition to the 100,000 radio owners on relief who are not bothered by the Department. There have been close to five thousand prosecutions for non-payment of the license fee during the current fiscal year, and the cost of collecting the licenses was $311,214. These are interesting figures and give some indication of the unpopularity of the radio tax. However, there appears to be little chance of removal or even a reduction in the annual fee, although it has been hinted that persons owning two or more radios may receive a slight reduction on anything over the first license.

SUCH STUFF AS DREAMS

(Trenton Courier-Advocate)

We were one of the many thousands who did not win money in the recent Irish Sweepstakes. But we had our dreams. Supposing we had drawn a horse that finished in first, second or third place, and we had come into a sizeable fortune, what do you think we would have done?

Well, one thing certain no agent for anything would ever get within a mile of us and if he did, it would not do him any good. Then, what would we have done?

There is the possibility—yes, the probability—that our staff in the office here would be looked after for some long time to come, and there would be a large sign on our front door which would read: "This business is closed for five years. The editor's gone fishing. For further details read your local newspapers."

Ah, to dream! As Shakespeare put it: "We are such stuff as dreams are made on; and our little life is rounded with a sleep." And, what a sleep, what a sleep! And—and five years of fishing! Think of that, you pelicans, think of that!

SUGGESTIONS FOR SERMONS

(Perth Courier)

Ministers, like everyone else, have their problems, and there is no doubt that one of their toughest is the weekly problem of preparing two sermons. One of these intriguing competitions has come along, however, in the matter of suitable texts.

The subject set was to find Bible texts appropriate to be preached to congregations whose members include players of bridge, chess, billiards. baccarat, croquet or golf. It seems the Bible is full of them.

For instance, for golf there is this, from Ezekiel 6:11: "Smite with thine hand and stamp with thy foot and say alas!" From Job, 10:15, "Yet I will not lift up my head." From II Kings 9:20, "He driveth furiously." From Proverbs 20:23, "A false balance is not good." From Isiah 28:24, "Doth he open and break the clods of his ground?"

For chess players there is "The King was much moved," from Sam. 18:33, and "What shall we do with the Queen?" from Esther 1:16.

Bridge also produces some most appropriate tests. For instance, Proverbs 29:11 gives us "A fool uttereth all his mind, but a wise man keepeth it in till afterwards."

Eccl. 5:14 says "There is nothing in his hand." The same book, in 3:6. warns that "There is a time to keep and a time to cast away." Psalms 39:9 has a reproach for a player who does not care much about rules, "I was dumb, I opened not my mouth before thou did'st it."

For Billiards, Deut. 32:26 says "I said I would scatter them into the corners. Eccl. 9:11, evidently on the subject of croquet, is content with saying: "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong.'"

Baccarat resulted, no doubt, in this item from Matt. 28:5: And he cast down the pieces of silver and went and hanged himself," while Isiah 1:25 says: "And I will turn my hand upon thee and take away all thy tin."

For Badminton, here is this from Luke 10:40, "But Martha was cumbered about with such serving."

"In Lighter Vein"

"A job done well never wants doing again."

"Did you ever try shovelling snow frow from the sidewalk?

Truck Driver: Use your noodle, lady; use your noodle.

Lady: My goodness, where is it? I've pulled and pushed everything in the car!

* * * *

Little Willie: "Mom you said the baby has your eyes and Daddy's nose, didn't you?"

Mother: "Yes, darling."

Willie: "Well, you'd better watch him. He has grandpa's teeth now."

* * * *

Willie: "Daddy, I wish you would get me a drum."

Daddy: "Oh, I'm afraid you'll disturb me very much with it."

Willie: "Oh, no, Daddy. I'll only play it when you're asleep."

* * * *

Aunt: "Won't you have another mince pie, Tommy?"

Tommy: "No thank you."

Aunt: "You seem to be suffering from a loss of appetite."

Tommy: "That isn't loss of appetite. What I am suffering from is politeness."

* * * *

"Well," said the lawyer for the defense to his client, "I was certainly surprised at your conviction."

"I wasn't; it was all your fault.'

"All my fault? I put up a magnificent fight for you."

"Yes, an' you kep' yellin' at the jury that you demanded justice for me till they went and give it to me."

IF EVERY ONE WOULD DRIVE AND ACT IN THIS MANNER

If every one who drives a car could lie a month in bed,
With broken bones and stitched-up wounds, or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies that many people do,
They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you.

If every one could stand beside the bed of some close friend,
And hear the doctor say "no hope" before that fatal end,
And see him there unconscious, never knowing what took place,
The laws and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If every one could meet the wife and children left behind,
And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shined,
And look upon "The Vacant Chair" where Daddy used to sit,
I'm sure each reckless driver would be forced to think a bit.

If every one would realize pedestrians on the street,
Have just as much the right-of-way as those upon the seat,
And train their eyes for children who run recklessly at play,
This steady toll of human lives would drop from day to day.

If every one would check his car before he takes a trip,
For tires worn, loose steering wheels and brakes that fail to grip,
And pay attention to his lights while driving roads at night,
Another score for safety could be chalked up in the fight.

If every one who drives a car would heed the danger signs,
Placed by the highway engineers who also marked the lines,
To keep the traffic in the lane and give it proper space,
The accidents we read about could not have taken place.

And last, if he who takes the wheel would say a little prayer,
And keep in mind those in the car depending on his care,
And make a vow and pledge himself to never take a chance,
The great crusade for safety then would suddenly advance.

—C. E. Weiser.

The man went to the insurance office to have his life insured.

"Do you drive?" asked the agent.

"No," said the applicant.

"Do you ride a bus?"

"No."

"Do you fly?"

"No."

"Sorry, sir," snapped the agent curtly, "we don't insure pedestrians."

EASTER

Doubt and fears are crushed at Easter,
Christ has swept them all away.
Faith and hope with joy o'erflowing
Fills the heart on Easter Day.
Tear-dimmed eyes with sad bereavement
Known their loved ones did not die.
Death means birth to life immortal,
They are safe wtih God on high.
O, dear friend, ne'er doubt His wisdom,
Angel guards will watch each hour.
Naught on earth can ever harm thee,
When protected by His power.
Birds and flowers proclaim His message
Never yield to dark despair.
Though life's journey may prove toilsome,
God will always hear your prayer.

—Bertram E. Nightingale.

RESURGENCE

O fair Canadian country, thou art the New World's crown,
With mystic jewels flashing the Northern Light adown;
'Twas here in toil and visions our fathers linked thy seas
To found a mighty nation with ancient loyalties.

Not rendering unto faction the fealty due to thee,
Or boasting that our charters have made us great and free,
But as we smite the evil that thwarts the people's good
And bring their weal from chaos, shall be thy nationhood.

An urge divine is seeking through tumult of thy soul
A deep and nobler purpose, a nation great and whole;
So must we choose with courage, must suffer and obey,
Till chaste and strong of spirit, we mate thy destiny.

O loved Canadian homeland, the widening years in view,
We build thy living fabric with hearts that thrill anew;
Here Truth and Light shall flourish, here loftier Freedom rise,
With blood-red leaves of maple, thy badge of sacrifice.

—Rev. J. W. Whillans.

SPRING

When you see the first red robin,
Then it's spring!
When the south winds come a-sobbin'
Then it's spring!
When the sun's a little brighter,
And your heart's a little lighter,
Chuck your cares and smile, you blighter
For it's spring.

When the snows are almost finished,
Then it's spring!
And your stock of coal's diminished,
Then it's spring!
When you find yourself a-wishin'
For a week of early fishin'.
By a process of addition
It is spring.

When your wife starts renovating,
Then it's spring!
When there's work a-plenty waiting,
Then it's spring!
When the mats and rugs need beating
Then there is no use retreating,
Just remember you've been bleating
For the sring!

—H. Reginald Hardy

THE DYING SHEPHERD TO HIS LOVE

Beside the roaring fire,
Soft warmth in all you see;
Your eyes in my eyes:
You and me.

Outside stormy weather,
Black and murky as can be;
Inside, peace and comfort,
You and me.

Outside, trees are creaking,
Storms tossing ships at sea;
Here we rest in love and safety,
You and me.

Hate and fear and war and turmoil,
All, all this, too, we see;
But we love each other dearly,
You and me.

Come, come a little closer,
Let me love you while I'm free,
In a few hours we'll be parted,
You and me.

Soon I leave this world for ever,
And across that crystal sea,
Watch you face the world, my darling,
Without me.

But we'll meet again in glory,
Where we'll be forever free;
And we'll live again together,
You and me.

There our Lord will pass His sentence,
And each one will get his due;
But we two will stay together,
Me and you.

—Phillip Sidney Irwin, Metcalfe.

"The Chiming Clocks To Dinner Call"

By Frances Lee Barton

AND modern man demands satisfying meals as strongly as did Pope — even though modern man may not be called to dinner by a collection of chiming clocks.

Man has a dessert complex that never leaves him. Pudding to him is like perfume to a woman or playtime to a child. It's a wise woman who recognizes this and searches for new and novel dessert recipes that call for man's favorite ingredients — a recipe like the following, for instance:

Chocolate Puff Pudding

3 tablespoons milk
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon double-acting baking powder
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Add milk to chocolate and heat in double boiler, stirring until smooth. Add gradually to egg yolks, stirring until blended; add lemon rind. Add baking powder to egg whites and beat with rotary egg beater until stiff. Fold in sugar. Add chocolate mixture gradually, folding gently but thoroughly. Turn into greased baking dish which has been sprinkled lightly with additional sugar. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes, or until done. Serve with light cream. Serves 4.

Eggs For Easter Long Tradition

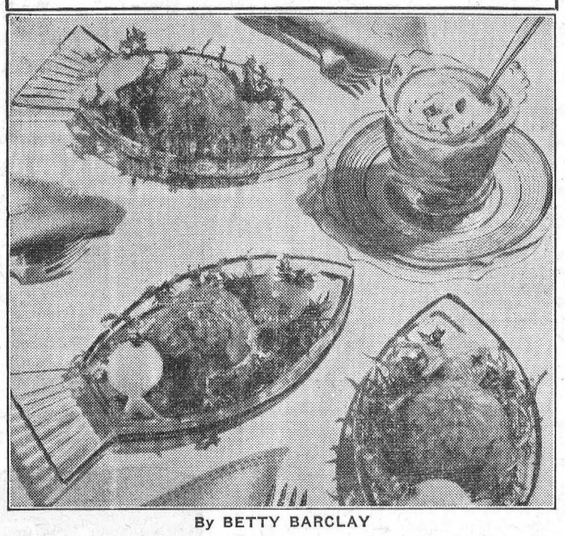
The origin of the Easter egg tradition is lost in antiquity but year after year the delightful practice of adorning the breakfast table with eggs on Easter Sunday morning continues. It matters not that the first fresh eggs no longer come with Easter, the beginning of Spring. The modern model of the humble hen may, and usually does, produce her excellent product the year round. Easter is still associated with eggs, with the hen scratching in the warming earth, newly aware of her destiny.

Eggs, in the Easter tradition, are always boiled in the shell. For children, of course, they must be coloured, with one of an infinite variety of home or commercial preparations. No parents, treasuring childhood memories of bowls of multi-colored eggs on Easter morning, would deny a similar pleasure to their children.

For children, pullet eggs, if they are available, will prove an added attraction, their small size lending a youthful touch and having the further practical advantage of enabling Junior to dispose of a greater number. These small eggs are sold under the designation of Grade A Pullet. They weigh approximately an ounce and a half each. Grade A Large eggs weigh two ounces or more.

Eggs are so sensitive to heat in cooking that it is easy to overcook them, or cook them poorly. When they are cooked in the shell a precise method is necessary to cook them to the right degree. Use one pint of water for the first egg and one cup of water for each additional egg. Bring the water to the boiling point. The shape of the kettle should be such that the water will cover the egg. Place the egg in the water and cover the kettle. Remove from the heat and keep the water hot but not boiling for 6 to 8 minutes, depending upon the degree of cooking desired, for soft cooked or medium eggs. For hard cooked eggs, follow the direction for soft cooked, allowing the eggs to simmer 30-35 minutes. Cool eggs quickly by plunging them into cold water, or letting cold water run over them in order to prevent blackened surface of the yolk. Hard cooked eggs can be used in a number of ways to give variety.

Four Recipes for Lent



By BETTY BARCLAY

Restricted diets need not be dull. Even in Lent when menus are often limited, meals can be made zestful. The difference between ordinary food and inspired cookery is frequently a slim margin of ingenuity in seasoning, or a novel combination creating new flavors.

Lemon and fish are famous food affinities at the height of popularity in the Lenten season. Lemons also bring out the flavor of vegetables. Some new ways of serving these seasonal foods — tested and proved delicious — will be welcomed by many home managers at this time.

For an especially tasty service prepared with canned fish or fish already cooked, try this

Fish In Lemon Aspic (Serves 4-6)

2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) gelatine
¼ cup cold water

Sprinkle gelatine on top of water. Add:

1½ cups hot water
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup lemon juice

Cool and add:

1 cup of any cooked or canned fish, flaked
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 cup chopped celery

Chill in individual molds. Unmold on crisp salad greens. With scissors cut fish garnishes from lemons, as illustrated. Serve with lemon tartare sauce.

Lemon Tartare Sauce (Serves 6-8)

1 cup lemon mayonnaise
½ teaspoon onion juice or 1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles or green relish
Lemon juice

Combine, thinning to desired consistency with lemon juice.

Sunkist Spinach Ring a la Goldenrod (Serves 8)

4 pounds spinach
¼ cup salad oil

Wash and pick over spinach carefully. Place in kettle without adding water. Pour oil over spinach and mix thoroughly. Add:

1 tablespoon salt

Cook 8 to 10 minutes. Stir or lift occasionally. Drain and chop. Add:

¼ cup lemon juice

Pack into oiled 9-inch ring mold. Unmold on serving plate. Fill center with:

Goldenrod Eggs

Blend thoroughly:

¼ cup melted butter
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Heat the mixture and add gradually one-half cup at a time, stirring after each addition to make a smooth sauce:

2 cups milk

Separate yolks and whites of:

4 hard-cooked eggs

Slice the whites and add to the prepared sauce. Pour sauce into unmolded spinach ring. Press the yolks through a coarse strainer to top the sauce. Garnish with paprika, parsley, and lemon slices

High School Literary Notes

MY LIBRARY

I like my library. The rows of books, the cream-coloured walls, the frilly curtains—the whole thing is fascinating to me—a book lover. I like to amble round, lean with my elbow on the library table in the middle, and glance over the titles of my new volumes.

The room is small and almost square with a window in the west. Along the north wall are six shelves covered with books interesting enough to suit anyone. On the west part of the top shelf is the new set of Books of Knowledge with fancy dark blue pebbled covers. Next to these are my three Encyclopaedias, then some of my newer books written by well-known authors.

The second shelf is laden with books such as "The Little Red Captain," and "King Arthur's Knights," which I still enjoy reading, the third or fourth time. Some of these books I exchange with my friends.

On the next shelf are books of thrilling girls' stories, and also cheaper ones like "Patsy Stewart." Below these are Bible and Children's stories. Some of these such as "Alice in Wonderland," and "The Story of the Cat," I read many times during my childhood.

The second last layer holds all the school texts that I have ever used. Here there are books ranging from a little red Primer to a thick Physics book. As I lack volumes to fill the bottom shelf I keep National Geographics there.

On the whole my books are not as numerous or of such fine quality as those in some libraries, but they have given me a great deal of knowledge and remain to help many others.—Evelyn Holmes.

SPRING MOTORING

The car ran in its mad dash to pass the truck. It speeded and swerved across the road, and slowed down again, disappearing and reappearing from behind the truck, whose polished silver trimmings reflected the bright rays of the sun that sparkled and danced like piercing needles.

The truck, forming a red wall against the clear sky, came roaring and rumbling down the road. With a great expansive swish of water flying through the air, it passed, its body and fenders covered with mud from splashing, and it sped away, becoming smaller in the distance.

The car came nearer and nearer, its speed marked by the steady drone of the engine. It slowed down and swerved to miss a transient coming along the road. A great dazzle of silver made my eyes blink and a maroon colored car whizzed by leaving me staring at a blur of color.

The car spun along, and I saw it rushing over the pavement; saw it trying to overtake the truck, dodging in and out; saw it diminish to a mere speck of black that would be swept away and destroyed in a few years.—Bessie McCaul.

A NEW AIRPLANE

Propeller and all-metal coverings shine in the sun; a tracery of gull-wing braces quiver above the smooth field as the plane is slowly pushed into position from its hangar, and the blue of the bright steel is as the blue of its native ether. Suddenly the engine roars, the propeller blurs and disappears and the wild metal bird strains at the chocks.

A lane of grey dust folows the plane from the propeller wash and a shining blue machine roars through the skies in perfect harmony of colours. Engine to tail, aerial to wheel-pants, the plane is hard and glistening against the soft, unreflecting blue of the surrounding sky. A radiant beauty is about the whole figure of the ship; the humming braces the glistening windows, and as she banks light gleams in unearthly chrome coloured radiance from her upper wings. The plane is a demon of supernatural speed, a goddess of the air, banking and dipping its praise of light.

So it roars past in the pride of her wonderful figure, and with a vibration of braces and a twist of the rudder she dives into the enveloping clouds.—Wm. Spinks.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mrs. Allen Quickfall, of Bridgeport, Ont., had just arranged a huge bouquet of Chrysanthemums, their Golden Wedding Remembrance from assembled children and grandchildren, when the telephone rang. It was a call from Kindersley, Sask., and the voice of Roy, her son, greeted her. What a surprise on such a day! Mrs. Quickfall writes: "We like to pass on to other sons and mothers the value and satisfaction to be obtained through the medium of telephone contacts, particularly so when the dear ones are scattered over the country."

WHY SHORTNESS OF BREATH?

A person who breathes comfortably when at rest, but gets out of breath when some physical exercise is taken, naturally wants to know the reason.

In the young and middle-aged, unusual shortness of breath on exertion in the absence of lung or heart disease, is due to being "out of condition." The causes of being "out of condition" are:

1. Want of regular exercise, which makes the heart as well as other muscles flabby and unequal to extra effort.
2. Obesity, that is, being over-fat. This is always due to the taking of too much food, as well as to the invariable lack of exercise taken by obese individuals.
3. Over-indulgence in tobacco or alcohol.
4. The absorption of poisonous substances from teeth, tonsils, bowels, etc.
5. All conditions of general debility as from illness, under-nourishment or too long confinement indoors.
6. Anaemia—that is poor blood. In such cases the blood lacks colour, the heart is undernourished and the oxygen supply to the lungs is at a low level.

The most important of all causes of shortness of breath is in the case of disorder and disease of the heart and diseases of the lungs such as chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis.

Disorder and disease of the heart may occur early in life but these, particularly actual heart disease, are commoner in adult life. Shortness of breath in adult life and in the aged is usually the best indication of the heart's capacity. It is often a better sign of the condition of the heart than can be gained from physical examination.

Chronic bronchitis and tuberculosis, by interfering with the normal function of the lungs, will cause shortness of breath. The blood in such conditions is unable to gain a sufficient supply of oxygen for an adequate lung supply. In the young, one should take note of breathlessness. It is often associated with heart or lung disease. The best time to treat such a condition is before the cause has progressed very far. One of the best means of warding off the consequences of the various agencies productive of breathlessness is by regular physical examination. This advice pertains to both young and old. If universally followed, it would prevent much severe illness and many premature deaths.

EXTEND RELIEF FOR SINGLE UNEMPLOYED

Backwardness of the spring season has resulted in the Ontario government delaying for 15 days the deadline for its participation in relief granted to single unemployed men in Toronto and other large centers, "where the problem is acute," Welfare Minister Eric Cross said last week.

Previously the government had announced it would cease subsidizing relief for single unemployed men on March 31. Mr. Cross said the date has been extended to April 15.

"In Western Ontario and other sections, the farmers are not yet on the land because of the backwardness of the season," said Mr. Cross. "As far as we are concerned this is the final extension."

OGDENSBURG AND KEMPTVILLE TO CO-OPERATE WITH PRESCOTT IN RUNNING TRAIN TO CAPITAL

The city of Ogdensburg and the village of Kemptville have agreed to co-operate with the town of Prescott in the special train which the latter intends to charter for the conveyance of people belonging to the town to Ottawa at the time of the Royal visit. The Ogdensburg Chamber of Commerce has agreed to receive the names of those desirous of participating in the excursion and to sell tickets, while the village of Kemptville, through Reeve Grenville Langstaff, is co-operating in the same manner.

Mayor J. T. Horan, of Prescott, will confer shortly with Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa, in regard to space along the route of the Royal procession for the use of those who travel by the train, which will be made up of first class equipment, including chair cars. In Brockville recently, Mr. Horan said that of any Brockville people who are interhe would be glad to receive the names ested in accompanying the contingents from Prescott, Ogdensburg and Kemptville.

It is expected that fully 1,000 people from Prescott, 500 to 800 from Ogdensburg, and 250 from Kemptville will be passengers on the train, or trains, and Town Clerk W. J. Ranson, of Prescott, has been instructed by the town council there to receive the names of those who wish to reserve accommodation. Underprivileged children belonging to Prescott, and their parents, are to be given free passage, with their fares being paid by the Prescott municipality.

SPRING TIPS FOR MOTORISTS

Be sure and change from light oil and grease to heavier grades for warm weather driving.

It's simple to prevent your car's cooling system from over heating this summer. Drain your anti-freeze and have your garageman pour a can of corrosion preventive into the radiator. Car manufacturers say radiators should be rust-proofed now.

Check your brakes now after a long winter. Remember, even with good brakes, a car travelling 40 miles an hour can not be stopped under 115 feet.

Do you know that almost 60 per cent. of fatal accidents occur at night, although there is only one out of every four cars on the road. Have your headlights checked for correct focussing and the reflectors cleaned. Replace worn-out or dim headlight bulbs without delay.

COLOR SCHEMES FOR THE ROYAL TRAIN

Color schemes of the Royal train to be used during the visit of the King and Queen throughout Canada are under inspection and consideration at the Canadian Pacific's Railway's Angus shops at Montreal.

Two cars which make up the 12-car Royal train have been painted a royal blue, with trimmings of silver and silver maple leafs. Ten other cars remain to be painted whil railway officials await definite instructions from the official committee in Ottawa on final decision concerning the outside decoration of the train.

The present decorations are not official, and it was believed that there had been suggestions that the train be painted some shade of maroon or red. The two cars already painted and partially lined with fitted matched walnut panels and other woodwork of mahogany and oak, are said to be the coaches to be used by the King and Queen.

SOME NEW IDEAS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

A new type spraying primer for ferrous surfaces dries in ten minutes, gives a semi-gloss coat, smooth in texture, which needs no sanding. It has extreme water resistance, is oil and gasoline proof, insulates against galvanic corrosion, has good adhesion and is easily bonded to finishing coats. It is made of a combination of red iron oxide and zinc chromate and is too biscuous to be applied by brush.

An electrically heated, curved vacuum casting box has been developed for greater plate uniformity and to help get the most faithful reproduction of the form from which the mat was produced. A specially designed insulated back and an adjustable thermostatic control maintain heat at the proper casting temperatures. The core of this machine is equipped with an automatically controlled water circulating system. The casting box is adaptable to the production of either thin or thick plates. For this latter type. special equipment may be obtained.

A new type tray for mechanical refrigerators features individually packaged pieces of ice. When only one or two pieces of ice are desired, it is unnecessary to remove the entire tray. The trays do not need to be thawed under a spigot as a simple twist of the wrist removes each piece of ice from its container. The cups are sealed so that the ice is untainted by food odours in the ice box. This feature is said to produce an ice that will not flatten a drink. The trays have "sled runners" which permit them to slide easily from the box.

For copper-plating there is a new high-speed process utilizing high current density which makes possible heavy coatings in a short time. Smooth or bright coatings may be produced. In chronium plating it makes possible the use of more copper and less nickel.

An ash tray for drafty places is said to be wind-proof. It has a special cigarette rest which dumps the burning cigarette in the tray if left burning too long. The hood of the tray is of polished chromium over solid brass.

WOULD BE STAND-INS FOR KING AND QUEEN

A good-looking Maritimes couple are seeking jobs as "stand-ins" for the King and Queen during their forthcoming visit to Canda, government officials arranging the tour have revealed. The husband wrote that he and his wife closely resemble the royal pair and could easily take their place for the more tiresome processions. Scores of similar incredible letters are arriving daily in government postbags.

CLOSE SHAVE FOR LADS IN SAILBOAT

Tragedy was narrowly averted recently when two young lads were becalmed in a "flatty" sailboat on Vancouver's English Bay. Norman Sutheland and his chum went for a sail on the bay in a fitful wind. The blow died out when they were five miles from shore.

Out of the darkness loomed a cargo steamer driving straight for them. Suthland, who was paddling, tried desperately to get clear of the ship. but succeeded only in getting more directly in its path.

The wheelman on the big steamer neither heard the boys nor saw them. Suddenly, Sutherland remembered his flashlight, stowed away in the locker. He snatched it out and flashed it zig-zag across the sail. The two young sailors held their breath as the big ship wheeled sharply to starboard.

"As the freighter slid past," said Sutherland, safe again on the shore, "I could have reached out and touched it. That flashlight loaded with fresh batteries sure saved our lives tonight."

The boys aren't going out sailing again, they swear, until they equip their 'flatty' boat with proper marine lights.

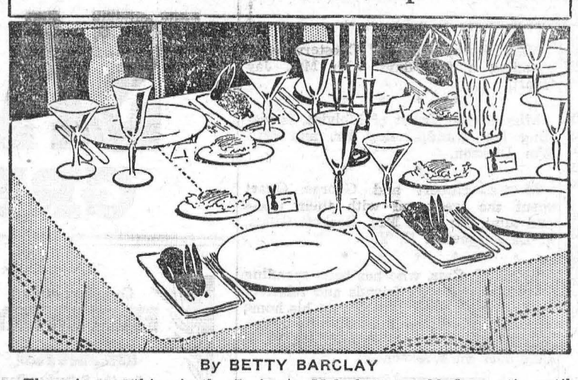
Faultless Easter Recipes



By BETTY BARCLAY

There is something in the Spring air of Easter that calls for special foods — tempting foods, tantalizing foods, different dishes. And here they are! Just the tasties you will want to place before your family and your friends when they sit at your table:

Gem Fruit Salad

8 canned Hawaiian pineapple gems
⅓ cup mayonnaise dressing
1½ cups finely chopped nuts (walnuts, pecans or peanuts)
6 canned or steamed dried figs (stuffed with cream cheese)
Chicory or romaine
2 cups orange sections

Drain pineapple gems — spoon size pieces cut from the juiciest part of the fruit — dry on absorbent paper, dip in mayonnaise and finely chopped nuts. For each serving arrange 1 stuffed fig on crisp chicory or romaine, surround with gems, and garnish with orange sections. Pass mayonnaise if desired. 6 servings.

Devilled Eggs in Aspic

1 package salad gelatin (aspic).
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
3 hard cooked eggs
Mayonnaise
Seasonings

Dissolve salad gelatine in boiling water; add cold water. Chill until thick but not set.

Cut eggs in half crosswise, remove yolks, mash and season with salt, pepper, mayonnaise, mustard or other seasonings desired. Fill cavities in eggs and place cutside down in shallow pan or individual moulds. Pour on thickened salad gelatin to cover. Chill until firm. Serve as salad or with cold sliced meat. Serves 6.

Creamed Limas

2 cups cooked, dried Limas
1 cupful cream (or milk)
2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoonfuls flour
1 bouillon cube
½ cupful boiling water
Additional seasoning to taste

Melt butter, add flour, stir until smooth, then add milk and bouillon cube and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add Limas and re-heat.

Lamb Chops With Orange

6 lamb, veal or pork chops
Melted butter
Sliced oranges
Salt, pepper and paprika

Trim fat from thick chops and dip in melted butter. Oil broiler well and broil chops 8 minutes. Turn and place a thick slice of peeled orange on each chop. Broil 8 or 10 minutes longer. Sprinkle generously with the seasonings. Serve hot. Serves 6.

Chocolate Ice Cream
(Automatic Refrigerator Method)

1 square unsweetened chocolate
⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
⅔ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup whipping cream

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk and stir over rapidly boiling water five minutes until mixture thickens. Add water and mix well. Chill thoroughly. Add vanilla. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing pan. Place in freezing unit. After mixture is about half frozen, remove from refrigerator. Scrape from sides and bottom of pan. Beat until smooth but not until melted. Smooth out and replace in freezing unit until frozen for serving. Serves 6.

Quick Wit

Quick Wit, the hilarious new quiz game, is a favorite with hostesses who want a sure recipe for party success. This parlor craze is played with cards and, by an ingenious device, provides an almost inexhaustible supply of quiz ammunition, so the fun is never repetitious. Quick Wit is easy to learn, just like Crossword Lexicon, and will produce merry shouts from the staidest group in short order.

GOVERNMENT IS LOSER BY LOW BIRTH RATE

France is spending six billion francs, approximately $150,000,000 annually to raise the birthrate—and unsuccessfully.

These figures were revealed during the recent budget debates at the chamber of deputies when the Government and municipal loss in income was computed at that amount.

Main loss to the government is 800 million francs rebate in income tax which is acorded on a sliding scale dependent upon the number of children. Second on the list is reduction in railroad transportation fares which totals 450 millions. Families of three children get a reduction of thirty per cent; four children, forty per cent.; five children, fifty per cent., etc.

Numerous items of free hospitalization and various state and municipal allocations bring the total to six billion.

But deputies point out that the birth rate has decreased instead of increasing and demand that the money be "intelligently spent."

RADIOS SHRINK IN SIZE

"Bigger and better" used to be a popular phrase but with the radio manufacturers this year it is "smaller and better." The recent invention of the 1.4 volt radio tubes is revolutionizing the radio industry. These tubes have such a small battery drain that much smaller radio batteries can be used. The result is the development of small, light, portable battery sets which can be carried anywhere and played without the aid of electric current. Canadian radio manufacturers are designing these portables in small, attractive form and several models are now on the market.

These sets can be carried anywhere—and need no aerial, no wires, no electric current. They can be played, for example, as you walk along the street Small new batteries have been designed to fit neatly in these sets and despite their small size, these batteries will last for several months.

LAUGH, GROW THIN, ADVICE OF DOCTOR

Is your waistline bulging? Then Dr. Arthur J. Todd of Northwestern University advises plenty of roughhouse comedy to get back into the streamlined division.

Dr. Todd scoffs at the idea of "laugh and grow fat." He said that laughter meant play and that play, especially the kind that's not self-conscious, is the most effective way of checking the waistline.

Dr. Todd declared that increased leisure and other developments in modern life have made it necessary for the individual to watch his weight, but he came out against such correctives as dragging exercises, faddish diets and "quack formulas." He added:

"Exercise is medicine. The world is sterile. But play is different. Play as play illuminates all life. It should invest our work, making it a joy instead of a dreadful necessity. I strongly recommend more of the play spirit in our jobs."

U. S. IS PREPARING "TERRIFIC WELCOME."

United States Ambassador J. Kennedy on his return to England after a holiday in the United States, said his country is preparing a "terrific welcome" for the King and Queeen in June.

"Everybody at home is interested tremendously in the visit," he added.

"America is always hospitable to her guests, and to the King and Queen of England this will be especially so. No King of England has ever before visited the United States." Asked whether President Roosevelt was likely to return the visit and come to England, Mr. Kennedy replied, "I cannot say."

CANADIANS GREATEST USERS OF TELEPHONES

Canadians continue to lead the world as the greatest telephone talkers but have yielded second place to New Zealand in the matter of the number of telephones per 100 of population, according to the most recent figures on world-wide telephone development and usage just released by the Statistical Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. These figures bring the record to January 1st, 1938.

For some years Canada has ranked first in the number of yearly conversations per capita and with 236.0 for 1937 compared with 222.4 of the year previous this leading talking by telephone is well maintained. Canada's nearest contender for this honour is the United States which reports 220.2 conversations for the average man, woman and child during the year. Next in order come Denmark with 182.6, Sweden with 170.5 and Norway with 101.1. The people of Great Britain (and Northern Ireland) apparently do not use the telephone to the same extent as the people in North America for the former have in one year only 46.4 conversations per capita but even then it is sufficient to lead Germany, which with 40.1 is ranked far down the list.

New Zealand has at last wrested from Canada the coveted position of being second to the United States in point of view of telephone development. These two Dominions have vied with each other over a long period with Canada generally holding a slight advantage, but now New Zealand reports 11.97 telephones per hundred of population compared with Canada's 11.90. The United States is well to the fore with 15.09 while listed among the first five countries are to be found Sweden with 11.75, Denmark with 11.25 and Switzerland with 10.26. The average figure for the world is 1.79 which indicates there are not quite two telephones for every hundred people in the world.

Figures for the larger communities reveal that Vancouver leads Canadian cities with 26.37 telephones per 100 population and is listed tenth among 95 of the world's leading cities. Toronto with 26.27 ranks second in Canada and eleventh in the world. Washington, D. C., leads with 38.82 followed by San Francisco with 38.17 and Stockholm with 36.08.

It is interesting to note that the continent of North America with 21,050,000 telephones has over half the instruments in the world, and that the City of New York with over 1,623,000 telephones has more than the combined total of Russia, China, and British India in which countries can be found approximately one-half the world's population

GOT HIS SUPPER EASILY WHEN IT "RAINED DUCKS"

In the heavy downpour which drenched northern Mississippi recently, it rained ducks. Clyde Pace, of Greenville, Miss., federal alcohol tax unit investigator, said a sudden hail storm drove flying wild ducks stunned into the streets. He hopped out of his automobile, caught one for supper.

NEW DRUG EFFECTIVE IN CURING POLIOMYELITIS

A Ponca City doctor asserted recently sulfapyridine apparently has been successful in treatment of infantile paralysis.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, said the case could not be regarded as definite evidence of the curative power of sulfapyridine.

"The results have been startling in his particular case," said the Ponca City doctor. "However, as to its effects in another case, I cannot tell, but I believe it is a cheering indication we may expect a specific cure."

It was said infantile paralysis is of unorthodox behavior, with remissions frequently setting in spontaneously, so that remission in this case could not be unequivocally ascribed to the drug.

The patient, Elizabeth Maddox, nine, was resting at her home. The doctor said he first saw her the fourth day of her illness when her temperature was 104 1-2. Her temperature was normal 24 hours later, the doctor said. One leg, partly paralyzed, is in a cast, but there has been no advance of the paralysis since sulfapyridine first was administered.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Old lace curtains, cut into pieces about the size of a teacloth and very slightly starched, make capital window polishers.

To make candles last double time, hold each by the wick and coat with white varnish. Dry and harden. The varnish prevents the grease from running down to waste.

When preparing dates for adding to breads, puddings, etc., cut with scissors or put through a grinder that has been dipped in hot water until completely heated through. They will cut easier and stick less.

CAMPUS MALES ARE NOW TALKING BACK

Oregon State college males lashed back at co-eds who recently scored campus males for unshaven chins, dirty cords and lack of romance."

The males listed a series of rules for co-eds "calculated to make an octogenarian warm."

Don't talk about the last date you had; he's heard about it already.

Don't talk about one thing all night; be versatile.

Don't leave every five minutes to put on your good looks.

Use a good line if you want to, just so it isn't obvious.

Don't pay too much attention to other men; it makes him atmosphere for your show.

Be sweet, but not necessarily affectionate.

Don't be a diamond in the rough, but don't carry too high a polish either.

Remember you're the weaker sex at all times; let him treat you as though you could hardly lift your finger.

Our Column

Piety should not be divorced from good manners.

Our virtues must shine chiefly in the family circle.

The evening of a well-spent life brings its lights with it.

Pennies mount to shillings and pounds if enough of them.

The Church's business is to teach men to live worthily.

A sunny disposition gilds the edges of life's blackest clouds.

Friendship is the one great human compensation for living.

Pride may be accounted for by a lack of self-criticism and a sense of humor.

The test of life lies not in what we possess but in what we can do without.

A sincere man knows that even his bitterest opponent, or any number of them, doth not by any means equal the adversary within his breast.

Cultivate the great art of leaving people alone, even those you think you have a right to direct in the minutest particular.—Anon.

In the long run, men hit only what they aim at. Therefore, though they should fall immediately, they had better aim at something high.—Thoreau.

With Easter Sunday falling on April 9 this year, it is interesting to know how it compares with the average Easter date. Easter is determined by the first Sunday following the first full moon after March 21. Records dating back to 1865 show that Easter has fallen on March 23 but once. This was in 1913. Next year Easter will be on March 24th, the earliest since 1913. Within recent years March 28, 1937, was the earliest date.

I go to church because I want my children to go to church. I want them to know something more of this life than institution that will teach them that business and sport. I know only one they are divine.

There is room for a difference of opinion; but the man who stays out of church entirely, good citizen though he may be, is leaving to others the care of the institution which makes his neighborhood a safer place for his children to play in.—Edgar.

STILL USING ARENA

The Morrisburg arena is one of the few natural ice rinks in the district which is still open. Managers Bill Snyder and Lee Tuttle are hoping to have ice for the Easter season. The ice, which is still in fair condition, is about one foot deep.

GEMS FROM LIFE'S SCRAP-BOOK

"Unbelief"

"Profound minds are most likely to think lightly of the resources of human reason, and it is the superficial thinker who is generally strongest in every kind of unbelief."—Sir H. Davy.

* * * *

"That there is a dual meaning to every Biblical passage, the most eminent divines of the world have concluded; and to get at the highest, or metaphysical, it is necessary rightly to read what the inspired writers left for our spiritual instruction. The literal rendering of the Scriptures makes them nothing valuable, but often is the foundation of unbelief and hopelessness."—Mary Baker Eddy.

* * * *

"There is no strength in unbelief. Even the unbelief of what is false is no source of might. It is the truth shining from behind that gives the strength to disbelieve."—G. Macdonald.

* * * *

"I know of no condition worse than that of the man who has little or no light on the supreme religious questions, and who, at the same time, is making no effort to come to the light."—E. F. Burr.

THE UNITED CHURCH

Sunday's services were commemorative of Palm Sunday. In his talk to the Juniors, Rev. W. S. Atchison said this Sunday reminded us of Christ's entry into Jerusalem. He also told of the crowing of the rooster reminding Peter of his promises to Jesus and leading him to repentance. This, he said, is the time to make decisions to repent and serve Jesus.

From Matt. 5:20 it was shown that if Christianity means anything it means everything. It means to be willing to exceed what we are expected to do. The need of conversion is felt when something has been done that we feel we never can repay.—love so amazing, so divine, demands my soul, my life, my all. Mr. E. Cass from U. S. was present and assisted in the service.

The Senior Choir of 17 members, with Mr. F. Johnson at the organ, sang very impressively: "Lift up your heads, O ye gates." In the evening their anthem was "Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing," with duet parts by Mrs. S. Lindsay and Miss Lorrain Marquette, and solos by Mr. Fred Johnston.

A strong forceful message was given by the pastor, the theme being the dangers associated with our warped human nature and the text: "The wages of sin are death, but the gift of God is eternal life. Reference was made to world conditions of today whereby good things good things are turned to evil uses. "How can social wrongs be remedied?" was asked. The answer is: "By the power of Jesus Christ." There is need for a profound spiritual revival across the world. Christ can save to the uttermost those who are dead in trespasses and sins. It is possible for our human nature to be touched with the Divinity of Christ. We need Christ? Do we feel our need of Him?

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Payne, who will be 25 years married on Saturday, April 8th.

Mr. Sam Robinson is nursing an injury which he received in a fall on Friday of last week. As he was coming out of C. E. Cross' store, he slipped on the icy steps and cracked a bone in his shoulder.

The special services, held in the local churches this week, have been largely attended. Tonight the service will be held in the United church with Rev. R. F. Willson officiating. The service on Good Friday will be held in the Wesleyan Methodist Church at 7.30 p.m. On this occasion the preacher will be Rev. W. S. Atchison.

Police are keeping a watchful eye on motorists in this district, and if any are caught without their 1939 license plates on their cars they will be summoned before the Magistrate and ordered to pay a fine. The dead-line for driving on the 1938 license was last Friday, but some drivers ventured out on Saturday without the new plates and plates and were stopped by the traffic officers. They were not given further warning, and will have to pay for their tardiness. Our advice is, if you haven't got your 1939 license plates, don't drive your car until you get them.

There are no signs of any flood on the Nation River to date—and no indications that there will be one for several days, according to farmers living along its banks. As a matter of fact there has been very little spring weather in this district so far, and the heavy blanket of snow which fell during the winter months is not disappearing very fast. The weather of the past few days has been of the average winter variety and we still have the odd snow-storm. According to the old-timers we need not look for any marked change in the weather until the next new moon—and from the way the mercury has been registering the temperatures lately, it looks as though they may be right. The next new moon will be on April 19th, so don't run too short of fuel.

LATE MRS. J. E. HUGHES

Following a severe heart attack, death came suddenly to Mrs. J. E. Hughes at her home in Oakland, California, March 22nd. Deceased was the former Sybil Pillar, of Morrisburg. Many years ago she, with her husband and two young duaghters, went to reside in California. Besides her husband, she is survived by one daughter and a son-in-law, living in San Francisco; also a grand-daughter. Her daughter, Jennie, died several years ago.

The older residents will remember her husband, Mr. Hughes, who visited Winchester, his old home town, last summer. Several nieces and nephews reside in this district.

WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The regular April meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held in the S. S. rooms on April 4th, with Mrs. Kenneth Carlyle, vice president, in charge. Mrs. Nellie Lannin was secretary pro-tem and Mrs. John Bruce presided at the piano. Mrs. Nesbitt and Mrs. Rowat were added to the parsonage committee.

A committee was appointed to meet the church board and discuss with them the advisability of cleaning and decorating the church this summer.

After the business meeting a pleasant hour was spent socially and lunch served by Mesdames Blair, Kellogg, Helmer and Boyd for which they were thanked by motion of Mrs. Atchison and Mrs. Scott.

KING GEORGE VI KEEN ADVOCATE OF SAFE DRIVING

Enthusiastic approval from every section of Ontario is being registered today to the highway safety proposal made last week by Minister Hon. T. B. McQuesten.

The plan called for a marked reduction in highway traffic accidents during the next three months as a tribute to the King and Queen during their forthcoming visit to Canada.

Mr. McQuesten released a recent appeal made by the King to British motorists. His Majesty, he said, had been active in safety work in Great Britain during the past 15 years, and had issued the following statement in his capacity of royal patron of the Nationa Safety First Association of Great Britain.

The message read:

"Every day 600 citizens are killed or injured on our roads (referring to Great Britain), mostly because of somebody's thoughtlessness.

"This message to you is the commencement of the national road safety campaign to reduce these dreadful casualties.

"To avoid accidents, be courteous and alert. Give special consideration to the aged, the infirm, and the very young.

"The highway code is a code of good road manners. Let us all loyally observe it, and make the spirit of goodwill the keynote of our behaviour on the roads."

Mr. McQuesten declared that King George's appeal should be acted on by his loyal subjects in Ontario just as much as in the British Isles. The King's statement, he added, contained all the essentials necessary to the safety of motorists and pedestrans.

In response to many inquiries asking "what can we do to promote this work," the Minister of Highways suggested that, in addition to the splendid co-operation being given by the press and radio throughout Ontario, many people in public or semi-public positions could make a definite contribution in furthering highway safety by virtue of the offices they held.

He suggested that the safety of the "King's highways" could be increased if preachers, magistrates, Boy Scout and Girl Guide leaders, school teachers, police officials, service and women's club members, employers, Sunday School superintendents, motor club officers, and heads of municipal. township and county governments would exert every effort in their power in bringing the King's appeal for highway safety to the attention of every motorist and pedestrian, every child and adult with whom they came in contact.

Miss Shirley King, of Chesterville, is spending a few days with Mrs. Jay Quart.

Miss Evelyn Erratt of Melvins, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dickson.

Messrs. Hubert and George Quart spent the week-end with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hackett Quart, of La Fargeville. N. Y.

Mr. J. E. Cass, who has been spending several weeks with friends and relatives in Eastern Ontario, returned to his home at Corry, Penn., on Tuesday. He was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cass over the week-end.

FAREWELL PARTY AT CLOVERDALE

On Friday afternoon, last, the teacher and pupils of Cloverdale School, tendered a farewell party to the Declare girls and boys, who are leaving the school The following address was read by Miss Jean Fawcett:

We hope that in your new school you will make new friends and that you will not forget your old friends of Cloverdale.

SPECIAL SERVICES DURING HOLY WEEK

Special union devotional services are being held each evening this week in the various churches of town. Very impressive and heart-searching messages have been given so far.

Monday night the service was in St. Matthias' Anglican Church with Rev. J. A. Ellacott in charge of the devotions and Rev. W. D. Turner giving the message. He spoke from the first epistle of John Chapter 1, and verse 2. Several suitable hymns were sung, the organist being Mr. Cowan.

Rev. W. D. Turner presided during Tuesday evening's service in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, with Miss C. J. Irving at the organ and a choir of ladies to lead in the hymn singing.

Rev. J. A. Ellacott spoke on the first two words of our Saviour from the Cross "Father forgive them for they know not what they do," and when He said to the dying thief "To-day, thou shalt be with Me in Paradise."

Last evening in the Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Willson, led in the devotions and singing. the organist being Miss Myrtle Carkner. Paul's words in Philippians 3:10 were taken as a text by Rev. D. W. Summers.

The services thus far have been well-attended. To-night Rev. Mr. Willson will bring the message in the United Church and on Friday night Rev. W. S. Atchison will speak in the Wesleyan Methodist Church.
