Stittsville man crushed in Winchester accident

WINCHESTER (Staff) - A freak accident resulted in the death of a 48-year-old Stittsville man here Monday.

James A. Barclay, a Triangle Pumps employee, was killed sometime between 3:45 and 4 p.m. Monday when the large underground fuel tank he was unloading off a truck at 668 St. Lawrence St. rolled onto him and crushed him.

There were no witnesses to the accident. A Triangle Pump company spokesman said Barclay was employed with the company since 1973 and had always been doing that type of work for the company.

Const. Bob Bruce, of the Winchester OPP investigated.

A collision between school buses on Concession 7 in Osnabruck Township resulted in $5,250 damage and a careless driving charge against one of the drivers Monday.

Rene Leduc, 67, of Crysler, Ont. was charged with careless driving after the bus he was driving collided with another bus driven by Cynthia Ladouceur, 26, of Cornwall. The bus driven by Ladouceur was stopped and facing north when the second bus, also northbound, hit it in the rear.

The Leduc bus was carrying three passengers while Ladouceur had two passengers at the time. Ladouceur received minimal injuries and passenger Danielle Ceasor, 15, received minor injuries in the collision.

A total of $5,000 damage was caused, but no one was injured in a three-car collision on Highway 31 near here last Tuesday.

The three-car pile up began when Victor Armstrong, 85, of RR2 Kemptville stalled his car while pulling onto Highway 31 off of Riddel Road. Allan Lake, 43, of RR5 Brockville, travelling northbound and failed to see the Armstrong vehicle in time, resulting in a collision. At that point the tally was $1,000 damage against the Armstrong vehicle and $1,500 damage to the Lake vehicle.

But then Robert Paul Harris, of Coquitlan, B.C. came along and, unable to stop his vehicle in time, collided with the already damaged Armstrong vehicle. The collision resulted in another $700 damage to the Armstrong vehicle and $1,800 damage to the Harris vehicle.

Const. John Ralko of the Winchester OPP investigated. No charges were laid.

A 59-year-old Winchester man escaped without injury after rolling his 1977 Peugot, but the car was not quite so fortunate.

Tun Yi Tun was westbound on a county road, when his vehicle went out of control on the ice and rolled near concession 11 and 12, police said. The car received $2,000 damage. No charges were laid.

Neighbor's complaint brings end to hunting at Chesterville lagoon

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - There will be no more hunting at Chesterville's sewage lagoon, said the lagoon's chief operator, Doug Black of the Ontario Ministry of the Environment.

"I've passed the word around that there is no more hunting," Black said Tuesday. On Saturday, he said, he told one hunter and expects the message will be passed to other local hunters.

The message that the no trespassing signs posted around the lagoon will be enforced follows complaints two weeks ago to council from Don Scoulfield, who lives east of the lagoon.

"It sounds like World War Three with guns going off all over the place," Scoulfield told council at its regular meeting Nov. 5.

"I have no objection to hunting. I just don't want it in my backyard," he said.

What begins as hunting at the lagoon often ends up as shooting 25 feet from his bedroom window at 6 a.m., he said.

He said the gunshots have made his family "almost prisoners" in the house at dusk. Because he lives at the end of a dead end road, there is no way to avoid the hunters and their vehicles.

Most hunters are responsible, he said, "but you just don't know."

"You get all kinds of strange looking characters there from time to time."

Reeve Carl Ward said he was aware the no trespassing signs aren't "particularly respected". But he said it's almost impossible for the village to police the provincially owned and administered lagoon, located in Winchester Township.

Hunting in the lagoon has become almost a "recreation custom" in the village, he said. Even if the village could control the hunting, he said, there was nothing the municipality could do to prevent hunters from moving to the banks of the South Nation.

Bert Van Wout, a conservation officer with the Cornwall office of the Ministry of Natural Resources familiar with the Chesterville case, said conservation officers had visited the lagoon and spoken with hunters earlier this fall. Van Wout said the hunters told him they had Black's permission to hunt at the lagoon, but at their own risk.

But Black said Tuesday, "They were always told I can't give them permission to hunt."

"I'd be foolish to put a sign up and say go ahead and walk in."

At the council meeting, councillor Roger Cole said taking this "recreational spot" away from hunters would penalize both the good and bad. "My feeling is we should try to work out a compromise."

Councillor Shirley Coons doubted hunting at the lagoon would ever cease. But shooting so close to town could be dangerous, she said.

Councillor Mike McMahon, a former hunter, said it may be time for council to get tough. If council does nothing and someone is hurt, he said the village could end up with "mud on our faces".

But even if the village were to post specific no hunting signs, Ward said, "I think your good hunters are going to respect it. Those who don't aren't going to respect any sign."

Under provincial law, a no trespassing sign prohibits trespass by anybody, including hunters.

Newsbriefs

Liquor charges

LONG SAULT (Staff) - OPP here report four 12-hour driving licence suspensions, 1 radar warning device seizure and three hunting complaints over the past week.

Winchester OPP responded to one hunter complaint this past week, but when officers arrived on the scene, the culprits were nowhere to be found, police said.

Osnabruck byte

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - The township office here will be blessed with the services of a new $68,000 computer system sometime in December, but chances are it won't be used for video games.

Hardware for the system is being purchased from Rexon computers in California, and will include a central processing unit (CPU), printers and several screens, said township clerk Warren Bethune Tuesday. Software programs will enable it to do accounting, taxes, drainage and recreation. The system can also be used as a word processor, he said, adding he hoped it will help eliminate "paper wars".

Shriners ivited

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The Chesterville Rotary Club hopes the Shriners will participate in its Christmas parade Dec. 13 at 10am. "Following past years, we hope to have in the range of 30 floats," said organizer Dale McNaughton. All former entrants will be invited to participate again, he said. Prizes will be offered to the first and second place winners in both commercial and non-commercial categories. For further information, McNaughton can be reached at 448-2492.

Farm getaway

WINCHESTER (Staff) - For the second consecutive year, farm couples across the province are invited to weekend seminars sponsored by the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food. A total of six seminars, five in English and one in French, will be offered in February and March at locations across Ontario. The workshops will cover communications, goal-setting and stress.

"Aside from offering the opportunity to get away from work and family responsibilities for a mini-vacation, this weekend program offers the opportunity to take a look at where you are going as a couple and how you will get there," the ministry said in a release publicizing the seminars.

The cost per couple is $135 and aplication forms can be obtained from OMAF field offices.

Toys requested

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - Santa is accepting donations of new and used toys from the Bank of Nova Scotia and the Toronto Dominion Bank. The pick-up date is Wed., Dec. 17 and toy drive organizers thank contributors in advance for their generosity.

Plowmen tested

AVONMORE (Staff) - With or without snow, the second annual competition among snowplow operators will take place at Ministry of Transportation and Communications patrol yard west of here today (Wednesday). Operators from across SD&G and Prescott-Russell will meet here to test their skill at manoeuvring around obstacles. Last year's winners were from Finch.

Proposal to rename riding criticized

TORONTO (Staff) - Local party officials say chances look slim for a private member's bill Conservative MPP Noble Villeneuve pans to introduce to change the name of the new SD&G riding formed when its boundaries changed earlier this year.

Both Dr. Gerry Rosenquist, president of the provincial Liberal riding association, and Trevor Tolley, president of the SD&G NDP association, said they doubt the bill will be passed by the Ontario government, mainly because of the length of the proposed new name.

Villeneuve said in a press release dated Oct. 29, 1986 that he would be introducing legislation to change the present name of the SD&G riding to Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville. He said last week he expected the legislation to be introduced Monday or Tuesday.

"I want to recognize the people I'm trying to represent," he said. "Why ignore the people in Grenville?"

He admitted it's a long name but maintained it wasn't right to have about 12,000 people unnamed and silent. In order to get a prompt second reading, he will need the co-operation of the Liberals and the NDP, but both Rosenquist and Tolley are less than excited about the proposed name change.

"I doubt he'll get it passed," Rosenquist said. "It would be a problem because it's far too unwieldy a name." The party's indicated it wants a name change, he said, suggesting the name Rideau-St. Lawrence as a more attractive option.

Trevor Tolley agreed the length of Villeneuve's proposed name for the SD&G riding could be a problem. The present riding name should be kept, he said Monday. "It's the name everyone's always know," he said. The riding doesn't need a name "so complicated" people can't remember it.

Most people in SD&G are happy with the present name, he said, adding he didn't think Villeneuve's bill stands much of a chance at Queen's Park. The changing of the riding boundaries shouldn't have an adverse effect on the NDP, but "it's hard to tell what we might lose" in the amount of voters, he said.

It'll be a "completely different ball game" this election Rosenquist said, and polls have indicated the SD&G riding could be a "toss up", he said. He said he didn't think the party will lose voters because of the boundary change though. "What we gained on one side we lost to another," he said.

Villeneuve however, has been against the boundary change from the beginning. The new riding boundaries give him a larger area to cover and make it difficult for him to represent people in the riding properly, he has said.

Three taxicab licences up for grabs in Finch

BERWICK (Staff) - Someday, cabs may be answering cries of "taxi, taxi" in Finch Township.

At a council meeting Monday night, council approved a bylaw permitting the licensing of up to three taxis in the township.

The bylaw is based on a sample prepared by the province.

To be eligible for a licence, the bylaw states a prospective taxi operator must be at least 21 and "possess a good knowledge of the geography of the Township of Finch and surrounding area".

Cabs must carry at least $1 million in insurance against public liability, passenger hazard and property damage.

Annual licence fees were set at $25 to cover the township's paperwork and administration time. But if a licence is issued for a period of less than a year, the cost will be pro-rated by the month. There will be a minimum charge of $5.

The rate charged per kilometre can't exceed 70 cents. The minimum charge for a trip, regardless of distance, can't exceed $3.

The bylaw states that a licensed taxi driver shall serve the first person requiring his services, but doesn't have to accept a customer who has failed to pay for previous trips.

The bylaw also states that council may refuse, revoke or cancel any licence "at any time in its discretion and it shall not be bound to give any reason for refusing, revoking or cancelling any licence."

Council began discussing the licensing of cabs about a month ago after Crysler resident Roy Middleton expressed an interest in operating a taxi service.

Wells are out, water in for Newington

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - If all goes well, Newington residents may soon be able to stop boiling their water. A new water system could be available to them as early as next spring.

The service, which will be 85 per cent government funded, would draw water from a well behind what was formerly the Kraft Foods Ltd. plant in Newington. The proposed system would go to each resident's property line and would include places as far north as the Stuart farm and as far east as Newington Public School. Each individual resident would be responsible for hooking up to their home, said Bart Whitton, water and sewer superintendent, Monday night.

Council decided Monday night to go ahead with required survey work for the project completed and it will soon meet with the village residents to iron out rate charges and other details soon.

Water sewer problems have plagued village residents for quite some time and a study done by Oliver Mangione indicated most of the wells and some of the sewer systems in the village were poor, said township clerk Warren Bethune.

A suggested $136 flat rate, to be charged for a single family dwelling for the service, was determined by a consulting firm, Whitton said. The firm also suggested that the village gas station be charged $204, the nursing home about $45 per bedroom rate, the public school $544, the fire hall $68.

But the rates are subject to council's approval and may be changed.

If the system is approved, all village wells may also have to be plugged, Whitton added.

Turner camps have yet to pester local Liberals

MONKLAND (Staff) - With the federal Liberal policy convention and a vote on a review of John Turner's leadership only a week away, the pressure on local delegates has yet to start.

Peter Mesman, president of the Stormont-Dundas Liberal riding association, said telephone calls from Turner supporters and the dump-Turner forces began about a month ago.

"It's not really what you'd call pressure," he said Monday, describing the calls and letters as more of a "survey" of his opinions.

"I'm going to support Turner for the time being," he said. "His popularity is up right now in the polls at least."

A recently released Gallup poll taken two weeks ago shows the Liberals leading the Tories by eight points. But Turner's leadership has been attacked by Marc Lalonde, who served in cabinets under both Turner and Pierre Trudeau, and Liberal Senator Keith Davey.

"It's not being very liberal about the whole thing," Mesman chuckled.

Voting on whether to conduct a review will take place Nov. 29. Mesman said the results from the ballots aren't expected to be announced until 1 p.m. the next day.

Gerry Rosenquist of Morrisburg, another delegate, predicted between 65 and 70 per cent of delegates will reject a leadership review. "I think Turner will be our leader for the next few years," he said.

Although he's "sort of a little bit open yet" on the leadership question, he said it would take an awful lot of persuasion to make him vote for a review.

"The strange thing is, I haven't received one (call) yet," he said Monday.

He said it may still be too early for the two camps to begin their campaigns in earnest. "You can peek too soon, obviously," he said.

Many of the people complaining about Turner are part of the "old guard," he said. But when the party elected him leader, he said, Liberals were seeking a "fresh approach".

Turner may not win the next election, Rosenquist said, "but dog-gone it, he's something different, something new."

Bill Dillabough, reeve of Morrisburg and one of 30 Ontario delegates appointed by the party, said, "I'm what they call an undecided delegate."

While he thinks the vote for a review will be defeated, he doubted Turner would retain the leadership by a big margin. "If he gets 58 per cent, he'll be lucky."

He himself, he said, wouldn't be comfortable with the backing of only 58 per cent of the party.

If anything, Dillabough said, the public attacks could boost Turner's support.

"I think it's doing damage to the anti-Turner forces probably more than anything," Rosenquist agreed. "It's sure getting us lots of publicity," said Mesman

Mesman doesn't blame party members for questioning Turner's leadership, "not necessarily," he said. The party constitution permits the call for a review every two years. Only an amendment to the constitution, he said, could prevent the possibility of a review.

He said the leadership issue has overshadowed the fact the upcoming meeting is actually a policy convention. Delegates will be asked to vote on more than 200 resolutions ranging from free trade to agriculture to old age pensions.

Since the election of the Tories in September, 1984, the Liberal party has been criticized for its lack of policy. "We were retrenching and we were getting ourselves re-established after our disastrous loss," Rosenquist said.

He predicted the party will emerge with firm policies and foresaw debates on free trade, equal pay for work of equal value and a proposal for a guaranteed annual income.

The upcoming convention promises to be "almost as emotional as a leadership convention," he said, and more interesting than the average policy discussions.

Winchester Springs pup chosen for select guide dog training

WINCHESTER SPRINGS (Staff) - The cuddly, white, brown-eyed puppy seemed oblivious to the commotion going on around it Saturday as it lay lazily stretched out in its master's arms.

To it, it was just another day in the life of a normal eight-week old Golden Labrador puppy, but little did it know that after about two years of training he may be entrusted with the life of a blind Canadian.

Bill Thornton, instructor with the Canadian Guide Dogs for the Blind, was at Reg Beard's Tamarack Kennels to pick up the puppy, a gift to the organization from the Williamsburg Independent Order of Oddfellows No. 309.

The $350 puppy was seen as a chance to boost the Oddfellows lodge while at the same time helping a worthy cause, the 56-year-old Beard said Monday.

His affection for Labradors began in England where he helped his grandfather raise the crafty canines, he said. When he came to Canada, he brought "his affection" along with him, he said, adding he's "pretty well" been raising and breeding Labs since.

The Canadian Guide Dogs for the Blind has been in existence since January, 1984 and is one of three schools of its kind in Canada. The first Canadian guide dog school was located outside Montreal and is a totally francophone school. The other school is called Canine Vision and is based in Oakville, Ont., Thornton said.

Thornton completed a three-year training course with the British Guide Dogs for the Blind association and was involved in "loose talk" about starting a guide dog school in Ontario since he came to Canada in 1977, he said. In 1982 he presented a paper to the provincial government requesting permission to start a guide dog organization. The Canadian Guide Dogs for the Blind was formed two years later.

"When I came to Canada in 1977...and asked who got their guide dogs in Canada...(the answer was) nobody," Thornton said. "That's the tragedy", he said. Since the first school was organized in the United States in 1929, it took 50 more years for one to be organized in Quebec and then four more for one in Ontario.

A puppy's training for the organization starts when it's eight-weeks-old. He is taken in by a volunteer "puppy walking family" which takes care of it for 14 months as it gets used to the "human environment", Thornton said. There is a 70 per cent success rate with all puppies placed in homes and of all types of dogs, the Labrador retriever is the type that becomes the least "fluffed" with society today and all that goes with it, he said.

While Golden Labs and German Shepherds are also used as guide dogs, Thornton said the Labrador retriever is the least likely to become "fluffed" or flustered with the demands of contemporary society.

Seventy per cent of the puppies placed in homes qualify for further training, he said, and about 70 per cent of those are eventually placed with blind people.

After the dog successfully makes it through the first 14 months, it is taken to the Canadian Guide Dogs for the Blind base on Highway 31 near Manotick where it undergoes six to eight months of training. All guide dogs are neutered, and checked for temperament, abilities and likelihood to be distracted, Thornton said. The organization now has 34 puppies in various homes, ten dogs undergoing training and 20 in the field helping blind people make it through their daily lives.

A person wanting a guide dog can apply for one through the Canadian National Institute of the Blind or other community organizations like the Oddfellows, or they can apply directly to the Canadian Guide Dogs for the Blind, Thornton said. Guide dogs applicants are interviewed at home and at work if they have a job. Their health is checked, as well as their personality, height, gait and natural understanding of animals, he said.

A dog will adjust "to a degree", but if a bad match is made, the person's life won't be "enriched or pleasant" with the dog, Thornton said. He added that a dog is not considered a success until it's in a home for a minimum of six months.

"In reality the real amount to train a dog is $15,000," said Thornton. "But that dog's controlling someone's life, so $15,000 means nothing," added Tom Henderson, Noble Grand of the Williamsburg Oddfellows.

There's presently an "upward surge" of blind people requiring guide dogs in Canada, Thornton said. A nominal fee of $1 is charged so the organization can carry out its afterservice contract. Transportation from the training centre, where the person is trained with the dog, is paid by the organization, so cost is no reason why a blind person can't obtain a guide dog, Thornton said.

Neither a guide dog or the person is the master of the other, he said. "The guide dog is the pilot of the team. It's very much a team effort."

The working life of a guide dog is roughly eight years, Thornton said, adding "that's the tragedy of guide dogs, a person outlives it, then they have to part company".

"We've been very successful," he said. "Bit by bit we're becoming more self sufficient," and he hopes to have a 95 per cent success rate with their dog placement in the future, Thornton said. They've had only one dog fail so far.

"It's not a nine to five job, it's anything but," he said. "But it's a great job, you see what's happening to your time."

CRYSLER (Staff) - A handbook to guide farm couples and lawyers through the establishment of family farm partnerships is being prepared by the farm women's lobby group, Women for the Survival of Agriculture (WSA).

The handbook will be the first of its kind, WSA president Dorothy Middleton said Monday. An earlier book, To have and to Hold, was published by the Concerned Farm Women in central and western Ontario, she said, but its focus was the issue of partnerships.

The WSA handbook will be a practical guide to help arrange legal partnerships, she said. With the assistance of lawyers and accountants, lists of questions to be asked by the farm wife, spouse and lawyer will be presented.

Just knowing what needs to be discussed and included will cut down on legal costs, Middleton said. Lawyers unfamiliar with farm partnerships should also be helped by the guide.

Partnership agreements shouldn't be seen as safeguards should the couple separate, she said. Farm couples can save money through income taxes with a legal agreement in place.

For the first time this year, she said the Ontario Farm Family Interest Rate Reduction program asked for proof of partnership. Society is demanding that farmers comply with business standards, she said.

"We're really asking people to have a good look at their farm businesses and get them into a business form. And businesses have agreements."

The project is being overseen by Judy Hendin, an Ottawa lawyer specializing in family law who spoke to the WSA's annual fall seminar last year. Middleton said the WSA had been considering the production of a handbook prior to the meeting.

The WSA has received a $5,000 grant from the Secretary of State to complete the handbook, which should be ready by next fall, she said.

Finch Ayrshire breeder claims top prize among Stormont County DHI herds

MONKLAND (Staff) - R. Don Simmons of Finch has the top herd on the dairy herd improvement program in Stormont, recording a Breed Class Average of 185.

The Finch Ayrshire breeder was only one of many county milk producers honored Thursday night at the annual awards banquet for milk producers participating in Dairy Herd Improvement.

Cherryvale Farm Ltd. of Finch placed second with a mark of 177, followed by Randy Moke of Newington (171), G. Howard Morrow of Maxville (171) and Gerald and Christina Jans of Moose Creek (170).

Helen Moak of Lunenburg won the Cornwall Rotary Club trophy for having the most improved herd over the year, with 39 points. Runners up were Elmer Stewart of Newington, with 24, Marcel Legault (20), Harold Norman (20) and Philip and Pierre Gutknecht (18).

For the third consecutive year, Critesdale Farm accepted the trophy for recording the lowest calving interval at 12.2 months. Stuart and David Hart were the runners up.

Ben Ferme Jade, owned by R. Don Simmons, was judged the best two-year-old, recording 216 and 209. The second place cow was owned by Arthur Bray of Moose Creek.

Hans and Monika Reusser of Finch owned the best three-year-old, Ad. Cit., which recorded 201 and 232. Randy Moke of Newington was runner up.

Majesty, owned by Gordon MacLean of Finch, was judged the best four-year-old, with marks of 234 and 214. Audale Farms Ltd. of Maxville was runner up.

Floyd Dingwall of Berwick was presented the trophy for the best mature cow, Beauty Doris Master (253-226), and the best plus production cow, recording 91.5.

Runner up in the mature cow class was Hutch Emperor (217-253), owned by Cherryvale Farm Ltd. of Finch. Campbell Murray of Martintown placed second behind Dingwall in the best plus production category with a mark of 64.5.

With a mark of 167, Audale Farms recorded the best BCA over 50 cows.

With a total of 502 kilograms, Gerald and Christina Jans took home first in the 305-day compilation of butterfat. Campbell Murray was second, with 472 kgs.

With a mark of 117,000, Ernst and Ursula Temperli recorded the lowest average somatic cell count, improving on their runner up standing last year with 155,000. Robert McLeod of Berwick was second, with 136,000.

Bob Lang, director of the International Livestock Management School which is part of Semex Canada, praised Stormont milk producers' drive to improve their cattle's production.

Not only are Canadians' efforts paying off in the export of semen and live cattle, he said foreign countries are eager to buy Canadian genetic knowledge and technology.

"This is what people want to buy from us, but they're buying the product of your greatness."

By the end of the year, he said the international school will have instructed 61 students from a total of 14 countries, including China, Egypt, Iran, Korea, Burma and Holland.

Although the secondary aim of the school is to spur development in Third World countries, Lang said the program's goal is also the training of future trading partners.

County winners

On Thursday night, the Stormont Dairy Herd Improvement association honored its best of 1986. Among the award winners were, back row from left, Floyd Dingwall of Berwick, Calvin Crites, Gilles Aube of Audale Farms in Maxville, and Hans Reusser; front, Roy Simmons of Finch, representing R. Don Simmons, Helen Moak of Lunenburg, Muriel Dingwall and Monika Reusser.

UCW plans to mark 25th

CHESTERVILLE (Special) - On Thurs., Nov. 6 the afternoon unit of Trinity United Church Women met in the dining hall of the church.

Margaret Casselman welcomed the 15 members present and gave a brief history of the Union Jack, followed by the reading of the poem, For the Fallen, and O God, Our Help in Ages Past was sung.

During the business portion of the meeting it was announced that the UCW Presbyterial Executive meeting would be held in Winchester Springs on Nov. 12. Susie Cass agreed to lay the wreath on behalf of Trinity United Church Women at the cenotaph on Sunday afternoon.

Plans are underway for a special service to be held on Jan. 11, 1987, to commemorate the 25th Anniversary of United Church Women in Canada.

Irene Merkley presented a skit assisted by Alma Brownlee and Winnie Jeffrey. Thankfulness was the theme of the worship service conducted by Mrs. Merkley and Sadie Droppo.

In Memoriams

IN MEMORIAM
CAMERON — In memory of a dear son, brother and uncle Winston who passed away November 21, 1984.
Sadly missed along life's way,
Quietly remembered every day.
No longer in our lives to share,
But in our thoughts he is always there.
Mom,
Sisters, Brothers and families
13

IN MEMORIAM
JOHNSTONE — In loving memory of a dear father, Garnet Johnstone who passed away Nov. 17, 1977.
I lost a father with a heart of gold,
How much I miss him can never be told.
His life was unselfish, for others he lived
Not to receive, but only to give.
Helpful, willing, thoughtful and kind,
I'm proud of the memories he left behind.
Sadly missed but always in my heart,
Son, George

IN MEMORIAM
McMILLAN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Edwin McMillan who passed away November 22, 1981.
Greatly missed along life's way,
Quietly remembered every day.
No longer here, our lives to share,
But in our hearts you are always there.
Lovingly remembered by wife Elva and family

IN MEMORIAM
HEAGLE — In memory of a dear mother Mertie Heagle who passed away Nov. 22, 1980.
A wonderful mother gone to rest,
For each of us, she did her best,
Her love was true her heart was kind,
A better mom none could find,
Precious things are always few,
That is why there was just one of you.
Always remembered by daughter Norma and son-in-law Leslie

How do you get a message from Minnesota to Goldfield within 15 hours or less? By balloon, of course. At about 6:30 Saturday morning, Donald and Leitha Casselman on Goldfield Road South noticed a yellow, helium-filled balloon bobbing on a tree across from their home. A card attached to the balloon informed them it had been sent by Alison Johnson, a student at North Community School in St. Cloud, Minnesota. A phone call to the school Monday morning revealed the balloon had been released at 2:30 p.m. Friday. While Casselman marvelled at the speed and strength of the balloon, he wasn't too surprised it had reached Eastern Ontario.

North Dundas News

by
Pam Carkner

Another week has passed by at NDDHS and the action never stops.

The Remembrance Day service was very well planned. A note of thanks goes to the people who organized this.

In girls basketball action, the seniors beat Rothwell-Osnabruck 66-42 and the juniors lost 40-21. The seniors finished in first place with a record of 11-1.

Sizing for school rings will take place on Wed., Nov. 19.

Registration for the ski club is next week. So, skiers, get out those skis and get them waxed.

Black House sold the most yearbooks and members will have their picture taken. Congratulations!

By the way, the annual air band contest is back again for the third year. So drop by and see Mr. Green and get a registration form for your very own air band.

Also, the senior girls' basketball team is playing its first playoff game on Nov. 17 so let's get out there and cheer them on.

Berwick euchre results

BERWICK (Special) - At a Nov. 9 euchre here, Elsie Burd won in ladies' play. Second went to Violet Robertson and third to Laura Beehler.

Among the gents, Walter Beehler took home first, followed by Gerry Deschamps and Garnet Rutley.

The door prize was won by Bernard Moran, who was also one of four draw winners. Other winners were Gerry Deschamps, Rita Deschamps and Garnet Rutley.

CTC recommends Finch upgrade rail crossings

BERWICK (Staff) - The railway transport committee of the Canadian Transport Commission has recommended that Finch Township upgrade three rail crossings in the name of safety.

Subsidies are available to cover some of the suggested work and the township will receive cost estimates from CP Rail.

After inspecting the crossings Oct. 8 with township and railway representatives, the committee recommended that two short arm gates, flashing light signals and bells be installed at crossings on MacMillan and Goldfield roads approximately 19 feet from the road's centre line.

Also suggested was a constant warning control for the signals to minimize excessive signal operation for slower trains.

The committee said it would recommend the project receive a federal grant to cover 80 per cent of the costs may be available for the costs of signal, light, bell and warning control installation.

More than half the remaining cost, 12.2 per cent, would be assumed by the township, the committee said, as well as half the future maintenance costs.

The committee also recommended that the road approaches within 50 feet of the crossings be widened to 26 feet, including the shoulders, and then tapered to meet the existing road sections. Warning signs were also advised for the road approaches.

The township would be responsible for the road work.

At the Wiseman Road crossing, the committee recommended that sightlines within 1000 feet of the crossing be cleared, particularly at the northwest crossing angle.

"Signals may not be warranted at this location if sightlines can be cleared," M.D. Lacombe, Ontario regional director of the committee, informed the township in a Nov. 6 letter.

The committee requested that the township comment on the sightline clearance at the crossing.

Clerk-treasurer Arnott Empey, who accompanied the tour, said the committee seemed more concerned with the MacMillan and Goldfield crossings because the roads were travelled by school buses. Traffic on Wiseman Road, he said, is mainly local.

Swerdfeger - Ball

First Baptist Church, Kingston was the scene of a pretty late-summer double-ring ceremony on Aug. 30, 1986, when Paula Michele Swerdfeger and Wayne George Ball were united in marriage by Rev. Cam Watts.

The bride is the only daughter of David and Sandra Swerdfeger of Kingston. The groom is the youngest son of Jessie and Eric Ball of Chesterville.

The bride was attended by Tracy Wiesler, maid of honor and bridesmaids were Kathy Petter and Lori McKelvey; flower girl was Karen Crichton. All attendants were friends of the bride.

The groom was attended by his cousin Larry Renwick, best man; the ushers were Shawn Swerdfeger and Charles Swerdfeger brothers of the bride, Steven Ball brother of the groom. The ring bearer was Ryan Knapp the groom's nephew.

A reception was held following the wedding at the Royal Canadian Air Force Club, Kingston. The happy couple spent their honeymoon in Niagara Falls. They are now residing in Toronto.

Berwick WI

BERWICK (Special) - Berwick W.I. met at the community centre Nov. 11, attended the 11 o'clock service at the cenotaph and placed a wreath in remembrance.

The W.I. ladies served lunch to those attending the service. Douglas Ouderkirk, president of the Finch Legion, thanked the Women's Institute. Jessie Ouderkirk replied that this is a tradition the Berwick W.I. has always been part of.

Jessie Ouderkirk opened the meeting with opening exercise.

Berwick W.I. 4-H awards will be presented by Mary Luykx on Friday evening in Avonmore.

Farmer of Year and award of merit will be looked after by P.R.O. Irene Casselman.

Plans to entertain Osnabruck Centre at our Christmas Party Sun., Dec. 7 at 1:30pm.

Rhonda St. Pierre top 4-Her at Dundas County banquet

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Another 4-H year in Dundas came to a close Thursday night, as club members gathered together at the Community Centre here for their 1986 awards banquet.

"All of us are winners for having taken part in the 4-H program in Dundas," said Linda Porteous in her opening president's remarks. Members will leave the banquet with "many treasures, new friends, new ideas, and new understandings".

Although, as Porteous said, all the members are winners in one way or another, the big winners were 19-year-old Ault Foods Ltd. employee Rhonda St. Pierre, 19-year-old Algonquin College student, Angela Holmes and 18-year-old North Dundas District High School student Cindy St. Pierre.

All three were given the Ottawa Citizen Award, an award given to the three Dundas County 4-H members selected highest in club work and citizenship.

Rhonda St. Pierre, a member of the club for eight years and leader for four years, was given the top award of $350. She completed 27 4-H projects since she joined the club. Some of her projects this year were Milk Makes It, Quest for Success, Seed to Shelf and Etiquette.

The winner of the second place $250 prize, Angela Holmes, completed 24 projects during eight years in 4-H and is presently studying at Algonquin College. She is planning a career in nursing. She completed the Milk Makes It and Quest for Success projects this year.

The Citizen's $200 third prize went to another member of the St. Pierre family, Grade 13 NDDHS student Cindy St. Pierre. She's been a Dundas 4-H member for 6 years and a leader for two, completing 19 projects since her start in 4-H. Projects completed by her this year included the Milk Makes It, Quest for Success, Seed to Shelf, Etiquette for the '80s and a Leaders Assistant Project.

All three girls were members of the Reach for the Top team which represented Dundas 4-H in a provincial competition in Ridgetown.

Not to be forgotten are the fourth and fifth highest 4-H members selected for club work and citizenship. Fifth place went to eight-year club member Judy VanDenBroek, with her sister accepting the $100 award for her. Lindsay Rogers, 17, a five-year member of Dundas 4-H, was awarded the fourth place prize of a gold watch.

The top five Dundas County 4-H members were awarded at the 1986 Dundas 4-H awards banquet Thursday night at the Winchester Community Centre. Pictured above from left to right is top club member Rhonda St. Pierre, second place winner Angela Holmes, third place winner Cindy St. Pierre and fourth place winner and recipient of a gold watch Lindsay Rodger. The top three ladies received $350, $250 and $200 cash prizes from the Ottawa Citizen. Fifth place winner Judy VanDenBroek was not available for the picture.

Business studies coordinator named

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - North Dundas District High School teacher Shelagh Peever has been named Business Studies Coordinator with the SDG County Board of Education.

Currently the director of business studies at North Dundas, Peever will be responsible for implementing the recommendations of a recent review of the board's business and technological studies.

Sharing the workload will be Brian Gilmour, vice-principal at St. Lawrence High School, who was recently appointed Technical Studies Coordinator.

Peever has a permanent Vocational Certificate and specialist qualifications in accounting. She holds an Honors Bachelor of Arts degree from Laurentian University and a Master of Education degree with specialization in administration from the University of Ottawa.

During the 1985-86 school year, Peever served on the board's steering committee for the review of vocational studies.

Delores Green, a teacher at Rothwell-Osnabruck school, will assume a full-time consulting position with the board as Elementary Computer Studies Consultant and Junior Division Consultant.

She has taught throughout her career at the junior level and has been involved with promoting computer awareness among students from kindergarten to grade 8 for the past four years.

Green holds a Bachelor Arts degree and a specialist certificate in computer education.

Rothwell-Osnabruck gift-selling campaign falls short of mark but still success

By Mike Bird

Greetings, and welcome to the newest article based on the ever-changing world of Rothwell Osnabruck. We are now over a quarter through the school years which can only mean one thing: students should begin buying Christmas gifts.

Speaking of Christmas gifts, the students' council finished its gift-selling campaign a short while ago. While the activity was not as successful as some had hoped, it was not a failure and we thank all those who participated.

New projects are already being started. First of all, a spirit day and student dance is being organized. The council is also planning to sell t-shirts, hats and rings boasting the school's name and-or insignia. The items will be sold at good prices; be sure to buy a lot for your family and friends.

On Nov. 8, Alec McEwen and David Rees attended a meeting on the formation of a SADD chapter in the school. Alec said of it, "I found it very educational, interesting and inspirational."

Students' council is also starting a scrapbook to be filled with students' artwork, reports of school activities and school-related material, such as this article. Submissions of any type of material will be gratefully accepted by me.

The Hallowe'en dance organized by Social Convenor Alec McEwen, was yet another in his string of successes. It also presented the audio visual club with an opportunity to further hone their disc jockeying skills. Quite a few students dressed in costume for the event and by doing so displayed a lot of spirit, made the dance more interesting and were admitted at a lower price.

In the wide world of sports, the junior boys' soccer team smashed a school record by placing better than any team in the past five years. Coaches Alan Shaver, Lyle Dingwall, Alton Beckstead and Mr. Robinson are thanked for their help in bringing about this considerable achievement.

Our girls' basketball teams are still faring excellently, with both teams in first place (the senior girls are tied for this position). The juniors lost in their latest game versus Seaway. Scoring 21, 9 and 8 points were Stephanie Wells, Peggy Antoine and Cheryl Servais respectively.

The seniors were the victors in their game against Seaway; the score was 67-50 with Kelly Dafoe scoring 41 points and Sandra Fleming scoring 11.

An event that is prominent on everyone's calendars is the forthcoming pizza day. On this day Mrs. Steele will be selling pizzas at a 25 per cent discount, for 75 cents.

The band is still hard at work and, as promised, I will now list this year's band executive. The position of president is held by Sally Anne Dewey, who viciously campaigned for the honor, promising such sweeping reforms as, new reeds, her attendance at a band practice and her entire being focused on the responsibility of attending executive band meetings.

Other new executive members include Heidi MacLean as librarian, George Michaud as treasurer and Trevor Nickerson as public relations. Fund-raising leader is Lorna Forsythe and the secretary and attendance officer is Dana Wells, who was notably absent from the past practice.

Several band members are also preparing for this year's Youth Band auditions. The entire band is participating in a citrus fruit drive. The band is taking orders from anyone who is interested in buying fruit.

The cross-country team has finished its year and coach Peter Cazaly has admitted he is "pleased". He went on to say, "Put something down like, 'I was extremely pleased with this year's turnout. It's pleasing and a little more fun when you have 20 people or so rather than 4 lonely souls. I'm pleased, very pleased."

Finally, the editors of This, the school's literary magazine are reminding students that the deadline for submissions is Nov. 20. They will continue their pleading up until that date, and unless you submit something, they will then commence sulking.

New owners for Red and White

FINCH (Staff) - Country living and the opportunity to do "something different" attracted Kees Van Engen and Louise Godbout to Finch as the new owners of the village's Red and White Store.

The partners, who met while working in Ottawa, officially bought the store Nov. 17 from Elburn and Jeannine Duffy, who are retiring.

And it will be more than a business move. Van Engen and Godbout will make Finch their home.

Dutch baker

"We like the idea of a small town," said Van Engen, a baker who emigrated from Holland in 1968 and who has spent the last dozen years as the bakery manager of a large Ottawa delicatessen. "I came from a small town in Holland (Weesp) and after the high pressure of my last job it's nice to be back living out in the country."

"We were looking for something different, something with a challenge," added Godbout, who managed at another delicatessen in Ottawa.

One of the changes being planned for the store will be an emphasis on "serving ethnic people a little more," said Van Engen. A large order of Dutch items are already on the way.

He added he is working on other ways of improving the selection of fresh meats and produce but added it is a "little premature" to discuss any firm plans.

"We like the store, we like the town and we think there is all kinds of opportunity," said Van Engen.

Year of learning for Stormont 4-H

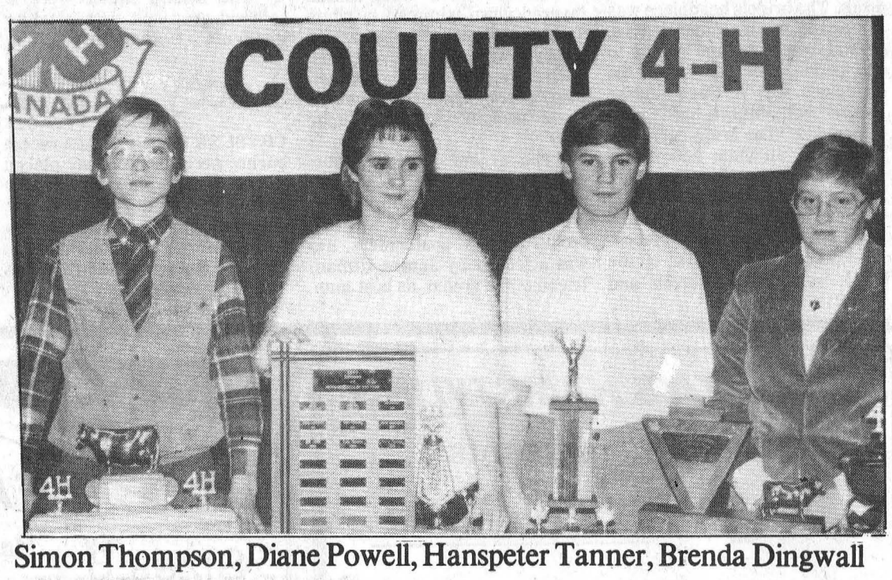
Sonia Villeneuve, Ann Van Delst, Kim Aube, Ian Dingwall



Simon Thompson, Diane Powell, Hanspeter Tanner, Brenda Dingwall

AVONMORE (Staff) - It was a year of learning for 4-H members in 1986. Stormont Dairy Princess Bonnie Stewart reported learning "how easy it is to smile in public", and Valerie Wert, on a tour of the United Kingdoms learning not to say "I can't find my pants" while in the presence of company (pants means female underwear in the U.K.).

The two young women were just a couple of the speakers who explained at the 1986 Stormont 4-H awards banquet what they'd learned this 4-H year. And the audience also learned just who the top 4-H members in Stormont were.

Topping the list this year were Citizen award winners Ian Dingwall, Sonia Villeneuve and Kim Aube, outstanding senior members who are planning to continue education past secondary school. They each received a $200 cash award presented by local Ottawa Citizen writer Dan Karon. The first two awards go to members completing calf, horse and field crop clubs, the latter award goes to members completing Milk Makes It, Seed to Shelf or Quest for Success projects. The final Citizen award will be presented at a later date.

Sandra Campbell was presented the Gold Watch award for completing five or more years in 4-H while showing leadership qualities, enthusiasm and active participation in the club.

the Eastern Breeders Incorporated award, given to an outstanding senior member, was awarded to Anne Van Delst. Dale Murray received the Royal Bank of Canada award which goes to an outstanding third or fourth year 4-H member. Chris Reusser was presented with the Peter Manley trophy as outstanding second-year member, and Simon Thompson received the F.C. Eligh trophy for outstanding first-year member.

The Avonmore Calf Club was deemed the best in the county, picking up the Grant Campbell trophy, an award given annually to the 4-H club in Stormont whose members show the greatest interest, participation, and per cent completions.

The top three judges at the Stormont County Judging Day were, in the novice class, Rachel Flegg, Kristine McRae, Robin Flegg; intermediate class, Greg Hanna, Chris Reusser, Derek Haley; senior class, Jacqueline Jans, Richard Dingwall and Helen McBride.

Rachel Flegg was awarded the CNE shield, presented to the highest scoring novice in the county 4-H judging competition. The Lunenburg Women's Institute cash award went to Helen McBride, the highest scoring horse club member in county 4-H judging competition.

The Stormont DHIC award, given to a first year dairy club member showing outstanding work, went to Innis McDonell; the AgriNews Award, given to the top news reporter, went to Diane Powell, and the MacKenzie and Dingwall award for the member who exhibited the top Jersey calf in Stormont County went to Brenda Dingwall.

Richard Dingwall was presented the Donald MacIntyre Memorial trophy which goes to the Grand Champion Dairy Showman for Stormont County, David MacLennan won the Stormont Ayrshire award, which is presented to a member who exhibits the Grand Champion Ayrshire calf in Stormont County.

Rural organization specialist Kathy Simpson thanked all the 4-H members, volunteer leaders, parents, sponsoring organizations, award and trophy donors and local newspapers, and indicated there would be many "new and exciting" 4-H projects again for 1987.

Heart to Heart generating interest

WINCHESTER (Staff) - A support program for heart attack victims got off to a shaky start here but is now generating a great deal of interest, members of the Dundas County chapter of the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario were told at a chapter meeting Thursday.

The Heart to Heart program, offered in Dundas for the first time this year, got under way Oct. 15 and will wind up next month after eight weekly sessions at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. According to chapter president Alan Sharkey, no one had registered to take part in the program up to 48 hours before the first session took place. A round of phone calls to area doctors did the trick, and 15 participants were on hand for the session.

At present 17 people, ranging in age and type of illness, are taking part, said program coordinator Dawn Erickson. "They've been enjoying it and they're very helpful to each other."

The program gives recent heart attack victims a chance to discuss their problems with other patients as well as health care professionals. Sessions are held Wednesdays from 7:30pm to 9pm at the hospital, featuring guest speakers on a variety of topics ranging from the heart and how it works, to proper diet, and how to cope with stress.

Present at Thursday's meeting of the Dundas chapter were regional manager Jeannette Scrimshaw and area coordinator Judy Baril, who reported on the progress of efforts to set up fundraising events in the county for the 1987 campaign. The participation of Morewood Public School in a Jump Rope for Heart event next spring has been confirmed, said Baril. Letters have been sent to area dance groups inviting them to take part in Dance for Heart events, she added.

The Jump Rope for Heart program combines a cardiovascular fitness program for schools with fundraising for the Heart and Stroke Foundation. Participating schools receive a complete package of physical and health education materials as well as access to workshops, demonstration teams and video cassettes. Students are introduced to the fitness element of the program through "creative skipping" and heart health education. A registration package contains teaching resources for both including about 40 pairs of individual ropes, two pairs of double dutch ropes, a poster outlining basic and advanced tricks and a school coordinator's shirt and t-shirts for one or two assistants.

The jump event is an organized activity in which teams of three to six students are individually sponsored for a two-hour session of jumping rope. Students collect pledges from friends and neighbors for each minute they skip as members of a jump event team. The money raised helps to fund the research and education programs of the Heart and Stroke Foundation. Students each receive awards based on the amount of money they raise.

Another fundraising event which promotes regular habits of physical fitness as well as aerobic health is the Dance for Heart. The program is a three-hour event with five-minute breaks each half-hour, with participants collecting pledges for the length of their performance.

In 1982 the pilot project of Dance for Heart began and raised over $14,000. In 1985, 40 Dance for Heart events were held and raised about $120,000.

University applications out

The School Guidance Corner
Don Stephen, Head of Guidance
North Dundas District
High School

Application forms for all students planning to attend University next year are now being filled out. These forms are distributed to the school by the Ontario University Application Centre (O.U.C.A.), Guelph. Students are now busy selecting three universities to be recorded on the forms. Once the three choices have been made, we record the marks the student obtained in grades 11 and 12 and indicate the grade 13 subjects being studied this year. All of these applications are then sent to the Centre by registered mail on Dec. 15.

There is an application service fee of $11 which each student must send with the application form. Application forms for which a fee has not been received are not processed.

On Feb. 16, the Centre mails out acknowledgement-amendment forms and the applicant can change any or all of the selections or their order if he or she so wishes. Changes can be made right up to April when we send in interim marks for this year's grade 13 subjects.

On June 12, the universities may begin to release offers of early admission and they require a response to this offer by June 26.

Ontario Student Loans forms become available some time in April and we will have in the local representative for a workshop on completing these forms sometime after they are received.

Applications for Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology are also now also available and interested students may begin to fill these out. College application forms also allow three choices of college and the student completes the top part of the application form and the school then fills in the marks for the last years of study.

The colleges accept these applications starting Jan. 5 and those received up to and including March 2 are considered for first processing and those received after this date are only considered if places remain in the courses applied for.

Early acceptance for the colleges are released on April 15 and those accepted have ten days to send in their $50 confirmation fee. Some courses require an interview and others a portfolio and these are usually completed between February 15 and the acceptance date.

Students with special concerns and inquiries should make sure that they speak with Mary Taylor or myself.

James Grant Levere , Wanda Lee Blair

Wanda Lee Blair and James Grant Levere exchange vows

(Special) - On Sat. Aug. 9, 1986 at 4pm in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Chesterville, Wanda Lee Blair and James Grant Levere were united in marriage. The ceremony was officiated by Reverend Bert de Bruijn. Organist for the occasion was Ann Langabeer and Marilyn de Bruijn was the soloist.

Wanda Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Blair, Chesterville, and James Grant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Levere, Winchester.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white bridal satin. The gown was gathered at the waist to form a Victorian style basque waist, with tapered sposa sleeves and a cathedral train embossed with applique and edged in French lace. The gown had a high neckline with the bodice adorned in seed pearls, sequins and highlighted with crystal teardrops. The bride's headpiece was a cascade of rhinestone leaves, crystal teardrops and pearls to one side. Flowing from the headpiece was a three-quarter length veil highlighted with rhinestones. The bride carried a traditional all-white bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, sweetheart roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy accented with crystal petals, pearl strands and bridal ribbon.

Patricia Blair, sister of the bride, was maid of honour and the bridesmaids were Robin Simms and Joeann Lawrence, both friends of the bride. They wore identical dresses of brilliant peacock blue. The material was of a linen blend with a square geometric jacquard pattern. The bodice was of a straight cut with a blouson effect. The hip was accentuated with a sheered sash ending in a large bow on the left side. The tulip shaped skirt on the dresses reached mid-calf with a cowled drape down the front. The shoes were dyed in the same peacock blue.

White orchids

The maid of honour carried a cascade of white orchids, rosebuds, bachelor's buttons, trailing ivy and pearls. The bridesmaids carried a nosegay of white orchids, rosebuds, bachelor's buttons and pearls. The flower girl, Shelley Robertson, cousin of the bride, wore a white chiffon layered gown trimmed in white satin ribbon and lace. She carried a posy of white orchids, rosebuds, bachelor's buttons and sweetheart pearls. The girls all wore a floral headpiece with a delicate veil.

The groom wore platinum grey formal attire with vest, pleated white shirt and platinum grey bow tie. He had a white orchid for his boutonniere. He was attended by James Utman, friend of the groom, as best man. Acting ushers were Wade Levere, brother of the groom, and Daniel MacMartin, friend of the groom. Honorary ushers were Barry Blair and Keith Blair, both brothers of the bride. Kevin Blair, brother of the bride, acted as chauffeur. They all wore platinum grey tuxedos with pleated white shirts, platinum grey bow ties and cummerbunds. The best man and acting ushers had peacock blue rose boutonnieres. The honorary ushers and chauffeur had ice blue bachelor's buttons for their boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a tea-length gown and hat of lilac chiffon with matching accessories. Her corsage was a lilac orchid with a pearl underlay. The groom's mother chose a light blue knee-length gown and a white hat trimmed in blue ribbon with grey accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The bride's father wore a tailored grey suit with a white gardenia boutonniere. The groom's father wore a taupe suit with a yellow rose for his boutonniere.

Flowers for the wedding were arranged by Marion Byers. The beautiful wedding cake was made by Marjorie Countryman. The photographer was Wayne LaPrade.

Following the ceremony, the dinner was held at Winchester Community Centre and catered by St. Paul's Presbyterian Ladies Aid. The candles in the candelabras were lit by Kim Droppo, friend of the bride. Reverend Bert de Bruijn asked the blessing. Bryan Beazer was the master of ceremonies. Speeches were given by Sheldon Robertson, uncle of the bride and Edward Gayda, uncle of the groom.

Following the dinner, the reception was held at Winchester Community Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Levere spent their honeymoon in the Poconos and are now residing in Ottawa.

Locey wins ladies' euchre

CRYSLER (Special) - At a recent euchre here, Irene Locey placed first in ladies' play, followed by Jean Moran and Helen Serviss.

Peewee B Flyers on five game winning streak

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The Chesterville Peewee "B" Flyers have been riding the crest of the wave so far this season, winning all five of their games.

Not that it's been a cakewalk, however.

Peter Decooman scored with 1:37 left in the game to lift the Flyers past Winchester in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League action on Monday by a score of 3-2.

Scoring earlier for Chesterville were Colin Cotnam and Scott Curran. Marc Dion, Peter Decooman, Craig Smith and Colin Cotnam each contributed an assist, while Daraugh Slowey added two.

Replying for Winchester were Jason Ouellette and Chris Oldford with Shawn Backes chipping in a pair of assists.

Last Thursday the Flyers thumped Metcalfe 7-3 at the Metcalfe Arena.

Two nights earlier, Chesterville edged Brockville 2-1 in a tightly-played game in Chesterville.
