Iroquois Golf Course stays a community asset

WILLIAMSBURG – South Dundas Council has at last completed its round at the Iroquois Golf Club, and is now back at the first tee to begin anew.

Operation of the Iroquois Golf Course will remain as is. Council made their decision public at the February 17, council meeting.

Council passed a resolution authorizing the Iroquois Golf Club Inc. to manage and operate the Iroquois Golf Course. According to the motion, "the Township will negotiate the necessary documents."

Council met in closed sessions with each of three private groups who presented official expressions of interest, and the Iroquois Golf Club Inc. in January.

CAO Andy Brown says that after hearing the proposals and discussions council decided not to sell to the private sector.

Brown says that although the same group will be running the golf course, "There has to be some changes in their financing situation."

"Their financial position is strained due to their debt arrangement," says Brown, who hopes to work towards a proposal to restructure their debt over the next month or so.

Councillor Charles Barkley, who is the council member appointed to the board of directors, points out that the township can't do away with taxes, but there is some restructuring to be done, and Brown is reviewing that with the auditors.

Mayor Lyle Van Allen says, "The Iroquois Golf Club's Board of Directors have worked hard, and through no fault of their own they got into a few problems." He says that council decided to let them keep running the golf course. "We would like to give them another chance."

Barkley says, "From the private sector, we weren't getting any money from it. Council wants to recoup the loan and the back taxes. If someone had put big money on the table we would have taken a hard look at it."

Van Allen says, "If someone offered a million or two, it might have been a different situation, but nobody did that. We went with the best option of the time."

Barkley explained that with the private offers, "The bottom line is we were losing the golf course. (In each case) after a certain number of years they (a private group) would retain ownership. We would basically be giving it away. It's too valuable an asset to the community."

"If we had decided to go with the private sector, the golf course would no longer be a community asset," says Van Allen. "The way we're doing it, it's still a municipally owned golf course."

Management stays, clubhouse may have to go

"It's really a unique situation," says Barkley. The township owns the property and the golf club manages it. "Everything they do there, as far as improvements is an improvement on our property."

One of those improvements being considered by council is a new clubhouse.

"They are in need of a new clubhouse to attract more golfers, and to attract non-seasonal business," says Van Allen.

Barkley points out that the maintenance on the clubhouse is just too high, and is a drain on the membership. "With a new clubhouse, you eliminate the high maintenance costs, and they would have something they can use 12 months of the year."

"If they have a more appropriate clubhouse, then their income options are greater," says Van Allen. "We will definitely have to look at building them a new clubhouse, but before we do that we will have to market the existing property."

How that property will be marketed will be a council decision, said Van Allen.

Barkley says if the property is marketed, those interested would probably have the opportunity to keep the house.

Despite the unique ownership situation of the Iroquois Golf Course, Barkley says, "It can't be a drain on the people (taxpayers)."

Barkley says that he wanted the motion about the golf course tabled at the last meeting. "The golf season is coming, and they need to know where they are going."

He yoted in favour of the status quo. "I think they can stay, but they need to shake it up a little. With some changes and some hard work they can turn this thing around."

Water treatment plant

WILLIAMSBURG – The Township of South Dundas let the tender for the construction of the Morrisburg-Iroquois water treatment plant last week.

Tendering the water plant was delayed, until now, anticipating that the market for contractors and equipment would change, and the municipality would get a better price from bidders.

Near the end of the last council term, Rick Eamon, of the Thompson Rosemount Group suggested there were so many similar water projects ongoing that the township may benefit by waiting to go to tender, and council agreed.

The theory is that once demand for contractors decreases, their prices will come down. Now that the tender has been let, council is waiting to see if patience has paid off.

The tender is due March 18, 2004. Eamon expects construction to be complete by April 1, 2005.

Good Pancakes

Sarah Casselman, a grade 5 student at St. Mary-St. Cecilia applies a little of the sweet stuff to Jane VanMoorsel's pancakes at the third annual pancake breakfast hosted by the school at the Legion in Morrisburg on Sunday. Jane is a junior kindergarten student at the school. The fundraiser which included the pancake breakfast, a raffle and silent auction was once again a huge success with more than $3,000 raised.

How fast?

SOUTH STORMONT – On February 19, Constable P. Hebert of the East Region Ride Unit was stopped on Highway 401 west bound in South Stormont with a violator when his radar warning device was activated by a passing motor vehicle.

The vehicle was traveling at a high rate of speed and was clocked by the radar at 213 km/h in a 100 km/h zone.

The vehicle was subsequently stopped and the driver, 24-year-old Geoffrey Rockwell, of Rochester, New York was charged with speeding, drive motor vehicle with speed measuring device, and fail to have insurance care. He is to appear in Cornwall Court on March 31, 2004.

Garbage
Two is the limit

Public Works manager Hugh Garlough asked council to review the garbage policy at the February 3, ccuncil meeting and inform staff of any necessary changes so that they could get the tender out. Council asked to defer their decision until the February 17 meeting.

At that meeting, township CAO Andy Brown urged council to make a decision. "We want to go to tender as soon as possible."

Council made some minor changes to the policy presented by Garlough, most importantly, they asked that the township stay with the two bag limit, rather than decreasing it to one as suggested by Garlough.

Water meter installations nearing completion

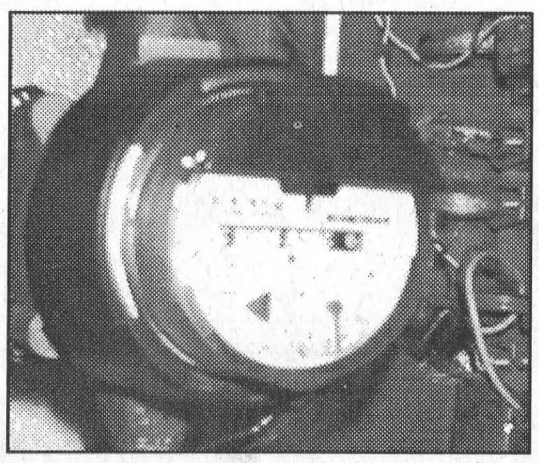
WILLIAMSBURG – Council finally got to speak to the source about their concerns over the installation of water meters at the February 17, council meeting.

Hugh George part-owner of G.C. Toshack, the company awarded the South Dundas water meter installation tender last fall, attended the council meeting to discuss the progress of the installation and answer questions.

George said he is "very satisfied," with the water meter installation project. Of the 1,700 installations necessary in the villages of Morrisburg and Iroquois, 76 percent (1,300) are complete.

In Morrisburg 827 of the 1151 installations (72%) are complete, and in Iroquois 452 of 562 (80%) are finished.

George credits the success of the project so far to the residents. "We owe a big thanks to the residents. We know not everyone is happy with the idea of meters but the people have been understanding and co-operative."



"We are at the point now where the bulk of the work is done. We are now dealing with stragglers, some outright refusals, and the more difficult installations."

About 30 of those difficult installations require outside work, so the contractor will have to wait for better weather.

George said that they now have 55 names on the refusal list.

"Of that list one third are conscientious objectors." They want more information before the meter is installed.

About 30 of the names on the list are outright refusals, or are too busy to cooperate with scheduling an installation.

George pointed out that it's about one percent, and not representative of how the bulk of the people have been dealing with the project.

"These people need to understand that the township wants to complete the project," said George. He suggested some may come on board once the township decides on a noncompliance penalty.

A Look at Local Tourism

There was much enthusiasm following a meeting called by South Dundas CAO, Andy Brown and held at the Iroquois Civic Centre last Thursday. The meeting was to get businesses and services in the South Dundas Community to come together and begin working together in local tourism for the benefit of all. Guest speakers were Mary Eaton, Regional Tourism Consultant with the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation and Mike Lalonde executive manager for the Cornwall and Seaway Valley Tourism organization. Above, left, Eaton makes a point with Glen Cunningham, while on the right Lynn Cook speaks with Lalonde.

Stake holders unite for trip into local tourism

IROQUOIS–Last Thursday's meeting called by South Dundas CAO Andy Brown to look at tourism in this area got off on a good foot with a large representation from the community on hand.

The meeting's speakers were Mary Eaton, Regional Tourism Consultant for the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation, and Mike Lalonde director of the Cornwall & Seaway Valley Tourism organization.

Brown told those at the meeting, who represented a good cross section of the community, that his purpose was to look at tourism, in particular in South Dundas.

His intent, he said, was to "determine a level of interest in the community for tourism and coordinate an approach to tourism."

"I think we have to get an inventory of the various operations, as tourism extends right down to food and beverage, and retail."

"I think we need to do some branding, decide how we are going to get the catch phrase and what that catch phrase is."

"We may have to look at the beautification of our community, our signage, our landscaping and our gardening and maintenance."

Eaton explained that one of the first steps is to determine who your customers are and how they decide to come to your area.

Using government statistics she said 47 percent of the tourist market plans by type of experience first.

Twenty-five percent plan by destination first. They want warm weather or the want to go to the Rockies. The remainder plan by both type of experience and destination. They may want to ski in the Rockies.

She also said the number one source people find out about a place is through word of mouth.

"It is critically important that you make sure your area is tourism friendly. They take that home with them."

Travel agents and articles and editorials are important and the fastest growing means for sources of information is the Internet.

"Hits on our web sites are skyrocketing. The Internet is going to be the number one source of information, if it isn't already."

The Ministry has looked at tourism in various ways and has statistics available that outline current trends in tourism.

They have looked at fully independent travel versus the group market, multi-generational travel, shorter more frequent trips, customized itineraries (packages), cultural and heritage tourism, and festival and events that act as motivators.

"Tourism has been hit hard," she said pointing to SARS, Mad Cow, border crossing security and the war in Iraq.

She indicated this provides a "real opportunity to attract the domestic market back, Ontarians traveling within Ontario."

"Holiday at home is the right message. Right now, the domestic market is what you should be looking at."

She noted the importance of associating with the 1,000 Island Brand. "Think of what you can figure out to fit into that."

"It is also critical that your web site is one people can find. They won't go on South Dundas Economic or the Chamber of Commerce site. They use key words like 1,000 Islands or tourism."

"A tourism action plan is critical. It's the road map that tells you where you want to go."

Mike Lalonde explained the Cornwall & Seaway Valley Tourism Association has 215 members and lists in its mandate: to promote the city and counties; work with local tourism operators and industry partners; increase the economic impact of the tourism industry.

"The city has the rooms available, but the counties have all the attractions."

He said the value of tourism to Cornwall and the Seaway Valley is not small.

There are over 1 million visitors to our area annually accounting for over $100 million spending. Tourism in Cornwall and SD&G creates 2,500 jobs creating $45 million in wages. It generates $5 million in municipal taxes, enhances the community image and quality of life, and generates additional economic spin-offs.

"Where does our little part of Eastern Ontario compare to the rest of Ontario? We are still looking at a very small percentage. We are not viewed as a primary destination."

Both Susan Leclair representing the St. Lawrence Parks Commission and Linda Bowers president of Cornwall and Seaway Valley Tourism impressed the importance of partnerships.

"It all costs money. We have to do it collectively," said Bowers, noting "South Dundas has a lot of gems."

While she recognized the importance of South Dundas getting organized, she emphasized the importance of being part of the bigger entity.

"Get involved. Be part of this partnership. It is important for you all to realize who you are and come together."

It was agreed to set up an advisory committee that would work through the South Dundas Economic office. "A lot of communities have a tourism committee. We don't know if that is what we need," said Brown.

Foodgrains Bank Harvest

MORRISBURG – About 50 participants and friends from nine congregations, representing four separate denominations, gathered in Allan Hall, Lakeshore Drive United Church last Sunday evening to celebrate the 2003 Canadian Foodgrains Bank harvest.

The 2003 South Dundas Project was 14 acres of grain corn, grown on the Zambon family farm, just north of Iroquois on County Road #1.

The local project raised about $7,700 for the Canadian Foodgrains Bank (CFGB), which provides both emergency and development aid resources to needy areas of the world. This was the first year for this particular CFGB project.

One of the participating congregations, Brinston United, the children developed their own project. They grew a plot of potatoes in a special effort for helping others.

The South Dundas CFGB group will meet on March 20, to decide on a 2004 project, and organizers hope even more congregations will take part in the upcoming project.

The Canadian Foodgrains Bank - A Christian Response to Hunger - is operated by 13 Canadian church denominations. It encouragaes working together, here in Canada to raise resources, and in receiving countries to deliver assistance to needy communities.

In most CFGB aid projects, the Government of Canada, through the Canadian International Development Agency, CIDA, the project funds are matched at a 4:1 ratio.

Council and club return to the #1 tee

It's been a long round, a very long round, but it appears as if the game has been completed and members of South Dundas Council have returned to the first tee for yet another round. The game, golf that is, is like that. It just keeps you coming back for more.

After much controversy, which made the fate of the Iroquois Golf Club a big topic during the municipal election campaign last fall, it appears as if we are back in play right where we started a couple of years back. That's when the golf club proposed the sale of the municipally owned land that their clubhouse sits on to provide revenue for a new building located elsewhere on the property.

The council of that day saw it as a win-win situation. They thought they had read the putt, and they thought they had read it well. The club would get a new building which would not be as expensive to maintain and this would help them keep up with the payments against their debt to the municipality and at the same time be able to pay their tax bill. The municipality would receive the comfort of knowing that the club would be able to meet their payments and would pick up additional tax revenue from the sold property.

It all began to unravel at a public meeting in Iroquois, when residents there were opposed to the selected site for the new building. The matter eventually deteriorated to the point where council decided to put out feelers for outside private sector buyers. Well, it appears now that it ended up there was not a lot of interest, and what interest did come in did not propose a venture that would be any benefit to the municipality, the taxpayers or the golfers.

So, here we are, back at the first tee. The Iroquois Golf Club is keeping its course and the game is about to begin again. Noting that slow play is a real problem for all golf courses, it is hoped the players involved this time will be able to pick it up a notch. BMc

Around the Town

The word Around the Town this week is that the cast for the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club semi-annual live theatre production is now in rehearsal. Directed by Wendy Gibb, this year's production is a Tim Kelly comedy titled "Curse of the Werewolf". The production calls for a large cast of 12 actors, and the community will be happy to learn that Charlie Marsden is back along with several other familiar faces and some new ones as well. Organizers are giving their audience plenty of notice to mark April 22-24 and April 30-31 on the calendar for the production of the "Curse of the Werewolf" at the Upper Canada Playhouse.

Coming up this Friday night in Winchester at 8 p.m. is something of interest to local hockey fans as well as local hockey players. Hitting the ice will be the Ottawa Raiders and the Quebec Avalanche, members of the National Women's Hockey League. It is generally players from this league, both its east and west division, that we receive our representation at the national and international level. To add local flavour the Raiders have called up affiliate player Carissa Casselman of Williamsburg who plays Junior AA hockey in Ottawa.

The CHEO foundation is hoping someone in the community would like to help give back to the kids at CHEO as a volunteer to help sell duck race tickets in this area. The hospital depends on revenue from the Duck Race to help purchase much needed equipment. If you are interested call 613-737-2779. Ticket sales run from April-May with the duck race event on Saturday, June 5.

The February 23 issue reported it was becoming old hat for Lance Cassell who had won his fourth consecutive Legion public speaking contest. Cassell was a grade 5 student at Morrisburg Public School. This year he chose, as his topic, Roald Dahl, author of "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory."

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions were deadlocked in their semifinal playoff series against the Char-Lan Rebels, each with a stroke in the win column. The Lions opened the series with a win but then lost game two, 7-6. The Rebels effectively shut down Andy McEwan who won the St. Lawrence Division's regular season scoring award.

Williamsburg fisherman, Dan MacMillan placed second in the annual Johnstown Ice Fishing Derby with a pike that tipped the scales at nine pounds, 11 ounces. For the win he received an outboard motor, a 14-foot aluminum boat and a trailer.

Stephanie Chung with a first in junior silver ladies free, Allan Chung with a first in preliminary men's free and Brennan Martin with a first in recreational bronze men's at the annual Inter Club competition were now preparing to advance to the Eastern Ontario Section Championship in Kingston.

Pictured on the front page of the February 22 issue were five local figure skaters who had scored medals at the annual 12-club competition in Winchester and led the Morrisburg team to a third place finish overall. Pictured were Julie Wells, Eric DeGray, Lynn Serviss, Greg Wells and Glenn Serviss.

The motor vehicle licence issuing office announced that Hal's Barber Shop, operated by Hal Wagner, had been awarded the contract which would see him operate the business out of an office adjacent to his shop.

In the garden of Debbie Disheau of Williamsburg her Johnny Jump-ups, a member of the pansy family, had pushed through the melting snow and were showing blooms.

Morrisburg Junior B Lions defenceman Garry Beckstead was selected the St. Lawrence Division's most valuable defenceman for the season. Beckstead was in his fifth season with the Lions and was known for his blistering shots, dazzling stick handling and exceptional skating. Also singled out was Lions team captain Tom Hodgson who was selected to the first all star team. A talented right winger, Hodgson finished fifth in the division scoring. Both Hodgson and Beckstead were in their final season. The Lions were defeated 16-4 in their final game of the regular season and were now preparing for their quarterfinal playoff series.

The February 22 issue reported that Beavers Dental Products had announced to its employees plans for increasing production in Morrisburg and arrangements in conjunction with American Hospital Supply Corporation and Midwest American. By taking this step George E. Beavers, who would continue to manage the local operation, had associated his factory with an organization possessing marketing skills and export expertise to assure a continuance of the steady growth the local company had experienced in its 32-year history.

The Morrisburg Peewees defeated Nepean 4-2 to win the A championship of their home tournament. Frank Hummell led the effort with two goals and Jim Whelan and Jeff Jarvis added singles.

Fred H. Broder, beloved former reeve of Morrisburg and Warden of the United Counties was celebrating his 94th birthday.

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions wrapped up second place counting largely on a 7-5 win over Embrun. At game time their goalies were missing, so forward Gord Dillabough donned the pads and played a good game between the pipes. A second hero of the game was David Cassell who early in the second period scored his first goal of the season kicking off a comeback effort which would see goals from Tim Cassell and Kevin Duvall to tie the game 5-5. In the third period Vince Davies put the Lions up 6-5 and then David Cassell, surprised not just the goalie, but himself with his second goal of the year.

The February 21 issue reported that with only seven days left before the deadline, 600,000 Ontario motorists still had to obtain their 1964 licence plates. It was estimated that 1 million plates had been purchased.

At Marcellus Motor Sales in Morrisburg, General Motors was introducing the Epic, which at last, read the ad provided power and comfort in the small car field.

The Winchester Combines and Morrisburg Juniors were tied for first place in the St. Lawrence Junior Hockey League after Morrisburg won a 5-4 decision at Morrisburg. John Ross led the team to victory with two goals and Dennis Whitteker, Terry McCurdy and Tom McCurdy added singles.

The Williamsburg Fuel Jets held on to first place with an 8-4 win over the Morrisburg Intermediates.

1954

The Wednesday, February 19 issue featured a Letter to the Editor signed by "Civis". "For the third night in a row, I have turned the taps hopefully, only to be greeted by a great flow–of nothing. Of course, this is counteracted during the day when dishes are hurled from my hands by the force of the air in the pipes, following frantic repairs to our old pumping equipment. About all the poor tax payer can do is to bank his fires with extra precaution on the nights when the water works decide to wage war against old age and the poor man responsible for our safety and comfort." The one comfort though, was that the burgle of the water meant there were others getting no sleep, he wrote.

1944

The February 18 issue reported the Morrisburg Juniors gave supporters plenty to crow about in the best-of-three, semifinal series with Cardinal. The local team won the series in two straight, 5-1 and 7-4. In the first game goalie John Rice fairly had his first shutout of the season right in his mitt, when with little more than 10 seconds to go, the score read 5-0. The whole Cardinal team, with the exception of the goalie surrounded John and everybody had a crack at him until they finally scored.

World Day of Prayer Service at St. Paul's

MORRISBURG - Christians around the world will be focusing on the country of Panama during the annual World Day of Prayer service.

Local residents are invited to join in this worldwide event by attending a service at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, March 5 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

This year's World Day of Prayer service, written by the women of Panama, reflects on the theme "In Faith, Women Shape the Future". The Panamanian women greet all those participating in this service by saying, "Buenos Dias", and "Koböniniö" which means "Good Day!"

Panama is one of the most ethnically diverse countries in the world, and its fertile tropical climate supports an abundance of plants and bird life. It is also one of the most unequal countries in the world in terms of the disparity between rich and poor.

Much of the economy and wealth is concentrated in the services sector that supports the Panama Canal, while much of the extreme poverty is found in isolated areas of the country and in indigenous communities.

Participants attending the World Day of Prayer will not only be learning more about this beautiful country and its unique culture and heritage, but will also be joining Christians in more than 170 countries around the world an d 2,000 communities across Canada who will gather together to pray and take action in solidarity with the people of Panama.

The World Day of Prayer has its roots in an ecumenical day of prayer organized by women in Canada and the United States in 1920. This event became the international World Day of Prayer in 1922, and Christians around the world began celebrating this event on the first Friday of March

In Canada, the World Day of Prayer is coordinated by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada. In this community, the coordinating group has representation from the following churches: Presbyterian, Anglican, United, Roman Catholic, Pentecostal and Lutheran.

For more information on the service being held in this community, please contact: Mary Salmon, 534-2385.

Arena area disturbance

MORRISBURG – A report of a disturbance between a man and a woman in the area of the Morrisburg Arena on the evening of February 19, has lead to the arrest of a 46-year-old Morrisburg man who will be facing charges of break and enter, and assault, in connection with an incident which occurred at an Alice Street residence. He will appear in Provincial Court in the Village of Morrisburg on April 6, 2004.

"God In A Bottle"

Perspectives

Rev. Jean Udall

A man was crawling through the desert on his hands and knees, desperate for a drink of water. He came upon a guy selling neckties. "Would you like to buy a nice tie?" asked the salesman.

"All I want is a drink of water," croaked the man. Well, the salesman had no water, so the poor fellow crawled on across the sand. He then came upon a beautiful, five-star restaurant.

With his last ounce of energy, he struggled to the entrance and asked the doorman, "Please, sir, may I have a drink of water?" The doorman replied, "Sorry, Gentlemen are not admitted without neckties!"

Life is often hard and grossly unfair! Christians know this, and that's why we celebrate Transfiguration Sunday. This is like a bridge over which we walk to get to the season of Lent.

The Transfiguration of Jesus, up on a mountaintop, is like a road sign pointing back to Jesus' baptism when He is declared the Son of God, while also pointing toward His death and resurrection in Jerusalem.

Jesus has just informed His followers that He will undergo great suffering and rejection, be killed, but then rise again on the third day. He has asked them to deny themselves and take up their cross daily in order to follow Him.

This is crushing news, of course! Jesus' followers are feeling confused and betrayed. Suddenly their lives, and the last three years spent with Jesus, seem like a huge waste. It makes no sense. And Jesus understands this, so He gives them a glimpse of glory!

Jesus takes His friends up to the top of a mountain and renews their hearts and their hopes by showing them the glory of an everlasting life with God. The transfiguration is a story of God appearing in a tangible, vivid and real way.

What they witness is a vision of Moses, the law giver, with Elijah, the prophet, and Jesus, shining with the light of all God's glory! It's a dazzling image and the first impulse is to preserve the moment!

We're no different today. When we experience an intimate moment with Jesus, we, too, want it to last forever. Like children who catch a firefly in a jar and watch it glow for hours, we want a tangible God to take out and hold when the going gets rough.

Yet, God's tangible presence seems to flee from us as fast as fireflies escape a glass jar. Like those followers of Jesus, the glory of God is revealed to us for only a matter of minutes. And then Jesus brings us back to the struggle of everyday life.

To each of us has been given the task of building one piece of God's kingdom. The work is never fast and rarely easy. It can even seem impossible and sometimes pointless. We can lose heart. We can lose our way, and sometimes we do.

But always in the darkest times, Jesus is there, calling us, just for a moment to the mountaintop, showing us yet again the glory of an everlasting life in love. We are assured that we don't walk this rocky life alone, and we are not building these lives of ours alone!

Know this, my friends. God loves you, and God is with you in all of your life experiences! Open your heart to a love that is everlasting and be transformed – transfigured – by the presence of Jesus in your life.

AMEN

R-O to let the past speak in song

INGLESIDE – Students at Rothwell-Osnabruck School will bring those long-ago voices of the Seaway Project and the Lost Villages to life in song this spring.

The project, conceived by Francis Marin who stumbled upon the idea when she learned the city of Kingston was commissioning a song, will result in a full length musical CD to be released in July to coincide with the 50th anniversary of the beginning of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project.

Last Thursday, Marin, Jane Craig and Rosemary Rutley of the Lost Villages Historical Society and R-O principal Janice Meyer and vice-principal Susan Rutters met with singer/songwriter James Gordon of Guelph who will head the "Song writing in the School" project.

A $10,000 Trillium grant and a financial contribution from the Upper Canada District School Board, have enabled the organizers to engage Gordon who says, "my main role here is a song facilitator."

Gordon has been writing songs for about 25 years and performed with the folk band Tamarac who visited this area in the past.

"Our mandate was to tell Canada's story through song. I've always been fascinated with the area, and I jumped at this opportunity," he said

"I think Canadians, in general, are not familiar enough with this story. I think it is a great story, and it is a story that should have been told a long time ago."

Gordon will be at the school for three days in April when he will work with the classes to produce six to eight songs about the Seaway and the Lost Villages.

This will culminate in a live performance at a community assembly. The songs will be recorded live, and they, along with another six written and performed by Gordon, will be made into the musical CD.

Rothwell-Osnabruck School prides itself on the local history–prior to, during and after the Seaway–it provides its students. Every year, grades 7-9 do a unit on the Seaway.

For the week prior to Gordon's arrival, guest speakers will pass on their experiences and memories of the Seaway project to the students.

Gordon says the first thing he will do when he meets with each of the classes is explain to them "that songs are almost never written by 30 people."

"It's pretty hectic. I use every available bit of blackboard space. We will start by picking a subject, not just the Lost Villages. It may be the story told by a grandfather of watching a church pulled up the road."

"I just write out everything they tell me."

From there Gordon says they look at what has been written, picking up similar sentences, words that rhyme etc. to arrive at the lyrics.

He says the magical part is that once the lyrics are done, somebody in the room can already hear (in their head) what the song sounds like.

"We piece it together, and somehow it always works. They'll have a tape of the song within an hour."

The students' songs will be taped live at the performance and Gordon will produce a professional quality music CD at his recording studio.

"This is a fairly major project, in a very small town, with some very small people," says Gordon.

"I'm confident we'll have a CD in hand...a lasting record of the hopes and dreams of the people of the Lost Villages. This area is rich in stories, and we'll be giving voices to those who didn't have a chance. There are a lot of voices muffled under the water."

"I'm really drawn to personal stories...the little guy stories. There is a drama here. There was the big guy, Hydro, and the little guy who didn't get to have his story told."

In addition to the hiring of Gordon, the Trillium and School Board funding will cover the costs associated with the production of a minimum of 500 CDs. The project is also supported by the Lost Villages Society and the South Stormont Chamber of Commerce.

While the CD will be one tangible result of the project, student learning will be the most important one.

"The entire experience will be a memorable one and will create a great sense of accomplishment in our students while providing this community with clear evidence that Rothwell-Osnabruck is a school that provides, unique, enjoyable and enriching education experiences," says Rutters in a press release.

The project will involve a large portion of the student population (various classes and the choirs) in the creation of the songs all the way through to the design of the CD jacket.

Something to Sing About

Each year students at Rothwell-Osnabruck School in Ingleside celebrate their Seaway heritage and remember the Lost Villages of the Seaway Days through special projects. This year they will participate in a project entitled "Song Writing in the School" which will lead to a live performance of the songs they and singer/songwriter James Gordon create to allow those long-ago forgotten voices and memories of the Seaway to be forever captured in music. Pictured above front l-r are, Frances Marin who had the idea for the project, songwriter James Gordon, Jane Craig president of the Lost Villages Society, and Rosemary Rutley secretary of the Lost Villages Society. Behind, l-r, are R–O principal and vice-principal Janice Meyer and Susan Rutters who have enthusiastically thrown their support behind the project.

Driving complaint leads to charges

SOUTH DUNDAS – While investigating a driving complaint on the afternoon of February 21, a vehicle stop in the township resulted in the discovery of a dispute between two of the vehicle's occupants, which lead to a number of criminal charges against one of the passengers.

Charges of assault (2 counts), uttering threats to damage property (2 counts), failing to comply with the conditions of an undertaking (change of address, non-association and alcohol provisions), and mischief under $5,000 are pending against a 19-year-old Cornwall woman, who was held in custody following her arrest.

Five generations for Levere family

WINCHESTER–Pearl Levere of Winchester has held a number of babies in her 92 years, and she now has the pleasure of holding her great-great-granddaughter Haley Shonfield, who is just three weeks old.

Haley represents the fifth generation in the Levere family, beginning with great-great-grandma Pearl. Her great-grandmother is Lylla Miller of Morrisburg, who promises not to spoil the first girl born to her family in 42 years.

"We have 11 grandsons," says Grandpa Don Miller.

In addition to the five generations, Lylla's family has some interesting statistics.

"Mother has three sets of twins in the family. I'm a twin, she has grandchildren who are twins and she has great-grandchildren who are twins. And we were all born 26 years apart."

Since last summer, Pearl has welcomed five babies to the family which obviously keeps her young at heart. For the five generation gathering for pictures, she baked a couple of pies

Science Fair at local school

MORRISBURG PUBLIC SCHOOL

Students from grades one through six participated in the event, with the top grade six winners going on to compete at the United Counties Science Fair at CCVS in Cornwall, April 3.

Below, Rikki Johnston experimented with hot and cold water. Her project earned her top honours as the science fair winner.

Judging the grade six projects were Rob Gratton (environmental scientist), Paul Gunther (geologist), Marie Josée Willson (biologist) and Kelly Banks (teacher). The group had a tough decision, and were impressed with the students eagerness to share their findings. They selected Johnston as the winner, Tippins and Moss were second, and Kelsey Baxter won third place with her chemical vs. natural cleaners experiment.

Water meter installations

suggested one solution used by other municipalities is a flat rate water bill, which increases exponentially. "Typically they come up with a flat rate that is three times the normal use." That rate keeps increasing until a meter is installed.

Councillor Sandra Bailey said, "I have looked at the list and of those not cooperating. The concerns could have been addressed if people had more input."

"In future decisions I would hope we could involve the public more. The consensus was that there would be another public meeting, and that didn't happen."

"On a positive note, at the 10 apartments I look after there was only one minor difficulty, and my home installation was perfect."

Councillor Charles Barkley addressed the workmanship concerns that surfaced a couple of time throughout the project, and George assured him that the problems were being looked after.

Barkley suggested that addressing the concerns more quickly, "would have went a long way with the people."

Barkley also asked about the qualifications of those installing the water meters.

"Some are licenced plumbers and some are licenced water meter installers," said George.

Councillor Ron Delegarde asked about the training for water meter installers.

George explained the course protocol and requirements come from the provincial government. As part of their training they spend two days on theory and two weeks with an installer.

Delegarde, said that identification on the truck and the installers was an issue on this project. "All of our installers are required to have ID badges and a coat with the Toshack name on it," said George.

Delegarde then asked, "What is the procedure for water meter installations, horizontal or vertical?"

"That's an interesting question," said George. "Your father's was installed horizontally, and he was not happy with that." He explained that horizontal installations take up more space, but according to the tender they were to be installed horizontally.

As the project progressed Toshack was given permission to install some of the meters vertically, where space was an issue, but only with approval.

"Vertical installations are a deviation from the standard, but the meters warrantee both ways."

George hopes to wrap up most of the remaining 400 installations by March, with project completion scheduled for April.

Rick Eamon of Thompson Rosemount Group asked to speak about Toshack's performance on this project. He said that the few problems experienced here were not out of the ordinary, and many other municipalities have experienced the same thing.

Eamon said that they selected Toshack for two reasons, "Their price was very good," and "Toshack is a local company so the project is very important to their reputation."

"The township got good value for their money on this project, and I wouldn't hesitate to recommend them to anyone. They have done a good job."

Mayor Lyle Van Allen asked Eamon when people could expect to be charged for water according to the meters?

Eamon suggested as early as January 2005, but that would be a council decision.

Witherspoon recommended that the township do a couple of test reads and send out sample bills to explain the rate structure when the time comes. "It provides an incentive for conservation and gives them a heads up before they have a bill to pay."

Eamon also strongly recommended the sample because, "We know we have high water usage right now, especially in Iroquois, and some of it is not their (residents) fault." It would give both the township and the residents an opportunity to identify usage problems, and correct them.

Eamon expects that when metering comes into effect the municipality will see at least a 15 percent reduction in water usage. He also explained that the conservation will benefit the community by freeing up more of the water treatment and sewage treatment plants' capacities.

District rides local trails

MORRISBURG – Saturday, neighbouring snowmobile community members were in Morrisburg to see what the local trails have to offer.

The second annual OFSC District Ride, started under less than ideal, rainy conditions, but the day soon improved, for the 63 participants involved.

Bruce Robinson, District 1 governor, explained that members of all of the 32 District clubs and associations are invited to participate. "The idea is to give the volunteers a day of riding and fun."

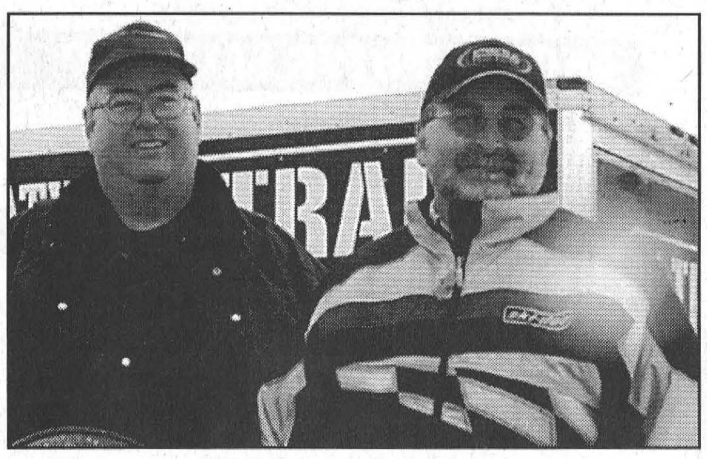
"All these people you 'see here are active in their home clubs. We just want to put a little fun back into their lives. They want a day to enjoy the fruits of their labour. This gives them a chance to see their neighbour's trails."

The idea of the ride, is to move it around to different areas. Although the starting point was the same this year as last, the group traveled a completely different set of trails. "Last year we went east. This year, we are going west," said John Boals, OFSC district manager.

Boals mentioned each of the clubs and trails the group planned to visit on their 225 km, day-long journey. They included Nation Valley, Kemptville, Rideau, Osgoode, Winchester, Riverside, Mountain, South Dundas and Williamsburg.

The ride was sponsored by GMC and Chevy Trucks, Johnson's Chev-Olds, Jack May, and Upper Canada Motors.

Robinson says that this year he has heard all kinds of good reports on the local trails. "Word is spreading that the trails are good here."



"It's a fun day"

Hitting the trails

Riders from all over District 1, which encompasses eastern Ontario, departed the McIntosh Inn Saturday morning to visit 225 km of local trails.

Mike's Valu-mart will be celebrating its third anniversary with a very special fundraiser in conjunction with the Morrisburg Fire Department. They are hosting a barbecue and hockey shoot out in the parking lot this Saturday, February 28 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Goaltending duties will be looked after by local celebrity and number one Maple Leaf fan Frank Beaulne, above, who is all geared up for the event. All proceeds from the barbecue and shoot out will go towards saving the Canada Day Fireworks. Shoot out participants will be entered in a draw to win a 20 inch colour

The Week In Curling

The senior men are now into their final draw of the season, this time for the Gerald Adams Trophy. Winners of the previous draw, for the Jim Fraser Trophy, were Jack Dikland, Dave Salsman, Len Bellamy and Ken Wilson.

Tuesday the day ladies curled in Prescott in friendly competition. Cheryl Thompson, Betty Locke, Sandra Beckstead, Donna Stephens, Dorothy Culkin, Margaret Reynolds and Evonne Delgarde were to make the trip.

Over the weekend our top Little Rock team, Bobby Robichaud, Travis McMillan, Luke Whittaker and Connor Woodmass finished first in the Zone Playdowns in Metcalfe.

Congratulations to the champs, who now advance to the Regionals in Manotick at the end of March.

The Sullivan competition, the four club, double team bonspiel for senior men, was held last Wednesday in Winchester. Bob Bedingfield, Peter Zeran, Raymond Benoit and Karl Duncan, defeated Russell and Metcalfe teams on their way to the evening 'A' final where they lost a tight match to the other double winners from Winchester. Neil Williams, Dwight Gilmer, Gerry Thompson and Al Gowanlock dropped both of their preliminary games and did not advance to the evening finals.

Saturday, two men's teams went to Russell for the Merkley, a similar four club, two team competition. Our team of Larry Cooper, Bob Bergland, Chris Barkley and Gerry Thompson, lost their first game but won their second, moving on to the 'B' final after the usual delicious supper. Paired with a strong Winchester team, our local heroes emerged victorious, and the shield for the 'B' champs will be displayed in the Morrisburg trophy case for the next year at least.

Our other team of Ian McGillis, Gary Gallinger, Allan Harriman and Joe McCooeye won their first game but dropped their second.

In Daytime Mixed play Jack Dikland, Ray Larsen, Len Bellamy and Lana Larsen have won the second draw. Play, with new teams, continues this week for the final series of matches.

On Saturday, March 13th, the local club will host a mixed invitational bonspiel. At time of writing there were still five openings in this popular bonspiel. Call Steve Thompson at 543-3134 to enter a team.

With just over a month of curling left, one Saturday remains for those interested in rentals. Monday and Sunday nights are also free should anyone wish a closing curling party. Call Steve Thompson if interested. Curling will end on Thursday, April 1st with the closing matches for two of our leagues. The awards night, closing banquet and annual meeting will be held on Wed., March 31.

Buckingham, Raymond Benoit's former club, got his old team in the provincial play-downs for the right to represent Quebec in the Canadian Masters Championships, as they did last year. We met the fellows at a senior men's invitational bonspiel here last month, and sympathize with them in their 6-4 loss in the final.

Good curling to all.

IN MEMORIAM

WILLARD–In loving memory of my dear mother, Edna Willard, who went home to be with the Lord February 27, 1994.
I miss you Mom!
–Wilma and family 8p

LINK–In memory of a dear brother and uncle, Lorne, February 26, 2003.
He went away without farewell,
He said goodbye to none,
But Heaven's gate was open wide
And a loving voice said "Come."
Memories are like threads of gold
They never tarnish or grow old.
And when times we do recall,
That's when we miss you most of all.
–Remembered always, Kathy, Marjorie and Betty and families 8p

CARD OF THANKS

HESS–The family of the late Pauline Hess would like to thank: everyone for the cards and donations made to the Winchester Hospital; Rev. Bob Williams; the grandsons who acted as bearers; Sandra Barkley-Probst for the music; the ladies at the Villa for the lunch; those who brought food to the house; David Lapier and the funeral home staff; and everyone for the care and attention she received at the Hartford. 8p

EMMERSON–We would like to give special thanks to Dr. W. Domanko and St. Lawrence Medical staff for looking after Mother and I. First of all, thanks to Karen, Elaine and Diane and Hartford staff for getting Mum into the emergency ward, thanks to the ambulance crew, the nurses on the emergency ward, thanks to Dr. Coolican, Dr. Moussette and Dr. Jacques and the nurses on the second floor. Mother is slowly recovering and waiting to get back to the Hartford. Secondly, thanks to Doug and Orma Barkley for driving me to the Women's Health & Breast Cancer Centre in Ottawa for my biopsy. As far as I know, my test is fine. Thanks to all the relatives, friends and neighbors for their help; it is much appreciated. Thanks to Rev. Byers and Pat Martin for their prayers and concerns, Robin Lane and the Martha Kitchen Fellowship for their prayers. If we have forgotten anybody, please accept our apology. Your thoughtfulness will never be forgotten.
–Yours, Beverley and Jennie Emmerson 8p

GALLINGER–We would like to thank all our friends and neighbours for the many cards and telephone calls we received, the flowers and food sent to our home, and the donations made in Clair's name. A special thanks to Gerald Sigouin for keeping our driveway clear during the week and to David MacDougall at Brownlee Funeral Home, Ingleside, for his caring guidance during a difficult time. A very special thank you to Rev. Carol Hotte for her kindness and understanding and to the Ladies at Christ Church, Long Sault, for their delicious luncheon and to Dr. Wayne Domanko for the care he gave Clair over the years.
–Eileen, Joan, June and Jean 8p

MORRISBURG – In the first round of the playoffs, the Peewee B Lions hosted the Akwesasne Wolves, and got off to a good start, opening the series with a 7-1 win.

The Lions scored twice in the opening period, taking an early 2-0 lead. Scoring for the Lions were Drew Morrow, assisted by Daniel Stevens and Drew Hutt, and Michel Thurler assisted by Stevens and Patrick Chesbro.
