One hundred fathers, players and interested citizens took part in the first annual Minor Hockey League banquet here Saturday night and thoroughly enjoyed the evening. The dinner was held in the Civic Centre, with Carl Rines the Master of Ceremonies.

Guest speaker for the evening was Major Dan McLeod of the Royal Military College, Kingston who spoke on sports and its role in developing the character of youths who participate. The speaker was thanked by Stewart Valcour for attending the dinner and giving such an inspirational address.

Present Resolution On South Branch Flooding

A resolution requesting improvement of the South Branch of the Nation River has been prepared by the Select Committee of the South Branch of the Nation River and sent to the Nation River Authority. Severe flooding conditions last June and July in this area and the possibilities of this again occuring brought about the resolution. The group also asks that a meeting of the Nation River Authority be held and that the area people be notified so they may attend.

Following is the resolution:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS the Nation River Project seems to be at a standstill,

AND WHEREAS the South Branch of the Nation River is in desperate need of channel improvement,

THEREFORE, we, the Select Committee of the South Branch of the Nation River, feel that the Nation River Authority should be starting on smaller projects of its own, and so are asking the Authority to:

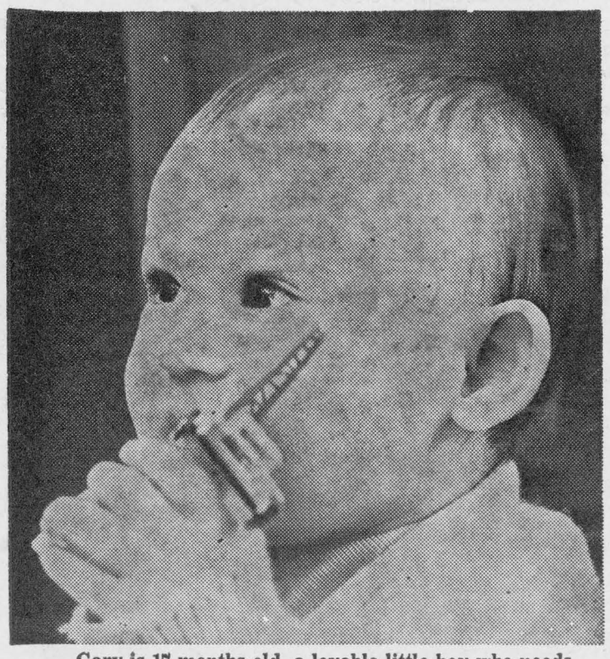
FIRST, Have a survey made of the South Branch, or a portion of it, and,

SECOND, Proceed with some channel improvement to alleviate June flood conditions, if this is feasible.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

Toronto Telegram Syndicate



Gary is 17 months old, a lovable little boy who needs to be adopted so he can grow up with parents of his own. Of Italian-Scottish-English descent, he is a tall, sturdy, well built young fellow with lovely dark eyes, fine light brown hair and clear olive skin. He is in excellent health except for the occasional attack of tonsillitis. He sleeps well and has a splendid appetite. Gary is a good-natured child with a sunny personality. He's friendly and loves attention but is not demanding and can amuse himself happily with his toys. Though he is a really robust child and very active, he is most affectionate and still likes to be cuddled. He needs warm, demonstrative parents who will appreciate a lively, sociable little son. To inquire about adopting Gary please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 5. For general information about adoption ask your local Children's Aid Society.

Anglican Church To Close

At the annual vestry meeting held in January, a recommendation was received by the Rector, Rev. Allan Rogers, that the Bishop of the Diocese of Ottawa be invited to consider closing Christ Church, Dixon's Corners. The cause is due to fewer families, and better means of transportation to the larger centre, Iroquois. For the past two winters, the congregation has attended the Church of St. John the Baptist, Iroquois.

Two Services of Worship will be held, God willing, at Christ Church previous to its demolition. On May 4th at 9 a.m. a Thanksgiving Eucharist will be celebrated by the Rector. On May 11 at 3 p.m. Rt. Rev. E. S. Reed, Bishop of Ottawa will be present, together with Archdeacon W. H. Bradley of Cornwall to conduct the final Service of Worship, and to declare an Act of Secularization.

Information needed.

An appeal is made both to parishioners and friends of Christ Church for information about the Anglican Chruch at Dixon's Corners. The first building was west of the location of the present Church, and formed part of the site of the present cemetery. If people of the community have any sort of written information, verbal memories or recollections, letters, books or other information, that would lend interest or a personal touch they are invited to contact Mr. Arthur Johnston, Warden of Christ Church. The congregation has expressed the hope that together with the Rector they may be able to compile a little booklet containing memories of Christ Church, Dixon's Corners. We will be most grateful for information from any source.

It is possible that senior members of the community could provide an interesting interview about Christ Church, and either Arthur Johnston or Mr. Rogers would be pleased to be in touch with you personally. Church congregation is aware that a significant, historic and final act is taking place in the community of Dixons Corners and they invite any help by way of information that you may be able to offer. Written material will be returned if you wish, and could be addressed to Rev. Allan Rogers, Box 313 Iroquois.

Air Pros and Cons Hangars, Park

A meeting called to give all citizens an opportunity to discuss whether or not plane hangars should be built on the parkland fronting the village brought 35 people to Council Monday night. Planes have been using the field for several years and a year or so back the field was officially given approval by the Department of Transport. Four men applied to village council for permission to build a hangar to house a plane they intend to purchase and Council stayed the decision to open the request to public scrutiny.

In the absence of Reeve Lloyd Davis, Councillor John Haldane occupied the reeve's chair, with Councillors H. A. Gilmer, Jack Fetterly and Jack Saver attending.

From the outset it appeared that a great number were confused on many issues about the field, while a number were for and against not only the hangars, but the use of the field. As the evening gradually wore on, questions asked and answers given, the tone of the meeting subsided into one of discussion only, while not complete accord.

One of the first to speak was A. J. Bray who asked why Council bothered to bring the subject to public meeting when they were empowered to make a decision. Doug Peacock asked for an explanation of the park's useage; several asked what other type of sports or recreation would qualify and Councillor Jack Fetterly pointed out that no commercial type of operation could or would be allowed on the site.

Mrs. E. R. Norton asked if any consideration had been given to the danger to children and Perry Stacey undertook to answer this by giving information on landing procedures that are a necessity "with little likelihood of anyone being hit on the beach road". Jack Fetterly said that when the licence was granted by the Department of Transport he felt sure their thoughts were also on safety.

Mrs. Douglas Archibald asked if the flyers who visit pay anything towards the facilities provided and Mr. Haldane noted that they paid if they stayed at the campsite for the night or weekend. A. J. Bray interjected that "the runway is going to be there for outsiders, why not local people?"

Douglas Peacock said "the main question seems to be the encroachment on public lands". Ed Thompson asked what restrictions would be imposed if outsiders want to build and how can it be controlled.

Keith Fisher said he opposed the field and the hangers, reflecting back to the days of the building of the town when it was the hope that nothing would ever be built in the front park area.

Arliss Casselman asked if he had a "legitimate reason to bring to council for something else, can I have it?" Then referred to "June-bugging" as a sport he might be interested in.

Carl VanCamp expressed interest in whether taxes can be collected on private buildings on public lands and Clerk Fred T. Lloyd said that taxes could be collected the same as the village collected on the boathouses.

Mrs. E. R. Norton reminded the group that "Very few of us stopped to think of the consequences when landing strip was built. We must now consider the future consequences she said.

Harry Gilmer pointed out that the site for the hangars was in the immediate area of a beacon owned by the Seaway Authority, west of the boat houses.

A discussion ranged for a few minutes on the commercial aspect of bringing in planes to give instructions. It was admitted that this had been done, although it is against regulations.

The discussion gradually petered out and the next meeting of Council will see a decision made

Hands Across The Border

This week saw members of the Ogdensburg Lions Club visit with the Iroquois Lions Club, this being a return for a visit the local members paid to their New York State counterparts a couple of weeks back.

It is in the spirit of friendship that these visits are made and we can recall several such occasions which were a delight to attend. They reflect the kind of relationships that should exist around the world among all nations. And they further reveal that we have pretty well the same ideals and goals whether we live in Canada, the U.S. or any other country.

It's just too bad that many other people in otoher lands don't have this kind of spirit.

Good To See Citizens Taking Interest In Village

Monday night a group of citizens attended Council meeting to discuss the possibility of hangars being built at the west end of the landing field in the village parkland fronting Iroquois. What comes from the meeting is not as important, as far as we're concerned, as the fact that more than 30 village residents took the time and had an interest in their village and its affairs.

We're pleased to see them so interested and hope this interest continues. With drastic changes in our school system and regional government facing us in the near future, we citizens should indeed be taking a keen interest.

There is much at stake in preserving our local identity and only local interest will preserve it.

Someone Should Act And Soon - - -

The Nation River stretches from Edwardsburg area roughly easterly until it joins the Ottawa River and for years has been causing untold thousands of dollars damage along the western end not to mention the inconvenience suffered by residents along and near its banks.

For at least 30 years discussions have ranged back and forth as to what should or should not be done. Surveys have been made, reports given, estimates prepared on costs, and all in all, nothing much has come out of the entire program. The Nation still causes trouble each year in the Spring and often in June or July to the Branch area. By summer it dries to a trickle and is still of little use to anyone. At its bottom end it becomes a fairly wide body of water, serving as an excellent water supply for that area.

A committee has been formed of South Branch residents who now seek a meeting with the main forces, the Nation River Authority to give their particular problem a complete airing. The hope being, of course, that action will be taken.

Mixed up with the entire project is the fact that certain monies can be obtained towards the improvements of the Nation River, but all municipalities will have to share in the costs before this money can be assured.

Resolutions, briefs, estimates and heated arguments can be presented for another 30 years and still nothing done . . . unless financial support is forthcoming on the local level.

The final decision as to whether it will be available naturally rests with the fact of whether or not the people involved can afford it. Or not afford it, depending on how bad the situation affects each one. That is a decision only they can make.

There is and has been a problem for many years. For all concerned let us hope that a start can be made this year to rectify a bad situation.

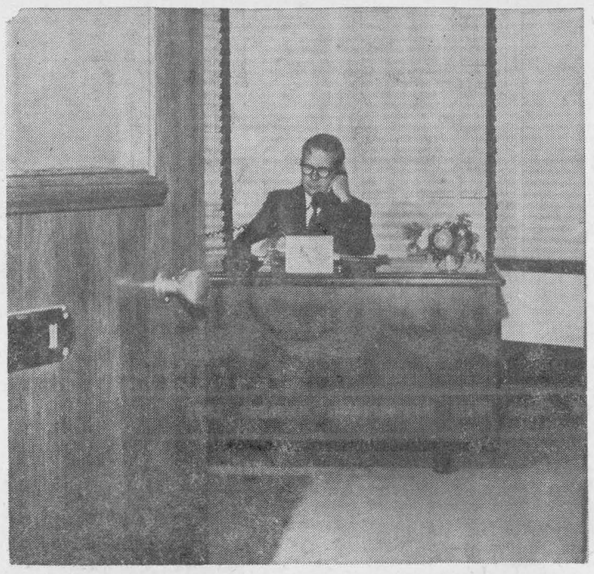
GORDON BLAIR, M.P., REPORTS



DAIRY POLICY

The work of Government continues while Parliament is in recess. Attention has been focused on agriculture by the Canadian Agricultural Congress discussion of fundamenta lagricultural policy for the future and by the Government's announcement of its dairy policy for the current year.

The Contribution of Farmers

The population of Grenville - Carleton is more than fifty per cent urban and I have found that city people generally do not fully understand the problems faced by farmers today. Farmers are caught in a cost price squeeze. Their costs have been rising but the prices they receive for their products at the farm have hardly increased in recent years. This has serious consequences for all of us. In Canada we all enjoy the benefits of having efficient farm producers able to produce food at low prices.

City people cannot assume that farmers will continue to produce under adverse conditions and the number of farmers now leaving agriculture is a mat ter of concern. Thus measures are necessary not only to support the financial position of farmers but to insure that we continue to have an efficient agriculture industry in the future.

The urban housewife faced appreciate the fact that food prices in this country are lower than in most other countries. This is evidenced by statistics which show that the proportion of consumer expenditures devoted to food have dropped from twenty - six per cent in 1957 to twenty-one per cent in 1968.

This constituency is one of the most important dairy producing regions in Canada and is therefore vitally affected by the dairy policy administered by the Canadian Dairy Commission. In Ontario the sale of fluid milk is controlled by the province through the Ontario Milk Marketing Board. The Federal Government for many years has supported the price of manufacturing milk, that is, milk going into products like butter, cheese and milk powder. The new dairy policy for 1969 will continue the present support price for manucfaturing milk at $4.85 per cwt as well as skim milk powder at 20c per lb. and butter at 65c per lb. To maintain the $4.85 support price, a subsidy of $1.25 per cwt is paid to 120,000 farmers delivering quotas established by the Canadian Dairy Commission.

Marketing of Surplus Products

The policy has been of great benefit to dairy producers in Canada. Last year approximately $130,000,000. was paid in subsidy and dairy producers in this constituency have all benefitted from it. However, the market and the continuance of the policy is threatened, as all dairy producers realize, by an accumulation of surpluses and strong action is required to dispose of these surpluses and to discourage surplus production. Under the policy of past years, monies were held back from the subsidy payments to finance the cost of exporting surpluses. Last year 21c per cwt was held back and this year the holdback will be increased to 26c per cwt for milk delivered up to the quota and 52c per cwt for milk delivered over the quota. It is estimated that the average holdback will be in the order of 29c per cwt but this will vary from producer to producer. If international markets improve and higher prices are realized on the sale of surplus products, the Dairy Commission would be in a position to refund a portion of the holdback to producers.

Dollars and Sense

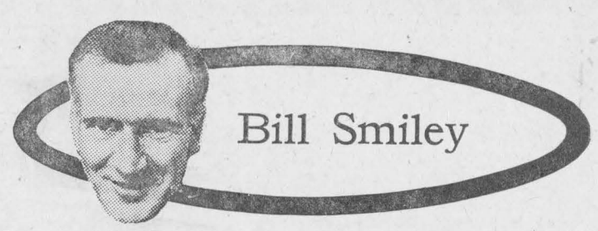
Dear Sir:

I'm pretty burned up the way some companies handle their customers. Recently I purchased quite a bit of carpeting for our new home — some $600 worth. The salesman who completed our credit application and papers told us what the monthly payments would be but he didn't say that someone else would bill us. About a week later we received the payment booklet from a bank. The salesman later told me this was done all the time. What is this? I thought our contract was with the carpet company?

Mrs. B. W.

This is a legitimate fact of business life, Mrs. B. W. Let's look at it this way. The company from which you purchased your carpeting is in business to sell carpeting. It is not a financial institution and therefore does not have the means or facilities to handle hundreds of credit accounts such as yours. It sells your credit contract to a lending institution which is obviously geared to handle them. The salesman was probably remiss is not telling you this, but I'm sure there was no purpose or intent in withholding this information from you. It's simply that the merchant offers his credit facility to you as a convenience whether it's his own or an outside institution such as a bank or finance company with which his company has an agreement.

The alternative, of course, is that you could have gone to your bank or a reputable finance company and acquired the cash, paid off the purchase and made your payments directly to the bank or finance company. It's all a matter of choice . . . and convenience. You'll probably find that the interest rates are the same. In the future when you make a major purchase, ask the salesman who will bill you. If you aren't particularly satisfied with the institution which will handle your account, then you're free to make your own choice. If it's a reputable company . . . and you should only buy from merchants with established reputations, there won't be any hanky-panky.



Meet my mother-in-law

For years, the mother-in-law has been the butt of jokes with a touch of bitterness in them. They have been pictured as domineering, interfering women, ruining the grandchildren, breaking up marriages. They have been caricatured as unwelcome visitors who criticized, made trouble and generally were a great big pain in the arm. And often with good reason.

I've never been able to write sarcastically about my mother-in-law. In the first place, she'd have had my hide for a door-mat. In the second, she was one of the sweetest and most gentle persons I have ever known.

Now, don't get me wrong. She was no saint. She was no little, old white-haired lady handing out cookies and benevolency all over the place.

Far from it. She was born and raised in County Antrim, Ireland, and she had most of the traits of that peculiar race. Equally quick to tears and laughter. Witty and stubborn. Quick tongue and quick temper. Warm and fiercely loyal to her own and with a wonderful capacity for giving love.

Her children loved her and her grandchildren adored her and her husband worshipped her. Like so many grannies, she had spanked her own children when they needed it, but grew furious and tearful when they spanked theirs.

She came out to Canada as a young woman, beautiful of face and figure, with long, black curly hair, a haughty, fine-boned Irish look and a warm and lively spirit. She sang like an angel.

She was thrown into a sober puritan community and married a shy young farmer who loved her deeply for 46 years and still does.

Perhaps she was not cut out to be a farm wife. But she pulled her weight. She worked — and how she worked! Milking, gardening, scrubbing clothes and floors by hand. She was indefatigable in her pursuit of the demon dirt, and her house was always spotless.

But it was never sterile, as some spic-and-span houses can be. It was never a house, but a home, filled with the warmth and love and life that only an unusual person can provide. There was singing and laughter and chatter and a complete lack of tension.

It wasn't roses all the way. She went through the depression and the mortgages, and those rending decisions about whether the last 50 cents available was going for a music lesson or dress material for the girls or feed for the hens.

And she didn't go through it patiently and submissively. She was too Irish. She complained like hell. But she didn't whine. Her complaints and common sense (this is one thing that is seldom attributed to the Irish, and should be) produced results.

Despite her fire, she had a wonderful way of coming to terms with the situation, whether it was emotional or material or spiritual.

She bore three handsome children. She was pregnant, and terribly sick with one of them, when she got word that her young husband had lost an arm in a threshing machine.

She learned that one of her daughters was going to marry a broken-down fighter pilot, with a total income of $60 a month, and no prospects. Most mothers would have fought like a tigress to avert, or at least postpone the marriage. She gave encouragement, though her heart must have been sore, and it was then that I fell in love with her.

My instinct was right. When my wife attacked me, she attacked my wife. When I wrote a bum column, she told me. When there was sickness or trouble, she was right there, with ancient charms and cures that worked.

She was not a pious woman, thank God. She was a virtuous woman, and a real Christian. She fed tramps, gave strength when it was needed, and love without stint.

Dying, she didn't whimper to God. Most of her thoughts and words were about those she loved. She didn't want to leave, and fought to the last breath.

Life is going to be different without Granny, but I have a feeling she won't be far away. She couldn't stand it. She'll be around as long as those who loved her are.

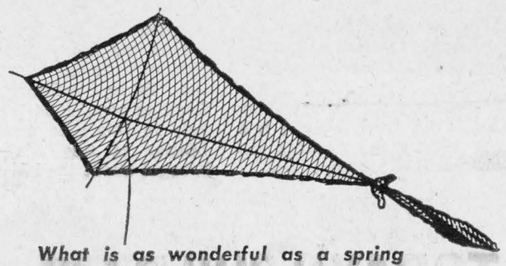
Flimsy as a Kite



What is as wonderful as a spring day, with just enough breeze to fly a new kite? It soars higher and higher, a bright blotch of color in the sky. It is a rare individual who won't pause to watch it, and, to most of us, it is perhaps a symbol of unsurpassed freedom.

Yet, in flying a kite there is need for control, or it will soon crash. What was sheer loveliness will become a crumpled heap of sticks and torn paper. This is true of many things that catch our fancies—true also of many of our dreams.

In this life, we need to learn the difference between the things that endure and those that are as flimsy as a kite in the wind. We need to learn control, courage and faith. None of these comes easily, but the first step will be found in the teachings of your church. Have you been going to church lately?

A satin bow held her shoulderlength veil of silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of Easter Lilies, pink Roses and Ivy.

Extend Service To Morewood

SD and G Bookmobile Service was extended to Morewood for the first time last Thursday. Resi dents of the village and surrounding area showed a great deal of interest. During the first visit the number of books allowed per person had to be restricted to one per student and two per adult, because of the limited number of books available on the vehicle. Next time, when the first books are being returned, the allotment per person will be increased.

The number of books circulated on this first visit was 211. 114 persons registered as borrow ers, "This," said bookmobile sup ervisor Herman Nyland, "is a very promising start. Experience shows that during the next visit circulation possibly will be more than doubled and we have already decided to extend the duration of our stop by at least 45 minutes to be able to assist all comers."

Mr. Nyland gave full credit for the inclusion of Morewood in the bookmobile schedule to Counties Warden Cecil MacNab, reeve of Winchester Township. "Without his active assistance we wouldn't have received permission to extend the service," the library spokesman said.

Among the village dignitaries who registered with the bookmobile service and took o u t books were council members Art Koolwine and Ross Nurse and Winchester Township C l e r k Treasurer Glen MacGregor.

'Go' Given To Cardinal Centre - Start Soon

On Wednesday evening, April 9, The Cardinal and District Community Centre executive met for their regular meeting, and when the meeting adjourned, the word was "go". The treasurer's report was read by Mr. George Milliken and it showed that pledges made by various people have started coming in and it looks quite promising. After general business was discussed, points of interest whether to start right away on were brought up by various people on the executive as to the main building and what its advantages and disadvantages would be if there were any.

The executive very strongly felt that they should begin right away, sensing that a layoff could very possibly be costly later on due to loss of contracts, etc.

By July 1, the committee feels they should have the following complete: The footings, trusses, erection of front lounge beams, roof deck and walls, and from there cmplete the rest by December 1st.

It was also decided that volunteer help will play a major roll in reducing costs and keeping expenses to a minimum.

Everyone is urged to help in every way they possibly can, and if you are contacted to help out try and make it a point to show up and give a helping hand.

It seems that there will be quite a bit to do in the coming week as there are blocks for the walls coming in and the roof deck boards are to be coming in by rail cars and this is where the volunteer help will be needed to do the unloading. So once again, if you are asked to help out, please do your best to give a helping hand in any way possible.

As shown in the photos it is plain enough to see that once this project is completed Cardinal is going to have a Community Centre that will show class brought about by hard working engineers who have spent relentless hours of work over the drafting boards designing Cardinal's lifelong dream.

The inside drawing plan shows you a few of the details, such as a glass enclosed viewing area at the south end which will be heated. It also shows that there are dressing rooms at each side with the ticket office and snack bar right at the entrance.

The bleachers, shown on the west side will be featuring a new idea in standing room and entrance to the bleachers.

Instead of the usual way of getting to the bleachers by walking up steps, the customers will enter the bleachers from the ends, walk along above them and walk down to their seats, which will solve the problem of people's views being blocked by spectators walking along the boards in front of them. The ice surface is to be a regulation size, which is 85' x 185' with the players' boxes, along the east wall and the penalty box directly across from them in front of the bleachers.

In the northwest corner of the arena, the artificial ice plant will be installed along with a service room for various equipment.

As for the outside view, the drawing should be self explanatory as being simply beautiful.

If things go well up to July 1 and the major parts are completed as listed previously by December 1, the electrical work, boards, screens, dressing rooms, plumbing and work on the artificial ice plant is hoped to be completed. The second phase which was just listed is expected to take up quite a bit of volunteer work, so once again we ask you to try and co-operate when your help is asked for.

WATER SAFETY

Drownings are among the most common fatal accidents. Most drowning victims are not swimmers but people who have fallen accidentally, into the water from docks, bridges or boats or have drowned in bathtubs. Children who are not good swimmers should not play near the water without the supervision of an adult who is a good swimmer. Even good swimmers should never swim alone. Boating accidents have become an increasing problem. People who have little or no experience in boats should not take them out alone.

An experienced hand should help them.

If you are thrown into the water, don't panic. Hold your breath, duck down into the water and take off your shoes or other heavy clothing that may weigh you down. Rest by floating or treading water slowly. If you are caught in a current, do not try to swim against it but swim diagonally with the current until you are out of it.

Lands & Forests Report

FOREST PROTECTION
by: D.D. White,, Forest Protection Supervisor

During the next few weeks Department staff will be going through one of the most hectic periods of the year. In addition to normal duties, the high priority jobs of spring planting and fish spawning patrols, must be carried out at this time and quite often it seems there just aren't enough hours in a day to get the work done.

To add to the problem, the annual spring fire hazard coincides with this period and the usual outbreak of grass fires resulting in most cases from people burning rubbish seriously interfers with the important resource management programs mentioned above.

If you must burn rubbish, do it in a safe manner and the following suggestions will lessen the chances of it getting out of control.

1. Burn only in the evening.
2. Have a good supply of water handy.
3. Burn only after a good rain.

Department staff are always available to give expert advise and assistance in any burning operation before it gets out of control and your co-operation in keeping fires to a minimum will earn the undying gratitude of all concerned.

SAP'S RUNNING

by: Clarence F. Coons,
Farm Forester

Sap's running. That's the familiar cry that's echoing throughout the sugar maple woodlots in Eastern Ontario.

For some it has been family tradition to head for the sugar bush when the sap's about to run to tap the sugar maples. Many old timers have recollections of standing on a country road and from one spot being able to see steam rising from half a dozen or more sugar houses. It's not so today. Many maple woodlots have been cut over and many no longer produce maple syrup. The most important reason for the decline is the difficulty in obtaining seasonal help and subsequent high labour costs. Many who attempted to stick with the old methods of handling and processing maple syrup were forced to cease operations for these reasons. Also the maple operation has traditionally been a family operation but today the sons and daughters leave home for school or employment in cities.

In 1966 the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food recognizing the rapid decline in maple syrup production joined forces to provide assistance and incentive to revitalize Ontario's Maple industry.

A maple syrup specialist, Mr. Walter Humphreys of Barrie, Ontario was appointed by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. Numerous meetings were held throughout Southern Ontario resulting in the formation of the Ontario Maple Syrup Producers Association. Two local branches of the association are located in the Kemptville District, one in Lanark County and one in the Eastern Counties of Stormont, Prescott and Glengarry.

Fortunately in recent years more efficient equipment for handling and processing maple syrup has been produced. This equipment enables the producer to streamline his operation, reduce labour required, and spread the work over a longer period.

New oil fired deep flue evaporators handle boiling much quicker and require less attention. Use of taphole paraformaldehyde pellets enable producers to tap trees before the sap flow season with the assurance that the first as well as the last run of sap will be obtained. Plastic tubing can be set up to convey the sap directly from the bush to the evaporator house, thus eliminating the daily labour requirement of collecting sap from buckets.

Capital grants and interest free loans are now available to maple producers in Ontario who wish to establish or improve a maple operation.

The old ways must give way to the new and by utilizing labour saving equipment and procedures many producers will be able to maintain a profitable operation.

Hard maple woodlots must be managed on a sustained yield basis to assure an annual supply of sap. Hard maple normally regenerates well if proper selective cutting methods are carried out. Livestock must not be permitted to graze in maple woodlots since they browse on the maple regeneration and contribute to a gradual decline in the vigour of the trees.

Advice on the management of sugar maple woodlots is available from your nearest office of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Rising Costs Create the problem

As with every other business, costs have risen in the publishing business at a rapid pace this past couple of years. It has forced us to raise our subscription rates this year, as have all newspapers. Some papers and magazines have gone out of business due to these costs. Newsprint, ink ,labour, postage, have all added their share to the burden. Now we must raise our rate to keep abreast of these costs.

WANT TO PLAY LACROSSE

A group of youngsters asked Council's permission to use the rink in the summertime to play lacrosse and John Haldane said that the Council would cooperate and also assist in organizing the sport. Richard Casselman was spokesman for the youths.

LEGION TO HOLD WALK

Harry Claxton appeared before Council to seek permission for the local Legion Branch 370 to hold a "Walk" on May 10th in aid of their building fund. Permission was granted.

A. J. Bray applied for and received permission to build a boathouse in the boathouse area.

Al. Belmore, owner of Iroquois Motor Hotel, asked Council to seek permission from the Dtpartment of Highways to erect "School Crossing" signs on No. 2 Highway in front of the high school, spaced several hundred feet east and west.

DUMP STILL PROBLEM

A monthly problem is the village dump. People from all over the area use the dump but all too few dump the refuse where it should go. Forman Jim Willis said the dump had again been cleaned but only a few days went by before it was in a mess again.

Ray Delegarde brought up the subject of flooding on Ellis Drive and Council said they would look into ways to help prevent this happening in the future. Excess water coming under a culvert on No. 2 Highway flooded a large area earlier in the Spring.

Lette r To Editor

The Iroquois Post,
Dear Mr. Editor:

Speaking perhaps on behalf of all of the members of the Iroquois branch of Lions International, colour me red!

In our quiet, bashful manner, we had a little gathering at the river Monday night, and we invited some Lionburgers along in a brotherly fashion.

There was a little roaring, but really nothing more, as we then thought! But should we be missing something? This is not just gravel, Gertie; she makes more music than that! (but check this out for accuracy).

The following information was surrepticiously gathered. Meetings there are on the first and third Thursdays at six o'clock, post meridiem. Me thinks we should suddenly descend (like April 17?) and have ourselves a few Lionburgers yet before we collect our chattels.

Fraternally yours,
Lion Al

Pre-Teens Hold Final Meeting

The regular meeting of the Iroquois Pre - Teen's was held in the lower hall of Knox Church, Friday evening, April 11th, with fifteen members answering the roll-call. Linda Drennan, President conducted the meeting, the members answering their roll-call with the name of their favourite singer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Jim Mustard, and duly approved. The collection was received, and the Treasurer's report given by Ronnie Swerdferger, showing a good balance.

A report on the "sock-hop" held March 14th was given; and the Rev. Hibbs, group leader, thanked all who participated in the Easter Sunrise Service, and helped serve at the breakfast which followed, April 6th.

The film, "How to Get Others to Like You" was shown by the leader; following which an announcement was made that after six years of fellowship, it was being found necessary to discontinue the Iroquois Pre-Teen's, due to the feeling in some quarters that its programming conflicts with other congregational priorities. The Rev. Hibbs expressed his regrets at "this turn of events"; and wished the members well in the future.

It was agreed that the closing meeting of the Pre-Teen's would be held on Friday, April 25th, with a bowling-night outing in Brockville, the proceeds of the treasury to be used for this occasion and the refreshments to follow. Car transportation was discussed, the members to meet at Knox Church by 7 p.m. of the evening.

Volunteer Service Changes

Miss G. Bayne presided over the regular metting of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary at which Mrs. Colin McGregor, Mrs. M. Walroth, Mrs. K. Carkner ant Mrs. Max Boyd were appointed delegates to the Hospital Associations' Conventions on April 23rd, at the Bruce McDonald Hotel, Ottawa.

After the roll call, answered by eight units, it was decided to order a dozen smocks in Mountie Red for the Volunteer Service, which has been so ably initiated by Mrs. Jessie Summers, Mrs. Max Boyd and Mrs. Manchester of the Winchester Unit. Volunteers from Chesterville and Morrisburg will relieve these ladies for May and June.

The treasurer's report showed the very substantial aim realized by the highly successful Games Party in late March.

Mr. Stel and Miss Legers reported concisely on hospital matters relevant to the Auxiliary's areas of responsibility.

Final details for the June Garden Party will be discussed at a special meeting called for April 14th.

CORPORATION OF THE TWP. OF MATILDA

The Council and Ratepayers,
The Township of Matilda,
Dixon's Corners, Ontario.
Ladies and Gentlemen:

In accordance with the requirements of the Municipal Act R.S.O. 1960, as amended, and in accordance with the instructions of the Department of Municipal Affairs, we have examined the balance sheets of the Township of Matilda and related Board at December 31, 1968, and the statements of revenue and expenditure and source and application of capital funds for the year ended on that date. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and such tests of accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

We have the following qualifications to report:

As a property and plant ledger was not in use, we were unable to verify title to real property of the Township or related Board, nor were we able to ascertain that the fire insurance coverage was adequate.

Our examination of the operating accounts consisted of a series of tests which we considered applicable in the circumstances but we did not audit all transactions.

Subject to the foregoing qualifications concerning verification of title to real property for the Township and related Board and scope of examination we hereby report that, in our opinion:

1. The financial transactions which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the municipality;
2. The audit has been conducted in accordance with the instructions of the Department of Municipal Affairs; and
3. The financial statements present fairly the financial position of the municipality at December 31, 1968, and the results of its operations for the year ended on that date.

In Memoriam

FAWCETT — In loving memory of my dear sister Mrs. Margaret Fawcett who passed away April 19th, 1967.

God knows how much
I miss her
Never shall her memory fade
Loving thoughts shall ever
Wander
To the spot where she is laid
—Ever remembered by her sister, Mrs. Florence Proulx, 127 Irving Ave., Ottawa, Ont.

FAWCETT — In loving memory of a dear aunt, Margaret Fawcett, who passed away April 19, 1967 .

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one gone to rest
In memory's name we will keep it.
For she was one of the best.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Willis, Marion Sayeau and family 1p

GORE — In loving memory of a dear son Pat who passed away April 12, 1965.

Peacefully sleeping and resting
In a quiet country grave yard
Where gentle breezes blow
Be one we loved so dearly
For years since the sad day
The one I loved was called away
God took him home
It was His will
There is nothing left to answer
But his picture on the wall
There is not a day dear Pat
Mother does not think of you
And pray to God each day.
And when He calls me home
to you
Your smile will guide the way
—Sadly missed by your mother, father and brothers 1p
