DCP offers chance to relive history

Nick Forster

CHESTERVILLE — The Dundas County Players are offering a chance to relive history with a Remembrance Day Cabaret at the Heritage Restaurant and Faucet Hall Thursday night.

"The audience really likes it and so do the cast," said producer Elizabeth Barton. "It's a tribute."

The cabaret was put together to honour the men and women who gave everything for our freedom and will feature songs, skits and readings from roughly 20 cast members.

"It's amazing how many people want to take part," said Barton. "Everybody loves to do these cabarets."

The Dundas County Players do two cabarets a year, one on Valentines Day and one on Remembrance Day.

"This is a show we like to move around to different towns," said Barton, explaining how this will be the players' second Remembrance Day Cabaret. Last year it was in Winchester.

After the collection of songs, skits and readings — one reading will feature letters from a government-sanctioned artist who was commissioned to paint pictures of the Second World War — there will be an open mike for those who wish to talk about personal stories and experiences of war.

"We do like people to wear their uniforms — if they can still fit into them," she said.

The Chesterville and District Historical Society interviewed local Dutch residents a couple of years ago, said Barton, adding one of the skits will be about their war experience.

"So there's a lot of local history in there too," she said.

In fact, there is a lot for everyone at the cabaret; children, teenagers and adults will enjoy the show.

"There's quite a cross-section," she said, adding besides the war stories, there will be a smattering of Shakespeare, a bit of bagpiping and a dash of Bob Dylan.

The Heritage is donating half of their net menu proceeds to the Poppy Fund.

There will also be a donation jar for the food bank at the front door.

The show is free and starts at 7 p.m.

Engraving electronics could help deter

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

WINCHESTER - Home thefts are on the rise in SD&G, and the main targets are household appliances, entertainment systems and electronics.

But the OPP is offering residents a simple way to prevent themselves from becoming the next victim.

Detachments all over the United Counties have engravers available to residents on a loan basis. Residents can borrow the device to engrave their car license plate number onto their electronics and appliances.

"It's as easy as using a pencil, it helps deter thieves and it's free," said OPP Constable Al Lummiss. "When they return the engraver, they pick up stickers that go on their homes at all the points of entry that says the items are marked."

The engraving campaign is the result of a partnership between the OPP the Ontario's Farm Mutual Insurance Companies and is called Mutual Protect.

It works three ways, Lummiss said. It makes stealing the items harder to do because there's more security, it makes the electronic devices less profitable because they can be traced and the markings can't be removed, and it increases the chances of catching the culprit.

Funding deadline looms closer to South Dundas Council table

Nick Forster
Record staff

WILLIAMSBURG — Time is running out for South Dundas to take advantage of millennium funding, and with a new deadline for federal funding applications set at November 30, council has to act fast.

Council heard at its November 4 meeting that the date has changed from March 30, 2000. The provincial funding application deadline remains the same: December 31.

Because these dates are approaching fast, council voted to appoint a township millennium coordinator.

Councillor Cam Martel suggested hiring Kirsten Gardner because of her work coordinating the Youth Services of Canada project in Morrisburg.

He said with the looming funding application deadlines, proposals for millennium projects have to progress past the discussion stage.

"Here we sit, still spinning our wheels," he said. "My thought is we offer Kirsten the position of millennium coordinator for next year — I think we can agree that the work she has done last year with Youth Services of Canada has been very successful."

Council discussed the proposition with Gardner, who was present at the meeting.

She said the new federal deadline on November 30 has "caught a lot of people off guard."

"I have put together a number of projects suggested by council members and citizens," she said.

Some of the suggested projects are: Creation of a portable display to showcase historical elements of the township; restoration of a local historical site for use as a museum; development of new festivals; community and family time capsules; and heritage plaques for historical homes.

"There are so many ideas around and a lot of them aren't huge."

One of the projects Mayor Johnny Whitteker would like to see done is a heritage calendar for South Dundas.

St. Lawrence Parks Commission rejects train transfer to Trenton

Nick Forster
Record staff

MORRISBURG — Grand Trunk #1008 sits quietly on its original tracks, hitched to two rotting rail cars at the derelict Aultsville station in Crysler Park, waiting for the day when it's whistle will blow again.

That day may be coming, but it won't be in Trenton.

The St. Lawrence Parks Commission announced November 8 that because the terms and conditions of restoration wouldn't be met, the proposed transfer to the Prince Edward County Railway Preservation Society in Trenton has been withdrawn.

"The interest of the commission continues to be to find a means to restore and protect the train collection," said General Manager of the parks commission Mike Paradis.

"Without the financial resources to do that ourselves, we are seeking alternative means of providing that stewardship."

The Board of Commissioners directed that a 'Request for Expressions of Interest' be prepared to identify anyone interested in restoring the train.

Paradis said that this is the second time in three years the parks commission has sought proposals for refurbishing the train.

After a Morrisburg community group's proposal was rejected in 1996 due to insufficient funds, the Trenton proposal was considered.

"I would expect that South Dundas Township and the local community...will respond to this 'Request for Expressions of Interest' as will other interested groups and organizations," Paradis said.

The commission expects the proposal process to occur during the winter and an announcement to be made by the spring.

One which SD Mayor Johnny Whitteker may be pleased to hear. The mayor has been opposed to the steam locomotive leaving South Dundas and has been looking for a way to keep it in the township.

Whitteker said the train should be renovated and restored to it's original splendor right where it is, perhaps by using government millennium funding.

With the funding, the train could be restored and students could be hired to conduct tours of the station and train, he said.

"We could let people walk thorough the train, and maybe have a steam whistle for the kids."

Refreshments will be served and the extensive lending library of Grief will open at 6:30 p.m. The Cornwall office is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. For more information, call (613) 936-1455.

Theft: Engraving items may help to deter thieves

"It's just one more tool people can use to help reduce the number of break-and-enters in the area," Lummiss said. "We like people to use their driver's license plate numbers because that's the easiest to trace. We don't have access to SIN numbers, so that's not recommended. Some people use their initials or birthdates."

And the engravers are not to be used on jewelry, he said.

"It's a rough engraver, so it's not recommended for cosmetics."

Summers Insurance Brokers in Winchester has also helped introduce the program.

Engravers and stickers are available at Summers Insurance office.

Fund: Council hires project coordinator

"It would be a good way to remember all the old houses we have," said Whitteker. The calendar could have pictures of old houses, the site of the original McIntosh farm and the birthplace of Dr. Locke, he said.

Council also discussed the possibility of reviving the Aultsville steam train at Crysler Park using millennium funding or Youth Services grants.

Councillor Audrey Rooney wondered if there was anything that could be done in Iroquois with millennium funds.

"I would like to add my two cents worth for possible projects," Rooney said, requesting that bike paths in Iroquois be paved and have lights installed.

"I don't want to hear Morrisburg has paved bike paths and lights and Iroquois' paths are still gravel," Rooney said.

Whitteker agreed that South Dundas needs a coordinator for millennium projects and thought Gardner was worthy of the job.

"I think there is plenty to do, this is a good idea," he said shortly before council voted in favour of appointing Gardner.

Gardner pledged to report back to council with proposal plans well before the November 30 deadline.

Morewood Recreation Centre to lose play structure this week

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

MOREWOOD - The play structure at the Morewood Recreation Centre will be taken down later this week, North Dundas Council decided at its November 1 meeting.

The structure no longer meets the Canadian Safety Standards and council is removing it as a precautionary method.

"It's a liability issue," said Mayor Claude Cousineau. "The sooner it comes down, the better. We should take it down now, before anything happens rather than wait until it does."

Council suggested installing a volleyball or basketball court in place of the structure, but didn't make any decisions on how to use the space.

The structure will be taken down in such a way that it is not damaged and will be put into storage so that, if council decides in the future they want it re-installed, it can be brought up to safety standards.

Cousineau told Recreation Director Matt Krisjanis that the 'No Trespassing' signs, recently installed at municipal buildings throughout the township, including the arenas in Winchester and Chesterville, seemed to be getting the message across.

The signs warn that trespassing will not be tolerated during late night and early morning hours.

"They seem to be effective. They keep people away when they're not supposed to be there and they give the OPP some clout."

Krisjanis agreed.

"Yes, but I have to replace the sign (at the arena) in Chesterville because someone stole it."

Legion News Branch 434

I want to thank all those who took part in the Remembrance Ceremony in Chesterville. Also I want to thank all those who came out and watched, as it wasn't the warmest day.

Something I have to say and that is to the person or persons who removed the flag at the Cenotaph. If you needed a flag so bad, all you had to do is phone me and I could have given you one. By taking the flag the way you did, it was an insult to those who gave their lives for our country and their names are on the Cenotaph.

The display is set up in the hall for everyone to see. This is part of Veterans' Week and we hope you enjoy the display.

On Sat., Nov. 13 Tri County Country will be doing their thing in the hall. These are all homegrown players who enjoy what they are doing. If you would like to join in, come on Saturday night 8:30pm to 12:30am and have some fun.

The next general meeting will be held on Mon., Nov. 15. All members are requested to attend.

The next Legion euchre will be held on Tues., Nov. 16, 7:30pm. Everyone is welcome to join in and the more the better the evening.

Country Reflections will be playing in the Legion on Sat., Nov. 20 from 9pm-1am. This will be last Legion dance in the old hall, so let's come out and enjoy the evening.

Membership cards for 2000 are now in the Legion hall. Those living outside call Gord Machardie 448-1050.

The tickets for the New Years Dance are on sale and going fast. There will be a limited number sold so if you want yours you should get them soon.

Tickets on the cash draw for Nov. 6 were drawn and the winners are: first-Edward Kelley of Morrisburg; second-Sherry Smith from Crysler; and third-Verona Murphy from Morewood. Congratulations to the winners.

Help is required on Sun., Nov. 21 at 9am to make the move to the new hall. The more we have the less each has to do.

The bar will be open on Friday from noon till midnight. This week's special will be "wings", along with the usual meals. Come out and enjoy a cool refreshment on Friday.

Ladies Auxiliary bingo will be held on Sat., Nov. 20 with the normal games and prizes. The progressive jackpot of $580 in 54 numbers or consolation prize of $150.

Renovations under way for South Dundas municipal building

Nick Forster
Record staff

WILLIAMSBURG — Renovations at South Dundas Municipal building are well under way and are expected to be finished before Christmas.

"It should be completed in three-to-four-weeks," said Township Clerk Bill Horner.

The renovations will cost slightly less than $90,000, said Horner, adding they were deemed necessary by council in October.

When finished, the council chambers will be larger and there will be more office space.

The present council chambers is being converted to offices and a new, larger chamber will be built on the north west side of the building.

"If they went any farther north, they'd be into the cemetery," said Horner, adding the building will remain the same on the outside, but the new chambers will be "substantially bigger."

Thom Electric was the only bidder for the job. The company is doing the electrical and heating and has contracted out the carpentry work.

Council will meet October 25 at the Iroquois Civic Centre while the renovations are taking place.

SNC receives $45,000 grant

BERWICK - South Nation Conservation has been granted $45,000 from the Canadian Millennium Partnership Program to help prepare a Year 2000 celebration of the natural environment.

Word of the final approval came recently from MP Bob Kilger's office, said Mary Ann Wilson, SNC Director of Operations.

"This is very good news and will allow us to bring a lot of attention to environmental enhancement projects over the generations throughout the watershed," Wilson said. "The main purpose is to show the human connection to the natural environment in our communities.

Covering 3,900 square kilometres, the South Nation River watershed extends from Brockville to the Ottawa River at Plataganet. SNC will use the special funding to mount the multi-faceted "South Nation River Watershed Natural Resources Heritage Millennium Celebration."

The objectives of the project include:

To deliver to watershed residents a celebration of the past, present and future role of local natural resources.

To heighten residents' stewardship for a sustainable environment by increasing their appreciation for their natural resources heritage.

To assist the process with presentations to schools, community groups, fairs and other events featuring historic photos, interactive displays, videos and CD ROM.

In addition to mounting and circulating the mobile displays, funding will be used for advertising and other costs associated with the project. The official Millennium Logo will be used on all materials associated with the celebration.

Wilson said the project will be directed by SNC's multi-stakeholder Communications Committee. Research in connection with the celebration will go back to water resources utilization by aboriginals and early settlers for transportation, logging, trapping, fishery, water and ice supply and processing mills.

The project will enable residents to fully appreciate the importance of natural resources in their current physical and economic well-being.

It will promote the need for a sustainable environment in maintaining this quality of life.

"This fits right into our vision of improved water quality for a healthy ecosystem through education and stewardship," Wilson said.

Stormont and Dundas ready to handle millennium glitch

Sandy Bierworth
Record Editor

CHESTERVILLE - That pesky Y2K bug is buzzing around businesses and households across the nation, threatening to shut everything down the moment the new year arrives.

But just how big a bite, if any, it will take out of Stormont and Dundas has yet to be determined.

In either case, the townships will be ready, said Emergency Planning Consultant Bill Shearing.

The Y2K glitch is an expected shutdown of everything run on computers that have a date with only two digits for the year. It is suggested that when the new year strikes, computers worldwide will read 1900 instead of 2000, and chaos will follow. Everything from Hydro, sewer and water to bank machines, insurance records and most businesses are operated on a computer system.

By now, most are Y2K compliant, including North and South Dundas and North and South Stormont Townships, Shearing said.

But he urges residents to have an emergency kit compiled, just in case.

"We are assuring people that the townships are prepared to handle an emergency, but to be prepared to take care of themselves for five days if necessary," he said, adding an emergency kit including food, water, flashlights, a heating source and cash is a good idea.

"Each of the townships has an Emergency Planning Committee and has been working on an emergency plan. North and South Dundas and South Stormont have an emergency plan in place and North Stormont is developing a plan. It will have a basic plan in place before the new year."

North Stormont will also be holding a tabletop exercise in December to test its emergency preparedness and the topic may be linked to Y2K, he said.

The townships have tested their water and sewer systems to ensure Y2K compliance and have back-up plans in place in case there's an undetected glitch.

"It's our assessment that there should be no major problem," he said. "Our biggest concern is how the residents are going to react if there's a freak snowstorm or a driver hits a Hydro post and the power goes out. Their reactions will determine how much of an emergency there is."

The townships have designated emergency shelters and Shearing expects that, in case of another disaster, neighbours will open their doors to neighbours as they did during 1998's ice storm.

"There's been enough warning out there about this that most people should be prepared for anything and places like nursing homes where people are more dependent will have back-up plans in place," he said.

"And I think each of the four townships will be well-prepared to handle whatever Y2K might throw their way."

A mother's love

It's been said there is nothing a mother won't do for her child. She'll sacrifice plans to pick up her stranded offspring, she'll stay up late and lose sleep just to ensure the child comes home safe, and she'll defend that child from anyone or anything that tries to harm it. But she won't give up smoking.

The number of mothers puffing cancer sticks in front of their children and babies nowadays is sickening. Not only is the mother shortening her own life and ruining her own health, but she's exposing a vulnerable, young immune system to dangerous, and potentially fatal, fumes.

According to recent studies, cigarette smoke in the household is the cause of many childhood ailments, including ear infections, asthma, even Sudden Infant Death Syndrom or SIDS.

But the smoke has long-term effects too. Studies also show that teens whose parents smoke are more likely to pick up the habit.

Now, some mothers quit during the pregnancy, because there's enough information out there for them to know it's very harmful to a fetus. But why start again after the birth? What makes the newborn any less vulnerable once he's born, especially since now he's breathing the same air.

Now, fathers are just as bad for lighting up in front of their kids, and no matter who's doing it, the air is just as dangerous. The smoke in the air is not filtered like it is on the butt end of the cigarette, meaning the stuff that newborn baby is breathing in is ten times worse than what the parent is inhaling. And the parent is the one with a choice of whether or not to breathe it.

Children look up to their parents. To kids, parents are role models. They know what's best, they have an answer to everything and they make the best teachers.

So teach your children that taking care of their health matters most, and that being healthy starts in their own home, breathing clean air.

Off The Record

Would we answer the call?

By Robin Morris
Remembrance Redux Editor

It's an odd thing for a son to say of his father, but it is at Remembrance Day that I feel his absence most keenly. Not his birthday. Not Father's Day. Not Christmas. But November 11, almost inevitably a cold, overcast, unforgiving day.

It's been four years since Jack went to join that big Third Division up in the sky (you'll get the reference if you're a vet, or the son of one) and I keep going to Remembrance Day services, reading every word in every newspaper and magazine, listening to every CBC-Radio special on World War II and watching every documentary on Canada in the Second World War that I can squeeze through our two cable connections.

I've got more reference books on the war than most libraries. I have more Victory Bond posters than the National Archives; I have field manuals, officers' manuals, books of maps, copies of the Maple Leaf, the Maple Leaf Route, army scrip, letters, diaries, photographs, log books, bits and pieces of uniforms (Canadian and German). I've got enough stuff that if the Canadian War Museum were to burn down tomorrow, they could give me a call and I could outfit a complete wing for them, if, that is, Heritage Canada is still interested in keeping alive the memories of an era when the Canadian Armed Forces, and not a Team Canada gaggle of investment bankers and widget makers, earned us a seat at the table of nations.

And I still can't for the life of me make any sense of it. I mean I can in an intellectual, historical kind of way. I can relate the chronology of events from 1939 to 1945 by rote.

But I can't understand it in the kind of way that those who went through it can. The visceral, emotional, gut-wrenching sense of those who stood up and answered, "Ready, aye, ready" when called.

And I can speak for a generation when I say that. I don't think I'm appropriating anyone's voice, maybe just giving voice to a generation that has no knowledge of war, of hardship, of sacrifice.

A generation that has been cosseted by 54 years of peace, plenty and prosperity. A generation that knows nothing else, to which tragedy is the stock market's Black Monday rather than Dieppe. A generation that thinks apologizing for the errors of those who went before somehow makes them more manly. As if the sins of the father will not be visited on the son if the son just gets down and grovels a little and says he's really, really, really sorry and here's some compensation for what my great grandfather did to your great grandfather.

I can't help but feel diminished when I attend a Remembrance Day service. I feel lessened not by the act of remembrance, but because although I can feel grateful for what was done for me, I can never truly share in it. Sure, I can share in the legacy but I can't share in the act that produced the legacy we have enjoyed for more than half a century. And the meaning of the act of giving that bequest continues to elude me.

I'm taller, younger and stronger than most of the vets, for whom Remembrance Day is a personal thing; a true act of keeping faith with those who lay beneath the still green lawns that dot far-off lands. Yet I don't feel as if I measure up. They are not observers. They are participants. And I feel as if I am intruding; as if I am witnessing something I am not really worthy of witnessing. I can't begin to comprehend what is going through their minds during the two minutes of silence at the sounding of the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month. When the colour parties dip their flags during the playing of the Last Post.

I can never understand what they went through. What motivated 14- and 15- and 16-year-old boys to try (sometimes successfully) to enlist. To do their bit. To get overseas (virtually alone among the Allied nations, we didn't send conscripts overseas until near the end of the war, relying instead on volunteers).

Unlike them we have never stood on the precipice, daring and provoking whichever gods or devils that took 60,000 Canadians in World War One and 50,000 more in World War Two. We've never stared at eternity from the nose of a bomber over Berlin, the ramp of a landing craft on a Norman beach or the deck of a heaving destroyer on the Murmansk Run.

The merciful legacy of our fathers is that we have never had to share this; never had to understand it. Were never put in a position that we had to endure it. And now we're middle aged.

We have never shared in any earth-shaping events. Never participated in any truly historical moments. Never had to stand for right and stare down evil. It was all done for us. And I'm worried that I may not have imparted that sense of duty to my sons. Not that I would gleefully send them off to some far-flung battlefield, telling them, like the mothers of Sparta: "Come home carrying your shield or being carried upon it." Just that they understand that what they have today was paid for in blood by previous generations and that if the call ever goes out again, they will be ready to respond.

So there it is, Jack. We'll talk again on V-E Day.

Cross Roads

By Clarence Cross

What does the day November 11 make you think of? A recent editorial in the Winchester Press says it is in memory of our five wars in the 20th century. (Can you name them?) An editorial in the Record highlights the First and Second World Wars. I have attended numerous Remembrance Day services in Chesterville, put on by the Canadian Legion.

Now I know that Nov. 11, 1918 is special to Canada because Canadian troops on that date occupied Mons, where the war had begun. But that is not the only reason why November 11 should be remembered especially in Dundas County. Can you guess it?

Nov. 11, 1813 was the date of the famous battle of Crysler's Farm, considered by some military historians to be one of the most important of the War of 1812-14, and crucial to Canada's future. But my 24-volume Collier's encyclopedia doesn't even mention it.

When I was a boy, our family often spendtSunday in that area. Mother's cousin, Lee Casselman and his wife Hattie lived on the west half of lot 17, concession 1, of Williamsburg Township. We always liked these visits, especially when Lee took us on a ride in his rowboat across the river to the island opposite. Lee and Hattie lived in a big old brick house. I found out many years later that my mother had been born in that house, although I had no inkling of that as a boy.

That brick house had been built by the famous Henry Merkley, who had been the member for Dundas County in the Upper Canada parliament in 1804. Henry had been a Loyalist in the Revolutionary War, had been jailed, escaped to Canada and joined the King's Royal Regiment, and settled in Williamsburg Township after the war. Later, in the war of 1812-14, he was a lieutenant in the Dundas Militia, and was in the battles of Ogdensburg and Crysler's Farm.

Henry's farm passed to his son Christopher, who sold it in 1875 to Charles D. Casselman for $8,000. Charlie D. was the grandfather of both Lee Casselman and my mother. He had left his farm in Winchester Township (later owned by Willie Masterson) because so many of his neighbours were Catholic, and Charlie was afraid that some of his children might marry a Catholic, a serious concern in those days.

When the St. Lawrence Seaway threatened all the farms along the Front, the historic brick house was (I have been told) considered for removal to the new Upper Canada Village, but was acquired privately and moved to a site east of the new village of Long Sault, where it is still standing.

On these trips to the Front, usually via the Church Road, we always had our attention called to the impressive Cook Estate buildings, west of Lee's, and sometimes also to the imposing monument to the Battle of Crysler's Farm a short distance down river. This monument has now been moved to a new site just west of Upper Canada Village, and supplemented by an indoor static display of the Battle.

On other occasions, especially when we had visitors, we proceeded further east to have a picnic on the bank beside the Long Sault Rapids. We had to get there before 11 o'clock to see the big steamer "Rapids Prince" run the rapids on its trip down the St. Lawrence.

My interest in the Battle of Crysler's Farm was renewed by the new book "Field of Glory, the Battle of Crysler's Farm, 1813" by Donald E. Graves. The book, over 400 pages long, covers the war for all of the year 1813, describing the events and strategy leading up to Crysler's Farm. The American plan was to send two armies to capture Montreal, cutting off the supply route to Upper Canada. One army under General Hampton was to approach from Lake Champlain; the other, under General Wilkinson, was to form up at Sackets Harbour, south of Kingston, and descend the St. Lawrence River to a rendezvous with Hampton for a combined attack on Montreal.

Graves quotes from the numerous documents available from both American and British sources, and gives a very thorough bibliography. He describes the rivalry, almost hatred, between the two generals, who would correspond only through the Secretary of War in Washington.

The American forces were much larger than the British, but they were poorly led and trained. Also, a quarter of them suffered from dysentery caused by bad food and sanitation. On the other hand, the smaller British force under Lt. Col. Joseph Morrison were seasoned professionals. They were supported by a small number of Indians and the local Militias.

When I started on my local history research 20 years ago, one of the first subjects was the Battle of Crysler's Farm. There was a lot of scattered information in the Upper Canada Village library. I was surprised that the actual battle did not take place on John Cryler's farm, but on several farms between Crysler's on the west and Michael Cook's tavern and farm on the east. Among their names were Peter Fetterley, John Haines, Adam Bouck and Henry Casselman. Since John Crysler was the most prominent man in the area, and his home was the headquarters of the British commander, I can understand why his name is attached to the battle. The American headquarters was in Cook's Tavern.

In recent weeks I have been reading widely on this subject. After Graves' book, I re-read Pierre Berton's "Flames across the Border 1813-1814", published in 1981, I was surprised to find how similar the two accounts are. Then I read again James Croil's "Dundas, or a Sketch of Canadian History", published in 1861. Croil, a Scottish immigrant, had bought a farm just east of Crysler's in 1845, and was keenly interested in local history. To my astonishment, his account of the battle is very similar to Berton's and Graves' down to the smallest anecdotes and other details. Graves, however, does credit Croil as a source.

I won't try to describe the battle, which takes up more than 100 pages and half-a-dozen maps in Graves' book. But there remains the question - who won? Both sides claim victory. No doubt the British won on the battlefield. The Americans say that the British failed in their primary objective, which was to stop Wilkinson from continuing down the river. But Hampton's forces having been defeated at Chateauguay in late October, and gone into winter quarters, Wilkinson did likewise in the Salmon River, opposite Cornwall. The assault on Montreal was abandoned.

A myth that has grown up over the years is that it was the Dundas and other militias who beat the Americans, with a little help from the British Army. There is no basis for this. The militias did yeoman service, bringing up ammunition for the British, and evacuating the wounded. Only one militiaman suffered a wound; none were killed. But the myth had legs, and was widely accepted by 1895 when the monument was erected. It is good for our egos.

Should we remember this battle on November 11?

Tiptoe through the tulips:

Chair of the Newington Public School council Mark Prendergast helps these students plant tulip bulbs on this cold, windy day, on Thursday, November 4. The bulbs were planted in the shape of a maple leaf outside the front doors of the school to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the school, the coming millennium, and the international year of the senior.

Dundas County Holstein Club celebrates its 70th anniversary

To the editor:

On the evening of November 4, the Dundas County Holstein Club held its 70th Anniversary Banquet at the Heritage Restaurant in Chesterville.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the many businesses that donated to our auction and the individuals who helped to make the evening such a success.

Of particular note, the staff and owners (Howard and Isobel) of the Heritage Restaurant whose decorating, service and wonderful meal far exceeded our expectations.

Also Phyliss McMaster, who was the driving force behind our program, without whose research the history of the club would not have been brought forward.

Thanks must also go to Charles Farlinger who was our auctioneer for the evening and brought a few laughs as well as helping us to raise funds, some of which will be donated to Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

The attendance of some of our past club executive and members, particularly Howard Biccum of Winchester, helped make the evening all the more special.

CHESTERVILLE - The Dundas Holstein Club turned 70 last week, and more than 180 members, spouses and past presidents filled the Heritage Cafe Thursday night to celebrate the occasion.

The club reflected on its past and looked optimistically toward the new millennium during the banquet celebration.

And Glenn Smirle, vice president of the club, said over the years the club has expanded its horizons and is constantly growing bigger and better.

"This is really exciting," he said. "There are more people here than we expected. The club has always offered Holstein farmers a centre to share ideas and learn more about the breed, but we also have an auction every year for Winchester District Memorial Hospital, we promote the breed and we work hand-in-hand with 4-H."

The club offers workshops for farmers wishing to learn more about Holstein nutrition and health, calving, breeding and raising, among other aspects of the job.

One of the guest speakers at the banquet was Winchester's Howard Biccum, one of the founding members of the club and 1932 president.

"At the beginning, there were only about a dozen people to start the club," Biccum said after the banquet.

"It was March, 1929 when we started and it was because Duncan McNaughton made an outstanding record with one of his cows. She produced 25,000 pounds of milk in 365 days. After that, everyone wanted cows from Dundas County, so we started the club as a way of giving people a centre to go to if they wanted to find out about Holsteins in Dundas."

And the club activities have grown over the years too, he said.

"At first, we only held a picnic every summer in Kemptville. Now the club does all kinds of things in the area."

Biccum was a member of the club until he retired from farming in 1946.

But he was thrilled when he attended the banquet last week and saw how much the Dundas Holstein Club had grown since he helped start it 70 years ago.

"I think it's wonderful," he said.

"It's one of the best and largest Holstein clubs in eastern Ontario and Dundas County has some really good Holsteins. They're tops among the Holsteins in eastern Ontario."

South side of Iroquois Civic Centre sought for SD Museum

WILLIAMSBURG — After more than a year-long hiatus, the Museum Committee is back in action with renewed plans to open a South Dundas heritage museum.

Chair of the Museum Committee and former Morrisburg Reeve Gord McGregor attended South Dundas Council at it's November 4 meeting to ask about possible museum locations.

"We would like to ask you to consider giving us the use of the south half of the Iroquois Civic Centre," said McGregor, adding if granted the building, the committee could proceed with museum plans.

"Nothing would be done until this council approves."

The civic building is across the street from both Iroquois Public School and Seaway Valley District High School, he said, which would be perfect for young people to learn more about the region's history.

It also wouldn't require any renovations as it already has restroom facilities and is wheelchair accessible, he explained.

The museum wouldn't contain antique furniture, clothing or artifacts, but would feature documents and photographs pertaining to the region and the early days of the seaway.

"We don't need another Upper Canada Village or Carmen house," he said.

Because starting the museum wouldn't cost much, McGregor expects a positive response from council before the committee's next meeting on November 18.

The Museum Committee first assembled shortly before amalgamation in 1998, but because the new council had a lot of pressing issues, the committee didn't meet for over a year. They met last Wednesday for the first time since then to resume plans.

McGregor stressed that many young people do not know much about their roots and the history of the area.

"Some kids don't even know their grandfather's name," he said.

SD Mayor Johnny Whitteker promised to have a response for McGregor by the November 18 meeting.

"I'm glad to see the committee rejuvenated," he said.

McGregor also requested to be on council's agenda for its November 25 meeting, which will be held at the Iroquois Civic Centre because of renovations to the Williamsburg Township office.

North Dundas Councillor Estella Rose and recently appointed environmental coordinators Carolyn Laflamme and Margot Dixon stand in front of what will be a display for the Dundas Environmental Awareness Group on Monday, Nov. 8. DEAG's goals are to promote environmentally friendly lifestyles and practices in the region. Through education, they hope to encourage the reduction of garbage and to reduce the amount of household hazardous waste that is disposed of improperly.

Environmental coordinators make nature-saving suggestions

Nick Forster

WINCHESTER — The Dundas Environmental Awareness Group is urging people to step lightly into the year 2000 with some simple suggestions to reduce our 'ecological footprint.'

The DEAG recently hired two coordinators for a county-wide project to educate the public about environmental concerns and how we can reduce what we leave behind.

Carolyn Laflamme of Chesterville and Margot Dixon of Finch work Mondays and Wednesdays at the Winchester Township building on County Road 43 and Tuesdays and Thursdays at the former Iroquois Municipal Offices.

One of their biggest concerns is the improper disposal of hazardous waste. Things like paint, turpentine, used oil, shoe polish and batteries.

"Whether (people) dispose of it on their property or put it in a green garbage bag to be thrown out, it will eventually make it's way into the ground water," Laflamme said.

With today's knowledge of groundwater, chemicals and pollution, there is no excuse for poisoning the earth, said Laflamme. "We know better now."

A better option is to store the materials safely until one of six designated waste disposal days between May and October at the Boyne Road Landfill Site near Winchester, she said. They plan to produce and advertise a calender of drop-off days for household hazardous waste.

"Maybe when people are doing their spring clean up, they will remember to put hazardous waste aside until (one of the drop off days)," said Dixon.

The coordinators were hired through a partnership with the DEAG, the Townships of North and South Dundas, and Human Resources Development Canada.

Their goal is to educate the public through community presentations, activities, events and support services. They aim to provide information on local services and programs such as recycling and composting.

They also plan on writing a monthly news column called GREENlines with tips for reducing our impact on the ecosystem. Here are some of this month's suggestions:

• Bring tableware and a mug to work if your cafeteria doesn't have reusable ones.

•If you bring your lunch, use reusable containers and bags and have a waste-free lunch.

•Avoid buying over-packaged products.

North Dundas Councillor Estella Rose thinks we owe it to future generations to treat the earth with respect.

"We are making the future for our kids and grandkids," she said. "What kind of a world are they going to have if we don't make a change?"

Remembering those who made the ultimate sacrifice

Lest we forget:

Veterans and citizens alike gathered Sunday in Moose Creek, Ingleside, Long Sault and Chesterville to pay respect to those who fought for our freedom and to remember the ultimate sacrifices of soldiers and their families. Clockwise from top left: Veteran Jack Cross salutes the Chesterville cenotaph. A veterans caries a cross to the Ingleside cenotaph. Another veteran bearing a wreath in Ingleside. South Stormont Mayor Jim Brownell lays a wreath at the Ingleside cenotaph on behalf of the township. Veterans march from a church service to the Long Sault cenotaph. A citizen pays his respect at the Moose Creek ceremony.

THANK YOU - We would like to sincerely thank everyone who were so very kind to us at the time of the death of our very special Dad Arthur Shay. For the comforting words, sympathy cards and food brought to our home. A special thank you to Brownlee Funeral Home, to Rev. Mark Bourgon and to the pallbearers; also for the donations made in his memory. Sincerely,
— Eva Weegar and Family

FRANCIS - I would like to thank everyone for all the flowers, gifts, cards, visits and kind words and wishes during my stay at the Winchester Hospital, and when Christian and I arrived home. It means so much to us. Also, to all my customers for the cards, gifts and best wishes, I would like to say thank you and hope to see you soon. Many thanks.
— Lesley Francis

IN MEMORIAM

DUCOLON - In loving memory of Thomas who passed away Nov. 15, 1995.
Tom you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Forever remembered,
— Audery and families

LAJOIE - In loving memory of a dear mother, daughter and gramma, Tena Lajoie, who passed away Nov. 15, 1997.
God looked upon his garden
And found an empty space,
Then he looked down upon the earth
And saw your tired face.
He put his arms around you
And lifted you to rest,
God's garden must be beautiful
For he only takes the best.
He saw the road was getting rough
And hills were hard to climb,
He closed your weary eyes
and whispered "Peace be thine".
It broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you
To God's garden, your new home.
Sadly missed and always loved by:
— Mother, Mildred Baindese, Bob, Barry, Mary and Megan Lajoie, Eric, Donna, Ryan and Mark McRae 14

"BUDDY" - Many of you knew him by name, most knew him by sight. "Buddy" the golden retriever has passed away unexpectedly through illness. He will be greatly missed and never forgotten by his owner and friend, Bill Holliday. I shall miss you as will all the family. Love always.
— Carol (daughter of Bill)

Pee Wee B Demons take Westport tourney title

WESTPORT - Tory Baldwin scored with 2:39 left in regulation time to give the North Dundas Demons a 3-2 win over host North Leeds and the A championship of the Pee Wee B tournament held here Sunday. ND's goaltending tandem of Matt Bird and Craig Moran gave up just three goals in three games to backstop the Demons' championship effort.

Baldwin's' tournament winner came just four minutes after North Leeds captain John Brus had tied the game.

North Dundas made it to the A round final after dumping Kingston Township 3-1 in their opening game and doubling Brockville 2-1 in the semifinals.

ND 3 - North Leeds 2

The teams went through a scoreless first period and North Leeds took a 1-0 lead with 6:09 left in the second. The Demons came back with a quick pair, Darrel Moore scoring from Brian Cummings and captain Devin Kelly 1:18 later and Brad Switch making it 2-1 for ND at 2:35, from Blain Moran and Chad Lajeneusse.

Brus, who had assisted on Lance Kerr's second period goal, tied the game at a pair with 6:50 remaining.

Baldwin's winner came on a set up from Dale Dellaire.

ND 2 - Brockville1

The teams traded goals in a 25-second span in the first period and Cummings got the game winner with 7:40 left in the second, from Ben Baker.

Brockville went up 1-0 at 9:30 of the first on an unassisted goal by Jamie Reilly only to have the Demons knot it at 9:05 on Dellaire's goal, from Baker.

ND 3 - Kingston Twp. 1

Baker scored the winner and added the insurance goal in the Demons' 3-1 semifinal win.

ND took a 2-0 lead out of the first on Cummings' goal, from Brad Switch, with 8:40 left and Baker's ultimate game winner, with 2:52 left, from Dellaire and Travis Armstrong.

Kingston Township cut the lead in half with 7:18 to go but Baker potted the Demons' third goal to put it out of reach with 5:52 left. Kelly and Moore had the assists.

League action

The Demons exploded for four goals in the second period to dump South Stormont 6-2 in a UCMHL league game in Chesterville Nov. 3.

Scott Bradley led the outburst with a pair of second-period goals as the Demons led 5-1 after two.

The teams played to a 1-1 draw through the first, South Stormont taking a 1-0 lead on Marc Geneau's unassisted goal only 23 seconds from the opening face off.

Baldwin responded on an ND power play two minutes later, finishing a play started by Adam Guy and Baker.

Switch made it 2-1 at 13:10 of the second, from Cummings and Moore, and Moore made it 3-1 24 seconds later, from Switch and Cummings.

Bradley got his first at 9:38, from Lajeneusse and Baker, on another ND power play and he scored his second - and ND's fifth - with 45 seconds left in the period. Switch earned the assist.

Switch then finished out his four-point game with his second goal, from Moore, with 7:14 left.

Bantam Demons keep UC victory skein intact

WINCHESTER - The North Dundas Bantam B Demons kept their victory streak alive in Embrun Sun., Oct. 31 with two third-period goals, breaking open a 3-3 tie for a 5-3 win.

At home on Mon., Nov. 1, the Demons scored twice in each of the last two periods as they blanked the Char-Lan Rebels 4-0 in a game in which they took 12 of 23 penalties.

ND 5 - Embrun 3

Josh McLean got the first of his two goals, unassisted, with 55 seconds left in the second to pull the Demons even at three each and pave the way for the 5-3 win.

Trent McBain made it 4-3 with 4:27 gone in the third, again unassisted, and McLean got ND's fifth, from Justin Morozuk, with 4:02 left.

Embrun led 2-1 after one on a pair of goals by Martin Paquette. Scoring for ND in the first was Brett Bird, from Nik Paas and McBain.

The Demons tied it less than a minute into the second, Derek Vingerhoeds scoring on a solo effort, only to have Embrun go back up by one just over three minutes later, Eric Blanchard making it 3-2.

Demons 4 - Rebels 0

Chris Currie was unbeatable in the ND nets, backstopping the shut out, and McLean, Spencer Dawson and Stefan Gravelle each had a goal and an assist to lead the Demons to the win.

The teams went through a scoreless first period and McLean got what held up as the eventual winner with 6:32 to play in the second, from Gravelle and Colin Bowie, and Dawson made it 2-0 1:18 before the buzzer, from Paas and McBain.

Hawks humble Aeros for second win

WINCHESTER - The Hawks split a pair of weekend interlocking games with Rideau Division teams, keeping pace with the fifth-place Morrisburg Lions.

Winchester dropped its 10th game of the 1999-2000 EOJBHL's St. Lawrence Division season to the Gananoque Islanders Friday night but bounced back against the winlessless Aeros in Athens Sunday for a 9-1 win, the team's second in its past three games.

The weekend results leave the Hawks with six points in 13 games, one back of the Morrisburg Lions, who also split last week, losing 6-2 to the Tikis in Brockville Wed., Nov. 3 and triumphing 5-3 over the Westport Rideaus at home Sunday afternoon. The Rideaus are in first place in their division with a 9-3-3- record.

The Hawks hold a game in hand over the Lions in the battle to avoid last place.

Islanders 6 - Hawks 2

The Hawks trailed by only one after two periods Friday night but couldn't contain the Islanders in the third.

Gananoque led 1-0 at the end of one, scoring with 31 seconds left in the period. The Hawks played them even throughout the second to trail 3-2 after 40 minutes. Scoring for Winchester in the second were Adam Beehler, from Matt McBean and Dave Summers, and Summers, from Joey Hillis.

Gan's Matt Thake shut the door the rest of the way and the Islanders upped it to 4-2 of Geoff Jackson's goal 3:52 into the third and made it 5-2 six minutes later on Chris Mangan's goal. Peter Kench finished it with 20 seconds left in the game.

Hawks 9- Aeros 1

The Hawks were relentless Sunday against the Rideaus, leading 3-1 after one and 4-1 after two before finishing the rout with five in the final 20 minutes.

Duane Penney paved the way for the win with three goals and Liam chipped in with a pair, both in the first.

Summer figured in all three Winchester goals in the first, setting up both of Turpin's and making it 3-1 with 1:57 left.

Penney got his first at 7:22 of the second, unassisted.

In the third it was Shawn Smail, at 18:653, from Justin Heuff, on the power play, Bruce Hamelin, unassisted, Penney, on a solo short handed effort, Brad Filion from Hillis and Heuff, and Penney from Hamelin and Matt McBean, to make it 9-1 with 3:22 left.

The Hawks took 17 of the game's 27 penalties. Eleven - including a high sticking minor, fighting major and game misconduct to Summer - were called in the third.

Novice B Demons lose pair of close ones to Lions

The North Dundas Demons lost both ends of a home-and-home series to the Morrisburg Lions in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League Novice B action last week.

Both losses were by one goal, 2-1 in Morrisburg Nov. 3 and 3-2 in Chesterville Nov. 5.

Jay Keller scored on the power play with 58 seconds left in the second period to give Morrisburg the win on home ice Nov. 3.

All the game's scoring was compressed into a five-minute span in the second, Morrisburg going up 1-0 on captain Alex Whelan's goal with 6:10 left and the Demons responding two minutes later, Jordan Barkley scoring from Brett Baker and Ryan McRae.

Morrisburg got three unassisted goals - one in each period - to edge the Demons in Chesterville Nov. 5.

Scott Douma staked the Lions to a 1-0 lead with 6:03 left in the first only to have ND's Brodie Boulanger tie it at 4:41, from Baker.

Morrisburg went up 2-1 with 4:10 left in the second, Whelan getting the Lions' second unassisted goal.

The Demons refused to give up, Barkley scoring unassisted with 6:18 left in the game, only to have Morrisburg's Alan Waddell get the winner with 4:30 left.

Aces, Agromart tied for first atop NSIHL

FINCH - Williamstown's Munro Agromart got a pair of goals from Shawn McRae to edge the Cornwall Express 3-2 Sunday night and climb back into a share of first place in the North Stormont Intermediate Hockey League with the Avonmore Aces.

In Friday night's other game Tim Ouderkirk scored twice and added an assist to lead the Berwick Bull Dogs to a 5-2 win over Long Sault's Grumpy's Sports Bar and into a tie for third with the slumping Express, losers of their past three.

Agromart 3 - Express 2

Cornwall took a 1-0 lead into the second Sunday night on a goal by J.D. Hunter with 1:23 left but Williamstown struck for three in the second to keep pace with Avonmore.

Besner scored a pair 18 seconds apart just short of the midway mark to put the Aces up 2-0. Williamstown came back to tie it, McDonald scoring at 5:39 from Craig McDonell and Scott Giroux, and Giroux scoring from Murree and Jason McCuaig 28 seconds later.

The Aces responded by pumping in three in the final 4:42, Ed de Wit scoring at 4:42 from Kent Young, Besner getting his third, from Brent Cater, at 3:43 and Dwayne Spink getting the first of his two on the game, from Young, 17 seconds before the buzzer.

Spink got his second 1:09 into the second, from Blake Hambleton, and Young made it 7-2 at 16:44, from Spink and Harold McBride.

Steve Carter got Avonmore's eighth, unassisted, at 11:39.

Berwick 5 - Long Sault 2

Ouderkirk got his second of the game into the empty net with 14 seconds left to give the Bull Dogs their third win of the season.

Ouderkirk added an assist for a three-point night and moved into first place in the Dogs' scoring race.

Berwick led 1-0 after one on Steve Tait's goal from Julien Benoit with 7:49 left and the Dawgs made it 2-0 inside the first minute of the second, Lance Ouderkirk scoring from goaltender Craig "John Boy" Smith and Tim Ouderkirk.

Greg Esdale cut the lead in half at 16:24, from Josh Gowsell, but Berwick went back up by two four minutes later on Ouderkirk's first. Tait and Smith had the assists.

Josh Casselman made it 4-1 1:26 later, from Mike Stewart.

Travis Froats got Long Sault's second, from Andrew Barrie and Brian Synott, with 8:05 left.

Bantam C Demons dump Morrisburg

The North Dundas Bantam C Demons led 2-0 after one and 5-1 after two on their way to a 7-3 win over Morrisburg in Upper Canada Minor Hockey League play in Chesterville Sunday afternoon.

J.J. Cayer and Ryan Guy led the way, each with two goals.

Pat Pomainville started it off 3:38 into the game, from Thomas Douma, and Guy got his first with 1:05 left in the period, from Matt Gilmer and Shane Simms.

Cayer got a pair in a two-minute span early in the second to make it 4-0. He got his first at 2:24, from Matt Baker and Devon Brown, and his second - and the eventual winner - at 10:08, from Simms.

Brad Francis scored for the Lions with 5:14 left in the period.

Scoring for the Demons in the third were Guy, from Cayer and Mike Tutton, Gilmer, from Dan Marion and Adam Schoones, and Tutton unassisted, with 8:14 left in the game.

Scoring for Morrisburg in the third were Eric Vachon and Jason Keeler.

Comebacks in short supply

VANKLEEK HILL - There were no comebacks for the heart attack kids last weekend.

The Maxville Mustangs lost both their EOJCHL games, 7-5 to the second-place Cougars here Saturday night and 10-0 to the undefeated Stars in Casselman Sunday afternoon.

The Cougars, who had lost their second straight Friday night, 4-2 to the Embrun-Russell River Rats, scored three straight to come back from a 5-4 deficit in the last half of the third period to eke out the two-goal win on home ice and the Mustangs, with only 12 skaters and two of those injured, simply didn't have the legs to stand up to the Stars, the league's only undefeated team.

Cougars 7 - Mustangs 5

The teams were tied at two at the end of 20 minutes of play Saturday and Vankleek Hill got a pair in the second to enter the third up 4-3.

The Mustangs came back with a pair to take a 5-4 lead just short of the midway mar of the third only to have the Cougars get three in the final 10:44 for the win.

The Mustangs lost Brad McMillan to a mild concussion after he had scored once and set up a goal through the first two periods and Jamie Bourgeois got the gate for checking from behind. Maxville had two players, Scott Coleman and Bruce Libbos, each with injured elbows.

Marc Andre Richer, Bourgeois, McMillan, Coleman and Keith Brown scored for the Mustangs.

Captain Nicolas Leroux led the Cougars with a pair.

Stars 10 - Mustangs 0

The Mustangs were no match for the Stars after Saturday night's emotional roller coaster in Vankleek Hill.

The Stars led 2-0 after one and 4-0 after two before exploding for six in the third.

Eric Lavoie and Etienne Lortie led the Stars with three goals each. Ben Menard had a six-point game with two goals and four assists and Mark Laforest had a pair.
