Burned out!

Jerry Robertson, of the Williamsburg Fire Department, is shown extinguishing flames at Reg Veley's house on the Fifth Concession. Explosions were heard in the house and the living room burst into flames seconds after the family left the house.

Family narrowly escapes death

WILLIAMSBURG TOWNSHIP—A family living on Concession 5 narrowly escaped death in a fire which left their home beyond repair here last Thursday morning.

A sleeping Linda Wicks was alerted to the blaze about 1:00 a.m. by her son's cries of "Fire! Fire!" and with her two children David and Leslie she immediately left the house.

"We got out the back door, seconds before the living room burst into flames. We heard an explosion and the windows blew out!" says Wicks.

The family escaped to the home of neighbor Bill Hallem, who contacted the Williamsburg Fire Department. Firemen battled flames until 5:00 a.m.

Fire Chief Lyal Kehoe explained that they had a difficult time putting out the fire because the walls were filled with shavings.

At 9:00 a.m. the firemen were recalled to the scene where they remained until 10:30 extinguishing flames. Meanwhile the burned-out family took refuge at the home of Wick's mother, Mrs. Lyal Richmire.

The house was owned by Wick's fiance Reg Veley. The cause of the blaze is unknown.

Citizens group brings 470 letters to protest rezoning for quarry

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

BRINSTON — A lawyer retained by "Citizens of Matilda against the Quarry" reminded council here last Wednesday not to lose sight of the township's agricultural nature in the face of an anxious developer.

"Guidelines in the 1985 official plan state, 'New development may take cognizance of the rural lifestyles as they exist and in particular their proximity to farming operations, and the effect each one has upon the other," explained Barry Laushway at a public meeting to discuss the rezoning of White Bear Mining property.

If rezoning from rural to special rural is permitted, a quarry operation would be allowed on Lot 34, Concession 1, Range 2 of Matilda Township, located about 3 miles west of the Carman Road.

The citizens group had armed itself with 450 letters signed by taxpayers opposing the quarry. These had already been received by council, and some 20 more were presented at the meeting.

The township also has one letter supporting the proposed quarry.

Chief objections to the quarry

"The aesthetic loss would be incalculable," Lashway added, "and for sure there would be increased noise pollution."

Residents have safety concerns regarding heavy traffic on a route inhabited by families with small children, and possible health problems resulting from dust.

Cracking in foundations and walls may result from blasting, and a further impact would be lower property values.

The access road of gravel construction with a fieldstone base would have to be rebuilt "at a cost of about $500,000 to accommodate traffic.

"And if the trucks damage it, what assurance is there of repairs?" asked Laushway, "what if he sells out or goes bankrupt?"

Question need for third quarry

The residents are questioning the need for a third quarry when two licenced quarries, although not fully operative, lie within two miles of the proposed site.

If this application is approved, the chances of these quarries opening up in a better location are diminished.

The lawyer doubted the good faith of the mining company, drawing attention to the fact that it had ignored Matilda Township's topsoil by-law, illegally stripping the soil "at a prodigious rate," and only the threat of criminal prosecution stopped it.

Before a zoning change can be made permitting a quarry, the township must enter into a development agreement with the company. "How will we know they will operate the quarry according to the high standards of the sand and gravel industry?" asked Laushway.

A letter written to council by Allan Finlayson, chairman of the citizen's group expressed fears regarding the quarry's impact on water table and drainage.

According to Finlayson water from the site would go north to the Brown Drain, which empties to the South Branch crossing flooded areas.

This might cause additional flooding and possible silting of landowners' drains.

He was also concerned that his own dug well might become silted or drained, and that the dust would turn his cash crop of ornamental Christmas trees gray.

"Road maintenance will change the tax bill." He added that this would be an unfair burden on a municipality whose taxes had already been increased.

Water not discharged into farmers' drains

Planner Michael Wright who had presented the site, development, and rehabilitation plans of the quarry on behalf of the company, stated that there would be settling ponds at the site, and berms to prevent waters escaping to the drain.

Test wells would be drilled to determine the depth of aquifer. Also, if his client's application is successful, the client would be amenable to discussing costs of rebuilding the access road.

The township has received letters from some of the agencies that have received the zoning amendment draft copy, including one from the Department of Agriculture and Food. The Department had no objection to the amendment but expressed concern over site rehabilitation.

Maintain agricultural land

Geri Kamenz, field service representative for the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, said the Federation wants to maintain agricultural land as such. He complained there has been no hydrologist survey relating to Artesian wells, and the depth of aquifers.

Wright replied that these studies would be done as part of the required program.

Councillor Norm Tinkler has received a letter from the South Nation Conservation Authority indicating it is more concerned with sedimentation than with excess water in the system.

The ministry of Natural Resources, which grants quarry licenses under the Pits and Quarries Control Act, is ready to tell the mining company to advertise the license in the newspapers. But if rezoning is not approved by the township, the ministry will not grant a license.

Peter Hanna, a planner hired by the township, explained that to conform to the Pits and Quarries Control Act regulations, the proposed site would be restricted to areas hidden from the public, and there must be a 210 meter separation between the quarry and residential areas.

Most of the site information has already been provided by the developer.

However, an agreement must be entered between the municipality and the developer about arrangements for rehabilitation standards, performance bond, routes for gravel trucks, times of blasting, screening and buffering, and Ministry of the Environment requirements.

Decision within 30 days

The township will reach a decision within 30 days which may be appealed by either the neighbors or the applicant. If appealed, the issue would lead to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing.

Finlayson is confident council will heed taxpayers' objections.

"If council gives a zoning change, they'll have a fight at the Ontario Municipal Board (OMB)," says Finlayson.

"And if the mining company takes it to the OMB, council will be on our side, with all the letters."

Hunting accident

MIKE THOMPSON
Leader staff

WILLIAMSBURG TOWNSHIP — A weekend hunting accident which placed one man in critical condition after suffering a shotgun blast, has led to two separate charges, against a Laval man, including hunting without a licence.

Morrisburg OPP have also charged Elias Pavtorinos with careless use of a firearm.

A subsequent charge of hunting without a permit was laid by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

According to police, Pavtorinos and his friend Kosta Kalabalikis, 45, also of Laval, were hunting early Saturday morning on property just east of Riverside Heights and south of the CN tracks.

At about 9:00, Pavtorinos' gun, a 12-gauge shotgun, inadvertently went off, catching Kalabalikis on the front upper part of his body.

Police are not positive how far the two men were apart.

Following the accident, they were able to walk from the bush and flag down a passing vehicle on the Church Road.

Kalabalikis was taken to Winchester District Memorial Hospital where he was treated for gun shot wounds to his face, neck, chest and upper left hand.

Nancy Sheldrick, spokesperson for the hospital said that his wounds were treated, however, there remained some concern as to the vision in his right eye.

Kalabalikis was then transferred to Ottawa General Hospital where he remains in intensive care.

According to a hospital spokesman there, he was serious but in stable condition Monday.

Pavtorinos was released to police on a recognizance to appear in Provincial Court on October 11 in Morrisburg.

Upper Canada Playhouse

Board assesses previous season

MIKE THOMPSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — As the saying goes...the show must go on.

After just completing an artistically satisfying but disappointingly attended season, the Upper Canada Playhouse's board of directors is already looking forward to next year.

Total attendance this year was 10,390, representing a decrease of about 2,000 from the previous season.

Lois Rosenquist, general manager for the playhouse, says a number of suggestions have been raised to explain the smaller crowds, including this summer's extreme heat.

"Now that the season is done, the board plans to have a brainstorming session in October to analyze this disappointing factor," she says.

The possibility that summer's warm temperatures are partially responsible only illustrates another problem faced by the board — the need of a more suitable facility.

One more year in the tent

However, despite much discussion and a major fundraising campaign, Rosenquist says it appears the tent will be used for at least one more year.

"It's fairly obvious at this point and time, that we'll have to stay in the tent," she says. "I think though what the public needs to know now is that we're still holding on to their money and hopes are that maybe next fall we'll be able to start building a better home."

Funding raising continues

Currently the playhouse is raising money by selling some 1400 raffle tickets for a Lincoln Town car as well as the promoting 200 tickets to the 10-course Gastronomical Dinner.

"So far, we've sold over 800 tickets for the car," she says.

Tickets are priced at $50 of which $25 is income tax deductible.

"And we've just started selling tickets for our dinner which are $100 each but you can claim $50 for tax purposes," she says.

The playhouse also receives funding from solicitating contributions from 42 foundations and canvassing of 70 major companies and 265 businesses.

"Many of them are located outside the S.D.&G. area," Rosenquist says.

Grants still possible

Earlier this year the board was also hoping to get money from provincial grants.

This summer's fundraising has not received sufficient monies to match government grant. The Ministry of Culture and Communication requires that 50 per cent must be in place or pledged.

However the board plans to reapply for the next year.

"I guess you can say the project is on hold," says John McAllister, president of the board.

Immediate concerns

Rosenquist says the playhouse has more immediate concerns other than funding.

She says the board plans to renovate the lobby's wooden floor which has been slowly rotting away.

MOE continues investigation in PCB spill north east of Dunbar

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

WILLIAMSBURG TWP—A spill of PCBs from an Ontario Hydro transformer August 31 northeast of Dunbar is under further investigation by the Ministry of the Environment.

The transformer leaked about two litres of transformer oil which tested at 28 milligrams per liter, according to area officer supervisor, Glen Vasie.

The chemical is not classified as PCB waste according to federal and provincial standards unless it is close to 50 milligrams per liter.

However, the property owner's well water showed a level of contamination above the accepted amount for drinking water.

"There may be additional clean-up at the site, because the transformer may have been leaking for about two weeks," said Ron Robertson, area supervisor for the Ministry of the Environment.

"Soil and well water will undergo further tests, and the owner has been told to find another source of water until the results are known."

Normally, when Hydro has a spill of transformer fluid, a test is done on site to determine whether the electrical equipment contains more than 30 milligrams of PCBs per liter.

If greater than 30, a formal lab test is required. If a test proves close to 50, and positive, the soil must be removed and placed in a barrel in an approved storage area such as the Ontario Hydro yard in Winchester, and the contaminated area covered with clean earth.

The transformer and its liquid content must also be stored in an approved site. But if the soil contains less than 50 milligrams per litre, it may be disposed of in a landfill site.

Since January 1988, there have been six spills in Dundas County, promptly reported by Ontario Hydro.

One accident involving PCB waste occurred in the Ontario Hydro Winchester service yard, and another accident involving PCB waste followed a major storm on August 14 on Lot 19, Concession 6 of Matilda Township.

In fact, most leaks occur after transformers are damaged during storms, says Robertson.

Wise acquitted in tower trial

TORONTO — The 45-year-old Chesterville mechanic James Henry Wise, who was charged with mischief in the downing of a $2.2 million communications tower near Williamsburg in August 1987, has been acquitted of the charge.

In a trial which began here last week, district court Judge Bourke Smith ruled that evidence had been obtained illegally by the OPP when they used an electronic device to monitor Wise's movements.

The judge did not admit evidence on the mischief charge obtained while Wise was a suspect in the "Ottawa Valley serial killings," a series of six murders that occurred over a 10 year period within a 40 mile radius of Chesterville, Ontario.

According to a recent story in the Ottawa Citizen, Judge Bourke said police had no grounds to believe that Wise was a killer and the search was based on suspicion.

Excluded from the trial was evidence that placed Wise's car in a field near the tower when it was downed, and equipment and material similar to the tower's guy wires found in his car and home.

The Crown has 30 days to appeal Smith's decision.

Police report

IROQUOIS — Police are investigating a weekend break-in at the Primeau-Argo concrete plant (formerly known as Hoffman's) on Highway 2 just east of Iroquois.

Const. Morgan Hill of the Morrisburg OPP detachment says apparently nothing was taken from the premises.

"However, they did ransack the entire office," he says.

Const. Hill said the crime occurred sometime between Saturday and Sunday night.

He says the investigating officers are working on several leads.

•

Staff Sgt. Jim Graham and the entire force of the local OPP detachment would like to welcome Const. Donald Abbott to the Morrisburg area.

Const. Abbott has recently completed his orientation training in Brampton.

New recruit added to OPP Detachment

MORRISBURG — Staff Sgt. Jim Graham and the entire force of the local OPP detachment welcomed new recruit Const. Donald Abbott, who will be serving his 10-month probation period here.

Const. Abbott is a native of Hamilton and currently lives in Iroquois with his wife, Kathrine.

During his station here, Const. Abbott is looking forward to meeting as many residents as he can, particularly a new arrival to the area, as he and his wife are expecting their first child soon.

Const. Abbott has successfully completed his three-week orientation period in Brampton and will be working at the local department for three weeks before he's sent to Aylmer, where he will receive additional police training, include self-defence and handling of firearms.

He will spend nine weeks in Aylmer before returning to his detachment.

"We have to do something about the floor before somebody is injured," she says.

The board is also hoping Mother Nature will co-operate and provide the area with just a light snowfall this winter.

"Two years ago, the heavy snow on top of the tent ripped the fabric and the following spring we were faced with a terrible mess," she recalls.

She says the staff is doing as much as they can to prepare the structure for the impending snow.

"I think this year Marshall (Button, artistic director) will be around to keep an eye on it."

As for ticket prices, Rosenquist says only the senior citizens may be faced with an increase next season.

Currently, the playhouse charges adults $10 for each show, $7 for seniors and students and $5 for children under 16.

"We might up the seniors' price by a dollar, but we're not sure yet."

Relocation possible

Another possibility the future may hold for the playhouse is relocating.

"The St. Lawrence Parks Commission has always assured us a sight but we could never get enough money to build a decent facility," says Rosenquist.

She adds, the possibility of a joint venture with the commission is always in the works.

"It would be a lot easier if we (the playhouse and the commission) got together and worked on this problem. Perhaps we could even get some support from the village (of Morrisburg).

Exchange student feeling at home in Morrisburg

by Mike Thompson

MORRISBURG — Antonio Elizondo Rios, a 17-year-old exchange student from Mexico, had more on his mind than just math and English homework last week.

About a month ago, Rios said goodbye to his parents, two brothers and one sister at their home in Monterrey, Mexico, the same city that was inundated with torrential floods two weeks ago killing more than 100 people and causing over a billion dollars in damage.

"As soon as we heard about it we called his family immediately," said Laird Weagant, Rios' exchange father.

"When I called, I found out everything was fine," says a relieved Rios, in broken-English.

Mexican president Miguel de la Madrid declared the city a disaster area so Rios plans to call quite frequently.

"And that's fine with us," assures Weagant.

Weagant and his wife Elise, have several children of their own, three girls and one boy.

"They (the Weagants) have been very very nice to me and are also very hospitable," he says.

In fact, Rios is very impressed with Canada and its people.

"This is a very beautiful country and Ottawa is a very nice city."

So far, the Weagants have taken Rios to many cities including Brockville and Cornwall.

Rios does not fit in the mold of the stereotypical poor Mexican boy. He is bright and comes from a city that's inhabited by more than three-and-a-half million people.

His family is upper-middle class and his father a successful architect.

In fact, he prefers to be called Tony rather than Antonio and does not stand out in a crowd as he often dresses in jeans and a casual shirt — just like any other Canadian student.

When asked what he thinks about the girls at his school, St. Joseph's High School in Cornwall, he simply smiles and throws his right thumb up.

(Spoken like a true Canadian man.)

Rios and his family have often travelled north and vacationed in several American States.

"We visited California, Florida and often go to Houston, Texas, (which is about 580 kilometers north of Monterrey).

According to his host father, Rios' English has progressed rather rapidly.

However, he admits he'd rather watch television programs, like Miami Vice, in Mexico because they're dubbed in Spanish.

"They are easier to understand," he says with a smile.

Despite the many cultural similarities, Rios has still managed to maintain his Mexican heritage.

He's on his school's soccer team, a sport he and his Mexican friends play almost as soon as they're able to walk.

"I'm not a bad soccer player," he says with modesty.

Rios is also musically inclined and enjoys playing keyboards.

"Tony plays by ear and next semester he'll be taking a music class so it'll be interesting to see how he enjoys that," says Weagant.

However, if Rios succeeds in his music class as well as he does in his other discipline, chanced are he'll become a virtuoso.

An exceptional student, Rios has completed his prepatory schooling in Mexico and at the age of 17 is qualified to go to university.

"My averages are about in the middle 80's," he says with a small grin of pride.

Following his one year in Morrisburg, Rios plans to attend law school in Mexico.

"I think I would like to study criminal law."

Regardless of what type of law Rios undertakes, he will probably by very successful, handling cases with determination and his polite smile.

Weather to plan by

Southeastern Ontario will experience a winter with rather mixed weather conditions, according to the 197th edition of The Old Farmer's Almanac, released just yesterday.

The current 222-page edition of the historic publication far outstrips the largest edition ever published by its founder, Robert B. Thomas, who published the first edition in 1792, and who died in 1847. His heaviest tome reached only 48 pages.

According to the newest predictions of the Old Farmer, late fall and early winter will be colder and drier in our part of the province and wetter than normal to the west. There will be somewhat lower than normal snowfall in the early part of this period, but in late November and again in the second half of December, cold and snowy weather can be expected.

Following a January thaw before mid-month, there will be frequent snows, and widely fluctuating temperatures throughout February and early March, but then warm and dry weather should prevail for the balance of the season.

Spring is expected to be cooler than usual, and with above normal precipitation in the eastern district, but below normal in the west. Frequent, but light precipitation in April and early May will be followed by higher than normal amounts through June.

Our summer, says the Old Farmer, will be cooler and drier than normal, but slightly warmer in the eastern area. Through July and early August, we can look for several (but not prolonged) hot spells, and then cooler weather will be with us until a warm period arrives in the latter part of September.

Early fall months, he promises will see several very warm periods, broken by a few brief cold snaps, and with accompanying very heavy rains. With all this advance information, you should be able to plan your garden, your farm crops, your vacation and other summer activities to the best advantage.

But the weather prognostications form only a small part of the Old Farmer's Almanac. There is a great deal more, and you can get the complete volume at most news dealers for just $2.95.

It's Arthritis Month

Communities throughout Canada mark Arthritis Month in September, and branches of the Arthritis Society all intensify their efforts to extend knowledge of the disease, and to raise funds for arthritis research at this time.

Arthritis is, by a very wide margin, the most widespread crippler to which human beings are prey, and to complicate matters still further and make a cure more difficult, there are more than 100 known forms of the disease. It is estimated that the annual loss of employment from arthritis is equal to one-half day for every man, woman and child in the nation.

One of the sad realities about arthritis is there is yet no known cause or cure for the disease. Canadian researchers and medical experts have been focussing on the problem for the last forty years, since the Arthritis Society was formed in 1948 to spearhead the attack on this affliction.

And it is not only a disease of the elderly. There are more than 30,000 youngsters under the age of 15, in Canada alone, who are doomed to live in chronic pain because of it, or its complications.

People with arthritis are also prey to some of the most cruel, vicious and costly frauds in North America. Suffering intense pain, they will do almost anything, spend almost any amount of money to gain relief. The Society estimates that in excess of $50 million is spent annually on phony "cures".

Considerable progress has been made during the last few years, with the introduction of the specially designed and staffed Rheumatic Diseases Units at the teaching hospitals in Canada's medical schools. There, specialists have been able to help many victims towards leading fruitful and fulfilling lives.

In Morrisburg and District, the annual campaign for funds will be a direct mail appeal, and no canvasser will call at your home. Any contribution will help in this humanitarian cause and will be gratefully received. The Society needs the help of every resident, so that progress may continue in the fight against this painful affliction. Your contribution is invaluable, not only to relieve the suffering and aid rehabilitation, but also in paving the way for the eventual elimination of arthritis in Canada.

Spends like a drunken sailor

(THE TORONTO STAR)

For nearly four years, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney repeatedly asked Canadians for personal sacrifices to bring Ottawa's mushrooming deficit under control. In budget after budget, he dished out a diet of tax hikes and spending cuts.

Now with his majority government's future at stake, Mulroney is spending the public's money like a drunken sailor, in violation of everything he preached about thrift.

So far, for starters, he throws $425 million at the OSLO oil sands plant in Alberta, $400 million at the Lloydminster heavy oil upgrader and $1 billion for the Hibernia offshore oilfield. And that doesn't count a total of $2.2 billion in loan guarantees.

Then there's $150 million for a natural gas pipeline on Vancouver Island, and $800 million to compensate Newfoundland for closing its railway system. Quebec gets $515 million for economic development; Alberta gets a $420 million dollar defence contract for northern terrain, all-weather vehicles.

By Liberal leader John Turner's reckoning, Mulroney had dished out $12 billion before last weekend's $575 million orgy of announcements. And his figures don't include at least $10 billion for a fleet of nuclear-powered submarines.

Actually, this spending binge began last May when Mulroney shelled out hundreds of millions of dollars to buy Secretary of State "Mr. Clean" Bouchard a House of Commons seat. Since the successful test-marketing in Bouchard's Lac Saint Jean campaign, the cynical strategy has led to practically an announcement a day on an even grander scale.

What must also be remembered is that these aren't the usual kind of campaign promises. As legally binding contracts, many of them commit the next government, not just this one, to spend billions of dollars over the next five years or more.

The Liberals and the New Democrats have their own spending priorities. But if either party wins the election, Mulroney's commitments would force them to honor the Tory obligations before they set up an agenda of their own.

A government that has used up its mandate has no moral right to impose its will on an electorate that may decide it's time for a change. This is especially true when the government purse is empty and Ottawa's budget deficit still hovers around the $30 billion mark. This spending binge not only demeans democracy. It makes a mockery of the sacrifices Canadians have made for this Prime Minister.

Mrs. Ethel Saddlemire picked up a first place in the apple pie baking contest and Gord McGregor took over from Bill Tupper as the pie eating champ. In their first round the two tied by devouring a 16 inch apple pie in 16 seconds. Round two, which took a bit longer, was won by McGregor.

Several businesses in the village were undergoing major changes including the Bank of Nova Scotia which was planning a major expansion. The Morrisburg Dairy building was undergoing interior changes and it was to house a jewellry store, an antique dealer and a third outlet leased by the provincial government.

It was not until the last revision of the Bank Act in 1954 that the chartered banks of Canada were permitted to make loans against chattel mortgages.

Jean Casselman, 38-year-old widow of the deceased Dean of the House of Commons, Ltd. Col. A.C. Casselman had won a smashing victory in the Monday byelection defeating Prescott mayor Mark P. Salmon by almost two votes to one. Mrs. Casselman ran very strongly in almost all centres in the riding except Morrisburg and Williamsburg Township to roll up an impressive win of 10,306 votes to 5,378 for her Liberal opponent. By her victory Mrs. Casselman became the third woman in the House of Commons and a member of the first father and daughter team in The House. Her father, The Hon. Earl Rowe, was M.P. for Dufferin-Simcoe and became Dean of the Commons after the death of Mr. Casselman.

Letters to the Editor

A Laurin, Editor,
Morrisburg Leader,
Morrisburg, Ontario
Dear Sir:

To celebrate 150 years of Catholic education in Kingston, Ontario, a reunion is being planned for all former students and staff of Notre Dame High School, Regiopolis Colege and Regiopolis-Notre Dame High School on the Victoria Day weekend, May 19-21, 1989.

All former students are invited to register their names and addresses with the Reunion Secretary, Regiopolis-Notre Dame High School, 130 Russell Street, Kingston, Ontario, K7K 2E9. The phone number is 613-545-1902.

An interesting program has been planned. Your presence will make it special.

Sincerely yours,
Jane Sherman Kaduck
The Reunion Committee

Editor,
Morrisburg Leader
Morrisburg, Ontario.
Dear Sir;

This morning as I habitually followed by routine of standing quietly on my back porch for a few minutes observing, my eyes registered a rich variety of activities of God's creatures. Birds were busily flying back and forth, gathering food for themselves, and I noticed that my crippled resident raccoon had again during the night used the water basin to rinse the food I put out for her.

Trees and shrubs now produced gorgeous colored leaves. What a beautiful time of the year and how grateful I am to be able to see and enjoy all this richness of nature.

My thoughts also turned to an article I read recently. Today there are still over 40 million people in the third world countries who are curably blind. $25 will pay for a cataract operation, hospital stay and new glasses. Treatment is also given for other eye diseases like trachoma. The surgeon personally signs a card which contains the name, age, address of the patient and the card is mailed to the donor. Your donation is also tax deductible.

You, the reader of these lines, could finance someone's wonderful journey from darkness into light, at a cost of only $25. Send your tax deductible donation to: Operation Eyesight Universal, Box 123, Stn. "M", Calgary, Alberta. T2P 2H6 or in Central Canada to 202, 1719 Lawrence Avenue, East M1R 2X7.

Sincerely,
Helgi Rosen

Over a million hot meals served in 1988 by volunteer organization

MORRISBURG — Neighbours helping neighbours has not gone out of style! Last year, 21,000 Meals on Wheels volunteers delivered 1,250,000 hot meals to 21,000 homebound people across Ontario.

A network of over 120 Meals on Wheels agencies has evolved from the founding units, Brampton and Brantford, which are celebrating twenty-five years of service this year. Across the province, during Meals on Wheels Week, September 26-30, units will be celebrating this special milestone and Meals on Wheels' important role as a vital part of life for many elderly, disabled and homebound people.

Meals on Wheels Week, September 26-30, celebrates the work of the volunteers and encourages new people to become involved with service to their neighbours. The service needs drivers with their own automobiles, people to take meals into homes, and folks to help with the organization of the delivery service. Donations are also needed, for Meals on Wheels is a non-profit organization.

Meals are prepared for Meals on Wheels units in a variety of locations, including hospitals, homes for the elderly, and volunteers' kitchens. These nutritionally balanced meals are usually delivered around the noon hour, three, five and, in some cases, seven days a week, depending on the community.

It is more than simply an essential delivery service, "Our volunteers take time for these people, to ensure they are comfortable and well," says Barbara Gyles, President of Meals on Wheels of Ontario. "A Meals on Wheels volunteer may be that homebound person's only visitor that day."

In Morrisburg 60 to 70 volunteers deliver 16 to 20 meals daily, five times a week. "We are helping people remain independent," says Syd Irwin, Chairman of Home Support Services — Morrisburg and District, of which Meals on Wheels is a committee.

"They want to stay in their home in dignity, but perhaps cannot prepare proper meals for themselves every day. We can fill that need."

Meals are delivered at a cost of $2.00 to the recipients and they can place their order directly with the local Meals on Wheels units.

For more information about getting involved, either as a member of the executive or as a volunteer to deliver these meals, please call either Syd or Isabel Irwin at 543-3728 or Kathy Johnston at 543-3237.

The Federal Liberal Association will be holding its nomination meeting on Saturday, October 1, 1988, starting at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Cornwall Civic Complex in the Ed Lumley Arena.

Three candidates will be competing for the nomination: Brian Lynch Mayor of the City of Cornwall and Guidance Councillor, Bob Kilger former Cornwall Royals Coach and business man, and Glenn Bradbury Legislative Assistant to Roland de Corneille, Member of Parliament.

The meeting similar to Old Time political nominations with music and hats will be open to the General Public.

For further information contact Nomination Day Chairman, Claude Poirier at 933-7200.

September meeting of Williamsburg Seniors

The Williamsburg Township senior citizens' group held their September meeting on Tuesday at the Bouck's Hill Legion Hall, and 53 members and four visitors attended. Membership was paid for 66 members.

The meeting opened with singing O Canada, and was followed with president Thompson welcoming all members and guests. He then introduced Margaret Hendrieks V.O.N., from Brinston. Margaret spoke on the services already available for senior citizens in Dundas County, to encourage seniors to remain in their own homes as long as possible. Questionnaires were passed out, asking what services people would like to have. Since the van is already here, transportation is not a problem, but cutting grass, cleaning windows, shovelling snow, income tax preparation etc. could be. All members were encouraged to attend the upcoming meeting at the United Church. Any senior in the township requiring transportation, should contact the van committee.

Reports from committees were heard.

Wedding anniversaries for Ed and Peggy Thompson and Merle and Eileen Graham were recognized, as well as birthdays for Nellie Deeks, Mrs. Locke, and Henry Boissonneault.

The bazaar date was set to be held on Saturday, November 19. The fee for the dinner was raised to 50 cents.

A report was heard on the senior's room refurbishing program in progress at the municipal building.

Blue Cross dental, vision and travel benefits are available to employee groups of five or more. Call Melanie Barber for details.

BLAIR—John, In loving memory of my dear husband.
Fifteen years have passed, since you were called away September 27, 1973.
The gates of memory never close,
I miss you more, than anyone knows,
Unseen, unheard, you are always near.
Still loved, still missed, and still very dear,
Silent thoughts, a tender prayer.
Knowing you are in God's care.

Recreation for South Dundas

Committee is forming

MORRISBURG — The four municipalties of South Dundas have received the final report of the recreation study carried out this summer and it now appears the next step is about to be taken.

The study clearly recommended that some kind of joint venture between the villages of Morrisburg and Iroquois and townships of Williamsburg and Matilda be undertaken.

"The final report was sent to each council for them to study," said Mike Waddell, Williamsburg Township clerk. "Each is to reply to be my September 30th. That gave them enough time to review it and decide what they want to do."

"Their option is to delegate someone to sit on a committee which in turn will appoint a recreation committee for South Dundas."

Response has been good

Waddell says he has had good verbal response from all councils but only two have responded in writing.

From the village of Iroquois Rick Leroy has been appointed to the committee and Peter McCooeye will represent Morrisburg.

Waddell says the Williamsburg representative will probably be named when council meets on October 1 and he hasn't yet heard from Matilda.

Planning required

"Once the committee forms it will require a lot of work and planning," says Waddell.

"We'll have to make a lot of decisions before we get to forming the actual recreation committee," says Peter McCooeye.

"We'll have to decide how big it is to be, who the people will be and what the geographical spread is."

"When that is accomplished we'll have to outline what it is we want the committee to do."

As well, pointed out McCooeye, we'll probably be dealing with new councils and we'll have to get a commitment from them.

Morrisburg organizing

"While the South Dundas plan is still in its very early stages progress is being made on a recreation committee for the Village of Morrisburg.

The overall picture will probably end up with each municipality having its own recreation committee which will feed into the South Dundas group.

McCooeye says he has met with Linda Bowers who has been working closely with him on recreation throughout the summer and Morrisburg clerk Cheryl Tynski.

Bylaw committee formed.

"We have now formed a bylaw committee which will meet and hammer out our bylaws," he said. "They have until December 1st."

"They'll say how they want recreation to work and council will either agree or disagree with their plan."

McCooeye says he is very happy with the bylaw committee. "We have some people on it who we expected to see but we have others interested in recreation that I wasn't aware of."

"We have a good representation for all recreation in the village."

Once the bylaws have been set and approved a recreation committee for Morrisburg will be formed.

The Spartans are coming

Athletic Association president, Krista Casselman receives plenty of support during an announcement at the basketball games at Seaway District High School Wednesday. While they weren't the cheerleaders the students are used to, they did get the job done with plenty of school spirit.

Spartan basketball teams start season with pair of losses

IROQUOIS — The Seaway District High School senior and junior girls basketball teams opened their season on the wrong side of the stats column here Wednesday when they were both defeated by visiting CharLan.

Although the senior Spartans are looking for a good season with a strong nucleus of returning players, strengthened by a good crop of graduating juniors they were unable to hold CharLan back.

The Spartans came out strong in the first quarter to carry a 14-12 lead into the second but by the half they were trailing 30-18.

They came back strong early in the third quarter, closing the gap to six points, but another charge from CharLan saw them holding a 41-32 lead heading into the final.

Again the Spartans tried to recover, pulling the score to 49-45 with plenty of time left but they were unable to turn it around, the final score reading 52-47.

CharLan was led by the 21 point performance of Carolyn Rose backed by 18 points from Karen Arenott.

For Seaway, Lisa VanHoof dropped 20 points, Kim Bucking added nine and Heather Crawley six.

While the seniors are a well-established team the juniors are in a rebuilding year, with all of last year's players graduating to senior.

They were unable to get much going as CharLan worked toward the 58-15 win.

Let there be ice

MORRISBURG — The ice-making procedure at the arena is well underway and manager Don Smithson says everything looks good for the opening on Saturday.

The ice plant was turned on last Thursday, just shortly after the lunch hour and by Saturday morning temperatures allowed for flooding to start.

"By Saturday morning the brine temperature was 18 degrees Farenheit and the floor was between 20-24 degrees F," says Smithson.

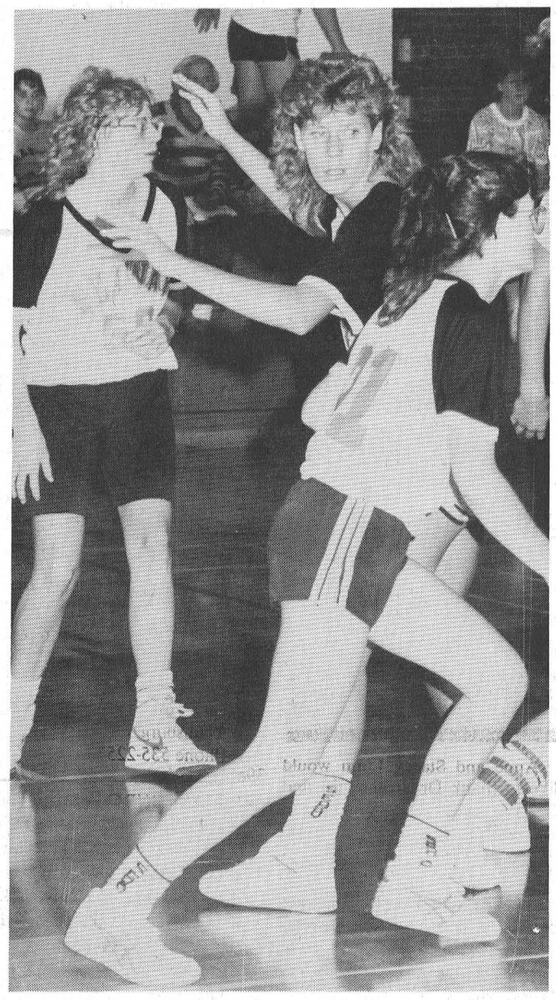
"The new plant has put us way ahead," he said. "If we were still with the old system it would be a good three weeks from the time we first turn on the plant until we would have ice."

Whitewash was applied to the ice Tuesday morning and flooding will continue throughout the week. Smithson says he hopes to have about three-quarters of an inch for the weekend.

As of Tuesday he said he had between a quarter and a half an inch.

Although the Zamboni has been in use the arena staff will continue to flood with large hoses as they put down the water much faster.

The arena opens to minor hockey Saturday and public skating Saturday night from 7-9 p.m. The regular Sunday schedule will be in force along with a junior B practice in the afternoon.



Up, Up and Away

The basketball season opened last Wednesday at Seaway District High School with both the senior and junior girls teams losing to Char-Lan. Above l-r, are seniors Lisa VanHoof, Kim Bucking and Stephanie Dodge in action and below, VanHoof outjumps an opponent.

Selects look good at provincial tournament

NIAGARA FALLS—The Nestle Selects posted a two win-one loss record but it wasn't quite enough at the Ontario Coors Slow Pitch Championship played here from September 16-18.

The Selects, who played their regular season in the Winchester Lob Ball League, competed in a 128 team division which was divided into 32 groups of four teams.

They qualified for the tournament by winning a Cornwall Tournament early this summer.

From each four-team group, one team advanced to play a single game elimination format tournament to determine the overall winner.

Selects second

The Selects finished second in their group behind Dunkfeld OT's from London who were undefeated in the three games.

Opening against the Holly Merchants from Barrie the Selects produced a 10-1 victory. Pat Imrie and Garry Beckstead had two runs each for the Selects while Bobby Jack Hart, Sean Boulerice, Bobby Deleavey, Steve Casselman, Shawn Beckstead and Mike Veltkamp all crossed home plate once.

Game two saw the Selects defeated by Dunkfeld, the eventual division winners 4-2.

Dunkfeld took a 1-0 lead in the third inning but the Selects evened it with a run from Greg Beckstead in the fourth.

The sixth inning saw Dunkfeld pull ahead by two and they added their final in the seventh. Greg Beckstead managed one more for the Selects in the seventh leaving the final score at 4-2 for Dunkfeld.

Selects put it together

In their final outing the Selects really put it together coming up for a 20-2 win over N & M Reds from Peterborough.

The Reds opened the scoring with 2 runs in the first but from then on the Selects took over. Leading 9-0 after the fourth, they added 11 runs in the fifth to end it.

Bobby Deleavey, Shawn Beckstead and Mike Veltkamp had three runs each for the Selects while Neil Beckstead, Greg Beckstead, Sean Boulerice and David Lapier added two each.

Jr. B. Lions set to roll

MORRISBURG — Junior B Lions coach, Kevin Casselman is pleased with how well this year's team is shaping up, as he heads into the final week of practice before the opening of the schedule on October 8th.

"We still have 19 players in camp and quite a few of them are signed," says Casselman. "Right now we are looking at carrying about 18 of the 21 we are allowed."

Casselman says he plans to go with three lines and seven defence for now.

The Lions strength is coming from the return of 13 veterans and the addition of some talented rookies, three of whom are still midget age.

Plenty of local talent

The third year coach is also happy that he has 13 Morrisburg and area players on the team and for the first time in many years, both goaltenders are Morrisburg products.

Joining veteran goaltender Andy Cummins is Kevin Eamon from Morrisburg who is still midget age.

"Kevin had a good game against Prescott Sunday and it looks as if he'll be staying with us," says Casselman.

Also looking good in Sunday's game were Greg Wells and Robbie Whitteker. Wells is still midget age and Whitteker played for the Winchester Hawks for a short time last year. Both are products of the Morrisburg minor system.

Addition of defence

The Lions have also come up with the services of defenceman Yvon Besner of Cornwall who was a draft pick of the Pembroke Lumber Kings this year.

"He played well Sunday with Shawn Lapier," says Casselman. "He shoots right and although not big he plays aggressively."

"We could tell as soon as he stepped on the ice two weeks ago that we had found ourselves a hockey player," says Casselman. "He moves the puck well and fits in nicely."

Also back with the team after a one year absence is Corey Warner, who was tied up with college commitments last season.

"Corey looked good Sunday and probably played himself on to the team," said Casselman.

The Lions open the 1988-89 season in Winchester October 8th and their home opener is Sunday, October 9th when they host the Char Lan Rebels at 2:30 p.m.

Win exhibition game

CORNWALL — The Morrisburg Junior B Lions got off to the kind of start they wanted here Sunday afternoon when they won their pre-season opener against the Prescott Falcons 10-1.

Leading 3-0 after the first period, goals were traded in the second, allowing the Lions to carry a 4-1 advantage into the final.

Third period action saw them really turn it on for another four tallies. With time still not up, the two teams continued into an extra stanza where the Lions added a couple more tallies for the 10-1 win.

Rookies Jason Smith and Robbie Whitteker, along with Johnny Morrow and Rod Lemieux counted two goals each while Andy Lee and Randy Mullin had singles.

Answering for the Falcons was Steve McCurdy.

Goaltending for the Lions was handled by Kevin Eamon and Andy Cummins while Dan Armstrong and Lance McIntosh saw action for the Falcons.

The Lions had 18 minor penalties and the Falcons were called for 12.

The Lions will play their next exhibition game in Winchester, this Friday night against the Hawks and will be on Morrisburg ice for a practice Sunday beginning at 2 p.m.

Off to Florida again

Devauls qualify in Air Canada

ST. LUC, QUEBEC — Morrisburg golfers, Fred and Jean Devaul have done it again and come November they'll be boarding an Air Canada plane enroute to Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

The Devauls tied with three other couples for ninth place in the 16th running of the Air Canada Mixed Two-Ball Competition at the Pine Grove Golf Club here Friday with a 100 gross for a74 net.

To break the tie, officials used each couple's back nine score less half their handicap. As a result the Devauls came in for ninth spot.

Each year the top 10 couples advance to the championship 36-hole round at Fort Lauderdale.

Weather was bad

It was a terrible day and as a result the scores were higher than usual," said Fred. "It was very windy and there was a steady rain until about 3 p.m."

The low net of the day was a 68, while two years ago, when the Devauls were last there, a 67won it.

"The course was lovely despite the weather, but we played poorly," he said. "But at St. Luc, ninth place is as good as first because everybody wins a trip."

The qualification marks the second time the Devauls will represent the Morrisburg Golf Club in Fort Lauderdale.

In 1986 they placed fourth at St. Luc with a 93 gross for a 69 to advance to Florida. They qualified on the Morrisburg course with an 87 gross for a 67.5 net.

At Fort Lauderdale they shot rounds of 111-94 for nets of 82 and 67 and a fifth place finish out of the 10 couples.

This year they opened in the tournament with an 85 gross in Morrisburg for a 60 net.

Also playing with the Devauls Friday were Bob and Gail MacDonald representing the Iroquois Golf Club. The MacDonald's 102 gross did not give them a low enough net to advance.

Fly out of Ottawa

The Devauls will fly out of Ottawa November 17th at 7:30 a.m. After landing in Fort Lauderdale around noon they'll have the rest of the day free.

They play golf at the Doral Country Club on the 18th and 19th and will have Sunday free before flying home Monday.

The winners in Florida receive a trophy and are exempt from having to qualify on their home course the next year.

The flight, hotel accommodations and a car are all provided by Air Canada.

"I was happy just to go to Florida last time," says Fred. "This time we are going to win."

Tee off to Florida

Fred and Jean Devaul, will once again be boarding a plane for Florida this fall thanks to their qualifying net score at the second stage of the Air Canada Mixed Two Ball Golf Competition played Friday.

Minor hockey starts Saturday

Coaches, referees getting in line

MORRISBURG — With minor hockey set to hit the ice this weekend, the association is still working on lining up coaches.

While most spots have been filled there are still a few positions open, but Billie Donaldson, president of the minor hockey association isn't expecting any problems.

"We have had several people offer to coach but they are waiting to see which team their child makes before committing themselves," she said.

Keith Robinson will be working with the Novice Reds this year and Rick Darling, who has been assistant coach for several years at various levels, is taking the Atom Bs.

Long-time coach, Danny Rice will handle one Atom C team and the other is still open.

Peter McCooeye is returning to the bench at the Peewee B level and Gerald Belanger, who comes from the Iroq-Card system, is taking over at the Bantam B age group.

Dennis Casselman is returning as midget A coach and Donnie Mabo is back to coach Charlie's Angels (girls team) after a couple of years absence.

At the peewee and bantam C levels, several individuals have expressed interest but it is here that they are waiting to see what teams their youngsters make.

So far no one has been lined up officially at the peanut and junior novice levels, although Jim Tuttle has offered to take one.

On the ice Saturday

All teams will be on the ice this Saturday and players will be notified by the coaches the times.

"This weekend is basically a skate and the start of tryouts for the teams," says Donaldson. "The B teams will probably be picked by the end of next week."

Referee situation is good

Donaldson also says the referee situation looks good but there has been some difficulty with level III referees who are needed to do midget games.

"A lot of our level III referees are also playing Junior B hockey and their schedule conflicts with our midget games on Sunday nights," she said. "But there are quite a few available so we should be able to get by."

"We had four, take a level III clinic in Ottawa recently and this helps," she said.

Getting their level IIIs were Mike Domanko, John Lortie, Greg Wells and Mike Barclay.

New owner preparing for first season at Big Tupper ski resort

TUPPER LAKE — Good news for skiers from this area who have been attracted to short lift lines and challenging runs at Big Tupper Ski area near Tupper Lake New York.

Roger Jakubowski, who purchased the ski facility from the Town of Altamont two years ago, announced last week that he has entered into an agreement for the sale of the facility to Patrick Cunningham, a well known ski shop and ski facility businessman from North Creek, New York.

Cunningham will assume operation of Big Tupper immediately and has already arranged to have crews at work this week getting the mountain ready for skiing which, depending on the weather, could be as early as the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday the last of November.

Cunningham is head of a 55-year-old family ski business that operates a chain of Cunningham Ski Barns throughout the Adirondacks, including Lake Placid, Whiteface Mountain, Gore and Big Tupper. The operation also includes cross country areas at Lake Placid and Saratoga.

As well as operating the Alpine facilities at Big Tupper, Cunningham plans to develop the present cross country trail system. He said there is great potential for cross country trails throughout the alpine system at Big Tupper.

In announcing the sale of Big Tupper last week Jakubowski said that Cunningham had been after him for a long time to sell the facility. "I think he wanted it when I was buying it," he stated.

Jakubowski called the sale the best thing for him at the present. He said Big Tupper could be very successful, but it needed the personal handling of the owner. "I couldn't be there as much as I wanted to be," he said.

Seaway Hi news

Hi fans! Back for another week of news from Seaway. First of all I'd like to mention someone's name, Jeff Ferguson. I have no idea why, but he wanted me to mention his name, so there it is!

Seaway's first pep rally went over well with lots of school spirit. Congrats to Tug and Lloyd for winning those exciting prizes at half-time, unfortunately both our basketball teams lost. Better luck next time girls.

The annual chocolate bar drive starts Wednesday and there are some exciting prizes this year so everyone sell lots and lots of almonds. I know I can't resist them.

Yearbooks are in! Much earlier than last year too. Congrats to Karen Magee, Debbie Smyth and Derek Potter for doing such a great job.

They will be on sale this week in the yearbook office.

There are some humerous photos, such as the typical Seaway student Allison S. and a moon from Bob 'Hercules' also deserves some credit for her wonderful artwork in the yearbook. Well that's it this week, see you next time.

Jump rope for heart, a skipping success

TORONTO — Jump Rope for Heart was a skipping success in 1987-88.

More than 200,000 students in 950 Ontario schools participated last year in this unique school fitness program offered by the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario.

These students — in schools from Big Trout Lake in Northern Ontario to a Canadian Forces base school in West Germany spent last year learning the importance of physical activity while also raising funds for the Heart Foundation.

Through two-hour jump event fund raisers, the students collected pledges and raised $2.58 million to help fund ongoing research and education programs into heart disease and stroke, Canada's No. 1 killer.

Here in S.D.&G. and Akwesasne 25 schools participated and raised more than $44,000. Students of all ages were jumping to improve their fitness levels, to learn more about their cardiovascular health, to raise funds and most of all to have fun while being involved in a very worthwhile program.

"We're really pleased with the growth of all facets of the program," said Barb Horsman, provincial volunteer chairman, of the Jump Rope for Heart program. "We believe with the kind of support educators are giving Jump Rope for Heart, we can promote the benefits of a healthy lifestyle to young people at such a crucial stage in their lives."

Approximately 40 per cent of the province's schools have taken part in Jump Rope for Heart since it was introduced in 1982 to 324 schools. In 1986-87, 713 schools participated in the program.

Schools registered in the program receive a complete package of physical and health education materials, as well as supplies to hold the fundraising jump event. Heart health resource material is geared to all grade levels and can be used to teach the benefit of regular exercise and the risk factors associated with cardiovascular disease.

Skipping ropes, posters and skipping suggestions are also provided to help students learn creative skipping techniques. The program is available in both English and French.

Jump Rope for Heart helps to fill the school's educational needs, develop healthy living skills in the child, and assist the Foundation in its fight against heart disease and stroke.

All schools in S.D.&G. very shortly will receive an invitation to participate in this year's program. The organizing committee, chaired by Mr. Mark Goldhamer, will be contacting each school and looks forward to working with both repeat schools and new recruits.

Upsets the name of the game, as top teams knocked off in flag football

MORRISBURG — Upsets were the name of the game in flag football league action here Sunday morning.

In game one the White Pepers put it together to defeat the second place Blue Fossils 26-12 and game two continued on the same track, when the last place Green Machine carved themselves a 41-7 victory over the first place Stingers.

The first half of the Fossils-Pepers game was fairly even but in the second the Pepers turned it on to take control and dominate play both offensively and defensively.

Harry Pepers, who along with brother Tommy quarterbacked the game, commented after the game that it was probably the team's best performance of the year.

Quarterbacking the losing effort was Phillip Dillabough in the first half and Tom Dawley finished it off.

Red Stingers fizzle

The Reds were unable to get anything going against the Greens, quarterbacked by Doug Wilson, John Vaughan and Kevin Keyes who showed signs of an up and coming QB.

The loss was handled by Steve Casselman and Kevin Adams.

This Sunday the Whites take on the Reds in game I and the Fossills will tackle the Green Machine.

Standings	W	L	T	Pts
Red Stingers	4	2	1	9

The roll call, which was answered by 10 members and two visitors, was to name a leader of another country.

Doris Erratt discussed the topic "Citizenship and Legislation" acting in behalf of Minnie Snider who was absent.

Guest speaker, Rev. Donald Smith spoke briefly on the Caregiver which assists those who have to give steady care to a person. The program recipients pay 30 per cent while the program takes care of the balance.

Matilda deliberates wording of referendum on municipal ballot

BRINSTON — After two council meetings in which a language referendum was discussed, Matilda Council has decided on the wording of the question to be placed on the municipal ballot, but it is still unclear what to do if there is no election.

If council places a question on the ballot, it will be worded as follows.

"Do you approve of the municipality of the Township of Matilda spending municipal funds to provide bilingual services?"

A concensus was reached last Thursday on the wording during a discussion following a delegation by National Association for English Rights (NAER) representatives Gerry Webb and Bob Howald, who urged council to allow the voters a chance to voice their opinions on the contentious issue.

Howald said that according to the task force report on municipal services in French, the provincial government could bring pressure to bear on municipalities to provide services.

He cited a number of municipalities that had passed a by-law to place a question on bilingualism on the ballot, with no kick-back.

"If not legal, they should come up with an argument why not?" said Howald referring to the legalistic debate over wording on the referendum.

Reeve Lorne Mellan explained that council has received a lot of literature from Alliance for the Preservation of English in Canada (APEC) and NAER, and favor a referendum but has been told they must have the proper wording so that the question is legal.

"We have no jurisdiction concerning a demand on implementation from the Ontario Government, unless it has a detrimental effect on the municipality," he added.

Township solicitor Mike McInnis explained that as a municipality, they were empowered only to do what the Municipal Act says.

A general question on bilingualism might not be legal: however, a question relating to to the cost of providing bilingual services is within the municipal jurisdiction.

Council has still not decided whether to hold an election on the question if there are no contestants for their positions and they are returned by acclamation.

McInnis warned that if such was the case, and a by-law had been passed to submit a question outside municipal jurisdiction, they could be challenged for spending tax money on an illegal question.

Tenders accepted

A tender of $5310.75 was accepted from sale bidder Frank Ault for the construction of the Jolotta Drain. Costs include excavation, rip rap, township culvert, private culvert, ditching and seeding, clearing, and restoration of fencing.

The total estimate was $9,285 including engineering costs, allowances and interest.

A contact has also been allowed Frank Ault, sale bidder on the Irena Drain for a total of $4,955.60. The estimate was $1,060.

St. Lawrence Parks fall closing times

MORRISBURG — Along with falling leaves, cooler temperatures another sure sign of changing seasons in the area is the St. Lawrence Parks Commission's announcement of closing date for its parks.

Although Adolphustown, Riverside, Woodlands and Mille Roches campsites are closed for the season, along with Raisin River and Lakeview Park, those who hate to see summer end can still enjoy an outing at Brown's Bay, Grenville, Cedar, McLarens, Woodlands, Farren's and Mille Roches picnic areas.

Charlottenburgh and Glengarry Park will also remain open until October 2.

For those persistent outdoor enthusiasts Ivy Lea and Morrison Nairne will remain open until October 11.

There's also good news for area golfers as the Upper Canada Golf Course will stay open until October 16.

The golf course as well as all the parks, Upper Canada Village and Old Fort Henry will re-open next spring on May 15.

Long term service awards

25th Anniversary

Eckel honours employees

MORRISBURG — The 25th anniversary of Eckel Industries celebrated last Wednesday at Paddy's Inn was marked by the presentation of awards to all employees.

The company manufactures noise control products, audiometric booths, and architectural panelling for sound control in auditoriums, gymnasiums, and swimming pools.

Owners of the company, Oliver (senior) and Alan Eckel gave awards to long-standing employees. Bookkeeper Valerie Thompson received a T.V. radio for 21 years of service and plant workers Ken Scott and Ted Jarvis, received engraved watches and plaques for 25 years.

For 16 years of service, Ken Mark was awarded a plaque and a T.V. radio.

Oliver Eckel recalled the plant's inception in Morrisburg. "We were looking for a location between Montreal and Toronto, and came across Morrisburg and Gordon Thom, reeve at the time, who put Morrisburg on the map."

Thom also helped Eckel Industries get started.

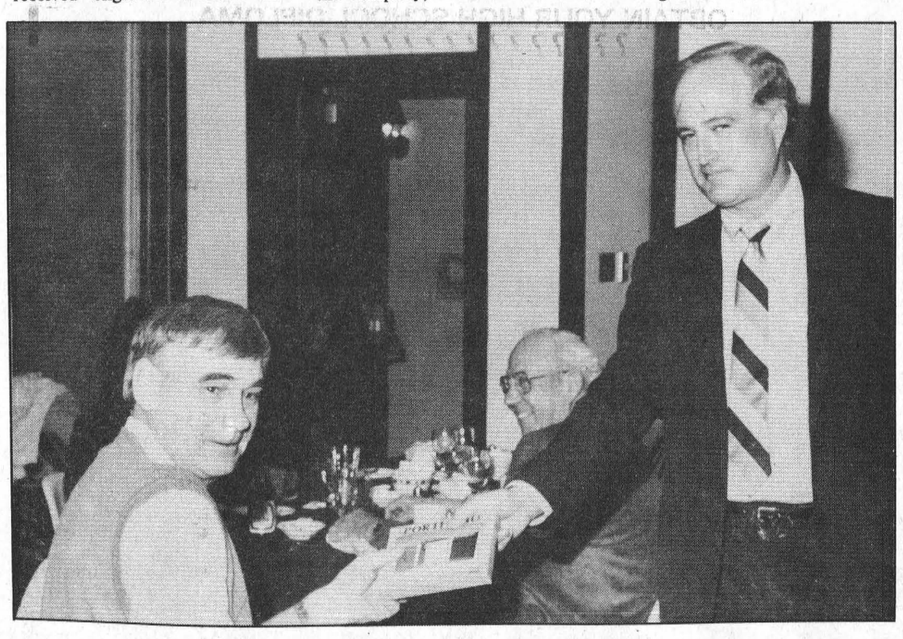
Oliver had a good association in Morrisburg, enjoying the continuity of employment here, unlike the plant at Cambridge with its union and accompanying problems.

Bill Mongor, past president of the company, described the early days of operation, when with the co-operation of Ontario Hydro and the village, land was bought and a building was designed similar to the Cambridge plant.

The loyalty of employees was appreciated while the company paid off its debts.

Alan Eckel, who has been president of operation since 1978, hired Blake Noon as general manager here about five years ago. Eckel anticipates an expansion within two to five years, if the economy doesn't take a downward turn.

Because of a large backlog and pressure on facilities, the Morrisburg branch would export audiometric booths for hearing testing to the States.



Court News

MORRISBURG — Richard Houwelling was given a $100 fine, six months probation, and ordered to make restitution for fraudulently obtaining lodging from Upper Canada Motel.

On October 15, a charge was laid against Houwelling, and later when he could not be found, a warrant for his arrest. The complainant had received a cheque for $77 from the accused for a week's lodging, but found out that the cheque was worthless.

The issuing bank, the Toronto Dominion of Prescott, told the investigating officer October 30 that there was no money in the account at the time the cheque was issued, which the accused also admitted.

In provincial court here yesterday, Houwelling pleaded guilty to the charge. He has a prior record of a similar offense and a minor property offense.

Waste study approves recycling

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staf

SPENCERVILLE—Many people would assume that waste management and recycling are compatible, but this was not readily apparent at a meeting of the steering committee of the Grenville-Dundas waste management last Thursday.

In fact, the committee made a special point to show they approve recycling in principle, by passing a resolution to this effect.

Moved by Prescott Mayor Sandra Lawn, the resolution states, "We approve in principle efforts of municipalities to reduce, recycle and reuse waste, and if possible the municipalities should keep the steering committee updated to their efforts."

The resolution was prompted by an inquiry from Iroquois resident, Claire Theijsmeijer, who wanted to know what support there would be for a regional recycling program in a smaller region (South Dundas). She questioned if it would be in accordance with the aims of the larger study, and if she could be involved in planning waste management, especially in a recycling program.

The recommended system of the Grenville-Dundas waste study is a wet and dry materials recovery program involving both industrial and residential separation of waste.

Organic waste would be separated and composted, and newspapers, glass, tins and plastic etc. would be recycled.

It is Theijsmeijer's opinion that with the co-operation of the Grenville-Dundas study, individual initiative recycling programs could be phased into the final system chosen.

In the long run, the municipalities, and not the steering committee, are to run the system.

Recycling in Ontario

In June, Theijsmeijer attended a meeting of municipal representatives, with an Ontario Multi-Material Recycling Incorporated representative to discuss the possibility of recycling in Dundas County.

Theijsmeijer, who is completing a Bachelor of Environmental Studies, conducted a mini-feasibility study for recycling in the county which estimated a savings to taxpayers of $59,000, yearly with 85 per cent of the county participating.

Letters were sent to the municipalities not represented at the meeting asking if they would be interested in participating in the costs of a feasibility proposal, but only two replied positively.

Theijsmeijer attributed reasons for the lack of interest to councils not wanting to fund another study, or a perceived conflift with the results of the Grenville-Dundas study.

"Some councils said I could do the proposal for free, and the recycing program for nothing," said Theijsmeijer, adding that it was indicative of attitudes to waste management in the area.

"And yet there is a concern in our area that a program could be started, and very few want a landfill site."

The village of Iroquois received a set-back this summer in starting a program when recycling operator Guy Leclair withdrew from a venture in Winchester for financial reasons.

Council had just received approval for a $1200 grant from Ontario Multi-Material Recycling Incorporated to help purchase blue boxes, but could not use the grant because the operator who was to run the program was gone.

Theijsmeijer explained that for a small village like Iroquois, it would be costly to hire or contract out.

Winchester returning to recycling

Meanwhile, Winchester is returnng to recycling.

"When the proposal fell through," said Reeve Larry Gray, "we were anxious to maintain the momentum we had gained in the recycling program, and a number of people approached me with a variety of programs."

The area to be included would take in Osgoode Township, Russell Township and the Village of Winchester.

"Costs would be kept minimal with a 20 mile disposal area, and a greater chance of promises being maintained," said Gray.

Program to start

Last week Osgoode council approved grant applications to the Ministry of the Environment (MOE) for start-up and operating costs. The program involves a weekly collection of paper, glass, cans and other recyclables with Osgoode paying $43,000 the first year, Russell $35,000 and Winchester with the lowest population $26,000.

Gray expects the program will get started early in the new year.

Half the funding would be provided by the MOE the first year, and 40 per cent the second year.

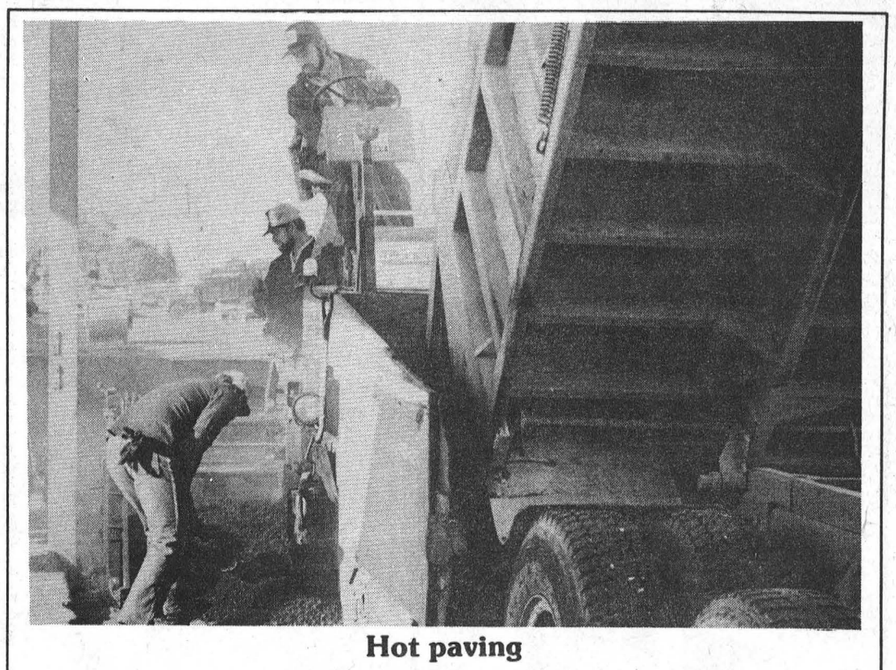
Chesterville deputy-reeve Bert Van Kessel said that if Theijsmeijer could come up with a five-year program with a market guarantee and money behind it, instead of a program that would fall apart in two to three months, all the municipalities would support it.

Van Kessel described Chesterville's bad luck with recycling. "We went through this twice. Last year, three quarters of a ton was picked up in the village, no more."

Theijsmeijer replied that although there are more markets now for recycling products, they are not more stable, and only a big corporation can offer guarantees.

According to Gordon Watts, Brockville City Engineer, recycling will begin in Brockville as soon as household bins and a truck arrive. Grants from MOE have been verbally approved for the truck, baler, processing centre, blue boxes and promotion costs.

By November, each single dwelling household may have its compartmentalized bin for the separation of newspapers, glass, cans and plastic (PET) bottles.



Hot paving

Morrisburg residents got a whiff of hot asphalt Monday as Dibblee Construction of Cornwall repaved the parking lot of the shopping plaza out to the catch basins. —C. Thompson photo

Correction

A typographical error in a story on the Fall Fair, September 21 edition, read as follows: "The oxen are the result of a cross between Durham and gradually giving way to new fangled labour-saving devices such as horses and machinery."

The corrected version reads, "The oxen are the result of a cross between Durham and Canadians neutered and trained to commands.

Oxen were still used in the 1860's although they were gradually giving way to new-fangled labour-saving devices such as horses and machinery."
