Women's Institute Oratorical Contest

MISS MARION HELMER, OF MAPLE RIDGE SCHOOL, AWARDED FIRST PRIZE

The third annual contest in public speaking for the girls and boys of the public schools of this district was held in the Town Hall last Friday night with a very appreciative audience present. This was sponsored by the Women's Institute, whose president, Mrs. J. Singleton, together with the Public School Inspector, Mr. W. J. Stewart, planned the programme and made all necessary arrangements. Those taking part in the contest were trained by their teachers, who deserve special mention because of the way in which the six contestants who this year were all girls, acquitted themselves Mr. W. J. Stewart made a most capable chairman. In his brief opening remarks he congratulated the W. I. for the opportunities offered the boys and girls in these contests.

The Maple Leaf, was sung by all, with Mrs. Harvey Nesbitt at the piano. Two pleasing duets by Misses Shirley Nesbitt and Edra Boyd were sung at intervals between the speeches. The contestants and their subjects were:

Mildred Porteous, Ormond, "Why I intend to stay on the Farm."

Annie Durant, Summers, "What I like about Thanksgiving."

Maxine Bell, Mulloys, "A good Book I have read."

Marion Helmer, Maple Ridge, "My ambition for a life career."

Lillian Bruce, Winchester, "My Castles in Spain."

The Judges were: Mrs. J. W. Ault, Rev. G. O. Davies and Rev. J. McKay. The decision was brought in by Rev. Mr. Davies who gave some constructive criticism and congratulated the contestants for the high standing each one attained, saying it was difficult to decide just what ones should be given the highest honors. However, Marion Helmer was given first place, Mildred Porteous, second, and Annie Durant, third. Prizes of pens and pencils were given these three from the Women's Institute, these being presented by Mrs. Earle. Each contestant also received a book from the W. I., presented by Mrs. Kinkaid. Jean Grey, from the Boyne school, who had her speech prepared, was unable to be present because of illness, hence received a book.

Mrs. J. E. Singleton, the president of the W. I., spoke a few words of congratulation to the successful contestants, expressing her appreciation to those who had helped to make this work a success and her pleasure at participating in this event. She announced that the same evening similar contests were being held by the Iroquois and Matilda Institutes and that on Friday, Nov. 2nd at 8 p.m. in the Brinston Hall, the winners in each of these contests, would compete for the County prize. God Save the King was sung in closing.

ABLE TO RETURN HOME

Mrs. F. A. Coons, who underwent a serious operation in the Ottawa Civic Hospital recently, was sufficiently recovered to be able to return to her home last evening. Her numerous friends will be delighted to learn that Mrs. Coons is now making excellent progress towards a complete recovery.

WINCHESTER FRIENDS HONOR NORMAN STANLEY

Prior to leaving Winchester for Ottawa where he will become a member of the staff in one of the main branches of the Royal Bank in that city, Norman Stanley, local accountant, was honored by his many friends here on Friday evening last. Taken by surprise, he was waited upon by a delegation of young men, who presented him with a purse of money, accompanied by an address which was read by Charles Cross. The presentation was made by Gordon Johnston, of the Bank of Nova Scotia staff. Mr. Stanley replied, thanking his friends for their exhibition of good fellowship on the eve of his departure. Mr. Stanley has been a member of the Royal Bank staff here for the past five years, and during that time had taken a very active interest in the young people's clubs in this community.

Reeve Ross Refuses To Sign By-Law

Local Council Meets Twice Inside of Week. Date of Election Changed. Introduction of Fire Dept. By-Law Causes Heated Discussion.

JOHN FADER APPOINTED FIRE CHIEF

(By Staff Reporter)

The only rift in the quietness and serenity of municipal affairs occurred at the meeting of the Municipal Council on Friday night last when Reeve J. H. Ross expressed his disapproval of a by-low introduced by Councillors Besssin for the reorganization of the local Fire Company. When the Underwriters' Inspectors were here last week to test out our fire fighting appliances, it was found that the new pump, installed just recently, failed to work. The pump had been thoroughly tested shortly before and was found to work in a most satisfactory manner, but when they tried to start it at the test, it was found that because of heat contraction and expansion, one part would not work. This was remedied at Melvins' and the engine started and worked most satisfactorily, and as the Fire Inspector expressed it, it was fortunate the defect was discovered when it was.

Introduces By-Law

At a meeting of the Council held shortly afterwards, a by-law was introduced by Mr. Bessin to have the fire company re-organized, and without a word of explanation to Mr. Keyes, who had been acting Captain of the Fire Company for years, and who was responsible for its organization, the by-law proposed to appoint John Fader in his place, and to pay him $100 per year to look after the fire equipment, with Mr. Clarence Deeks his lieutenant, and naming the old fire company as assistants. To the introduction of this by-law, Reeve Ross took strong objection, claiming that it was treating Mr. Keyes, who had not only organized the fire company, but had given his services free for a number of years, in a most discourteous manner, as he had not been asked to attend the meeting of Council, nor had he been consulted as to the re-organization. Reeve Ross also reminded the Council that there was an agreement with the Melvin's Garage to look after the fire engine, and they would collect their $100 as usual, and he thought it would be wiser, and to the best interests of all if the matter was left over for the Council of 1935 to deal with.

Mr. Bessin and Mr. Suffel stated that they had asked Mr. Keyes on several occasions of late to test out the fire engine, and he had neglected to do so, and their letter, as published in the Press last week, intimates the same.

Reeve Ross then asked that the matter be left over for a few days and a special meeting would be held to deal with the by-law, and also with the proposed by-law to change the date of holding the municipal election from December to January. This was agreed to, and the special meeting was held last night. After a few matters pertaining to the collection of taxes were discussed, Reeve Ross stated that so far as he was concerned he could not approve of nor sanction the proposed by-law to change the local Fire Company, at practically the last meeting of the year. He explained that during his six years as Reeve the utmost harmony and good feeling had existed between himself and the councillors, and he would be very sorry at this date to have anything occur that would look like disagreement or a split in the Council. He, however, wished to state most positively that he not only disagreed with the proposed by-law, but also with the way it was being forced through at practically the last business meeting of the council. He would not sign, as Reeve, such a by-law.

Election Date Changed

Reeve Ross then asked that the by-law to change the date for holding the municipal election be introduced and given its several readings. This was done, after which Mr. Ross asked to be excused and left the Council room.

The by-law calls for nominations on the last Monday in December and the election on the first Monday in January. Oscar Wallace and E. M. Shaver were appointed returning officers, and Ralph Dukelow and Lockie Goodfellow, poll clerks.

Councillor Suffel Presides

Following Mr. Ross' retirement, Councillor A. G. Suffel presided during the balance of the meeting. The by-law regarding the fire department was brought up for discussion and was finally passed. It was decided to send a letter of appreciation to Chief T. O. Keyes, and also notify him of the changes made in the personnel of the department. A letter is also to be sent to the Melvin Co., notifying them of the changes and asking them for their co-operation for the balance of the year.

The new by-law, which becomes effective at once, calls for the appointment of Lieut. John Fader as Fire Chief. He will act as a central authority and it will be his duty to look after the fire engines, and train and instruct his brigade, who is composed of Lieuts. Clarence Deeks and Harry Flora; Firemen Harold Keyes, Dick Lennox, Walter Barkley, Jack Latimer, J. E. Elnaugh, Gerald Helmer and Gordon Elliott.

The street committe was authorized to make certain repairs to Main Street east, as well as to several manholes throughout the village, after which Council adjourned until the next regular meeting.

Will Not Be A Canditate In 1935

Reeve J. H. Ross announced at the special meeting of the municipal council last evening that he would not be a candidate for the reeveship in 1935. Mr. Ross has been reeve of this municipality for six continuous years, the longest term of any reeve since the village was incorporated. He has received an acclamation every year, and during his term of office many municipal improvements have been made, and, at the same time, owing to final payment of certain debenture debts, the tax rate has been lowered from 52 to 44 mills.

Firemen Appointed Were Not Consulted

Since the report of the special meeting of the local council, held last evening, has been put into type, the Press learns that the newly-appointed fire company, with the exception of the Captain, were not consulted, not even asked to act, before they were appointed. Mr. C. Deeks, 1st Lieutenant, told the Press to-day that he would not have anything to do with the new company, and he had not been asked or consulted as to its organization. Mr. H. Flora, 2nd Lieutenant, had not been consulted. It is doubtful if any other of those appointed had been consulted by Councillors Bessin and Suffel. As was pointed out last evening by Reeve Ross, the by-law was ill-advised and should not have been introduced before all those mentioned in it had been asked if they would act. As matters stand now, we have a fire chief, but have to depend on chance to get the fire engine out. Sometimes it pays to make haste slowly.

SUFFERS PAINFUL INJURIES

Mr. Rowat Elliott received painful injuries on Monday last while endeavouring to hitch a spirited colt at the local fairgrounds. Approaching the animal in a box stall, Mr. Elliott went about his his work in the usual manner. Suddenly the colt sprang into a corner of the stall and kicked with both feet striking him on the chest.

He was able to summon aid and upon reaching his home it was found that the blow had fractured one rib and caused severe bruises from which Mr. Elliott is now making satisfactory recovery at his home.

Misfortunes always come in pairs, it seems, for at the same time George Elliott, a stellar member of the High School football squad, is also confined to his home with a severely wrenched knee suffered in the game against Morrisburg C. I. on Saturday last.

WILL PLAY MORRISBURG

The local High School football team will play Morrisburg Collegiate team on Saturday next in the deciding game of the Dundas County League. Winchester has won three games without a defeat so far this season and hopes run high that they will be able to pull the deciding game out of the fire. The game will be played on the Morrisburg gridiron.

A most interesting address will be delivered on Monday evening, Nov. 5th, in the Orange Hall, Winchester Springs, by Rev. V. A. Rahard, of Montreal. Rev. Mr. Rahard is a former Roman Catholic priest and is well-known as a speaker. All are cordially invited to attend. Several prominent Orangemen will also address the gathering.

POPULAR WINCHESTER LADY MARRIES

As will be seen by reference to wedding announcement in this issue, Miss Helen, daughter of Mr B. F. Smith, and the late Mrs. B. F. Smith, was married quietly in Toronto last week. Thus Winchester loses one of its most popular and accomplished young ladies, and her acknowledged talents will be greatly missed in musical circles in this section. A graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, Miss Smith was an accomplished pianist and singer, and for the past several years the most efficient and popular choir leader and organist of the Winchester United Church. Owing to the recent death of her mother, the marriage was a quiet one, but Miss Smith, before leaving for Toronto, was the guest of several showers, and the recipient of many very beautiful gifts from her Winchester friends. Her husband, Dr. Glascott, is also a Winchester boy, and the newly married couple will have the heartiest and best good wishes of their very numerous friends for a happy and prosperous future.

RAMBLING 'ROUND NEW YORK with HUGH KENNY

Hard-riding cowboys and cool weather are almost synonymous in New York each year when Madison Square Garden sounds to the dull thud of hoofs on the imported dirt thrown on the floor that supports a succession of sports, political meetings, the circus, radio shows and what-nots each year. The Rodeo is held every year, with many representatives of states of the southwest—both animals and men—roping and busting.

A new survey shows that since 1920 the Negro population of Harlem has shifted and spread surprisingly. There are many colored people now living between 122nd and 135th streets and Riverside Drive on the West to Amsterdam Avenue on the East. They are migrating to better homes. From 83,000 in 1920, Harlem's Negro population has increased to 204,000 in 1934.

APPOINTMENT MADE

Liquor Commissioner Odette announced last week the appointment to the Liquor Control Board of Arnold Neilson, of Cornwall, former Liberal member in the House of Commons. Mr. Smith is a son of Hon. Justice Robert Smith, formerly of the Supreme Court of Canada.

A HOME MADE CLOTHES-HORSE

Get an old umbrella, strip off the cover, and enamel it white. Hang the handle on a hook in the ceiling. This makes a capital drier and airer, for it wil hold a large quantity of collars, handkerhiefs, and other small things on the various wires and points. It takes up no room, being out of the way, and can be of course closed when not in use.

TOLD BY THE RING

There is an amusing old theory that a ring worn on the first, or index, finger was a sign that the wearer was willing to marry, but not "bespoken;" when the engagement took place, a ring was worn on the second finger. On the third finger, of course, it said that the wearer was married; while those independent people who desired to publish to the world that they were neither desirous of, nor interested in, marriage, put a ring on the little finger. But apart from engagement and wedding rings, to which the third finger of the left hand is now dedicated, most people put rings on any finger they fancy.—Answers Magazine.

COOKING DEMONSTRATED AT HALLVILLE SCHOOL

On Friday evening last the domestic science class of North Mountain, which has been organized under the supervision of Miss Marjorie Young, domestic science teacher of North Mountain consolidated school, had the privilege of having with them as their guest speaker and demonstrator, Miss McCready, who is the head of the visitor housekeepers for the Ontario Red Cross and is also president of the Ontario Dietician Association.

The class was held in the domestic science kitchen of the school and was attended by over sixty women of Hallville and the surrounding community.

Mrs. W. L. Brown, of Hallville, introduced the speaker and explained Miss McCready's presence at the meeting, and assured Miss McCready of their appreciation for her sparing a few hours of her much occupied time to assist at their course. Miss McCready stressed on the importance of proper balanced meals and demonstrated the method of preparing them from the cheaper food material, showing the different proportions of vitamines, etc. She also explained the most economic ways to buy raw food materials. She showed that balanced meals could be prepared even where the greatest disadvantages in houshold equipments existed and explained the value of milk for both adults and children, insisting that at least from one pint to one quart should be used by each person.

At the close of the cooking lesson all were privileged with tasting the good things that were cooked. Miss McCready was assisted in her cooking by Miss Marjorie Young and Miss Freda Beggs. At the close of the meeting Miss Margaret Christie moved a vote of thanks and appreciation to Miss McCready.

LANGUAGES OF THE WORLD

Whitaker's almanac estimates that among European languages, English is the mother tongue of the largest number, 180,000,000; Russian second with 140,000,000; then German, 80,000,000; French, 70,000,000; Spanish and Italian, each 50,000,000; Portuguese, 25,000,000. On Monday evening Carleton Lodge I.O.O.F., under the direction of John Nixon, Noble Grand, and H. Harrison, Chaplain, conducted a service at the house.

Besides his widow, formerly Annie MacKillop, of Berwick, Ont., the chief mourners were his five daughters, Mrs. Karl Manners, Mrs. Irene Perkins, the Misses Lulah, Betty and Georgina; two sons, John Stirling and D. Stuart Hutt, all living at home; two sisters, Mrs. M. T. Hobart, of Ottawa; and Mrs. W. S. Ault, of Detroit; and one half-brother, Lindsay Hutt, of Finch. Two brothers, A. D. Hutt, of Verwood, Sask., and E. L. Hutt of Opportunity, Wash., were unable to attend the funeral. A grandson, Donald Perkins, also survives.

TYPEWRITER HISTORY

The first typewriter was introduced into England by Sir Alfred Yarrow, the famous ship builder. He bought the first dozen that came to this country from America 64 years ago. No one in his firm could use them, so he had to advertise for a typist. But as no one in England knew what a typist was, he had to advertise for a "A short hand writer who can play the piano." Eventually he found a young man who quickly mastered the new instrument that is nowadays as commonplace an object as a fountain pen.—London Mail.

THE UNITED CHURCH

The pastor's message on Sunday morning from II Tim. 2.3 was one of encouragement. He said that this letter of Paul's was written from a prison cell where martyrdom awaited him because of the faith that was in him. Facing hardships courageously as Paul did makes a big contribution to life. He counselled Timothy to face them squarely as a good soldier of Jesus Christ, and to learn precious lessons, assuming a positive attitude towards them, and going out to reclaim for God the people around him. The challenge to the congregation was to go forth to battle mightily for the cause of Jesus Christ. The male quartette sang, "We are Travelling Home to God," and Geo. Crawley sang: "Oh may my walk be close with God."

The Baptist congregation held their evening Anniversary Service in this church. Rev. J. McKay extended a cordial welcome to them and to their special preacher for the occasion—Rev. W. Watters of McPhail Baptist Church, Ottawa, who expressed appreciation of this welcome, and commented on the fine spirit of unity prevailing among the churches here. The subject on which he spoke was: "What Christ means to me," and he expressed very strongly and clearly that Christ is a Saviour from sin; a Friend who brought into his life joy, love, serenity and power; and a Master, a Leader, a Guide and an Authority Supreme who challenged him to give his life in service for Him. His challenge was "Give yourself to Him."

A special anthem with solo parts by Mrs. Harold Lannin and Mr. J. D. Stewart was sung with good effect. The male quartette repeated a favorite number: "I want my life to tell for Jesus." Mrs. J. J. McKendry sang very impressively: "Nothing between my soul and my Saviour." These selections fitted in very appropriately with the earnest message of Mr. Watters.

Miss Alice Singleton presided at the organ throughout the day very capably, winning commendation for the special efforts put forth to furnish good music for this occasion.

Next Sunday morning the W. M. S. will hold their Autumn Thank-offering with the Presbyterial President, Mrs. A. B. Allison, of Morewood, for speaker.

A women's choir will lead the singing and give special numbers.

HOW TO DRIVE SO AS TO ARRIVE

Ab. Jenkins, the man who holds more American Automobile Association records for distance, speed and endurance driving than any other driver—and has never had an accident—gives six practical suggestions for safe driving in the current Rotarian Magazine. They are:

1. Keep both hands on the wheel. The only two people I know who are competent to drive one-handed are Eddie Rickenbacker and Ralph de Palma—and both of them use two hands.

2. Keep the best tires on the front wheels. The front-wheel blow-out is by far the more dangerous. When blow-outs do happen, danger can be averted by clinging stoutly to the steering wheel.

3. Always test your brakes. During the first hundred yards of driving, I always test my brakes by pushing down the pedal. The brakes may have frozen, they may be greasy or need adjustment.

4. Be extremely careful at twilight. You have three times the accident hazard at twilight that you have at 8 a. m. Defective visibility is, of course, the reason. Remember, too, that night-time crashes have a 42 per cent. higher fatality than daylight accidents.

5. Don't use brakes in a skid.

To come out of a skid throw out clutch and manoeuvre the steering-wheel so that the front wheels are in alignment with the rear ones. In other words, go in the skid. Braking is ineffectual. You main concern is to equalize traction on all four wheels, which you do by throwing out your clutch; your next move is to get all your wheels in line. As soon as you feel the skid weakening, let in the clutch, "gun" the motor, and resume forward progress.

6. Study the road.

Always reduce speed when passing from one type of road to another. Your right wheel should be approximately one and one-half feet from the outer edge of the highway. Running off the road is common. Thirty-one per cent. of accidents are due to speeding, while 34 per cent. are caused by cars going off the road.

THE "BLACK WIDOW"

Just a spider—this black widow. If you have a book on insectology get it down and look up the authorities in regard to this bad creature, said to inhabit the rural districts of our land. I have never heard of a black widow spider in a city. Your encyclopedia may enlighten you. . . .

In my neighboring large city, a young wife lies in a hospital, suffering from an alleged "black widow" bite, which she acquired when going about her duties on a Kansas farm. Her life is said to be hanging by a thread from the spider's bite. There is fever of terrible severity—and delirium. The bite was on her cheek. She has had many blood-transfusions, in attempts to dilute the venom.

This strange variety of spider is described as being of rather large size—bigger than ordinary spiders, one-half inch long, with a body crossed by bars of black and red. More curious, it is alleged that the female in mating-season, attacks and devours her "husband," and by this unholy feast, fertilizes her eggs, and so, brings her orphan offspring into existence. What a world within itself, this American insect life!

I cannot tell you much in regard to bites by this villainous insect. I never saw one and hope I never may. But, if you live next to nature, in God's realm, do not expose your tender skin to venomous spiders' haunts.

Were I, or any of mine to be bitten by any spider, I'd scarify the wound as quickly as possible—and swab the site of wound with the strongest solution of ammonia I could get hold of. Ammonia has the power of dissolving most poisons from insect stings. I could very easily be mistaken in a "black widow" bite, never having encountered one. You be careful.

LET SOMETHING GOOD BE SAID

When over the fair name of friend or foe
The shadow of disgrace shall fall; instead
Of words of blame, of proof thus and so,
Let something good be said.

Forget not that no fellow-being yet
May fall so low but love may lift his head;
Even the cheek of shame with tears is wet
If something good be said.

No generous heart may vainly turn aside
In ways of sympathy; no soul so dead
But may awaken strong and glorified
If something good be said.

And so I charge thee by the thorny crown
And by the cross on which the Saviour bled,
And by your own soul's hope of fair renown,
Let something good be said.

MAKE ME BIG

"Lord, make me big today," is the prayer of one of the largest women's clubs in New York. What a splendid desire it voices—the desire to be big in purpose, big in unselfishness, big in forgiveness of slights and insults, real or fancied; big in our ambition and in our desire for real progress, and best of all big in that charity which thinketh no evil.

The purveyor of gossip, the relator of the blackening, harmful story and sarcastic remark, shows a littleness of mind and a narrowness of experience that cast a far darker shadow on the helpess subject. And littleness is not a little sin; it is a big one. The backbiter is classified with in the Bible with the murderer.

Do you always try to keep on a high rung of the conversation ladder? On the lowest rung in the conversation who cherish ideals and have right principles are usually the best conversationalists. Have you not noticed the different feeling with which you come away from a talk from such people from that you have when you have been taking part in a conversation devoted to small personalities, small happenings, small gossip? Let us make our conversation big, too—.The Homemaker.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we never made an unkind remark about anyone? Much of our conversation about people is so unnecessary. We draw conclusions about things that are really none of our business.

I heard a woman say not long ago—"Do you know I resolve some morning that I will not make an unkind remark about anyone on that day and perhaps I go until 2 o'clock in the afternoon and then before I realize it out slips some little criticism, so unnecessary.

After all is said, there is nothing so interesting as human nature and sometimes the biggest gossips have the kindest hearts. I suppose we are greatly influenced by our childhood environment in that respect. It would be an excellent rule to never say anything about any person unless it was kind and good, but the frailty of human nature, we are not made that way.

TAKE TIME FOR THOUGHT

1. Is there anyone whom I dislike?
2. Is there anyone whom I distrust?
3. Is there anyone whom I disown?
4. Is there anyone whom I disregard?
5. Is there anyone whom I discuss?
6. If so, what am I going to do about it?
7. Do I feel any sense of irritation, jealous pride, or desire for place?
8. Do I choose my companions by Guidance or affinity?
9. Where in my life am I negative or on the defensive?
10. Is God pleased with my thought life.
11. How close do I play to sin?
12. What do I do with my failures?
13. What do I do with my mistakes?
14. Am I using my name, my talents, my position as God wants me to?
15. Would my message and presentation have won myself, and is it winning my family?
16. Is there anything I hide or defend?
17. Is there anyone I would rather not meet?
18. Do I need to be on a deeper sharing basis with anyone?
19. How much place does fear and apprehension hold in my life?
20. What sort of happenings arouse conflict in me and why?
21. How much guided control have I over my tongue.
22. Do I really make all my decisions under Guidance?
23. What things in me make the Holy Spirit unwilling to use me?

ABOUT OLD AGE PENSIONS

Drastic reorganization of the administration of the Old-Age Pensions Act in Ontario—changes which, according to their sponsor, Hon. David Croll, minister of welfare, "will unquestionably be in the interests of efficiency and fair treatment of applicants and pensioners, and will permit of savings of at least $30,000 a year to the province, and from $70,000 to $80,000 a year to the municipalities—were announced recently from Queen's Park.

"I sought some method for the better handling of the administration of these pensions," said Mr. Croll, "and finally decided that applications and reviews might better be handled by county judges and magistrates who are immune from local influence and political pressure and who are best qualified to pass upon the genuiness of applicants."

Mr. Croll's entire plan of reorganization, which has the endorsation of the federal authorities, and will be effective from Jan. 1, 1935, includes these points:

Inspection System Out

"1. The provincial inspection system is to be done away with, with the exception of perhaps three inspectors, for special investigations and for the northern part of the province. This will eliminate the salaries and expenses of eight inspectors, saving 25,000 per annum, and it will permit a reduction in internal staff saving at least $5,000 a year more.

"2. Three types of municipality will be recognized—cities of over 70,000 population (Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and London); counties, cities under 70,000 and separated towns, and provisional judicial districts.

"3. In the four large cities there will be a local board of five members appointed by the municipal council. The present form of administration will be continued except that when the application form has been completed by the official designated by the local board, the applicant shall appear before a judge or magistrate and attest to its truth. If a judge or magistrate is not available a justice of the peace or the secretary of the local board may take the statutory declaration.

"4. In all counties and separated towns and cities under 70,000 population, the local boards will be abolished. In the counties the township clerks only are to complete applications. In villages, towns and cities the municipal clerk will do this. No fees are to be payable by pensioners. When the application is completed the applicant will appear before a judge or magistrate. If the applicant is infirm the hearing may be held in his or her home.

"5. On receipt of the completed application, the Old-Age Pension Commission at Queen's Park will decide the amount of pension payable and inform the municipal clerk at once. Twenty days will be allowed for the municipality to appeal against the award. Appeals by applicants can be made direct to the commission.

6. In the provincial judicial, district the provincial investigator for the district will complete applications and take statutory declarations."

HOLD FAST

A young lady related at Cliff College gathering a good story which evoked loud approval. She told of an unemployed man whose wife purchased for him a pair of old trousers for half-a-crown. The garment had seen better days, and had only one button left. This solitary button, however, proved worth a great deal. On it were inscribed the words, "Hold Fast." The man had been almost giving up his faith in religion, but on seeing those words on the button he took heart and "held fast." Now he carries the button in his pocket, and if he is tempted to doubt he takes a look at the button—and "holds fast."

MAPLE PRODUCTS INCREASE

Canada's maple sugar and syrup industry is forging ahead once more with an increase of $987,309 being estimated for the 1934 production as compared with that of 1933. An increase of 580,185 gallons of maple syrup and an increase in value of $909,171 is estimated for the 1934 output as against the 1933 production, the figures being 1,842,500 gallons valued at $2,468,800 for 1934 as compared with 1,262,315 gallons valued at $1,559,-628 in 1933. With regard to maple sugar, the estimated production is 4,954,000 pounds valued at $577,850 for 1934, as compared with 5,785,130 pounds valued at $499,713 in 1933. In 1933 the average price per pound of maple sugar was 9 cents against 12 cents in 1934. The combined value of the industry is thus $3,046,650 and compared with $2,059,341 in 1933 shows an increase of $987,309 or 47.9 per cent. The values for the 1934 crop are preliminary and subject to revision as the full production has not yet been sold.

FOWL SUPPERS AND CHURCH GIVING

(Canadian Statesman)

This the open season for fowl suppers and folks from town and country travel miles to enjoy them and partake of their goodness. And as long as these functions are held the editor will likely patronize them, but there's another side to this question. Did you ever stop to think of the cost and work to provide these bountiful repasts? Recently we were interested in an article written by a man on this subject to the Women's Page of the Toronto Globe, which reads:

"I see that some one is again raising the question of church suppers. If folks would give the value, in money, of the stuff they contribute to such suppers, the church would certainly be far ahead, financially. Last year it took nine of our ducks to get us to the church supper, and my wife worked her head off about two days before, as she had a table. We took two ducks, dressed and roated; a bowl of gravy, a quart of cream, a quart of pickles and a cake. We paid, my wife and I, thirty-five cents each for admission, and twenty-five cents each for our two girls. The ducks were worth thirty-five cents on the hoof—if ducks have hoofs—so you can figure out how many ducks it took, and we couldn't raise ducks at thirty-five cents each. A chicken of about six pounds would cost seventy-five cents to raise, and my wife says it would serve about six, according to what they eat at church suppers. You know, at such functions, the majority don't want to be chewing at necks and bones, or eating gizzards. A five-pound duck costs about fifty cents to raise, and a goose $1.25. It costs me about $14. to raise a 200-pound pig, and to-day the pigs are worth about $16 alive. Taking everything into consideration, it would cost about thirty cents each to put on a fowl supper. Then there is the work—and oh, boy, what a work! The ladies are planning for about two months before, working for several days before and a couple of days after. I am an elder in the church but never was in favor of raising money that way. I think the church to-day is organized and ladies'-aided to death. If we would give as the Lord prospers us, we would have money for everything."

Another writer in similar vein expresses himself thusly:

"Everyone enjoys the church supper but the tired housewife, who is busily preparing a few days ahead, and is almost exhausted for about a week afterwards. A lady at our church used to say: "Well, I suppose each one will bring enough to serve twenty people." It raised my hair the first time I heard her, but I became accustomed to it. I used to take three pies, pickles, cake, cookies or tarts, salad, a pint of cream, a fowl of some kind, two jelly powders made into one jelly, one pound of butter, and bread, one year four loaves. One great drawbacks at these affairs is that after the supper is over some people fill their baskets and take home more than they brought. When the artists are paid for there is very little left. Some weary women had to go next day and clean up. I'm through! Never again! I will give God straight money, and not have a big guzzle over it. I feel that the method is wrong."

PROPHESY OPEN WINTER FOR PARTS OF ONTARIO

Indications that there will be an open winter in many sections of Ontario is foretold by Chief Sam Snake, of the Ojibway Indians, and Tribal Prophet Dave Simcoe, according to an advice received from the Rama reservation by H. C. Bourier, General Passenger Agent of the Canadian National Railways, at Toronto. Both the Chief and the Prophet, the latter claiming to have correctly prognosticated weather conditions for 20 years without error, base their calculations up on the light fur of the beaver, the lean condition of animals in general, the belatedness of the muskrat in building houses, and the fact that the squirrel is not stocking his usual quantity of nuts. Then wild fruits and nuts are scarce and the silk of the corn is unusually thin. Lastly, there is a scarcity of water in the lakes and rivers which indicates plenty of rainfall up until January. Just one more indication is wanting to confirm the fact of a mild winter. That is whether the geese fly high. If they do so, then all signs are complete; but the geese do not fly for another fortnight.

I'M in the habit of buying a car "on time", like most other people. I'm buying a Chevrolet—and saving money! Here is why:

Comparing cash prices, I found that you can buy a Chevrolet Standard Series Six for less than any other car in Canada. And that the Master Series Chevrolet, with all its extra features, costs no more than the others in its class.

Naturally, low cash prices mean that the cost of buying on monthly payments is going to be low, too. So I investigated the GMAC plan, on which Chevrolet cars are sold.

I found that GMAC is General Motors' own time payment plan. The manufacturers of Chevrolet stand squarely behind every time-payment sale.

I found that the GMAC financing rates have been recently reduced—making it cheaper than ever to buy on this plan.

I found that every Chevrolet sold under the GMAC plan is fully protected by insurance—Fire, Theft, Accidental Physical Damage and $50 Deductible Collision Insurance.

And I found that one of the biggest reasons why the GMAC plan costs less and gives more is because more people buy on this plan than on any other.

I'm buying a Chevrolet on the GMAC plan, because I've found that there's a lot of difference in time payments—and that you save when you get the facts.

STEVENS' RESIGNATION

In bringing about the resignation of Hon. H. H. Stevens as Minister of Trade and Commerce and as chairman of the Price Spread parliamentary committee, it is felt in wide circles, that the Bennett Government has committed a tactical blunder from which it will not soon recover. In fact it will not be surprising if the circumstance leads to a political shake-up such as Canada has never before witnessed.

Since the inauguration of the price spreads committee, to investigate and explore the realms of "big business," the general public has intensely watched the developments. Startling evidence has been brought to light concerning the unethical practices employed by many concerns in doing business. Yet Mr. Stevens continued fearlessly in his efforts to expose these unfair and unjust methods. In this respect he and his colleagues have had the wholehearted and enthusiastic support of the Canadian people. It was pointed out by Mr. Stevens that executives of many large concerns were drawing tremendous salaries and huge profits while their employees were being paid starvation wages; that St. James' Street moguls were to blame in a large measure for grave economic and social wrongs; and that such practices must be stopped before Canada could right herself economically and socially.

Mr. Stevens may have failed to observe parliamentary procedure in his methods as chairman of the committee, but the citizens of Canada were in approval of his actions and encouraged to know that here, at least, was a man who was "brave enough to be honest, and honest enough to be brave."

In reply to Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett's letter concerning his resignation, Mr. Stevens points out that one member of the Cabinet was constantly saying: "What can you do about it anyway," Therein lies the problem which faces the citizens of Canada to-day.

Royal Commissions may be appointed and perform the duties required of them, but if definite action is not taken, based upon their findings, then such Commissions are a mere waste of the public money. The Stevens committee was making satisfactory progress and the people of Canada had high hopes that much benefit would result. Such, however, does not appear to be the case, for with the resignation of Mr. Stevens, in whom the rank and file of the Conservative party and the people generally had the utmost confidence, public confidence has received a rude jolt.

Only one way to restore that feeling of confidence remains, and that is for the Government to instruct Hon. W. W. Kennedy to carry on the work as chairman of the price spreads committee in as straightforward and fearless a manner as his predecessor. In this respect it will be well for Hon. R. B. Bennett and his Government to remember that the electors are the judges, and that the citizens will decide whether the investigation into business methods indulged in by many large concerns, has suffered from the change in the personnel of the committee.

In the ultimate, everything depends upon the action taken by the proper authorities and only time will tell the extent to which the resignation of Mr. H. H. Stevens will harm the present administration.

REEVE OF WINCHESTER AND WINCHESTER PRESS VINDICATED

When, at the January, 1933, session of the Counties' Council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, a vote of censure was passed on the Reeve of Winchester and the Winchester Press because of an editorial published in the Press the previous November, in which the usefulness of the Counties' Council was called into question, and the proceedings of that body during its October session was criticized, and it was charged that there had been much time wasted in useless discussion, little did they think that at the October session of 1934, not only was the same charge made of "wasting time," but one of the principal objectors to the said editorial, Mr. W. H. Casselman, Reeve of Chesterville, made the following statement:

> "Three days of the week has already elapsed and little business has been transacted, and I feel that important matters should not be left until the dying hours, and then hurried through in a last minute rush."

Subsequent events proved that the above statement was not only timely, but too true, and a session that should not have lasted three days, was prolonged until Saturday night (six days) and at the closing hours, by the casting vote of the Warden, the United Counties decided to add 80 miles to our Counties' Road System, and thus to our Counties Debenture debt, although there is at present a certain counties' debenture yet unsold.

The Press simply refers to this matter because it but confirms what we saw and expressed two years ago. There is some satisfaction in knowing that our attitude at that time was the correct one. At no time has the Winchester Press in any way reflected on the good intentions of those who attend Counties Council, but as we have frequently pointed out, that not only is time wasted at the several sittings, but the requests, memorials, petitions, or whatever you like to call them, sent to the Provincial Authorities by that body are now, and have been for many years, simply acknowledged and there the matter ended.

It is now proposed that in future such petitions or memorials be presented to the Provincial Authorities in person, and a select committee for that purpose (all expenses paid by the Counties Council) shall proceed to Toronto and do their little act, with the hope that something more satisfactory than a mere acknowledgement will result.

Nevertheless, the attitude of the United Counties in this particular case is the correct one. Outside the county road building and maintaining, and looking after the counties' buildings, the Counties Council have been stripped of all their original rights and privileges. The question is one that will no doubt receive much serious consideration in the near future.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Conservative party in the Province of Ontario is in eclipse just now and will remain that way until a young Moses appears to lead it. And there should be several young, aspiring and quite capable men in this province who should be given the opportunity to build up the party again. For it needs building up. The recent election just about wiped it out completely. Here is the chance of a lifetime for some young man of the back concessions to mount the ladder to fame and fortune. A country leader is required. In fact it is doubtful if any other should receive the nod of the convention when that convention is held.—Trenton Courier.

Remembrance Day falling this year on Sunday (November 11) will be celebrated on that day so far as the Department of Secretary of State is concerned. In the case of statutory holidays falling on Sunday the provision is made that the following Monday will be observed for business purposes. Remembrance Day does not fall into that category. Celebration of the armistice ending the Great War is the feature of Remembrance Day, and the incidence of its falling on Sunday does not detract but rather adds, in the opinion of State Department officials, to the fitness of the day for such observance. Any departure from the provisions in order to provide a business holiday on the following Monday will be a matter for local ruling.

Without its newspaper the small town would be like a school without a teacher or a church without a pastor. In the aggregate, the country newspaper determines the outcome of more elections, exerts a greater influence for constructive community progress, is read longer by more members of the family and constitutes, with its millions of circulation and quadrupled millions of readers, a better advertising medium than any other group of newspapers or periodical publications.—Prof. John H. Casey, University of Oklahoma.

A municipal election approaching, no interest except street talk being taken. Unless the unexpected happens, there will be the usual dozen or score at the town hall on the day of the nominations, one will nominate the other, and the other will return the compliment. There will be sufficient number nominated, but three or four will fail to qualify.

That's what has happened, what bids fair to happen again. How is it to be avoided? Just how can we create enough interest so that the ratepayers will think it wise to select a council who can carry on during 1935?—Pembroke Standard-Observer.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of the Press—

Dear Sir:

As a man who believes that Canada has a great future in store for her, and as a man who believes that that future is dependent on the character of her citizens, and as a man who believes that that character is reflected in the men who teach the nation not only in the religious world but also in the political realm, may I be permitted to raise my voice and give vent to a suggestion that perhaps may commend itself to your reason, who find themselves wondering why there is so much waste of good honest ability and effort running to seed in the political arena.

I am one who believes that the present condition of affairs, politically speaking, calls for what is commonly known as a coalition government, i.e. a government in which is represented the best minds and intellect of all parties that at present form our Legislature. There are many men who are sick and weary of the eternal small dishonesties and little underhand meanness of our political devotees. To many people "politics" is just a game and they play it on the principle of all's fair in love and war and to the victor belongs the spoils. There are others to whom honesty in the realm of politics like honesty in business is their just consideration.

A temptation to dishonesty and jealousy is a real one to politicians and there are many who fall by the wayside.

In a coalition government the small men will not be able to last any length of time, and a tendency toward petty dishonesty is not usually a characteristic of big men. And possibly we may, as a result, have a few real statesmen instead of just mere politicians. I have voted for a party but I am equally ready to vote for a coalition government believing that the times are such that they call for it.

As an argument in favour of a coalition government may I cite the examples of Great Britain, Australia, S. Africa and New Zealand all of which have that form of government. Furthermore, at the annual luncheon of the National Labour Committee, held in London, England, on October 29, the heads of the Conservative, Liberal and Labour components of Britain's National Government gave expression to their devotion to the cause of collaboration in government in no undecided tones. Prime Minister Ramsay McDonald, Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon marshalled their arguments for the maintenance of a continued ministry under three main heads as follows:

(1) That the present Government had achieved economic equilibrium.

(2) That democracy must be protected against the dangers presented by a return to party politics.

(3) That the present international situation was fraught with difficulties.

Premier McDonald further said: "The country cannot return to party politics. When we are settled, well then, all right."

Baldwin said: "I tremble to think what, in the face of the situation in Europe, would be the effect of a weak government in this country. So far as this country is concerned, and in our relations with the world, the greatest guarantee of peace and social and democratic stability is continuance of a broad based government."

The two outstanding events within the last six months which at least call for a consideration of the possibility of a coalition government are the Ontario General Election and the resignation of H. H. Stevens from the Bennett Cabinet.

LATE ROBERT D. REVELER

On the evening of October 10th, 1934, there passed away an aged and much respected resident of Cannamore in the person of Robert D. Reveler, who had spent his entire life in that vicinity. Robert was born March 12th, 1849, the son of Hudson Reveler and his wife, Eliza McWatters. In 1872 he was married to Dorothy Loughridge, who predeceased him in 1923.

Those left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father are, two daughters, Eliza, who so lovingly cared for him in his declining years, and Mrs. Walter Stewart, of Morewood; one son, Hudson, on the home place; two brothers, George, of Winchester, and Wesley, of Cannamore; also a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

The funeral was held from his home to the Morewood United Church of which he was a faithful member. His pastor, Rev. G .H. Smith, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. A. Nimmo, of the Presbyterian Church. The service at the grave was conducted by the Orange Lodge of which the deceased was a member.

OPEN DEER SEASON

Order-in-Council was passed by the Ontario Government last Thursday creating an open season for deer in Carleton County from Nov. 5th to 20th inclusive. There are many other counties in Central and Northern Ontario where this is the open season also, but the United Counties are not included.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO ADD 80 MILES TO ROADS SYSTEM

Despite determined opposition of all urban and several rural representatives, the council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties voted yesterday to add approximately 80 miles to the counties road system, bringing the total to more than 410 miles. The present system includes 198 miles of paved highway and 132 miles of gravel road. The vote on the measure resulted in a deadlock at 16-16 with Warden John D. McDonald of Lancaster township casting the deciding ballot in favour.

One of the most important features of the six-day autumn session of council was the adoption yesterday of the report of the resolutions and memorial committee, providing that a delegation be sent to Toronto to personally present to Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn memorials on the following matters.

Refinancing Asked

Council urges amendment of present legislation to permit municipalities to call in debentures issued at high rates of interest and to issue new debentures at an interest rate more in keeping with the present interest value of money. It was pointed out that debenture indebtedness comprises a major tax burden in most municipalities of the province and refinancing is necessary.

Pointing out that the counties' share for the maintenance of indigent patients in hospitals has mounted from $3,000 in 1927 to an estimated peak of $61,000 for 1934, council will memorialize the legislature to reduce the per diem rate.

Council will ask for revision of the present system of taxation. It was felt that the present system, based on taxation of land and buildings alone, places the burden on those least able to pay, and that it would be more equitable if a tax were imposed on the huge sums on deposit in savings banks.

Franchise Revision

Need for revision of the Municipal Franchise Act will be urged upon the government, Reeve W. H. Casselman of Chesterville, informed council ,as an example, that a $600 property in his municipality gives six persons the right ot vote in municipal elections. The property is jointly owned by four persons, living outside the municipality. It is tenanted by two persons, who have been on relief for some months past.

Council will ask for the restoration to county councils of many powers stripped from them by the government in recent years. It was felt that county councils, considered to be the most democratic form of Government in Canada, could be much more useful if their lost authority were restored.

Memorials will also stress the desirability of legislation to prevent fixed exemptions granted by local municipalities applying to the county levy and the desirability for legislature to extend the time in which debts may be outlawed.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL BEATS MORRISBURG

Morrisburg Collegiate football team was defeated 8-2 by the local High school squad here on Saturday afternoon in the first game of the Dundas County finals. The visitors started off strong in the first period and collected two points when McIntosh made good on kicks.

The local team was faced with stiff opposition and were badly outplayed until near the end of the second period when they settled down and succeeded in tying the score when Boyd and Weir each scored a point by kicking to the dead line.

Long Run by Boyd

In the third period Boyd made one of the most sensational plays of the game. He came in possession of the ball at the 40 yard mark, streaked down the right touch line, avoiding five Morrisburg tacklers, and gave his team five points when he made a touchdown. In converting the play, he collected another point on a neat placement kick. From this stage of the game until the end, Morrisburg pushed the play, but were unable to elude the local tacklers, although they had the advantage in weight.

The last game of the series will be played in Morrisburg next Saturday afternoon. To date Winchester has not lost a game, but judging from their recent encounter with Morrsiburg, they may have to extend themselves to the limit to protect their record, and capture the league title.

The line-ups:

Morrisburg—Flying wing, A. Colligan; halves, Schell, Robinson and McIntyre; quarter, Jenkinson; snap, Lane; insides, Weegar and L. Colligan; outsides, Eamon and McIntosh; middles, Salmon and Fetterly; subs., Whittaker, Casselman and Tuttle. Team manager, Mack Ault.

Winchester—Flying wing, Elliott; halves, L. Dixon, Boyd and W. Summers; quarter, Weir; snap, Coons; insides, G. Holmes and Quart; middles, Ball and D. Dixon; outsides, Rowat and Wilson; subs. Dawley, Stewart, Ault, Cass, Peterson, and E. Holmes. Team manager, Bill Servage.

Referee, E. J. Spinks, Winchester; umpire, C. C. Powers, Morrisburg; head linesman, Gordon McDonald, Ormond.

LATE NEWS TAKEN FROM THE MORRISBURGH COURIER OF OCTOBER 17th, 1873.

On Friday, October 17th, 1873, the Morrisburgh Courier published an interesting edition for its readers. The perspective is somewhat changed, however, when one looks back at it from the year 1934, but the interest still remains.

We notice on the front page a list of the prize winners at the Matilda Agricultural Fair. Under the class—Ladies' Work, we find that Margaret Wylie was the only woman to win a prize and she merely ran second to John W. Cooper in Crochet work. Alex Gallaher was also a prominent winner when he grabbed off first money for embroidery.

Finch township at that time was apparently considered to be the weak sister from an agricultural point of view, for in describing the South Finch Fair, the writer states that "this show gives the lie to the oft repeated assertion that the inhabitants of Finch are behind the age as agriculturalists.

At that time Winchester had no post-office and the mail was conveyed by stage coach from Morrisburgh daily (except Sunday) to Winchester Springs, Chesterville, Dunbar and West Winchester, according to the advertisement on Page 1. Quite a change from to-day with our local office and rural mail routes radiating from it in all directions. Envelopes were in circulation at that time bearing the following notice to post-masters:

"You'll safely this transmit, we hope,
It's from no minister and for no Pope."

Apparently a preacher's mail was considered dangerous material to handle at that time.

A tip for our correspondents on the art of writing up a burglary is contained in the article submitted by "Aliquis" and dated Aultsville, Oct. 15th, 1873. It is as follows:

Surprise Party

"Aultville was favored on the evening of the 14th inst., by the visit of a distinguished gentleman. I haven't time to give you particulars more than to say that on that evening, or rather towards morning, Dr. Markell's house was entered, and a considerable amount of valuables carried away. The Dr. thinks his visitor might have left his card, and an apology for calling at such unfashionable hours. True, Doctors must make up their minds to be on hand in season and out of season. I don't think, however, that man wanted medicine; if he did, I'm sure the Dr. would not have left him to search the house for it as he did. No doubt that gentleman reads the Courier, (every gentleman does) I just want to say to him to-day, (for I am in a hurry) that he had better be contented with this little catch. Mrs. Markell saw him well and can identify him. We'll leave an open window and perhaps a door for him, but if he or any of his tribe ever show their face in Aultsville again, I pity them. If our village is small, we have just the hands to handle such character."

Advertisements of the classified nature play a big part in the edition, while the inside pages are a solid mass of reading matter. Editing a newspaper 61 years ago was a difficult task, and while news was scarce, we take off our hats to the late editor of the Morrisburgh Courier in 1873. He got out a good paper.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

On Thursday last, County Constable Herbert Helmer was notified by Mr. Walter Wicks, a resident of Winchester township, that a Chevrolet coupe, bearing a Quebec license, had been parked for some time in the swamp north of the village, and that the actions of the driver had aroused his suspicions that all was not well.

Constable Helmer proceeded to the place and after examining the car, set himself to wait for its supposed owner. When darkness came, Mr. Helmer notified Provincial Constable Frank Rose, of Morrisburg, and ordered the car removed to a local garage where its contents were examined. A shot gun, shells, a single-action pistol, clothing, a hunting bag and other articles were discovered.

Meanwhile the Quebec authorities were notified and upon investigation it was learned that the car was the property of Mr. Harold Marleau of Bouchette, Que., and had been stolen the previous evening. Mr .Marleau, accompanied by High Constable Ricard of Hull, came to Winchester and reclaimed his property on Saturday. No trace of the culprit has as yet been discovered.

PALE, PEPLESS GIRL BECAME PRETTY —AND WASN'T SHE PLEASED!

It all happened in 30 days! In November the girl was pale, run-down and lacked vitality. Weight subnormal; only 91½ lbs. Her blood, when tested, was found to be low in red corpuscles and lower still in haemoglobin, the red substance in the red corpuscles. She was given a 30-day treatment. And what a happy change took place!

She gained nine pounds and her complexion glowed with rosy health. Her face rounded out and she became positively pretty. The treatment—as shown by a second blood test—had greatly increased the red corpuscles and haemoglobin in her blood, consequently she felt and looked radiantly well. The preparation that worked these wonders was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

This famous old remedy restores health in a most constructive way. We know that the blood carries nourishment and vitality to every part of the body. But unless the blood has a sufficient number of red corpuscles and red colouring substance called haemoglobin, it cannot carry on its vital work. It is here that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills produce constructive benefits. This remedy increases, in most cases, both the red corpuscles and the haemoglobin. Blood tests prove it!

Good looks and good health are too precious to neglect or experiment with. If your feelings and your mirror tell you that you are under-weight, nervous, sallow, easily tired out—take this tested remedy, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for 30 days, as the girl mentioned above did. Then check up on beauty and health you have gained. Full size box is priced 50c.

FOR HE WAS SCOTCH AND SO WAS SHE

(Jean Blewett)

They were a couple well content
With what they earned and what they spent.
Cared not a whit for style's decree—
For he was Scotch and so was she.

And oh, they loved to talk of Burns,
Dear, blithesome, tender Bobby Burns!
They never wearied of his song,
He never sang a note too strong,
One little fault could neither see—
For he was Scotch and so was she.

They loved to read of men who stood
And gave for country life and blood,
Who held their faith so grand a thing
They scorned to yield it to a king.
Ah, proud of such they well might be—
For he was Scotch and so was she.

From neighbors' broils, they kept away;
No liking for such things had they,
And oh, each had a canny mind,
And could be deaf, and dumb, and blind.
With words or pence was neither free—
For he was Scotch and so was she.

I would not have you think this pair
Went on in weather always fair,
For well you know in married life,
Will come, sometimes, the jar and strife;
They couldn't always just agree—
For he was Scotch and so was she.

But near of heart they ever kept,
Until at close of life they slept;
Just this to say when all was past
They loved each other to the last.
They're loving yet, in Heaven, maybe—
For he was Scotch and so was she.

I KNOW SOMETHING GOOD ABOUT YOU

Wouldn't this old world be better
If the folks we meet would say,
I know something good about you,
And then treat us just that way?

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy,
If each handclasp warm and true,
Carried with it this assurance,
I know something good about you?

Wouldn't things here be more pleasant?
If the good that's in us all,
Were the only thing about us,
That folks bothered to recall?

Wouldn't life be lots more happy,
If we'd praise the good we see,
For there's such a lot of goodness
In the worst of you and me.

Wouldn't it be nice to practice
This fine way of thinking, too,
You know something good about me,
I know something good about you.

THE THINGS I MEANT TO DO

(By Vida V. Young)

I meant to make a friendly call,
And let our neighbours know
We welcomed them into our town,
And kindly interest show.
I meant to do it right away,
But put it off somehow,
Till months had quickly passed away
The house is empty now.

I had a friend, a dear, dear friend,
So many miles away;
I used the little gifts she sent,
And loved her more each day.
I meant to write and tell her so—
Just put it off you know,
And that is why this quiet eve
My heart is aching so.

Your friend still lives? Then send that friend
A loving word to-day;
Perchance 'twill bring a soul fresh hope,
Dark clouds may drive away.
'Twill take a little time, 'tis true,
But other work can wait,
For sad the heart whose tender words
Are penned, alas! too late.

I meant to see a dear young girl
Whose friends were far away,
And warn her that the path she took
Would lead her feet astray.
The task was hard, and loath was I
Such warning to begin,
And now the one I meant to win
Has reached the depths of sin.

SERMONS WE SEE

I'd rather see a sermon than hear one any day,
I'd rather one would walk with me than merely tell the way;
The eye is a better listener and more willing than the ear,
Fine counsel is confusing but examples always clear.
The best of all the preachers are the men who live their creed,
For to see good put in actions is what everybody needs;
I can soon learn how to do it if you let me see it done,
I can see your hand in action but your tongue too fast may run.
The lectures you deliver may be very wise and true
But I'd rather get my lessons by observing what you do.
For I may misunderstand you and the high advice you give,
But there's no misunderstanding how you act and live.
When I see a deed of kindness I am eager to be kind.
When some weaker brother stumbles and a strong man stays behind.
Just to see if he can help him, then the wish grows strong in me.
To be as kind and thoughful as I know that friend to be.
And all travellers can tell us that the best of guides today
Are not the ones that tell us but the ones that show the way.

I hate to be a grumbler,
I always long for peace,
But the wheel which does the squeaking,

BACK HOME

Our kitchen back home was the friendliest place,
That ever a body could find!
Why, even the stove had a smile on its face,
And even the kettle looked kind.
The cookie-jar stood in the handiest nook,
The floor was scrubbed white. I declare,
No kitchen had ever so friendly a look,
But—that was when Mother was there.

Our doorway back home wore a vine on its head!
And, oh, how those roses did bloom!
They nodded a welcome to stranger, and said,
"Come in, folks! There's plenty of room!"
The pathway was worn by our rollicking feet;
The door had a beckoning air;
No house was so friendly, no roses so sweet—
But—that was when Mother was there.

Back home. Was there ever so friendly a place
As that one? It held us all fast,
Bound close by the love in one welcoming face—
A love that belongs to the past.
The past? No, the present! That welcoming door
Stands open—and comforting care
Awaits us from one who has journeyed before,
To make it a Home for us—there!

The habit of cheerfulness and of meeting all emergencies with a quiet courage is indicative of an orderly mind and a seasoned character. Another valuable habit to form is to cultivate the habit of not letting other people know your troubles. Keep them to yourself. Others have all they can attend to as a rule!

THE BOOK

. . . . . the first line of which reads, "The Holy Bible," and which contains Four Great Treasures . . . . . .

by BRUCE FAIRFAX BARTON

PAUL SCORES FUNDAMENTALISTS

NOW Paul had great respect for the Mosaic law, and he did not object to the fundamentalists provided they kept on their own side. But to have them invading a field which he had developed and to start a divisive doctrine there, looking not forward but back, was too much for his hot temper and strong conviction. At once he called for his trusty pen and after the formal greeting he plunged straight into his message:

Bruce Barton

I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another Gospel:

Which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ.

But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed. . . .

For do I now persuade men, or God? or do I seek to please men? for if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ.

But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man.

He goes on to remind them of his history—how he was the chief persecutor of the church, but, being converted, received his message not from the group in Jerusalem but from God direct, in his hours of quiet retreat in Arabia. He went to Jerusalem, he says, and met with James, "the Lord's brother," and he and Peter agreed concerning the right of Gentiles to be received into communion without being compelled to comply with the Mosaic law, and he won his fight. When later, at Antioch, Peter backslid into the old hard-shell theology, Paul had refuted him openly.

But when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed.

By subsequent battles and by many persecutions, of which he bore the scars, he had won the right of his churches to freedom. Were they now proposing to abandon this great freedom because some strict constructionists from Judea came among them, stirring up trouble?

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage. . . .

For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. . . .

If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, enjoying one another. . . .

Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.

For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.

And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

ONTARIO DOCTOR TELLS SOMETHING OF CONDITIONS IN EUROPE

Dr. Geo. Wilson, in a letter to his aunt who resides near Perth, Ont., and given to the Perth Expositor for publication, tells of his trip through Russia and other European countries, and some of the opinions he expresses in this unprejudiced and no doubt candid expression, are somewhat revealing.

Dr. Wilson is Professor of History in Dalhousie University, Halifax, and has the degree of M. A. and Ph. D., and is one of the many bright young men of Perth district who has won distinction in his chosen profession.

The party are spending three months on their tour, and are visiting many of the European countries, meeting men there and going fully into condtions as they find them and paying careful attention to the many forms of government and how they are functioning. His experience while in Russia was not unpleasant, and he saw much that revealed to him that "Soviet" Russia was not all as bad as it is sometimes painted. His accounts and opinions after his visit to Austria are enlightening. He writes:

"We have been moving in high society, however,. Yesterday forenoon we met Dollfuss' successor, Dr. Schuschnigg. I have seen few men who made a better impression than the new chancellor. He made us a little speech and then went back to his work of trying to govern this country. He is 37, his hair turning grey, wears glasses and looks like a scholar and a gentleman.

"The more I see of Europe the more desperate seems the situation. Nobody can be certain but there might be a war an any time. Hard times, discontent, fear, hate are on every side. I doubt if there is a more stable government than that of Russia or one that wants peace more. Hitler however is a most dangerous character. Hitler can talk and can kill people, but he cannot give work or build up trade. Germany is faced with economic collapse.

"Austria is just a cat's paw. Hungary is desperately dissatisfied. Jugo-Slavia is ready to fight Italy if she interferes in Austria. I might go on and on. It is not just countries that are prepared to fight with one another, there are classes in the countries which are ready to fight one another too."

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS—By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Julius Caesar, who ruled Rome in the first century before Christ, was never its emperor. He was dictator and his word was virtually law, but he never was emperor in name or in fact. The Roman Empire was not established until 17 years after Julius Caesar was assassinated by a conspiracy of senators.

His fame was so great that years after his death the name Caesar became a title denoting royalty, and later Roman emperors incorporated the word Caesar into their own title to mean ruler. The title persisted in use, though slightly altered, for rulers up to the closing days of the World War—for the titles "Czar" in Russia, and "Kaisar" in Germany were derived from the name Julius Caesar. Under him the Roman government remained a republic in theory, but after he won popular support with his military victories he was an easy victor in a civil war against Pompey and the Senate. Caesar was immediately made dictator for a year, consul for five years, and a tribune for life. Subsequent victories brought him higher honors, and extended his dictatorship to 10 years.

Histories report that he was offered a crown and that he declined it. Antony's famous funeral oration in Shakespeare has it that he was offered the crown three times.

STRAW FOR WINTER FEED

While straw is not generally considered as a nutritious feed for livestock, yet in times of fodder scarcity it is very valuable. Horses and dry cows may be wintered entirely on straw, if supplemented by one-half to three-quarters of a pound of linseed oil meal a day, or other similar protein feed. A ration of half straw and half legume hay will carry such stock through the winter in excellent condition. Little straw should be used for bedding this year when it is needed for feed. Good oat straw contains a considerable amount of total nutrients, though practically no protein. This is why straw alone makes a poor showing as an exclusive feed for live stock, but when supplemented with a little high protein feed, its carbohydrate content can be utilized to excellent advantage. When feeding straw, always provide plenty of mineral matter in addition. Give cattle, horses and sheep free access to to a mixture of 28 pounds of bone meal, 50 pounds of finely ground limestone, 20 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of iron oxide, one-half ounce of copper sulphate and one ounce of potassium iodide.

RICHEST FARM MANURE

Poultry manure is undoubtedly the richest produced on the farm. Poultry manure ,however, ferments very quickly, losing, if left exposed, a large proportion of its nitrogen as ammonia. This fact emphasizes the desirability of systematically and frequently cleaning off the boards beneath the roosts, a plan that also conduces to the general good health and thrift of the fowl. In summer the manure, previously mixed with loam to destroy stickiness and facilitate distribution, may be applied directly to the land worked with the surface soil—its best preservative. In winter, (and at other seasons when the manure cannot be used directly) it should be mixed with a fair proportion of loam, dried peat muck sawdust, together with a little land plaster or superphosphate to fix the nitrogen. It should then be packed tightly in boxes or barrells and stored protected from rain until required in the spring. Lime and wood ashes would not be used for this purpose as they set free nitrogen. Poultry manure being essentially nitrogenous is particularly valuable for garden and leafy crops generally, and the majority of poultry keepers will no doubt do well to reserve it for this use. However, if the amount available permits, it can be profitably employed for the cereals, grasses, roots and corn.

FOR SPORTSMEN

Honourable Thomas G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior, reports that this year there has been more than usual interest in Canada's hunting attractions, indicating that the charm of our autumn season and the benefit and enjoyment to be derived from a hunting trip in the Dominion are becoming more widely known. In order to meet the growing number of requests for information on this subject a publication bearing the title, "Canada's Game Fields," was issued by the Department of the Interior some time ago but so great has been the demand for this new booklet that the original edition was soon exhausted and a reprint was found necessary and has been published recently. This publication which is distributed by the National Parks Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, draws attention to the Dominion's unrivalled opportunities for game hunting. In Canada, as in other countries, the advance of settlement has had its exect on wild life, but through sane conservation methods the Dominion ranks to-day as a leading big game country of the world.

RAISE FUNDS TO AID FRIEND

Milltown, Wisconsin, citizens have subscribed a fund for the purpose of sending one of their townspeople, Andy Jepson, to Williamsburg to receive treatment from Dr. M. W. Locke. After reading the recent article by Rex Beach on the "Pain Killer," the citizens of Milltown believed Jepson's case could be cured at Williamsburg.

4-H CLUB NEWS

GIRL LEADS SIX CLUBS

A girl who leads six clubs at one time and does a fine job of it is Cora Mae Briggs, 18-year-old 4-H girl, near Seward, Neb. Her clubs have 68 girls enrolled, and their interest in their projects is unusually high.

The girl's success is attributed to her own splendid experience and record in 4-H work covering seven years, and to a knack for organizing the programs of her groups. Miss Briggs says it is not nearly as hard to lead six clubs as it seems. On the other hand, her superiors tell us that she has actually spent 50 or more hours a month in looking after her groups, and has supplied her own auto and its upkeep. Her happiness, she says, is derived from feeling that she is repaying her community for the advantages it has afforded her.

"It is not easy to hold the interest of girls in 4-H club work unless you make it interesting," says Miss Briggs. "And it detracts none the less from the value of the work to make it so. In the first place in each club we lay out a definite program such as the members wants. It aims to satisfy as fully as it can the educational and social needs of the group.

"If a group prefers cooking and gardening or poultry to clothing we agree on such subjects. Nearly any normal girl is willing to put forth an effort to improve some talent, so it is possible to enlist the proper interest to make a club a success. Sooner or later a girl who has become proficient in cooking will want to dress herself a little better, and thus an interest is created in all projects which give a girl the broad training she should have."

One way of keeping interest high in clubs is to go after rewards and recognitions in an organized way. Miss Briggs is always looking for chances of this kind. To win a prize or place always is an incentive to a member to do better.

THE IMPORTANCE OF MILK

Children's meals should be built around milk for it is a food which makes valuable contribution to the normal growth and health of their rapidly growing bodies Milk not only supplies proteins of highest quality for muscle building, fat and sugar for heat and energy, vitamines for protection, but is the most abundant source of calcium and one of the best sources fo phosphorus,, the two minerals which form the foundation of the bones and teeth. It is, therefore, of paramount importance that every child should have sufficient milk to insure the development of a firm set of teeth and of a well constructed body framework.

Eminent authorities are agreed that a child requires about a quart of milk each day. This amount may be easily provided by serving milk as a beverage and by using it freely in making cream soups, milk puddings and other nourishing dishes. Children should be taught to drink milk slowly and to take it at the end of the meal, as they may neglect to chew their food thoroughly if they drink milk along with it.

The majority of children like to drink milk, but occasionally there is a child who is not fond of milk, in which case the mother is confronted with a real problem. Patiently and tactfully she must create a 'milk appetite' in the child, by preparing it in appealing ways. Good results have been obtained, particularly with younger children, by using simple methods such as these: allow them to drink the milk through a straw; change the appearance and flavor of the milk by adding a small amount of chocolate, caramel or maple syrup, fruit juices or honey; tell them interesting stories which incidentally bring out the value of milk; allow them to serve themselves—a child likes to be independent and enjoys using his own pitcher and pouring the milk into his glass; paste a colored picture on the bottom of the glass—the child is attracted by colour and will drink the milk in order to see the picture which should be changed frequently; children are hero worshippers—tell them about the athletes and other well-known people who drink milk in order to grow strong.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

Christian Growth
Lesson for November 4th.
Luke 2: 42-52.
Golden Text: 2nd Peter 3:18.

The appealing story of the boy Jesus in the temple, asking and answering questions, and astounding his elders by his wisdom, reminds us of the teaching task of the Christian Church. Every parish should provide abundant opportunity for the presentation and discussion of vital issues involved in the Christian vocation.

Rev. Chas. E. Dunn

Protestantism is woefully weak in its exercise of the teaching function. The successful propaganda of the Roman Church puts it to shame. A Protestant can attend his meeting-house for years, and never find out what Protestantism really is.

For this sad state of affairs the clergy are in part to blame. Vast numbers of them are not students. They spend far more on gasoline than on books. Many ministers do not aim to instruct their people at all. They aspire to be promoters, showmen, Chatauqua managers.

But the people also are at fault. How much real reading, thinking and praying does the average person in the pew engage in? Not very much. His mind is pretty largely a blank. One is reminded of the complaint of Isaiah: "The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib: but Israel doth not know, my people doth not consider."

What is the remedy? First of all we must glorify the teaching function of the ministry. Of course the minister is a prophet as well as a priest, a shepherd, a friend, an administrator. But the minister is also a teacher whose duty it is to systematically instruct the flock committed to his care.

Secondly we must put our energy into religious education rather than revivalism. It used to be said, "When is a school not a school? When it is a Sunday School." May God speed the day when such a taunt will be out of place.

"I would mistrust any human being without small faults."—Emil Ludwig.

What has become of that familiar newspaper paragraph "Prosperity is just around the corner?"

Many a man after driving a bargain to get a cheap car had discovered that the bargain was hard to drive.

If a car stalls on a moonlight night and the man starts looking in the girl's eyes he's single—if he looks in the gas tank—he's married.—Niagara Falls Review.

Do your Christmas shopping early, and instead of consulting out-of-town catalogues, visit your own town stores and see what they have to offer. You may be surprised.

A local business man nearly exploded last week when the wife of a creditor gave as an excuse why her husband could not pay an account "he had to get three new tires for the car."

DUKE OF KENT NEXT GOVERNOR-GENERAL?

The London Sunday Referee reports it had discovered there was a "strong movement to secure His Majesty's permission to appoint the Duke of Kent as next Governor-General of Canada." Youngest son of Their Majesties, the Duke of Kent is being married next month to Princess Marina of Greece.

Th Referee said further there was "steady pressure in influential quarters to send the most popular 'young marrieds' in the world to succeed the Earl of Bessborough."

VERDICT OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Accidental death, with no blame attached to anyone, was the verdict brought in by the coroner's jury on Friday last at the inquest held in Chesterville into the death of "Pat" Moran, of Ottawa, who was instantly killed when the truck in which he was riding upset on the C. P. R. tracks three miles west of Chesterville. Dr. P. McLaughlin, coroner, of Winchester, conducted the inquest.

Following the verdict, the charge of reckless driving laid by the Provincial police against the driver of the truck, named Dufour, of Montreal, was withdrawn, and the $400 bail returned to him.

MISSION BAND THANK-OFFERING

A large representation of St. Paul's congregation were present Friday evening in the S. S. rooms to support The Sunbeam Mission Band in their annual Thank-offering meeting. The devotional exercises were conducted by the junior president, Jean Robertson, after which Mrs. W. D. Turner showed some very fine lantern slides on Japan and of our Indian Mission Schools in Canada. Mrs. Turner's lecture on these pictures was given in her usual interesting manner and proved very educative to the adults as well as the children. A song by Mona Robertson, Sybil Empey and Audrey Fraser was much enjoyed. The origin of Mission Bands and the history of the Sunbeam Mission Band was given by Mrs. A. G. Suffel, president of the band. Rev. W. D. Turner closed the meeting with prayer.

HALLOWE'EN NIGHT

Hallowe'en night passed off very quietly and pleasantly in Winchester. The children, dressed and decorated in the usual Hallowe'en costumes, made the rounds of the homes where they received gifts of candy or apples. Many "grown-ups" became youngsters for the night, and in their disguises it was hard to tell the difference between the child and the grown-up. There was no rowdyism, and while "specials" kept watch to see that law and order was observed, their duties were light. It was a great night for the kiddies.

FINED IN KEMPTVILLE

Oliver Cooper, 20-year-old Kemptville youth, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of obstructing arrest and $1 and costs on a charge of disturbing the peace Magistrate McCormick, in giving sentence in court at Kemptville on Wednesday of last week, pointed out that police must be protected and punishment of a severe nature was necessary. A charge against Frank Chauldice, also of Kemptville, of disorderly conduct was withdrawn, due to lack of evidence. All charges were made as a result of a fight and a public disturbance following a card game recently.

Mr. Hector Bell, of London, Ont., is spending two weeks holidays the guest of his mother, Mrs. Robert Bell.

DIED FROM BURNS

Martin Crawford, a young married man, died in the Smiths Falls Hospital last week, the result of burns received when a blow-torch he was working with exploded and set his clothing on fire. He was working at plumbing in a residence, and jumped out of the window, but before the clothing was extinguished, he was burned on the face, arms and body to such an extent that he died shortly after being taken to the hospital.

DRAKE—BROWN

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Drake, of Brantford, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Winnifred Mae, to Dr. Thomas Michael Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brown, of Ottawa. Marriage to take place in Brantford, the latter part of November.

Mr. and Mrs. Drake and family are former residents of Winchester, Mr. Drake having conducted the bakery for many years, now owned by Mr. Chester Robinson.

PAY YOUR TAXES

As will be seen by Advertisement in this issue of the Press, Mr. N. W. Beach tax collector, asked that all taxes be paid promptly. Those who pay before Dec. 1st are entitled to a discount, and those who do not pay by that date have five per cent. added to their tax bill. The advantage of prompt payment is therefore obvious, and the timely intimation by Mr. Beach gives every taxpayer a full month in which to prepare to meet the obligation.

JOINT HOSTESSES AT SUPPER AND BRIDGE

Mrs. W. O. Dixon, Mrs. George Reaburn and Mrs. Howard Fulton were joint hostesses at a delightfully arranged supper-bridge held in the Library at Chesterville on Wednesday evening last. The The hall was prettily decorated with jack-o'-lanterns, witches, pumpkins and other symbols of Hallowe'en. Cards were played at eleven tables. The bridge prize was won by Mrs. P. S. Boyd, the consolation prize by Mrs. D. L. Allison and the lucky prize by Mrs. O. D. Casselman.

MRS. J. W. AULT ENTERTAINS

Mrs. J. W. Ault, president of the Mission Circle of the United Church, entertained the members and a number of friends at a delightfully arranged Halloween party, at her home on Queen street, Tuesday evening. The guests arrived in costumes of young girls, not over seven years of age. The evening's program included several children's games, which were freely indulged in by those present, and created much amusement.

Prizes were given for the best impersonation of a young girl, and so keen was the competition that the following ladies were equal in the eyes of the judges: Mrs. Ernest Kellogg, Mrs. Albert Johnston, Mrs. Arnold Duncan and the Misses Lenora Merkley and Agnes Parker. Miss Merkley won the prize by drawing the lucky number. The judges were Mesdames Fred Parker and R. D. Preston, who were dressed as ghosts.

Following the program dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.,

ROBBED FOR FIFTH TIME

For the fifth time in ten years, the men's furnishing store of Walter Shannett, Morrisburg, was broken into and robbed Saturday night. The loot this time included the store safe, containing about $55 in cash, all store records and valuable insurance papers. None of the large stock of clothing, tobaccos and candy was even disturbed. Entrance was made by forcing open the two strong locks on the front door of the store. Provincial police have found no trace of the thieves or the stolen goods in the five robberies experienced by the Shannett store.

PRESENTED WITH POCKET KNIVES

Messrs. Will Johnston, Bill Agnew, Russell Crowder and John McCormick were recipients of fine pearl-handled pocket-knives last evening as winners of the local Lawn Bowling Club's competition for rinks during the past season. Sherwood, who expressed the appreciation of the members to the donor for his kindness in offering the awards. Those bowlers who were fortunate enough to win the knives, will prize them highly.
