CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

Old newspapers have a fascination felt by nearly everyone. And when the publication date is March 15, 1777, then the fascination becomes slightly goggle-eyed. The one we have of the Norfolk or Norwich "Chronicle or Gazette," a double-name paper, is a case in point. History stands out all over the sheet. A particular item was interesting. The news story noted that the good ship "Hero," Captain Bradley, had docked at London after a 40-day crossing. Good news included the item that Lord Cornwallis was within 15 miles of Philadelphia when the ship sailed from New York. It could be assumed he had subdued that hotbed of revolution and by that time the whole uprising of the American colonies would be crushed. Slightly wrong, we would think.

One of the interesting features of the old newspaper is the quality of paper itself. Made from good linen rags, the sheet is soft, pliable and in substance feels like the very best of rag bond paper of today. Unlike present day newsprint, this paper was made to last. Even though it is 183 years old, the paper is still entirely legible and nearly smudge-free.

The names of General Burgoyne, Lord Stormont and others recalls our early history lessons. Reading the paper is a trial. It was printed in the time when "f's" and "s's" had much the same appearance. When they talk about the rebellious "Congrefs", it must be translated into Congress. And when it comes to reporting a trial, the old lads had the word. Especially when they are explaining what happened at Winchester on March 6, 1777, at the trial of one John the Painter. It goes on to say John, working under many aliases, had set fire to a certain outhouse and because of the confusion caused had been arrested. He pleaded not guilty but in spite of all his pleading was sentenced to death by hanging. In those days they played for keeps, in matters of arson.

Muskrats are running the flood these Spring days and nights. Trappers are on the river and waiting for the award ditches to open. No prices are set yet for skins, but if they run true to form there is not much more than a dollar in a pelt. Long hours and cold, wet work are in store for the trapsetters. Flood levels are flipping too, to add to the misery and sets are either stranded or two feet under most of the time.

Hear M.P. for G.-D. on China

Far East travels described at regular Rotary meeting

"Too much state control works insidiously," said Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P., "and individual initiative, the thing that built Canada, becomes less and less." The speaker deplored the trend to more and more government handouts, subsidies and guarantees. It was her opinion many of these things have a definite trend to regimentation. Her experiences in the Far East pointed up reasons for safeguarding our independence.

Chesterville Rotary Club was addressed by the Federal member for Grenville-Dundas last Monday evening. She was introduced by Eric Casselman and thanked by Dr Duane Justus.

Mrs Casselman travelled extensively through Red China last summer and that trip, along with her earlier tour in Russia, gave her many interesting stories to tell and observations to make.

China is a growing country with over 670,000,000 people. The population grows at a rate of nearly 19,000,000 a year. In spite of "Great Leap Forward" type of growth programs, living standards are very low by Canadian standards. State control allows only the barest subsistence level for workers, yet seems to make them endure it with some degree of satisfaction. Even though animal-like conditions shocked the Western travellers, it was apparent the Chinese felt their Communistic progress was as it should be. Stall-like huts, mud floors, mat and reed walls contrasted with our ideas of housing.

Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P.

Mrs Casselman was amazed at the numbers of people engaged in any project. She described a farm about an acre in size; seasonal work found the ground almost covered with workers, almost a hand to a plant. Heavy or light, nearly all the work was done by women.

An aggressive, nationalistic, militaristic attitude was forced into the minds of the visitors on every side. Their young Intourist guides, fluent as Canadians in English, had an amazingly one-sided education. They knew only the present day to day history of China and the rest of the world was a mystery interpreted by party directives. Their leader, Mao, preaches militarism at all times and the people are fed a diet of hate and ill-will against the West. It would seem that Communistic mind conditioning is so complete there is no room for any other system or suggestion of democratic change.

Mrs Casselman concluded her interesting talk with a comparison of Japan and China today. There everyone is trying desperately to make democracy work. The Japanese are combatting Communism with all their strength. "They are our bulwark for the West in the East," the speaker said.

President Allison Graham was chairman for the Rotary meeting.

Chesterville Women's Institute listened with pleasure to George Patrick last Wednesday evening. Mr Patrick was the speaker at the regular meeting. He is field secretary of Canadian National Institute for the Blind. From the left are Mrs Francis Moriarty, treasurer, Mrs John Sutherland, district W.I. president, Mr Patrick, Mrs G. W. Gilbert, Chesterville president, and Mrs Dalton Docksteader, secretary.—Record Photo.

THOSE WOMEN

Mrs Malcolm MacGregor and her husband entered the All Canadian Guernsey judging competitions, conducted by mail across Canada. When the results were announced Mrs MacGregor was the leader in all Ontario and third in Canada. Husband Mac was back in sixth place.

Dolores Moffat, wife of Mac Moffat, on the H. R. Johnston farm, repeated the same pattern with her Mac. She beat out hubby by 346 to 342.

Held in Legion hall

Excellent quality exhibits featured at seed fair

High quality exhibits and good attendance featured the S. D. & G. Seed Fair held in Legion Hall, Chesterville, on March 28 and 29. Feed as well as seed is exhibited at the fair and there were over 50 entries in the hay and silage classes.

Glengarry farmers were the leading winners in the seed classes. Grand champion exhibit was an almost perfect sample of timothy seed shown by Miles McMillan, Dalkeith. Mr McMillan received the Eaton Trophy.

Premier exhibitor and winner of the Simpsons-Sears Trophy was Hugh Fisher, Maxville. Bill Franklin, Greenfield, was the winner in a small junior judging competition.

Dundas farmers came to the front in hay exhibits, winning four of five classes. Angus Smith, Chesterville, had the champion lot of hay and was winner in classes for alfalfa, mixed and grass hay.

Gerald Adams, Williamsburg, had reserve champion lot with his winning second-cut hay.

John Russell, Canada Department of Agriculture, J. W. MacRae and Neil Stoskopf, Kemptville Agricultural School, were judges.

Dr Bill Tossell, field husbandry specialist from Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, was the guest speaker at the Tuesday afternoon program.

"It is time to re-assess our farm crop practices," said Dr Tossell. Feed costs make up the major portion of the cost of producing milk. To keep this cost as low as possible the cow must obtain as much of the food nutrients as she will from low cost feeds. The answer to this problem lies in maximum use of high quality pasture, hay and silage.

To illustrate his point Dr Tossell showed how 100 pounds of food nutrients from oats as grain costs $2.50 while good quality hay costs only 89c per 100 pounds; 100 pounds of nutrient from pasture costs only 63c and from corn silage $1.17. Not only are the costs of nutrients from forages only one-third of those from grain but forage crops produce twice as much food per acre. The average acreage of oats as grain yields 1,200 pounds of food nutrients. When removed for oat silage the yield is 1,800 pounds of nutrients. An acre of hay, however, yields 2,800 pounds of food nutrients.

The amount of food which a cow can get from low-cost forage feeds depends on two things. These are whether or not the cow likes the hay or silage and will eat it in large quantities and secondly the food content of what she does eat.

Dr Tossell showed how a cow producing 40 pounds of milk a day would eat 23 pounds of good quality hay. To maintain milk production at this rate she would require grain feeding of only six pounds a day. The same cow forced to eat poor hay would only eat 15 pounds per day simply because she did not like it. To maintain her 40-pound milk production on the poor hay she would require heavy grain feeding of 12.5 pounds per day.

Chesterville played host to the United Counties Seed Fair last week. The affair was held in Legion Hall and was quite successful. One of the biggest entries this year was in the hay class. Pictured here handling some first prize hay of Angus Smith are Jim Humphries, ag. rep., Glengarry, Byron Martin, farmer of Mountain, and Ed Pearson, ag. rep., Dundas.—Record Photo.

George Patrick guest speaker at local W.I. meeting

"Eye Health" was the topic of George Patrick, field secretary of C.N.I.B. at Cornwall, when he addressed the March meeting of Chesterville W.I. at the regular meeting held Wednesday, the 30th, in the library. Mrs G. W. Gilbert introduced the speaker who was thanked by Mrs Eric Casselman.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs G. W. Gilbert, president, assisted by Mrs Dalton Docksteader, secretary. Mrs C. A. Graham was pianist for the opening Ode, which was followed by the Mary Stewart Collect.

Members answered roll call with a health or safety rule. The minutes of the February meeting were followed by the report of the treasurer, Mrs J. F. Moriarty, which showed a bank balance of nearly $400.

Mrs Ralph Gray gave an interesting report on plans for the newly-organized 4-H Club for girls which is to be sponsored by the Chesterville W.I. Mrs Ralph Gray and Mrs Foster Bowman have volunteered to act as leaders. The theme of the club's first project is "Being Well Dressed and Well Groomed."

The nominating committee, consisting of Mrs Foster Bowman, Mrs Asel Merkley and Mrs Dalton Docksteader, were instructed to prepare a slate of officers for 1960 to be presented at the April meeting.

Mrs John Sutherland gave a progress report on the Institute exhibit being prepared for the Ottawa Exhibition. The exhibit is being prepared by Mrs Basil Rowe, Mrs Al Butcher, Mrs Ralph Gray, Mrs George Johnston and Mrs Emlyn Cole.

A lengthy discussion regarding the equipping of a room for the new wing of Winchester and District Memorial Hospital resulted in the problem being shelved till the April meeting. It was the feeling of the meeting that money making schemes should be explored further before a decision was made.

Most children are born with healthy eyes, Mr Patrick said. Babies are far sighted and have blurred vision and, until the age of two, the child uses only one eye at a time. If defects are diagnosed in infants they are most easily treated before the age of 2 years. Crossed eyes should be treated at this time, as if left till a later time treatment is much more difficult.

FAST TRIP . . .!

Ernie Bollegraaf had to make a flying trip to Holland a few weeks ago. His abattoir needed skilled skinners and cutters for the specialized type of processing that is done at L'Epiphanie, Que. He interviewed 88 and hired enough for his needs. Then he headed for home, and here's the story. He boarded a Sabena Airlines 707 jet at 3 minutes after one Friday afternoon, April 1. The plane landed at Dorval airport, Montreal, on Friday, April 1, at three minutes after one. A real April Fool for the sun. The aircraft kept right up to King Sol in the six-hour crossing.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

The flood is up

Chesterville and district always takes a keen interest in the spring flood on the old Nation. Our interest is tinged with amusement betimes, especially when our city compatriots feel there is a scare headline in the annual uprising.

The Nation has been rising and flooding since the memory of man. Made in the shape of a shallow dish with too small a pouring spout, the watershed splurges every time a farmer empties a milk can on the riverbank. Normally, the floods are just to be endured and the side benefit of silt on the flooded land is gratefully accepted.

June floods are another story. Damage is caused then by the washout of tender growing crops, barely peeking above the cultivated soil. Up and down the valley, trouble rises when the water goes on the rampage in late May and June.

The railbirds line the village bridge now, watching the winter debris whip downstream. The water scours and cleans as it goes and soon with the receding waters will come the freshness of green grass and soft Spring air.

A safety council is needed

A safety council is a needed addition to our organizations in the community. It has promise of turning into a vital and interesting service unit with the ultimate aim of making living safer for everyone.

"Safety is everybody's business" whether it is in the home, on the farm, on the street or out on the King's Highway. Safety councils are groups of people who are interested enough in all these things to make some effort to impress safety needs on the public.

Chesterville Rotary Club has acted as sponsoring body up to this point. The club committee has called for a public meeting next Monday night in Chesterville Community Hall to get the ball rolling on final organization. Then it is hoped enough interested persons will turn out to form a council. Representatives from every part of the town and community should be represented.

Your help is needed. Remember the date and be on hand next Monday night at 8 p.m. to get the story of safety councils in action.

At Our Library . . .

"Nkosi Sikelel' iAfrica . . . God Save Africa. God save us from the fear that is afraid of justice. God save us from the fear that is afraid of men." So speaks the old native preacher in Alan Paton's searching novel of South African life, "Cry the Beloved Country."

With South Africa so much to the forefront, this is a book that is well worth reading by anyone who wishes to understand the background of the present state of conflict. Basically it is the story of Kumalo, a simple devout man who sets out for Johannesburg to search for his lost sister and for his only son, Absalom, but woven into it are all the undercurrents that are alive in Africa today.

The mounting anguish of the two fathers in this story, one black and the other white, and the faith and courage with which they face tragedy, and out of their sorrow find a way to help their fellowmen, make this a book not easily forgotten.

Another book well worth reading is set nearer home in the Canadian Rockies. This is "Campbell's Kingdom," by Hammond Innes. It tells how a young Scotsman battled against almost insurmountable odds to vindicate his grandfather's claim that "there's oil in the Rocky Mountain."

The way in which he faces suspicion and danger from the local inhabitants, and downright enmity from a rival group seeking to flood the valley, make this is a novel of suspense which will hold your attention right to the final page.

Both these books are available at our local library. Why not sample them and dozens more of the same high quality during National Library Week and during the rest of the year too?—C.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

The revival of the Korean Bible Society since the Korean war when the Bible House in Seoul was destroyed by fire, has moved forward another step. The Bible House was rebuilt and reopened three years ago. A new warehouse for Scriptures has been built on the outskirts of Seoul and was opened last August.

Out of 23 applicants for colportage work in Korea, 11 passed the necessary tests and started work on probation last October. Two of the colporteurs are women and all are graduates of senior high schools. Two are university graduates.

Thus the distribution of the Scriptures will be increased among the teeming population of Korea.

Your Ontario Legislature Report

Hon. F. M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

Once again Agriculture and Labour held the spotlight in the Legislature at Toronto. Bill No. 86, being a Bill respecting farm marketing procedures and powers, generated a great deal of debate and was given second reading after a recorded vote which saw both opposition parties speaking and voting against the Bill. It is interesting that a very small proportion of opposition members represent rural areas or are farmers themselves, while a considerable number of Government Members who supported the Bill unanimously are farmers. It would seem that this Bill which gives power to the Farm Products Marketing Board to take over any farm marketing plan should it founder, as some in the past have done, and operate it during reorganization for the benefit of the producers, is a sure step in the right direction.

The rather controversial Labour Relations Act amendments, after a stormy course in Committee, sparked another debate in the House. However as both labour and management are on record as favouring this new Bill against any other suggested amendments, it would appear that it will be good legislation.

During the week more departmental estimates were considered and passed by the House. In each case the consideration was long—usually far into the night, as opposition members continued to repeat their daily speeches. Those of the Department of Education—which showed a general increase in grants to schools but generally not as great as in the previous year—of Lands and Forests, Public Welfare, Energy and Treasury, were completed, leaving only three Departments yet to be considered. It would, therefore, seem that the work of the Members for this session is drawing to a close.

During the week Liberal Members were hard put to determine whether to attend certain functions of their Provincial Women's Association meeting in Toronto or to attend House sittings. As usual the ladies won.

More legislation reached Committee stage and again the end

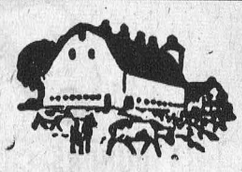
FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



by Lillian Allison

Will all those in favour of spring house cleaning please raise their hands? I thought so. The women's vote certainly isn't unanimous and there are only about six men in favour.

Men, naturally, don't like spring housecleaning time. They get too many invitations to help lug carpets out to the clothesline or help lift the heavy bureau or the coil springs of the bed. To them cleaning house is just so much nonsense. "The house wasn't dirty to start with," a lot of wife-appreciators declare.

Other husbands who consider themselves efficiency experts think housecleaning takes too much time. "I could clean this whole house in four days," they boast as they head for the barn, the pool room or the easy chair.

And other men have purely personal prejudices against spring cleaning. It has been responsible too often for their favourite chair being moved. Then when they sat down wearily and found it wasn't there they went end over end into the corner. Housecleaning has often been to blame for husbands barking their shins on a coffee table that the little woman moved to a new position so "people would know she had cleaned house."

Many a man has suffered untold heartache when his wife threw out his dirty, smelly, old fishing hat or a pair of overalls that could easily stand alone. Every spring because of housecleaning men lose magazines, old sweaters, juicy pipes and other articles too numerous to mention. No wonder they hate it.

There are a lot of women who don't like it either. Housecleaning is out of date, they claim. These days with vacuum cleaners, drip-dry curtains and drapes, tile floors and other modern labour-savers many women simply clean a room when it needs it and avoid the general upheaval their mothers experienced each spring. That's the way they like it.

And if that's the way they like it they can have it. I like to clean house in the spring.

As soon as the March sun gets bright the dust begins to show under the piano. I notice the curtains are beginning to look grey and lifeless. The shine has gone from the linoleum and no amout of vacuuming will restore its lustre. In fact the usual cleaning and dusting seems to have little effect. There's a film of dust everywhere and regardless of how much dusting I do I seem only to transfer it from the TV to the coffee table, from the china cabinet to the floor.

With the March sun comes too the strong conviction that one or two rooms are beginning to look rather seedy. The paint had peeled off the window frames and sills. There are permanent spots on the wallpaper to remind me where I swatted those big flies last fall. The white enamel on the woodwork suddenly has turned yellow. Besides, I'm tired of looking at it anyway. It's time to change the colour.

So I launch into the spring upheaval. For a month or so everything is bedlam. I rip off old paper, fill cracks and sand plaster. I paint and our good friend, the paper-hanger, puts on fresh wallpaper.

The room is spanking clean. It smells of fresh paint and paste, wax and sun-dried curtains. I stand in the doorway and view the results with the same pride and thrill that the artist experiences when he completes a masterpiece.

As the rooms are scrubbed, waxed and polished one by one the joy of achievement is repeated over and over. At last the job is complete. I hang up the plastic pail and push the polisher into its usual corner. Housecleaning is finished.

And for a long time the results are evident. A little vacuuming and dusting keep the rooms neat and clean throughout the entire summer. And that is very satisfying when the weather is hot and there are many things to do.

I like the old-fashioned spring housecleaning spree. It's hard work but for my money it is certainly worth the effort.

FARMERS...

FARMERS—As Spring is just around the corner, you should begin to think of the machines you will be needing for the year 1960. Don't wait until you are ready to go to work. Come in and inquire and get our best prices.

It is also time to think of repairing any used machines for which we have the parts now on hand. It would simplify matters if you could bring with you the numbers of the part needed, or else if you happen to have the broken or old part for a sample.

LEGISLATURE REPORT—

was in sight. Among interesting bills introduced was one designed to control the practice of exacting huge bonus payments on certain mortgage transactions. There were also introduced by the Prime Minister certain bills to provide for Members, Ministers and the Leader of the Opposition an annual indemnity more in keeping with present-day standards, and a pension plan. It is generally felt that public service cannot attract and keep the type of man or woman required to deal properly with the huge business that is now the responsibility of the Ontario Government, without a more realistic approach to this problem. It would appear that the Ontario Legislature has finally provided a suitable plan to effect this purpose and that persons serving the public in the Ontario Legislature will now, long after siimlar plans have been in effect in several Provinces and the Dominion Parliament, have some rights to security.

At the beginning of the week, in the absence of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Adminstrator of the Province, Chief Justice Dana Porter, a former Minister of Education, attended at the House to give Royal Assent to the bills setting up the new Laurentian University of Sudbury and its affiliated colleges, thereby marking another great milestone in the Province's educational advance.

Your Member Reports . . .

By Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P.

It is customary for the galleries and the floor of the House of Commons to be completely filled whenever a Minister of Finance brings down his budget.

Last night short and rather square Hon. Donald Fleming entered the House at eight o'clock and was greeted warmly and enthusiastically. He seemed completely relaxed and his smile included a satisfied twinkle in his eye. The two-hour speech ahead was of little worry to Donald Fleming who loves to make speeches, the longer the better. He knew the contents of the speech were to be admired and the hard spadework had all been done.

It takes about two months to prepare a Federal budget. Work began on this one the end of January. Many hours a week are then added to the Minister's work which already includes almost daily Cabinet meetings of two to three hours, caucuses, delegations, attendance in the House of Commons, correspondence, and all the regular work of a Member of Parliament.

For about a month, daily representations are received regarding recommendations of all sorts, taxes and tariffs on innumerable articles are reviewed.

Then comes a month of conferences with departmental officials as to what is most practical and workable and most generally acceptable towards the goal in view.

Mr Fleming's goal has been a balanced budget as soon as possible. He had predicted a decreased deficit this year of just under $400,000,000. Unexpected costs such as emergency relief to Manitoba farmers and heavier demands for money from the Provincial Parliaments altered Mr Fleming's calucations by about $12,000,000. Now that we are figuring in billions, this is not a serious spread between Mr Fleming's prognostication and his achievement.

His is an achievement, in a world where defence of a country is increasingly exhorbitant, where research on diseases and every science is equally costly. For example, the cost of setting up only one cobalt unit to fight cancer is $60,000.

We can be thankful that there are men of Donald Fleming's character who will unselfishly devote themselves to the endless study, unselfishly bear the brunt of sometimes unpopular decisions to hold Canada's economy from runaway inflation.

Mr Fleming is admired for his excellent, alert and retentive brain, but equally for his sheer physical stamina. When his assistants are pale from exhaustion after very often seven or eight hours unbroken study and debate, Mr Fleming leaves after midnight with two or three hours further work under his arm to prepare his report for next day's Cabinet meeting.

Mr Fleming is fortunate to have the steady and experienced Member for Carleton, Dick Bell, as his Parliamentary Secretary. Always known as one not shirking any responsibility or work, Dick has been right beside him these last two months. Dick still has his big job to do. Over this weekend, the Opposition's financial critics, Bill Benedickson, from Rainy River, and Hazen Argue, CCF Leader, will concentrate completely on finding faults and weaknesses in Mr Fleming's decisions. It will be Mr Bell's job to answer and refute their arguments and defend the government's policies. Assisting him are the main facts that we are well on the way to a surplus for next year without increased taxation, and also some relief is now given to the more hardpressed Civil Service classifications. Much as I don't envy Dick the job, it is in good hands and there have been worse times.

NEVER FORGETS

The four-year-old memory of a square pizza was too much for John W. Baldyga. He threw a bowling ball through the restaurant window.

Baldyga, a 33-year-old boilermaker, drew a 60-day suspended jail sentence in a Buffalo, N.Y., court. He said he threw the ball through the window because four years ago a waitress brought him a square pizza after he had ordered a round one.

IN MEMORIAM

LaPIERRE—In loving memory of a dear father who passed away April 21, 1946.

His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled nights have passed,
And in our aching hearts we know
He found sweet rest at last.

Ever remembered by Fleming, Margaret, Germaine and Theresa.

IN MEMORIAM

LaPIERRE—In fond and loving memory of a dear husband who passed away April 21, 1946.

Along the road to yesterday,
That led us straight to you,
Are memories of the happy days
Together we once knew.
And always every evening
We seem to have a way
Of wandering back to meet you
On the road to yesterday.

Lovingly remembered by wife Ada.

The meeting closed with Taps.

SEED FAIR—

As examples of good forage crops, Dr Tossell pointed to the winning samples of hay at the seed fair. Early cutting, good mixtures and good curing result in quality hay. With reference to silage, he urged farmers to use early silage varieties to obtain a product of high nutrient content.

Other speakers on the program were Neil Stoskopf, Kemptville Agricultural School, on "Crop Recommendations for 1960."

Wm. Ewing, Vankleek Hill, spoke on seed supplies and prices.

J. W. MacRae, Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, presented the McNish Award Certificate to Harold Blaney, Gengarry, Stanley Fraser, Sormont, and Gerald Adams, Dundas. These awards are made to farmers making outstanding contributions to crop improvement.

Monday's evening program dealt with the saving of labour in the dairy barn. Speaker on this subject was H. E. Wright, Extension fieldman, Department of Agriculture, Guelph. The speaker was followed by a panel discussion consisting of J. Y. Humphries, Glengarry agricultural representative, Larry Donoghue, K.A.S. Engineering Division, S. J. McLeod, Cornwall, and farmers George Suffel, Millard Grant and Wilfred Vallance.

Many labour saving suggestions came forth and a lively discussion took place regarding the merits of loose housing for cattle. Foremost among suggestions, however, was the statement that anyone going to build or make changes in his barn should obtain all possible information beforehand. The services of Mr Donoghue at Kemptville Agricultural School and visits to other barns were advised.

Douglas Durant, Chesterville, and George Suffel, Mountain, were chairmen of the programs. E. K. Pearson, agricultural representative for Dundas, was secretary-manager, assisted by agricultural representatives J. Y. Humphries, K. E. Best, Charlie Seguin and Ray Smith.

GEORGE PATRICK—

children is of interest also to the C.N.I.B. Such conditions can be treated with glasses, but treatment should begin by five years of age. Near or far sightedness developing at seven or eight years may progress to about 21 years of age. This condition should be watched carefully and it is considered more serious than that which develops earlier.

Most eye diseases are not fatal and most are not painful. Persons can adjust easily to blindness, said Mr Patrick, but do need some help from the community in order to have complete confidence in themselves.

Mr Patrick urged all present to take good care of their eyes and those of their families. After the age of 40 eye examinations should be had every two years as a precautionary measure.

At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by the committee, with Mrs Harold Mariner and Mrs John Sutherland as conveners, assisted by Mrs Angus Smith, Mrs H. G. Bigelow, Mrs Len Giles and Mrs Albert Smith.
