Area teachers hold rally against pension delays

MICHAEL THOMPSON
Leader staff

CORNWALL — In an impressive display of unity over 500 S.D.&G. teachers from all five affiliates gathered last Wednesday at General Vanier High School to shout a definite "NO" to Ontario's Liberal government.

There are about 1,200 teachers in Stormont-Dundas and Glengarry who were only notified less than a week ago about the rally opposing the government's proposed changes to their pension plan.

Negotiations broke off last Tuesday when the representatives from the Ontario Teachers' Federation representing the 115,000 teachers of Ontario walked out in frustration.

The most contentious issue is the government's request that teachers contribute an additional 1 per cent to their pension without receiving any significant improvements in benefits.

"A proposal that's not only unfair but unacceptable" said Jim Head an executive with the Ontario Teachers' Association.

Executive members from all five affiliates told the relatively subdued crowd that the associations are prepared to fight until a "fair and equitable" agreement is reached.

The largest applause was given to Lenore Graham, a retired school teacher who represented the 33,000 members of the Superannuated Teachers of Ontario.

She said it was the right of every teacher to retire without worrying about subversive government intervention.

"I hope you fight, fight and fight the government's stance on this issue, a stance we can't unequivocally accept," she said.

Graham asked that all active teachers across Ontario take a stand against the government not only for themselves but for those teachers who wish to enjoy a much-deserved retirement.

Head frequently told the crowd that Ontario's treasurer Robert Nixon was not negotiating in "good faith" and at one point said "the Peterson government continues to suck the life-blood out of the province's education system."

He accused the government of making the teachers look like "scapegoats" responsible for Ontario nearly loosing its triple "A" credit rating, which is significantly when the province is doing business with other parts of Canada and the world.

In essence, there are two funds being discussed by the OTF and the government. The main one, established in 1917, has about $20 billion in reserves and generates more than $3 million a day in interest payments says Head.

The other, the Superannuation Adjustment Fund was founded only in 1975 and was designed to offer retiring teachers inflation protection against the rising cost of living.

It is the fund the government claims will experience considerable problems in the future because of "serious underfunding." Based on two provincial reports, the government speculates the actuarial deficit will be in the $6 billion range.

The government also claims that the inflation protection fund will be exhausted by 2007, and as a result is now asking Ontario teachers to match their additional one per cent contribution.

Head said he realizes that it's extremely difficult for teachers to gain support from most taxpayers, since many of whom don't have a private pension plan.

He told the teachers to explain to their friends and neighbors that Nixon is basically asking the teachers to pay the governments portion of the indexed fund.

Since 1917, the provincial government agreed to match the contribution of every teacher, which now stands at 7.9 per cent of the educators' salary.

However, Head said Nixon's proposal to merge the two funds is merely aw devious trick of using the regular fund to offset the government's underfunded responsibilities in the inflation protection fund.

He added that the 1 per cent increase would force teachers to now pay 8.9 per cent, which according to the Canada Pension law is illegal because no employee can put in more than 9 per cent.

Head's comments came after a brief speech by local MPP John Cleary who told the rally that he had just finished speaking to Nixon earlier that day and he was told that negotiations would soon resume.

"If you have any further questions or comments I ask you to write them on a piece of paper and I will make sure they're brought to Mr. Nixon's attention," Cleary said.

David Moss, co-ordinator of the rally said that the government's commitment to the teachers' main fund represents close to 25 per cent of the province's total debt.

That's dangerous company you keep Mr. Premier

The Ontario Premier's visit to the area was capped off with an impressive and expensive dinner in Cornwall Thursday night. Tickets were $100 each as approximately 350 people attended the event. Many local residents, both political and professional were also on hand to meet with the Premier. Pictured proof to that were, from left, councillor Peter Remillard, Peterson, local businessman Allan Bell, councillor Dick Testerink, reeve Bill Dillabough and renown lawyer Mike McInnis.

Peterson avoids controversies with charm as Liberal fund-raising trail sweeps area

MORRISBURG—Many thought that Ontario Premier David Peterson's visit to the area would be no walk in the park but for at least an hour-and-a-half that is exactly what it was.

The first stop of his eastern Ontario fund-raising sweep started at Upper Canada Village Thursday.

As the Premier arrived at the Village shortly after 2 p.m., it became apparent that Peterson wasn't prepared to field any questions about the two prevalent issues; providing French language services and Ontario teachers angry with the government's proposed changes to their pension.

Looking suave and relaxed, Peterson was more preoccupied with meeting some of the Morrisburg Public School students who were visiting the Village than answering controversial questions.

Some of the organizers feared the Premier's visit to the Village would be tarnished by a demonstration by the Alliance for the Preservation of English in Canada (APEC), however, the group chose to rally later in Cornwall.

Peterson, a known master of the media, frequently mugged in front of the 10 photographers and countless number of reporters.

In fact at one point he comically threatened George Speal, the chairman of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission with an axe.

"Hey, George I want to talk to you about this deficit problem you're having" the Premier said coyly while toting the implement.

Even the APEC rally at the Best Western Hotel in Cornwall was fairly subdued after Peterson surprised the executive by requesting a meeting with them earlier that day.

"I hate to admit it but that was a fairly shrewd move," said one APEC demonstrator. "He really took the wind out of our sails."

The most exciting event of the day was Peterson's speech to the local Liberal fold at the end of the evening.

The Premier first thanked organizers Bill Dillabough and George Assaly for making his one-day visit so enjoyable then paid a tribute to former federal Minister of Trade Ed Lumley.

After the Premier dispensed of the pleasantries he embarked on a rather inspirational speech about his party's role as the ruling government of Ontario.

"I've said it once before and I'm saying it again. I don't want this province to be run again by a bunch of cigar smoking bureaucrats in the back rooms of Toronto," he said.

Referring to his discussions with APEC and the French language rights group ACFO Peterson said he was truely troubled by the emerging tensions rising across the country.

"I deeply regret the fact that Canadians are organizing themselves against one another but I want to remind all of you that Canada is a young nation, only 121 years old, and we're bound to suffer some growing pains," he said.

He then went on to say that Canada is a country of freedoms in which immigrants can speak their minds in their own languages.

"We live in one of the most decent countries in the world and we should be thankful," he added.

As an example of Canada's decency Peterson touched on the country's medicare program which he said "entitles every Canadian, regardless of their wealth, an opportunity to receive proper health care," unlike the 37 million Americans who are without medical health plans.

"This fact alone sets us apart from our southern neighbors. We have a different value system in Canada and in our belief in our country," he said.

Throughout his 10-minute speech Peterson preached that Canadians must be more tolerant particularly with other Canadians.

"I get troubled when I see tension rippling through our country. Especially when I see Mr. Bourassa injecting his Notwithstanding clause (prohibiting English language signs in Quebec).

"But just because some of our neighbors are doing something we don't support, it doesn't mean we have to alienate them."

Perhaps hinting at possibly making Ontario officially bilingual, Peterson added that "we cannot let the bigots take over this country. We have to stand up for what is right."

Calling Canada "the most advanced multicultural nation in the world" the Premier took a swipe at the Federal Conservative government saying "I'd rather spend money getting along with my fellow Canadians than on a nuclear submarine."

Once again stressing the importance of being tolerant during the somewhat troubled times, Peterson added that it is also important to remember "our core vision as a nation."

Peterson admitted that to a limited degree he supported the Federal government's decision to revamp the Unemployment Insurance program.

"We can no longer pay Canadians not to work. We must restore their dignity by returning them as contributing members of society."

He also spoke briefly in French and asked that Canadians continue to respect the rights of its minorities and to not be preoccupied with the growing importance of economics in the world today.

"We can't take what sets us apart from other countries for granted — our tolerance and decency."

"Our challenge as Canadians now is to ensure that the opportunities throughout this great country of ours is shared."

With that Peterson ended his speech to a standing ovation.

DCAMR strikers happy to be working

CATHERINE THOMPSON

MORRISBURG — The 33 striking workers of the Dundas Country Association for the Mentally Retarded have returned to work after an 11-week strike.

"We're pleased to have a settlement on both sides," said Michael Hughes, Director of the DCAMR, after a marathan negotiation session lasting from last Wednesday evening until 4:30 a.m. Thursday.

The workers will obtain a five per cent increase retroactive to October 1, 1988, another five per cent starting April 1, 1989, and a final two per cent to begin September 30, 1989.

Local 2892 representative Lana Barkley explained the union accepted the 12 per cent hike, which they had previously rejected in hopes of attaining a 15 per cent increase, because the board had offered other good benefits such as improved medical and health care.

Hughes confirmed that the Association will pay the employees OHIP 100 per cent, and he is looking into a plan to cover eye wear.

The unionized employees will also receive a $500 signing bonus and a floater day in addition to their statutory holidays and regular vacations. Midnight counsellors will receive $.37 an hour pay increase to bring them in line with counsellor assistants.

"We had been looking for an over-all 15 per cent wage hike, but the people decided enough was enough, and we accepted the offer. We're happy to be back to work," said Barkley.

Programs in Life Skills and Work Skills are on again at Seaway Enterprises. Clients are being moved back to group homes closed by the strike, and by the end of the week all homes should be reopened.

NAER may join umbrella organization

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — English rights groups province-wide are considering joining an umbrella group called, "Alliance Ontario", Morrisburg resident Bob Howald told a small meeting of National Alliance for English Rights (NAER) Monday evening.

Howald, a director of NAER, Owen Mekitarian, also a director of NAER and president of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Confederation of Regions party, and Ed Drake, a NAER member for South Mountain, attended a meeting in Barry last weekend at which over 400 members of English rights groups across Ontario were present, including NAER, Confederation of Regions and Alliance for the Preservation of English in Canada.

"The meeting was held to see how many groups would support joining an umbrella organization," said Howald, "It's because smaller groups are ignored by the government. But petitions with 30-40,000 names wouldn't be ignored."

The group is not a formal organization and does not require membership as such, Howald explained. "It's a temporary group to co-ordinate the efforts of English language rights groups. It's not additional, it's a supervisory body."

According to Howald, individual language rights associations have not had much success in combatting the effects of Bill 8.

Many members of English rights groups fear the legislation represents a step in the direction of official bilingualism, which they oppose.

The aim of the umbrella organization would be to protest the bill, and push for a referendum.

Last Thursday, a number of Morrisburg National Association for English Rights group joined the Cornwall Alliance for Preservation for English in Canada at a protest in front of Best Western Parkway Inn, where Premier David Peterson attended a fund-raising dinner.

Monday the meeting also featured a guest speaker Stephen King, of Howick in Chateauguay Valley, Quebec, who addressed the difficulties of life as an English speaking Quebecker.

Fire destroys Flagg Road home

Alert pet saves owners from fire

by Catherine Thompson

MATILDA TOWNSHIP — One family dog by the name of Max will be getting some pretty fine meals for a while.

"He just has to ask for steak, and we'll get it," says Larry Empey about the part German Shepherd who saved himself and his family from a fire that destroyed the farm home on Flagg Road early last Tuesday morning.

Normally, the dog is confined to the summer kitchen, but last Monday evening, Empey fell asleep on the downstairs couch with Max beside him.

"About 3:00 a.m., he started barking, I got up and the first thing I noticed was fire starting to come out the door of a garage which is attached to the house," says Empey.

After alerting his wife Sandy and 13-year-old son Kevin, Empey tried to call the fire department but the phone was dead. Within minutes, he enlisted the help of neighbor Bradley Froats to contact the Williamsburg Fire Department.

"I give full marks to the Williamsburg Fire Department," says Empey. "They were out here 11 minutes after they were called."

About 3:30 a.m. the Williamsburg Fire Department called the Iroquois Fire Department for assistance and the fire was under control by 6:00 to 6:30 a.m.

The family escaped without injury, including Max, but a pet cat was not so lucky and despite efforts of both fire departments, they were unable to save the 150-year-old brick building.

"They kept the flames contained to the walls and the roofs," said Empey. Apparently, the house does not look heavily damaged from the road, but looking out the upstairs bedroom, there is no west wall where one used to be, although the floors are still there.

"I didn't know what smoke damage was until I saw my furniture, which must either be replaced or reupholstered," Empey added.

The total value of the damage will be known once insurance and contractors reports are completed.

The family is presently living with Larry's father Garnet Empey, and will move into a trailer on the farm property provided by the insurance company until a decision is made to repair or rebuild.

Williamsburg Legion Branch 538 of which Larry is a past-president will be holding a benefit dance Saturday, May 13 at 8:00 p.m. at the Bouck's Hill Legion Hall.

Peterson and APEC are talking, but no change to Bill 8

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

CORNWALL — Ontario's Premier David Peterson says there is no chance of repealing Bill 8, despite demonstrations and a letter of protest presented by Alliance for the Preservation of English (APEC) members here Thursday.

A group of about 150 protesters marched around the Best Western Parkway Inn where Peterson was attending a Liberal fund-raiser.

They were demonstrating against Bill 8, the French Services Act, legislation which provides for the extension of government services to areas of the province where at least 10 per cent of residents, or 5,000 in urban areas are francophones.

Earlier in the week, the Premier's office had refused interviews with APEC on the grounds that he would be too busy to meet with them. But on Thursday morning, Peterson phoned ahead from Kingston to request an interview with Cornwall branch president Libby Lassner, and Don Ross, who is vice-president of the 2400-member organization.

Although Lassner was impressed with the Premier's cordial reception during the interview, she confirms the bill will not be rescinded.

However, the Premier promised APEC representatives he would look into some instances of alleged local discrimination, and asked for a letter of particulars which the executive will send shortly.

The English-rights group presented the Premier with a letter claiming that Bill 8 discriminates against the English-speaking majority and other ethnic groups by requirements that the Ontario Public Service hire bilingual people, and that costs of the bill's implementation are prohibitive.

They are concerned that a declaration could make Ontario officially bilingual at any time, while Quebec with the Meech Lake Accord and Bill 101 is tending towards a state of unilingual French.

When asked whether the Premier was coming around to their side on the language issue, Ross replied, "Not at all, but at least they are willing to listen, which is an encouraging sign."

During a press scrum at the $100 a plate dinner, Peterson upheld Bill 8, which he said he and his government would continue to support.

"I'm not saying the law is perfectly applied, or that there aren't examples here and there of administrative mistakes or errors of judgment on both sides," Peterson answered to allegations of reverse discrimination against the English-speaking majority.

"I think you can also find examples of unwitting discrimination against Francophones because they weren't at the right position at the right time."

He said there was a lot of mythology that had built up around what the bill represents, and that people aren't going to lose a job because of legislation.

Peterson stressed the importance of minority rights.

"It seems to me that one of the biggest things we believe in that distinguishes us from other countries and makes us different is we do respect minority languages."

Teachers protest

When asked whether the government feared a walkout by teachers over legislation which would permit manipulation of the teachers' pension plan, the Premier replied the government's position was reasonable.

The government plans to merge the two teacher pension funds, using surpluses of the regular fund to offset the unfunded liability of the inflation protection fund, which is the government's responsibility.

"The province guarantees the entire fund. They have an indexed pension guaranteed by the grateful taxpayer and it's $6 billion short, so somehow you the taxpayer is going to have to come up with $6 billion to pay it off, or cut benefits," said Peterson.

Another question concerning lack of money for roads in the United Counties was quickly dealt with. "A lot of people would like more money for roads, hospitals and other things, but there's a limited capacity to respond to these things. It's the responsibility of the local government to make their priorities and choose where the money should be spent."

Local woman injured

MATILDA TOWNSHIP — A woman passenger was trapped in a vehicle Saturday afternoon when the car she was riding in was involved in a two-vehicle accident.

Cathy Budd of R.R.1, Iroquois was taken to Winchester District and Memorial Hospital after she was extracted from the vehicle by the Morrisburg Fire Department.

OPP say the accident occurred when Frederick Guse of R.R.1 Iroquois backed out of a private driveway onto the 3rd concession road in Matilda Township and entered the path of an on-coming vehicle driven by Jeffery Keeler also of R.R.1, Iroquois.

Guse was charged as a result of the accident.

MORRISBURG — Now that the snow is gone many motorists are travelling at higher speeds but they better be careful because the local OPP detachment is watching you.

Morrisburg OPP last week stepped up their on-going campaign against speeders and as a result laid 144 traffic violations against motorists breaking various Highway Traffic Act rules.

In addition, the OPP were also busy this weekend and handed out six 12-hour driving suspensions and one impaired charge.

"Just because the roads are nice and dry it doesn't mean speeding is acceptable now or ever," says Sgt. Eric Riddell.

Tourist council briefs

MORRISBURG — The Seaway Valley Tourist Council and the St. Lawrence Parks Commission will be co-sponsoring a tourism showcase in Cornwall on May 12-13.

The event will feature some 25 exhibits from tourist attractions all across Stormont-Dundas and Glengarry as well as many generic displays, such as food, antiques, dining, fishing and camping.

"This showcase will highlight the many aspects of tourism throughout eastern Ontario," said Patricia Forrest, marketing manager for the St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

She said the goal of the event is to show local residents what they can see and do this summer right in their own backyard.

United Counties warden and Osnabruck reeve Stewart Hart welcomed the Seaway Valley Tourist Council Wednesday on behalf of the township to their new municipal building.

"I hope you continue to keep up the good work and who knows maybe this year Counties Council can dig a little deeper in the coffers and see what we can do for you," he said with a smile.

This year the SVTC had their budget chopped by the Counties by about $4,500.

Osnabruck's deputy-reeve Carson Elliott asked Patricia Forrest manager of marketing and communications for the St. Lawrence Parks Commission if she cared to explain why many of the area's parks were going to have their operating season shortened this year.

Forrest said that several of the parks were experiencing very poor occupancy rates, some as low as 5 per cent during the early and late months of the year.

"And so as a result those parks will have their season altered," she said.

However, Forrest added that at least one park in the east, Charlottenburg will continue to remain open for the regular six month period.

She also added that the commission will initiate a user survey for the first time in several years.

Deputy-reeve unveils water front development

OSNABRUCK TOWNSHIP — Ingleside's P.T. Barnum was at it again last Wednesday. Osnabruck's promotion-minded deputy-reeve Carson Elliott was once again selling his township to anyone who would listen.

This time, Elliott seized the opportunity to unveil council's decision to develop the 125 acre waterfront property south of Highway 2 in Ingleside to the Seaway Valley Tourist Council.

Elliott's enthusiasm to make Osnabruck Township an economically-sound municipality through additional industry and increased tourism should be fairly successful.

In an elaborate presentation by the township's recreation director Paul McAllister the tourist council was informed of the future plans of the waterfront property which is proposing to include a bike path, picnic area and a nature trail as well as long-term goals of an eventual driving golf range and boat ramp.

Elliott explained that the township has been negotiating this type of deal for more than 30 years with the St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

In 1985, the replies from the township's Need Study indicated that many residents would like to have the waterfront property developed into a recreational parkland.

McAllister said that establishing a picnic area would be the first logical step because it can easily be constructed.

"We figure on having about 20 to 25 picnic tables once we clear the area," he said.

McAllister is actively seeking funding from virtually all branches of government, however Elliott speculated that council will continue its commitment of $10,000 a year, which began this year.

Both McAllister and Elliott admitted that it would be extremely difficult to ask the private sector for additional revenue since many of the local businesses and industries are already involved in the joint-recreational facility between the township and the S.D.&G. Board of Education.

However, McAllister added that some of the local community service groups and particularly the Rotary Club have already financially assisted the proposal.

McAllister expects the entire venture will cost clost to $40,000 over the next three to four years.

The proposal has met with encouraging support from the residents as more than 150 have competed in the township's Name the Park contest McAllister said.

Do you have hidden gold?

You just might have. Untold thousands of families throughout Canada and the United States have reaped a golden harvest from items which they at first believed to be low-value or no-value trash. Those gloomy family scion portraits of yesteryear, long since consigned to the attic or storage room are quite likely of no intrinsic value whatsoever, but the antique picture frames holding them could easily provide a nice holiday weekend. Those "golden oak" pressed-back, or ladder-back, or arrow-back or gunstock chairs, which all the best mail-order houses, and every whistle-stop undertaker and furniture dealer throughout Canada and the United States used to send out by the dozen at about $2.95 each, have suddenly become no longer golden oak, but golden gold — the kind you hoard and buy stuff with, the kind that multiplies.

All that is needed to turn a hodge-podge collection of unwanted items into a valuable asset is to advertise a yard sale, garage sale or any other type of sale in order to liquidate your unwanted Christmas and birthday gifts, your duplications in silver and flatware, china, glass, crystal, ceramics, pottery, all kinds of housewares and electric appliances, old or new. You can go the route of the Friday night auction, too, if you don't want a private sale.

And not only are the items which might formerly have been considered family heirlooms now suddenly valuable. Many, many others, which your parents would have discarded as junk just as soon as they became prosperous enough to do without them, are right now, as the saying goes, "lookin' good".

Old watches and clocks, working or not, outlandishly styled costume jewellery which might in an earlier day have indicated a misspent youth, figurines, stamps, coins, old booze or medicine bottles, cosmetic containers, glass insulators which young fellows used to shoot off the hydro and telephone poles — all of these are coveted by collectors and often mean new-found wealth for their owners.

Thousands of ordinary families in Canada and the United States, too, have capitalized on this relatively new source of funds from many years' accumulation of items which they have long considered to be of little or no value.

Oil boom started in Ontario

Ontario is no longer among the major oil producers in Canada, and few Canadians realize that this province was once one of the oil giants of the world.

Not only did Ontario beat her sister provinces to the oil punch; we actually had the first commercial oil well on the North American continent; this very first discovery was made in 1885 at Oil Springs, near Sarnia. And shortly thereafter, in 1862, in the same area, the greatest gusher the world had seen up until that time began spouting crude six metres into the air, and flowing at a rate of 2,000 barrels a day.

Of course there were no motor cars, buses, trains or other vehicles to use the new wonder fuel, but there was another important use for it. Just a few years earlier, a Nova Scotian named Abraham Gesner had invented kerosene as a bright, safe light source, and the refined product from the newly tapped crude wells found a ready market throughout the land, and beyond.

But it was not only the oil that was exported. The expertise developed by the drillers and other workers at these early wells proved also to be a very marketable commodity, and they opened the first wells in Persia, Venezuela, Poland, Russia, Indonesia and other oil centres throughout the world.

Although a few wells in the area are still producing, their output is a miniscule fraction of Canada's annual oil production. But the Petrolia Discovery exhibit, maintained by the Town of Petrolia, keeps alive the glory days when the town was the oil capital not only of Ontario, but of the entire world.

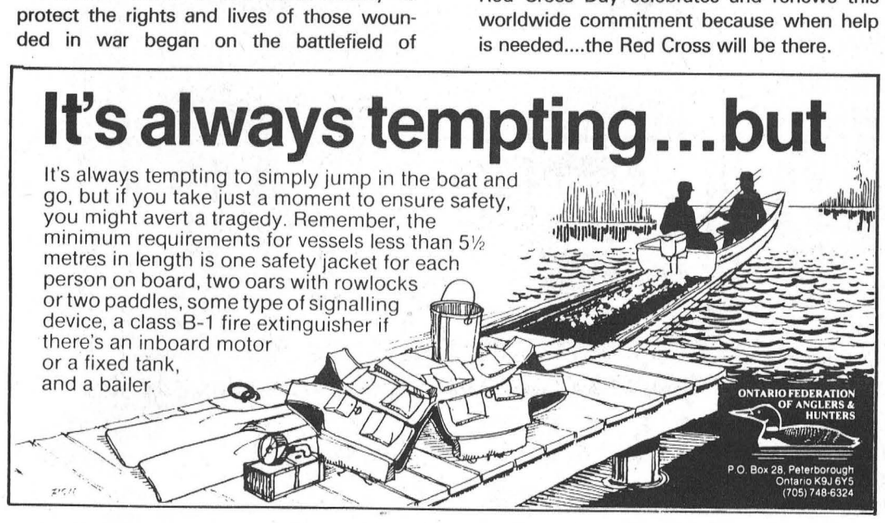
125 years of saving lives

On May 8th, Canadian Red Cross Societies around the world will celebrate 125 years of protecting human life. May 8th is World Red Cross Day, and it is celebrated in honor of the birthday of Henry Dunant, the Swiss businessman who conceived the idea of the Red Cross.

The first World Red Cross Day was celebrated in 1948. The first time the day was celebrated with a theme was in 1953, to mark the 125th anniversary of Dunant's birth. Today, the Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement is still hard at work carrying on Dunant's dream by protecting human rights and saving lives throughout the world.

Dunant's vision of a neutral society to protect the rights and lives of those wounded in war began on the battlefield of Solferino, one of the bloodiest battles of the 1800s. He was horrified by the sight of thousands of dead and dying soldiers who lay deserted on the field after the battle. In his book, A Memory of Solferino, Sunant wrote that this neutral society would be charged with looking after all wounded soldiers, regardless of what side they had been fighting for. His idea was, and still is very simple, "...the dignity of people must be respected at all times - even in war".

The Red Cross believes as much in Dunant's vision today, as he did 125 years ago, and will continue to work tirelessly to protect human rights and save lives. World Red Cross Day celebrates and renews this worldwide commitment because when help is needed....the Red Cross will be there.



This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles
by Bonnie McNairn

1978

The April 25th, 1979 issue of The Leader reported that Ken Carter, after a full year of hibernation, had met with officials of Morrisburg's Old Home Week and had agreed to stage a full two-hour show during the upcoming celebrations. He was to display his jet car, a proto-type created for the river jump and his rocket powered jump car, the vehicle to be used in the international jump which was now tentatively scheduled for September.

The membership of Timothy Christian School at Williamsburg was planning to build a new gymnasium at a cost of $47,000.

Dwight Crowder was celebrating 20 years in the monument and memorial business. After operating in two locations in Williamsburg, Crowder Monuments was now located on Highway 2 at the east end of Morrisburg. He had been joined by his son Dale in 1973.

McGillis Home Hardware was undergoing an expansion which was to see the addition of 1800 square feet of floor space to the back of the store.

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions had given fans a scare when they opened the best-of-seven championship series against the Ottawa South Canadians with a 9-5 loss. But they had rebounded in games two and three with 6-4 and 4-3 wins. The Lions were considered series underdogs by league brass.

Margaret Bowman, in her 41st year as a member of the Morrisburg Curling Club, became the fifth person to receive a life membership. Others who held life memberships were Charles Crober, Ed Casselman, Lorne Kincaid and Jeff Christensen.

Public speaking winners at Riverside Heights Public School were Brenda Dikland, Sharlene Dikland, Cathy DeMontiguy, Susie Petralie, Bobby Hart and Sean Butcher.

The April 25th, 1969 issue of The Leader reported the Morrisburg Mets Lacrosse team was prepared to open another season on May 9th against the Cornwall Celtics. The local team was opening the season with some new faces this year having lost five of their stellar performers to over-age. Missing from the lineup were to be the familiar figures of Joe Billings, Jack Notman, Erwin Meyers, Steve Casselman and Jim Cameron. However the keen interest in minor lacrosse was beginning to pay off with some talented graduates moving up. Last year the Mets had culminated a five-year history when they contested the Canadian Championship in Winnipeg.

The Junior Workshop of Morrisburg's Little Theatre group presented a professional performance at the Civic Centre under the direction of Lee Jeffrey. Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs featured Kathryn Thom as Snow White, Jo-Ann Cameron as the prince, Peggy Steer the Queen, Cheryl Aikman the lady-in-waiting and Mary McLean the hunter.

Mrs. Thomas Fraser was re-elected president of the Morrisburg Women's Institute.

At the Dominion, a five-pound bag of Country Boy frozen French fries was 89 cents and Royal jelly powders were 10 cents each.

Floyd Fisher Real Estate had a newly-renovated brick home in Morrisburg with three bedrooms and a full basement listed for $22,500.

1959

Headlines in the April 24th, 1959 issue of The Leader read Queen to Visit Morrisburg June 27th. Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, with her consort Prince Phillip, was to leave Cornwall on the 27th proceeding west on Highway 2 where they were to turn south on Laurier Drive, to Riverside Drive, eventually to be received at the Morrisburg Civic Centre.

Harry Williams of Mountain was elected president of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture succeeding Harold McMenomy.

Daylight Saving Time was to go into effect on April 26th.

1949

The April 29th, 1949 issue of The Leader reported that Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Saddlemire of Williamsburg were celebrating their 62nd wedding anniversary. They were married in 1887 at the Presbyterian manse Morrisburg by Rev. E. Bayne.

Blue cross members were notified that in order to be eligible for hospitalization benefits through the Williamsburg Women's Institute. they must be members of good standing. Institute memberships cost 50 cents.

The Public Health Act required that all yards, privies, stables and other premises be thoroughly cleaned and all refuse and rubbish removed and properly disposed of before May 1st. The Sanitary Inspection was to begin May 1st.

At the Modern Market red ripe Mexican tomatoes were 19 cents a pound and fresh pineapples were 26 cents each.

1939

The April 28th, 1939 issue of The Leader reported that through the efforts of Gordon Jones and David Knowles, Iroquois High School was awarded the James Grahame Memorial Cup at the oratorical contest held in Winchester.

Nominated by Reeve Edward Strader, Alton Locke became a councillor for the village of Iroquois, filling the vacancy created by the death of W.D. Hamilton.

At Barkley's Meat Market turnips were 25 cents a peck and asparagus was three bunches for 25 cents.

The April 26th, 1929 issue of The Leader reported the death of His Honor Judge O'Reilly, which occurred at the Cornwall Court House. After opening court he was sized with a sudden weakness and was forced to adjourn court. He was assisted to his chambers and before medical help arrived he passed away.

At the Dominion, California oranges were 19 cents a dozen and a half pound package of Kraft Velvetta Cheese was 21 cents.

PLAN NOW FOR THE ~~REST~~ Best OF YOUR LIFE

Education, Volunteerism & Travel In Retirement

What is the key to successful aging? Satisfaction and security in our older years are certainly boosted by adequate living conditions and income. But, according to many experts, maintaining a strong interest in learning, and keeping mentally active are even more important.

The myth that persons of retirement age have special difficulty in learning new concepts and techniques, or make poor classroom students, is just that -- a myth. Learning patterns may change from those of childhood, but the capacity to learn usually remains strong and vital.

Most people encounter activities and interests during their employment and/or family-raising years – a new sport, intellectual topic, hobby or skill – that they just didn't have the time to pursue fully. Retirement years provide the opportunity to re-visit these interests, and delve into them anew.

Both formal and informal educational institutions encourage older student involvement, often providing specialized counsellors to assist in making programs more accessible and enjoyable. They understand that mature students bring valuable experience and knowledge to their classes. Programs for the older adult have proliferated local YMCAs, libraries, continuing education and community centres, recreation departments, as well as churches and synagogues.

For some, the incentive to learn is self-improvement. For others, it's a sense of achievement, friendship, the sharing of common interests ... or simply the excitement of learning itself.

"Learning", however, is not limited to going to school. It is the acquisition of any information, skill and insight, which promotes self-reliance, independence and personal pride.

Volunteering, for instance, offers a way to learn new skills while making friends and helping others. Many community organizations, cultural institutions and social agencies depend on volunteers for their survival. They often provide training, while the volunteer controls how much time he or she wishes to contribute.

Many retired people are ready to volunteer their time and effort, not only because they see the need, but because they find volunteer activities enhance the quality of their lives. The rapport that often develops between retirees and those – young or old – they visit or assist, provides a mutually enriching experience.

Volunteer activities which bring different age groups together help bridge the gap between generations. For the many children who do not have grandparents nearby, this contact can generate mutual affection and respect. Assisting students with their school work, coaching sports teams or acting as score-keepers, are just some of the volunteer activities which can be explored.

Volunteer services are organized and co-ordinated by community groups, service clubs, hospitals, churches, seniors' organizations and governments. There are volunteers involved in arts centres, musical groups and museums. Volunteers can perform challenging jobs, participate in the decision-making process, and assume executive or board positions within an agency or organization. In short, volunteering can be exciting and rewarding.

Another popular option offering stimulating retirement opportunities is travel. Retirement allows the freedom to choose where, when and how you wish to travel. Vacation offers the chance to escape everyday surroundings and responsibilities, and the opportunity to experience things you couldn't find time for in working life.

Retirees may find it much easier to take holidays frequently and inexpensively. Ontario Travel offers a multitude of travel ideas – for every age group. They provide a number of publications outlining special attractions, events and accommodations, and may be called toll-free at 1-800-ONTARIO. Travel counsellors are available to assist with travel plans and provide specific information for individuals with special needs.

Airlines, bus companies and railways often offer transportation at special prices. Many churches, clubs and other organizations also arrange conducted tours at affordable prices. Discuss your ideas with family and friends, and consult the travel section in your local newspaper for new travel ideas and bargains.

There are also travel agents who specialize in group tours and holidays for older adults. If planning to travel alone, this may be an alternative.

Many people retire from their job, only to become deeply involved in other interests. The opportunities are endless, and the rewards are many.

This article is one in a series provided by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation to encourage early planning for retirement. The Ministry has also published "RETIREMENT PLANNING FOR SMALL COMMUNITIES IN ONTARIO", a manual which offers complete step-by-step instructions to individuals interested in co-ordinating a retirement planning seminar in their community. For more information, write the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation, Retirement Planning, Recreation Branch, 77 Bloor St. W., 8th floor, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2R9.

Drug & Alcohol information lines set up

TORONTO — Parents and teenagers across Ontario can now listen to young persons talk about drug and alcohol abuse through the Addiction Research Foundation's (ARF) Drug and Alcohol Information Lines.

The toll-free, confidential telephone service offers more than 60 audio tapes with information about drugs and alcohol based on ARF research.

The Addiction Research Foundation has produced four new "Straight talk" tapes that let young persons do the talking.

"We believe it's important to listen to teenagers," says Larry Hershfield, director of ARF's Prevention and Health Promotion Programs.

"We asked kids to tell us in their own words how they deal with peer pressure to try drugs, and what they see as alternatives to drugs."

Two of the tapes offer advice to parents. "Research shows there's a real gap between what the parents are saying and what the kids are hearing," says Hershfield. "Approximately 80 per cent of parents say they are talking with their kids about drugs, but only about 40 per cent of kids agree.

"The Drug and Alcohol Information Line is a perfect example of research and education working together to promote a healthy lifestyle. We invite parents and teenagers to listen to the messages. The more people know about drugs and alcohol, the easier it is for them to choose a healthy lifestyle."

The Drugs and Alcohol Information Line operates from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., 7 days a week. Callers can also confidentially ask for information on treatment facilities in their area. To use the service, dial 595-6111 in Toronto or 1-800-387-2916 toll-free anywhere in Ontario.

The Addiction Research Foundation is an agency of the Province of Ontario.

Seaway News

BY CINDY LAURIN

IROQUOIS — Well, by the time you read this, Seaway's band will be off to Orlando on their wonderful 24 hour bus ride, for six days of fun in the sun. Not that they're bragging or anything, they only mention it about every two seconds. Well I hope they have fun and win us lots of trophies at the competition. Good luck!

On Friday Kent Smith has organized a Sadie Hawkin's dance and yes, the girls have to ask the guys! Now's the time to study the prospects and move in girls! There's not much time left! The dance will be D.J.'d by our fave D.J. Dave Brannan.

Ault Foods charged

WINCHESTER — Lawyers representing Ault Foods will appear in Provincial Court May 15 to set their trial date in which the plant will answer to an improper waste disposal case by the Ministry of Environment.

The dairy and cheese manufacturer has been charged under the Ontario Environment Protection Act by provincial ministry officer William Kozak.

The charge stems from an investigation by the ministry which indicated that Ault Foods was improperly depositing their waste on its property and the nearby Morgan farm during May 12th to 25th, 1987.

Ingleside Senior Citizens Club meets

INGLESIDE — Fifty-six members of Senior Citizens' Club No. 283 assembled at St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church Hall for the April meeting.

President Rita Partridge welcomed members returning after a winter in the South. The National Anthem was followed by birthday greetings to all who were celebrating in April. A special certificate was presented to Beryl Morrison making her an Honorary Member of the United Senior Citizens of Ontario as a tribute to passing her ninetieth birthday this month.

A reading entitled "Dishes as Therapy" was read by the President and future events outlined for May and June. Included were the Elderobic Moonwalk, the annual Tea and Bazaar, and the annual Rally for this district.

A copy of a letter from the President of the United Senior Citizens of Ontario and others to the Premier, expressing Seniors' concerns regarding the increase in automobile insurance premiums, was read.

Brian Paquette of the Ingleside Fire Department was present to advise members about safety in the home. He explained the procedure to follow in reporting a fire as well as many "do's" and "do not's" when a fire is discovered. The numerous questions and remarks from the audience indicated their interest and concern in the subject-matter.

After a tasty salad and dessert lunch, many members remained to play games. Door prizes were won by Olive MacMillan and Beryl Morrison.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all the relatives and friends who met in Trinity United Church Hall, Ingleside on Sunday, April 16th to celebrate my 90th birthday. Further thanks to the choir and members of the U.C.W. who furnished the refreshments, for the very prettily arranged tea tables; those pouring tea and those hard-working ladies in the kitchen who kept the refreshments replenished. To Mr. Glenn Dafoe who acted as Master of Ceremonies and did so admirably; to Miss Lena McLaren who composed the words of the two songs which the choir rendered; to the President of the Senior Citizens' Club No. 283 of Ingleside for her kind words, to the President of the Lost Villages Historical Society; to the members of the St. Lawrence Branch U.E.L.; and the other ladies who spoke words of appreciation; to my two brothers and two nephews who also added their words of tribute; to the M.P. Mr. Bob Kilger who presented the plaque from the House of Commons, to the M.P. Mr. Noble Villeneuve for the congratulations and the plaque from the Ontario Government; for the kind words from the Warden of the Three United Counties, S.D.&G. and the certificate from them; for the Honorary Membership certificate from the Ingleside Senior Citizens; to all who sent me such beautiful cards; to those who brought gifts; to those relatives of my late husband Archie Morrison, his niece from Regina, the niece from Toronto and two cousins from Cornwall. I really appreciated seeing and meeting those four again. Among the gifts was a Book of Memories in which had been placed notes from four previous ministers and many other friends who had moved away from Ingleside. This is something I will treasure and enjoy looking over and reading through whatever number of years remain to me. Once again I would like to reiterate my sincerest appreciation to everyone who attended, sent cards and letters and contributed in any way to the successful celebration of my 90th birthday, including the beautiful cake so nicely decorated although it was five days too late for the proper date.
Beryl Morrison

We wish to express our deep gratitude to family and friends for their kindness following the death of my brother Patrick. In particular, thanks to Father Michael Reed, Sisters of Providence, Catholic Womens League, the choir, and last but not least, the members of the Legion.
Sincerely,
Mary Tennant and children

IN MEMORIAM

MURRAY — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Joe who passed away April 25, 1984.
There is a bridge of memory,
From earth to heaven above,
It keeps you always near us,
It's called the bridge of love.
May you walk in sunshine,
And God's love around you flow,
For the happiness you gave us,
No one will ever know,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife, Clara, family and grandchildren.

Ontario Hydro

PUBLIC NOTICE

Ontario Hydro is planning to upgrade the generating units at R.H. Saunders Generating Station in Cornwall. Since the construction of R.H. Saunders in the late 1950's, technological advances in the design of hydraulic turbines have resulted in an opportunity to improve the efficiency of our generating units and to increase generation at the station.

In order to maximize benefits from potential hydraulic energy, Ontario Hydro proposes to install new turbine runners in all 16 generating units. The proposal calls for the upgrading of two units a year beginning in October 1991. The work will be carried out during the regular maintenance cycle at which time the unit is disassembled. All work will be contained within the generating station.

The project will not change the pattern of water discharge from R.H. Saunders GS nor the existing conditions of the river flows and levels of the St. Lawrence River.

Ontario Hydro has carried out an environmental study and prepared an environmental report under the Ontario Hydro's Class Environmental Assessment for Modifications to Hydroelectric Facilities.

The report has been submitted to the Environmental Assessment Branch, Ministry of the Environment, for filing in the Public Record.

Additional copies of the report are available fro public review during the 30 day review period at R.H. Saunders GS, Energy Information Centre, and at the City Clerk's Office, Cornwall.

Any written comments you may have regarding this project must be received by May 18, 1989.

Old-time theme for gala picnic

MORRISBURG — It's to be a picnic, the biggest picnic ever held in the village, and best of all...everyone's invited.

And all anyone has to bring along is an old-fashioned picnic supper and lots of community spirit.

"We thought it would be something good for the village," says organizer Sam Laurin who announced the Saturday, June 17 picnic last week.

Laurin and Brian Wheeler of Freshmart came up with the idea recently and found it very easy to get people involved and the financing that is needed.

"Everyone we talked to thought it was a great idea and although we could use a few more people to help us out, things are progressing rapidly," says Laurin.

"We approached three of our major industries, Rohm and Haas, Beavers and Odonto and all were quick to come on board with the financial support."

The idea actually developed from talk of the picnics of days gone by at Broder Island. "The older folks in the village remember Broder Island and the great times they had there," says Laurin. "Since Broder Island is no more, the site was out of the question, but we decided to stick with the old-time picnic theme."

Freshmart is donating hotdogs and Pepsi to the Boy Scouts who will sell them at a minimal fee, as a welcome fund-raising project. There will be free popcorn available during the day.

Laurin expects that most participants of the day will sit down to a picnic supper.

But there will be plenty more to do than just eat.

The afternoon will be filled with games for the youngsters in various age categories and at regular intervals there will be draws for T-shirts for all participants.

To wrap up the children's activities there will be draws in each of two age groups for girls' and boys' bicycles and there will be a children's show late in the afternoon.

From 5-6 p.m. there will be entertainment by a local band followed by a pipe band show and dance organized and sponsored by Gord MacGregor of Gregor's Place.

The Leader and Stedmans are sponsoring an evening dance, from 7 to 10, featuring the band Magic Circle which performs Calypso music.

Rohm and Haas is sponsoring all of the children's events and prize give aways and Beavers and Odonto are footing the fireworks display which will follow the dancing at 10 p.m.

We are also hoping to have a pie baking contest for the ladies, a horseshoe tournament, a small blooperball tournament and perhaps a tug-of-war, says Laurin.

"We're still looking for people to help out and we're open to suggestions for activities."

"There'll be entertainment for the whole family and we're hoping for a big turnout," he added. "Afterall there's lot of room, we've got a whole park we can fill."

"We're trying to create a 1940's early 50s atmosphere and the best-dressed family of that era will be rewarded handsomely."

Ice takes toll on area golf courses

MORRISBURG — While many of us enjoyed the fairly open winter, golfers will now have to pay the price as they wait for local courses to recover from the damage done by the ice cover.

Although the deep frost and the ice generally prevent disease, the ice causes a whole different problem, says Jim Riopelle, superintendant at the Upper Canada Golf Course east of Morrisburg.

"We have some ice damage with some greens worse than others," says Riopelle. "It's the worst I've seen since I've been here and it's because of the ice and lack of snow."

"We have some terrible frost heaving on the fairways and there was a lot of sprinkler movement," he said.

Riopelle explained that the greens which are well protected came through it beautifully and those that drain well are also looking good, factors also pointed out by personnel at the Morrisburg, Iroquois and Cedar Glen courses.

All report that they are two to three weeks behind on the course and all are looking for a warm rain followed by some warm, sunny days.

"It's nice to get a good frost," says Riopelle. "If the ground is frozen it prevents winter diseases, whereas snow cover keeps the soil temperature up and promotes diseases."

"I would doubt that there would be any course around with disease this year," says Riopelle.

All agree that in most cases the grass will come back. "There is growth underneath," says Dennis Casselman at Williamsburg. "We just need the weather now."

Riopelle says there are some very bad spots on some greens at Upper Canada but for the most part the crowns are still alive and will come in.

There is considerable damage to the poa-annua commonly referred to as annual bluegrass explained Riopelle. Bent grass will survive ice better and this is evident this year.

"Around here most courses have a little of both grasses with more of the bluegrass. "In fact some of my greens are now 100 per cent blue grass," says Riopelle.

"This is because the bluegrass invades the bent grass," he explained. "It produces seeds at a low height and you find it will eventually take over."

Riopelle says he will be over-seeding, hopefully with bent grass which he points out is hard to get.

Conditions at all area courses are similar. Greens that drained well look good, while those that didn't are damaged.

Morrisburg and Iroquois did their first cuts early last week and their flags were flying for the weekend. At Williamsburg the flags will be in this weekend and Upper Canada will open Friday, May 5th.

Last fall the Morrisburg club completed a major renovation to its number six green. "It came through extremely well," says club president John Cottrill. "Although it probably won't be in play until the end of May or early June we are pleased with the results."

Over the winter the Morrisburg Club also purchased an aerator which will be put to use as soon as possible says Cottrill. "We added some new traps and everything looks good."

At Iroquois and Cedar Glen some changes have been made in the clubhouse. Iroquois has received a fresh coat of paint and Cedar Glen is enlarging kitchen and club room space.

"Normally at this time of year we've had a lot more golfers out," says Alton Cassidy at Iroquois, "but the bloody north wind is making it too cold."

All clubs are anxious to get going, and all are eagerly awaiting a change in the weather.

Curling club reports good year

MORRISBURG — The Morrisburg Curling Club finished the season here Tuesday night, and with that matter taken care of looked ahead to next year.

Moving on to the executive for the upcoming season are Graeme Doig representing the evening men, Joan Morrell representing the afternoon women, Brad Bradford for the afternoon men, Margaret Dutta for the mixed curlers and Kathy Johnston for the evening women.

Three of the four members at large, required on the board, are Steve Byvelds, Ian McGillis and Ernie Fling.

According to out-going president Kathy Johnston, official positions on the executive will not be decided until the first meeting on May 7.

"There is a normal rotation which would see the evening men's representative step into the president's position," she said.

The out-going president was pleased to report a very success year, a year that saw a new roof put on the club.

"We expect to be able to repay all of the members loans resulting from the new roof when the Wintario grant comes in some time in July," she said.

That will leave the club with a five year $10,000 loan to the Ottawa Valley curling association only.

"We've made an interest payment to the association and will make our first payment towards the principal in September," says Johnston.

"We had a very good year," she said. The club was used all but two Saturdays during the season and one of those was Christmas Eve she pointed out. "Granted some were goodwill bookings but we're pleased to be able to do them."

"As well we had four in-club bonspiels which were marvellous," she said. "In fact we had almost a full house for every one."

Johnston said the membership had remained in line with the year before with a 134 total. Faced with the expense of a new roof she was happy to see the membership stick with the club.

"But we are hoping that over the summer we can increase our membership. Even if we could get another 20 people it would be a big help," she added.

MORRISBURG — The Morrisburg and District Figure Skating Club elected its new executive here Sunday night and back for her second year as president is Sandra Scott.

In fact, five of the positions remained unchanged and another two people switched to another spot.

Returning as vice-president is Claire Locke and as treasurer is Pat Elliott. The new kid on the block is Donna Crocker who stepped into the secretary's position.

Carman Massie will again handle the CFSA program and Sheila Lapier moved from Canskate chairperson to Canfigureskate chairperson. Mary Howard took over the Canskate program.

Marilyn Hummel moved from her Canfigureskate position to take over as *Inter-club representative and Barb Robertson is the new registrar. The task of fund-raising will be handled by Kelly Stanczak, Devra Wells will be in charge of music and Debbie Shaver of the club's annual skate carnival.

Although not voting members of the executive, Joy Casselman will again organize the club year-end banquet and Bonnie McNairn the newsletter.

New this year is the addition of assistants to the positions of treasurer and CFSA chairperson, in order to provide a smooth change-over in executive positions. Donna Crocker will assist Carmen Massie in the CFSA program and Joy Casselman will learn the treasurer's duties.

The annual meeting was very short with all convenors presenting written reports.

In general the reports indicated a very successful year. The club grew by 32 new skaters this season bringing its membership to 84 skaters.

The only disappointing item of the night was the announcement that Morrisburg council had turned down the club's request for earlier ice.

This request was made in conjunction with minor hockey and the Morrisburg Junior B Lions. Council cited costs as the reason for their refusal.

Minor soccer ready to go

MORRISBURG — The Spartan minor soccer program is ready for the 1989 season and the club is hopeful of the best season ever.

Unfortunately, at this time it appears there won't be enough players to operate the U-16 team which involves youngsters born in 1973 or 1974.

Although there is a player shortage at the U-14 and U-12 categories it is felt there are enough to make both teams go for the summer. The first practises for both are scheduled for May 23 at the Waterfront Park.

Fun nights for the U-10s and U-8s won't begin until mid-June and, as in previous years, the focus will be on having a good time while learning a little bit about the game.

Each session will last an hour and 15 minutes and will run until the end of August.

The tyke's Saturday morning program will also kick off in June and will focus entirely on learning with fun. Each session will last one hour and the program will run for 10 weeks.

The club is still actively looking for U-14 and U-12 players. These categories are for players born in 1975 or 1976 and 1977 or 1978 respectively.

The club is hoping to enter these teams in league play, but needs the numbers to do so. Anyone interested can call Bill Ault at 652-2138.

South Nation

Big fish derby planned

BERWICK — The value of fish is going up, way up in fact for the Saturday, May 13 Fishing Derby sponsored by the South Nation River Conservation Authority in conjunction with the village of Plantangenet.

In fact one pickerel will be tagged making it worth $10,000 for the sportsman who manages to bag it Saturday and another 20 pickerel will be tagged making them worth $200 each if caught Saturday and $25 if caught after Saturday.

As well there will be $800 in trophies and gifts awarded for the five largest pickerel caught on Saturday and child's prizes for the biggest fish of any kind.

The 19th Hole

MORRISBURG — Who says golfers aren't tough? Friday afternoon the flags went in at the Morrisburg Golf Course and despite the below normal weekend temperatures there were many who re-acquainted themselves with the game.

The course appeared to have wintered well and reports are that the new number six green is looking good. Golfers are reminded that a temporary green is in play on six until the new one is ready to go.

Harry Nicholaassen and Gerry Byvelds were back at work last Monday and the clubhouse, under the supervision of Charlotte Cougler will open this Saturday and run on limited hours, at least until we get some good weather.

Members can pick up their membership packages, which include association cards, the club calendar booklet and bag tags at the clubhouse.

Please read the booklet carefully as there are several changes to programs this year, changes that the executive feels will make for a much better season.

In particular make note of the club's 50th anniversary celebration planned for the last week in May and first week in June. We are expecting a full house so sign early. As well there are three on-going matchplay tournaments for men, women and couples with substantial prizes up-for-grabs at the end of the season.

The first item on the 1989 calendar is the annual spring meeting on Sunday, April 30th beginning at 2 p.m. The 1989 budget will be presented for approval at this time and all members are encouraged to attend. Details of the season will also be outlined so plan to attend.

The first ladies' night is scheduled for Tuesday, May 9th and features the always fabulous pot-luck supper. Ladies mornings begin Thursday, May 11 and the men's night will kick off on the same day.

New this year is the Hugh Hutchison Memorial Opening Day Tournament on Sunday, May 14 to honor the late Mr. Hutchison who contributed so much to the club in many capacities including, for many years, the club captain's duties.

Well over three-quarters of the membership took advantage of the early-bird rates in March and for those who still have to join, payments will be accepted at the snackbar or by Bonnie McNairn.

Memberships are due May 1st and the 1989 fees are: men $165, women $65, couples $280, juniors $60 and family $350. Junior memberships are available to players aged eight through 18 years and the junior age limits apply to family memberships.

Spartans gain experience in Toronto

TORONTO — Recently the Spartans senior mens team travelled to Toronto to participate in an elite tournament at Soccer World II in Mississauga. The tournament, a sixteen team event, featured some of the best teams in Toronto including Toronto Emerald and the Scarborough Azzurri who won the Canadian Club championships in 1986 and 1987 respectively.

The Spartans in their three round robin games faced two teams from the Toronto and District Soccer Leagues Premier division and one side from the semi-professional National Soccer League. All of the games were played at Soccer World II a fine facility which featured a full sized, fully turfed indoor field.

Game one saw the Spartans face Cycle Path which is the first team of The Oakville Gunners whom the Spartans met in a 7-1 loss in the Kingston indoor tournament in 1988. The Spartans fared better this time round ending up on the end of a 3-0 score. The score was reflective of the play as the Spartans gave up some bad goals but then also saw Cycle Path miss some easy chances.

In game two the Spartans were a bit more composed and had some chances of their own but ended up losing once again by that same 3-0 scoreline. Brian Bennett and Chris Merkley had the two best chances but were unable to beat the goalkeeper for the Ching side.

Game three saw the Spartans play their first ever game against a semi-professional side when they faced the Macedonia Stars a team based on Croatia of the National Soccer League. The result while predictable did give the Spartans a reason to cheer as they scored their only goal of the tournament.

But one goal against a team that could seemingly score at will is not much and the final scoreline read 7-1. Steve Lodge making his first appearance for the Spartans in about a year scored the Spartan goal.

Hart Foundation takes championship

RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS — After three weeks of playoff action in the Riverside mixed dart league, it was Joannie's Pearls and the Hart Foundation leading the pack, but this time it was the Foundation capturing the silverware.

The Pearls led Division A with 20 points, narrowly squeezing out the Discounts, who finished regular season in last place but turned it around during the playoffs.

Division B was won by the Foundation also with 20 points and right on their heels were the Limbos with 19.

As a result of the first place finishes the two met in a best-of-five playoff for the championship, but unlike the regular season playoff won by the Pearls, the Foundations, this time ended on top.

Gary Hart started it for the Foundation hitting for back-to-back outs but then brother Bobby stepped in to claim one for the Pearls. Darlene Lortie finished it off giving the Foundation the championship.

Members of the Foundation team are Gary Hart, Bill Devaul, Darlene Lortie and Steven Bradford. Fred spared for the team Wednesday night.

In round robin playoff action Wednesday, the Foundation held on to first place with five wins, two each from Hart and Bradford and one from Lortie.

The Limbos put together a valiant effort to try to overtake the leaders but seven wins left them one point short of a tie. Leading their charge was Derek Whitteker with three outs and Elva Baker and Gary Bradford had two each.

To hold on to first place in division A, the Pearls produced six outs, three from Joan Smirle, two from Bobby Jack Hart and a single from Mary Gummeson.

The Discounts remained right on their heels, but like the Limbos, their seven point effort left them one point short of claiming a share of first place.

Brian McNairn led the Discounts with three outs, and Lloyd Smirle and Verlin Gallinger had two each.

MC's take early lead

MORRISBURG—The MCs have taken the early lead in the Morrisburg Mixed dart league playoffs, edging out front of the rest of the pack with 20 points, followed by the Untouchables at 18.

The playoff format calls for two total round robins in the 14 team league. Play was last Tuesday night with seven games and Friday night with the remaining six for the first round robin.

Playoffs will end this Friday night.

The MCs lost only two of their opening seven games last Tuesday, picking up three wins from Terry Laurin and singles from Charlotte Cougler and Lyle Stewart.

Friday night they turned it on for another five wins, this time with three outs from Stewart and singles from Laurin and Cougler.

Second place is held by the Untouchables who won the regular season championship. The Untouchables, at 18 points, opened Tuesday with four outs from Fran Lapierre and Friday they claimed five out of six.

Lapierre added two, Kevin Adams had two and Lynn Dillabough a single.

A major traffic jam has developed for third place with the Little Dills, Rovers, Playmates and Happy Steroids all tied at 16 points.

The No Outs, Raiders and Spooks are next with 14 points, followed by the Hopefuls and Stumblebums with 10 each. The No Names have six, the Bunnies eight and the Lucky 13s have been held to just one win for two points.

Happy 14th Birthday

Old Authors under new management

Store was visited by presidents and prime ministers

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — As Ottawa couple Nancy and Duncan Edmonds, recent purchasers of the Old Authors Farm are learning, collecting and selling books can be a wonderful and exciting business and hobby.

Started in the 1940's by the Borden Clarks on Sussex Street in Ottawa, and moved to Morrisburg, the Old Authors Farm located on Gibson Lane has a long and interesting history.

Under the ownership of the Clarks at Sussex Drive, it was visited by PM's Wm. Lyon MacKenzie King, R.B. Bennett, Louis St. Laurent and John Diefenbaker. Mail-order customers included Sir Winston Churchill, U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Henry Ford, Harry Truman and other notables.

New owners

The third owners of the Old Authors Farm are pictured here in the book barn, Duncan Edmonds at left, and Nancy Edmonds. The couple purchased the business from Cam Martel this year and are already involved in selling antique, rare and second-hand books both locally and world-wide.

Although the "Old Author", as the late Borden Clarke came to be known, never wrote any books he did write 250 catalogues, and corresponded with celebrities such as the American poet Carl Sandburg, and the late renowned physicist Albert Einstein.

Bought by Cam Martel in 1974, Cam and his wife Teri ran the operation for about 15 years, continuing both a local and a world-wide business, and maintaining a friendship with Borden and Dorothy Clark.

Early this year, the Authors Farm was sold to the Edmonds.

"You can meet wonderful people, it's never dull, it's always thrilling and intellectually challenging," says Duncan, a renowned scholar who is a visiting professor at the University of Ottawa, former visiting professor at the University of Yale, and was a founder and chairman of the consulting firm, Public Affairs International.

Buying, reading and collecting books has fascinated Duncan and Nancy for many years.

"Eventually as a collector, you build up so many books around you, you fall over the line to the point where you have to sell some," says Nancy.

"And some you're not sure you want to sell," added Duncan.

Since the Edmonds took possession of the book store, Nancy's expertise in library science has helped in the reorganization of some 50,000 books in the book barn, and another few thousand in the shed.

The store is open now on Friday and Saturday, and will be open for longer hours when the tourist season starts, beginning mid-May.

Already the Ottawa couple have been involved in selling antique, rare and second-hand books both locally and internationally for the past few months. Although they do not restrict themselves to dealing in antiquarian books (over 100 years old), they buy and sell the above kinds of books, and are willing to help locate reading material for people, including new books.

They would like to specialize on Canadiana, focussing on the Canadian American border, the St. Lawrence River, and an early history of the area.

The Edmonds plan to put out a catalogue two to three times a year, and hold special events like sales and autographing sessions by authors.

Collectors are responsible for a good part of their business - some collect Rudyard Kipling, Jack London, Nancy Drew, detective fiction, archaelogical books, etc.

A widely sought after auther is Ralph Connor, the creator of 'Man from Glengarry', 'Girl from Glengarry', and 'Glengarry School Days'.

"For every book in our shop, there is someone who wants it," says Duncan.

"This can be a daunting challenge," explained Nancy, "but even it you get lucky 10 per cent of the time, it's a great accomplishment."

To match book with buyer, the couple research the Bookman's Weekly, a publication of North American book dealers, which contains a list of people's wants, and send out letters quoting books they have found.

"We have received a lot of responses," says Nancy, "including a lady from California, who wanted a book called 'The Apostle of Democracy'."

"We sent her a letter, and she wrote to say how thrilled she was after 17 years of search to be able to purchase a book written by her grandmother's cousin."

Books are priced with the aid of estimates provided by value guides.

Dealers have helped take books off their hands, purchasing yards of volumes in their particular interests, paperbacks, nineteenth century books, how to volumes and so on.

One dealer was delighted to find and purchase all the records of the Boston Symphony Orchestra from 1904.

One reason for collecting old books, according to Duncan, is the investment aspect.

"It is a business which rewards knowledge — in other words if you know the point about a book, it can be a lucrative business."

He cited the example of the book collector about 30 years ago who bought an original copy of 'Tamerlane', a poem by American writer Edgar Allen Poe, from a Boston book dealer for .75, selling it later for many thousands.

"Although it's not likely that you will come across a real find like this, the possibility still exists," says Duncan. "At the Old Authors Farm, you may buy a book for $10 to $20 and come across a treasure."

But superceding investment values, the couple's chief motivation for going into the business, is to develop a marvelous hobby and a community resource to Morrisburg and the surrounding area.

Help Shape the Future of Your County

Issues such as waste management, economic development, an aging population... and increasing costs... are putting an impossible strain on our county government system which has changed little since 1849.

That's why the Minister of Municipal Affairs set up an Advisory Committee on County Government in 1987 to study ways in which this vital segment of municipal administration could be updated to face the realities of today. He followed this up with the appointment of a Consultation Committee on County Government in 1988 which held hearings in each of Ontario's 26 counties to get YOUR views on this important topic.

Taking into account suggestions made by county government representatives, members of municipal councils and interested individuals and associations, the Consultation Committee drew up a report containing 41 recommendations, including ways to:

— strengthen local municipalities within counties;
— improve the way local municipalities are represented on county council;
— ensure that services are being delivered by the most appropriate level of local government.

The Minister of Municipal Affairs wants whatever form of government can best serve the needs of each county. Your views are important and the Minister would like to hear from you before July 14th, 1989.

To receive your copy of the Report, complete and return the attached coupon to the address listed below. After studying the report, you can make your views known to the Minister by writing to him at the same address.

To: Minister of Municipal Affairs,

DIXONS CORNERS — An annual community event, Business Appreciation Night, was a quiet occasion attended by less than 50 representatives of area business, industry and municipal councils here Wednesday.

Chairman of the South Dundas Economic Commission, Blake Noon, reported on its recent activities.

"We have become part of a larger organization, the Ontario East Development Committee, a group of commissions and government representatives whose purpose is the greater enhancement of Eastern Ontario."

Cam Martel of Morrisburg represents the commission at meetings of the E.O. Development Committee in Kingston.

Consultants Totten, Sims and Hubicki have completed an in-depth economic study of the area and presented their findings to the four councils of Morrisburg, Iroquois, Williamsburg and Matilda Townships for their consideration, recommending strategies pertaining to local agriculture, tourism, commmerce and industry.

The first quarterly business luncheon was held, featuring the manufacturing sector, with speakers from Creditel, Canadian Manufacturing Association and the Government of Ontario.

The commission has hired its first employee, Futures student, Terrie Pieters, who works full time/part time in the commission's office.

Elections have been held with the following results:

Secretary Treasurer, Mike Waddell; Funding Committee, Mart Prost, Cam Martel, Mike Waddell; Legislative Committee, Henry Zandbergen, Jacques Asselin, Peter McCooeye, Len Bellamy, Mike Waddell; Marketing, Mart Prost, Claire Brown, Cam Martel, Peter Swank; Appreciation Night, Jacques Asselin, Bill Strader, Mike Waddell; Assistant Chairman, Mart Prost; Chairman, Blake Noon.

Chairman of Business Appreciation Night, Jacques Asselin reminded the group of the aims of the organization, which is to promote business in the area, and to bring new business into South Dundas.

"If there's any information on new business, let us know. We want to do all we can to establish business in the community," he said.

Asselin stressed that business success in any one of the four municipalities, whether in Morrisburg, Iroquois, Williamsburg or Matilda Township would benefit the whole area by its spin-off effects.

Elma students make it to Canada Quiz finals

From left to right Elma Public School students Amy Pemberton, Stephen Henderson, Brad Madore and Alanna Grant will compete against Maxville Public School students in Cornwall today in the Junior Division (grades 4, 5 and 6) finals of the Canada Quiz. At back is their teacher, Mary Garlough. Elma won against ten other schools in the western division, and it is a first for them to compete in the finals. Questions in the preliminary competitions included facts about Canadian political leaders, Canadian money, local history, geographical and political facts about the three United Counties. —C. Sudbury Theatre Group presents Dreamburger Dilemma on May 4

IROQUOIS — The Iroquois Public Library presents The Dreamburger Dilemma, with the Sudbury Theatre Centre Touring Company, at the Civic Centre, Dundas St. and Elizabeth Drive, on Thursday, May 4 at 7 p.m. Admission is $2 at the door.

The Dreamburger Dilemma, for grades K-6, is a rollicking comic mystery play, and yes, it's all about food. It's about eating the right food when the choices are disguised in a confusing world of hard sell aimed at our diet.

Our hero, Fresh Daily, and his trusty assistant, Icebox (a computer), take on Count Dreamburger, who has perpetuated a major crime to steal all the food in Canada.

Step by step, the audience will follow Fresh Daily on his quest to solve Canada's disappearing food mystery, and while figuring out the puzzle (and enjoying the comedy and the songs) they will discover the foods that really matter and the foods that are a crime against our health.

The Sudbury Theatre Centre Touring Company is a sudsidiary of the Sudbury Theatre Centre, Northern Ontario's leading professional theatre. They are committed to presenting the highest quality productions to elementary and high school audiences throughout Ontario.

Everyone is invited to the show, which is sponsored by your public library, the Ontario Library Service — Rideau, and Outreach Ontario, a programme of the Ministry of Culture and Communications.

Humming for their dinner

The Hummingbird is the smallest of all birds. This little wonder has a long, needle-like bill for sipping nectar from flowers. While sipping, they hover in the air with such rapid wing motion they look like a blur. That motion creates a hum — hence the name. Hummingbirds must feed every 30 seconds to maintain body temperature. Attract this magical bird to your backyard with a hummingbird feeder. The nectar is like that found in flowers and to get it, the hummingbirds hover, sip and hum.
