HYDRO INSPECTORS ATTEND COURSE

Ontario Hydro's electrical inspectors, the men responsible for safe electrical installations in Ontario, are attending intensive five-day training courses in Toronto. The course covers all aspects of electrical inspection and will continue at intervals until all inspectors have attended. Among those at last week's course were W. M. Robertson, Ottawa, (left) and J. B. Scully, of Morrisburg.

MARCH OF DIMES BLITZ HERE ON JANUARY 30

The Canadian March of Dimes, the campaign for the Rehabilitation Foundation for the Disabled, will be observed with a blitz in Morrisburg on January 30th.

For several years now this most worthwhile work has been undertaken in Morrisburg by the Catholic Women's League.

The March of Dimes in Canada has no connection with a similar fund raised in the United States. Every cent raised in Canada is also used in Canada to help those unfortunate people who are disabled and have no means of helping themselves.

Please be as generous as possible when a Marching Mother from the Canadian March of Dimes calls on you for your contribution. Your generosity in the past has been praiseworthy. Let us all make an effort to keep it that way.

Organization Time For 4-H Clubs

Once again it's time for the organization of some of the 4-H Agricultural Clubs in Dundas County. 4-H Forestry Clubs are to be organized by mid-January.

The 4-H Club movement in Canada is a nation-wide educational programme for young people associated with farming, homemaking, and community activities.

The name 4-H is derived from the first letter of the four words, Head, Heart, Hands and Health. The chief objective of 4-H Agricultural Club work in Canada is the development of the Club member through training in Agriculture and Citizenship.

More specifically, the 4-H Forestry Clubs try to stimulate interest in the conservation and better management of farm woodlots, the reforestation of non-agricultural land and planting of windbreaks and shelter belts or snow hedges.

There is a choice of projects which the member can do at home. Some plant and care for about one hundred trees as a windbreak while others thin and improve a half-acre woodlot on the home or neighbouring farm.

Educational meetings are held during the Spring and Summer months under the guidance of the Zone Forester of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Another feature of some 4-H Forestry Clubs is a field trip to a pulp and paper mill or plywood manufacturing mill.

The Achievement Day exhibit consists of a collection of twenty forest tree leaves and ten wood samples of forest trees.

If you were 12 years of age by January 1st, 1967 and will not be 21 by December 31st, 1967, and are interested in joining this 4-H Club, you should contact the Agricultural Representative, W. D. Keys, P.O. Box 488, Winchester, Ontario.

Provincial Police Weekly Report

By Prov. Const. G. E. McGregor
Public Information Officer

O. P. P. officers in Dundas County last week patrolled 9273 miles of highway and secondary roads in a total of 288 duty hours. This resulted in 31 traffic charges being laid and 24 warnings issued.

Three property damage accidents were reported and investigated. No one sustained personal injury. As a result of one of these accidents, one man was charged with driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and was convicted in court.

One theft which occurred in the Winchester area is presently under investigation.

Officers answered two calls to disturbances caused by fighting, and four other calls arising from various circumstances. The Safety officer from Morrisburg Detachment visited two schools where safety talks were given to approximately 90 students.

Three investigations into liquor infractions resulted in four charges being laid under the Liquor Control Act of Ontario.

A total of 12 hours was spent in the courts registering 44 convictions.

THIS WEEK'S TIP
FOR THE DRIVER

The Highway Traffic Act states:

"The driver of a vehicle, upon the approach of an ambulance, fire or police department vehicle or a public utility emergency vehicle, upon which a bell or siren is sounding, shall immediately bring such vehicle to a standstill as near as is practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway and parallel therewith and clear of any intersection".

Although this section does not mention an emergency vehicle with only a red light, it would certainly be courteous to give this vehicle the same attention as if it had a siren. An ambulance with the red light flashing is most likely responding to a call to an accident, or rushing some sick person to hospital. Respect the red light.

Hockey News

COMBINES COUNT 3 WINS PLAY ONLY ONE GAME

For the second time in a row, Morrisburg and district hockey fans were disappointed that they had made the effort to go to the hockey game in the Community Centre. Friday night, at the end of the first period against the Ottawa Nationals, the Ottawa team left the ice and laid down the sticks for the evening. Combine were leading at the time 5-3, on goals by Big Doug Casselman and Mel Tomalty, each with a pair, and a single by Derek Holmes. Combines goalie, Don Grant had been injured and required medical attention. Time out for treatment had been granted by referees Chief Garand and Aime Leblanc, but the Nationals folded their gear and left for Ottawa. When Grant returned to the ice, officials faced the puck, and declared Combines winners.

For this flouting of authority, the Nationals' manager was suspended for one calendar year, and the team had to pay $100.00 to help defray Morrisburg's financial loss.

Again on Tuesday night, Perth-Smiths Falls was scheduled to play Combines in Morrisburg, but failed to appear. Disappointed fans were refunded money or a ticket for the next home game. The Rideaus have been having player trouble, and had said they would notify Morrisburg officials if they decided to forfetit Tuesday's game, but there was some misunderstanding and Morrisburg was not notified. The Rideaus have been given a week to straighten out their difficulties, and the points involved in Tuesday's scheduled game have been forfeited to Combines. It is no secret that the club from Perth and Smiths Falls had considered folding, but their manager says now they will reorganize and finish out the season.

On Sunday in Buckingham, the Combines gained an additional two points by downing the Aces 11-6. In a rough, tough game, Combines got three-goal performances from Derek Holmes and Arnie Lawlor, a pair each from Gordon Mcmillan and Doug Casselman, and a single from Ed. St. Louis to ensure their 11th victory in 16 games.

Tempers flared, as usual, in Buckingham, and 31 penalties were handed out, 19 of them in the final 20 minutes. Rowdy Gillard drew a match misconduct for intent to injure, and misconducts also went to Doug Casselman and Serge Talbot. The Aces Pierre Wissell was sent to hospital with a skate gasn in his leg.

Scoring for Buckingham were Bob Aube, the league's leading sniper with two, and brother Bert with one, and Gilles Gauthier, Charles Guennette and Serge Talbot with one each.

Morrisburg meets Shawville in Shawville on Friday night, and the same team back here on home ice Sunday afternoon. These two clubs are running neck-and-neck for the league's leadership, and this should be a good series.

The Intermediate Combines, of Morrisburg and Williamsburg will be at home here Friday night, to the Brockville team.

RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. Daisy Neilan was hostess to the January meeting of Riverside Heights Women's Institute held at her home in Riverside Heights. A capacity audience made plans for a trip to Expo 67 and to renovate the Institute Hall as a Centennial Project.

Mrs .Eileen Beckstead, principal of Riverside School was the guest speaker for the occasion. She used as her topic "Citizenship and Education".

Mrs. Lloyd Eady was winner of a contest naming the floral emblems of the provinces.

It was reported that a Christmas Party had been held by the Women's Institute for the children of the area Dec. 28. A program of recitations, readings, songs and jokes was enjoyed. Games of bingo and a contest were included in the evening's entertainment. Ronald Faulkner was winner of the contest and Kevin Crowder received the door prize. Balloons, candy and refreshments concluded the Christmas party.

Plans were finalized to hold a euchre party in the Institute Hall.

O.P.P. BROOMBALL

On Tuesday night, at the Morrisburg Arena, Mungo's Manglers tangled with the previously undefeated Lancaster Bombers. For this encounter, the Bombers were strengthened with added talent from the Long Sault detachment team.

The Manglers started slowly, but once they had mastered the clutch and grab tactics of the Bombers, they controlled the play throughout the game. The Manglers, led by the kid line of Albert, Mason and Wilson, trounced the visitors to the tune of 5-0. Albert clicked for a pair of markers, as did the Councillor Mason, Gidge Wilson adding the other.

Brutus Noble played a sensational game, despite an injured hand, to rack up his first shut-out of the season. The defensive corps, led by Schooner Goalen and Mungo himself, kept the Bombers bottled up in their own end for most of the game.

The next game in Morrisburg is on Thursday of next week, when Mungo's Manglers tangle with the Morrisburg Merchants in an exhibition affair.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

By Mrs. Jean Wadds, M.P.

This was a Sir John A. McDonald week.

On the eve of Sir John A's 152nd birthday, Party Historian, Heath Macquarrie, expressed his disappointment that the Prime Minister had not announced a national holiday in recognition of the birthday of our first Prime Minister.

He quoted the magnificent tribute at the time of Sir John A's death by Sir Wilfred Laurier — "I think that it can be asserted that for the supreme art of governing men, Sir John A. McDonald was gifted as few other men in any land and in any age were gifted; gifted with the most high of all qualities, qualities which would have made him famous wherever exercised and which would have shone all the more conspicuously the larger the theatre."

On Sir John A's birthday, Jan. 11th, the first business of the House of Commons was tribute to him.

The Prime Minister had journeyed to Kingston to celebrate the occasion and the Secretary of State for External Affairs, the Hon. Paul Martin, spoke on behalf of the government. His warm unequivocal praise was heartwarming to all who hold dear the memory of our first Prime Minister's contributions to Canadian affairs.

Mr. Martin said:

"That Canada exists today is probaby the result of the effort and determination of Sir John A. McDonald more than any otherman. . . . . .

"We remember McDonald chiefly as the principal architect of our Confederation. . . . .

"What is th relevance of McDonald's character and achievements for Canadians today? Many of the problems with which he dealt are still with us today.— How to ensure unity while preserving the diversity which enriches Canadian life."

The greatest surprise of the day and probably the most indicative was the statement by Rheal Caouette, M.P. for Villeneuve, Que. Mr Caouette is considered something of a stormy petrel with very strong French nationalistic feelings. His comments were most encouraging and could only have been accepted with good grace from sameone with his relationship to the Province of Quebec. He said:

"Mr. Speaker, this brings me to say that in 1967 on the day we are celebrating Sir. John A. McDonald's birthday, we find people, particularly in the province of Que the province where 75 federal members come from, who seek to spread discord, misunderstanding, error, and lies by trying to affix on the back of cars, small plates that say Confederation is and was 100 years of injustice in Canada, yes, for the province of Quebec, 100 years of injustice for the province of Quebec. . . .

Mr. Speaker, there have undoubtedly been cases of injustice since the beginning of Confederation, but it cannot be said that we have suffered from injustice for a hundred years. . . If we had to pay our share to gellong to confederation, we also benefitted from Confederation during its hundred years of existance. . . .

Mr. Speaker, as we celebrate the birthdey of Sir. John A. McDonald's I feel reluctant to mention what is going on in certain areas of Quebec particularly in Montreal, where bombs go off, where abusive langeuag is used towards everybody, and where even self-respect is gone. I am against such goings on, on the part of young people, most of whom are under the spell of some educators or professors who came here from some Marxist or other counstries of Europe, Asia, from Algeria, or from African countries, and who are teaching revolution to our young people".

Good for Mr. Caouette. For him to say that he is against some of the events in the province of Que. will hearten others who feel likewise.

Sir John A's birthday was an encouraging day. Let us hope that this Centennial year brings out the best in us all .

Announcement was made a couple of weeks ago of Bell Canada's Centennial Fellowship Program. For years our Company has been interested in education projects, from the High School Science programs to those at university level. And now, as a Centennial Year Project, the Fellowship program has been established to support the further developement of post graduate education .. one of the urgent needs of the educational system. I was most interested to note that the fellowships will be truly a Canadian program. They are for the exceptional Canadian students who plan to do graduate work in a Canadian university or college. Beginning this year, 1967, this program will be administered by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada and will provide four new fellowships each year to assist students to achieve their educational objectives at a post-graduate level. And there will be no restrictions as to the nature of the studies the successful candidate may pursue. Preference, however, will be given to those subject areas which appear most directly relevant to the scientific, political, social or economic needs of Canada. We at Bell Canada hope that by commemorating the past 100 years in this way, we are also assisting some of the young Canadians who are the future of our country.

I've decided to make an addition to my list of resolutions for 1967. After hearing a brief run-down on the bewildering variety of projects which will help celebrate Canada's Centennial I think I'd better take a deep breath and "go into training" for the busiest, most exhilarating and interesting year most of us will ever experience. From the sound of things no one should be able to say "I've nothing to do" during 1967. The difficulty will come in trying to select the most interesting of the nation-wide projects in addition to our own local celebrations. Already the Confederation Train has begun its coast-to coast tour to bring Canada's story of 63 cities and the Confederation Caravans, which tell the same story, will visit 657 more communities. Ten teams of hardy voyageurs will follow the treacherous, 3,500-mile cross-country route of the original voyageurs between Alberta and Montreal. In the summer 13 teams of mountaineers will climb 13 of the highest unclimbed, unnamed peaks in the Rockies and and name one for each province and the Northwest territories with the highest peak designated Centennial Peak. For sport enthusiasts, the Pan-American games will be held in Canada for the first time .. in Winnipeg, July 22 to August 7. The R.C.M.P. will stage special performances of their Musical Ride. And, of course, there is Expo 67 . the fantastic spectacle of Man and His World being held in Montreal from April 28 to October27. Expo people feel that all roads will lead to Montreal this year as millions of Canadians and their guests make a visit to Expo 67 part of their Centennial Year plans. While you are there, I hope you will also visit the Telephone Association of Canada pavilion, which, I understand, is even now quickly nearing completion. There you will see an exciting film "Canada 67". I'll tell you more about that in another column. Sounds like a fascinating year to be a Canadian, doesn't it? I hope you enjoy just as many of the celebrations as you possibly can.

Old Home Recalls Many Memories . . .

The stately victorian home of Miss Gladys M. Bayne recalls the charm and dignity of a bygone era. The storms of alfost one hundred years have mellowed and enhanced the appearance of this three-story dwelling which is crowned by an unique and picturesque copula with wroght iron trim. From this elevated spot, the view of Morrisburg, the surrounding countrside, and the St. Lawrence River is unsurpassed.

Miss Bayne's mother remembered the Italian artist who was commissioned to decorate the interior of Notre Dame Cathedral in Montreal. When funds ran out, he worked his way "up the front" and Dr. B. Sherman enlisted his talent to ordrawing room and formal dining room, a three-dimensional wall design of arches and pillars is painted in charcoal grey and white. Tones of rich cardinal in the cornices and the greens and gold in the ceiling medallions still retain their original glowng colours.

As sunlight filters through etched ruby glass panels surmounting the main door, it reveals an impressive entrance hall highlighted by a graceful staircase of black walnut which curves around three walls papered yith special covering printed in England to correspond with the light globe. A mirrored wall at the rear reflects black walnut woodwork, harmonious furnishings and doors fashioned in the "cross and bible" design.

Erected in 1870, the Sherman house was built to withstand the ravages of time. Thick walls of several layers of handmade brick separate the various compartments of the basement, and line the floors and the foundations are wide and deep.

The beautifully proportioned carriage house still stands four-square at the rear of the property. Here, Dr. Sherman housed his horse, his carriage and, as it was the custom prior to the turn of the century, a cow. The old well and pump are located near the back entry.

Since Miss Bayne's return to Morrisburg, she has continued the tradition of gracious hospitality, for which the fine old house was always known. Stories have been told of the brilliant social functions held there when Dr. Sherman a popular Conservative of his day entertained notable personages of the capital.

Surrounded by its original wrought iron fence this large but inviting residence is one of the best examples of Victorian architecture in Eastern Ontario. Windows on the second story extend from the floor to the ceiling. They open to the miniature balconies which afor, to south and west, fascinating views of Lake St. Lawrence and its changing moods.

Nninty seven years have passed since eight-year old Minnie Farrier climbed a ladder to view the St. Lawrence River from the cupola of the almost red brick residence of Dr. Asaph B. Sherman. That little girl became the mother of Miss Gladys M. Bayne to whom the house now belongs.

Miss Bayne enjoys recalling colorful stories of the early days at Morrisburg, as related by her mother, Mrs. Richard Anglin (Bayne). Dr. Sherman was the first horse and buggy doctor to settle in the area. He came to Canada from the United States following the completion af the Galops Canal. He son acquired a large practice and became the reeve of the township and warden of the Three United Counties.

Over the years, three families have contributed to the charm and dignity of the historic old home. Following Dr. Sherman's tenure, William Meikle, Morrisburg mertfamily of seven boys in the house.

In 1923, the late Chauncey D. MacElroy retired from teaching fine arts in New York City and came to the home at Morrisburg, which he had previously purchased fom the Meikle estate.. His wife, Dr. Marie Farrier MacElroy was Miss Bayne's aunt.

Dr. MacElroy is remembered as a woman of brilliance, energy and enthusiasm. She was a medallist for four consecutive years at New York College of Oral and Dental Surgery which she had enveigled her husband into permitting her to atend that she might occupy her time. When she graduated Cum Laude, in 1912, new fields were opened to her and she consented to organize and supervize the dental clinic in connection with Harlem Hospital in New York City.

At the time of her death 20 years ago, she bequeathed her home at Morrisburg to Miss Bayne, who is understandably proud of her forebears who were among the first pioneers to settle at Bytown.. Geo Bayne arrived in Canada with his wife and three children in 1826 and took up a 50-acre grant on Richmond Road. Recently 90-year old Norman Bayne, Miss Bayne's uncle planted a white pine in the garden of the house built in 1828 by Colonel By's engineers for his grandfather.

Miss Bayne is a native of Morrisburg. She was born at the home of her grandfather, Frederick C. Denesha, Lakeshore Drive where Dr. E. H. N. Lambert's medical clinic is now located. Her nursing carreer encompassed public health and industrial work in the lumbed camps of Louisiana, of which she has many interesting and amusing tales to tell.

A member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, Miss Bayne retired from administrative duties at Grasslands Hospital, Westchester County in 1953. An editorial in the White Plains Reporter stated: "There is a sports parlance what they term a baseball player's player, and in music, what is called a musician's musician. The implication is that here is one so professional that the others in the profession model themselves after him. Such, in the nursing profession is Miss Gladys Bayne who now retires. Her experience is a reservoir from which all may draw bountifully."

Miss Bayne is an enthusiastic participant in activities of civic, church, welfare, and hospital organizations. She is an example of the philosophy which she never hesitates to repeat, "Retire while the band is still playing and enjoy life fully."

Weekly Report

CONCERNED WITH FOOD PRICES

by: "Pec" Finn

Most everyone is today. However, anyone interested in a free supply of nutritious protien food need only go to the Rideau Ferry, from Mon. to Fri. after 4:00 p.m. for the next couple of weeks. The commercial fishermen are giving away ling caught incidental to their whitefish operation .In the first 11 days of January, they removed 6 tons of this cousin to the salt-water cod fish.

Due to its unattractive appearance, ling is regarded by most as undesirable food fish - but seeing is not tasting and as a result, many have missed enjoying this delicious nutritious treat. Dr. H. H. McKay, in his book, "Fishes of Ontario" reports that the flesh is white, delicate and equal to the beter known fish. Comments from various members of our Fish and Wildlife staff unauimously confirm the fact that ling does produce a delicate fish, that can be compared favourably with most of our sport fish.

Other attractive features are easy skinning and the absence of small bones allowing for easy filleting. They can be baked, fried in deep fat or batter or in butter. Also they can be pickled or preserved as strip fish or even in some instances have been successfully smoked. Obviously an effort should be made to remove some of the unfortunate prejudice based on external appearance which is depriving us of an excellent food. Come and try one and see for yourself.

Remember, they are only available after 4 p.m. from Monday to Friday.. There will be none available on Saturdays and Sundays.

New Interest in Maple Syrup Ind.

Over 70 persons interested in the Maple Syrup Industry attended a recent meeting at Maxville, Ont.

Some of the topics discussed: the practices and problems of producers, the purpose, present status and probable potential of the industry, modern equipment for collecting and processing the sap, and managing the sugar bush and marketing of the maple syrup.

Representatives of several equipment manufacturers were on hand to display their equipment and to answer questions on its use.

The major problem cited by producers was difficulty in obtaining labour during the maple syrup season. It was felt that where the operation was sufficiently large, modern techniques such as gathering sap with plastic tubing could help overcome this problem.

The producers concluded that it may be advantageous to for a local association to be affiliated with the Ontario Maple Syrup Producers Association and a committee was formed with George Marjarrison heading it as chairman.

A Year Of Pride For Canadians

The year 1967 will go down in Canadian history as the Year of the Big Birthday Party.

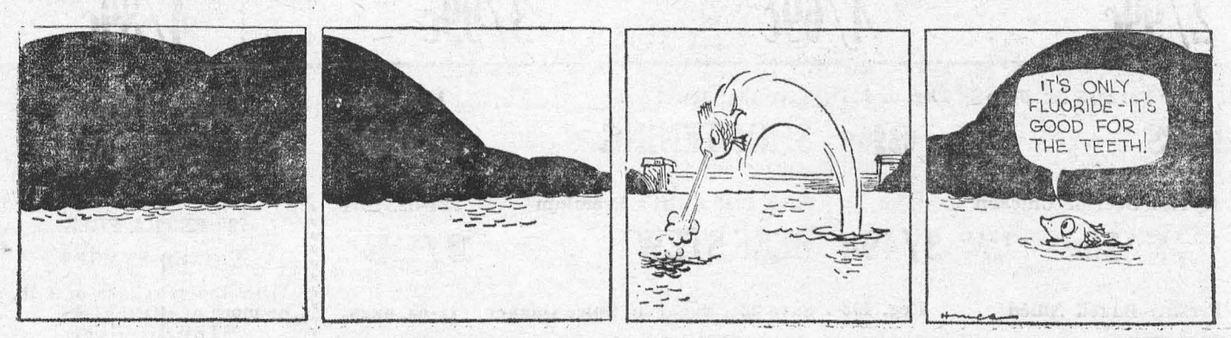
One hundred years of Confederation in Canada will be highlighted by the individual and collective centennial projects from East to West, and the biggest of them all will be held at Montreal

Expo 67 will open its doors to the world April 28 to October 27.

Over 70 nations, plus a multitude of Canadian manufacturers, will contribute to making EXPO 67 the most magnificent fair the world has ever seen. In charge of the program is Pierre Dupuy (upper right). Also pictured at the top are Prime Minister Lester Pearson in front of the Peace Tower in Ottawa and Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker admiring a statue of Sir John A MacDonald, Canada's first Prime Minister. The other pictures show some of the many pavilions with the bottom right being the reception square of the amusement area. At the bottom left is the overall Expo site-plan. — TNS Photo.

CYNTHIA

SMALL WORLD



THE WHEELS

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

100 years of what?

Wouldn't it be fun if we could conjure up from their neglected graves Sir John A. and the other Fathers of Confederation, and take them on a tour of the nation they tied together 100 years ago, with string and sealing-wax?

Would they think they had builded well? Would they swell with pride over the nation that has emerged? Would they look with awe on what has been accomplished? Or would they cry, as with one voice, "Lemme outa here! What have you done to our glorious Dominion?"

The physical changes in those 10 tiny decades, a fleabite in the human span, would surely impress them. The vast towers of steel and concrete in our cities; the ribbons of road and rail that span the continent; the St. Lawrence Seaway.

And surely they would be thrilled by the vast technological leap made since they stood together for that stiff portrait in Charlottetown. They would be dazzled by the simple facts of electric light and power, flight by jet-liner, radio, television, the telephone, the automobile, oil-heating, air-conditioning, and a thousand other things we take for granted.

But how would they feel about the country they created after the fancy wrapping came off the toys? After they'd seen the Toronto City Hall, and flown across the country in a few hours, and plunged into the bowels of a modern mine, and gone up in a chair-lift at Jasper, and faced annihilation in a Montreal cab, and groped for their drink in a gloomy cocktail lounge?

Behind the glittering plaything, would they really find much change in the country? Not at this time of year, anyway. It would be still a shambling geographical monster, buried in white, tail turned to the north wind. Only a sprinkling of lights, a few curls of smoke, and a few ants crawling about would suggest it was not straight out of the ice ages.

And if Sir John A. and his fellows lifted that familiar blanket of white and peered under it, would they be surprised and delighted by what they saw? Would they perceive a mature, virile, independent people proudly proving that the twentieth century belongs to Canada?

One look would reveal a material prosperity and comfort beyond their dreams. But it would show that a lot of other things they were familiar with had not changed or improved in 100 years. Fear of the U.S., corruption in high places, French and English Canadians wrangling, dirty fighting at Ottawa, the taxpayers being bribed with their own money, the rich getting richer and the poor getting children: a familiar world to The Fathers.

But the sorrow might change to horror when they looked beyond the familiar things and saw that the healthy-looking body was riddled with disease. The pollution of air and water would make them furious. The soaring rate of divorce, drug addiction, homosexualism, alcoholism would appall them. The number of dead on the highways each year would sicken them. The power of huge monopolies would frighten them. And the apathy of the average, well-fed Canadian would disgust them.

No, we'd have to divert their attention quickly, and turn it to other things that would dazzle them. Perhaps they'd be impressed by some of our great cultural traditions, developed since their time. Like the Grey Cup Game, when the punks and the drunks take over. Or Hockey Night in Canada, one of our great national customs, when this entire, sprawling nation is linked together into a warm, friendly group of idiots, rising as one man to fetch another beer when the commercial comes one.

Maybe they'd enjoy a tour of one of our new atomic energy plants? But I wonder what they'd think of the pictures of Hiroshima?

We could tell them what we did in the two great wars. But one look at the tax bill for defense would give them apoplexy.

And so it would go. Personally, I think that after the initial novelty wore off, Sir John A. and The Fathers, more in sorrow than in anger, would return to where they came from, without ever taking a look back.

DEAR DORIS
advice from Doris Clark

..panking didn't help

DEAR DORIS — My younger sister is 14. She acts too much grown up one minute and the next she acts as if she were 12. She wears a lot of eye make-up that bothers me very much. We are really ashamed to see her walking around with her eyes painted black and her hair falling over her face. Mom and Dad have sat and discussed this with her, asking her why she wears it, but she cannot give us any definite answer; only that she thinks she will look funny if she doesn't wear it.

Would it help to throw all her eye make-up away? We have asked her that; she only said that she would do something drastic if we did. My Dad thought if he gave her a good licking it would help. He did and it only made things worse.

She does not go out on dates, and from my opinion she doesn't want to. (Even if she did my parents would not allow it).

Sister Twenty-one

DEAR SISTER — Remember when you were 14, how much you wanted to be grown up? Or did it happen that as the oldest girl your mother was desperate for you to become capable — and this in itself worked the miracle?

Sometimes the next one down is relieved far too much of the need for becoming adult. At 14, a girl is changing from childhood to womanhood; her excitement at being alive needs outlets. Clamping down on her, spanking her, is just plain frustrating.

I'd be willing to wager that Little Sister will forego the black eyes once family decisions are shared with her and she is challenged to carry part of the load. And would father frown on some boy-girl actitivities in groups?

DEAR DORIS — I've been going out with a certain girl, on and off, for four years. A month ago I asked her to marry me, which now I don't know whether or not I should have, because I'm not even sure I love her. The reason for this is because I think she has been going out with other guys.

How can I find out whether or not she loves me or even likes me at all? If I was sure she loved me I think I could love her for sure.

Lost

DEAR LOST — You mean that if she has been going out with other guys, you don't love her, but if she hasn't, you do?

Better wait a while before deciding anything. Better take out some other girls. When in doubt, don't!

DEAR DORIS — My mother and father are separated, but my mother still loves my father. Now if she could get a divorce she could perhaps become interested in someone else.

She wrote Dad a letter asking about arrangements for one but he didn't answer. Is there anything I could do? I'm 15, so it's not as if I could advise like a grownup could.

Jorj

DEAR JORJ — Well, if there is the slightest chance that there is still some love on your father's side, you might help find somebody Mom could talk to, like a counsellor. An understanding social worker can sometimes bring together two people who thought it was all over between them.

Failing all else, her best friend will be her lawyer. At that point she needs you most to be loyal and friendly.

Confidential to Confounded — Your self-appointed nurse-housekeeper is getting her greatest satisfaction from waiting on the one male avilable to her — her Dad and yours. Treats all the rest of you, including his frail wife, like dirt. She is ruining the morale and good will of a whole household.

She'll take some ousting, and it will have to be a united effort. Confer as a family and have the eldest son deliver the verdict, for all to hear. Then follow through.

To Bottled Up — You simply must unload. The delicate balance between sanity and emotional illness may be tipped in the wrong direction by keeping the lid on too tight. Such seething inside can create a stomach ulcer — one of the mildest reactions. And it can warp your whole outlook on life.

That is why a patient unburdens himself to a psychiatrist.
