Twice-in-a-row — Its Ironic

You'd almost think it had something to do with the word snow - - mobile. For the past two year's now, Dunbar has staged a snowmobile rally. Last year, it stormed so badly we were doubtful if the Record Van wuld make it to the rally for a picture. This year, we planned ahead of time to take the picture later on at night during the award presentations.

It came up such a blizzard again, it was difficult getting over to the Community Hall

We don't know whether it is just coincidence but it sure makes you want to rally around your snwmobile.

New Fire Hall Ready In Two Weeks

The new fire hall at Morewood should be just about ready for operation in two weeks. The pouring of the floor is the only major job left and it should be completed by Mar. 4. The Police village purchased their first fire truck back in September and it has been waiting these past months for it's new home to be completed.

Other than the floor their are only a few minor trimmings needed on the inside of the hall before it is finished. The outside needs to be painted but that work can wait till Spring.

Fire levels Burton Beckstead barn

Livestock and feed lost in blaze

The third fire in the area in less than a week swept through the barn on the farm of Burton Beckstead Jr. of R R. 2, Chesterville, Saturday night, destroying some 100 pigs, two head of cattle and an estimated 2,000 bales of hay.

Mrs. Burton Beckstead Sr. was first to notice the blaze around 7:30 p.m. as it flamed in the centre part of the barn. She along with her husband were at their son's home babysitting their youngest grandchildren. Neil, Burton's oldest son was also home at the time while the rest of the family was in Chesterville at the Dunbar Snowmobile Rally supper.

Mrs Beckstead called the telephone operator who in turn summoned Chesterville Fire Department. In spite of blizzard-like conditions, which prevailed throughout the day, firemen were able to reach the scene without too much trouble

Neil managed to remove a tractor from the machine shed before it was engulfed in flames.

As the family and neighbours arrived at the scene there was little they could do except try and prevent flames from reaching the nearby Beckstead home and other farm buildings.

Williamsburg Fire Department relieved the Chesterville Brigade when they arrived a short time later. The Beckstead house is located only 75 feet south of the barn. Burton Jr. said "if the wind had been as strong as it had been in the afternoon there wouldn't have been much hope in saving the house."

Twenty-four of the 30 sows in the barn were lost along with 75 little pigs, a bull, heifer and two boars. The fire also destroyed the winter's supply of hay, 2,000 bales, a corn binder, trailers and numerous other articles in the machine shed and barn.

Burton Jr. and his family moved to the farm on the Beckstead Rd. in 1967 after his parents moved to Morrisburg. Burton Sr. recalled the barn on the farm burning once before in the late 1890's.

The cause of the blaze is not known and no estimate of damage available. Mr Beckstead said the barn was insured.

The Beckstead fire came only six days after flames levelled the home of Mrs Eunice Strader of R.R. 2, Williamsburg and only five days after a barn on the farm of Mrs Russell Froats of R.R. 3, Chesterville was destroyed.

Although Mr Beckstead said he had no definite plans he would probably rebuild in the Spring.

All that remains of the barn on the farm of Burton Beckstead Jr. of R.R. 2, Chesterville, following a fire Saturday night is the twisted, scorched sheet metal which once formed the roof. The fire broke out shortly after 7 p.m. and quickly spread through the stable and hay loft. The above photo shows the close proximity of the Beckstead home which is located just south of the barn. Quick action by area firemen and subdued winds prevented flames from causing further disaster. — Staff Photo.

Newest equipment in feed industry installed recently at Finch UCO plant

FINCH — After almost three months of service disruption due to installation work, the Finch branch of the United Co-operatives of Ontario is getting back on it's feet again with even more vigor.

Some of the newest equipment in the feed industry has been installed during the past 90 days, giving the local UCO the capabilities of producing twice as much feed in a day with the same help as before.

When Chesterville, Finch, Avonmore and Cornwall CO-OPS merged last summer with UCO, area farmers were no doubt concerned about what was to happen to the service provided from the local feed mill.

Their concern grew even greater when the mill at Finch was shut down a few times due to the equipment installation, causing even more delay in filling orders.

But as the St. Lawrence Group Manager, Bill Mullin, told the gathering at the annual meeting of Chesterville CO-OP, things were going to get worse before they were better — and now the worst is over.

The Finch mill will handle most of the large mixing orders for the branches from now on. With Avonmore mill closed, customers in that area will have to go to Cornwall or Finch for feed requirements.

The primary target behind all the shuffling made by the UCO heads was to get the branches operating on a more economic basis.

With four mills, mixing and grinding small orders of feed, trucks went out on their routes with partial loads, causing extra expense. Now, with Finch running again, the major mixing orders will be done there. The trucks will leave with a full load and deliver on revised routes.

The three remaining branches will still handle the smaller grist orders and will still carry a complete line of premixed feeds, but Finch will handle the big jobs.

The equipment, installed by Farmatic, of Gorrie, Ontario, will mean the Finch plant will now be able to produce 30 or more tons of mixed feed during an eight hour shift where they were only able to produce 12 to 15 tons before.

Also erected was a 65 foot elevator with a 10 inch auger which can unload a 10 ton truck in 10 minutes. Before it took between 35 and 45 minutes.

New holding bins and bulk loading-out bins have been installed along with higher capacity rollers just to mention a few of the improvements.

The board of directors of the St. Lawrence Group UCO met last Wednesday night at the Finch Legion Hall for a director's meeting. Above is the reently elected executive of the board. Meals at NDDHS — Increased Cost or Free

Should the S. D. & G. Board of Education increase the price of meals at North Dundas District High School or should they remove the charge altogether and just add it to the tax bill?

This question caused quite a bit of discussion at our office the other day. It started out with just two debating, then three got into it, then four and finally we quit at a stalemate. Two answered yes to the first question and two said the same for the second.

The Board of Education has been losing money on its cafeterias since it came into being a few years ago. Even though they charged a nominal fee for a well balanced meal they didn't meet expenses.

So now at North Dundas in particular they have raised the prices. Instead of every meal being sold at one flat rate, it fluctuates. For example a fish dinner is priced differently than a ham dinner and so on.

Some of the students have retaliated with the obvious response of boycotting the cafeteria.

First of all we will summarize the feeling of the two people who answered the first part of the question with a yes.

"It was a childish response for the students to boycott the cafeteria. They were already getting a dinner at a cut rate and as soon as they were asked to pay a little more for this service they stuck their thumbs in their mouths and threw a tantrum.

Why shouldn't the Board of Education charge a little more for a meal, the price of help & food has gone up. If they can't afford it let them bring a lunch from home. They will learn soon enough that food in this world is not free, so they might as well start paying for it now.

That is just part of the statements made by one side. The other half who answered the second question made remarks along the lines of:

"Why should they pay more? Everything else is subsidized by the board. Students don't pay for teachers, buses, books and recreation, so why should they pay for the meal.

There are a lot of kids who walk out of the house every day with a peanut butter and jam sandwich. If the meal was free they might get a break from this routine and find out that there is something different than peanut butter.

If the board tries to break even on lunches, why don't they charge the student to use the busses, or ask them to put 50 cents into a box every time they walk into a class, to help pay for the teachers.

It may cost the taxpayers a little each year, if the meals are free, but it won't make that much difference.

So you see what went on. One side favored increasing the cost to the student in school, while the other side took the attitude that the parents might as well pay for it in one yearly payment.

We know which attitude the board took. But we can guess that if too much bickering is raised over the issue the Board could just as easily pull out the cafeteria service and put in vending machines. It has been done before in other Board areas and it saves a lot of trouble.

It's a hard question to answer and maybe no one knows the right answer. Right now which side do you choose?

Winter Carnivals on the Upswing

There are many traditional events in today's busy life which are gradually losing their true meaning, losing the people impact they once had just a few years ago.

But strangely enough there is one "fun event" which appears to be actually gaining momentum.

Winter carnivals have been on the go now for decades. They seemed to have fallen into a lull for a while, but the enthusiasm displayed by area residents in the numerous communities in our counties is bringing the carnival back into the forefront of our winter-time activities.

What has caused this increased activity is a mystery. It could be the advent of the snowmobile which is fast becoming a major part of the fourth season or it could just be a revival of the old-fashioned community spirit.

Whatever carries these events, it is good. It is a great form of entertainment along with being a legitimate means of raising money for an organization.

And while people are plainly saying "we want a winter carnival' we have the problem the old chicken faced when she wanted help to plant her field of oats — no one wanted to pitch in with the sowing or the harvesting but everyone wanted to eat the bread.

It seems you have a small group who carry the ball every year with little or no additional help. It's not that they lose interest and want to quit, it's just that the carnival organization gets bigger every year and the work heavier. All they need is someone to help share the load.

Here in Chesterville, we first must realize that the Chamber of Commerce was busy with it's community centre project and weren't able to devote full time to the carnival plans.

It would be untrue to say that this year's event was not good. It was just as successful as last year if not more so. But in order to maintain the interest shown by people we should try and add to our carnival activities every year.

This year in Chesterville we saw the Carnival Queen Contest smoothed out along with a couple of other modifications, but next year with a new arena to our credit lets see some major changes.

We do not preach change for the sake of change, but for betterment. We know it is easy to fall into a rut, we also agree with the old saying "variety is the spice of life."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I recognized "No Name Lady," the divorcee who was keeping company with two married men — one Monday, Wednesday and Friday — the other Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday I also recognized myself. I'm Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

"Lady's" letter made me curious as to the identity of Monday, Wednesday and Friday so I droppe by last Monay and used my key to let myself in the back door.

She was entertaining the gentleman in the bedroom and I recognized his voice — an old buddy of mine. I noticed his shoes in the living room and I decided to play a little joke. I took one shoe and on the way home I pitched it into Lake Calhoun.

When the man's wife read this, and I know she will, because everybody reads your column in the Minneapolis Tribune, she'll know why her husband came home last Monday night wearing one shoe. — Fun in Minneapolis.

Dear Clown: I didn't retlize people in Minneapolis were so starved for fun, but thanks for vriting. It's interesting to know what some people consider a joke I just hope the guy didn't come home with a frozen foot. It was 25 degrees below zero up there!

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 24, married to a wonderful man. We have two darling children and I wouldn't trade my life with anyone I know, but I have a terrible habit that I can't seem to break and it's hurting our marriage. I telephone my mom at least two or three times every day — just to gab. Some days I'll call her six times. I know this is childish but I can't control myself.

I run into trouble when my husband tries to telephone me from his office and the line is busy. He gets very annoyed because he knows I'm talking to Mom. When he's at home weekends and hears me call he he blows his top.

Mom is not a person who tries to hang on to her children and she rarely calls me We have a good relationship and she has never made me feel that I am pestering her. Please, Ann, help me. — Salem Motor Mouth.

Dear Mouth: A problem recognized is half solved. Now for the other half. Before you make your first and hopefully, only call of the day to Mom, jot down on a piece of paper the things you want to say. Give it at least ten minutes thought. If somethings occurs to you after you've hung up, make note of it for tomorrow's call Obviously you are a phone-a-holic. Think of one other person you can call instead. How about your mother-in-law?

Dear Ann Landers: Me writing to Ann Landers — I can't believe it. But I'm desperaate for advice. I'll make it short and to the point. I'm in love with a fine young woman, age 20 (I'm 23), and we want to get married when she finishes college and we can manage financially. The problem is her mother. She dislikes me and I can't figure out why. When Martha brings up my name, her mother's response is, "You can do a lot better."

Mama is the most overpowering, domineering woman I've ever met. She has picked husbands for Martha's two older sisters and made life miserable for a third daughter who married against her wishes. Martha is scared to death of her mother. She says she loves me but she thinks maybe we'd better call it off. What can I do? If I lose my girl on account of her mother I'll die — Woe Is Me

Dear Woe: If you lose your girl, it won't be on account of her mother. It'll be on account of the girl. My advice is — relax. Remember that wise old French adage, "Be careful what you wish for, you might get it."

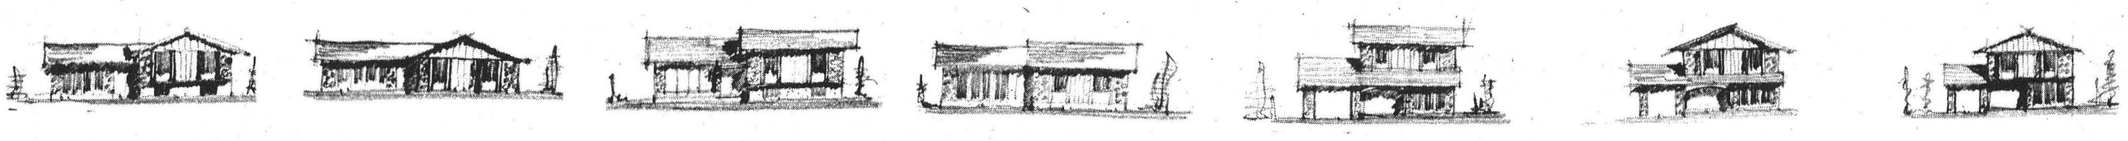
A New Concept . . .

More-wood Homes Ltd. to produce modular homes, schools, offices, etc.



ONE BASIC IDEA CAN PROVIDE ABOVE DESIGNS — AND MORE

Our living trends have come a long way since the day when great-great-great-grandad first swung his braod-axe in the centre of a virgin forest, carving out his life and the future of his children.

And as we realized there must be a better way, we came up with the idea of 'building contractors' who could erect our towns and cities easier and faster than we could.

After the Second World War, men saw another need. As the millions of this world gradually grew closer and closer together, quick, low cost housing was required.

But today with the cost of living shattering the incomes of the majority, the prospective homeowner is watching his bucks even closer. He is not just looking for a quick, low-cost home, but one that has quality and individuality written after the dollar sign. More-Wood Homes Ltd. is hoping to fill that bill.

With more than 40 modular home builders in the country, More-Wood Homes cannot claim to be the first in this field.

"It's nothing new or different," said Toby Koyman, vice-president and general manager of the new firm. "We just plan to do it a different way."

The amount of study, research and planning which went into this new venture would almost resemble one of the Government's Royal Commissions.

But as company officials near the wire, they say they have come up with some semi-final plans which show not only a low cost quality home, but one that is also functional.

House Factory

The initial $500,000 industry will be simply a house factory. The lumber will roll into one end of the 120 foot wide pant and by the time it appears again 300 feet later, it will be a house.

Mr. Koyman says once it is placed on the foundation, all the owner has to do is come along with his furniture and telephone and move in.

"The idea of factory built homes," said the vice-president, "no doubt leaves many people cold. The first impression they have is that they are cheap. We are not saying that houses built on the site are not good, but on the site you have human beings who have to work in varying elements."

"Say, for example, it's 10 below zero. The man working outside cannot function as well as when it is 70 above. And if it rains, again he is uncomfortable."

"In our factory, our men and women will not have to worry about the weather. They won't have to stop to get warm or work with wet materials."

"On the other hand," said Mr. Koyman, "the carpenter who starts hammering nails at 8 a.m. will not be able to pound nails with the same vigor at 11 a.m., and he will no doubt be more tired at 5 p.m. We have eliminated this with an automatic nailing machine, which places all nails at the same time with the same impact — it doesn't tire."

Controlled Conditions

The reason the company says it can offer low cost quality homes is because they have removed the elements of nature which affect the efficiency of an operation. And they have removed many of the tasks done by man, with machines.

Employing 20 people when the plant opens, sometime in May, the firm is aiming to produce one home a day. As the operation smooths out, they will go for two homes a day, and eventually three and so on.

More-Wood Homes Ltd. will be geared to accomodate both the man in the $6,000 a year income bracket and the man in the $100,000 a year bracket.

If you want a two, three, or four bedroom bungalow, two-storey or split level home, they can help you; or if you want a 40 unit motel, apartment building, office building, or school, they can help you.

The design architect has sharpened his pencil many times in the past few months working out the plans for the future homes. He has gone into existing houses to see where improvements could be made in the layout.

Basic Designs

He has come up with three basic model homes with different interior layouts. Now the layout in the two-storey house can be adapted to fit into the bungalow and vice versa. There are 101 different combinations which all go towards making the homes custom built.

More-Wood Homes does not plan to eliminate the building contractor, but only to be his supplier. But, if the individual wants to go to the firm on his own they will help him as well.

The homeowner has to make arrangements for his own foundation and installation but the new company will provide the home of his choice, completely assembled, wired, painted, finished on the exterior, starting at approximately $12,500.

Are we ready for this new concept in living? More-Wood Homes thinks we are. Great-great-great-grandad put a lot of back-breaking work into his first crude dwelling and it wasn't much different from his neighbours. No doubt he knew that someday men would find a better way to build a house, but what would he think today if you told him you bought your house from a factory?

Mutual Fire Aid Assoc. Promotes Safety Program

CORNWALL — The theme of the February 9 meeting of the Mutual Aid Association held here in the Fire Hall was fire prevention and life saving.

President, Chief Clifford Rombough of Newington opened the session by telling the 14 chiefs and deputy chiefs present that a committee of four had held two meetings with the United Counties Council, requesting funds to promote a safety program for life saving.

Secretary, Chief Gilbert Raistrick, read the correspondence in regard to the request, stating $1,000 had been granted to the Association from the Counties towards the educational program.

It was moved by Chief Robert Liddle of Williamstown and seconded by Chief Cyril Ray, that treasurer, Chief John Millar of Avonmore, set up a special account for the Fire Prevention Fund.

Following this the Association president introduced Captain Clarence Snider of Cornwall Fire Department who lectured the men on facts relating to fire causes and prevention.

Captain Snider said there were 45,000 people and 14,000 units in the city of Cornwall and 48,408 people and 15,900 homes in the Counties which rely on the members of the Mutual Aid Association.

He said the chiefs and association had been active for the past 15 years, and all officers had worked hard in the prevention of fires. But, he explained, the association has taken another step into the area of life saving. This program and progress was a concern of all fire departments in the Three United Counties.

Following the Captain's remarks, he was thanked by President Rombough.

Other business included the forming of a committee to be in charge of the new program and the purchasing of instruction charts for each department.

Members also agreed tenders for 10,000, 15,000, and 20,000 black and white and red and white brochures would be called.

Morewood U.C.W. organize Fashion Show

MOREWOOD — The main item of business at the February 2nd meeting of the Morewood U.C.W., held at the home of Mrs M. Dillabough here, was the organization of a fashion show to be held in the United Church Hall in March.

Different committees were appointed to be in charge of the numerous phases of the show.

A notice was passed on to members, concerning the Seaway Valley Executive meeting next Tuesday in Iroquois.

Mrs Carl Crump introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs L. Corrigan, who had participated in Operation Cross-Roads Africa.

Mrs Corrigan, who formerly lived in Alberta and Ottawa, now resides on a farm near Finch. While living in Alberta, she became interested in Africa because her community, along with a neighbouring one, collected enough money to buy a tractor for the country.

Mrs Corrigan showed slides of the people and places where she had lived and worked in Africa. She was thanked and presented with a gift.

BY SHEILA COYNE

Fun and games erupted at NDDHS February 10 and 11 as our Carnival '72 got underway. The first item on the funpacked schedule was snow sculturing. The snow sculptures were judged and the first prize went to 'Cyndy's Fantasy.' The second prize went to 'Gulf Shoe'. The third prize was awarded to 'Pandora's Palace' and the fourth prize went to 'Igloo'. The judges had a very difficult time choosing the winners because all the sculptures were well done. Those that received honourable mention are as follows: Alligator, Cooky Monster, Elephant, Whale Snoopy, Bear(Mouse??) Head, Humpty Dumpty, Car and Man, Locomotive Engine, Telephone, Boat and Indian, and Toilet Bowl.

The kick-off parade was held at 1:00 to announce the official opening of the Carnival. The prize for the best costume was awarded to Linda DeRooy and Laurie Chambers. They were dressed as Raggedy Ann and Andy.

The '72 Snowmobile races were next on the agenda. Tom Sirvage placed first and Mr Grubb took second prize.

One of the funniest events of our Carnival '72 was the Twit Race Derby. If you are wondering what a twit is the closest definition of the word is simpleton. Our twit race winners were Wendy Earl and Gerry Heymans. The team who came second were Brad Sullivan and David Weatheral.

Throughout the Carnival, there was floor hockey, volleyball, toboggan races and many other events.

Thursday evening there were hay rides, films, and then the Carnival dance. "Powerhouse" played to a large crowd. Dave Van Bridger and Marjorie Moffat were crowned Carnival King and Queen.

There was an all night shower marathon, rocking chair marathon and a dance marathon, which was won by Janice Wylie, Lorraine Moss and Susan Raistrick.

Friday morning famous pancakes were dished up by Mr Craig. Later on in the day, the Pie Eating Contest was won by Laurie Chambers, who ate a 10" chocolate custard pie in 1 minute.

The Bubble Gum Chewing Contest was won by Dale Armstrong who managed a full chew of 38 jaw breakers. The Scavanger Hunt was a big success. Top single was Sonia Sartor and top doubles were Brenda Como and Joanne Wouters. Congratulations and special thanks are extended to organizers Laurie Chambers, Wendy Earl and all others who helped.

In the log sawing contest, there were many winners: Boys, 17 years and over — Andrew Woods and Garnet Woods; Girls, 17 years and over, Nancy McMillan and Debra Kelly; Boys, 16 years and under, Denis Fife and Eric Bjergso; Girls, 16 years and under, Helen Hay and Christine Fleming; Men Teachers, Mr Garlough and Mr Westbrook.

All during the Carnival there was a Coffee Shop in the Music Room, and a Folk Group in the library. There were plenty of hamburgers in Mr Helston's Slop Shop and pizzas were served at the Pizza Shop.

Thanks are extended to everyone who helped make Carnival '72 the success it was.

Re-elected for fourth term

Russell Twp. reeve to head Conservation Authority

BERWICK — Mr W. E. Burton, Reeve of Russell Township, was re-elected chairman of the South Nation River Conservation Authority for a fourth term at the annual meeting held in the Township office in Berwick.

Mr Kenzie MacGillivray was named as Vice-Chairman and Arnott Empey was re-appointed Secretary-Treasurer. Fraser & Otton were appointed auditors and McInnis and MacEwen solicitors.

The following were elected to the executive together with the Chairman and Vice-Chairman: P. E. Levesque, Cecil MacNabb, Roger Oullette, Eric Casselman, L. E. Brisson, W. E. Burchell, C. E. Blair, Harry R. Shaver, and Harry Williams.

Twenty-one of the thirty municipalities comprising the Authority were represented.

In his report to the annual meeting Mr Burton stated the work on the Plantagenet Rock cut had been completed except for settlements with two landowners. He reported on the SWEEP program for students and on the progress of the cleaning out of the landslide near Lemieux.

Mr A. W. Chalk, Resources Manager, reported that the transaction for the purchase of the Crysler dam had been nearly completed by the solicitors. He reported on the Land Compensation Board hearing with respect to the Russell Reservoir, and the sponsorship of 4-H Forestry Clubs.

Mr A. J. Campbell of Ontario Department of Lands and Forests stated that the Authority forest was growing rapidly and that 350,000 trees were to be planted in the Spring.

Mr Dave Strelchuk of the Ontario Department of the Environment outlined the problems of constructing a dam near Lemieux due to the accumulation of earth and debris in the channel caused by the landslide in May of 1971.

It was decided to carry out preliminary engineering on the dam at Crysler after the purchase of the dam was completed. The dam will be repaired over a period of years.

A total levy of $24,674.00 will be made on the various municipalities in 1972 for all purposes, according to equalized assessment.

Teacher's ... VIEW

FENCING — a High School Activity

Recently, Mr Robert Desjarlais, a well-known master of arms from Montreal, held an interesting fencing clinic at Glengarry District High School in order to promote the sport in this area. Fencing, an international sport of major interest in Europe, is getting more popular in Canada and the U.S.A. as an educational sport at both the high school and college levels. Three arms, the foil, the sabre, and the epee, now officially recognized in competition, have their own techniques and rules Internationale d'Escrime (FIE) and its affiliated associations. In larger cities fencing clubs exist under the auspices of professional masters of arms.

Today's crossing of blades is a renaissance of the once serious practice of using the sword in cruel, bloody battles and in early morning duelling when a timely and skilled clash of cold steel scored the point in favor of death or survival.

The modern fencer, high school and Olympic levels, now breeds a deep feeling of 'Loyalty to the Sword". A loyalty which means complete dedication striving towards excellence of performance in so many sports as basketball, football, wrestling, which require a great deal of physical contact or call for a special type of physique. Fencing provides the students with a sport where they can experience with, develop and condition rigorously their mental agility, their physical fitness. It enables them to master psycho-motor skills in order to be able to cross swords in competition with confidence, relaxation, enjoyment, and, last but not least, the will to win or to shake hands with a victor.

In competition the fencer must rely solely upon himself, his learned skills, speed, agiilty, strength, endurance, his self-control — if he does not, the sword will betray him. He must concentrate, anticipate, have faith in himself, cast away fears, go all out, pretend it is a game of chess played with lightning speed! He cannot cover up his errors or minimize his mistakes; he can only conquer by placing hits on the target.

Not only is fencing an athletically valuable exercise. It can also prove socially beneficial as both young men and women may practise the sport with great success and pleasure. On a class basis, it is an opportunity for the teacher to give fencing instructions adapted to each individual's needs, interests, and personality; it is an opportunity for the students, and later as an adult, to go through a thrilling and revealing experience in which he will channel unconsciously some of today's frustrations, stresses and pressures of modern life.

Certainly, the exciting sport of fencing can be integrated into our physical education curriculum. If we inform ourselves we can offer, through fencing, another way for our students to discover and develop some hidden and probably vegetating abilities.

Jean Yves Jeaurond,
Glengarry District High School

KITCHEN CORNER

GELATIN DESSERTS

Gelatin desserts are made with plain unflavoured gelatin or with commercial jelly powders. Jelly powders are avaiable in a wide variety of fruit flavours and only need dissolving in hot liquid and chilling until firmly set. For desserts made with plain gelatin the gelatin is first softened in cold water or other liquid, then dissolved in boiling liquid or over boiling water; sweetening and flavouring are required.

When gelatin mixtures are to be unmolded, brush the molds with a light coating of salad oil or moisten with cold water before pouring in jelly mixture. To unmold, run a pointed knife around the edge of the mold to loosen the jelly. Immerse mold in water for a few seconds; tilt mold slightly and ease jelly away from one side to let in air. Place serving plate upside down over mold; holding plate and mold together invert and lift off mold. If serving plate is first rinsed with cold water the jelly will slide to the centre of the plate more easily.

Fresh Orange Jelly Parfait

1 envelope unflavoured gelatin
½ cup cold water
1/3 cup sugar
1/16 tsp. salt
1¼ cup fresh orange juice
2 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
½ tsp. grated fresh lemon rind
1 cup heavy cream
½ tsp. vanilla

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in a saucepan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat; stir in sugar and salt. Add orange juice, lemon juice, and rind. Pour into 9 x 9 x 2 inch pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares. Fill parfait glasses with alternate layers of orange jelly and whipped cream mixed with vanilla. Serves 6.

Lemon Gelatin

1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1¼ cup boiling water
½ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
Grated rind of 1 lemon

Soften gelatin in cold water for 2 to 5 minutes. In covered saucepan, boil gently for 5 minutes the water, sugar, and lemon rind. Add gelatin; stir until dis solved. Add lemon juice; strain. Pour into moistened molds or serving dishes. Chill several hours or until set.

Jellied Fruits

Make lemon gelatin or use 3-oz. package of fruit flavoured jelly powder. Chill in bowl until slighty thickened. Add 2 cups prepared fresh or canned fruit (drain all juice from fruit). One or more fruits may be chosen. Do not use raw pineapple since it destroys the jelly property of gelatin.

Whips

Chill gelatin until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat with rotary beater until foamy. Mold; chill.

Sponges or Snows

Chill about 2 cups gelatin until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat until foamy. Beat two egg whites until stiff peaks form; combine with gelatin and beat until mixture begins to set. Mold; chill.

Raspberry Lime Mold

1 3-oz. pkg. lime flavoured jelly powder
½ cup boiling water
1 bottle (10 oz.) gingerale
1 tsp. grated lemon or lime rind
2 tbsp. lemon or lime juice
1/3 cup ice cold water
1/3 cup skimmed milk powder
1 15 oz. pkg. frozen raspberries (sweetened)

Dissolve jelly powder in boiling water. Add gingerale, lemon rind and juice. Let stand 10 minutes. Then chill until mixture thickens to consistency of unbeaten egg white. Pour ice cold water into small bowl; sprinkle skim milk powder on top. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff. Fold whipped milk into thickened gelatin mixture until thoroughly blended. Pour into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm, 2 to 4 hours. Unmold. Serve with raspberries, thawed, but with a few ice crystals still remaining. Serves 6.

LONG SAULT — A play-off battle between St. Regis and North Eamers Corners in the Cornwall Township Girls' Broom ball league, ended in a 2-0 victory for St. Regis at the arena here last Thursday night.

Robyn Fraser and Lorraine Oakes did the sharpshooting for the winners while Sharlene Davis claimed the shutout.

Two games were played Sunday night here. The first between Osnabruck Township Girls and Cornwall Island resulted in a 2-1 win for the Township in overtime action. The game was tied 1-1 until Debbie Adams made the winning score. Terry Roundpoint made the Island's only marker. Goal keeping for Cornwall Island was handeld by Audrey Burns and for Osnabruck by Juliette Rowden.

The second game of the night between N. Eamers Corners and St. Regis ended with the Corners leading 1-0. In overtime play the winning goal was scored by Joan McLellan. Sharlene Davis was in the net for St. Regis and Vickie Weegar in goal for N. Eamers Corners.

The next play-off game is Thursday night at the same place at 8 p.m. between Cornwall Island and Osnabruck Township. The third and deciding game between N. Eamers Corners and St. Regis will be played Sunday night at 6 p.m. followed at 7 p.m. with another battle between Osnabruck Township and Cornwall Island.

The secretary also read a letter from the provincial president Mrs Noblitt, and informed the members that their unit would be attending the Avonmore W.I.'s euchre in Roxmore Public School. The joint meeting is to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario.

Also in the month's mail was a letter from Mrs Helen Wilson, the area Public Relations Officer. The communique outlined the plans for the area Convention to be held this fall in Hawkesbury.

An interesting letter was also received from the Leprosy Mission Office, Toronto, concerning the old stamps the ladies have been gathering during the past year. More than five and half tons were collected through the W.I. organization and they were sold for $9,000.

Mrs Glendon Casselman gave a report on the Canada Packers' labels she requested at the last meeting while Mrs Claire Robertson and Mrs Rushford reported on the progress of the hall.

Mrs Tony Saunders won the contest conducted by Mrs Irene Ouderkirk, following which Mrs Anderson adjourned the meeting.

ies of hockey games. In a game against Berwick, the Avonmore Atoms, with Blake Henderson in the nets, registered a shutout win. The Avonmore Pee Wees in a second encounter, lost out to Finch.

With goals going to Ricky Alguire and Byron Henderson, the Midgets registered a 5 to 2 victory over the Finch Midgets.

In late afternoon the scene shifted to the Roxmore School Auditorium where the large crowd enjoyed a piping hot supper of Chile Con Carne and beans. Later the young children watched an hour of Bugs Bunny cartoons followed by another hour of games. The older children and young people played crokinole. Winners in the crokinole series were Michael MacMillan and Blair Henderson.

The day's program was successfully topped by a 'Sock Hop'
