Project cuts leave medics unhappy with renovations

by Sandy Casselman
Press staff

WILLIAMSBURG – The partnership between the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic (SLMC) and the Township of South Dundas has reached rocky ground.

Following receipt of a letter outlining the local physicians' concerns with the current state of the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute (MCI) rehabilitation project, of which SLMC is to be the primary tenant, council held a "special" meeting.

On Mon., May 6, local politicians met with several members of the clinic's team, including Dr. Paul Coolican, Dr. Wayne Domanko, and Dr. Steven McCann.

"When we wrote this letter we didn't do it lightly," Coolican said. "We don't feel like we have had much co-operation at all. We want to feel that what we are getting is good, and we want to feel like we have input."

Coolican referenced issues with the quality of materials being used, as well as with critical decisions that have been made without SLMC input.

The doctors seemed most upset upon discovering a rumoured change to the Internet cabling system and the quality of cable being used.

Township CAO Stephen MacDonald assured SLMC members that there had been no changes to the quality of cable used in the medical portion (first floor) of the building, but rather to the rest of the building.

The risk to the cable, said Domanko, was something the physicians discovered accidentally. "What else don't we know about?" he questioned.

Domanko said the lack of communication and lack of respect coming from members of the construction team has fostered resentment.

Duck racin' the South Nation

A crowd of spectators gathered at the County Road 1 bridge in South Mountain on Sat., May 4 to watch as a cascade of toy ducks plunged into the South Nation River. According to Phil Labossiere, the Mighty Knight Duck Race was a success again this year, with 832 ducks making their way down the river. As well, $2,870 was raised, with money slated to be distributed to local charities in the region. The event also featured a yard sale and barbecue in the village's downtown core. Pictured is Joel Murton (front, right), one of many who helped dump the ducks into the water. Press Photo – Uhrig

Future of Williamsburg library up for discussion at meetings

WILLIAMSBURG – Supporters of the Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry (SD&G) County Library's Williamsburg branch will have their voices heard on Thurs., May 9.

The library board has scheduled the first of two public meetings for that evening at the Independent Order of Odd Fellows Hall in Williamsburg. The session is to begin at 7 pm. (A second meeting is scheduled for Thurs., May 16 at 7 pm at the county library's Morrisburg branch.)

In December 2012, the board announced its intention to close the Williamsburg location, choosing instead to consolidate both the Williamsburg and Morrisburg branches into one central site at the renovated Morrisburg Collegiate Institute facility. (The former high school will also house the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic and the Township of South Dundas.)

Happy Face expanding services to Morrisburg

CHESTERVILLE – Happy Face Nursery School is growing once more. The centre's board of directors recently announced the expansion of its services to Morrisburg.

Happy Face will be opening a new childcare hub in Morrisburg Public School in September, which will open with 21 spots for preschool and toddler-aged children.

Meanwhile, major changes have been planned for the school's other offerings.

The main Chesterville location is set to relocate to Chesterville Public School in September. Construction will take place throughout the summer, and will allocate two classrooms with a separate entrance for the program. This enables Happy Face to offer 15 additional spots for children.

As well as offering toddler and preschool programs, the Chesterville site will also be running a before and after school program for school-aged children, capitalizing on a need in the community for licensed childcare services for children in these age groups.

Happy Face's program at Nationview Public School in South Mountain is also set to increase in order to offer more services. Renovations at the educational facility will allow the program to accommodate 15 toddlers in addition to its preschool, Kindergarten, and school age programs currently operating.

All three locations will run their programs year round, including professional development days and holidays, as well as running March Break and summer camps.

Because of the substantial expansion, Happy Face is now seeking qualified educators to fill positions for September. A job fair has been scheduled for Wed., May 15, from 5 to 7:30 pm, at Nationview.

Happy Face Nursery School is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing quality child care to the families it serves by offering the optimum learning environment for each child's individual needs.

For more information on the programs, contact Cheryl Cinnamon at 613-809-8550 or email ed.happyface@gmail.com.

Taming roadside trash

Once again, the Mountain Township and District Lions Club held their seasonal roadside cleanup event on Sat., May 4. Focusing on the ditches from County Road 43 heading south toward Mountain, 12 volunteers collected trash of all descriptions throughout a 4.5 kilometre stretch. The group members suit up, and head out with garbage bags and trucks every spring and fall in an effort to keep the area clean and free of litter. Ralph Spear and Sandy Weagant were two of the first volunteers working along the route early Saturday morning.

Library

Since that time, the Save the Williamsburg Library Committee, a grassroots initiative aimed at educating the public about the negative impact of the facility's closure, has been working to persuade the board to reconsider its decision.

"In Williamsburg, it is our local library, which has become the main attraction for many families and individuals," Pam Rodrigue, committee chairperson, said. "It is the public place we bike to, walk to, come to use the free Internet, make a photocopy or a fax, and most importantly, discover the world of books, while meeting neighbors and acquiring new friendships."

As well, the committee has argued the Williamsburg site should remain intact, given the hamlet's branch produces higher circulation rates, while open just 15 hours per week, than the larger Winchester and Morrisburg branches. (According to SD&G County Library data, the Williamsburg library ranked at or near the top of its circulation-per-hour ranking during the last four months of 2012, and in January 2013.)

Meanwhile, Bill McGimpsey, board chair, has argued that closure is necessary, as the county system needs to double usage rates throughout the three united counties, and cut costs where possible.

According to the board's current planning, the Williamsburg location is to be closed by early 2014.

An alternate option, however, would see T.R. Leger provide space for the library to remain in the hamlet. The continuing education school is currently in talks with the South Dundas regarding purchasing the municipality's present building once the township shifts its headquarters to Morrisburg. The library board has yet to comment on this option.

"We are trying to leave a legacy for this community and all we want is to be treated fairly," he said.

A major concern, Coolican added, is that they have been barred from entering the building to monitor its progress.

"Honestly, we've had no opportunities to go in and look," Coolican said. "If there is a problem, it is better to address it now."

Additional issues involved change requests made by the SLMC members. Realizing the electrical outlets were not in convenient locations, the doctors asked that they be moved. Also, having discovered a superior flooring material, it was requested that plans be changed before the installation of the floors.

Following the request to move the outlets, the physicians were told the cost would be an additional $20,000.

McCann pointed out that the group has made the same requests at the Iroquois construction site, where the former St. Cecilia's Catholic School is being transformed into the village's new St. Lawrence Medical Clinic, and have had nothing but cooperation at no extra charge.

"That [$20,000 charge], to me, was just an attempt to discourage [the request]," McCann said. "I'm not saying there is an issue with the township, it is with the [construction team]."

Domanko and Coolican agreed with McCann's assertion.

"There is no respect coming this way," Domanko said.

Coolican nodded in agreement.

"There's a trust issue with these people," Coolican said.

McCann hinted at the possibility of a break in the partnership between the municipality and the clinic.

While Councillor Archie Mellan acknowledged the frustration of the SLMC members, he also came to the defense of the contractors.

"Everybody in this room wants the best facility they can have," Mellan said. "I don't think there are mistakes being made… Just a lack of communication."

Coolican pointed out that SLMC members do want the partnership to work, and, at the same time, they do want the facility to be the best it can be.

"We'd like to walk through [MCI] with you," Coolican told council. "We're on the same page, I think, in terms of what we're after. We understand that cost is an issue. Fine. We are happy to pay it."

Council members appeared unanimous in their surprise at discovering that the physicians had issues with the project. Likewise, they all agreed that the end product should be a high quality facility that will not only attract new doctors to the community, but also satisfy the needs of municipal residents.

"We don't want an unhappy tenant," Deputy-Mayor Jim Locke said.

Mayor Steven Byvelds acknowledged a lack of knowledge in building construction and pointed out that he has to defer to the experts, but is more than willing to work with all parties to ensure the physicians get what they want and what they need.

"The best bet for all of us is a site meeting," Councillor Jim Graham said. "We have a number of issues and we are certainly not going to work them out at the table."

Councillor Evonne Delegarde agreed that now is the time for changes.

MacDonald committed to speaking with the key building personnel to ascertain a time for everyone to meet on site for a walk-through and an opportunity to discuss issues as soon as possible. He suggested a meeting could be scheduled as early as tomorrow (Thurs., May 9).

St. Daniel's rebuild progressing

SOUTH MOUNTAIN – Fire may have leveled St. Daniel's Roman Catholic Church in September 2011, but work is underway to see it rise once again.

It was announced in March that Ottawa-based GovanBrown Construction had been awarded the rebuild project's contract. Since then, the new religious facility's foundation has been dug, while erection of the exterior walls has been completed.

The yet-to-be-constructed facility is slated to incorporate a small ground-level meeting hall, alongside an open-concept sanctuary, with the entire building totalling roughly 5,000 square feet. The new structure, however, will not mimic the former 117-year-old building, with the removal of both the bell tower and stained glass windows.

The rebuild will be largely subsidized by St. Daniel's insurance, while the overall project is estimated to cost in the neighbourhood of $1 million.

The new St. Daniel's Roman Catholic Church is now in the early stages of construction.

Winchester Lions Club marks 45th anniversary

WINCHESTER – It has been four-and-a-half decades since the Lions Club was born in Winchester.

To honour the milestone, the local community service organization hosted a 45th Anniversary Charter Night at the local Lions Hall on Sat., May 4, inviting family, friends, and neighbouring clubs to join them in the celebration.

In addition to a dinner and a dance, the evening included an inspirational story from guest speaker Shelley Ann Morris.

Born visually impaired, Morris has never shied away from a challenge, which she said led to her eventual participation in long-distance runs, climbs, and triathlons.

Part of a family of athletes, Morris got her start in competitive running by following in her sister Colleen's footsteps. Her sister had just successfully completed a marathon when Morris' family asked, "So what are you [Shelley Ann] going to do for your next challenge?"

Morris has run both five-kilometre and 10-kilometre races, climbed the CN Tower numerous times for various charitable events, and participated in the Won With One program, a national triathlon club for the blind and visually impaired.

Chosen for the Won With One program, Morris has trained and participated in more than one triathlon since her first in 2010. Currently, she and her guide, George Hajecek, train together and race together. While the cycling portion of the event requires a bicycle built for two with Hajecek in the lead, both the swimming and running portion are done side by side, but independently.

The Winchester Lions Club, which began in 1968, currently has more than 30 members, including both community-minded men and women.

Officers for the 2013-2014 season have been chosen and will begin their new roles in June: Shawn Doolan, president; Guy Belliveau, vice president; Doug Shirreffs, secretary; Bob Craig, treasurer; Suzanne Belliveau, Lion Tamer; Clint Coleman, Tail Twister; Doug Padbury, John Cinnamon, Aaron Labossiere, and Emily McRoberts, directors; Dwayne Holmes, Leo coordinator; Barry Faith, membership director; and Philip Carkner, past president

Pool project progression

Restoration efforts at Winchester's Centennial Pool are ongoing. The project contractor, Superior Pool, Spa, and Leisure, has been on site in recent days working toward replacement of the pool deck and the addition of new waterlines. New fencing surrounding the facility will also be erected. The total cost of the work is estimated at $293,000. Press Photo – Uhrig

Treatment centre bike-a-thon May 11

WINCHESTER – It is time, once again, for the local Lions Clubs' bike-a-thon.

On Sat., May 11, at 10 am, the community is invited to come out in support of the Children's Treatment Centre (CTC) in Cornwall, a community-based, community supported agency committed to the prevention and treatment of child abuse.

The centre is not financially supported by the government and depends entirely on donations, and funds generated through fundraising events.

For this event, participants – on their own or in groups – can choose to bicycle or walk the available routes. In the Township of North Dundas, participants can choose to begin the trek at either the Chesterville Fairgrounds or North Dundas District High School. In the Township of South Dundas, the starting point options include the Docksyde in Morrisburg or Iroquois Point.

Pledge sheets are available at BMO Bank of Montreal branches and the Children's Treatment Centre.

For more information, contact Lyle Van Allen at 613-535-2744, Doug Grenkie at 613-543-2922, Dwayne Holmes at 613-774-6123, or the CTC at 613-933-4400.

Together, the North Dundas Leos Club, the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club, and the Morrisburg and District Lions and Leos Clubs, organized the Dundas County portion of the fundraising event.

SLPC CEO receives provincial award for tourism savvy

MORRISBURG – Darren Dalgleish, general manager and CEO of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission, has been named Tourism Champion of the Year by Attractions Ontario.

Dalgleish was chosen for the award, which is new this year, in recognition of his initiative, leadership, and business expertise.

Joining the commission's team in April 2011, Dalgleish was charged with the challenge of executing a corporate transformation to create business growth and long-term sustainability.

In just two years, he has led the implementation of significant changes. He has trimmed business processes and reduced waste, while improving market share and cost effectiveness. In addition to preserving core attractions and enriching opportunities around those attractions, Dalgleish has also researched and built new events with a primary focus on customer satisfaction.

Dalgleish has also engaged staff from all levels of the organization to identify and bring forward ideas for incremental change and improvement. Using the Kaizen business philosophy, he has seen a net performance improvement of 40 per cent.

"We wouldn't realize the business results we've achieved in the past two years without the entire St. Lawrence Parks team working cohesively, and without the combined innovation and enthusiasm that our staff share for our attractions, recreational products, and experiential integration and satisfaction," he said.

Staff at the parks commission have received accolades from Festivals and Events Ontario in 2012 for top new event of the year with the introduction of Upper Canada Village (UCV)'s Pumpkinferno. In addition, the Fort Henry Sunset Ceremonies and the UCV Alight at Night events have been named in Ontario's top 100 numerous times each.

"We are just starting to hit our stride," Dalgleish said. "This summer we will introduce an exciting new high-tech sound and light wall projection experience as part of Fort Henry's Sunset Ceremonies that will transform the visitor experience."

Going forward, Dalgleish said he has plans for more improvements, as well as the introduction of new events and program enhancements.

"In August we will host the PGA Tour Canada Great Waterway Classic at Upper Canada Golf Course. This will be the first PGA Tour Canada event in Ontario," he said. "Upper Canada Village is developing another new event called Food Lover's Field Days scheduled for August."

Events are not the only thing being improved this season.

"We have invested more than $1.6 million in our parks infrastructure to vastly improve our visitor services and their experience camping in our campgrounds," Dalgleish added.

The parks commission was recently awarded $300,000 from Celebrate Ontario to fund four events: Fort Henry's Concert Series, Fort Fright, Pumpkinferno, and Alight at Night.

Colours of the season

North Dundas District High School's annual Spring Fling Fashion Show was held on Fri., May 3. Area retailers, including Giant Tiger, Bridals by Al-Mor, and M&T Advertising, loaned a variety of clothing to the educational facility's student council. From prom dresses, to casual and beachwear, this season's latest fashions were put on display by a number of students including, above, Kelsey Ellis (left) and Hannah Greenough; and, below, Jodie Hall (left) and Jannah Vanderlaan. Press Photos – Uhrig

Cruickshank awarded SLPC pathway project

MORRISBURG – The St. Lawrence Parks Commission (SLPC) has announced the awarding of a construction project to replace one third to one half of the recreational trail along the Thousand Islands Parkway to Morrisburg's Cruickshank Construction.

The project, which is to begin this month, was made possible by joint funding from the federal and provincial governments through the Provincial-Territorial Base program.

"We are very pleased to receive this funding and move forward with the new construction of the Thousand Islands Parkway bike path," Darren Dalgleish, general manager and CEO of the SLPC, said. "This year we will begin with the section of the pathway that is in most need of reconstruction."

The parkway path, a 37-kilometre stretch from Gananoque to just west of Brockville, has been in need of major work for a number of years. The new section of pathway will be constructed on the laneway north of the existing path and will be twice as wide (three metres) to meet current bike path standards.

Work on the pathway will be managed to minimize disruption to residents and visitors that use the parkway regularly. The parks commission intends to continue to work with local townships and the United Counties of Leeds-Grenville to secure additional funding to complete the remaining sections of the recreational trail.

"The initiation of phase two of this important project will depend on our ability to collaborate on future funding opportunities with the counties and townships adjacent to the Thousand Islands Parkway," Dalgleish said. "We all recognize the importance of the project and want to complete the entire bike path as soon as possible, it's just a matter of available funding at this point."

Local doctor to address Canadian Club audience

MORRISBURG – Dr. Wayne Domanko is headlining the next Canadian Club meeting.

On Wed., May 15, beginning at 7 pm, Domanko will give a presentation on health care – local, regional, provincial, and national – at the Royal Canadian Legion Morrisburg Branch 48.

A partner at the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic in Morrisburg since 1969, Domanko has spoken at numerous seminars, lectured at the University of Ottawa's Faculty of Medicine, conducted significant research, served on several Winchester District Memorial Hospital committees, and served the medical needs of many of those in the community.

A prime rib dinner is to be served by the ladies of the local legion.

For tickets ($20), contact Clara Edwardson at 613-774-2407 or Doug Grenkie at 613-543-2922.

The Canadian Club is often mistaken to be a service club, but is actually a dinner club. It provides members with a venue to share their ideas about all things Canadian, while at the same time enjoying a meal together.

The local club has more than 100 members and averages roughly 15 to 20 visitors at each meeting. So far this season, there have been five meetings with topics ranging from the War of 1812 to The Lost Villages.

Why we continue to care

It has been said, more often than not, that the media is a fickle industry, and journalism, as a profession, is much maligned.

But, truthfully, it is a matter of scale. From one newsroom to another, the changes are subtle, but revealing. While the media, largely, works in the same style across the board, the way the message is shared varies by medium.

Be it live-tweeting an event, getting stills and video, filing various hits to a website, and so on, what needs to be reported will be captured.

Here at the Winchester Press, which this year marks 125 years as a publication, the process may not be as involved as it is at those publications serving major cities, but there is a process.

While email has alleviated some of the hunter/gatherer tendencies required in the pre-Internet age, the same skills are still required, and must remain strong. Not all stories are going to arrive in an inbox or by a phone call, meaning the dig begins. Like an onion, it is vital that all layers are searched.

The Press, meanwhile, is blessed to serve a community that embodies all aspects of the word, which includes the myriad service clubs and other organizations helping those in need or footing the bill for key additions to the many villages that make up Dundas County.

Take, for instance, Sweet Corner Park. The Township of North Dundas purchased the vacant lot at the corner of Main and St. Lawrence Streets in Winchester, which was for years a black mark in the otherwise pleasant village core. Today, however, it is a glorious park that has transformed a key piece of downtown land. If not for the ongoing efforts of the Winchester Downtown Revitalization Committee, and its many supporters, the space might still be the dustbowl it was for far too long.

It is the progression of this story, and many others that keep the Press' reporters at the ready to document the growth of a village, and a county.

The formula has been perfected in the twelve-and-a-half decades the paper has hit the streets mid-week, but its commitment to the region remains unchanged.

While the weekly deadline appears, at times, to be a hindrance when it comes to the turnaround time for news, the Press' cycle better allows for more thorough accuracy on each and every story.

It also allows time to tell a different story than the one that may appear most present. Yes, St. Daniel's Roman Catholic Church being lost to fire was devastating for its many parishioners, and for the area's history, but telling the tale of its rise once again is the real story. Wall by wall, brick by brick, and the religious facility is inching its way toward the sky once more.

Every person working for a newspaper or reading them knows the future of the industry is uncertain. No longer is the story spun as a positive or sugarcoated, the facts are laid out that the newspaper industry is faltering.

But here at the Press, we all believe we have something vital to offer to the community, otherwise we wouldn't be here, and we wouldn't be recognized by our peers through various awards. Many newspapers have gone through round after round of layoffs and cutbacks, but they keep chugging along. The Press may not be immune to what takes place at publications around it, but we remain committed to the task at hand: sharing the stories that affect or impact those around us.

This is it, in black and white, why the Press and its staff continues the weekly ritual that you hold in your hands at this moment.

The trend will remain the same for whatever time we all have left.

Remember when...

1923

With only two weeks to go before the provincial election, the editor of the Winchester Press reminded readers to consider political track records. While politicians had talked of righteousness for several years, their behaviour didn't follow suit. As proof, the Press' editor pointed to the parliamentary halls, which were reportedly plagued by crookedness, graft, extravagance, waste, incompetency, and self-seeking.

1933

The Winchester 100 Club held a fundraiser this week in Lannin's Hall with more than 500 area residents in attendance. Proceeds from the event were to be directed toward treatments for physically disabled children in the Township of Winchester. Club president Albert Johnston chaired the event, which took the form of a debate focusing on the following statement: "[Be it] resolved that Canada is justified in refusing to trade with Russia." Dr. Arnold Sherwood and Hy Bessin were arguing in agreement with the statement, while Rev. John McKay and Dr. C.H. Meredith were arguing against.

This week, in 2003, Township of North Dundas council honoured the Oak Valley Plantation volunteers, a group of people who worked together to build a nut tree farm west of Winchester Springs. Pictured is Murray Inch, spokesperson for the group, showing off a young hazelnut tree. The plantation, it was noted, is also a Pioneer Heritage site.

1943

It was a story of the strange and unusual in this week's Press. Driving home from Ottawa one evening, close to Greely, Hart Melvin found his car skidding from side to side. Although it was raining, the road was unpaved, and Melvin could see no reason for the slippery conditions. Stopping his car to investigate, he got out to discover that the road was "literally covered with thousands of dew worms, some nearly eight inches long." The Press admitted it was not unusual to see dew worms on the road, but pointed out that it was very odd to see so many, "especially when they created enough slime to cause a car to skid."

1953

The Press reported on Winchester High School's final party of the 1953 school year, this week. Cliff Wilkes and his orchestra supplied the music for both round and square dancing, while three students provided entertainment during the band's intermission. Doreen Cross sang two songs, while both Mr. Potvin and Don Woods chose to play instrumental selections.

1963

Three men on a mission for world peace – the Canadian Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament – reached the Ottawa area this week on their quest to walk across Canada. The trio began their journey in British Columbia the previous fall, and had averaged roughly 20 miles per day.

1973

The Winchester Lions Club held a walkathon to raise money for the newly erected pool house, and, despite the bad weather conditions, there were still 171 walkers at the starting line. While the number of participants was less than expected, the event still managed to raise roughly $2,000.

1983

Local children and their parents were excited this week when TV Ontario's The Polka Dot Door came to Vernon's Presbyterian Church. More than 250 people attended. The travelling entertainers – Greg Collett, Cindy Cook, and Gairey Richardson – were scheduled for roughly 100 dates in 1983, with as many as five shows on a single day.

1993

This week, the Press printed an excerpt from a letter written by the captain of the HMS Preserver to the family of 20-year-old Winchester native Dana MacLaughlin. The ship was stationed off the coast of Somalia and the captain sent letters to the families of every crewmember describing their life aboard the vessel: "The working conditions here off Mogadishu have certainly not been ideal by any stretch of the imagination, but everyone has got on with the job and have in many cases gone well beyond the call of duty. You can all be extremely proud of the part your member has had in the restoration of hope for the people of Somalia."

2003

Metcalfe dairy farmers Betty and Ron Eastman were highlighted in this week's Press for their recent receipt of the City of Ottawa Civic Appreciation Award for Rural Agriculture. City councillors Janet Stavinga and Doug Thompson presented the award to the couple during an April 30 ceremony at Ottawa City Hall. The Eastman's were honoured as life-long community volunteers (40+ years).

A hundred years of hatred boils to the surface

From the Other Side
by Jeff Morris

It was perhaps the most viewed image on the computer in the country last week.

Lars Eller of the Montreal Canadiens laying face down in a pool of his own blood on the ice at the Bell Centre. No matter how much of a love fest the long awaited Montreal-Ottawa playoff series was as the two sides beamed with respect for the other leading up to the puck drop, all love, like, respect, and tolerance was gone.

Montreal and Ottawa. East of Calgary and Edmonton, Canada couldn't have two better rivals. Cut it any way you want. English-French. Separatist-Federalist. Peter Dalla Riva-Tony Gabriel. Meech Lake. William Shatner-Paul Anka.

No matter what the topic is, any time there is a rivalry between Montreal and Ottawa, it runs deep.

When 10 sticks and 10 pairs of hockey gloves were being sorted out as 10 players were sent to their dressing rooms after a line brawl on Sun., May 5, there was no doubt it was on.

While Eric Gryba brought out the hatred of Ottawa in Montreal, many of the Canadiens have returned the favour in Ottawa. Brandon Prust of the Canadiens called Sens coach Paul MacLean a "bug-eyed fat walrus." PK Subban, Montreal's star defenceman, took a run at one of Ottawa's smallest and least physical players. Montreal coach Michel Therrien has whined and played the victim card throughout the series. Therrien, known in hockey circles as a smoker, was losing credibility with every comment. Sometimes when you say too much, you just have to shut your du Maurier hole.

But this Montreal-Ottawa hatred is nothing new, and it is nothing compared to what went on a century ago.

It was January 12, 1907. Though it may not be the bloodiest brawl in the history of sports, it is certainly the measuring stick that all others are compared to.

In a heated game in Montreal at the Westmount Arena, some two years before the opening of the Montreal Forum, Ottawa's Alf Smith took his stick and two-handed Montreal star Hod Stuart across the head. Stuart lay motionless on the ice, for several minutes, unconscious. A while later, Ottawa's Baldy Spittal smashed his stick over the head of Montreal's Cec Blatchford, who was carried off the ice, unconscious. Alf Smith's brother, Harry, also got in on the action for Ottawa. He took his stick and lumber jacked the face of Montreal's Ernie Johnston, breaking his nose, and causing blood to Niagara Falls onto the ice.

"It was disgraceful," referee and league secretary-treasurer T. Emmett Quinn told the Montreal Star. "If that kind of thing is allowed to continue, it means that a player simply takes his life in his hands when he goes on the ice."

Quinn called for a suspension for Alf Smith and Baldy Spittal for the remainder of the season. The Eastern Canada Amateur Hockey Association, a predecessor to the NHL, rejected the suspension, determining that the lads likely used poor judgement in the heat of the moment. The league president, Fred McRobie, outraged over the lack of a suspension for the players, resigned that day.

The Star on Jan. 14, 1907 described the game as "butchery, not hockey."

"They Should Each Get Six Months In Jail Is The Opinion As To Saturday Hockey Brutalities," exclaimed the front-page headline. "The Professional Butchers Association of Ottawa organized an excursion to Montreal on Saturday, and had a most successful and pleasant outing… They return to Ottawa well satisfied with the work done." It went on to describe Spittal as "Champion Meat Chopper for the artistic manner in which he cut down ... Blatchford." Spittal was "awarded a special medal for [also] trying to lay out the judge-of-play [linesman Walter Cummings]."

Meanwhile, the Montreal police decided to get involved. When the Ottawa team showed up to play in Montreal two weeks later, Spittal and the Smith brothers were arrested, charged with assault, and released on bail. The players would have to face trial, and Spittal and Alf Smith were found guilty. They were forced to pay $20 each and were told to "stay out of trouble." Harry Smith, for some unknown reason, was found not guilty.

Neither Robert Stanley Weir, Montreal's chief judge, nor Westmount Police Magistrate McMahon saw the game. However, the game's brutality caught the attention of both men.

Weir, who a year later would write the English lyrics to "O Canada," spoke of the spectacle. Had he been in the arena, "I would have assuredly, in my capacity of magistrate, ordered the arrest of the offenders."

Hod Stuart, a veteran of several leagues, weighed in by saying "If men did things like the Ottawa's in the other leagues, they would be arrested."

Montreal went undefeated and won the league, and would challenge the Kenora Thistles for the Stanley Cup. The Kenora roster was bolstered by a pick up player, none other than Alf Smith. Montreal would win the 14-year-old Stanley Cup. However, the cup was stolen from the home of photographer Jimmy Rice after he shot the official team photo. No one would offer ransom for it, and the Stanley Cup was eventually left on Rice's doorstep. Rice's wife used it as a windowsill geranium planter until the fall.

Despite surviving the assault and winning the cup, it was a tragic ending for Hod Stuart. That summer, he dove into the Bay of Quinte and fatally broke his neck.

Letters to the Editor

Change to physiotherapy pricing will hurt

The Editor:
I am writing this letter with regards to the article on the front page of a recent edition of the Ottawa Citizen. The province's health minister, Deb Matthews, is proposing to be extremely hard on the seniors' of Ontario.

I work at a local retirement home, and have been there since it opened. I have seen firsthand the benefit that physiotherapy can have on our elderly residents, my parents included. When physiotherapy was approved to be in our residence, it was such a blessing. We were overjoyed to see the great results.

My father had a stroke quite a few years ago, but received great therapy afterward. He still has issues with his leg muscles tightening up, but thanks to physiotherapy he is still able to walk with a walker at 89 years of age. If it weren't for physiotherapy, he would be confined to a wheelchair, and probably in a long-term care home.

We have two excellent physiotherapists that come to our retirement home four days a week to help our residents. Every new resident that comes to live at our residence gets access, and is put on the program they desire. Most do all physiotherapy treatments, in one form or another.

The residents are pleased to be able to receive this treatment. Ninety per cent of our residents would not be able to go to another place to have treatment. It is a great effort, and high cost, for them to get transportation to a physiotherapist office. The cost per visit now is approximately $12.20 (with OHIP), while Matthews is proposing an increase to $120 per visit, while also having the Champlain Community Care Access Centre involved.

If physiotherapy is cut from our retirement homes, there will be many residents that will end up in long-term care and hospitals, putting more burdens on our health care system. But then we don't even have enough room in long-term care or hospitals now, so then what becomes of the residents?

In the Resident Bill of Rights, issued by the Retirement Homes Regulatory Authority, it is stated that residents have the right to choose the care services they receive by staff qualified to do so. I guess the ministry's proposal would take away some of the residents' rights.

All politicians talk about helping seniors, but I sure hope they or their family members never end up in this predicament. We have residents who are paying to live in a wonderful facility, and if they are not living in retirement homes, it costs government money to have them in hospitals or long-term care facilities.

Does it not make sense to spend a few dollars on physiotherapy, compared to many thousands to keep patients in hospital or long-term care?

This is not to mention the job loss for all those physiotherapists that will be out of work, and need to be retrained for other jobs.

Need a DJ? Think locally!

The Editor:
There is always talk around the Township of North Dundas about "keeping it local."

Here in our great community, we have so many wonderful businesses that provide us with great service. But did you know that we also have some awesome local DJ's in the area that provide you with great service?

Picture this: You live here in North Dundas, and you're having a wedding. You need a DJ. So you book a company from the city for your wedding. By doing that, keep this in mind, the big disc jockey companies from the city, for the most part, send someone who you don't know. It could also be someone who has very little experience. Big companies also come with a big price, and don't shop or volunteer locally.

Why not consider contacting a local DJ for your wedding or any other occasion? All of us have been in business for many years, as we live and shop in the local area.

All of us have to continue to donate our time locally with many service groups, along with volunteering as well. Chances are that we have provided our DJ service to your family more than once.

So, if you need a DJ, keep us in mind. We are your neighbours.

U.S. proposing border fee hike

OTTAWA – Given the fragile state of the global economy, trading nations like Canada should be doing all we can to increase legitimate cross-border and international commerce.

I know firsthand that our government understands this. That is why we are pursuing an ambitious, pro-trade plan that is facilitating more trade and commerce, and less red tape at the border.

Our commitment to free and open trade has helped Canada weather the global economic downturn better than other G7 nations. Canada has been the envy of other countries, but we can't relax and rest on our laurels.

It is in that spirit that I strongly oppose a border fee proposed by our closest trading partner and neighbour. American President Barack Obama's 2014 budget request to congress proposes to study the feasibility of charging a fee to anyone crossing the American border by land. I believe such a fee would be very ill advised as it would hurt the $1.9-billion in trade that flows between our two countries every single day, including the significant trade and shipment of goods at the Cornwall-Massena crossing.

Our government believes that the proposed U.S. border fee would be bad for jobs and bad for the economy on both sides of the border. It would certainly have a very negative effect on all the progress we have made here in Canada on growing the economy and creating jobs.

A number of U.S. politicians whose districts are in border states have already vocally opposed such a measure. Some of these opponents are in the president's own party. Even New York congressman Bill Owens is opposed to this idea. I am sure all MPs in the opposition parties also oppose this action.

I am working hard, along with Prime Minister Stephen Harper and all MPs to urge decision makers in Washington to consider the damaging impact of this job killing border fee. Indeed, this kind of fee has been proposed before and not enacted.

We lobbied against the fee then, and we will continue to strongly make our case for open and free trade at the border. Anything that thickens the border is counterproductive to both Canada and the U.S. It makes no sense to enact this fee hike.

That's why the Harper government is vigorously advocating against such a proposal – from cabinet ministers to Canada's frontline diplomats.

TCS marking 50 years

In honour of their educational facility's 50th anniversary, Timothy Christian School (TCS) students have been transforming ordinary tree stakes into artistic pencils, a toast to the instrument used in learning. # Letters valuable, from complaints to praise

The Editor:

Recently, a reader felt that many of the letters in this section sounded like complaints. I see them not as complaints, but rather as concerns; a rallying cry for action (as in saving the Williamsburg library); sometimes educational; and often the start of a good-natured debate that brings thoughts and input to the forefront.

A concerned citizen is an engaged citizen, and engaged citizens make for strong healthy communities. One only has to watch the news for a moment, or look out a window, or be free to voice a concern in a letter, to be reminded of how fortunate we are.

I see many letters in this section offering kudos to people, groups, and organizations. Another section of the paper regularly features "notes of thanks" and "cards of appreciation." In fact, I have always been very impressed that families who have suffered an illness, a loss, or who were celebrating a special milestone have taken the time to publicly thank a doctor, service organization, friend, neighbor, or family member. I am a strong advocate of noting compliments, as well as concerns. In that light, I would like to share a recent experience.

I hadn't had a mammogram since 2007 because, like many other women, my last experience was so off-putting. I went to an imaging clinic in Ottawa near where I lived.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I was handed a "top" to change into that was made of a flimsy paper material, and might have fit my 10-year-old niece. I clutched it around me, hearing ripping sounds as I tried to perch on a chair in a cramped waiting room without having anything escape the paper top.

Despite signs saying things like: "We compress because we care," the technician was gruff and unsympathetic when I told her that the compression was much too painful. The paper top was laughable. The pain that lasted three days afterwards was not. I was thoroughly disgusted with the procedure, and with the fact that we women subject ourselves to it. Quite simply, no man would put his "you-know-what's" into such a contraption. Men would flat-out refuse and the method would be forced to change.

Flash forward to 2013. An ex-colleague of mine is diagnosed with stage four breast cancer. Even then, it was with great trepidation that I accepted a same-day appointment at Winchester District Memorial Hospital (WDMH) for a mammogram.

The receptionist at the digital imaging centre was cheerful, efficient, and walked me to the mammogram area. I was given a cloth hospital gown to change into, one that would fit all sizes. The area was bright, clean, private, and offered informative reading material on breast health.

The technician was upbeat, professional, and clearly explained everything she was going to do and how the results were handled. I did not feel rushed and my questions were answered fully. She also provided some excellent tips on how to make the procedure more comfortable, and reminded me often as we went through the four images.

As she said, the new machine was designed by a woman (there's an idea!) and she, not the machine, controls the compression level. Though slightly uncomfortable, there was definitely no pain involved. What a difference.

I would like to compliment the technician on her skill and super attitude, as well as the hospital for hiring exemplary staff and having the latest equipment. Moreover, I would encourage any woman who, like me, hesitates to get a mammogram, to rest assured, the procedure has vastly improved, and our WDMH has once again stepped up with top-notch service. What a blessing to live in a community with such a great hospital. My compliments.

Citywide burn ban in effect

OTTAWA – Ottawa Fire Service has placed a burn ban into effect to prevent the rapid spread of flames due to grass and brush fires.

The ban will remain in place until conditions improve and the green grass starts to show through dead tall grass. This winter left more debris – fallen tree branches, leaves, etc. – on the ground than in previous years, which increases the risk of fire spreading.

All open-air fires are prohibited during the ban, even for those properties that have a burn permit. There will be zero tolerance enforcement during the open-air burning ban.

Wildlife strategy

The City of Ottawa is seeking input from residents on its proposed wildlife strategy. The proposal aims to prevent and resolve human-wildlife conflicts by taking a balanced and humane approach to wildlife management, and includes recommendations for education, outreach, planning, and management.

The strategy was developed in response to an increasing need for consistent and effective responses to human-wildlife conflicts in all areas of the city. Ottawa has a unique challenge due to its large size and its diverse landscape of urban and rural settlements, farmlands, and high-quality natural habitats.

The final proposal will be considered first by the Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, and then by council.

For information, to view the document, or to comment, visit www.ottawa.ca.

Trunk sale

Museum activities

The Osgoode Township Historical Society Museum in Vernon is currently offering an adult-oriented stained glass course for beginners on Saturdays from 10 am to 12 pm. The course began on May 4, and will run until June 22. The cost is $120 for course instruction and $80 for supplies and tools.

Emergency Preparedness Week focusing on seniors

WINCHESTER – The nationwide Emergency Preparedness Week continues until Sat., May 11.

According to Bill Shearing, community emergency management co-ordinator, the weeklong initiative is an opportunity to remind people of the need to be able to cope for at least 72 hours of an emergency while workers attend to those in urgent need.

The region, according to Shearing, has been fortunate to not be affected by this year's major windstorms and flooding. "These incidents in other parts of Ontario have caused problems with water supplies, and cut off electricity and phone services for days," he said.

The theme for this year's week is "seniors and emergencies." Shearing said Emergency Management Ontario recognizes that seniors have much experience to draw on, but they can also face added challenges and vulnerabilities. They need to consider their specific needs, he added.

For more information, visit www.ontario.ca/beprepared or call 1-877-314-3723.

We continue to work with the Obama administration to implement the Beyond the Border Action Plan to improve the flow of people and goods across the border. That should continue to be our focus, as people in both countries will benefit.

Instead of this fee hike we should look at ways of facilitating trade and commerce between our countries. I am fully aware that the Obama administration, like other governments, is looking at ways to increase revenue, but I believe that this would have the opposite effect. All 165 Conservative MPs are strongly opposed to this proposal, and we are sending a strong message to president Obama that this is a bad idea.

Monast Backhoe and Haulage has flipped to Badger Excavating following the sale of Pete Monast's 40-year-old business. Monast, meanwhile, will be staying with the firm. ## 40-year-old business, Monast Backhoe, ready for action as Badger Excavating

MAPLE RIDGE – Retirement isn't currently in the cards for Pete Monast, but he has recently scaled back his involvement in the local hauling industry.

Monast, long-time owner of Monast Backhoe and Haulage, the company he founded in 1973, sold his business handlings to Badger Excavating in November 2012. Only recently, however, has the transaction been completed.

Badger, owned and operated by Frank Scheepers, along with his wife, Laurie, acquired Monast's County Road 43 east 71-acre property, as well as its fleet of vehicles and a handful of employees. (The adjacent quarry, which Badger owns and draws from, has an anticipated lifespan of 20 years.)

Scheepers founded the business in 1996, starting out with a skid steer, before expanding the firm's offerings to include asphalt grinding, backhoe and bulldozer services, septic installation, and more.

Monast, meanwhile, has stayed on as an employee, offering guidance as Badger expands its portfolio of work.

"I can't just sit around doing nothing," he said. "The [business] sale has taken a lot of the tensions off of me."

OVSGA hands out more than $13,000 from sale proceeds

KEMPTVILLE – Directors of the Ottawa Valley Seed Growers Association (OVSGA) recently approved several donations to local agricultural organizations, as well as a $6,000 donation to the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario (CHEO).

In the first full meeting following the OVSGA's 2013 Ottawa Valley Farm Show held in March, the directors met in Kemptville to discuss the show's success, and to allocate donations.

Proceeds from the farm show's Prestigious Pedigree Seed Sale, $6,000, were earmarked for CHEO, bringing the total donated to the local hospital throughout the past 20 years to more than $100,000.

The Richmond Fair's Dale Green requested a donation to help sponsor the 2013 convention of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions to be held in Ottawa in November. Green said the organizing committee is attempting to raise $50,000 to cover the costs of hosting the event. The OVSGA directors agreed to donate $1,000.

Money was also set aside to renew annual memberships in the Canadian Agricultural Hall of Fame ($500) and the Ontario Agricultural Hall of Fame ($1,000).

Regional 4-H clubs were targeted as well, with $300 allocated to each of the 11 counties in Eastern Ontario. Another $300 was set aside for those counties with field crop and plowing clubs. In addition, the directors donated $2,000 for the annual 4-H show in Metcalfe.

Money was also earmarked for OVSGA president Bruce Hudson, along with six other members of the association, to travel to London for the annual meeting of the Farm Show Council.

As a member of the council, the Ottawa Valley Farm Show is co-hosting the gathering along with Canada's Outdoor Farm Show, and the International Plowing Match and Rural Expo.

The council was formed in 1972 and represents 23 agricultural trade shows in the U.S. and Canada, with one member in New Zealand. OVSGA directors approved $2,000 to support the meeting.

As for the farm show in March, held at the Ernst and Young Centre for the second year in a row, directors judged it to have been a success… with some glitches still to be ironed out.

For more information, contact farm show general manager Tom Van Dusen at 613-445-3407 or by email at tomvandusen@simpatico.ca or tvd@ottawafarmshow.com.

4-H Update

Scrapbooking in South Mountain

by Ashley Armstrong

SOUTH MOUNTAIN – The local 4-H Scrapbooking Club has been meeting regularly at the Mountain Township Agricultural Hall in South Mountain.

Each meeting opened with the pledge and roll call.

On Tues., April 23, at the group's fourth meeting, Christine Van Den Broek taught participants how to embellish pages using a cuttlebug, lightbox, and hand tools.

Then, on Sat., April 27, the group held a double meeting where they tried new techniques, such as hidden journaling. In addition to completing pages, the group also participated in scrapbook trivia, as well as card and page challenges. There were prizes for winners, and pizza and snacks for participants.

Consider environment when building, SNC

FINCH – To save time and money when proposing new construction in the South Nation Conservation (SNC) watershed, proponents should examine environmental considerations first.

Developers who miss this first step are sometimes disappointed when told their projects are not compatible with the environment and must, therefore, be modified accordingly.

"It can be expensive and time consuming to deal with these issues after a project is already launched," James Holland, SNC watershed planner, said. "But when property owners come to us at the beginning of the process, in the early planning stages, we can work with them to facilitate the project."

Holland said there are no fees associated with preliminary discussions of a project with SNC planners, regulations officers, and technical experts.

In pre-consultation, the applicant provides conceptual and sometimes technical information on a development proposal. Together, the owner and SNC staff review location and key environmental issues while looking for opportunities to speed up the process and reduce costs.

When buying or selling a property, or considering new development, an environmental report can be provided for a small fee. The report identifies natural features such as provincially significant wetlands and characteristics that may create dangerous conditions such as unstable slopes or flooding risks.

Detailed information in the report may inform on how a development should proceed. It will clarify for the owner whether permits and studies will be required, fees associated with the final proposal, and an estimated timeframe.

"When it comes to land use planning, early consultation is always best," Holland said. "But it's always better late than never."

For more information, contact Holland at 1-877-984-2948 extension 227 or email jholland@nation.on.ca.

Art wanted for charity auction

CHESTERVILLE – As they gear up for the third annual Art on the Waterfront Festival this June, Friends of the Nation River members are looking for some help from the public.

This year's event, scheduled for Sat., June 8 and Sun., June 9 in Chesterville, will feature an art auction on Saturday afternoon with all proceeds earmarked for Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

The public is being asked to raid their attics, basements, and storage units for anything art-related – paintings, sketches, photographic art, sculptures, craft-like items, etc. – that they would like to donate to the cause.

The auction is an opportunity to swap art, be environmentally friendly, and to help the hospital.

Those with donations can bring their art treasures to the Gathering House in Chesterville anytime from now until June 8. On the day of the auction, a large tent will be set up for those wishing to donate last-minute items.

This year's Art on the Waterfront Festival will also feature many of the same popular attractions as last year, including numerous artists and artisans displaying and selling their work, the Upper Canada Quilters' Guild, a farmers' market, a pig roast in the park, children's entertainment, live music, a beer tent, and more.

Moonlighting mayor

The Dundas County Players' latest production, Pump Boys and Dinettes, ended its two-weekend run on Sun., May 5. The play told the story of four men working at L.M. and Jim's Gas Station, and two waitresses at the Double Cup Diner. The last three showings featured a special guest, as Township of North Dundas Mayor Eric Duncan took on the role of a customer at the diner. He is pictured here with Andrea Bols (left) and Rachelle Eves. Up next for the local theatre troupe is its youth summer workshop, with this summer's feature set to be Alice in Wonderland.

Hospital CEO on piano at food bank fundraiser

WINCHESTER – Cholly Boland will be stepping outside his role of Winchester District Memorial Hospital CEO on Thurs., May 9.

That evening, Boland, along with many other local musicians, will be taking part in the Winchester Open Mic Night's fundraising effort for the Dundas County Food Bank. The event, held at the Old Town Hall, will coincide with the ongoing Hunger Awareness Week.

"Summer is the hungriest time of the year with kids out of school, and we wanted to do our part to help the Dundas County Food Bank," Ann Brady, co-ordinator for the event, said. "So we contacted [food bank administrator] Donna Quesnel, and she loved the idea of incorporating a fundraiser into our open mic night. The whole thing took off from there."

Joining Boland will be Anne and Michael Lyon; Rick Ventrella; recording artist Mally Krock; Miss Alice and the Trip and Dance Band; Jeff Nelson; Maddy Thompson; Ken Julien; and many others.

"We invite anyone wishing to do a set, to come and perform – and bring a friend," Brady said. "Someone new always shows up at open mic night and wows us with their act, and that includes some amazing kids destined for stardom, they are that good."

Attendees are asked to bring along a donation of a non-perishable food item, and all proceeds from popcorn sales at the dollar canteen will be donated to the Dundas County Food Bank. Doors open at 6:45 pm.

Barbecue and sunshine

Vintage cars and flashy motorcycles filled the parking lot and surrounding grounds of Osgoode Tire Sales on Sat., May 4 as the 2605 Stagecoach Rd. shop welcomed visitors to its eighth annual spring barbecue and show 'n' shine. With music provided by Y101, visitors strolled around admiring the many vehicles on display while others settled in for the long haul with their lawn chairs, and sun visors. Proceeds from the event are earmarked for the Motorcycle Ride for Dad, a local organization that raises money for prostate cancer awareness and research. Owner Brian Kearns showcased two of his own vintage cars. He is pictured here with grandson, Maverick Quesnel.

From interesting buggies to mid-century sports cars, the May 4 event had an assortment of vintage automobiles on display.

Museum turns sod on heritage garden

by Sandy Casselman
Press staff

VERNON – Construction on the Osgoode Township Historical Society Museum's heritage garden project is set to begin in the coming weeks.

Museum board president Gary Briggs made the official announcement at a sod-turning ceremony at the Vernon facility on Sat., May 4.

Local residents, politicians, board members, and staff gathered to acknowledge the historic event, and to learn more about the project's grand-scale plan. When the first phase of the five-year project is complete, the grounds in front of the museum will represent the early 20th century school gardening movement in Ontario.

Lynn Armstrong, project designer, said that – as today – the provincial government in the early 1900's realized that children did not know how to grow their own food. In response, an entire curriculum around gardening was developed, with teachers sent to the University of Guelph for training. The movement, she added, got its roots in rural Ottawa before spreading across Ontario.

"It's really about the kids and teaching them how to garden," Armstrong said.

Following the completion of the project's first phase, local students will have the opportunity to plant, nurture, grow, harvest, and eat their own food.

Nepean-Carleton MPP Lisa MacLeod said that she and many of her political colleagues at Queen's Park share Armstrong's view. "There's an opportunity for us to be more self-reliant if we teach our kids," MacLeod said.

MacLeod's federal counterpart, Pierre Poilievre, agreed, saying it is essential that these skills be passed on to the next generation… Before they are lost forever.

Press Photos – Casselman

While the sod was symbolically turned during the May 4 event, work will not begin until later this month.

Local farmer Gerald van der Linden was the first of many local individuals to make a donation to the museum, Briggs said. Van der Linden's gift of a rototiller essentially kick-started a long list of donations – including money, materials, and labour – from other community-minded people, businesses, and organizations.

Final product

"I look forward to being here when this is developed," Doug Thompson, councillor for Osgoode Ward, said.

Inspiration for the design came from several sources, said Armstrong. In addition to extensive historical research, she also borrowed elements from gardens she has visited in other areas of the province, the country, and the world.

The final product will also showcase other historical elements, including a log cabin surrounded by a pioneer garden featuring early foods and medicines native to the area, a honey garden complete with bee-attracting plants, reproductions of ruins incorporating the Boyd Block style, an apple orchard, windmill, sculptures, and more.

Additional information on the project's design and its historical significance can be found on the museum's website (www.osgoodemuseum.ca).

Junior Devils blank St. Lawrence Saints 3-nil

IROQUOIS – Will Zandbelt turned in a flawless effort guarding the nets for the North Dundas District High School Junior Devils.

Zandbelt and the Devils whitewashed the Saints 3-nil on the pitch at Seaway District High School in their opening game of the 2013 SD&G junior Boys "A" high school soccer season last week (Wed., May 1).

The same afternoon on the same pitch, the North Dundas junior girls earned a point in a scoreless draw with the L'Heritage Dragons in their tri-county debut. After a short 10-minute break, they returned to the field, engaged the host Seaway Spartans and suffered a 2-1 loss.

"Playing back-to-back games with a small bench really hurt us against Seaway," remarked coach Kevin Bell. "The girls were not used to the heat and wilted, although they did give a strong final push in the last 10 minutes of the second half."

Bell said the girls moved the ball around well and the defence limited L' Heritage's scoring opportunities. Keeper Laura Carruthers backed her team, registering the shutout.

"We just couldn't finish our scoring chances," he said.

The coach reported Tori Corkery lobbed a beautiful shot into the corner of the Spartans' net from the 18 yard box to give the Devils a 1-1 tie in the first half of the Seaway match.

Spring thing

It was a perfect spring afternoon as the North Dundas District High School Junior Devils opened their 2013 SD&G "A" high school soccer season in Iroquois. The North Dundas junior girls battled Ecole Secondaire L' Heritage Dragons to a scoreless draw in the match played last week (Wed., May 1). Devils Carlee Coburn (left) and Tori Corkery joined a couple of Dragons following the flight of the ball during the match. Press Photo – Van Bridger

Devils 3 – Saints nil

Ben Schoones cracked a cross fed to him by Brodie Barkley and Matt Laflamme and counted what would prove to be the GWG as the Devils carried a 1-nil lead into the second half of the boys match against the St. Lawrence Saints.

Brady Stitt drilled a rocket kick off the cross bar before Laflamme put the ball through to Mitch Melenhorst who scored into the yawning cage for a 2-nil lead.

Stitt made it a 3-nil final polishing off an opportunity created by Laflamme with five minutes left in the match.

Coach Mike Deighton said he was pleased with the positive outcome of the game and said what this year's team may lack in talent makes up for in grit.

"They never quit," he said.

Senior Devils

The North Dundas senior squads kicked off the new season last week (Tues., April 30) in Williamstown.

The senior girls suffered a pair of 6-nil losses to the host Char-Lan Crusaders and Seaway Spartans.

That afternoon, the senior boys were shutout 2-nil by the Char-Lan Crusaders and settled for a 2-2 draw and a single point against the Seaway Spartans.

"We dominated Seaway with at least 15 good scoring chances, but we could not hit the net," said coach Ian Wilson. "Seaway tied it with 40 seconds left converting a defensive breakdown in our zone. That was a disappointing tie game from the standpoint that we should have collected three points."

Cory Vandemheen and Dylan Marshall marked the Devils goals.

Busy week

On Monday (May 6), the senior Devils teams were at St. Lawrence High School in Cornwall where the girls met the St. Lawrence Saints and R/O Lancers and the boys took on St. Lawrence and L'Heritage.

The same day, both junior squads were in Alexandria to tangle with the host Glengarry Gaels and Char-Lan Crusaders. Tomorrow (Thurs., May 9), the Devils move on to Williamstown for matches against the Tagwi Warriors and La Citadelle Patriotes.

Sox open NCBL Tier 2 season on the road

OTTAWA – A trip to Nepean will mark the opening of the 2013 National Capital Baseball League (NCBL) Tier 2 season for the Winchester Sox.

The Sportsplex will be the venue and Expos will provide the opposition for the Sox on Mon., May 13.

The first pitch at Morgan Field at the Winchester 100 Club Community Park will be thrown on Thurs., May 16 when the expansion Cornwall River Rats are slated to launch their first NCBL campaign. One week later (Thurs., May 23), the Sweat Sox are listed as the visiting team.

Winchester played an exhibition game against the Expos at Brewer Park in Ottawa on Sunday (May 5) and although an official score wasn't available, the Sox reported they plated in excess of 15 runs in a lopsided win.

Winchester's pitching rotation included starter Matt Harbers, who was replaced by long-relief man Jordan Havekes, who in turn left in favour of newcomer Adrian Delorey, who mopped up.

Trevor Havekes and Matt Uhrig went yard for the Sox.

Mollema leads Devils to 62-0 win over Holy Trinity

MAPLE RIDGE – Centre Hanna Mollema put together an impressive game leading the North Dundas District High School Devils to a one-sided 62-0 shutout victory over the Holy Trinity Falcons.

Mollema counted a pair of tries in the first half of last week's (Fri., May 3) SD&G rugby match as the host Devils surged into a 26-0 lead at the intermission. She then ran in two more majors in the second half for 20 points and followed up by kicking three two-point converts for a game-high total of 26 points.

North Dundas ran its tri-county record to 2-0 with the win, which followed a 19-0 decision over the visiting St. Joe's Panthers on opening day (Fri., April 26). Unfortunately it was a costly victory for the Devils who lost veteran scrum half Erin Elliott.

"We will be without Erin for a little while – mild concussion on a dangerous tackle near the end of the game," explained coach Scott Reaney. "What a shame. She is so valuable to us. I hate to see a player injured."

This week (Fri., May 10), the Devils are challenging the CCVS Raiders in Cornwall. One week later (Fri., May 17), they will visit the Warriors at Tagwi before completing the regular season hosting the Warriors on Wed., May 22.

North Dundas District High School center Hanna Mollema ran for four tries and added three converts for a 26-point game as the Devils demolished the Holy Trinity Falcons 62-0 last week (Fri., May 3). The victory improved the Devils SD&G rugby record to 2-0.

Devils 62 – Falcons 0

A dozen minutes into the match Mollema touched down her first try, which Jenna Warren converted for a 7-0 lead.

Riley Cronin then lugged the ball into the end zone finishing off a strong run by Carman Stubbings. Warren converted for a 14-0 score.

Mollema finished off another solid North Dundas offensive that was followed by a Warren convert.

Coach Reaney commented that the girls displayed nice continuity moving the ball up the field on the rush. Stubbings added another try inflating the Devils total to 26-0 just before the half.

It was more of the same in the second half with Mollema scoring the try and adding the convert opening up a 33-0 gap. Brianna Geertsma carried the ball toward the Holy Trinity end zone when a ruck set up Mollema's third try.

Cronin recorded her second five-pointer making it 38-0. Mollema covered a lot of territory running in try number four from the centre of the field and then toed the ball through the uprights for a 45-0 advantage. Erin Elliott also cashed in five points before No. 8 Sarah Churchill made a solid defensive play when she recovered a loose ball and punched the ball over the line on the turnover. With time running out, Churchill rang up her second consecutive try, which Mollema converted into a 62-0 final.

Marshall brothers lead Senior Hawks to 9-3 win on opening night

WINCHESTER – There were a couple of marshals patrolling the floor at the Joel Steele Community Centre during the opening game of the 2013 North Dundas Senior Co-ed Ball Hockey League season.

The Marshall brothers, Travis and Dylan, dispensed scoring justice for the Senior Hawks as they defused the North Dundas Rockets 9-3. Each of the siblings cracked in three goals, while Travis added four helpers for seven points. Dylan finished last week's (Tues., April 30) game with five points.

Prior to the match an official face-off took place with Winchester Jr. "B" Hawks GM Craig "JB" Smith joining Hawks Dylan Marshall and Rockets Mason Durant at center ice for the drop of the ball. The ceremony was to recognized the donation of two sets of jerseys (both junior and senior) by the Jr. "B" Hawks and North Dundas Jr. "C" Rockets organizations.

The Canadiens got hat tricks from Corey Ross, Matt Laflamme and Mitch Melenhorst in the 7 pm contest as they drained the Oilers 15-2.

Braden Findlay also fashioned a 'hat' in the 8 pm encounter that resulted in a 7-6 win for the Leafs over the Senators.

Hawks 9 – Rockets 3

Brayden Roe backed the Hawks in their 9-3 decision over the Rockets. His offence gave him a 5-1 lead in the first half and pumped in four more in the second stanza.

The Marshalls each fired in a pair of first-half markers with the single provided by Travis McInnis. The brothers completed their hat tricks in the second session, while McInnis and Jason Buma snipped the singles. Buma (2) and McInnis collected assists along with the Marshalls.

Mason Durant provided all three Rocket goals. Will Zandbelt and Lucas Watters each drew a pair of helper points.

Habs 15 – Oilers 2

The Canadiens hit double digits smoking the Oilers 15-2. They were in control 7-1 at the half and cruised to the win.

Corey Ross, Laflamme and Melenhorst each piled up three goals and six (3-3-6) points. Kyle Ross and Kurt Deschamps matched four (2-2-4) point totals. Spencer Kelly and Cody Ellis both sniped singles and added four assists. Cole Emund picked up a pair of assists.

Shawn Simms put the Oilers on the scoreboard netting a pair of unassisted goals.

Leafs 7 – Senators 6

Bryden van Kessel's second goal of the game, set up by Brodie Barkley 2:16 before the final buzzer, proved to the GWG as the Leafs edge the Senators 7-6.

The Senators held a 3-2 lead at the half, thanks in part to Owen Guy who counted two of his four goals.

Van Kessel, who bagged a pair, supported Braden Findlay's three-goal effort. Ryan Picard and Barkley supplied the singles. Barkley and van Kessel also set up three goals. Single assists went to Jordan Robinson and Jake Wilson.

Guy's four goals weren't quite enough for the Senators who also had Tom Fingler and Jacob Baird fire in one each. Justin Velthuis (3) and Fingler (2) collected the helpers.

Emergency Preparedness Week

Ontario Seniors: How to Be Prepared for an Emergency

The people of Ontario have faced all kinds of emergencies, from ice storms and power outages to tornadoes and industrial accidents. We will face more in the future. Emergencies can strike at any time, and being prepared is critical since it can take time for help to arrive. Everyone should have an emergency plan and a kit to take care of themselves for at least three days. Your emergency plan should reflect your personal circumstances and unique needs.

STEP 1: MAKE A PLAN

Your Plan Should Include

- Two safe locations in case you have to leave your home. One should be nearby, such as a local library or community centre. The other one should be farther away, outside your neighbourhood, in case the emergency affects a large area.
- A family communication plan. During an emergency, local telephone lines and networks may not work. Identify one or two out-of-town contacts you and your loved ones can call to connect and share information.
- A list of the people in your personal support network. This includes all the people who will be able to help when you need it. Consider including family members, neighbours, and healthcare and personal support workers.

Planning Tips

Contact service providers. If someone in your home gets routine treatment outside the home or support services at home, work with the service provider on a back-up plan.

Have a buddy. Consider giving an extra set of keys to someone you trust and let them know where you keep your emergency kit. Arrange for that person to check on you during an emergency.

Be ready to evacuate. Plan how you would travel to a safe location if evacuation was advised. Have an emergency survival kit ready (see Step 2).

Rockets edge Hawks 4-3 in minor ball hockey opener

WINCHESTER – Tyrel Luchies buried a Cole Doornwaard pass into the back of the Hawks cage 5:32 before the final buzzer and his tally held up for the North Dundas Rockets in a narrow 4-3 win over the Winchester Hawks.

The Rockets and Hawks match kicked off the 2013 North Dundas Junior Coed Ball Hockey League season last week (Wed., May 1) at the Joel Steele Community Centre. Prior to the game, Kent Young, part owner of the North Dundas Junior "C" Rockets, took part in the official face off between Rocket Rylan Baker and Hawk Ben Fingler.

The Rockets and the Winchester Junior "B" Hawks each stepped forward and sponsored two sets of team jersey's, one junior and one senior set, this season.

James Morley teamed up with Ben Morley and gave the Hawks a 1-0 lead at 12:05 of the first half. The Rockets answered the call at the 10:42 mark when Cameron Cotnam tied it with help from Brennan McCabe. Fingler used a pass provided by Bradley Larmour to put the Hawks up 2-1 9:21 before the half.

That score held up until the 18:04 mark of the second half when Curtis Bowman knotted the count 2-2 scoring from Cotnam. The Hawks scrambled into a 3-2 lead with 9:22 left in the game thanks to Joey Hannaford who connected after taking a feed from Fingler.

Adam Chouinard finished a play, engineered by McCabe and Cotnam as the Rockets evened the score at 3-3 setting the stage for Tyrel Luchies to fire home the GWG 5:22 before the final buzzer.

The Hawks pulled goaltender Adam Barkley for the extra attacker, but weren't able to put the tying shot in behind Josiah Luchies.

Oilers 3 – Habs 0

Nolan Brown posted the shutout as the Oilers blanked the Canadiens 3-0 in their first test of the new season.

Travis Ouellette (unassisted) recorded the GWG at 14:53 of the first half. He then made it 2-0 scoring from Zach Gutkneckt at 18:06 of the final session. Gutkneckt (Zach) opened up the final difference to 3-0 completing a play set up by Ouellette at the 14:47 mark.

Leafs 9 – Senators 2

The Senators managed to put just two first-half shots behind Leafs goaltender Jacob Verspeek in their 9-2 loss in game three of the triple bill.

Justin Dagenais and Ethan Guy were the Senator scorers and Chase Holmes earned an assist.

The Leafs held a 4-2 lead at the half and cruised to the win with Elyssa McLeod leading the way with three goals. Jeremy Baron (2-1-3) and Nichols Brugmans (1-2-3) each collected three points. Jared Wicks potted a pair, including the GWG, and James Verspeek sniped the single. Sean DeVries (2) and Max Messervey (2) picked up helper points.

The North Dundas Junior "C" Rockets and Winchester Jr. "B" Hawks each donated two sets of team jerseys (junior and senior) to the North Dundas Minor Co-ed Ball Hockey League. Last week (Wed., May 1), Rocket Rylan Baker (left), North Dundas Junior Rocket co-owner Kent Young and Hawks Ben Fingler took part in the official face off of the 2013 season.

MAY 5-11, 2013

Plan for your pet(s). Often, only service animals are allowed at reception centres. If possible, identify someone who can take your pet(s) if you have to leave your home.

Consider your living situation. Do you live in an isolated community? In a high-rise? Do you or someone you live with have limited mobility? Be familiar with evacuation plans, and talk to your building manager or neighbours to make special arrangements, if necessary.

When Your Plan Is Ready

- Discuss your plan with family and friends so they know what you would do.
- Teach others about any special needs, such as how to use medical equipment or administer medicine.
- Practice your plan with those who have agreed to be part of your personal support network.
- Be aware and follow instructions. Stay tuned to the news before and during an emergency. Follow the advice of first responders and officials.

Other Tips

- Contact your local municipal office to find out what phone number to use to get more information during an emergency (211, 311 or other). Also ask if they have a registry for "vulnerable persons" and whether you should sign up. Use 911 only when someone needs help right away to protect their health, safety or property.
- Sign up for alerts. You can sign up online for free emergency alerts sent by email or text message. Visit Ontario.ca/beprepared and follow the links.

STEP 2: BUILD AN EMERGENCY KIT

Your emergency survival kit should have everything you need to be safe and take care of yourself for at least three days. These checklists outline all the essentials, items to meet your unique needs, and items to have ready in case you have to leave your home.

Special Considerations

- Medical supplies and equipment (cane, walker, hearing aid and batteries, breathing device, etc.)
- Prescription eyewear and footwear
- Dentures and supplies
- Pet food and supplies

What to Put in Your Survival Kit

ESSENTIALS:

- Food (non-perishable and easy-to-prepare items, enough for 3 days) and can opener
- Water (4 litres per person for each day)
- Medication(s)
- Flashlight
- Radio (crank or battery-run)
- Extra batteries
- First-aid kit
- Hand sanitizer or moist towelettes
- Important papers (identification, contact lists, copies of prescriptions, etc.)
- Extra car keys and cash
- Whistle (to attract attention if needed)

Extra Supplies for Evacuation

- Clothes, shoes
- Sleeping bag or blanket
- Personal items (soap, toothpaste, other toiletries)
- Playing cards or travel game

Other Tips

- Place all these items in an easy-to-carry bag or case on wheels.
- Keep your emergency survival kit in a place that is easy to reach.
- Keep your cell phone or mobile device fully charged.

OBITUARIES & DEATH NOTICES

William "Bill" McMillan

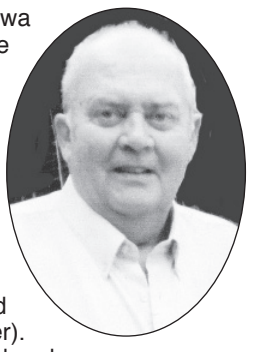
William "Bill" McMillan passed away at the Ottawa Hospital Civic Campus on Sun., April 28, 2013. He was in his 73rd year.



Bill was born at the Ottawa Hospital Civic Campus to the late Blake and Edith McMillan of Winchester Springs. He was the husband of Mary (Cinnamon) of Winchester. Married for almost 54 years, he was the father of five children, Kim Sheney, Steve (Cyndie) McMillan, Kevin (Patty) McMillan, Angela (Bruce) Kulig, and Kelly Visser (Konrad Glauer). Bill will be fondly remembered and missed by his 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, and his fun loving approach to life and all his comical one-liner statements will also be missed. He will also be remembered by his in-laws: Joyce and Stuart Holmes, Audrey and Arnold Stewart, Betty and Bill Griffin, Judy Cinnamon and Reg Cayer, John and Linda Cinnamon, and Susan Rooke, along with many nieces and nephews, and by his late brother Ray (the late Betty) McMillan.

Bill enjoyed fishing, four-wheeling, trips to Florida in the motor home, doing all kinds of jobs in his shop, his beautiful family, and especially Ompah, which he called his heaven on earth. He retired from a self-owned refrigerator and air conditioning company. He will be sadly missed by many.

A private service was held at the Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home in Williamsburg on Wed., May 1 at 2 pm with Rev. Blair Paterson officiating, followed by interment at Maple Ridge Cemetery in Chesterville. The pallbearers were grandsons, Jason Sheney, Craig Kulig, Mitchell Kulig, Eric Visser, Braeden Visser, Cody Johnston, and friends, Vince Zandbelt and Paul Hill. The honourary pallbearers were granddaughters Amy and Jenna McMillan.

Donations to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or the Canadian Cancer Society would be appreciated by the family.

John "Craig" Dawson

It is with extreme sadness that parents John and Mary Dawson, with brother Mark, announce the death of their 35 year old beloved son, John "Craig" Dawson, on Wed., May 1, 2013, at his home in Plano Texas, in the arms of his loving wife, Catrina.

Craig suffered with Stage IV Malignant Melanoma, the most deadly form of skin cancer. He fought a courageous battle for four years. There is joy in knowing that he is at peace with his Lord and Saviour in heaven.

Craig was born on Dec. 25, 1977, at the Riverside Hospital in Ottawa. He married his wife, Catrina Gilchrist, on Oct. 19, 2002, in Milwaukee, Wis. They have one son, John "Truman" Dawson, age 4.

He was predeceased by his grandparents, Dudley and Evelyn Craig of Kemptville, Carl Dawson of Winchester, and Aunt Kathy Craig of Brockville.

Craig attended Commonwealth Public School in Brockville, where he was known as the "computer whiz kid," and Thousand Islands Secondary School. He graduated from Carleton University in Ottawa with an Honours of Commerce Degree in 2000. In his summers, he enjoyed working with both Vriend Construction in Greely and D&C Masonry in Kemptville. After graduation, he was employed in New York City as vice-president of finance for AIESEC, United States. He was a member of the Society of Management Accountants of Ontario. After moving to Texas from Florida, he was a financial analyst for Xerox in Dallas. Craig was a handyman extraordinaire, a water safety instructor, an excellent cook, and a straight-faced amateur comedian. He loved to water ski at the cottage known as "Little Chesterville on the Rideau," near Kemptville.

His spiritual education began at Trinity United Church in Chesterville, and continued at both Brockville Wesleyan and Standard Churches. He was the bookkeeper at Cornerstone Wesleyan Church in North Gower. Craig and Catrina are members of the One Community Church in Plano. Craig's faith guided his servant heart throughout his life, including his participation in Kairos Prison Ministry, and the Appalachia Service Project.

A Memorial Service to worship God and celebrate Craig's life will be held at Cornerstone Wesleyan Church, 6556 Prince of Wales Dr., North Gower on Sat., May 11. Visitation is at 1:30 pm with the service at 3 pm.

Memorial donations may be made to the Ottawa Regional Cancer Foundation, the Kemptville District Hospital, or Cornerstone Wesleyan Church.

Catrina will host another celebration of life on Tues., May 14 at 2 pm at Stonebriar Country Club in Frisco, Texas.

Donations there are requested to go to the Mary Crowley Cancer Research Center.

Craig has donated his body to the University of Texas for cancer medical research.

Thanks to everyone for their outpouring of love and prayers.

Making dreams come true

Russell Ladies Night nets $26,000 for children's charity

RUSSELL – The Russell Agricultural Society's 10th annual Ladies Night dinner and auction raised $26,000 for Make a Wish Eastern Ontario during the recent gala.

The event took place on Fri., May 3 at the village's arena.

"We are grateful for the generous donations of products and services, the support of our event sponsors, and the contribution of the ladies who attend our event every year," Judy McFaul, co-chair of the organizing committee, said. "Together, we have raised more than $250,000 for charitable organizations [throughout] the past 10 years."

All proceeds from the silent and live auctions totalled $21,000, plus $5,000 through Scotiabank's Team Scotia Community Program, and were donated to the charity to help grant the wishes of children with life-threatening medical conditions in our area and to enrich the human experience with hope, strength, and joy.

"Special thanks to the auctioneers, honoured guests, and many volunteers who all graciously donated their time and skills toward our special causes," Lynne Rochon, committee member, said.

Eastern Star Winchester chapter donates $650 to WDMH foundation

WINCHESTER – As the largest fraternal organization in the world open to both men and women, it makes sense that chapters are focused on bettering its members' characters to give "hope for tomorrow".

Recently, the Winchester chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star contributed to providing that sense of hope by making a $650 donation to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Foundation's cancer fund.

Members Anne Langabeer and Lyle Byers shared that these funds were raised through various chapter activities and member contributions throughout 2011-2012, and each said they hope the money will make an impact in local cancer care.

The foundation's executive director, Troy Cross, was on hand to accept the donation.

"We at the foundation are so appreciative of the hard work put into the community through service clubs like the Order of the Eastern Star, and are proud to be a recipient of some of the proceeds of their members' dedication," he said.

Shuffleboard season ready to open

WINCHESTER – New members are invited to register for the 2013 shuffleboard season.

The doors at the WCC will be open four times each week – Monday and Wednesdays at 1:30 pm, as well as Tuesdays and Fridays at 7 pm. The membership fee for the season that runs from May through until September is $50.

A flexible schedule will be maintained, that is, members can play as often as they like – one to four times a week.
