A Short Course in Home-Nursing and First Aid will be conducted in the Public Library Hall for one week commencing Monday Sept. 27th. O'Connell—Fetterly

Very quietly at Ottawa Thursday evening Miss Eva Florence Fetterly daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fetterly, Maple Ave. Morewood, was married to Mr. Harold M. O'Connell of Cleveland, Ohio, son of Mr. H. O'Connell, Ottawa. Rev. J. F. Gorman officiated. The bride wore a suit of navy blue serge with embroidered georgette crepe blouse, a fox fur with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell left Friday evening for Toronto, where they will live.

Presbyterian Service

Owing to unavoidable circumstances there was not service in the Presbyterian Churches of Dunbar and Chesterville last Sunday and the Sunday previous. On the first occasion missing train connection was the cause. Sunday last illness in the family of the Rev. J. A. McLean who was booked to preach prevented him from keeping the appointment at the last moment. Having heard nothing to the contrary, Mr. McLean is expected to be on hand at both appointments on Sunday next.

Cabinet Ministers Elected

Byelections which were held Monday in St. John and Albert counties, New Brunswick, and Colchester county, Nova Scotia, resulted in the return of Hon. R. W. Wigmore, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, in the former constituency, and Hon. F. B. McCurdy, Minister of Public Works, in the latter, by overwhelming majorities. Both ministers had sought endorsation at the hands of their constituents after assuming Cabinet positions in the Federal Government of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Mr. Wigmore was opposed by ... of St. Dr. A. E. Emery, Liberal, Captain Hugh Dickson, who ran as a United Farmer-Labor candidate.

The majority of Hon. Mr. Wigmore is 4,190 and Hon. Mr. McCurdy will have over 1,500.

Maple Leafs Shut out by Kenmore

Yesterday afternoon at Russell Fair the Kenmore ball team duplicated their performance of last fall and shut out the Chesterville Maple Leafs by a score of 5 to 0. The game was fought hard all the way but with the exception of Sharkey, who was robbed of sure three baggers on two occasions by sensational one hand catches, the Leafs batters were at the mercy of Gariepy, the Ottawa St. Bridgid's pitcher, who worked the whole game for Kenmore, fanning no less than an even dozen of the heavy hitting Chesterville boys.

Kenmore got their first run in first innings. After McLachlan was out Henderson hit and stole second went to third on Craig's grounder and scored when Watson hit safely. Two more were added in the second. After McLaren and McGruer had fanned Daigleish got on, stole second, scoring on Gariepy's hit who also scored on McLaughlin's long fly. Henderson also hit but was left stranded when Craig struck out. No further scoring was done until the last half of the eighth when Kenmore put two more over making their total five. Smith put up another fine game at short as did Henderson at first for the winners.

Timmins-Merkley

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at the Methodist parsonage in Morrisburg, by Rev. Millar at 5.30 p. m. Sept. 22nd, when Ella V. Merkley of Nation Valley, was married to Geo. P. Timmins of Inkerman. The bridal pair were accompanied by Miss Marie Munroe as bridesmaid and Mr. Dalton Timmins groomsman. Making Millions Canadians are now busily engaged in producing the fifteen million dollar surplus imposed on them by the Railway Commission for the C.P.R., to conform with increases granted to United States railroads. When a further fifteen million is accumulated by Canadian sugar refineries sugar prices will be reduced to fifteen cents per pound here as they are in the United States now.

Remembered In Chesterville

The Merrickville correspondent of the Smiths Falls News Record reports the following:—

"Rev. Mr. Sanderson and Mrs. Sanderson returned last Friday from Orilla, where they attended the marriage of their son, Ralph, to Miss Ellen Clark, daughter of Mr. George H. Clark, police magistrate of Orillia. Howard also went along to see his brother become a husband and did not return until Wednesday of this week. The ceremony was conducted by the bridegroom's father, assisted by Rev. W. B. Smith of Orilla. Bride and bridegroom left by automobile for the Niagara district upon a honeymoon tour. Ralph Sanderson was formerly in the service of one of the Canadian banks and was located at Spencerville and Prescott, but he has quit banking for real estate and insurance, and his brother Howard is pursuing a somewhat similar course, having resigned from one of the banks here to enter the service of the Kilgour firm at Toronto Hugh, a third "son of the parsonage," who was with the Bank of Commerce at Lennoxville, Que., recently gave up the position and came to Merrickville to enroll as a student at the continuation school."

Lacked the Incentive, Likewise the Ability

Must Keep Towser in at Night

Dogs are not allowed to run at large at night in New York State, according to an amendment to the State Agricultural Law, which makes it obligatry on all owners of dogs to see that their pets do not run at large at night. Curfew for Towser runs from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1 and lasts from sunset to one hour after sunrise. The statute is known as the Wicks law, and one of the main reasons given by the advocate was the protection of the sheep industry. It was declared that many sheep were killed each year by the dogs which were permitted to roam about. The law applies to the dogs of the city as well as those in the country, many of the residents of the rural communities claiming that most of the sheep were killed by city dogs.

The law will not only protect the sheep in the country, but will be a blessing to residents of cities and towns as well. A roaming dog with a good set of lungs has disturbed many a peaceful slumber in the dead of night. It might not be a bad law for Chesterville.

$4000 Fire at Morrisburg

Fire, from which the loss is estimated at some $4000, broke out in the barns adjoining the rear of W. Marsh & Son's furniture store at Morrisburg on Thursday morning. It was discovered at 9.30 and by this time had gained considerable headway. Three nozzles with splendid pressure, played on the flames for about two hours before the brigade of volunteers got the fire under control. Four brick walls and a heavy shower of rain which fell shortly before the fire was discovered, prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining sheds. Splendid work was preformed by the firefighters. The loss, apart from the building, which included a hearse, a horse and several pieces of valuable furniture is estimated at $3000.

Milk Producers and Cost of Production As Viewed by a City Paper

(Toronto Saturday Night.)

It is an old saying that figures cannot lie ; but there is reason for fear that modern accountancy has taught them how to equivocate. In days gone by when a man had money in the bank and was free from debt and had ample income for his every day needs, he assumed that he was reaping a profit. Modern accountancy is everyday trying to teach us how completely fallacious were such old fashioned and rudimentary conceptions. Great is the accountant and his ally the "scientific investigator." He can create "intangible assets" with a pencil and a sheet of foolscap, if they are necessary to the argument. On the other hand he is equally skillful in demonstrating "intangible losses"— as recent events have shown. On the whole it seems to be better to incur "intangible losses" for they are not felt and may even signify money in the bank ; whereas "intangible assets" are merely prospects that may never yield anything in the way of cold cash.

Many instances could be chosen from recent surveys of various branches of industry, but the report of the Commission appointed by the Ontario Government to investigate the cost of milk production will suffice as an example. It comes as a revelation not only to the milk consuming public, but to the farmers themselves. The consumer has been paying annually increasing prices for milk ; what must be his chagrin to learn that with every additional cent or two that he pays for a pint of Nature's nourishment, he puts the milk producer deeper in the hole. Nature herself is a cheat. The summer conditions have been better for the dairy than for several seasons; yet the tragic "hollow mockery" of it all is revealed by the Milk Commission: since the farmer loses on every quart of milk he sells, the more milk his cows produce the farther it projects him on the path toward bankruptcy. When we say that the report surprises the farmer, too, we speak the the truth. He has been complacently banking the money he received from the retail milk vendor, the creamery, the cheese factory and the condensery, fondly imagining that he was adding to the gross income of his farm, and oblivious to the hundred and one decimals that indicated his innumerable sources of loss.

The report is nothing if not scientific. It is even more scientific than the investigations of a certain German professor on the subject of alcohol, who learned by personal experiment that a teaspoonful and a half of brandy depreciated his capacity for memorizing Greek verse 17.3 per cent. It draws attention to the "overhead" merely with the condition of his roof. It capitalizes the labors of his family, and we fear that some farmers will assume that the Milk Commission is putting false ideas into the family mind. With exquisite minutiae it goes into the intimacies of the cow's existence from the cradle to the grave, and the debits and credits involved in her natural habits. And the conviction it leaves is that the milk consumers of Ontario owe the farmers at least a billion dollars inasmuch as in years gone by when prices were low, they must have robbed him of enormous sums, by cajoling him into selling milk below cost. It has been like stealing candy from a child.

Despite its science, the report leaves one or two important facts out of consideration, It treats the farmer's milk business as though it were a distinctive industry, and not a part of the general business of mixed farming which dovetails neatly into the whole. Apparently it assumes that the farm focuses on the cow. There is a very liberal allowance for the value of buildings, which ignores the fact that every farm must have a barn, and every properly constructed barn must have a foundation and basement. Unless the farmer puts cows or some other kind of live stock into his basement, it is so much waste space. Again, owing to the well-known topographical characteristics o the dairying sections of Ontario, there are areas of swamp land and other rough territory in every township that would also be unproductive if not used for pasturage. Without his cattle the farmer would get little revenue from such parts of his holdings. The purpose of the report seems to be also to minimize so far as possible the relation between the milk-producing business and the beef-producing business, although they are obviously inter-related. Generally speaking, the theory of losses involved in the report is not merely intangible, it is an accountant's house of cards, barely related to the realities.

Nevertheless, the Farmers' Government must try and preserve its own existence. If it had published a report showing that the milk producers' combine was making a profit, it would have encountered howls of execration and been accussed of "spilling the beans." Perhaps the Government will now oblige with an investigation to show how much the farmer loses by selling hogs at 20 cents a pound live weight.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

A Tall Corn Story

This is the season of the year when one naturally expects to hear some tall stories about corn. And there really is some corn this year 12 or 13 feet high and still growing. But these specimens are completely out-classed by State of Arkansas where all records have been broken, as the following "news" despatch will verify:

"The horrible news comes from Arkansas that a boy climbed a corn stalk to see how the corn was getting along, and now the stalk is growing up faster than the boy can climb down. The boy is plumb out of sight. Three men have undertaken to cut down the stalk with axes and save the boy from starvation. It grows so fast they can't hit twice in the same place. The poor boy is living on nothing but raw corn and already has thrown down four bushels of cobs. Next!"

Dog Tax and Sheep Protection

The act respecting dog tax and sheep protection, which comes into force on April 1, next, makes it compulsory for all owners of dogs to procure numbered tags, to be supplied by the council, and for killing dogs without tags. The minimum penalty for not procuring a tag is $10. County councils are authorized to pass by-laws requiring all dog tax and license fees collected after 1920 to be paid to the county treasurer and form a sheep protection fund, all claims to be paid by the county, for which purpose country valuers are to be appointed. Sheep are certainly of more value to any community than dogs and should be proteeted.

Profits of $2.04 Per Hen Per Year Claimed For Farm Flock.

Three dollars profit over cost of feed each year for every hen on the farm is a very good return and according to monthly accounts received from farmers by the Poultry division of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, there are a good many farmers' poultry flocks which are actually giving this profit every year, and some even better.

Poultry keeping on the farm is not merely a side line now, but is a sane business proposition, and the hit and miss methods that formerly obtained in poultry work should no longer be tolerated. A national industry well on to one hundred million dollars a year demands business methods, and in order to help the industry and to make it possible for the average poultryman to keep track of his poultry operations, the Poultry Division has put out a very simple form for poultry accounting, copies of which will be sent to any person making application and who will return to the Poultry Division each month a duplicate copy.

For several years these poultry accounts have been supplied to persons asking for them and a compilation of the reports shows some very interesting data. For instance, of all the farms reporting their poultry operations, 8.45 per cent. of them show a profit, and of this number the average receipt over expenditure for each hen per year is $2.04. As might be expected, a number of reports show a distinct loss each year and that is where one of the benefits of the account form comes in. Either the farmer himself or the Poultry Division at Ottawa can pick out the weak point or points and have them rectified.

Some other interesting figures are obtained from these reports. Among these are the figures that show that the average number of hens on the farm reporting is 52.9 per cent., the average expenditure per hen, that is, for feed appliances, etc., is $2.91, and the average profit over expenditure is $2.04. One farmer claims that he can attend to 100 hens while he is attending to one cow and his average return from 300 hens is $250.00.

Mr. Frank Harman, Boissevain, Man., has been sending in those accounts for some time and his inventory for the past year shows a very good profit on investment. He keeps an average of 150 White Leghorn hens and for the 12 months his expenses were—stock on hand, $270.00; interest on capital invested, $16 20; expenditure for feed and what appliances he purchased for the plant, $292.37—or a gross expenditure of $578.57. His receipts were; Sales—eggs, meat and stock, $845.-81; value of stock on hand at the end of the year, $26;25, or a total receipt of $1,112.06.

This leaves a balance over cost, without counting the labor, of $533.49 which works out at an average profit over expenditure of $4.55. The average yield per hen was 122 eggs.

The future looks bright for the poultry industry, and the man who can keep poultry whether on the farm or in the back yard may look for remunerative returns if he uses business methods in his operations. Prices are good, and though feed and labor are high, one can take for granted that the higher the price of feed the higher the price of the product, and the labor question, on a well organized poultry plant, is not serious, for some one member of the family, even a boy or girl, can often look after the poultry. The value of poultry products is being appreciated more each year. Last winter, when beef on a Canadian market was selling at from 10 to 12 cents for 1 lb. live weight, guaranteed new laid eggs were selling at 10 cents for two ounces or 80 cents a pound. It is about time that the Canadian hen was considered as a valuable asset.

If you want to make more money out of your poultry, write to the Poultry Division of the Experimental Farm, for free account forms. They will ask you to return each month a copy, but they will help you make your poultry pay.

The Industrious Beaver

A beaver in a park was experimentally placed at work on a tree twelve feet long and two feet six inches thick, just as the town clock sounded the hour at noon. The beaver began by barking the tree a foot above the ground. That done, he attacked the wood. He worked hard, alternating his labor with dips in his bathing pond. He bathed and labored alternately then he ate his supper of bread and carrots which the keeper brought him, and paddled about in his pond until half past 5 o'clock. Ten minutes later, when only one inch of the tree's diameter remained intact, he bore upon his work and the the tree fell. Before it fell the beaver ran as men run when they have fired a blast. Then as the tree lay on the ground he portioned it out mentally and began to gnaw. He worked at intervals all night; cut the log into three parts, rolled two of the portions into the water, and reserved the other third for his permanent shelter. The work done, he took a bath.

Unequal Losses

Frederick was sitting on the curb, crying, when Billy came along and asked what was the matter.

"Oh, I feel so bad 'cause Major's dead—my nice old collie!" sobbed Frederick.

"Shucks!" said Billy. My grandmother's been dead a week, and don't catch me crying."

Frederick gave his eves and nose a swipe with his hand, and looking up at Billy, sobbed, desperately:

"Yes, but you didn't raise your grandmother from a pup."

Catarrnal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reached the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result. Unless the the inflamation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will destroyed for ever. Condensery Will Not Close

Owing to developments in the situation as regards condensed milk and the difficulty of finding a ready market overseas for their product, many condenseries throughtout the Eastern States and particularly in New York State will close at the first of next month. The immediate cause of the closing down is the demand of the Producers League of New York state for a price for their milk which will make it unprofitable for condenseries to handle. The adverse exchange rate on sales to European countries has boosted the price which has to be obtained there to a point where the demand has fallen off to such an extent that there is a great surplus of condensed milk held in storage by the condenseries.

The conditions across the line, we are authoratively informed, will have no bearing on the Chesterville plant of the Nestles Food Co., which will be kept in continuous operation, notwithstanding many rumors to the contrary.

Interesting Blasting Operation

Many people gather in the vicinity of the blasting operations near Merrickville in the C. P. R. rock cut to watch operations. A crowd last week witnessed the setting off of a blast which displaced a huge amount of rock. Eighty-five holes had been drilled, each 35 feet deep, and in those openings dynamite to the extent of ten tons was placed. By means of a battery all of the charges were simultaneously set off. As a prelude there was a blowing of whistles in concert and flagmen were sent up and down the track. Then all was in readiness and it was a tense moment for the visitors. When the shot went off the earth trembled as in an earthquake. A level piece of rock, about 400 feet long and 200 feet wide, was lifted into the air.
