A Smooth Game

A smooth game was worked in town on Saturday night when a young man with a bright idea, unhitched a horse from a buggy in the church shed which belonged to another party, then sold the buggy for twenty dollars to a farmer who saw a cheap buggy at the price. The owner was somewhat surprised to find his buggy gone and in the possession of the new purchaser who had to surrender it to the proper owner.

Fatal Auto Accident at Glen Nevis

"Sandy" Gormally, of Alexandria, brother of Dr. Gormally of Crysler and of Angus Gormally of Russell was instantly killed Friday evening when the 4.15 local from Montreal, hit his automobile at a level crossing at Glen Nevis. Gormally, alone in the car, came from the north on to the track, where the engine struck the auto between the wheels, carrying it on the pilot of the engine for some distance. Mr. Gormally was pitched out directly on the rails and was run over, his head having been severed from the body besides other terrible injuries. The remains were taken in the baggage car to Green Valley station.

Identification of the unfortunate man was made by Mr. H. J. McMahon, who was a passenger on the train, who had the nerve-wracking experience of seeing the head of a man whom he knew lying beside the tracks, completely severed from its trunk.

The deceased was favorably known by many throughout this district whose sympathy is extended to the bereaved brothers and sisters.

Easy Picking for the Leafs at Kenmore.

The Chesterville Maple Leafs added another to their unbroken string of victories by going over to Kenmore on Saturday and demonstrating to the natives just how easy it is to trim their "Teddy Bears," hot stuff as they may be in their red uniforms. It was some ball game at that, with the score 16 to 10 in favor of the Leafs. Some funny things happen in games and many times we read of wonderful plays, likewise "bone-head" plays pulled in the big shows, but there was one at Kenmore on Saturday that has them all faded. Charlie Henderson the Teddy Bears' fast first-baseman was doubled at short by a dill pickle. His Umps didn't call the play because his x-ray machine wasn't properly focused. Charlie had indulged in a light repast of dill pickles and ice cream the evening previous and the unequal contest lasted until afternoon when Charlie heaved it overboard for the full count. When the pep is out of the first-basemen it has likewise evaporated from the rest of the Kenmore bunch all except His Umps who had pep to burn and burned it b'gosh, in bunches. He had all the stuff the big leaguers have discarded and lacked the judgment of the busher which about accounts for the performance he put on.

The Leafs are getting some chesty when they go in the enemy's ball pasture and spot them five runs in the first innings and then tease them along to a sixteen to ten victory, with three of the Cubs in the lineup. Sharkey broke McLaughlin's heart in the first when he clouted one over the left field limits into the ravine about half mile out, for the circuit before it was retrieved from the tall and uncut. Hits for extra bases were numerous, Hamlin and Clement getting three baggers and the Cubs picking off two basers for their portion.

Senecal again went the whole route and had the Indian sign on the Teddy Bears when it was necessary to get seriously into the game. McLaughlin started once more for the losers but after doing his best for a few innings was glad to call Watson from third to take up the burden.

A funny thing happened in the seventh when Kenmore had first and second occupied and Henderson up, who knocked a little roller about six feet foul behind the first base line and beat it to first where Clement pegged the ball and His Umps gave Henderson safe. McCloskey pegged the ball over to third catching the runner on the force out, all on a foul ball which the eagle eye failed to see.

The Leafs will Play Morrisburg at Finch

Arrangements have been made by the management of the U.F.O. Field Day at Finch, Wednesday 18th, to bring Morrisburg and Chesterville together in a game of baseball. The latter have been trying to get a game on with Morrisburg for some time, but the boys from the front have been pleased to treat the idea with more or less of contempt, claiming the Leafs were not in their class. Perhaps not, but don't put all your money on the canal boys.

Interesting Missionary Addresses

The Baptist Church of Winchester was favored last Sunday by the visit of two returned Missionaries, Rev. H. F. Laflamme who has spent eighteen years in India but for the past few years has been engaged in Canada and the United States in securing recruits for Missions, and who is willing to return to India now should the health of his wife permit her to go. The other Missionary is the Rev. Brownlee who was student pastor of the Baptist church in Winchester twenty years ago and whose wife was Miss Edith Henderson, whose home was formerly in Winchester with her aunt Mrs. Chambers. Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee received a call to go to the China Inland Mission eleven years ago where their labors have been crowned with success. On Sunday morning Rev. Laflamme spoke in the Baptist church giving a very interesting talk, emphasizing the great need of the hour to be the united action of the Christian world in their efforts to save the heathen. In the afternoon Rev. Brownlee spoke in the Baptist church on the China Inland Mission, telling how it was interdenominational, supported by faith, no definite salary being given to any of the workers and no debts being incurred.

In the evening the Baptists, Presbyterians and Methodists held a union service in the Methodist church so that all might have the opportunity of listening to so able a speaker as Mr. Laflamme, who had been born and brought up in Winchester and who in the course of his remarks, referred feelingly to many faces he missed. Revs. Carkner, Brownlee and Glassford assisted in the service. Rev. Laflamme took as his text Mark 16, 17 and 18. He first spoke of India having the most remarkable physical features of the world, the Himalaya Mts. being 1800 miles long. The population is 336 millions. They are the poorest people he knows of, the average annual income being $10. The United States is the richest with average annual income of $2404, Canada being second. In the last 50 years there have been 22 famines in India in which 28 millions have perished, 40 millions lie down every night on an empty stomach and a mud floor. He said the only cure is to give them the Christ and give them industrial Christian schools to train them.

They are physically dirty which is the cause of the bubonic plague. The influenza came from China and India, we can't neglect India and not suffer here. "No man liveth to himself." We must extend to them the advantages of medical science. He appealed to the young to give their lives to the medical relief of the heathen. There are 8 millions of girls under 15 years married against their will; 27 million widows who are not allowed to marry and are called by the vilest of names. The only power to relieve this is the love of God. Polygamy and caste system exists. He paid a compliment to Winchester by saying it was the most democratic community he knew of because the most Christian.

Ninety-four per cent of the population of India cannot read or write. They have 780,000 villages, 3 out of 4 are without schools, 4 out of 5 boys and 16 out of 17 girls do not go to school and never will unless we give it to them. We can build a little village school to accommodate 40 or 50 at a cost of $35. He said; "Cut out that costly tombstone and invest your money in India." He spoke of what W. J. Bryan had told him in a personal interview, that to put a Christian boy through school was the best investment in the world and W. J. put 8 through at $50 a year. We told in the Bible to provide for ourourselves bags that wax not old. We can help in two ways: Bear them up in prayer and give our money. When we begin to use our money, as God wants us to, He will intrust us with more to give. Before the offering was taken Rev. Glassford said he hoped this magnificent appeal would bear fruit by some one going to the foreign field and he hoped that the loose offering would amount to at least $35, enough to build one of these schools. Just then Mr. A. Sweet rose to his feet asking that his name be put down for $35. N. W. Beach followed with the same amount.

When folk lie about you, don't get angry--suppose they had known the truth about you and told that.

Build up the Small Town

(Rural New Yorker)

It is high time that all of us paid more attention to the building up of the little town and less to making the overgrown city larger. The little town is home—or should be. It needs our support, and we are the people who must give it life and power if it is to have either. The big city cares nothing for us. It will if it can pull our dollars away and lure our boys and girls into its whirlpool, but that is the only use it has for us. The little town needs us and we need it. Hall's Corners may not make as large a dent on the map as New York, but it really means more to us, and we ought to help make it something to be proud of. Why not get over the idea that the bright future of America lies in the great cities? It does not. The future which lies in the cities is shopworn, smoked, dirty and unclean. The true future lies in the country and, in the little towns. Back them up and make them grow.

Mrs. William Simser, Gallingertown

After a long illness, borne with true Christian fortitude and resignation, Mrs. William Simser passed peacefully away at the Simser homestead, Gallingertown, on Friday night, July 30. Her maiden name was Margaret Wallace Beckstead of Grantley, and she had reached the ripe age of 83 years and four months. She was married at Santa Cruz on December 28, 1858, by Rev. Dr. Garrett to William H. Simser, who predeceased her in June. Over a year ago deceased had the misfortune to fall and fracture her limb and since then was confined to her room and was constantly in attendance by her daughter, Nurse Simser, Toronto, and her last words were "farewell, Maggie". Her children, who frequently visited her bedside, were ever ready and willing with kind hands and loving hearts to minister to her wants. The late Mrs. Simser was of a kind, loveable disposition, quiet and unassuming. She was best known in her own home, where she will ever live in the hearts of her children, six sons and three daughters—Mrs. Jonathan O'Brien of Toronto; Nurse Margaret Simser of Toronto; Mrs. Alfred Johnston of Mille Roches; Jacob of Gallingertown; Edward, Lisbon Centre, N. Y.; Miles of Aultsville; J. C. of Chesterville and R. L. of Newington. One daughter, Mrs. Ellis Bradley, and one son died in infancy. There also survive one sister and one brother, Mrs. Jane Halliday of Santa Cruz and Michael Beckstead of Aultsville. All were present at the last sad rites except Morris. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 1, from her late residence to the Pleasant Valley Church, Rev. Mr. Postlethwaite of Aultsville officiating. He took as his text St. John 14th chapter, first four verses. The choir rendered beautifully an anthem, "Jesus promised me a home over there". The deceased was a consistent Christian and faithful worker in the Anglican Church when health permitted, and although debarred from attending church through ill health, she always retained her faith in her Saviour. The pall-bearers were her five sons and son-in-law, Alfred Johnston. A very large funeral cortege followed the body to its last resting place, there to await the resurrection of the Saints.

I sleep. All pain and grief
In the cold grave shall cease;
The form so racked with pain and care
Now sleeps the sleep of peace,
Weep not for her or wish her back,
She now from pain is free.
And in her Saviour's arms she rests,
Where she had longed to be.

A Case of Interest to Farmers

At the last Division Court held here Wm. F. Moore, sued Wm. Clark for $60 damages for taking possession of a quantity of pig manure under the foliowing circumstances:

Mr. Moore had leased a stable from Mrs. Downey on a farm for the purpose of fattening pigs. The farm land was leased to another person. Mr. Moore's tenancy expired on the 1st of May, 1920, but he had removed his hogs and not his manure some time before that date. In April Mr. Clark took possession of the farm land and the buildings, and under the impression that a tenant could not remove the manure from a leased farm he spread some fifteen loads of manure on the land. For this Mr. Moore sued.

At the trial Mr. Henry, on behalf of Mr. Clark, contended that a tenant could not remove manure and that it must remain on the land. Mr. Tucker, for the plaintiff, argued that this was not a lease of farm land but of the farm buildings and that in any event the tenant of a farm could not be forced to leave the manure on the land premises unless there was a condition in the lease proving that it should be done.

Judge Sutherland has now given judgment for the plaintiff for $60 and costs and he holds that in the absence of a lease compelling Mr. Moore to leave the manure on the premises it was Mr. Moore's manure and he had a right to remove it.—Newmarket Era.

Keep off Roads Under Construction

A case of considerable local interest was tried before Justice of the Peace McLennan and Mayor Fetterly of Cornwall, last Saturday morning, when a young man of the township of Cornwall was fined $1 00 and costs for driving on a road in the course of construction.

The Highways Act and Amendments thereto provide that roads under construction shall be barricaded and closed to traffic it appears from the reading of the act that any contractor who does not properly close a road which he is constructing is liable to a fine and damages if anyone is injured directly or indirectly owing to the fact that a road is being constructed. On the other hand the law also provides that anyone trespassing on this road, destroying signs or removing barricades, etc., shall be liable to a fine and for the amount of damages which he may have done to the road while on it.

The case above referred to may be regarded as a trial case, and it would be well for parties driving motors or horses to govern themselves accordingly.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Her Well, Strong and Vigorous

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

Newington Farmer died of Blood Poisoning

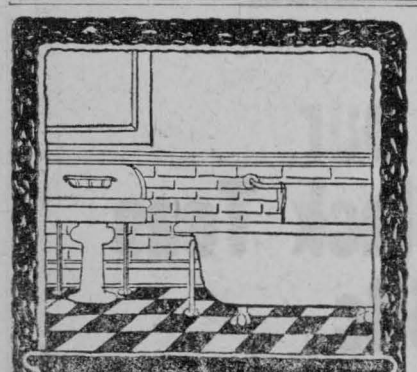
John Grant, a well-known farmer of Newington, died at his home as a result of blood poisoning following an accident a few days ago. Mr. Grant was mowing the hay in a cemetery in one corner of his farm, and in emerging from the gateway leading to the road a passing auto truck frightened his horses and they bolted. He was thrown from the seat of the mower as one of the wheels struck a stone, and fell with his leg caught between the axle and an iron rod. Being unable to free his leg, he held to the reins and succeeded in stopping the horses after they had gone about a quarter of a mile. His leg and right hip were badly lacerated through being dragged over the hard road, and blood poisoning set in, resulting in his death.

Mr. Grant was a man of fine physique, weighing nearly two hundred pounds, and had never been ill in his life. He was sixty-seven years of age, and leaves a widow, who was Miss Cassie Cameron, a cousin of J. H. McMillan, postmaster at Cornwall: one son and two daughters.

Most Prosperous Province

Which province of the Dominion has the greatest wealth per head of the population? Most Canadians would be surprised to learn that it is the isolated province of Prince Edward Island. Agriculture and fox-breeding have brought about this happy state of things for the "Red Islanders". Well over 80 per cent. of the population live on the farm. They produce almost all they require to support existence, and there are no large towns to lure the youth away from the pleasures as well as the labors of country life.

Prince Edward Island is not only the wealthiest province but also the most populous, proportionately to area.



Make Country Life More Attractive

By Herbet Cuthbert

In Saturday night, of June 12th, there was a reference to the subject that has been discussed in almost every periodical of importance during the past five or ten years—the ever-growing attractions of city life over those of the country. In this regard there is the following statement:

"With these facts before him, Mr. Hoover may well say that unless agriculture keeps pace with the growth of manufacturing, there will soon be more mouths to feed in the United States than there are products to feed them. We, and in fact the entire world, have cause for alarm over the cityward movement which has been going on steadily, over gaining ground."

I have seen from time to time many learned, scientific and eminently practical articles containing suggestions as to how this state of things is to be remedied. I am afraid they are too learned, too scientific, too practical, too material, and lack the real elements of human interest and sociology.

To quote one of the popular songs of the day, "How're you going to keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Paree?" I am one of those who believe that it is not such as those of "Paree" which are inducing the people to leave the country for the cities. It is because we in this country have not learned how to make country life really attractive and desirable—not in a superfluous but a fundamental way.

The farmers of this continent have paid too much attention to the making of dollars, to the everlasting work and grind of the farm, and too little to the pleasures of home. Of course, they do not think so, and it has been unintentional. If, particularly in this western country, we will reverse things and place the pleasures of home first, so far as the farm is concerned and the earning of the almighty dollar second, we will go a long way towards stemming the tide of exodus from the farm to the city; and too, reverse the conditions so far as production is concerned.

How many of us have been, even twenty-five years ago, amongst the farmers of Devonshire and of similar counties in England, where they farmed from one hundred to two hundred acres, and where the young people had their tennis courts, croquet lawns, etc., and the elder people their bowling greens, and hunting and fishing; where they lived, not the life of farmers so much as that of country gentlemen, and where the children were educated and refined?

In these days of electricity, where there is no difficulty in a community, or even with the farmer himself installing electric light; of the phonograph, which provides a full orchestra by pushing a button for a family dance; of the automobile which permits a run into town of twenty or twenty-five miles in from three-quarters of an hour to an hour. There will be an entire change of the young people's attitude to the farm if the parents will also provide, where possible, tennis courts, croquet lawns, facilities for the evening dance with their neighbors, and allow them sufficient hours per day for relaxation, pleasure and social intercourse, instead of the dull, monotonous daily grind of twelve to sixteen hours a day which is the order on most of our farms.

Farming is not an unprofitable thing these days, but it is made unattractive. If this can be reversed and the farmers of the country set to work determinedly to make their homes bright and attractive; beautify as much as possible their home grounds, thus providing plenty of healthy amusement and recreation, and opportunities for sociability amongst the young people, their sons and daughters will begin to realize that the independence and fascination of a country gentleman's life is far ahead of that of any other—not excepting that of the city.

If someone with a facile pen and adequate power of description can take hold of the thought and circulate it throughout every farming community, American and Canadian, it will have a tremendous effect in revolutionizing the relationship between farm and city life.

Housewife—Got a hacking cough and a headache? Well, I've a little wood you could hack and it might cure your headache.

Tramp—Much obliged, mum, but my headache ain't of the splittin' variety.

Make your Ads sell the Goods

The advertising that counts is the advertising that tells the customer what he wants to know—not only what the dealer has for sale, but also what prices he offers. In fact the latter is the important point. The average person knows what articles are for sale in a drug store, grocery, hardware or dry goods store, or any other store, and he doesn't take much stock in the announcement that "these goods are the very best and the cheapest". It is when you quote him figures that he begins to take interest. The great departmental stores know this and their advertisements bristle with figures.
