Premier to attend testimonial dinner

Hon. William G. Davis, Premier of Ontario, and Mrs Davis and Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Mrs Lamoureux, will be among the many special guest paying tribute to Fred and Olive Cass on Saturday evening, June 3rd.

Taking the form of a gala dinner party and dance the Testimonial will be held in the spacious Prescott Community Centre which will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. The entire event is being arranged by a committee of friends of Mr and Mrs Cass and the invitation goes out to all other friends to join with them on this important evening.

The committee emphasizes that the Testimonial is not a political gathering but a time for all friends, regardless of political faith, to pay testimony to both Mr and Mrs Cass who served Grenville-Dundas for 16 years while he was a member of provincial parliament.

Mr Cass, first elected in 1955, was re-elected in 1959, 1963 and 1967 before retiring last year. During that time he served on the cabinet as Minister of Highways, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Attorney General and Speaker of the Legislature.

Tickets to the Testimonial are $5.00 per person and are on sale on a first come first served basis until May 27th. Tickets will not be available after that date nor will they be sold at the door the committee stated this week.

Present plans call for a reception to get underway at 6:30 p.m. dinner at 7:30 p.m., followed by presentations and dancing. In the Chesterville area tickets may be purchased through M. E. Johnston, Fay Shaver and Glen MacGregor.

Chesterville Fire Fighters could only keep the flames from spreading to other nearby buildings last Thursday afternoon, as fire swept through the farm buildings on the farm of Frank Schoones of R.R. 3, Chesterville. Chore-time blaze

Barns levelled $32,000 lost

A stray spark from a welder was believed to be the cause of a chore-time fire last Thursday afternoon which levelled the cattle and pig barn on the farm of Frank Schoones of R. R. 3, Chesterville, causing an estimated $32,000 damage.

Mr Schoones said a neighbour, Cornelius Tym, was welding a brace onto a broken water bowl when a spark flew into a narrow crack in the wall.

By the time the board was pulled clear ten test used for insulation had caught fire and flames were rapidly making their way to the hay loft.

The farm owner said Mr Tym was a top notch operator and, while the utmost care was taken, it was just one of those things.

As the 5:15 p.m. fire gorged its way through 3,500 bales of hay in the loft, Mr Schoones, his family and alerted neighbours frantically herded the 73 head of cattle out of the barn.

Some 70 head of pigs were also moved to safety before flames destroyed the nearby pig barn.

Lost in the blaze were a year-old horse, two pigs, 2 hens, and a calf along with the entire milking equipment which included a bulk tank and five milking units, a stable cleaner and $2,200 worth of feed.

Mr Schoones said numerous other articles were lost. The new silo and unloader did sustain damage but the farmer said he thought both could be repaired.

Chesterville Fire Fighters arrived at the scene moments after the blaze erupted and prevented flames from reaching the nearby house and machine shed.

Mr Schoones commended his neighbours who worked many hours to help him set up temporary milking facilities in a barn on the farm of Keyes Smith, just south of his property.

He said in this barn he had room for his 50 head of milk cows and all calves and young stock. The pigs were transported to another neighbour's barn.

The seven year resident of the Chesterville area said the loss was partially covered by insurance and he was definitely planning to rebuild as soon as possible.

It'll hurt to give the money back . . .

Time running out on L.I.P. application in for extension

There may not be enough time left or work available to reap the full benefits of the $51,000 Federal-Provincial Labour incentives program awarded the Chesterville and District Community Centre project.

Reeve Keith Graham told Chesterville Village Council last Monday night with the May 31 deadline ready to close the government's purse it's going to be nip-and-tuck to use the $46,000 remaining.

The incentive program was probably the king-pin in the entire arena project. The whole idea hinged on whether approval was given the village's application to the government for the money.

But, Reeve Graham told council, contractor Stuart Byers had not reached the type of work yet which required a large labour force. The money can only be used for labour costs and not material.

Mr Graham expressed the hope that when the side wall and roof work start, sometime within the next week, more men would be needed.

In other years the government program had been extended a month or more to enable the various municipalities to use the money alloted.

Clerk Lloyd Graham in answer to a question in this regard, said he had received a letter from the Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, MP for Stormont-Dundas, stating that the Minister was reviewing the situation but had not made any decision yet.

Auldy Holmes, chairman of the arena building committee, was also at the council meeting to report on the progress to date.

The chairman, who is one of the engineers on the project, said the contractor had reached a favorabl position and in some areas was a little ahead of schedule.

Mr Holmes told council the electrical contract had been awarded to George Countryman Electric totalling $16,740. The electrician was commended for his work in redesigning the original plans and producing a better system costing about $1,000 less.

Mr Holmes said no definite arrangements had been made in regard to the plumbing contract yet.

Survey finds poor drivers in Finch

FINCH — Drivers here haven't improved at all in the past year according to a survey made by North Stormont High School Driver Education Class, Monday. They've worsened.

The class was divided into nine groups and placed at the busiest intersections throughout the town. During a 30 minute observation period, 268 driving violations were found, 16 more than last year.

According to final reports, there were 72 infractions for not using signal lights, 52 cars were judged to be going in excess of the 30 m.p.h. speed limit, 40 cars made incomplete stops at intersections, 37 blocked crosswalks at intersections, and 25 made improper turns.

Many acidents happen at railroad crossings and students saw why. Fifteen drivers did not

One year to reclaim properties

Chesterville Village Council may be going into real estate if no one pays up the back taxes on three village properties sent in for registration.

Clerk Lloyd Graham told council, last Monday night, taxes had not been paid for at least three years on three properties in Chesterville. He had sent a letter to the owners notifying them of the money owed, warning they would be registered.

While some property owners had made attempts to get their accounts in order, three had not.

Mr Graham said registered letters will again be sent out to all parties concerned, stating they have one year in which to reclaim the land.

After a year the properties are turned over to the town and they will be sold by the village for the back taxes.

Village Taxes Up

Chesterville residents will be getting the bad news a little at a time this year. Village Council has decided on its slightly increased mill rate for 1972 but the education levy is yet to come.

Reeve Keith Graham at last Monday's council meeting said the residential and farm rate will be 39.2 mills up from 37.2 last year. The business and commercial rate was set at an even 48 mills up from 43.8 mills in 1971.

Added to this of course is the 21.2 county mill rate which brings residential to 60.4 and commercial to 69.2 before the school rate is added. The counties increased their levy by .6 mills.

In last year's calculation of the residential village rate plus county, tax payers were faced with 57.8 mills which has increased in 1972 by 2.6 mills.

Taxes dropped by 40 mills last year because of no High School levy, but the reeve said the party is over. Council is hoping the mill rate stays under 100 mills even with education levy included.

Bits and Pieces

'Madge' wins another top award

Willow Creek C Madge has again won a top award for Floyd Dingwall of Berwick. The Purebred Jersey, daughter of Willow Creek Carom Sport, had the top record in the five to ten year class when she produced 16,347 lbs. of milk, 854 lbs. of fat, 5.22 per cent in 305 days, at six years. She was presented with a Medal of Merit and Gold Medal record.

Bottle Drive coming up

The Chesterville Scouts and Cubs will be out on the street this Saturday for their annual bottle drive. The Rotary Club sponsored group will be asking for your co-operation in having any bottles ready for them. This year the Scouts & Cubs will be donating money made from this project to the Arena Building Fund.

'Thumbs Down' on Overpass

It looks like we're just going to have to continue, as we have for many years, without a CP overpass at Winchester. The Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, MP for Stormont-Dundas, in a letter to village council last Monday night, said there was no way the government would provide an overpass at the railway crossing in Winchester. With the new Winchester by-pass going in this summer it was hoped by Winchester and other municipalities that an overpass would be included. But that's been thrown out the window.

Late Mail from Buckingham Palace

Leave it to the Queen to be tardy getting her mail out. Mr and Mrs Fred Wells of R.R. 2, Williamsburg, celebrated their 60th Wedding Anniversary last Sunday and were able to show their family and friends all the messages received from Canadian dignitaries. Expecting a letter of congratulations from Queen Elizabeth, it didn't arrive until Tuesday when all the fanfare was over. Maybe some sort of strike over on the Island caused the postal delay.

Rotary Auction still planned

Are you still saving your unwanted articles for the Rotary Mini-Auction coming up June 3rd? Rotarians will be glad to pick up the articles you donate to the sale. The last auction of this type, in 1970, was a big success and the Rotary is hoping for similar response this year to continue their community work.

'High Flying' Record reader

You never know what effect a newspaper has on people. We received a note this week from Pat McGowan of Ottawa who tells us he and his wife were on a flight to England last summer when the plane ran into rough weather. It was a Friday morning and the McGowans had just received the Chesterville Record before they left and took it on the flight. As the pilot raised the plane to 32,000 feet it began to rock. Mr. McGowan pulled out the Record and read it from front to back during the storm. So now, the Ottawa resident suggests, if some day, some Chestervillian goes to the moon, send along a Chesterville Record to help him forget the hours and the worry.

Piano students in city festival

Mrs Frank Cox of Chesterville can be proud of her piano students following the announcement of results from the Ottawa Music Festival.

With a possible mark of 90 per cent, Shari Hillis of Morewood scored 76, Diane Stanton of Crysler 78, Lois Robinson of Winchester Springs 78, Wanda Davidson of Winchester Springs 78, Keith Durant 80 and Barry Fulton 84, on April 18.

April 20, also marked out of 90 per cent: David Lucas of Ottawa scored 80, and Sheila Edwards of Ottawa, 80.

Eileen Moriarty and Janice Docksteader placed 80 and 79 per cent respectively in competitions April 22. The exam was marked out of 85 per ent.

Out of a possible 97 per cent, April 25, Claire Rothery of Ottawa scored 83, Barry Fulton of Chesterville 92, and Shelley Ful-

Reeve Johnstone opens remodelled hall Berwick Institute commended for work

BERWICK — It was the newly formed Berwick Women's Institute which was responsible for the Finch Township Community Centre's originally being built back in 1928. And at the official opening of the renovated facilities her last Saturday night the ladies received another pat on the back for their work.

An estimated 500 turned out for the dinner in the downstairs dining hall of the Centre and another large crowd was on hand for the ceremonies and dance upstairs.

While Francine Gould and Stephen Bush held the ribbon, Reeve C. E. Johnstone officated. Reeve Johnstone congradulated the Community Centre Committee for their work and said the money spent by the Township was well worth while.

Finch Township Clerk Arnott Empey, master of ceremonies, called on councillors Johnson Ouderkirk, Wes Meldrum, Aurille Forgues and Tony Sanders for a few remarks.

Also expressing words of praise was a former reeve, Kenzie McGillvary.

Well-known Berwick area resident, Peter Manley, on behalf of the Community Centre Committee, told the gathering the story behind the hall.

He said it was back in the early 1920's, the Women's Institute first approached the Township councillors asking for a new hall. The women had been using an old building which let the snow

Editorial Comment . . .

So Maple Ridge is to be 'Open Concept'

What do you think of the Open Concept at Maple Ridge School — or is that a bad question to ask?

You might compare the Department of Education to a religious organization which has volume after volume of literature outlining master plans, miracles and works of genius. To continue the analogy you could say they move in strange ways and sometimes only they know why.

While open concept schools are not new in the United States they are just getting to be heard about in Ontario and particularly this area.

The S. D. & G. Board of Education has only one school of this fashion in operation now and that's Nationview Public at South Mountain.

To flatly denounce the open concept system is to call the rural education system prior to 1968 a sow's ear, because friends that's what the old one-room school was all about.

But on the other hand you can't blanket one-room-school education as a silk purse either.

We will probably be called fence-sitters on this issue, because we honestly don't know whether open concept is good or bad and we doubt if many of the parents really know either.

Contrary to public belief, the Ontario Department of Education and the local Board of Education usually act in the best interest of the public and particularly school children.

And as we said before, we may often wonder "What in heaven's name are they doing now? but the board has a good, sound, technical reason for what they undertake . . . or at least they say they do.

And, alas as the uninformed public we can only state our opinion and watch what happens.

Open concept schools are actually just king-size one-room school houses which have several hundred students in a learning area.

There are no room dividers, no doors, just portable black boards which separate the classes. What's the purpose? Well suppose the grade eight English topic and the grade seven History topic were in some way connected. The black boards would be rolled aside and the classes would unite in a joint study with two teachers in operation.

While the Board has numerous other reasons for open concept learning this is a very basic explanation.

Our opinion is that the board of Education is just experimenting They don't definitely know that the open concept is the best method possible, but it appears that the present system hasn't achieved all that was desired either.

We would warn the public to hold onto their hats. It doesn't look like this is the end of the education change by any means. We would't be surprised to see, within the next decade, regional public schools, similar to high schools, which would eliminate the smaller facilities in Chesterville, Elma, Morewood, Winchester, etc.

The open concept has its merits, just like the old school at the end of the road, and so does the individual class school.

It's one of those things that you can't judge until you have more information. And while people can talk for hours about how good or bad it is — the proof of the pudding is in the tasting.

From past experience we would guess that regardless of what people say, the new addition to Maple Ridge will be built on the open concept design.

The board has studied the issue, checked into the possibilities more than any one person could and finally made this decision.

Ann Landers . . .

Dear Ann Landers: I have given a lot of thought to the letters you've printed on adoption, probably because they have special significance to me.

After being told we would never have children of our own, my husband and I adopted a baby boy. He was five days old when we picked him up at the hospital and, I might add, the most beautiful baby I had ever seen.

On Daniel's fifth birthday I sat him down and explained that he was brought into this world by a different mommy. I told him his mommy didn't have a job and couldn't clothe or feed him, so we asked if we could take him home with us and love him and take care of him. At the time I didn't think it soaked in.

Several days later we had a guest in our home. She leaned over to me and whispered, "Does Danny know he is adopted?" I replied, "Why don't you ask him?" Instead, she asked him if he knew what adoption meant. He answered, "Sure. It means when your real mommy can't take care of you so another mommy takes you home to love."

I hope this letter will make it easier for adoptive parents who are procrastinating because they can't find the right words. — The Other Mommy

Dear Mommy: Your letter serves a second useful purpose. It points out the hazards of not telling a child he is adopted, under the foolish assumption that he will never find out. The world is full of thoughtless clods (like your guest) who would ask such a question in the presence of the adopted child. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers My son Bob is 28 years old. He is planning to marry a divorced woman. Jeanette has two children by a former marriage and is five months pregnant with Bob's child. Jeanette wants Bob to have a vasectomy before they marry. She says three children are enough for anyone and to use her phrase "I get pregnant when a man winks at me."

Now Bob is having second thoughts about the vasectomy. He takes the position that if Jeanette should die suddenly and he might want to marry again and have more children, he'd be out of luck. Jeanette insists that a vasectomy is not final, that Bob could have a second operation to restore fertility if he wanted more children later. Is this true, Ann? Will you please check with a good doctor and let us know. — His Mother

Dear Mother: It is possible for a man who has had a vasectomy to regain his fertility by having another operation, but he should not count on it. Dr. H. Y. Lee, a Korean surgeon who has done some very significant work in this field, reports only a 14 per cent success figure. A vasectomy could be considered irreversible. For those who want detailed information by recognized authorities, I recommend "The Vasectomy Informatio n Manual" by Paul Gillette.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a widow 78 years old. My husband died two years ago leaving me comfortable but not rich. I have met a man who is 70 who wants to marry me. I dread introducing him to my family because my several friends have told me he is no good. He has confessed his terrible past to me and promised to change after marriage. I should tell you he is slightly alcoholic and has lived with at least four different women. What do you think? — Binnie

Dear Binnie: I think a man can no more be slightly alcoholic than a woman can be slightly pregnant. If you are willing to settle for the guy the way he is, go ahead and marry him. But don't expect him to change.

Extended In Eastern Ontario

Agricultural Drainage Program

An extensive Agricultural Drainage Outlet Assistance Program provided by ARDA since 1965 for 11 eastern Ontario counties has been extended for another year.

Under the terms of this program, ARDA will provide a grant of 331/3 per cent of the cost of engineering and construction of agricultural outlet ditches built under the Drainage Act of Ontario, in addition to the 331/3 per cent already provided for by statute under the terms of the Drainage Act.

This special assistance for eastern Ontario was initiated in 1965 to encourage the development of additional drainage outlets, there by permitting the utilization of good quality land for the production of such crops as corn and cereal grains.

The 11 counties named in this program are Lanark, Leeds, Renfrew, Frontenac, Grenville, Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and the Regional area of Ottawa-Carleton.

Since this special assistance for drainage was initiated by ARDA in the 11-county area, the acreage of grain corn has increased from 8,908 acres in 1966 to 82,000 acres in 1971, with an average of 82 bushels to the acre. The expansion of this crop, and the ability to grow other crops, has been the direct result of the drainage program, and the total farm economy of the area has improved considerably.

The decision to extend drainage assistance for another year was made jointly by two levels of government, Federal and Provincial, and they will share equally in the costs, under the terms of the 5-year FederalProvincial Rural Development Agreement signed in 1970.

The announcement of the extension of this program was made jointly by the Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food for Ontario, and the Hon. Jean Marchand, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion Government of Canada. The assistance will terminate April 1, 1973.

Time To Prepare For Spring Seeding

Now that Spring is beginning to settle in and the Nation River is going down, everyone will be getting ready for spring seeding. Time passes quickly, so now is the time, if you haven't done so, to get the tractor tuned up, the drill cleaned, greased and oiled. While checking your machinery do not forget the safety features - check the PTO shields to make sure all safety shields are in place.

Also if you are not from the school of hard knocks a good investment is a safety hat. It will do a lot to cushion bumps plus saves the English language. For some farmers who are driving larger machinery another good investment is sound muffs. Continuous noise will deafen a person. Therefore, to preserve your hearing try noise muffs.

Silent Heat Periods in the Dairy Cow

Recently I have rceived some calls from farmers who are conerned because they are unable to catch their cows in heat. This is a problem especially through the winter when the cattle are confined. In a few cases this is a hereditary factor but in most cases it is a management problem. If you are having breeding problems here are a few points to think about.

1. Do you let the cows out every day? Letting cows out for daily exercise, if only for half an hour, does help to bring out heat signs. A little sunshine may save a lot of dollars. What it may cost to move snow may be saved in breeding fees and dollars losf due to not getting cows in calf.
2. Are your cows properly fed? Cows that are under fed in either protein or energy do not show normal heat signs. Therefore, have a good look at your ration. The cheapest is not always the best in the long run.
3. Minerals - The question here is not only are you feeding enough but also, are they balanced to suit your total ration. In your grain mix 2 to 3 pounds of suitable salt-mineral with each 100 lbs. of grain ration.

These are a few points to think about if you are having a breeding problem in your herd. If your cows are not in calf when they should be you are losing dollars ($1.00 - $1.50 per day loss). To review your herd breeding and feeding program contact me, Tom Clapp, in the local Agricultural Office, Winchester or Gary Buck, Dairy Cattle Specialist, Kemptville.

Infectiuos Bovine Rhinotracheitis (I.B.R.)

IBR, also known as "rednose" has turned up in several places in the county this winter. Once brought into the barn, it will spread quickly, particularly in the winter when cattle are confined.

Symptoms:

1. Newborn calves may have a fever and symptoms suggesting a gastro intestinal disorder.
2. Infection of nasal cavities and windpipe. Nostrils reddened, hard dry cough, discharge from nostrils, plus sore eyes.
3. A high fever
4. Pregnant cows will abort

If you feel you have some of these symptoms in your herd, please check with your local vet. There is now a new vaccine to combat IBR without causing abortions as was in the past.

N.F.U. president speaks out against low prices

Distilleries are receiving an increase in profits equivalent to $3.00 for every bushel of corn they use, while Ontario corn growers are receiving less than their cost of production.

The recent increase in the cost of spirits announced in the provincial budget by the Hon. Darcy McKeough is turning out to be a windfall for Canadian distilleries. This price increase will raise 8 million dollars for the provincial government, 0.7 millions dollars for the federal government and 6 million dollars for the distilling industry.

Blake Sanford, Co-ordinator for Region 3 (Ontario) of the National Farmers' Union, said Wednesday at a meeting of Local 340 at Harriston, that this 6 million dollars in profit will be heaped on top of the profits already enjoyed by the distilleries, while corn producers are forced to sell corn below their cost of production. Forty percent of the increase is going to the distilleries or approximately 10 cents per bottle (26 ozs.) Estimating that the distilleries extract 30 bottles of liquor from a bushel of corn, this represents an increase to the distillery of $3.00 (over and above previous profits for every bushel of corn used or some $240.00 per acre of corn yielding 80 bushels per acre. The corn grower at present is receiving gross returns of $1.10 per bushel or $88.00 for the same 80 bushels of corn.

Mr Sanford said that similar increases in returns were also granted to the breweries and wine manufacturers. Many people in Ontario were of the opinion when price changes were announced for alcoholic beverages in the Ontario budget that the increases were all taxes but are now finding out that the booze industry is also increasing already substantial profits with government approval and assistance.

"Industrial giants like Seagrams, who last year had a profit of 66 million and Walkers, who showed a profit of 48 million will be able to increase their profits in spite of inflation, while corn growers and farmers in general will face bankruptcy as inflation takes over. The projected realized net income for Ontario farmers in 1972 will be at its lowest level in the last ten years. As a farmer I am not asking the government to camouflage any price increases that I may receive, but only ask for government policies that will guarantee the survival of the family farm as the main source of food production in our country," Mr Sanford said.

Teacher's View

In 1957, Russia launched it far-famed Sputnik, the first satellite. The result, in educational circles was that a great upheaval began in the teaching of mathematics and science. The North American aim became to close the gap between us and the Russians. New mathematics courses, new science courses, new methods and texts became the fad of the times and mathematics developed a 'glamour' status in schools. Press, radio, and television gave the impression that anyone who did not study mathmatics and science throughout high school was somehow cheating himself out of an education. Unfortunately, the impression is just as wrong when created about mathematics as it is when created about any other subject. Certain students should concentrate on mathematics in secondary schools, certain students should concentrate on other subjects, and many students should study a broad program of many subjects.

Now that almost all students are free to choose a combination of subjects to suit their needs, interests and abilities, one would expect the percentage of students enrolling in mathematics to drop. It does not appear to be doing so and I believe that this is a hold-on from the days following the launching of Sputnik. The result is predictable, some students choosing mathematics as a course in secondary school are misplaced, they simply do not have the aptitude, interest, or desire to be successful in mathematics. Most of these students readily admit that they are enrolled in mathematics courses because they are convinced that mathematics is essential.

Many of them have been convinced by their parents, parents who readily recognize that their offspring can't draw, can't sing, or will never do well in French, but will not recognize that some students simply cannot do mathematics in high school. It is time that all recognize that, as any other subject, mathematics at the secondary school level requires a certain type of ability, which is unfortunately, not possessed by all.

If students lacking this ability enroll in mathematics courses, the student either fails to pass the course, or, if successful, it is only with a mark so near to failure that the possibilities of further studies in mathematics are obviously out of the question.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Irene Liscumb, who passed away May 1, 1970.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds.
For the days we do not think of you,
Are very hard to find.
You left behind an aching heart,
That loved you most sincere.
We never did, nor never will Forget you, Mother Dear.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Daughter Evelyn, Family and Grent Grandchildren.

History of churches discussed at W.M.S. meeting

INGLESIDE — Each member of the St. Mathew's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society gave a brief historical sketch of a church at the April meeting held here recently.

The ladies were informed about local churches and also about St. Giles Cathedral, Edinburgh, Scotland, an early Viking church, a Korean church, in Toronto and the Baptist hurch in Pointe Clair, Quebe.

Mrs Andrew Moffatt related to the latter one as she and her late husband, Rev. Moffatt, were one of four founding families who helped start the work in that area.

They first held services in an old building but eventually a church was built. Mrs Moffatt said it had expanded rapidly in a few short years.

Mrs William Maginnis was in charge of the worship service at the Easter progarm. Assisting Mrs Maginnis was Mrs J. H. Grandaw, Mrs Gregor Williamson and Miss Evelyn Shaver.

The president, Mrs Harold Shaver conducted the meeting while the financial statement was given by Mrs Frank MacAndrews. Mrs Frank Stewart recorded the minutes and read the correspondence.

The offering was received by Mrs Maginnis and dedicated by Mrs Stewart. Mrs Moffat, guest speaker, told of the trip she and Mrs Roger Clarke had taken during the winter months to Florida.

The two ladies had stayed at the Trinity Bible College. The speaker related some of the highlights of remarks from several outstanding preachers.

They also visted Disney World, a popular tourist attraction.

Mrs Clarke will tell something of her experiences at the May meeting.

N.D.D.H.S. NEWS

On April 25, North Dundas' performance of 'Arsenic and Old Lace' was a resounding success.

The plot concerned the activities of two sweet old ladies whose charities included the unfortunate urge to help lonely old men to find peace by poisoning them with elderberry wine liberally spiked with arsenic. Karen Salter and Connie Feeley were very convincing in their role as the two Brewster sisters who liked to dabble in murder.

During the disposal of victim number twelve, plans were rudely upset by the arrival of Jonathon, the Brewster sisters' homicidal nephew. Jonathon, played by Gilbert Fife, had had his face remodelled by Dr. Einstein (Tom Chamberlain) and bore a striking resemblance to Frankenstein.

Bill Workman did a fine job as Teddy Brewster, another nephew who believed he was Theodore Roosevelt.

Just to complicate matters, Mortimer Brewster, played by Oscar Douma, proposed marriage to a neighbour girl, Elaine Harper (Janet Chambers). Mortimer discovered what his two old aunts were up to and the plot really began to thicken.

Other roles in the play were Rev. Dr. Harper played by Gary Annable, Mr Gibbs played by Gary Davidson and Mr Witherspoon played by Graham Whatmough.

The roles of the police were played by Robert Forward, Allan Vardy and Jim Baker.

Lieutenant Rooney (Patrick Coyne) made a dynamic appearance late in the third act. Derek Cook and George Spelvin as the "bodies" had one of the most demanding roles in the play.

To Mr Trillo, the director, the cast and the thirty people who worked backstage to make the play a success we extend a hearty congratulations for a job well done.

Cutting rights to Crown timber under lease or licence have been granted to pulp and paper companies on 23% of Canada's productive forest land.

KITCHEN CORNER

EYE CATCHING DESSERTS

For an impressive dessert that stays within the budget, meringues are elegant and versatile enough to be part of any menu.

Lemon Pavlova Cake

Meringue Shell:
- 4 egg whites
- ¼ tsp. cream of tartar
- 1 tsp. vinegar
- 1 cup berry sugar
- 1 tbsp. corn starch
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 tbsp. cold water

Beat egg whites until foamy; add cream of tartar and vinegar. Sift sugar and cornstarch together; gradually add to egg whites, beating until stiff peaks are formed. Fold in vanilla and water. Spread on lightly greased parchment paper, forming two 6½ inch circles. Bake at 250° for 50 minutes. Invert on plates. Remove paper.

Filling:
- 4 egg yolks
- dash salt
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tbsp. lemon rind
- 3 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1¼ cups whipping cream
- ½ cup whipping cream

Beat yolks until foamy; gradually add salt and sugar, beating until thick and lemon coloured. Beat in rind and juice. Cook over hot water until thickened (about 10 minutes). Place over cold water; stir until cool. Whip 1¼ cups cream; fold into cooled lemon mixture. Whip remaining ½ cup cream; pipe or spoon around edges of shells. Spoon filling into centres. Garnish with chocolate shavings if desired. Cut each circle into wedges. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Space Age Moon Cake

You might wonder how to make a cake shaped like the moon but its really quite easy. You need a package of prepared angel food cake mix and a four-quart pyrex mixing bowl.

Prepare the mix in the bowl according to directions; leave the batter in the bowl; cut gently through with a knife to remove air bubbles. Before baking, wipe spatters from inside top of bowl.

Bake in preheated oven according to package directions, lower temperature 25 degrees for baking in glass. You also may have to increase baking time due to the shape of the bowl from the usual angel cake tin.

Remove from oven; invert bowl on supports and allow cake to cool 1½-2 hours.

When cool, loosen sides of cake with spatula and invert on large plate.

Ice the cake with your desired frosting - whipped cream or whipped topping.

To decorate - how about decorating with space men and a rocket. To decorate in a doll fashion, scoop out a hollow in the centre of the cake, stand a small doll wrapped in foil up to her waist in the hollow and frost the cake as her hooped skirt; a ribbon can form the waist of the doll's dress.

Grasshopper Pie

- 2 tbsp. butter
- 14 hydrox cookies
- 32 large marshmallows
- ½ cup milk
- 4 tbsp. green creme de menthe
- 2 tbsp. white creme de cocao
- 1 cup whipped cream

Melt 2 tsp. butter, stir in crushed cookies, use for crust (press in 8-inch pie plate). Melt 32 marshmalows in ½ cup milk over hot water; remove from water, let cook. Stir in creme de menthe and creme de cocao. Fold in whipped ream, pour into pie shell. Freeze, serve frozen; save few crumbs of crust mixture to sprinkle over top.

in during the winter and was flooded with water in the spring.

The organization was told to go out and raise $2,000 and then council would talk business.

Mr Manley also said during the early years an equalization of municipal ta xes left Finch Township with about $4,000 more in their budget than they had planned on. Combined with the $2,000 from the WI and other funds, the hall was built.

Over the years the hall experienced many uses but lacked the necessary facilities. Finch Township thought of selling it until a group of interested residents, forming a Community Centre Committee pledged their support to help renovate the structure.

Mr Manley humbly admitted he could not accept much credit for the work saying the WI and other members had laboured many hours painting, rebuilding and remodelling the hall.

Members of the Centre Committee were Mr Manley, Tony Sanders representing the council Jessie Ouderkirk, treasurer of the hall board, Violet Robertson and Mabel Rushford representing the WI, Johnson Ouderkirk also representing council, and Don Smirle, chairman of the Centre Committee.

Ouderkirk and Hickey share oratory awards

INGLESIDE — Peggy Ouderkirk and Sharon Hickey were top winners at the Annual Oratory Competition at Osnabruck District High School here last Friday night.
