Winchester Couple 70 Years Married

History does not record too many incidents where a married couple is privileged to live and enjoy each other's companionship for a period of seventy years. Such incidents are rare indeed. In fact, we do not recall having ever seen a 70th wedding anniversary published in the columns of this paper. It is, therefore, of unusual interest to everyone to know that two of Winchester's most highly esteemed citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderson, observed their 70th wedding anniversary on Monday, January 31st. Owing to their extreme longevity, both being over 93 years of age, and due to the fact that Mrs. Henderson is almost totally blind, the event was observed in a quiet manner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Winchester Springs. During the day, they received many letters, cards and messages of congratulations and they heard the announcement of their anniversary broadcast on the network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation at noon on Tuesday.

On the occasion of the observance of their 60th wedding anniversary, the couple were interviewed by the Press and we are going to republish some of the information we received at that time.

Sixty years ago, on January 30th, 1879, Robert Henderson, son of the late William Henderson and his wife, Mary Casselman, hitched one of his father's best driving horses to a cutaer, and after calling for his bride-to-be, Miss Margaret Davis, daughter of the late Ralph Davis and Margaret Connor, of North Augusta, drove from Winchester Springs to Prescott, a distance of 35 miles, where they crossed the St. Lawrence river in a side-wheeled ferry-boat. Upon their arrival in Ogdensburg, N. Y., they proceeded to the Anglican Rectory, where they were married by the Rev. Thomas Clarke. After viewing the sights of the big town, they returned to Prescott, where they had left their horse and cutter, and started on another 35 mile journey to the home of the bride's parennts at North Augusta and Escott, where they spent their honeymoon.

Returning to Winchester Springs, they took up residence on the Henderson homestead, near that village, where they remained for ten years. Later they farmed at Maple Ridge and Chesterville, and for two years operated the Winchester Springs Sanatorium. Twenty-four years ago they took up residence in Winchester, where they are highly respected by all who know them.

Recalls Early Days

Mr. Henderson recalls that when his father sailed from Ireland to Canada, the ship was over two months making the journey. There were 300 passengers on board and they considered themselves lucky that they reached land at all, in view of the fact that the vessel sprang a leak, and the sailors had to build a new end in the ship in mid-ocean.

"Sixty years ago most of this district was dense forest," Mr. Henderson said. "I assisted in cleaning most of the land now occupied by the village of Winchester Springs. He recalled one winter when he had cut down several elm trees from his property and floated the logs across the fields to the Nation River during the spring floods. At that time there was a saw mill at Cass Bridge. A few days later a cyclone swept through the district and demolished the mill, while the swift current burst the dam used to hold the water back to operate the mill. This left his logs high and dry several feet from the river. By use of a team of oxen the logs were hauled to the water, and after great difficulty were floatel down the Nation River to the next nearest saw mill, which at that time was near Chesterville.

No Cheese Factories

There were no cheese factories in this district 60 years ago, the veteran continued. The only revenue we received for milk was what we got for our butter when we were able to sell it, and that was generally once a year. In those days farmers were compelled to pack their butter in tubs and keep it in storage for several months, before a buyer would be found to purchase it. During the hot weather, Mr. Henderson said, the butter was kept in a wholesome condition by salting it heavily and storing it in the cellars of their homes. Thirteen cents per pound was a good price for butter a half century ago.

Farmers took advantage of wild game in those early days. Partridge and deer were plentiful, and being fond of hunting, nearly every day we had a feast of venison or wild fowl. There were not many bears in this district then, but wolverenes were plentiful, he said.

Comparing farm life of sixty years ago with that of today, Mr. Henderson believes that the farmer was far better off financially then, and personally, he prefers the olden days. "We could buy a mower for $30 then," he said, "but today farm machinery is too expensive, and this along with the high taxes, is what keeps the farmer poor. We had to work harder years ago, and while it was probably more difficult to get our produce to market, we didn't have to worry about paying out all we earned in taxes and on installments for cars and machinery," he concluded.

Mrs. Henderson Worked Hard

Mrs. Henderson, who is the mother of seven children, prefers living conditions today to those of her early womanhood. Although she thinks that the present generation of girls are living too fast and don't take enough interest in home life, she would not like to see them suffer the hardships that she did when she was a young woman.

Reviewing the early years of her marriage, Mrs. Henderson said that she had done everything about the farm except plough. She was an expert spinner and weaver and made most of the clothes for her family, as well as rugs, mats, curtains, etc.

For over 45 years Mrs. Henderson has been a member of the Ladies' Guild of the Anglican Church, and while residing at Winchester Springs was a member of the Women's Missionary Society, of which she is a past president. She was also an active member of the local Red Cross Society during the Great War, and in addition to making over 350 bandages, she knitted dozens of pairs of scoks, mitts, scarves, etc.

Although always interested in municipal affairs, Mr. Henderson never held any office on the township council, but for several years was a school trustee at Maple Ridge.

Members of Their Family

Members of their family are: Mrs. George Kirkwood and Mrs. Harvey Smith, of Winchester Springs; Mrs. M. Davis, of Montreal; Mrs. Kenneth Hutt, of Maple Ridge; John E. and William Henderson, of Winchester. Their third son, Wesley, died a number of years ago.

Many Matters Discussed At Meeting of Local Fire Brigade, Tuesday

The local Fire Brigade held a meeting in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, with Fire Chief Gilbert Raistrick presiding.

The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the formation of a District Firemen's Association, to include villages within a twenty to thirty mile area. Chief Raistrick explained that while there already existed an Eastern Ontario Association, the field covered was too wide to be of much benefit to smaller units. The feeling of the local firemen was that the smaller villages had problems which could be better solved by discussion through an association covering a smaller area. Although representatives from Morrisburg, Chesterville, Kemptville and South Mountain were invited to the meeting and had promised to attend, no delegates were present, and the matter was postponed.

Discussion turned to the subject of fire alarms, and Chief Raistrick raised the point of lack of a siren in the village, and explained the present inadequate system of fire alarms. under the existing system, the Fire Chief and his men had to depend on the courtesy of Bell Telephone operators, who were in no way obligated to perform such duties. This method entailed a further chain of telephone calls before the Fire Chief could summon his men, in case of a fire. Mr. J. H. Keyes urged that a siren be installed, suggesting that Village Council be approached by a delegation from the Fire Brigade with a relative petition. Mr. Keyes said that an efficient fire equipment such as we have in Winchester, was more or less wasted without a proper alarm system. Reeve W. Moffat, who was at the meeting, in response to an enquiry from Chief Raistrick, said he believed Council would give their request a sympathetic hearing. He commented upon the good fortune Winchester had enjoyed during the past few years in escaping fire damage.

The matter of the antiquated type of hose nozzles in present use was brought up, also the need for an additional 100 feet of hose.

Others taking part in the discussions included Firemen Corry, Helmer, Walker, Harry Keyes and Deputy Chief Wm. Scott.

NORTH GOWER PLAY WELL RECEIVED

The Anglican Young People's Association of Holy Trinity Church, North Gower, presented a happy go lucky three-act farce in the Town Hall, Winchester, this past Thursday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of St. Matthias, A. & M.

Those in the cast were: Jean McCurdy, Lorne Wilson, Shirley Gault, Edgar Leach, Vera Leach, Horace Dunbar, Mary Hutchinson, Wesley Hutchinson, Anne Hicks, Beth Bradley, Kenneth McCurdy and Shirley McCurdy. The action of the play took place in a sitting room on board S. S. Hazard enroute to Hawaii. The scenery and property manager was Harold Hodges, assisted by Albert Pollock. Stage furnishings were kindly loaned by the Vice and Craig Furniture Store in Winchester.

The Rev. Leon B. G. Adams acted as chairman for the evening's programme, which included a vocal solo, "Blue Danube," by Miss June Rowat, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. Fetterly. A piano trio, "Marche Militaire," was given by Misses Mary MacPherson, Winnie Deeks and Jean McRoberts. The singing of "O Canada," and "God Save The King," was accomapnied by Miss A. Walker at the piano.

At the conclusion of the play, Rev. W. H. Bradley, Rector of North Gower, expressed the appreciation of the cast for the opportunity to present the play in Winchester.

Before returing to North Gower, the cast was entertained at the Rectory. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leon Adams, assisted by Mrs. J. Wray and Mrs. H. Greer.

Another $10,000 Granted To Hospital By Counties' Council

Counties' Council, at the close of its January Session at Cornwall last week, made an additional grant of $10,000.00 to the District Memorial Hospital here. The grant was made, following an appeal for $20,000.00, presented by a delegation from the Hospital Board last Wednesday. Members of the delegation were Messrs. W. C. MacDonald, Chairman of the Board; Hart Melvin, Leroy Boyd, N. W. Beach, Dr. Howard Justus and ex-reeve John Fader.

When the question of the grant came up for discussion before the Council on Thursday, Reeve Lloyd Davis, of Iroquois, took a leading part in the debate, urging the members to support the motion in favour of the $10,000.00 grant.

The motion was moved by Reeve J. E. U. Rouleau, of Cornwall Township, and seconded by Reeve Jas. McArthur, of Lancaster, Warden for 1949.

The total amont granted to the District Memorial Hospital by Counties' Council now stands at $35,000.00, as grants of $15,000.00 and $10,000.00 were made on previous occasions.

THE GROUND-HOG SAW HIS SHADOW HERE

Yesterday, February 2nd, was Candlemas Day, which according to legend, has something to do with the weather for the next six weeks. As the saying goes, the ground-hog comes out of his winter home on February 2nd and if he sees his shadow he crawls back in his lair and we are supposed to have six more weeks of cold, wintry weather. Shadows were quite visible here on Wednesday and if the legend has any truth, we can expect another month and a half of winter in this district.

HOSPITAL DONATIONS ACKNOWLEDGED

The Directors of the District Memorial Hospital acknowledge with sincere thanks the following donations: Dr. D. G. McLeod, of Finch, $100.00; Women's Institute of Vernon District, $180.00; Chesterville Women's Institute, $650.00; Mrs. Leila Summers, $10.00; Miss Mary Byers, Roxborough, $5.00; Miss Patsy Baldwin, Inkerman, $5.00; Mr. Earl Mills, Avonmore, $20.00; Women's Hospital Auxiliary (Winchester), $227.25.

"The Holy Spirit, The Sanctifier"

This is the age of the Holy Spirit. To Him, the Holy Spirit, is ascribed the same natural and moral attributes as to the Father, and the Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. The Saviour's redemptive work was complete, when, after Calvary and the Resurrection, He sat down on His Father's Throne. Then, on the Day of Pentecost, the promised Holy Spirit came into the world in His official sphere as mediator between men and Christ. In this age of personal choice and outgathering now going on, the Holy Spirit is here carrying on the work of saving and sanctifying the true believer. Thus, no one can truly say that he is Christ's unless assured by the Holy Spirit. For "The (Holy) Spirit witnesseth with my spirit that I am a child of God." Those who have this assurance in life as a personal possession make up the true Church, militant or triumphant, the Body of Christ, or the Bride of Christ.

The title given here to the Holy Spirit is very significant. It covers the entire work of saving grace in the life of a redeemed person. Its particular use is in relation to the person who have been forgiven his actual sins; is continuing in the way of salvation, who ,through the leadings of the Holy Spirit, is inwardly cleansed from the "inclinations of evil"; or from "the pollution of sin"; or, again, from "a heart bent on backsliding," and the entire life consecrated to the service of God. Therefore, to sanctify is the act by which the believer is made pure and set apart for a holy and sacred use.

In Christ's sacrificial death, the Hebrew writer states: "Wherefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people with His own blood suffered without the gate." Paul, in reference to the Holy Spirit, speaks of the Gentiles "being sanctified by the Holy Spirit." It is provided in His sacrificial death for us, and the Holy Spirit, man's mediator between him and Christ, seeks its fulfilment in the believer's inner life.

Thus we see that the work of the Holy Spirit is the preparing of a people who are not only qualified to be members of the great redeemed throng in glory, but individuals who are fully equipped to live here and now clean in life and holy in heart from sin, because the Holy Spirit, the Sanctifier, has had the privilege of accomplishing the Saviour's design in their redeemed hearts.

SIX O'CLOCK TOWN

Merchants in one Canadian town have learned how to damage it as a shopping centre, says the Printed Word. It seems that two or three years ago, when customers were kind and anxious, these merchants decided they weren't going to stay open Saturday nights any longer, nohow. Farmers would just have to come to town in the daytime, whether or not they had to rush right back to milk and feed the stock and thereby miss the pleasant late-evening hours meeting folks from the other concessions.

One merchant refused to go along with the others. He kept his store open, though business fell off, because people weren't going to that town just to shop at one store, and not a very big store either.

The same merchant owns two other stores, each in a town not far away as time is reckoned in these days of paved roads and decent cars. And this merchant, who, like all good merchants, has a keen ear for the music of the cash register at work, reports that his sales in the two Saturday-night towns went up nicely week by week and have stayed up, while in the town where the merchants went modern, Saturday sales dropped way down. And have stayed down. The town, where of a Saturday parking space used to be as scarce as a buggy, became as quiet as a Sunday in a rural hamlet. Advertising fell off to the local newspaper. Bank managers became a little less smiling. And the merchants among themselves began to wonder who the heck had the idea in the first place.

They're all running old-fashioned stores again. Open on Saturday night to serve country people who want to buy on that night. But all is not well, yet, for some of the old customers have come to like shopping in one or other of the other towns. And a shopping habit, like others, is often hard to break.

One historian says that the late Timothy Eaton had a fetish that customers must come first in his mind and he was always anxious to have the goods they wanted, at the price they could pay, and he was willing to serve them at any reasonable hour they wished to be served, excepting Sunday but including Saturday night. There's an allegedly modern idea, born in the mind of some lazy merchants, that the customers will be ready with cash in hand when the merchant gets good and ready to unlock the door. There are others, of course, who recollect that Mr. Eaton, with his idea that a merchant owed a duty to the public, was one of the most spectacularly successful merchants in this or any other country.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN UTOPIA?

What is the Answer to the Last Sentence in this Article?

Men have never ceased to believe in a golden age. The utopias of antiquity were mainly placed in an imaginary past; those of the modern world are looked for in an imaginary future. It is to be noted that the state of felicity is always remote. "Man never is but ever to be blest."

The improvement of society is a highly laudable endeavour. It is part, at least, of the justification of the study of the social sciences. It is important, however, that the limitations on such improvement should be understood lest effort be misdirected and energy be wasted on striving after unattainable objectives.

The nineteenth century version of utopia was universal peace and universal plenty. The vision of universal peace has been dimmed by recent experience. He would be a plucky man who prophesied that the end of war was in sight to-day.

Prophets, however, of universal plenty, have survived the shocks and disappointments of the twentieth cenntury. Their voices can still be heard amongst the ruins . . . . Mankind will enjoy an idyllic existence of cultured leisure. In this effortless paradise . . . the work of production will be performed by machines, the inanimate slaves of the future. Such is the vision presented by the prophets of the age of plenty. Whether it is likely to be realized is certainly worth discussion. Is it within the bounds of practical possibility or is its attainment surrounded by impassable obstacles?—George O'Brien in "The Phantom of Plenty."

For Parents Only

(By Nancy Cleaver)

CAN I HELP?

"Can I help?" How often a small child asks this question as he watches mother or dad busy at some task. This eagerness to be of use is a precious thing. If a small child's offer of assistance is refused or postponed to some other day he will be less likely to want to help another time. Children don't like to be rebuffed any more than adults!

It does take time and patience to include a little boy or girl in performing some job. Dad can bring in the wood and light the stove faster all by himself than if he waits for Junior to collect his pile of sticks. Mother can mix muffins much more quickly if she does not stop to delegate the beating of the egg or the greasing of the tins to Mary—but how much Junior and Mary will miss not only in training to be contributing members in the work of a home, but in the sense of comradeship and in the pride of achievement which a father-and-son or a mother-and-daughter completed job brings with it!

Get Them Jobs To Do!

When a child wants to help, if at all possible put the youngster to work then and there. See that daughter is properly clothed for the job—an apron on for baking. Make sure that your child has the right work tools—such as a mixing bowl and beater to beat an egg. Then work alongside the child at your part of the job. If you must give more instructions or criticize the way the child is working, do it in a constructive, kindly way. If a task is a little too difficult for a child or he is taking too long to do it, help him finish it. Don't take over the job and do it yourself!

The next time the child is helping, delegate more responsibility and cut down on directions. If the child is old enough and keen about that particular task, work toward the time when the son or daughter can complete the task all by himself or herself. Use encouragement and show a child how to avoid making the same mistake twice. Be generous in your praise of a job well done.

Sometimes in a home where there are older boys and girls at school, the youngsters have become more and more preoccupied with their school work, their friends and their own interests and activities. They rarely ask, "Can I help?" Often mother, in a mistaken idea that she is being "good to the children," asks little or nothing from them in assistance in the work of the home. She may not realize it, but a house where mother does the children's beds, tidies up after them, is an excellent training ground for her son and daughter to become a selfish husband or a helpless wife in a few years time.

Direction By Dad

In the fair division of the work of the home, father, because he is away so much and can look on things with a more impartial view, should give some directions. Everyone, work to do. A family council, when even a small child, should have some father reviews all the work mother does each week, is a good idea. In some homes each child is allowed to chose at the end of the week some job he likes to do which he will carry out the next week. The tasks that no one is likely to pick, such as washing dishes, are written out on slips and rotated around so that each one has a turn.

Abraham Lincoln once said, "Wanting to work is so rare a merit that it should be encouraged."

What happens in your home when a child says, "Can I help?"

TOO MANY QUEENS

(Ottawa Journal)

Lately we have had onion queens, watermelon queens, peach queens, queens of departmental picnics, and goodness knows how many other "queens" of a day; in fact the "queen" business has been so sadly overdone that we doubt its value nowadays even as a publicity stunt. It contributes nothing to civic dignity or prestige, and there is plenty of evidence that in many instances the winner derives no good but rather grave harm from winning.

DIFFERENT ROBES

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

Robes have been worn by British judges for 700 years and add greatly to the dignity and impressiveness of their office. But if the robes worn by Ontario judges are purple they do not conform in color or "glamor" to the robes worn in the British high courts. The robes of British judges are a vivid scarlet, with a large fluffy sleeve of ermine and a shoulder tippet of the same material. They are very expensive, and that is probably why our judges' robes are simpler.

"NOTHING TO DO"IS POOR EXCUSE

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

Complaint of the street corner gangsters at Toronto is that there is "nothing for them to do." In language they may understand, it's cockeyed. There never was an age when there was as much that young people could do, either by way of recreation or employment, and certainly none in which as much was being done for them.

It may appeal to some that it is rather a case of doing too much for them. If the young delinquents at Toronto were to try doing something for others, not excluding their own parents, they might find that it would bring them a lot more pleasure than the Sunday night dancing which some of them seem to regard as most important.

Doing something for someone else is the finest way ever discovered for finding happiness. Anyone suffering from boredom or satiety should try it. If the Toronto gangs are not willing to try something like that, perhaps the best suggestion of all is that credited to a newspaper columnist who proposed a "good, swift, old-fashioned kick in the pants."

A bucksaw or an axe and a pile of wood, with a nice big wood box to fill every day, and some water to draw and ashes to carry out, have also been helpful in their day and age.

BARN MEETING

The last in a series of barn meetings sponsored by the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Club, was held on Wednesday, January 26th, 1949, at the farm of Harold Graham, South Mountain.

The day was ideal for the occasion and there were 75 in attendance. Mr. Frank Casselman, President of the Club, acted in the capacity as chairman and in his opening remarks welcomed all to the meeting.

A demonstration was put on by Mr. Grant Smith, Eastern Ontario Fieldman for the Canadian Holstein Friesian Association of Canada, after which two classes of live stock were judged. Mr. Smith took charge of the mature cow classes and Mr. W. J. Fawcett of the heifer classes. Following the judging, these two gentlemen gave their official placings and reasons. The winners are as follows: 1st, Merrill Graham, South Mountain, with a perfect score of 100—prize offered was a saw. Second, Lloyd Spearman, South Mountain, with a score of 99—prize, set of wrenches. 3rd, Wilfred Durant, Winchester, score of 97, prize, pipe wrench.

Mr. Smith again outlined the policies of the association and also exhibited signs and had for distribution a number of pamphlets and leaflets. Mr. Herb. Graham, Agricultural Represeatative, gave a talk on live stock improvement and also presented the prizes.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Harold Graham by the president for his generous assistance and support in providing his barn and cattle for the afternoon's proceedings.

All the meetings throughout the series were exceptionally well attended and this attendance was most encouraging to the executive and directors of the club who arranged for them. To all who took part in any way, the officers and directors wish to extend to them their thanks and appreciation.

MANUFACTURERS' LIFE ANNUAL REPORT

The Manufacurers' Life report business in force of $1,143,000,000.

New Business in 1948 was almost equal to that of 1947 when allowance is made for the fact that in this report business in foreign currencies is taken in at current rates of exchange instead of at par rates as formerly.

Payments made to policyholders under their contracts totalled $21 million and were distributed to beneficiaries and policyholders in death claims, matured endowments, annuity payments and other policy benefits, including $2½ million in dividends to policyholders.

The Assets of the Company grew to $367 million. Government and Government guaranteed bonds represent 38% of Assets and corporation and municipal securites 33%. Mortgages represent 12% of Assets and Stocks 7½%, Cash and Policy Loans largely representing the balance.

The rate of interest earned on the Assets was 3.79%, an increase over the previous year's rate of 3.65%, the increase being due to some increase in the general level of intrest rates and to a change in the composition of invested Assets.

The mortality experience was again quite favourable and Contingency Reserve and Surplus now amount to $20, 716,946.

Take excessive speed and liquor out of driving and our traffic accident rate would soon undergo marked decline.

W. H. S. NEWS NOTES

EDUCATION IS FUN AT THE WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL

Winchester High School, with its enrolment of 181 students and 8 members of the teaching staff, witnessed a busy day on Wednesday of last week. Apart from the ordinary academic work in Grades IX to XIII, the teachers instructed in vocational subjects such as Shop Work, Commercial subjects, Home Economics and Agriculture. Grade XII were entertained at a chicken luncheon in the Home Economics room at noon by Grades IX and X girls. This was the climax of a long period of training and instruction in both Home Economics and Agriculture. Girls are taught preparation of meals, serving and etiquette as well as the ordinary Home Economics course. The important part of this education is to obtain actual practice, and actual practice they got when they played host to fifteen Grade XII boys and girls, the teacher of Agriculture and Principal J. H. Willard, B.A. The Home Economics serving team consisted of Betty Holmes, Ali Schrale, Helen Hutt, Barbara Loucks and Donella Burleigh, under the direction of Miss Ruth Read, B.A., instructress in Home Economics. The chicken luncheon originated in a series of lessons to Grade XII on poultry given by R. Lalonde, B.Sc., M.A., Specialist in Agriculture. Pupils were taught about structure, grading, preservation and food value of eggs; culling, finishing, killing and plucking of poultry and poultry-house construction.

Last Saturday the pupils went home to cull their flock after having done some practical work at school. Mary Shane returned to High School on Monday with three culled hens. After a demonstration on killing, debraining, plucking and drawing of fowl by their instructor, the pupils of Grade XII set to work in three groups. They concluded that the hens were really culls. At the end of their class period, the three dressed fowl were handed to Miss Read of the Home Economics Department and placed in the school frigidaire.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Grades IXA, IXB, XA and XB girls were busy learning about the preparation for a chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Ella Coons of Grade XII handled the extras furnished by the pupils themselves. A programme was organized by Mr. Lalonde for a real chicken club luncheon. Formal invitations were issued to all guests by Miss Read's classes. Place cards were effectively arranged on coloured gum drops. A lesson in carving of fowl by Messrs. Willard and Lalonde preceded the luncheon.

The chicken luncheon was a remarkable success. The recreative programme gave literary and social training to Grade XII. A toast, proposed by Mr. Lalonde to the Principal and to Miss Read was appropriately replied to by Principal Willard. Chairman Russel Dow officiated with introductions to the guests of honour, Principal Howard Willard, Miss Read and Mr. Remi Lalonde. Mary Shane said Grace before the meal. The guest speaker, Clair Bailey, outstanding scholar and athlete, was introduced by Bert Feltham, goaler for Inkerman Rockets hockey team. Clair Bailey spoke on the improvement of economic conditions in farming today and suggested keener specialization and united co-operative action as two main remedials. He was thanked by Ella Coons. Shirley Bailey voiced thanks to the convenors of the luncheon. HONORED ON EVE OF 75th BIRTHDAY

On Saturday evening, January 22nd, Mrs. H. A. Hughes was tendered a surprise birthday party by neighbours, friends and family. The evening was spent playing games.

About eleven o'clock Mrs. Orman Savage conveyed best wishes to Mrs. Hughes and asked her to accept numerous gifts on behalf of those gathered there. Mrs. Dan MacAndrew, the oldest neighbour and a close friend of Mrs. Hughes, made the presentation. Lunch was then served and an enjoyable evening brought to a close.

Four of Mrs. Hughes' six children were home to celebrate with her. They were: Clarence, of Smiths Falls; John, at home; Mrs. Roy McKeown, of Kenmore, and Mrs. Fred Quail, of Edwards. Two boys, Ira, of Montreal, and Maurice, of Cobden, were unable to be there.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

James Harry McReynolds, of Dallas, Texas, is to lecture in Ottawa on Monday, February 14th. His family became interested in Christian Science as far back as 1905. He was educated in the Public Schools and at the University of Texas, and served in the United States Army during the First World War as Lieutenant in the Infantry, and later as a Captain.

At the conclusion of the War, he entered business but withdrew in 1930 to devote his full time to the public practice of Christian Science Healing. He has served a Branch Church in many capacities, including that of First Reader. Mr. McReynolds received Class Instruction in 1923, and became a teacher of Christian Science in 1940. Well qualified as a Lecturer, he has chosen as his subject: "The Availability of Divine Power as Revealed by Christian Science."

CANADA'S health

PAYING THE PRICE

Crowded, crooked irregular permanent teeth are frequently the price that must be paid for the premature loss, through lack of care, of the baby teeth. Don't allow your child to become a dental cripple by succumbing to the myth that the foundation teeth are of little value to a child.

BETTER BE SAFE

Many industrial accidents occur during operations thought to be "safe." Especially with regard to accidents that affect the eyes, it is always best to take precautions even when the danger seems slight. Many workers have lost or damaged their sight performing apparently safe jobs without goggles.

UNDER THE LID

The lid should be kept tightly on the pot when cooking vegetables, nutritionists warn. When the lid is off, valuable vitamins and minerals escape and the cooking time is extended. When the lid is on, the food is not only more nourishing, its more tasteful too.

HAND IN HAND

Health and happiness go hand in hand with each other. Happiness is essential to good health, especially at mealtime. Disputes and unpleasantness at the table spoil digestion and ruin the effects of an otherwise nourishing meal. Happiness, on the other hand, gives an added zest to the meal. Leave unpleasantness behind when meal-time rolls around.

FINDING VITAMIN D

Vitamin D, a substance necessary for well-developed bodies, has three main sources—sunlight, food and fish liver oil. But there is not sufficient vitamin D in either sunlight or food to meet the needs of a growing child. Additional sources—oils, capsules and other concentrated forms—must be used throughout the growing years in addition to the regular diet.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

An extremely important and far reaching court decision has recently been given by Judge Ian McRae, of London, when he decided that thirty-four farmers in the counties of Perth, in full for hogs that they marketed Middlesex and Oxford should be paid through a drover in that district

This drover made a carload shipment of the hogs to a packing plant where they were slaughtered and graded according to Dominion Government Hog Grading Regulations, each hog carrying the required tattoo mark identifying the producer. The Packing Plant paid the drover for the carload of hogs with one cheque, which the drover deposited in his local bank and issued his own cheques for payment to the farmers. When these cheques were presented at the bank, payment was refused on the grounds of N.S.F. It seems the drover was in arrears at the bank and the proceeds of the carload of hogs was seized by the bank to reduce the drover's indebtedness. The Chairman of the Township Hog Producers advised the Central Office of the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board as to the situation, and Central Office immediately took action to recover the money for the farmers, claiming that the money was not the property of the drover and was only to pass through him (in trust) to the farmers. In the meantime, the drover made an assignment in bankruptcy and some time thereafter the bank turned the proceeds of the cheque over to the Trustee in Bankruptcy.

Before the Bankruptcy Court the farmers argued that since Dominion Government Regulations required that all hogs must be shipped, slaughtered, and graded in a packing plant before price and grade can be established, then the drover was simply acting as their agent and the money belonged to them. Other creditors argued the farmers had sold the hogs to the drover and therefore were not entitled to any special consideration as creditors. A trial was ordered to determine the point with the result that the trial Judge decided in favour of the farmers. It is the first time this point has been before the Courts and, since Hog Grading Regulations are Dominion wide, it is very important and far reaching.

CATTLE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Dundas local unit of the Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeder's Association was held on Friday evening, January 28th, at Winchester Springs, with a very representative number of breeders of the county in attendance.

Mr. Cephus Smyth, President of the organization, was chairman of the meeting and called it to order at 8 p.m. The President, in his opening remarks, complimented the breeders and members on taking such an active interest in artificial insemination and also extended his thanks and appreciation to the officers and directors for their support during his term of office.

Dr. R. G. Smiley, Manager of the Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeders' establishment, located at Kemptville, outlined in detail the progress that had been made during the past year. From his remarks it was indicated that the enterpris was successfully launched and is now on a firm basis.

Mr. Herb Graham, Agricultural Representative, spoke on cattle improvement and emphasized the necessity of maintaining and improving our foundation stock so that greater inducements would be provided for American buyers to continue purchasing our surplus dairy cattle.

Mr. Alex McQuigge, Secretary-treasurer of the organization and also Technician, gave a report on his year's activities and asked for the co-operation of all concerned to make the unit more efficient.

Mr. Herb Graham was requested by the retiring President to conduct the meeting for the election of officers which resulted as follows:

President, Cephus Smyth, Iroquois, re-elected; vice president, Allison Graham, Chesterville, re-elected; secretary-treasurer, Alex McQuigge, of Brinston, re-elected; Committee:—Howard Kittle, George Brooks and Hugh Smith, all of Chesterville; Douglas Johnston and Wm. McRoberts, of Winchester, and W. E. Graham, South Mountain.

Mr. Smyth, in re-occupying the presidency for 1949, thanked all those for their confidence placed in him and also welcomed two new members to the committee representing the Ayrshire Breed, whose members have now joined up in sufficient numbers to make it possible to maintain three Ayrshire Breed, whose members have now joined up in sufficient numbers to make it possible to maintain three Ayrshire bulls at the bull stud at Kemptville.

THE MIXING BOWL

Hello Homemakers! For wholesome winter meals at low cost, cereals are the homemaker's best buy. From porridge at breakfast time through the whole day to that snack at bedtime, cereals can play a stellar role.

Today we will focus attention on cornmeal, that favorite cereal of southern cooks. How can cornmeal help out with low cost winter meals? For breakfast, an appetizing dish of golden cornmeal porridge sprinkled with brown sugar or drizzled with honey or corn syrup will provide lots of energy for the day. For lunch or supper cornmeal souffle makes a satisfying main course dish. You can vary the flavour by adding different seasonings and a little grated cheese or finely chopped leftover ham or chicken. At dinnertime you can stretch a chicken or meat stew with cornmeal dumplings. And an excellent winter dessert is that ever popular johnny cake served hot with applesauce.

With this quick survey you can see the versatility of good old-fashioned cornmeal in everyday meals. The following recipes show how to make some of the dishes we have mentioned:

CORNMEAL PORRIDGE

4 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon of salt, 2-3 cup cornmeal.

Put water and salt in saucepan over direct heat. Bring to a rapid boil. Add cornmeal gradually, stirring constantly. Cook 5 minutes. Cover and cook over water or on electric element turned to simmer, 20 minutes. Yield 5 servings.

CORNMEAL SOUFFLE

1 cup yellow cornmeal, 1-4 cup of chopped onion, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. of sugar, 3 egg whites, beaten; 4 cups milk, 1-4 cup chopped celery, 1-8 tsp. pepper, 3 egg yolks, beaten; 1 tbsp. margarine.

Combine cornmeal, milk, onions, celery, salt, pepper and sugar. Cook for 20 minutes over low heat, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and gradually mix into egg yolks. Allow to cool slightly, then fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into greased casserole. Dot with margarine and bake in slow oven of 325 degrees for 1 hour or until set. Serves 6 or 8.

TAKE A TIP

1. If you prefer your cereal cooked a long time, do most of the cooking the night before, then reheat over boiling water in the morning.

2. A little more water may be added during cooking if a gruel is preferred.

3. Serve cornmeal muffins for jelly. For supper, they are ideal with breakfast with marmalade, jam or jelly. For supper, they are ideal with vegetable salad or a fruit cup.

4. The addition of a few chopped dates or minced peel makes a delectable difference to muffins.

5. Store muffins in a tightly covered tin accompanied by an orange to keep them moist.

6. Reheat muffins by sprinkling with water and placing them in a piece of aluminum foil. Then heat in a warm oven for 10 minutes.

7. Toast split muffins, spread with butter and serve with maple syrup over each half.

Chrysler-Method Remanufactured Engines are New and Different HERE'S WHY

They're precision built to Chrysler Factory Standards. Remanufacturing plants were designed and laid out by Chrysler factory engineers and employ factory-trained mechanics.

All parts which fail to meet Chrysler engineering specifications are replaced with NEW factory-engineered parts.

All engines have NEW crankshafts—there is no regrinding. Very different from the usual "re-built" engine.

Special Chrysler production-type gauges check tolerances of new and used parts as closely as one ten-thousandth of an inch.

All engines, when remanufactured, are dynamometer-tested to the same standards as those applied to NEW Chrysler-built engines.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Blackheads

Washing the face with warm water and pure castile soap every night before retiring will usually remove blackheads.

Shoes

It is possible to dye brown shoees black temporarily by just polishing them twice with a good grade of black shoe polish.

Soup

Soup should not be boiled, but allowed to simmer slowly. If it is heated too quickly much of the liquid will be lost in evaporation, as well as the flavor.

Stewed Fruit

If any stewed fruit begins to turn sour, sweeten it by adding a pinch of baking soda and boil the fruit over again for a few minutes.

Soap

Soap that has been stored for awhile will last longer than fresh soap. So buy a quantity in advance and remove the wrapping so that the air can get to it while being stored.

Drying Furs

Wet furs should be hung in a cool room and allowed to dry without brushing. Shake them out when dry and then brush with the hand to make the fur stand up.

Old Powder Puffs

An old powder puff attached to the wrist with a rubber band will make an ideal pin cushion while sewing. Old puffs can also be used as rubbing pads for cleaning white shoes.

Black Walnuts

Black walnuts will spoil quickly when freshly picked if you do not remove the outer husks and keep the nuts in the sun for a few days. Then keep them in a dry place indoors.

Quilt Frame

A quilt frame can be made, in an emergency, by using three clothes line props (cutting one of the props in halves for the two ends), drilling holes in the ends of all pieces and fastening together with bolts.

The Manicure

An acid for the manicure can be made by putting one teaspoon of lemon juice into a cup of warm water. Stains will be removed from fingers and nails, and it will loosen the cuticle.

Vacuum Cleaner

The dust can be kept down when emptying the bag of the vacuum cleaner by inserting the mouth of the bag in a large paper bag, squeezing the two together and then shaking the dirt into the paper bag.

Tempering Glassware

When glassware is new, place it in a pan of cold water. Put a padding of paper at the bottom of the pan. Place the pan on the stove and bring it to a boil. The glasses will then be able to stand more heat than usual.

Galvanized Iron

Before painting buckets, tubs, rainspouts, or anything made of galvanized iron, paint the entire surface with a coat of good vinegar and leave for about three days before applying the paint. Then the paint will not peel off.

Avoid Steaming

Steaming up the bathroom when you draw your bath can be avoided by running cold water first and then adding hot water until you get the desired temperature. After a shower, run the cold water for a few minutes to clear up the steam.

Chocolate Stains

The stain left by spilling chocolate or cocoa on the tablecloth can be removed if it is immediately washed with cold water. If left awhile, use a solution of cold water and borax and allow to stand for a few hours in this solution before laundering.

Sunday In The Churches

By Rev. N. J. Thomas, B. Th., Church Editor

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 6th, 1949.

"Love Begins At Home"

We can best learn to serve the world about us by serving in the lives of those nearest to us. Love and unselfishness, learned in our homes, will naturally overflow into a neighbourhood and the world.

A Christian home should be a centre of love. It can scarcely be called Christian and it is not a home unless love is the mainspring.

Five rules have been found helpful for putting love into the home:

1. Put others first, and self last.
2. Never do anything, or add anything, which will endanger family unity. Be a reconciler when disputes and quarrels threaten.
3. Believe in the family as sacred and therefore share in its works, its trials, and its joys.
4. Take each member, and the family as a whole, into your constant prayer and thanks.
