Two Meet Death in New Year's Eve Crash

Tragedy struck a Morrisburg family on New Year's eve, when 19-year-old Richard Coligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Coligan, was instantly killed in a head-on car crash on Highway 31, a short distance north of Winchester.

The young Morrisburg man, a barber at Westgate Shopping Cente in Ottawa, was tavelling south to spend the holiday at his parents' home, when his car was in collision with one proceeding north and operated by Thomas Grant McLean of Winchester, R.R. 1, who also died en route to an Ottawa Hospital.

Both cars were completely demolished in the crash, which occurred in a low foggy area, just north of Docksteader's Restaurant. Both men were alone in their cars at the time.

Born at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Brockville, Richard attended local schools and later attended barber college. He had recently obtained his barber's licence, following his graduation and for the past few months had been residing with friends in Ottawa.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Tom, of Morrisburg, and his grandmother, Mrs. H. S. West, of Saskatoon.

The remains rested at the Fairbairn Funeral Home, Morrisburg, till Monday, January 3rd, when requiem High Mass was celebrated by Father D. W. MacDonald at St. Mary's Church. Interment followed in St. Mary's cemetery.

Pall bearers were Stephen Merrill, Bill Barclay, and Dale Hess, with whom he resided in Ottawa, and Barton Castleman, George Locke and Wayne Salmon.

The esteem in which the popular young man was held in the community was shown by the many mass cards, flowers, and donations to the Heart Fund and the Cancer Society, which were received by his parents.

Mr. McLean was a farmer working his father's farm at Ormond, where he was born and had resided all his life. He is survived by his wife; three sons: Grant, Leonard and Allan; and four daughters: Lois, Marilyn, Nancy and Anne. He also leaves his father, James P. McLean.

Funeral service was held on Monday at Vice & Craig Funeral Home, Winchester. Burial was at Springhill cemetery, Vernon, Ont.

John D. Dain Dead at 90

John Davis Dain, 90-year-old native of Morrisburg died on Monday, January 3rd at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Leslie McCormick, following a long illness.

During his lifetime, Mr .Dain had become almost a legend in Morrisburg and throughout the district, and was well and favorably known by almost everyone resident of the area. He was somewhat of an authority also on local history, his keen mind recalling events that happened in his youth. Until his final illness, his only affliction was a loss of hearing, about which he liked to joke with his many friends. At the time of Morrisburg's Centennial party a few years ago, no one enjoyed themselves more than John Dain, and he was about daily during the week, greeting old friends, many of whom he had not seen since his boyhood.

Born at Morrisburg in September 1875, he was a successful farmer and feed merchant, and in his earlier days was a well-known foundryman. At his foundry, among many other products, he manufactured the cast-iron ends of the pews which are today in St. Mary's church.

He was a keen basbell player and at the age of 50 was still catching for the winning Morrisburg team. In later years, he maintained his interest in sports, and rarely missed a baseball or softball game while he was able to attend. In his younger days he was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

In 1900, he married the former Laura Saddlemire of this area, who predeceased him in 1950. He was a son of the late Alonzo Dain and his wife, Cornelia Marcellus.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME AT PRESCOTT

Concern over his whereabouts by two CPR maintenance men prompted officers of the Ontario Provincial Police, Prescott detachment to visit the small one-room home of Philip St. John on the eastern outskirts of Prescott late Wednesday afternoon. The missing man was found dead in his bed and Dr. C. F. McPherson County Coroner was notified. He attributed the man's death to natural causes and dated the demise back at least four days.

Police have been unable to establish when he was last seen.

Announce Plans For Minor Hockey

The Recreation Committee is pleased to arrange a hockey schedule for all boys in Minor Hockey, excluding Juveniles. With the coaches of the minor teams a "Town Leage" schedule is herewith presented. It is hoped that all the boys and coaches will keep this as a copy of games and time of play. It has been arranged with the rink manager that the District-County League games will have preference over the Saturday Town League games, which can be played as arranged.

This effort requires a great deal of time and energy for the coaches and we would ask the full support o fall who may be asked to assist in this work. Coaches have offered their services and are doing a genuine service. Each coach has the names of all players in his section.

Plans are under way for a Minor Hockey Night in Morrisburg.

Local Players With Williamsburg Team

The St. Lawrence Intermediate Hockey League opened its schedule last week, and includes teams from Spencerville, Cornwall, Williamsburg, Glen Walter and Cardinal.

The Williamsburg team has among its ranks several names familiar to Morrisburg residents and Combines fans. "Snookie" Ray Baker handles the net duties. Bill Jarvis, Russ Casselman and Teddy Holmes, former members of the Combines, Bill Dillabough, manager of that team, Brian VanAllen, Doug Thompson, Mitch Cassell and John DeGray all play for Williamsburg, as there is no intermediate team in Morrisburg this year.

Another local stalwart, Arnie Payment, plays in the nets for the Cardinal team.

In their first game last Tuesday, December 28th, the Williamsburg team defeated Spencerville 6-3, in the Morrisburg Community Centre. This week, again in Morrisburg, they met with Cardinal and whipped them 8-2.

At the end of the first period, Cardinal led Williamsburg 2-1 on goals from Ted Hoy and Lawence Markley, with Earl Brown sinking the only counter for Williamsburg. By the end of the second, the game was tied 2-2, with Russ Casselman putting the only goal of the period past Arnie Payment.

The third period belonged to Williamsburg; they put six more past goalie Payment, and kept the Cardinal marksmen off the score sheet.. Leading the scorers was Earl Brown from Williamsburg with three goals and 1 assist, followed by Brian Van Allen with two goals; singles went to Bill Casselman, Russ Casselman and Teddy Holmes.

Next Tuesday, January 11, Cornwall travels to Morrisburg to try to disprove that the intemediate team can keep as clean a record as the Sr. Combines.

AREA NATIVE DIED IN TORONTO

Final tribute was paid to John Allan Fetterly, Thursday afternoon at funeral services in the Matyr Chapel, North Bay.

Rev. C. W. Cope officiated and interment took place at Terrace Lawn cemetery. Mr. Fetterly, a resident of North Bay until seven years ago, when he moved to Huntsville, died in hospital at Toronto Monday. He was 77 and had been in failing health for some time.

Pall bearers were Gordon Cuthbertson, Mel Cox, Reg. Gardiner, Gerald Lynett, Arnold Lynette and Russell Ratz.

Mr. Fetterly was born in 1888, near Morrisburg, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Austin Fetterly. He was married at Trout Creek to the former Matilda McFadden July 29, 1914.

An employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway for many years, Mr. Fetterly retired as a conductor in 1949. He was a member of the Orange Lodge.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Jim, North Bay; four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Geraldine Walker, Toronto; and several nephews and nieces.

PANSIES IN BLOOM

June in January? — Well signs certainly point to a mild winter. On Tuesday, January 4th, Mrs. George Rutherford, a Morrisburg flower lover who has won several awards at horticultural shows, was astonished to find several pansies in bloom in her flower garden at her home on St. Lawrence Street.

Now the 26 pupils enrolled have moved down the road to the new community school, which was opened "for business" this week.

Beginning with the new term, the pupils flocked to its brand new halls, and more small one-room "school-houses" were closed. COMBINES TRIM MAROONS 6-3

On Sunday, the Morrisburg Combines handed a 6-3 pasting to the only team in the league who have ever shown them the taste of defeat. The Ottawa Carleton Maroons needed a win to close the 5-point gap between themselves and the league-leading Combines. However it would seem that the Combines are not about to make the same mistake twice, and they had their full line up for Sunday's win which increased their point-total to 26 and gave them their thirteenth win in 14 starts.

Last year's scoring champ, Rowdy Gilliard opened the scoing at 3.54 on passes from Jim Forrest, the current scoring leader, and defence man Pat Brophy. Former Brockville Braves star, John Cahill made it 2-0 less than half a minute later, and Jim Forrest on a pass from Arnie Lawlor made it 3-0 by the end of the frame.

Ottawa picked up during the second period, and kept the Combines away from their net, while managing to put two counters past Gerry Fleury. Talbot and McQuaid were the marksmen for the Maroons.

Red Lawlor scored what proved to be the winning goal early in the third period on a pass from Dan Dexter. Mel Tomalty added one a few minutes later and then Big Doug Casselman took his turn with Tomalty and Brown assisting. Ottawa answered back briefly with a goal by McQuaid, assisted by Baker which proved to be the final goal of the game.

J. Madore of the Maroons suffered a broken ankle when he stopped one of Weiner Brown's famous slap shots from the point.

Thirteen penalties were handed out during the game, including a misconduct to G. McQuaid of the Maroons. Morrisburg's coaching duties were taken over by manager Bill Dillabough, during Ralph Hurley's absence. Hurley, who is expected back this week, was said to be in Florida investigating the possibility of coaching the Jacksonville entry in the Eastern League.

Combines play host to Hull Friday night and on Sunday travel to Maxville to face the last-place Highlanders.

The fast pace being set by the local squad is rapidly leaving the other teams far behind in the Ottawa St. Lawrence League, and the question being pondered by local hockey buffs is just how far can the Combines go, once they graduate to faster company. And it is a rank heresy to suggest that they won't do just that. They were successful against the highly-rated Kingston O.H.A. club, and many of their fans are confident they will give a good account of themselves in any amateur company in Canada.

GLENGARRY TREE FARM MOVEMENT CONTINUES TO GROW

By L. J. Forcier, R.P.F., Zone Forester

Five Glengarry County farm wood lot owners were recently presented with Tree Farm Certificates and Signs, at the annual meeting of the Glengarry Soil and Crop Improvement Association in Alexandria.

These woodlot owners met all of the requirements of the local Tree Farm Committee during the annual fall inspections. In total, eleven inspections were carried out this year. The more important requirements are ,as follows:

(1) The woodlot or plantation must be protected from livestock.

(2) The woodlot be under active management.

(3) The owner agrees to manage his woodlot for continuous forest crops.

The Glengarry Tree Farm Committee, which is sponsored locally by the Soil and Crop Improvement Association, and provincially by the Ontario Forestry Association now boasts that it has 51 certified Tree Farmers in the County — certainly an enviable record. Much of the credit of this achievement goes to the untiring efforts of committee Chairman W. D. MacLeod who has to date inspected each of the 51 Certified Tree Farms!

The Glengarry Tree Farmers are aware of the important contribution of their farm woodlots to the economy of Eastern Ontario, and this Department is certain that their good example will encourage the Tree Farm Movement to expand similarly in other counties of the province.

By MARY SUE MILLER

GIRLS, THE MALE VIEWPOINT. Do you know, Miss Teen, that boys rate a pleasant personality as the first requisite wanted in a date? Polled across the country, thousands of high school boys gave top place to a pleasant personality.

And the boys have some very clear-cut ideas about what they consider a pleasant personality to be. At the head of the list is attractiveness, as expressed in terms of neat, natural good looks. Great beauty is never a necessary asset. A flashy turn-out is a handicap.

Next come good manners — politeness and thoughtfulness. The male set also has a high regard for the female with intelligence and good sense. She's about perfect when, in addition to those other qualities, she is fun to be with. And that she is sure to be, if she has a sense of humor and the ability to toss an interesting topic.

Obviously, from the male viewpoint, a pleasing personality is made up of more qualities than mere prettiness. In fact there's many a rather plain girl who's so nice that everyone thinks she's pretty.

Winning characteristics, from a pleasing appearance to a pleasing approach, are a matter of cultivation. No one is born with them. Did you ever hear of a baby born neat or polite? Personality assets are developed step by step, day by day. And practice makes perfect!

ALOUETTE II
—space research

Alouette II, the focus of the design used on this stamp, is Canada's newest satellite. It was launched recently from a site in California, and was designed to augment and extend the work of the first Canadian satellite, Alouette I, which was launched on September 29th, 1962 and is still operating. Alouette II has been substantially modified to provide added reliability and for adaptation to a new orbit. While Alouette I followed a circular orbit, the path of Alouette II is elliptical, and is substantially higher at certain points than its predecessor.

The Canadian satellites have four primary purposes; to measure the hour-to-hour electron densities of the ionosphere directly below the satellites, to determine the electron densities at the height of the satellites, to listen to the very-low-frequency noise in the frequency range of 1 to 10 kc/s and to measure primary cosimc ray particles outside the earth's atmosphere, including electrons, protons and alpha particles. An additional experiment has been designed by the United States National Aeronautical and Space Administration for Alouette II. It involves an electron probe to determine the temperature of electrons in the vicinity of the orbiting satellite. Alouette II's two antennas have been developed to do these particular jobs. One measures 240 feet from tip to tip, the other 75 feet.

Princess Margaret and her husband Lord Snowdon try to shut out outside sounds with their fingers as they listen intently to the proceedings of the United Nations General Assembly in New York City yesterday.

DECORATING IDEAS

If you want an unusual front door decoration for the holidays, design your own. Children's toys, a small horse, a freshly painted drum and plastic toys tied with greenery and a red bow give a welcome for all children.

You can also make a huge bouquet of candy canes from decorated mailing tubes. Add a few Christmas greens, a perky bow or other decorations for a cheery greeting at the door.

To make your own little Christmas tree, form a yard of half-inch mesh chicken wire into a cone.

Use a dowel to support the cone. Place a paper disk close to the base of the chicken wire to keep the dowel centered. Mount in a flower pot of plaster of Paris. Stuff the mesh with tissue or paper napkins. Complete with bells, balls or other decoration.

A styrofoam cone makes a good base for a little tree. Mount cone on a short dowel and place in a flower pot filled with wet plaster of Paris. Use shearings from an evergreen to cover the cone. Then decorate with tiny lights and small ornaments.

Gord Howe presented with painting

Saskatchewan paid tribute to the National Hockey League's all-time scorer and a former Saskatchewanian with a special presentation in-between periods recently at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Will Klein, Executive Director of the Saskatchewan Jubilee and Centennial Corporation, peresented 37-year-old Gord Howe with a painting of himself. Howe, who is playing in his 20th season in the NHL, was born at Floral, Saskatchewan, 7 miles south of Saskatoon. The presentation was made as part of the province's Diamond Jubilee celebrations during which a great emphasis was placel on sports activities.

The painting was done by Tex Coulter, well-known artist from Montreal who specilizes in paintings of athletes.

Dangerous delusion

The dangerous delusion that "TB has been beaten," must be dispelled or the hard work and accomplishments of the past few generations will all have been for naught. Why? Because the tubercle bacillus is a very hardy and tough customer, and a large proportion of our people is extremely vulnerable to attack.

Let me explain. At the turn of the century, apart from the native Eskimos the Indians concerning whom we had no statistics, the tuberculosis death rate in Canada was 200 per 100,000 population. TB was ranked as the "Captain of the Men of Death." At that period dangerous delusions of another kind were prevalent. "TB is hereditary" — "TB is inevitable"— "There is no cure for TB".

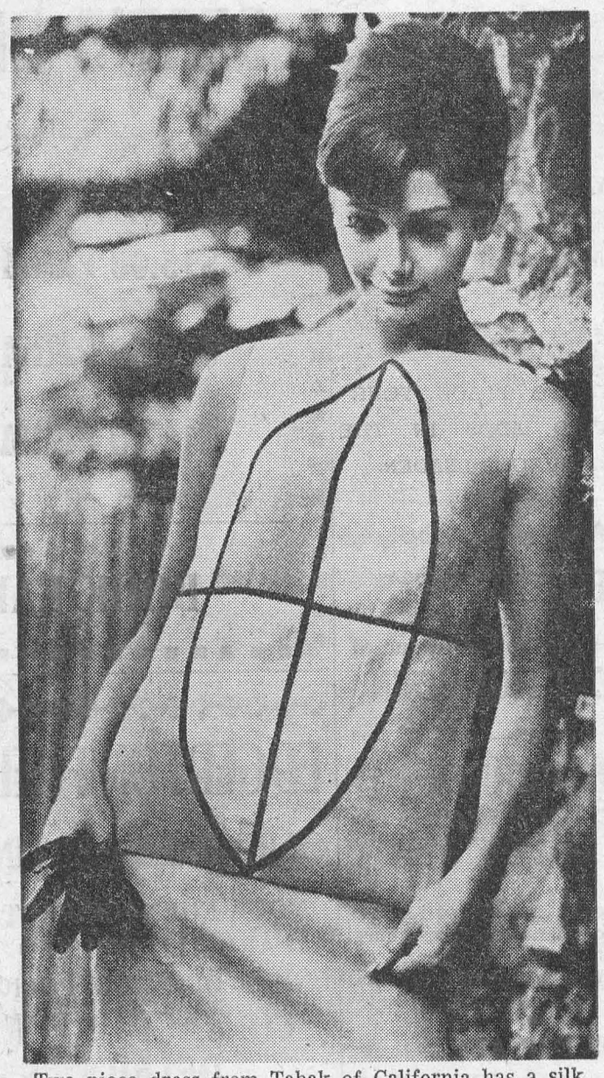
But this picture changed when the people rose up to fight this needless and preventable disease. The delusion that "TB is hereditary" was dispelled, the fallacy disproved that "TB is inevitable." The convition was formed that the disease can be prevented, and the fact widely accepted that when TB is contracted it can be cured if discovered early and treated efficiently. As a result, the death rate showed a marked drop. The case rate, particularly among children and young adults has shown a dramatic reduction largely because these groups escaped infection with TB. For example, forty years ago 44% of children age 6 entering school were infected with the tubercle bacillus. In 1965 less than a half of 1% were infected at age 6. Out of 69,404 tuberculin tests given to children age 0 to 19 years in 1965, only 1.32% or 920 children showed a positive reaction indicating TB infection.

With the development of TB drug treatment in the past 10-15 years, it has been possible to reduce the length of stay in sanatorium. Now the average period is 8 months and the patient continues to take drugs at home for a further 16 months. Reduced length of treatment in sanatorium has made possible the closing of the Prince Albert Sanatorium and diversion of part of the sanatorium facilities at Saskatoon to geriatric care, thus leading many to believe that "TB has been beaten."

This present day delusion is dangerous, for TB is an ever present danger. Even though great strides have been made, the people must be alerted to the fact that the enemy is resourceful and still deeply entrenched. We have a considerable reservoir of tuberculosis in this province; almost 17,000 persons have had TB, mostly in the older age groups; another 200,000 have been infected with the TB germ. We also have a large vulnerable group who have not been infected with TB, particularly the younger age groups who provide fertile soil for TB epidemics when exposed to an undetected infectious case of TB.

The dangerous delusion that "TB has ben beaten" must be dispelled, for further advances will be difficult and will require resources, hard work and courage. Such a sustained effort will require confidence, steadiness, research, a thoroughly informed public and a united effort.

The 38th annual Christmas Seal Campaign now at its mid-point is your opportunity to provide the voluntary funds required for the sustained effort against TB.



Two piece dress from Tabak of California has a silk skirt topped by a tunic with a "bulls eye" pattern.

Fight TB with Christmas Seals

Revealing comparison

THE GOOD TIMES which most Canadians have been enjoying since the "Soaring Sixties" really got under way continue to have their reflection in the rising proportion of homes equipped with electrical and other modern conveniences.

Latest report on the subject issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is for 1965 and the comparison with that of five years ago is both interesting and revealing. (All figures have been rounded to the nearest percentage point.)

Just under 70 per cent of all households are now heated by oil or gas furnaces compared with 53 per cent in 1960, while the proportion with electric cooking equipment has climbed from 56 to 69 per cent.

There is now at least one telephone in 89 per cent of Canadian households, up from 83 per cent five years ago. Semi-automatic washing machines (mostly wringer-type) were to be found in 74 per cent of households in 1960: the proportion has since fallen to 63 per cent. In the same period, those with fully automatic washing machines have nearly doubled, going from 12 to 23 per cent.

Some 96 per cent of households now have an electric refrigerator, an increase of six per cent over 1960. Home freezers are now to be found in 23 per cent, compared with 11 per cent five years earlier.

In 1960, too, 67 per cent of households had a vacuum cleaner and just 12 per cent had a clothes dryer. The figures today are 75 per cent and 23 per cent respectively. Sewing machines (more than half of them now electric) are to be found in 71 per cent of Canadian households (69 per cent in 1960).

Some 93 per cent of households now have a television set, a rise of 13 per cent over 1960 and a scant three per cent short of the proportion of households equipped with at least one radio — 96 per cent. Although this figure, presumably an optimum one, is unchanged from 1960, there has been a spectacular jump in the popularity of FM radios. These are now to be found in 23 per cent of homes compared with a mere seven per cent five years ago. Phonographs and record players, too, have made big gains, going from 47 per cent to 59 per cent.

Last, but hardly of least importance, is the automobile. In 1960, 59 per cent of households had one, while another seven per cent had two. Today, 63 per cent of households are equipped with one car, while another 12 per cent have two or more.

Granted that material possessions are by no means always an unmixed blessing, much less a sure passport to happiness, most of us would nonetheless much rather have these various aids to modern living in our homes than not.

And in this respect, as in so many others, the really big difference between ourselves and the rest of the world is that —as the percentages show—we can and do get them.

Imagination plus

People who are looking forward to the day when the wonders of Expo 67 will go on display should plan on buying their tickets in advance: it will save them money.

In fact, individuals who purchase their tickets during the first six months of next year to see the shimmering Montreal show window of Canada and her world neighbours will benefit from a generous discount on all types of tickets, whether they be the single, the seven-day or the season variety. Companies, too, can take advantage of the bargains offered by Expo by purchasing blocks of tickets for resale to their employees well before the April, 1967, opening date.

Right now, EXPO is establishing sales agencies across the country with a target date of January 12, 1966, for the tickets to become available to the public. In turn, these agencies are proposing to enlist the help of employers, women's organizations, youth groups, stores, gas stations and travel agencies, to spread Expo tickets across the land.

With their record of imaginative ideas, it was to be expected that even in the mundane task of selling tickets Expo planners would come up with a novel twist. Not only are they offering a reduced price for advanced purchases but they are not even calling tickets by that name. They are caling them "passports." What's more, like the real thing, the season ticket will be in the form of a real passport and will contain a photograph of the holder!

Like everything else on Expo's drawing boards, even the plebeian ticket is assuming the trappings of magnificence. And rightly so, because the 1967 exhibition on St. Helen's Island is rapidly coming on as the reflection of a hundred years of progress and achievement. Who would want an ordinary pasteboard to get into the show of the century?

What is leisure time for many is fast becoming work time for many others. The need for recreation, which springs from the increase in leisure time enjoyed by more and more people, is expected to create some 750,000 new jobs in the United States by 1980. An increase in similar new jobs in Canada can be expected on a proportionate basis.

Many of the jobs stem from new projects, such as camping and picknicking areas, national and state forests and parks, golf links and summer cottages. Jobs in travel and sport are also expected to climb, along with openings in new museums, music and art centres. Canada has a veritable wonderland of lakes and forests in the North that has barely been explored. It will become increasingly valuable as the demand for recreational facilities grows. — St. Thomas Times-Journal. Gazette.

HOW DID JANUARY GET ITS NAME??

January was named after Janus, an ancient deity regarded by the Romans as presiding over doors and gates . . beginnings and endings . . commonly represented by two faces looking in opposite directions.

January is a time for reviewing the past and planning for the future.

January is a good time too for reviewing your insurance protection and making sure you are carrying enough.
