A perfectionist takes infinite pains and gives them to everyone around him.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

"Every dog has his day" someone once said. Chesterville dogs had better look out as a result. The village policeman is searching out the byways, hedgerows, and thickets of hydrants for wandering canines these warm May mornings. Any found wandering will feel his wrath and the owner will get the same treatment. Clerk Lorne Marcellus has been sitting on a bundle of dog tags for a couple of months but it would appear the town has suddenly lost its dogs or most owners are careless. Only 40 tags sold out of over 100 and pups are still chasing cats, free as the air.

Last week was one of those weeks. The Baldry Block fire caught everyone off base and time ran out too fast for comfort. The fire picture was a necessity and thanks to the co-operation of Smiths Falls Record-News editor "Gus" Dobbie, who does our engravings, we got that in time to print. Then the press got cranky and, like a small child, shucked its blanket. That may not sound much, but to a printer it is proper trouble. When the "Record" was finally folded the staff faced cold beans for a late snack.

Killoran Valley has lost its high elms to the march of progress, just one jump ahead of Dutch elm disease, probably. Still there is a feeling around town that it is just as well the trees were removed; if they hadn't been some of our young knights in roaring power would have slowly eroded off the bark with fender scrubs and girdled the trees. We have a sneaking feeling Mrs Allen's veranda will serve as an alternative target for the tin-buster brigade.

Speaking of trees, don't snarl too loudly at the Highways Department in the matter of trees. A small afterthought has saved the big ones on Main North from the hungry buzz saws. They are slated to be cased at the bottom and left to spread their welcome shade as long as they live.

Some of the fishermen of this village will never learn. We could have told them what to expect when they leave the placid brown waters of the mighty Nation and search the northern white water. According to the man who guards the finances of the town, it started to snow when they arrived, it snowed most of the time, the fishermen finally got so cold they were paralyzed. Naturally they immediately headed home to the weekend weather here. We had snow too.

Four tired businessmen we know took off one year. With two canoes yet. Fish were to be so thick it wouldn't be necessary to do anything but pick out the big ones and use the little ones for bait. They didn't bother with soap or such civilized amenities; just hearty Boy Scouts using sand to scrub. The weather was lovely as far as Algonquin Park; then it started to snow and freeze.

Did you ever try to wash in tinkling ice water, with a lump of frozen sand for soap? And have a gleaming ten-inch trout flip away from the edge as you misjudge the snow curb and slip into the creek? And not even get one nibble in three days of suffering? We could have mentioned some of the fishing facts of life, but who would listen. Especially Harry who feels he knows trout language from "A" to "gurgle."

Happy Adventure is an old fishing and lumbering settlement on Bonavista Bay on the east coast of Newfoundland.

A frying-pan hat was worn by a woman in a "spot what I've got in my hat" contest in the English town of Hampton-in-Arden. It held bacon and eggs, ready to eat.

Water Resources Chairman here--

Water System Nearer for Town

Chesterville council was assured its application, if made, to start a municipal water system would receive immediate attention by the Ontario Municipal Board and Ontario Water Resources Commission. The assurance came from Mayor Robert Simpson, of Arnprior, and chairman of the Water Resources Commission. He felt Chesterville stood a very good chance of furthering her plans to have pure water on tap within a year.

Village council heard reports from engineers J. L. Richards and A. E. Fee of the Ottawa firm of J. L. Richards and Associates Ltd. They sat in on the meeting with the Water Resources representative.

One of the first items discussed was the increase in estimated costs for the village project. The original preliminary survey indicated a cost of about $234,000. By 1959 that figure has risen to $282,000. It was pointed out that since the original report appeared, the pattern of financing by the Commission has changed. Rather than supply long term money for only the source of water and primary mains, now the Commission will lend low interest money for the whole project if it is approved by the Municipal Board. There will not be a charge against the debenture debt of the village in that event. The commissioner did point out that the Board will make a survey of the estimated debenture expenditures that are planned in the municipality.

Considerable discussion centred around the feasibility of finding sufficient well water for the village. Mr Simpson was confident the Commission experts would be able to find the necessary 120-160 g.p.m. that would be needed. Estimates call for $12,500 for test drilling and well construction.

The knotty problem of paying for the system took a lot of time and explanation. Other systems were examined and their payment plans outlined. One of the main features of nearly all was the provision that if some home owners or industry did not use the municipal water system they did not pay for it. That was qualified by the point that fire protection needs fire hydrants and there would be a hydrant tax against all property owners, regardless of water use. The fire rate varies considerably but runs from four to six mills. Water users could be charged a flat rate per year which would be set to pay for the system in it, council was told, and some of the pros and cons were looked into. The engineers were of the opinion that it was not usual to place both sewer and water lines in the same trench unless special circumstances such as rock cuts warranted it.

The Commission chairman gave council necessary by-law forms to present to the village solicitor for examination. He also pointed out a water system installation under the Commission does not need a ratepayer referendum but only a council decision on the necessary by-laws to get the work approved.

Some figures on yearly rates closed the meeting. Mr Simpson used the rate of $25-$30 per year as a fair average for households with about twice that amount for business establishments.

All councillors and the clerk were present at the special meeting with reeve Carl Merkley officiating.

Landmark burns

The last real Grantley hamlet building except the United Church burned Monday night about midnight. It was the old building that stood on the north-west corner of the intersection of the Boundary Road and Grantley road.

There was no apparent reason for the fire as the building had been long in disuse. It had started out as a cheese factory, then was used as a store. The corner of land is owned by Glenn McMillan.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs Warren Feeley wishes to thank all her friends for kind remembrances and calls received on her 90th birthday.

The above photograph may prove to be a turning point in Chesterville's march with the times. It shows Water Resources chairman Robert Simpson with reeve Carl Merkley and council members just as they finished a very fruitful discussion regarding the chances for the village to get a water system installed. Council members were optimistic after the long meeting with Mr Simpson. Also present were engineers of an engineering firm of Ottawa, who did the preliminary survey in 1956. From left to right are Lorne Marcellus, village clerk, Mr Simpson, councillor J. A. Butcher, councillor Geo. Laflamme, reeve Carl Merkley and councillor Harold Sharkey. The photographer was councillor H. K. Graham.—Record Photo.

50th Anniversary at Trinity

Trinity United Church last Sunday and this coming Sunday is marking its 50th year of worship in the present church. May 21, 1909, was the original date of the opening of the large, cement block structure on the corner of Water and Casselman Streets, faced by a green lawn commons.

Numerous guest preachers include Rev R. C. Tait, here from 1934 to 1943, Rev R. E. Newman, 1927-1934, and Rev P. Lewis, president of the Montreal-Ottawa Conference, from Cornwall.

Large crowds have been present at the services so far and at the aniversary supper held last Monday evening. The Bel Canto choir was in atendance Sunday night and was much appreciated.

R. E. Newman will preach at both services next Sunday.

Gifts and memorials from members of the congregation were dedicated last Sunday morning. They included a new carpet for the church auditorium and vestry presented by the Woman's Association and A. H. Fulton; communion table and communion set, presented by Mrs H. E. Durant and Mr and Mrs Douglas Durant in memory of Mr H. E. Durant; communion linen set, presented by the session; pulpit Bible presented by Mr and Mrs Haldane Durant and family and Mr and Mrs Graham Durant and family in memory of Mr and Mrs Melvin Durant and Mr and Mrs W. A. Durant; table and guest books, presented by the C.G.I.T.; runner for the communion table presented by the Hon. F. M. and Mrs Cass.

Mrs Florence Lacey, 89

The death occurred on Friday morning of Mrs George C. Lacey at her home in Chesterville on Queen Street. She passed away peacefully in her sleep after a long period of restricted activity. She had observed her 89th birthday on March 27 of this year.

Mrs Lacey was the former Florence Casselman, born in Chesterville a daughter of the late James Conrad Casselman and his wife, Charlotte Reid. She received her primary education in Chesterville and high school at Morrisburg.

Florence Casselman and George Lacey were married in Chesterville in 1904 and the happy couple then lived in Hillsburg, Ont., for a number of years. There twin daughters were born, Helen and Maude, both of whom survive. In 1912 the Laceys moved to Winchester where they purchased the Winchester Press. In 1915 they purchased the Chesterville Record from T. T. Shaw and then moved back to this town.

Mrs Lacey suffered the loss of her husband in January, 1956. Prior to that her own health had deteriorated somewhat and she had to restrict her activities to her home. But in spite of her age and uncertain health, she remained alert and interested in day to day affairs.

Mrs Lacey is survived by her two daughters, Mrs Keith Graham (Helen) and Mrs R. L. Jones (Maude), Williamstown, W. Va. There are three granddaughters. One sister also is living, Mrs Fred Sanders (Maude), of South Pasadena, Calif.

Mrs Lacey was always active in local church affairs and village organizations. She was a long-time member of Chesterville W.I., the old Library Board, the Horticultural Society, W.M.S. and W.A. of Trinity United Church.

Funeral services were held at the home on Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. when Rev E. B. Bugden conducted the service. Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery. Pall bearers were Eric Casselman, John Sutherland, Jack Fulton, Richard Casselman, Byron Campbell and Blake Feeley.

Holy Trinity Anglican Church celebrates anniversary
Ven. Archdeacon H. A. E. Clarke conducts service

On Trinity Sunday, May 24, the congregation of Holy Trinity Anglican Church celebrated their 80th anniversary. The service of Holy Communion was celebrated by the Venerable Archdeacon H. A. E. Clarke. Robert Miltimore acted as server.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of lilac, narcissi and tulips, and filled with well over a hundred church members. A full choir assisted in the service, with Mrs Hosea Droppo at the organ.

During the Offertory, Alfred Taylor, of North Gower, gave a beautiful rendering of the 24th Psalm. The Offertory was taken up by L. Thompson and J. Pringle, Sidesmen. Wardens on duty were H. O'Brien, Rector's Warden, and E. E. Cole, People's Warden.

After the service a delicious luncheon was served in the church hall by members of the Ladies' Guild and the Anglican Men's Club.

Speeches of thanks and appreciation were tendered on behalf of the congregation to Archdeacon Clarke and to Mr Taylor by H. O'Brien and to the Ladies' Guild by J. Pringle, chairman of the Men's Club.

Archdeacon Clarke replied, and said that it had been a great pleasure to be present on this happy occasion and to have been asked to take the services during the illness of the rector. He especially commended the members of the Ladies' Guild and the Men's Club for the splendid work that they were doing, and said what a pleasure

ROAD WORK PROGRESSES

Construction work is continuing on Chesterville's Main Street and Queen Street West. They will bury a retaining wall along the west side of the sidewalk made of field stone and cement.

Retaining walls are also planned along Main North and there will be additional strengthening done along the abutment west of the bridge. We understand that every effort has been made to spare the large maples and elm along Main. If at all possible, they will not be removed but will be incorporated into the new sidewalk levels.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Mrs George C. Lacey

This newspaper feels keenly the loss of Mrs George C. Lacey. Her long association with the business as wife of the late publisher and as mother of one of the present owners extends back 44 years. In 1915 her husband brought the former Florence Casselman back to her home town where the twin daughters were reared and educated, always surrounded by the family business of newspaper publishing.

Mrs Lacey never lost interest in the affairs of the village. Even though she had celebrated her 89th birthday last March, she was keen and quick in her approvals and decisions. The long stay indoors was her most difficult lot and ill-health took its toll of her activities from 1950 on.

Another strong link with the past has snapped but only because much of the strength has been passed on to the newer generations. Our best remembrance to the older generation will be our behaviour in this present time. For this we are grateful and our personal sadness is tinged with respect and thankfulness that we have been able to enjoy for so long the pleasurable acquaintance of a fine person.

Water on tap for Chesterville

Chesterville council was heartened last week by the appearance of Mayor Bob Simpson of Arnprior who is a member of the Ontario Water Resources Commission. By the time he had finished his examination of Chesterville's needs, he was very hopeful of the town's chances for a water system.

One of the basic points raised was that of paying for the system. And here the Commission member noted several changes in the precedure that would improve the picture for Chesterville. The Commission now underwrites the total cost of the project for a town our size and accepts repayment over a term of years, as much as 35, at provincial interest, at the moment 5¼%. The original schedule had the town underwriting everything but the supply of water and the main water mains. The 1956 cost of that was to be $134,000, to be raised by debentures at open market interest rates. The Commission was to carry the rest, about $90,000, at their low rates and long term. Now the cost has risen $58,000 to a total of $282,000, but the Commission is prepared to carry the whole debt for long term at low interest.

Council has yet to make up its mind on the matter although there is little doubt a decision will be reached in a very short time. But the nagging problem remains whether it would not be wise to work in a sewage system first, rather than water. There are many good arguments to be stated in favour of each; hard discussion will be had before a decision is reached. One of the greatest benefits of a sewage system would be to clean up the heavy river pollution in the village pool and some village wells. It was pointed out by Mayor Simpson that in most cases villages are serviced first with pure water, and sewage disposal follows in a natural course. Very often too, light industry when moving into the country, is more interested in a supply of pure water on tap and a full-scale fire hydrant system.

A municipal water system pays for itself by water bills, just as does hydro or any other public utility. Depending on the plan decided on, home owners or industries who do not use the water do not help pay the cost; they do have to pay their share of a hydrant tax rate to carry the fire protection service of the town. At least that is the program planned for towns of equal size to Chesterville who are installing or have installed a system. There are many variations in the method of paying for a water and/or sewage system by a municipality; usually the special circumstances of the town involved dictate the type of payment program.

Chesterville is closer now than ever before to advancing into the ranks of a first-class utility town. It is hoped council's decisions will be weighed with careful deliberation for all concerned. It will be a far-reaching decision.

Letter to the Editor

Chesterville, Ont.,
May 20, 1959

The Editor,
Chesterville Record.
Dear Sir:

The members of St. Mary's P.T.A. wish to express their appreciation to the Record for the printing of monthly meetings and social events during the past year.

Margaret Maxwell,
Secretary.

HE GOT OUT

Stuart H. Loory stopped off to make a call from a service station telephone booth in Parsippany, N.J.

After the call, he found the door wedged. So he called the operator.

The operator decided to call the owner of the service station to see whether he could free Loory. The number she rang was —you guessed it—the one Loory was trying to get away from.

Loory used his last dime to call police, but by the time they arrived a passing motorist had freed him.

Your Member Reports . . .

—By Mrs Jean Casselman
M.P. for Grenville-Dundas

A technical, detailed debate followed Trade Minister Churchill's resolution introducing a bill to establish a national energy board.

This board is to have power to regulate tolls, but no profits of oil and gas pipelines. It will eventually oversee oil, gas, hydro electric and coal industries and have most of the power now held by the Board of Transport Commissioners under the Pipe Lines Act.

It will be an important board, and so was an important announcement on which Mr Churchill spoke at length in a 4,000-word outline of the proposed legislation.

The Borden Report, based on public hearings across the country last year, had recommended the creation of the energy board.

This legislation will affect many people and our whole economy. It is right and proper that it should be carefully examined and discussed from every angle.

The Prime Minister's announcement regarding small cars was an interesting one. He stated that the government felt it an economic necessity to manufacture small cars in Canada. He had had a meeting with top executives of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, and had expressed the opinion to them that Canada should not be left out of the small car market. Any further announcements will have to come from the manufacturers.

This attitude was warmly received by all those who have become enthusiastic over small cars. The pros and cons of small cars and large cars have been discussed now for some time. It's a sure conversational success.

Even those who like the comfort of large cars have been feeling somewhat embarrassed by the constantly increasing showy trim and flashy exteriors. This in no way adds to a car's service features. The fact is that most of us use our cars at work and for the practical jobs of life. Most of the time we would prefer them to be plain and useful. This is precisely what the small cars are and I have not met a person dissatisfied with the small car's contribution to economy, easy parking, etc.

For some time people felt that our distances were too great and that a small car would not be comfortable. This has proven to be offset by the ever improving condition of our highways. For safety a certain speed limit must be observed so it seems rather useless to buy twice as much power as will ever be needed.

Of course large cars are attractive, essential for more than four people and will always have appeal.

What we would like to see is the need and reasonable demand for small cars filled by Canadian manufacturers. This market has been swamped by European imports long enough.

Plans for an anniversary turkey supper to be held on June 23 in the church dining hall were discussed.

An invitation was accepted from Avonmore W.A. to attend a tea and flower demonstration on May 20. It was also decided to pay the shipping charges on the W.M.S. overseas bale.

Anglican Guild plans picnic

The monthly meeting of the Anglican Ladies' Guild was held in the church hall on Wednesday evening. The president, Mrs Edna Droppo, opened the meeting with the Guild Prayer.

The secretary, Mrs S. Morris, read the minutes of the last meeting. This was followed by the report of the treasurer, Mrs H. Bawden.

Plans were made for the rummage sale which is to be held in the hall on May 22. The money apron was opened and found to contain gifts totalling $21.15 for the hall kitchen.

Members tendered messages of congratulation to two ladies of the congregation who have just counted a remarkable score in birthdays, Mrs T. J. McGee, the oldest member, and Mrs J. Fyke, runner-up. It is hoped that they may enjoy many, many more.

It was decided that, weather permitting, the next meeting, on June 10, should take the form of a picnic pot-luck supper at 6.30 p.m. on the church lawn. Members were reminded that next Sunday, May 24, being Trinity Sunday, would also mark the 80th anniversary of the opening of the Anglican Church in Chesterville.

SAY IT WITH PIE

An unidentified woman entered WGAN TV's street corner studio in Portland, Me., the other day and stepped up to announcer Bob O'Wril, who was conducting a televised home interview program.

"I'm getting sick of your silly doings—and your foolish smile," she muttered.

With that, she pushed a lemon pie into O'Wril's face and departed.

O'Wril apologized to his audience and called for music while he stepped aside to clean up.

Samuel G. Henderson Jr., a station vice-president, said the incident was not a planned gag. From now on, he said, the show window studio will operate behind locked doors.

Premier Leslie Frost in his Report to the People of Ontario 4th May, 1959.

"EVEN GREATER PROGRESS LIES AHEAD"

On June 11, the people of Ontario will exercise their democratic right to chart the future course of our province.

Before them will be the record of achievement of a decade of wise policies and sound management under the government of Premier Leslie Frost . . . ten years in which Ontario's advances in the development of resources, business expansion and human betterment on all fronts have been unprecedented in Canada or anywhere in the world.

Under Progressive Conservative administration, the stage has been set for even greater progress in the years ahead. The Premier has announced far-reaching and far-sighted plans for government action to continue and increase this dynamic development which has become the envy of the entire world.

The election issue is therefore simple and straightforward. The accomplishments of the past have been tremendous, but even greater progress lies ahead. It can and will be achieved only under these same wise policies and with the same skilled and steady hand at the helm of the ship of state.

Construction progress is being made on the west Queen Street highway entrance and in the course of the work some big trees had to be removed. The stumps were taken to the village dump and the contractors in the course of getting the stumps out of the way levelled much of the heaped-up refuse. Cottage owners form association

A meeting was held to organize an association of the cottage owners of Island One, situated west of the former village of Aultsville. The following were elected: President, Hugh Thompson; vice president for Osnabruck, Carl Madsen; vice president for Williamsburg, Keith Snider; secretary, Harold L. Hollister; treasurer, Ken Campbell.

Regional directors are A. McColl, Cornwall; J. Rennison, of Winchester; C. Merkley, Chesterville; Mrs C. Morris, Montreal; R. Rupert, Finch.

The organization expressed unanimous dissatisfaction with the condition of the temporary road built by Ontario Hydro on the island and instructed the secretary to request that the situation be remedied.

Two other problems that arose at the meeting were the erection of signs to identify the island and direct tourists, and the clarification of the right of use of land fronting on the cottage lots. Williamsburg Township will be requested to assist in fire protection.

RATHER COOL

Huntington, W. Va., firemen are not so hot when it comes to starting fires.

They set fire to a vacant house as part of a training program for rookie firemen. Then they pulled an alarm box lever.

The rookies, unaware of what was going on, rushed to the scene. When they got there the fire was out.

The veteran firemen took half an hour to get the blaze going again. This time, it took the rookies nine minutes to put out the flames.

The meeting was constituted by the president after which Mrs W. Stewart, Cardinal, welcomed the guests. In replying, Mrs M. Shay, of Chesterville, expressed thanks for the cordial welcome and hospitality. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the recording secretary, Mrs D. Hyndman, after which Mrs C. Bass, literature secretary, told of the many new and interesting books for every occasion which she had on display.

Highlights from the recent S[illegible]dical, which was held in St. A[illegible]ew's Presbyterian Church, Quebec, were given by four delegates, Mrs A. Fortune, Mrs F. Dobie, Mrs H. Wells and Mrs Kinkaid.

A delightful solo was contributed by Mrs C. R. McQuade, accompanied by Mrs Steinburg who presided at the organ during the day.

Mrs H. Graham, retiring president, was presented with an honorary life membership and bar for W.M.S. pin by Mrs J. Riddell who thanked Mrs Graham for her loyalty, support and untiring interest during her five years in office. Mrs H. Byers made the presentation.

SIMPLE FORMULA

Trapping a fisher involves a simple formula:

Follow fresh tracks to the otter-like animal's refuge, set a trap at the entrance and smoke him out. Normally, it's a snap. But the plan went amiss for one White River district trapper recently.

He followed fisher tracks to a hole, set the trap and started to smoke it out. A loud roar came from the hole and out rushed an angry bear roused from winter hibernation.

District fish and wildlife overseer C. W. Douglas reports the bear took off in one direction and the trapper in another. The fisher made a neat getaway.

Vandalism in parks area causes concern

A warning was issued last week by a senior official of the Ontario-St. Lawrence Development Commission that unsupervised parks under its jurisdiction might have to be closed if the "roughhouse abuse" of park buildings and property continued.

He said glass was being broken and scattered about beaches, park tables were being scarred and burned by gas cooking equipment and park buildings were not being treated with the proper respect by some of those using park facilities.

"The success of the park system is going to depend on public appreciation of park property and it would be unfortunate if the parks had to be closed for all because of poor judgment on the part of a minority of visitors," he cautioned.

Though they have not been officially opened and most are still unimproved, parks between Cornwall and Iroquois are open to the public and beaches are in use at the risk of the swimming public.

A system of park maintenance charges which will be levied against motorists driving through the Long Sault parkway and using beach and camping facilties is now being worked out. The road in question links a series of small islands in Lake St. Lawrence and is not a public highway but Commission property.

Charges will be levied only on improved parks, Commission officials have stated. Funds raised will be used to pay parks maintenance costs.

Mrs Ritchie Tupper

One of Williamsburg's oldest and most highly respected citizens, Mrs Cynthia Tupper, passed away at Cornwall after a lengthy illness. She was in her 88th year.

Born at Williamsburg, she was the daughter of the late Simon Garlough and Lavina Marcellus and was the second youngest of a family of eight children. In 1902 she married Ritchie Tupper, of Williamsburg, and together they farmed on the Tupper home farm until they retired and moved to Williamsburg village about 15 years ago.

Mr Tupper predeceased her in 1946. Surviving are six children, Mrs James Boden (Mary), of Cornwall; Mrs Arza Beckstead (Isobel), Chesterville; George, of Morrisburg; Howard, on the home farm at Williamsburg; Mrs Garfield Lapierre (Zola), of Brinston, and Jacob, Iroquois. There are also nine grandchildren and nine great grandchildren, and one brother, Jacob Garlough, Williamsburg.

The funeral was held from the residence of her son, Howard, to Williamsburg United Church where the service was conducted by Rev Douglas Ramsay. Interment was made at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall bearers were all neighbours of the deceased, Ross Wingard, Weldon Beckstead, Harold Alguire, Andrew McMillan, Irwin McKenzie and Fred Weaver.

Many beautiful tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

SENECA ROOT HELPS MANITOBA'S INDIANS

If you have to use cough medicine at any time, the chances are that the citizens of Hodson, Manitoba, contributed the principal ingredient, seneca root. The seneca is a delicate, white-flowering plant that grows in the shade of other plants. The only part valuabe is the root.

Hodson, with a population of around 200, has an Indian reserve close to it with almost 3,000 residents. Many of the Indian families spend part of their summer months digging the seneca roots from their hiding places. It is hard work, as the plant grows far in the bush, usually in low swampy land which is infested with mosquitoes.

The native Indian, as far back as can be traced, has used the seneca root as a cure for snake bite. It was dug up and brewed as a tea. Seventy-five per cent of the world supply lies around the reserve of the Seneca tribe in Manitoba's Interlake District.

Few white men dig for the root, as it is back-breaking work. The Indians produce about 150,000 pounds per year at a price ranging from 60c per pound for the green root to $1.25 for the dried root.

The seneca root is exported to almost every country in the world for medicinal purposes. The gathering of it is a family affair for most Indians. As soon as the season opens in June, tents are set up in the bush and the gathering begins. The flowering seneca is easily recognized as it hides itself in the surrounding foliage. The root is much like the root of the dandelion. A good digger can produce as much as forty pounds in a day. Many families earn over $1,500 in a season, a welcome addition to the family income.

Many attempts have been made to cultivate seneca, so far unsuccessfully. It grows best in its wild state. So an avenue of earning has been left to the Indian that has been his for a long time.

16 Years too long!

John Wintermeyer, dynamic leader of the Ontario Liberal Party, outlines the sound new Liberal Platform to Ontario voters!

Vote for a young government that will work for you—VOTE LIBERAL!

Yes, the Conservative Government has been in power too long — and that's the simple truth of it.

During their 16 years in office, they have had ample opportunity to correct the problems of provincial affairs — but they have failed to solve them at all! There is only one answer — and that is a complete change to the Ontario Liberal Party!

Under the inspired leadership of its dynamic young leader, John Wintermeyer, the Liberal Party has new ideas, high ideals, a program of action that is sound, financially possible and completely responsible.

Rescue your investment in Ontario—Vote Liberal!

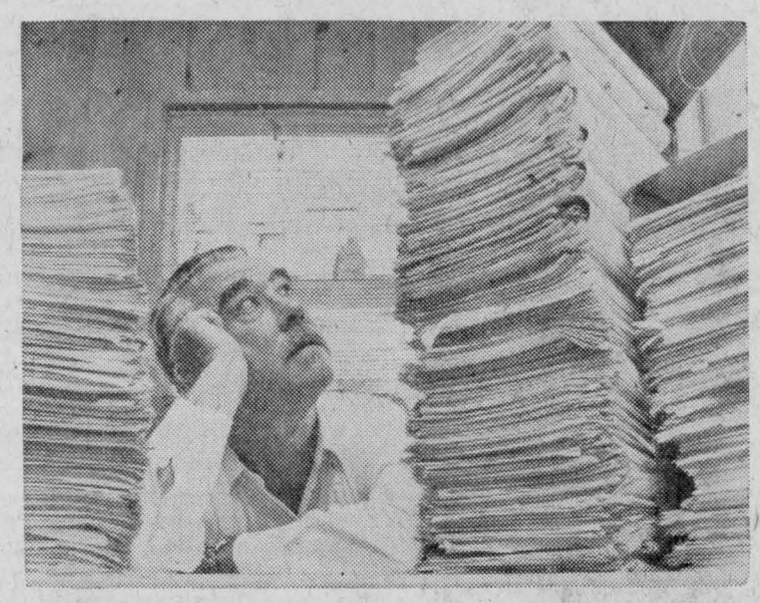
Candlesticks should not be immersed or soaked in water or scraped with a knife or sharp instrument to remove wax.

Instead, sponge off the base with carbon tetrachloride or other cleaning fluid and pour warm water into the socket. Let it stand until the wax softens.



TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY—Dean Hughes, creator of "The Craigs of Briarwood Farm, looks back on a mountain of scripts he has written over the years for this oldest of Canadian radio serials. Broadcast over the Trans-Canada network of CBC radio, the Craig family celebrated its 20th anniversary on May 1 this year. So vividly has Dean Hughes portrayed the day-to-day life of the Craigs that many listeners both in Canada and the United States believe that the characters exist in real life. Hughes lives at the original Briarwood Farm just outside Toronto.

HARD COOKED EGGS FOR SUPPER

NOW WHEN EGGS are inexpensive you should serve them often. Here are four ways to use hard cooked eggs in supper dishes. By the way, eggs should not be boiled. Place eggs in sauce pan; cover with cold water. Bring to a boil; remove from heat. Set pan in a warm place for 20 minutes. When time is up cool eggs quickly in running water.

Eggs Goldenrod

1 can mushroom soup
¼ cup milk
3 or 4 hard cooked eggs
Hot buttered toast or Melba toast.

Blend the mushroom soup and milk. Slice hard cooked eggs and add to soup. Heat and pour over toast. Save a little yolk and put it through a sieve and use as a garnish on top of eggs.

Make Melba toast by browning thin slices of bread at 250 degrees for 30 minutes. Melba toast may be made ahead of time and heated at the last minute.

Curried Eggs

3 hard cooked eggs
2 tbsps. flour
2 tbsps. butter
1 cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
½ tsp. curry powder

Make white sauce of flour, butter, milk, salt, pepper and curry powder. When thick add Worcestershire sauce and eggs cut in quarters. Serve on hot buttered toast with a peppery chili sauce.

Egg Noodle Casserole

2 cups noodles
½ cup chopped onion
2⅛ cups tomatoes
1 cup grated cheese
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
⅛ tsp. salt
6 hard cooked eggs

Cook noodles in boiling salted water; drain. Brown onion and green pepper in hot fat. Add tomatoes and simmer five minutes; add cheese. Melt butter; blend in flour and salt. Stir in tomato mixture; cook and stir until thick. Place half the noodles in bottom of casserole; slice three eggs over noodles; top with half the tomato mixture. Repeat layers, covering egg slices with tomato mixture. Bake in a moderate oven 25 minutes.

Stuffed Egg Salad

Cut hard cooked eggs in half, lengthwise, allowing one egg for each serving. Remove yolks; mash with a fork and add seasonings. I use mustard, garlic and curry powder as well as salt and pepper. Add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Return yolk mixture to egg whites, piling it up using fork. Place a small sprig of parsley in the centre of each half. Serve on crisp lettuce with tomato and cucumber slices.

* * * * *

When preparing hard cooked eggs, cool quickly as soon as done to prevent dicolouration of the yolk.

* * * * *

Always cook eggs at a low temperature to prevent them from becoming hard and rubbery.

* * * * *

The shell of a stale egg is shiny, that of a fresh egg is dull.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by Judy Ouderkirk. The offering was received by Shirley Wiseman, Keeper of the Treasure, and dedicated by Mavis St. Pierre.

Mrs John W. Bell was guest speaker and gave an interesting talk on Explorer work and their mission givings. Miss Vera MacLean, counsellor, thanked the speaker on behalf of the Explorers.

LEARNS TRUTH

The hog who thought he was a dog has learned the truth.

Elmer went to market, a victim of the hot weather.

"He could hardly breathe during the recent heat wave," said Miss B. Satterly, of Louisville, Ky. "I kept wetting him down with the hose but was afraid I'd find him dead in the yard one morning."

She raised him with German shepherd dogs and Elmer acted like one for two years. He followed Miss Satterly around, played with the dogs and slept on the porch.

"It's better that he go this way," said Miss Satterly before Elmer ate his last meal: a bushel of cookies and milk from a baby bottle.

Nobody would bid on Elmer because he was too fat (755 pounds) but a packing company finally agreed to take him, along with a penful of other hogs.

Mrs Moise Belanger

Last week the district was saddened to hear of the passing of Mrs Moise Belanger in hospital. She was in her 77th year.

Mrs Belanger was born at Bourget, Ont., daughter of Mr and Mrs Eli Leroux. She was married twice, the second time, in 1923, to Moise Belanger, of Chesterville. They made their home on a farm in the Boyne north of the village.

Mr Belanger, who was also married twice, and Mrs Belanger had a total of 14 living children at the time of her death. By her first marriage there are three daughters and two sons: Mrs Ross Stata (Florence), Mrs William Larmour (Therese) Mrs Aime Racine (Mary), Joseph Paul, Grantley, and Clarence Paul, Chilliwack, B.C. Hubert Belanger, Brockville, is a son of her second marriage and there were eight step-sons: Leon, Dayton, Ohio; Gene, Winchester; Wilfred and Edmund, Williamsburg; Victor, Brockville; William, London; Elmer, Wallaceburg, and Napoleon, Brockville.

Mrs Belanger is also survived by four sisters.

Funeral services were held at St. Mary's Church, Chesterville, where mass was celebrated by Rev Father J. J. Collins. Interment followed in the Upper Catholic Cemetery. Pall bearers were H .Durant, Eric Casselman, J. F. Moriarty, Jack MacMillan, Henry Sauve and Wm. Faubert.

Robert Rainey, 87

Funeral services were held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday last for Robert Rainey. He was 87.

Mr Rainey was born in Northern Ireland and at the age of eight came to this country. He settled then in Morewood and remained there until 1938 when he built a new home in Chesterville and moved here. He was a son of the late Mr and Mrs Robert Rainey.

The deceased is survived by his wife, the former Elizabeth Jane Marcellus, who he married 57 years ago. One brother and one sister also are living. They are David Rainey, Windsor, and Mrs Robert Brown, Morewood. There are numerous nieces and nephews.

Mr Rainey was always interested in church affairs and at his death was an elder in the local Presbyterian Church.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev D. O. Fry. Mrs Harold Greer was organist. Burial was made in the Presbyterian Cemetery at Morewood. Pall bearers were Jay Bailey, Walter Carruthers, Dwight Feeley, Harry Hutchinson, Jake McLaughlin and W. B. Carlisle.

Mrs Donald Carr, Grantley, is ill with pneumonia. We are happy to report, however, that she is progressing favourably.

Mrs Dorothy Smith and Wayne have left via "The Canadian" to spend two months holidays with Mr and Mrs Lew Marcellus and Lu Anne at Cloverdale, B.C.

Mrs A. G. Wilson, Boulter, spent the weekend visiting her mother, Mrs Cunningham, and attended the anniversary services in Trinity United Church.
