What a Fun Day!

The Morrisburg BIA sponsored a fun day in the village last Saturday and, despite the threatening weather, many people of all ages took in the festivities. Children enjoyed crafts (above), while many people stopped and listened to live music (below) at the clock tower throughout the day.

Springs' mural unveiling set for this Saturday

WINCHESTER SPRINGS–The late 1800's into the early years of the 1900's will be revisited this weekend when the Winchester Springs community unveils the next South Dundas Historical Mural.

The 12 by 24 foot mural was produced by Winchester Spring native Linda Holmes and depicts The Sanitorium as it would have appeared when it attracted visitors from throughout North American intent on benefitting from the rejuvenating powers of the springs' water.

The Springs mural committee put a good deal of research into the work and met many dead ends in their efforts to obtain a photo of the building developed into the Sanitorium by Dr. William J. Anderson who purchased the property in 1870.

According to a Natural Resources Survey of 1929 there were actually two springs located a few yards apart and they were still flowing when the survey was done.

The days of the popular Sanitorium had ended years before, following the death of Dr. Anderson in 1904. In the 1940's the building was torn down and the well-springs filled in.

The Winchester Springs' Mural will be unveiled this Saturday, October 12 at 2 p.m. at the site of the old "Sanitorium" just west off Highway 31 at the four corners in the Springs.

It is being erected on hydro poles in front of the grove where the original building once stood.

The Winchester Springs Mural Committee and the community invites the public to this event which will be an historical celebration of the health spa and political hub of Dundas County.

A reception will follow in the "Grove". Guests are asked to bring lawn chairs. In the case of inclement weather the reception will be moved to the Winchester Springs United Church hall.

This is the eighth mural to be erected in South Dundas in a little more than one year.

Wine and food treat for the tastebuds

MORRISBURG – Combine the finest chefs with the best foods; mix in talented bakers and some choice wines, and you will have the Wine and Food Extravaganza, which attracted a sizable crowd to the banquet hall at the Engineers' Training Institute in Morrisburg on Sunday.

"It's something a little different," says Isobel Williams, president of the Williamsburg Heritage Society, which organized the event.

"They can do all these elegant things in Ottawa; why can't we do them here?"

Representatives from restaurants, wineries, and bakeries from around the region, along with several local producers of specialty foods, offered samples of their most delectable creations to a steady stream of guests who mingled about the elegant banquet hall throughout the afternoon.

"It turns out to be a social gathering. Everybody enjoys it," said Williams. "It's a beautiful day in a beautiful venue; what more can you ask for?"

The money raised through the event will be to benefit the heritage society, which is currently undertaking to publish a walking tour guide book of Williamsburg.

"It's so that we can promote the heritage of the area, something nobody seems terribly interested in at the moment," says Williams, "but once it's gone, it's gone."

The heritage society has a number of other initiatives it would like to see get off the ground and hopes events such as the Wine and Food Extravaganza not only raise money but awareness of the importance of local history.

"We don't want (Williamsburg) to become a ghost town. We want to develop it as a tourist attraction," says Williams. "In South Dundas we've got a lot to offer, but it has to be promoted."

Victor Dupuis and Marcel Allard, of the Village Antiques and Tea Room in Williamsburg, who were on hand with their own palate-pleasing fare, helped event organizers make contact with area restaurants and wineries.

Soups, pasta, fish, beef, and Chinese food comprised the main course, which guests could accompany with their choice of imported Belgian beer or any of a selection of exquisite wines before sampling the sumptuous cakes, squares, pastries, and petit fours that several bakers had to offer.

Still savouring their delicacy of choice, guests could sit down and relax to the soothing sounds of soft music provided live on keyboards and saxophone by Betty Barkley and Don Morrell.

The artistry wasn't only on the plate last Sunday, however, as the afternoon was intended also to showcase the work of the Dundas County Artists' Guild.

"They don't have too many places to hang their art, so

Good food, good wine and goodwill turned the second annual Wine and Food Tasting Extravaganza sponsored by the Williamsburg Heritage Society into a success story Sunday.

House of Lazarus hit with big financial blow

MOUNTAIN – Just 10 years after a fire destroyed its original home, the House of Lazarus has been dealt another serious blow which could jeopardize its future.

Pastoral Director Shirley Nicole informed The Leader last Friday that the House of Lazarus has received a tax bill for $16,000, an amount the non-profit organization doesn't have.

"It is really going to be difficult for us to pay this," said Nicole explaining the House of Lazarus purchased its facility in Mountain two years ago. "When we purchased the property we thought we wouldn't be taxed."

The House of Lazarus operates as a food bank and used clothing depot. It fits all the criteria required to be exempt from municipal taxation except for one small detail–it does not receive funding from the provincial government.

"Even if we were funded just $100 a year, we would be tax free," said Nicole, explaining that previous government funding was stopped by the Harris government.

The House of Lazarus is in the municipality of North Dundas.

"To be hit with something like this is overwhelming," she says.

The current $16,000 tax bill is for two years and reflects recent increases in property assessments. Nicole says future yearly bills should be about $7,000 and they are being taxed on a commercial assessment.

"To be hit with something like this is overwhelming" – Nicole

The House of Lazarus is an outreach mission of the United Church and supports itself on donations and through fundraising. "We certainly don't make any money."

Although it is known for its food bank and thrift shop, Nicole explained the House of Lazarus helps people in many ways. "We sometimes are able to help out with money for dentures or pills. We are able to do so many helpful things."

"This is stupid. If we were getting as little as $100 from the government we wouldn't have to pay taxes."

Nicole is hoping to be able to get through this latest setback and pay the taxes. She is also hoping for community support to do this.

But beyond the actual paying of the current bill, she is hopeful there is a way to set up the House of Lazarus in a way that it would be exempt from municipal taxation.

The House of Lazarus Matilda Resource Centre came into existence in the late 1980s under the direction of Rev. Allen Tysick. It was housed in the 111-year-old Dundela Church which was destroyed by fire in 1992.

It would later locate in South Mountain until the move in the fall of October 2000 to Mountain.

"Every time something happens, something good has happened," says Nicole, who is hoping this will hold true once again. "God is helping us."

A 40 year Rooney family affair

IROQUOIS – Forty years ago Frank Rooney purchased the feed mill here from the Merkley family and last Friday, he joined his grandson Spencer at the anniversary celebrations to thank the residents of Iroquois and surrounding farming community for the continued support.

It was on Tuesday, October 6 1962 that Iroquois Reeve Lloyd C. Davis cut the ribbon to officially open the Rooney family business on Dundas Street in Iroquois.

The business then offered, and continues 40 years later to offer: custom grinding and rolling, special hot molasses for cattle feed, bulk feed delivery, full line of farm supplies, really fresh feed manufactured in Iroquois, a complete line of Shur-Gain Feeds, and Shur-Gain granular fertilizer for top yields.

Back in 1962 Frank started with a staff of two and handled only bagged feed. He added a bag delivery route with a five tonne dump truck and in the first year was selling 1,000 tonnes. The business focused on feed milling, seed cleaning, bagged fertilizer and at times a Garden Centre.

In the early 70's the mill was converted to handle bulk feed with a new elevator leg and roller mill addition.

Rooney Feeds has maintained a 40 year association with Shur Gain which supplies the minerals and supplements for its feeds, and in August of this year was honoured by Shur-Gain for this milestone.

Long-term relationships have been built with the area farming community, as the business buys as much grain as possible locally. It provides the services of milling the local grain to grist and cracking the corn.

Rooney Feeds also buys commodities, such as soy beans and oats, from cash croppers which are used in the production of their own feeds.

Although the 40 year celebration was a happy time. it was also mixed with sadness, as the family, friends and longtime customers were reminded of the death of Louis Rooney last January.

Louis ran the business from 1980, when his father retired, until his death, and was held in high regard by by the farming community and Iroquois business community.

Under Louis the business continued to expand. He invested in a bulk fertilizer facility which subsequently sold to Nutrite.

The business is now in the third generation hands of his son Spencer, 23, who, counts on help from his Mom, Audrey, and big brother Jason.

Audrey says she and Jason are there to advise and support Spencer.

Jason has a career in advertising and, along with handling the advertising for the anniversary, designed new feed bags for the occasion.

"It's a learning curve but we'll get through it," says Spencer. "We are surrounded by a lot of good people."

Some of those good people include Karen Merkley in the office and truck driver Perry Smail both of whom joined the firm in 1980. Jay Merkley has been with the firm since 1981, John Vanderspank was hired in 2000 and Brenda Murray came on board in 2002.

Since the business was purchased in 1962 it has undergone steady growth. Major renovations in 1976 upgraded the plant to modern standards making it the "best equipped smaller feed mill in Eastern Ontario".

At that time it employed a staff of five men along with Frank and his late wife Marg.

Another expansion in 1991 saw a second store at South Gower added which focuses on the horse specialty market. The staff in South Gower includes three employees Andrew Droppo, Michelle Crocker and Holly Smygwaty.

The business serves customers from Highway 138 right through to Brockville says Spencer.

"We have some very longtime customers and of course there are always some new ones," he says. "We have a good number who have stuck with us."

Spencer says he is comfortable running the business, as he grew up with it.

"You could never get away from it. We would come home (brother Jason) from school and there would be a note on the counter from Dad. We have always been around the business."

Audrey says that while it was always obvious that Spencer would some day take over the business, his father insisted that he continue his schooling after high school. Spencer followed his wishes and earned an associate diploma in Agriculture graduating in 1999.

Today Rooney Feeds Ltd. continues to sell much of the same supplies it did 40 years ago, with a few additions. It now has one of the most complete supplies of feed and feeders for wild birds in the area, along with food and care products for dogs and cats.

In the spring a garden section offers plants and seeds as well as lawn care products. Rooney Feeds does a big business in grass seed.

For the farming community Rooney Feeds continues to be a local gathering place where produce and methods can be discussed and stories of success and failures can be swapped.

Cutting the Cake on 40 Years

Spencer Rooney, with his grandfather Frank at his right, cuts the cake commemorating the 40th anniversary of the family-run Rooney Feeds business in Iroquois during an open house held last Friday. The festivities were attended by a large crowd of longtime customers and friends whose support over the years has helped to make the Rooney business the success it is today. For the Rooney family, the celebration was a wonderful affair which was touched by sadness as it was the first anniversary since the death of Louis who ran Rooney Feeds from 1980 until his death last January. The celebrations were also attended by Alain Lajeunesse Shur-Gain business manager (far left) and Paul Crozier, Shur-Gain's territory manager (on the right). In August the company made a presentation to the Rooney business commemorating 40 years association between the two companies. In the photo below employee Brenda Murray serves a customer during last week's anniversary celebrations at the Iroquois location.

Thompson recalls childhood antics

MORRISBURG – Childhood is a magical time, especially if it includes cows, and brothers, and tricycles, and fields, and a dog name Rex to share adventures with.

No one knows this better than Morrisburg author Steve Thompson, who has captured the innocence of his post-war youth in Doesn't That Hurt the Cow's Back?, a delightful collection of short stories released last week by General Store Publishing House.

Born the eldest of seven children to a farmer-cum-electrician and his school-teacher wife, Thompson artfully recreates the people and events that shaped his early years growing up on the 64-acre farm near Morewood.

The short stories span the 1940s to 1960s and are a wonderfully entertaining account of a young man's antics and adventures.

He tells of the consequences of smoking his first hand-rolled cigarette made of dried burdock leaves, and his first sip of whiskey behind the back-yard shed.

Each of the 32 short stories in Doesn't That Hurt the Cow's Back is a real life story that will have the reader remembering similar growing up experiences.

Thompson is a wonderful story teller, and after reading the book, it's obvious he has some wonderfully heart-warming stories to tell.

A retired elementary school teacher, he has written two spy fiction novels and numerous short stories and poems. He and his wife Alice settled in Morrisburg when he retired.

Thompson says he has always enjoyed writing but, "I didn't get started until 10 years ago when my baby brother Dave got his book published."

The stories in Doesn't That Hurt the Cow's Back were written over a period of years from his memories and from his brothers' and sister's recollections revisited when the family gets together and the 'remember when' stories begin to fly.

Thompson is very active in the South Dundas community and is involved in a number of charity organizations. An avid curler, he pens The Morrisburg Curling Club's weekly column for The Leader.

His next book, which he has finished, is an historical fiction about whaling with a love triangle thrown in.

"It's a real life ship, and there is Canadian history stuffed in, along with everything you want to know about whales."

He is currently working on his third spy novel which is set in Paris. His first two were set in Ottawa and Kingston.

Thompson's Doesn't That Hurt the Cow's Back is available at the Seaway Valley Pharmacy in Morrisburg and retails for $16.95.

As well-known Ottawa Valley writer and personality, Mary Cook, puts it, "The title of this book was enough to have me searching through the headings to find the related story to put my curiosity at rest. On the way to the end, I was intrigued with such titles as Look What the Cat Dragged In and The Day I Lost My Grandmother...His images are so real, his people so human, that you know he has lived this book."

Steve Thompson does a book signing of his just released "Doesn't That Hurt the Cow's Back?" book which is a delightful collection of short stories covering his and his brothers' and sister's adventures while growing up in the Morewood area in the 1940s to the 1960s. Steve and his wife Alice (right) live in Morrisburg where they are very active in the community.

Santa Claus is coming to town

MORRISBURG – Believe it or not, preparations have already begun for this season's installment of the annual Morrisburg Santa Claus Parade.

"Plans are well underway for this year's parade," says George Davies, who is once again spearheading the undertaking.

The parade will follow the same route it has in the past and will depart at 11 a.m. on December 7.

Last year, the parade featured 38 floats and five bands, some of which are already confirmed to return this year.

Davies asks that anyone wishing to enter the parade notify him as soon as possible so that he may organize the event.

"It's nice to know a bit beforehand," says Davies, who has to be sure that the entries are arranged such that two loud bands are not side by side or that, for instance, the Brockville Rifles are not near to any horses when they fire their guns.

"Santa Claus was on the horn to me and he said he hopes I'm getting everything ready down here," says Davies, who is well-known for his "in" with the jolly, old St. Nick, who he says has confirmed his plans to come to Morrisburg.

"That's the word I got from the big guy himself."

Anyone wanting to reach Davies can do so by calling 543-3336.

Get Those Tires Spinning

When one thinks of the Morrisburg and District Lions Club, the immediate thought is of an organization that time and again comes through to support a community project.

The Lions club is made up of local citizens whose hard work raises money to support community projects. We all know the biggest community project at this time is the Renewing the Vision campaign for the expansion and renovations at Winchester Memorial Hospital.

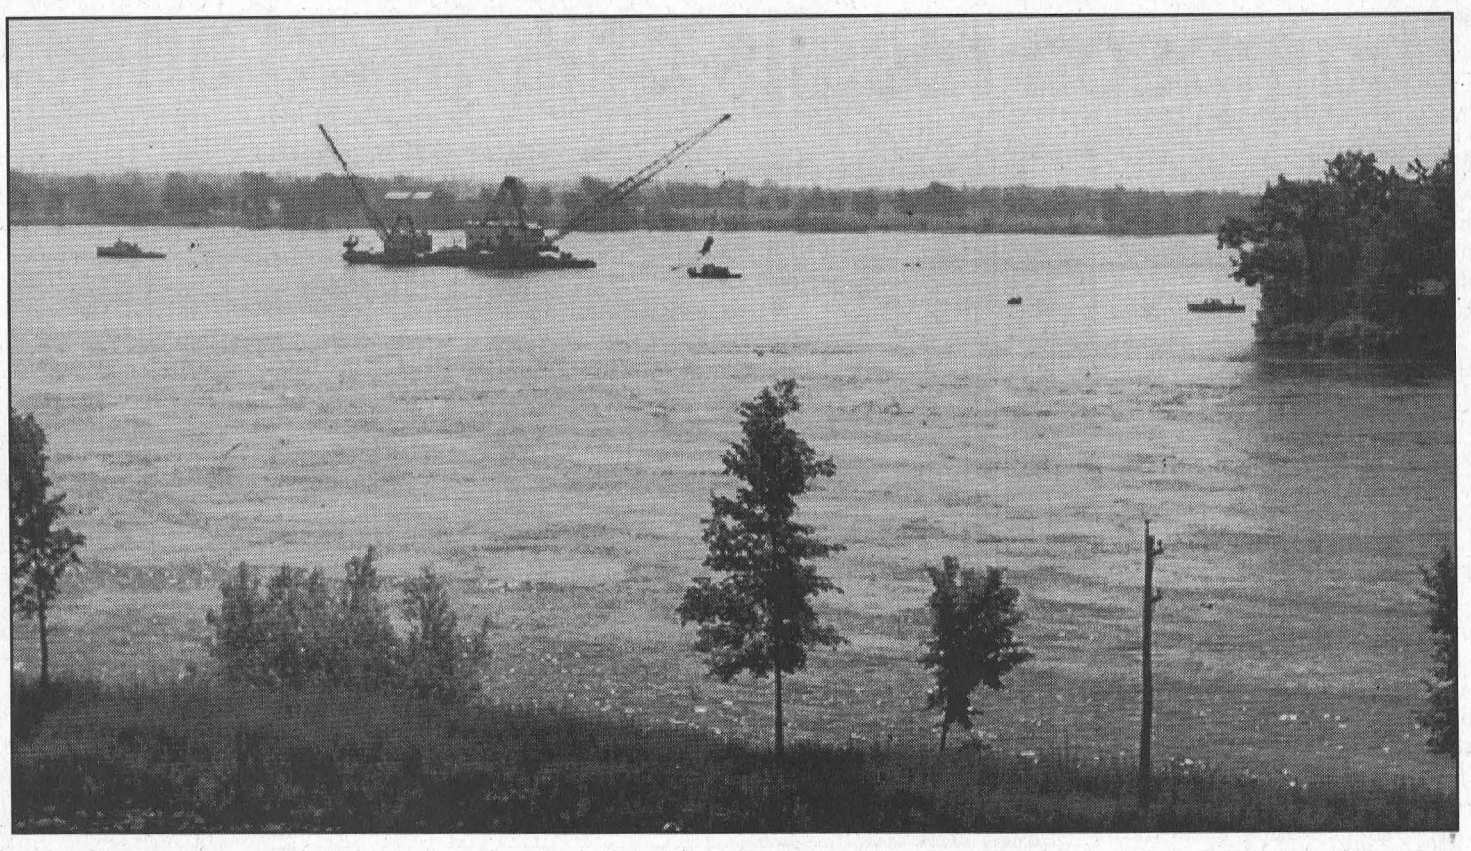
"We pledged $100,000 over five years to the Hospital Campaign, and now we have to raise the money," says Chuck Irvine who is serving on the committee that is organizing the upcoming car rally on Saturday, October 26.

Irvine has been a Lion for 18 years and has been involved in five rallies. "Of these five rallies, three have been to support the hospital. You just can't compare the care we get at Winchester Hospital. In our area we don't think of health care as being bad, and that is because of the caring, professional service we receive at our hospital."

The past car rallies have involved 25-30 cars and have each raised about $10,000. Irvine says, this time around, he is hoping for double the participation and of course, double the amount raised.

He encourages anyone who has never been in a car rally to get involved. "They are really a lot of fun." And he is promising a route that, if you are really good and a super sleuth, could be completed in two hours. "That means some will be back in three hours and some in five or six," he says with a chuckle.

All of the money is going to the hospital, so get those tires spinning, get your sponsors and join the Morrisburg Lions for a day of great fun.



1955: A barge with 2 derricks on board and two tug boats, one in front and one behind is east of Broder Island at the right. The international boundary ran between Clark Island (U.S.) and Broder Island. This American barge came down the rapids, took the gap between the islands instead of the shipping channel north of Broder Island. They ran aground in shallow water and had to dig a channel to get out. Photo was taken from 81 Lakeshore Dr., Morrisburg prior to the St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Seen 'n Heard Around the Town

The crops are in and the gardens have been harvested. That brings us to the point where we say a big thank you for the great harvest and then dig in to enjoy some of it. Thanksgiving is just days away and mmm mmm mmm already I can taste the anticipated turkey with all it's fixings and Wanda's (best in the whole world thanks to my late Grandma B's recipe) pumpkin pie. Thanksgiving also marks the last of our long weekends of the year and now we head into the long stretch of winter's approach and the arrival of our next celebration at Christmas. It is a long weekend and a lot of travellers are on the road, so drive safely...and don't eat too much!!

A special happening this Thanksgiving Weekend is scheduled for Winchester Springs when the eighth South Dundas Mural is unveiled. This mural depicts the Sanitorium that was located in the Springs in the late 1800's and became a popular spa for those seeking rejuvenation from the spring water found there. The Springs' Mural will be unveiled at 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 12, and the community is invited to head to the Springs to take in the festivities which will include a reception in the "Grove". One wonders if the refreshments are going to include a glass of the water that made the Springs so famous. We have read that Sanitorium guests drank the water, which was high in sulphur content, while holding their noses.

It's October, the month we associate with a couple of migrations. The first is the best known, and is that of the Canada Geese. The second is the migration of our college and university students, who, having spent their first month away from home, now return for their graduation exercises at Seaway High. This is an outstanding and important event at Seaway High and our congratulations are extended to all the graduates.

The Curling Club continues its picture search for its 100th anniversary celebration. Needed are pictures of R. R. Chalmers (1920-24), F. M. Duvaul (1932-34), J.F. Barlow (1934-35), J.S. MacDonald (1937-38), C.R. Hummell (1951-52), and Fred Graham (1957-58). If anyone can help call Steve Thompson 543-3134 or Kathy Johnston 543-3237.

Headlines in the October 7 issue read Stampville Public School to amalgamate with Iroquois. To accommodate students at Iroquois an addition was to be built on to the existing structure which would double the school size.

Beaver's Dental was celebrating its 45th anniversary, and to make the celebration even better they broke their dental bur production record for the month of September when they shipped 2,220,173 dental burs. Pictured with the story was final operations superintendent Berniece Norton as she handed the box of burs which broke the record to Beaver's vice-president and general manager Bob Leroux.

The Morrisburg Junior B Lions opened their season with a 9-4 win over the Char-Lan Rebels in Williamstown and a 5-3 home-ice loss to the Winchester Hawks.

At the first Fall Harvest Festival Saturday, Williamsburg residents proved to the world they really know how to party. A spectacular parade with 38 floats sporting Harvest or Canada 125 themes wound through the village at noon.

The October 6 issue reported that residents of Iroquois had learned with surprise and regret that councillor John McAllister would not seek reelection in the upcoming November election. McAllister was a six-year veteran of municipal politics.

Lorne Brown, a veteran school board politician, announced his intention to run for a Morrisburg council position. Brown was president of the Morrisburg Legion when the newLegion building was constructed.

Stormont-Dundas MP Ed Lumley was appointed Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce and Minister of Regional Economic Expansion by Prime Minister Trudeau in a round of cabinet shuffles. Lumley had represented Stormont-Dundas for eight years, after serving a two-year stint as mayor of Cornwall.

A realignment of the Ottawa and District Junior B Hockey league resulted in the move of the prestigious and historic Gill Cup. In 1930 James Gill of Cardinal presented a silver trophy to the teams of the St. Lawrence Junior Hockey League. Since then the cup was the one constant factor in local hockey. The original members of the St. Lawrence League were Spencerville, Kemptville, Cardinal, Prescott and Morrisburg. The cup was donated for league play with the stipulation it was to go where the Cardinal club played hockey. Since Cardinal was moved in the new setup to the Southwest division the Cup would go along. The Morrisburg Lions' name was inscribed on the cup for a record holding five years in the late 1970's

The October 6 issue reported a capacity crowd attended the Morrisburg Trade and Home Show in the Community Centre when film stars from the movie "Tom Sawyer" being filmed at Upper Canada Village were present. Jane Wyatt, Josh Albee and Jeff Tyler were all present. The film stars were presented lacrosse sticks by Reeve C.F. McInnis.

The board of Transport Commissioners issued an order for the construction of an overpass on Highway 31 at Winchester.

Savers new food store had opened in Iroquois featuring a complete line of groceries and dairy products.

The vanguard of the fall migration of Canada geese had arrived at the Commission's Wildfowl Sanctuary. During the migration period of about eight weeks an estimated 90,000 Canada geese were expected to stop over at the sanctuary for rest and food. The summer resident flock of Canada geese numbered about 1,000 and was maintained by 400 goslings raised each year in the Sanctuary area. The majority of the local flock also headed south for the winter.

Work was to begin to overcome the numerous difficulties encountered with Morrisburg's new sewage system and disposal plant installed at the time of the Seaway. This was the word Reeve Gordon W. Thom, was given in a telephone conversation with Ontario Hydro Chairman Ross Strike.

Work on the installation of artificial ice machinery at the arena was to begin, and it was hoped the artificial ice would be available by Christmas.

Property damage totaling several thousand dollars was caused in a two-car collision at the corner of Maude and Victoria Streets. A late model car owned and driven by Fred Hill was destroyed beyond repair and the second vehicle, owned by Harold Myers, suffered $800 damage. Neither Hill nor Myers was injured.

The Seaway Valley Travel Council was still pushing to have Highway 2 named the Seaway Valley Route.

Starting October 9 clinics to immunize children against whooping cough, diphtheria, lockjaw and smallpox were to be given in Morrisburg and Williamsburg.

Traffic in the Williamsburg Canals was interrupted when the Norwegian ship Oris backed into the east lock gate at Lock 23 and knocked loose the top or bridge section.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Henophy and Edward Hanson were in New York this week to attend the World Series.

A bingo was being held to raise money to equip the new public school kitchen.

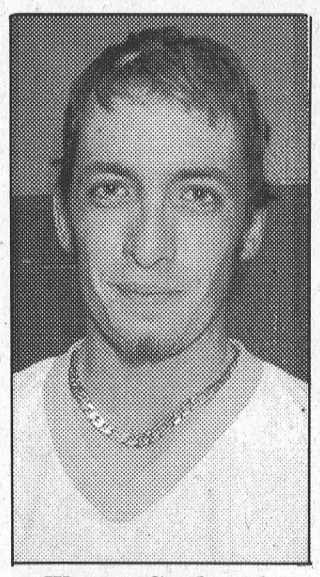
The October 9 issue reported another local boy, Dwight VanAllen, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl VanAllen was killed on active service overseas. The VanAllens received a cable from the Canadian army informing them of the death of their son in a motorcycle accident. He was born in Williamsburg Township and received his education in the Williamsburg schools. He joined the army in 1940 and was a dispatch rider with the H. & P.E. Regiment. He was survived by his wife, the former Lillian Collins, whom he married in England in 1941 and a baby son, Bryan.

The Morrisburg Boys Band was looking for 12 new members to replace some of the older members who had enlisted. Interested parties were to discuss the matter with Dr. Blancher, president, M.A. Epplett, music director, C.L. Deeks, sec/treas, or one of the committee members who were Gordon Louden, Arnold Wilson, Dalton Willard, Lyall Fraser all of Morrisburg or Donald McIntosh or Robert Locks of Williamsburg.

Morrisburg Public School reported an enrollment of 222 students.

Letters to the Editor



Wayne Garlough

Dear Editor,

Surely 70 years as a hockey fan entitles one to pen a few words of praise to a young hockey star.

After six years, Wayne Garlough will reach the end of his sterling hockey career at the end of this season. We are not likely to see a player of his calibre for many years to come.

Did you ever stop to think of the number of games played? Over 40 games are played during the regular schedule, plus playoffs which amount to 300 or more games.

Wayne has been made captain (of the Morrisburg Junior B Lions) again this year and hopes to lead the Lions to greater success.

To many of the fans, Wayne makes the game look so easy. His great speed, fancy stick handling and booming shot are a treat every time he carries the puck. In an emergency he can perform on defence with equal skill and finesse.

During the late 1930's I had a chance to play with Jason Garlough, a distant relative of Wayne. Jason too could skate with great speed and had amazing stamina. Unfortunately, Jason paid the Supreme Sacrifice during the Second World War in July.

Hockey is a great game, and not for every boy. Wayne has suffered many injuries like most players, but love of the game always brought him back.

Each of us can say thanks to Wayne in our own personal way.

Super Host grateful for program

On behalf of South Dundas Economic Development Commission, I would like to thank the people who participated in the "Super Host" customer service workshop held at the McIntosh Country Inn last Thursday.

Another thank you to their employers for recognizing the value of sending them and one to our South Dundas township office for recognizing the importance of having excellent customer service in their municipality.

And their reasons are simple: stronger, more professional service and tourism industries attract more visitors and customers and create more jobs, which leads to a much healthier economy.

Those who attended "Super Host" felt it was very beneficial and rewarding and testified that more employees in our community would enjoy this workshop and that they intend to spread the word.

Hearing such enthusiastic feedback, the SDEDC will organize another workshop very early next year.

"Super Host", internationally recognized, covers remembering names, how to make a positive first impression, the communication process, professional telephone techniques, effective listening skills and much more. As well, it touches on the tourism industry and how it is everybody's business.

Linda and Lucien LaLalonde of Lincien College were the facilitators and were excellent.

Some interesting statistics were presented at the workshop that I would like to share.

Did you know that the average business never hears from 96 percent of its unhappy customers or that dissatisfied customers may tell 26 people about their experience.

Did you know that of the customers who register a complaint, as many as 70 percent will do business again with your organization if the complaint is resolved effectively. This figure goes up to 95 percent if the complaint is resolved quickly.

Did you know that customers who have their complaints satisfactorily resolved tell an average of five people of the treatment they received and that it costs five times more to attract a new customer than it does to keep an existing customer.

One of the aspects of this workshop is it can be in generic form and delivered to the various sectors of industry in our community.

The participants, all from different companies, get to network and leave the session with an appreciation of the different (and yet the same) situations their fellow peers face in their workday.

Helping Hands meet

DIXONS CORNERS – The Helping Hands Seniors met on October 2 at Matilda Hall.

President Joan Zandbergen welcomed all and then the theme song, This is My Father's World, was sung, following which was a prayer.

A moment of silence was observed for the loss of members Sylvia Bylsma and Klaas Leyenaar and friend Grace Strader.

Minutes of the last meeting were approved and a bank balance of $664,99 was acknowledged.

At the next meeting, members will decide who is to lay a memorial wreath during Remembrance Day ceremonies. It was also noted that the cost of a wreath has gone up in price and now costs $20.

Members sent 20 cards to shut-ins and three birthday and one anniversary were observed.

A zone meeting will be held October 23 at Matilda Hall and there will be a potluck dinner beginning at noon.

Two readings by Lorne Strader and a saying of grace by Zandbergen preceded a beautiful potluck dinner.

Thank You

Dear Editor
Morrisburg Leader,

A note to say thank you, to your staff and their effort, in order that we who reside in another community, can keep in touch with our "Home Town".

I must congratulate the reporter who wrote "Ride Along to Montreal", it puts you in the cab of the tractor, and a truly grand report; on the spot and honest. Great work on the Morrisburg author as well.

I am fully aware that just so much space is available each week, and I am always delighted to peruse "Blast from the Past". In the past, I have noted you have slid into the 1930's the odd time. Maybe, occasionally this could happen in the future.

Thank you all, for your most welcomed newspaper.

P.S. I appreciate that "Up front" type of reporting.

Yours truly,
Robert Nash Hessell

Too many cats for one person

MORRISBURG – A resident of Caravan Campground outside of Morrisburg has come face to face with the problem of cat overpopulation.

Claire Bedard is now looking after 15 stray cats that had been cared for by a neighbour for the past ten years.

When that neighbour was forced to move into a retirement residence, the cats were helpless and desperate for food and water.

Bedard has since taken care of the animals but is preparing to head to Florida when the campground closes later this month and is concerned that the cats will not survive the winter.

"I'm worried about them because some of them are pretty young and not too healthy," she says, adding that most are thoroughly domesticated and unable to fend for themselves.

"They don't go chasing after mice; they just stay there until you feed them."

Bedard contacted the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in both Cornwall and Brockville but was dissatisfied with their response.

She had hoped the SPCA would have collected and transported the animals, many of which are sickly and feeble, but Bedard was informed that she, herself, would have to catch the animals and take them to the shelter, at which point she would be charged $35 per cat.

Bedard can not afford such a fee and feels the SPCA should reconsider its policy, but just as Bedard's compassion has its limits, and reasonably so, the SPCA is restricted in what it can do, constrained by budget, manpower, and mandate.

"We receive zero dollars from the municipalities," says Marjorie Morrison, branch manager of the SD&G branch of the SPCA in Cornwall, pointing out that no municipality in this region has a cat by-law, as they do for dogs; thus, the municipalities do not contribute to the collection, transportion, housing, or care of stray cats.

"We don't do any animal control," says Morrison. "We do not have the manpower or resources to be in the community collecting stray animals."

In fact, there is no government funding whatsoever for the SPCA, which came into being by an act of the provincial legislature but is funded wholly through donations and fees charged for incoming animals.

For an abandoned animal, that was owned and cared for, the charge is $35 if unvaccinated and $30 for one with its shots.

For a genuine stray, for which no one has taken responsibility, there is no charge, although a $5 donation is appreciated.

"We don't expect people to be financially responsible for strays," says Morrison, "but we have to somehow assign some accountability."

It was with this policy that Bedard took particular issue.

According to Bedard, she was told that since she had fed and watered the cats for a couple of months, they were now hers and she was considered to own the animals and would thus have to pay $35 instead of the nominal $5.

"So what am I supposed to do, let them starve to death?" complains Bedard. "At 90° (in August), do you think I"m not going to feed them and give them water?"

Now, Bedard is finding she can no longer afford the rather expensive food bill, which she figures is about $300 a month.

The SPCA, however, has the same problem–money.

"If you accept responsibility for an animal, you do become a caregiver," said Morrison, who, while not familiar with Bedard's case and unable to comment on her situation, has learned to be skeptical of some people's motivations for dropping off an animal.

"Many times, we see animals that are actually owned coming in as strays," says Morrison, who points out that even the fees administered to abandoned animals are barely enough to cover the cost of housing the animals.

"There is an understanding that we have a serious cat overpopulation problem in this area," she says. "We are inundated with cats, and we very rarely have available cage space."

Nevertheless, if animals are brought to the shelter, the SPCA does its best to accommodate them, but cannot afford to collect or transport them, and certainly cannot house them for free.

The only time the SPCA can collect and transport an animal is if the animal is in immediate need of veterinary care because of acute injury or illness.

"We're obligated, as an animal welfare organization, to respond, and we do," she says, noting that such a response is part of the SPCA mandate.

However, this only applies to animals hit by cars or who suffer other calamities that require urgent care, not to animals that are simply in poor health or neglected.

Though it is obvious both Bedard and the SPCA have only the animals' welfare at heart, both require some assistance in this case.

Bedard wonders if members of the public might help cover the costs of transporting the animals to the shelter, as, in their condition, she feels that none of the cats would make a suitable pet.

Can You Identify this Hospice Doctor Scarecrow?

Above is one of the medically inclined scarecrows that will be attending the Dundas County Hospice Hoe Down on Saturday, November 2 at Matilda Hall in Dixon's Corners. This year's Hoe Down, along with its happy hour, tasty roast beef and turkey dinner, silent and live auctions and dancing to Dayton & Eric, will feature 17 "Scarecrow Doctors" all of which were sponsored by area doctors in support of the Hospice fundraiser. Once the scarecrows were sponsored, the Hospice decorating committee went to work creating them in the likeness of their sponsoring doctor. "It took us the last couple of months to make them," says Joyce Francis, decorating committee chairperson, whose basement has become a "Scarecrow Doctor's" gathering place. The scarecrows will be used to decorate Matilda Hall for the Hoe Down. "People coming to the hoe down can browse through them and see if they can identify their doctor." The Hospice Hoe Down is run every second year, and is the major fund-raiser for the Dundas County Hospice, which, through its trained volunteers, provides care and assistance to individuals and their families who are facing life-threatening illnesses. Hoe Down tickets are $25 per person and are available at: Seaway Valley Pharmacy (Morrisburg); Mustard's Variety (Iroquois); Hospice Office (Williamsburg) 535-2215; IDA Pharmacy (Winchester).

Career Connection

The Employment and Education Resource Centre of Cornwall and District opened a South Dundas branch at the Morrisburg Public Library on Tuesday. The service has been in North Dundas for several years now but as of October 1, job-seekers in this township can avail themselves of career counselling in Morrisburg on Tuesdays and at the Iroquois Public Library on Wednesdays. Pictured (front, l-r) are Paula Cechetto, career counsellor; Bonnie Keeler, client; Elizabeth Porter, supervisor of Dundas county libraries; Clayton Miller, of Hunt Builders, one of the many employers with whom the Resource Centre places clients; (back, l-r) Rudi Denham, director of county library services; and Joanne Hickley, Resource Centre program director.

Mass arrests throughout community

MORRISBURG – Later this month, the bulk of this community's most prominent citizens will be in jail.

On October 23 and 24, South Dundas' business people, politicians, civil servants, and notable residents will be arrested by the Ontario Provincial Police, and transported to the McIntosh Inn, where they will rely on their friends, family, and associates to bail them out.

As part of Roundup for Research, a fundraising event for the Kidney Foundation of Canada, several dozen people will be held in a makeshift jail cell at the inn, where a sentence will be handed out and bail decided upon by a presiding, albeit pretend, judge.

It is then up to the prisoner to call everyone he or she knows to raise the money to bail themselves out of jail and make a significant contribution to research into kidney disease.

"We're going out and arresting the top guns in our community," says Geraldine Fitzsimmons, who is helping organize the event. "We're very happy with the positive feedback we've been getting."

Most of those to be arrested have agreed to participate, although there are surprises awaiting a couple of prominent local citizens.

"The whole two days are full. We're pretty excited," said Fitzsimmons.

The event kicks off in Winchester with the arrest of Mayor Claude Cousineau at 9 a.m. on October 23 and in Morrisburg at 9:30 with the apprehension of South Dundas mayor Johnny Whitteker.

Detainees will be outfitted in prison uniforms and will be arrested by local OPP officers who have agreed to take part in the fundraiser.

"We want people to come in and cheer their leaders on," says Fitzsimmons.

Just as any fundraiser will not meet with success without extensive preparation, so it was with the Wine and Food Extravaganza.

"It couldn't have been done without their help," says Williams of the tireless efforts of the many vendors who participated, the board of directors that organized the event, and the many community supporters who contributed to its success.

October is community support month

WILLIAMSBURG–During the month of October, the public is urged to consider the exceptional effort undertaken on behalf of elderly citizens by community support organizations.

"Sometimes the people don't realize the services are there," said Janet Levere, coordinator of Park Lane Seniors' Support Centre in Williamsburg.

October is Community Support Month in Ontario and Levere hopes that the community will come to be aware of the value of such support to the elderly in the community.

"They realize if they do take a little help, they can stay at home longer," says Levere.

Helping the elderly and infirmed stay at home as long as possible is the guiding principle behind the centre's work.

The support centre offers respite care, meals on wheels, transportation, recreation, maintenance, and in-home services to those in need in the South Dundas community and this past year, saw their services accessed frequently.

"We've had a busy year. It certainly has stayed steady," says Levere.

More than 5,000 hours of respite care were administered, 4,846 meals were served, 2, 180 meals on wheels were delivered, and 1,998 transportation trips were made, among many other services provided the centre's many clients.

"We are fortunate that we have so many wonderful volunteers," says Levere. "We couldn't do it without them."

Dumping brings fine

BROCKVILLE – A Brockville-area man has been fined $500 for placing sand in the water at his cottage property on Bass Lake in violation of the Public Lands Act.

Lawrence Alfred Knapp, of RR 5, Brockville, illegally put two truckloads of sand into the lake located in the Township of Leeds and the Thousand Islands.

The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) investigated after receiving a complaint from the municipality, and Justice of the Peace, V. Carmichael, heard the case in Brockville court on September 18.

The Public Lands Act provides for the protection of public lands, and provincially owned lake bottom fronting private property. The public is advised to contact their local MNR office before any work is undertaken in or around water.

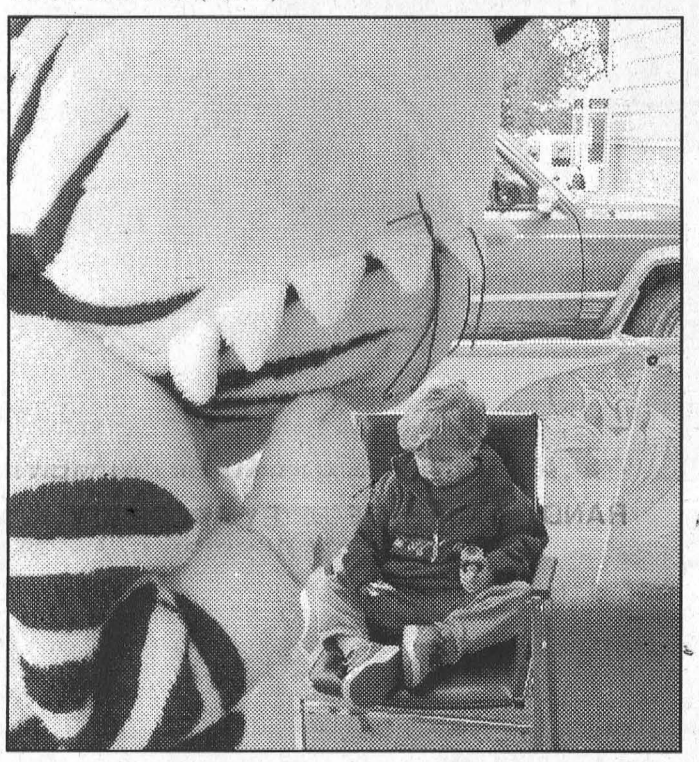
Giant Tiger Anniversary

The giant tiger was on hand for the one year anniversary of the Giant Tiger outlet in Morrisburg on Saturday. The parking lot was full to capacity all day as shoppers scoped out the best bargains and enjoyed hot dogs courtesy of the Morrisburg and District Minor Hockey Association. Of course, while most kids took to the giant tiger (above), some were not so sure (below).



Lafortune leads Lions to win

WINCHESTER – Although the Morrisburg Junior B Lions outshot the Winchester Hawks 42-30 here Friday night, and 16 of them were fired in the third period they were unable to come from behind the Hawks 3-2 lead.

On the weekend both the Lions and Hawks met up with Akwesasne and both claimed victory, the Hawks by a 6-4 score Saturday and the Lions by an identical 6-4 score on home ice Sunday.

As a result of the weekend play the Hawks moved into a tie for third place in the Rideau St. Lawrence Division with the Alexandria Glens at six points and the Lions are right behind with five.

Friday night's game in Winchester was a no-nonsense affair, both teams staying relatively clear of the penalty box. The Lions in fact drew only two minor penalties and a double minor, but that would be enough for the Hawks to capitalize for one power play goal unassisted at 18:49 of the second period by Alain Michaud.

It was Michaud's power-play goal that would turn out to be the winner.

The Lions opened the scoring at 12:35 of the first period with a Charlie Froment goal assisted by Ghyslain Hotte and Cory Cassell. Just a little over three minutes later Darren Trenholm beat Lions' goalie Jamie Lalonde to even it.

The Hawks pulled ahead early in the second period with a Robyn Sadler counter and then went up 3-1 on the power-play marker from Michaud with 1:11 showing on the clock.

Lions team captain Wayne Garlough would cut the gap to 3-2 before the period ended, with an unassisted short-handed goal.

The Lions outshot the Hawks 16-7 in the third but were unable to put the puck past goalie Gregg Griffith for the tying marker.

On home ice on Sunday afternoon the Lions got off to a slow start and found themselves trailing the Wolves 2-0 after the first period. A couple of quick goals late in the second allowed them to tie it but before the buzzer sounded Akwesasne would collect one more to carry a 3-2 advantage into the third.

The Lions came to life in the third, dominating the play and scoring three consecutive goals to move ahead 5-3.

The Wolves got one more with 6:15 left in the game to close the gap to 5-4 but at 16:05 Tyler Lafortune added the insurance for the 6-4 win.

Lafortune scored the second goal of the game with help from Ghyslain Hotte and Cory Cassell and then produced the Lions fourth and final goals unassisted.

Captain Wayne Garlough had another good game with two goals, and Charlie Froment added a single and help on Garlough's first tally.

Glen Belmore had back-to-back goals for the Wolves in the first period and Ryan Lalonde and Derek Lyons beat Lions goalie Shawn Pollard for singles.

The weekend action saw division leading Kemptville held to two points on two ties. They tied Alexandria 2-2 Friday night and Char-Lan 6-6 Saturday night.

Dr. Hickey at MPS

Research scientist teaches grade six

MORRISBURG – Nothing makes a school biology lesson come to life like, well,...life.

That's what Dr. Brian Hickey of the St. Lawrence River Institute brought into the grade six classroom at Morrisburg Public School on Monday.

"They were seeing things they'd never seen before," said teacher Sarah Barclay-Thomas.

Along with top-of-the-line microscopes and a laptop computer, Hickey brought with him containers brimming with all manner of microscopic life for the students to discover.

"They go through it just the way a biologist would if he were taking a sample," said Hickey.

Barclay-Thomas thought Hickey's visit would enliven the students' grade six science curriculum, which is focused on the classification of organic life and on the diversity of biological organisms.

"He could be teaching at university, but he's here sharing his knowledge with our grade sixes," said Barclay-Thomas, thrilled that her students were so receptive to Hickey.

"They're learning something they wouldn't be able to learn from a regular classroom teacher, even if he or she had a science background," said Barclay-Thomas.

Engaging the public in science is a priority for the St. Lawrence River Institute, and Hickey has been in many classrooms educating young students on the wonder that is the natural world.

"I really think that scientists need to spend time with the public, particularly with young students," said Hickey, who quite enjoys his time away from his regular work as a research scientist.

Not only did students learn about phylum, genus, order, and species, or about arthropods and one-celled organisms, but about the future they might have in the field of science.

"It gives them a good idea of what's out there in terms of jobs for those interested in science," says Hickey.

Barclay-Thomas agrees, pleased by the genuine curiosity shown by her students in the unique opportunity to learn from an expert.

"It's so hands on," she says. "They loved it."

Important Recall Notice

The Maker of all human beings is recalling all units manufactured, regardless of make or year, due to the serious defect in the primary and central component of the heart. This is due to a malfunction in the original prototype unit code named Adam and Eve, resulting in the reproduction of the same defect in all subsequent units.

This defect has been technically termed "Subsequential Internal Non-Morality" or more commonly known as SIN, as it is primarily characterized by loss of moral judgment. Some other symptoms are:

(a) Loss of direction
(b) Foul vocal emissions
(c) Amnesia of origin
(d) Lack of peace and joy
(e) Selfish or violent behavior
(f) Depression or confusion in mental component
(g) Fearful

The manufacturer, who is neither liable or at fault for this defect, is providing factory authorized repair and service FREE of charge to correct the SIN defect. (The number to call in your area is F-A-I-T-H. Simply believe that Christ died for your sins, was buried and rose again, and your unit will be regenerated. No matter how big or small the SIN defect is, Christ will repair and replace it with):

(a) Forgiveness
(b) Love
(c) Joy
(d) Peace
(e) Longsuffering
(f) Gentleness
(g) Goodness
(h) Faith
(i) Meekness
(j) Temperance

Please see operating manual HOLY BIBLE for further details on the use of these fixes. (See sections I Cor. 15:1-4; Eph. 1:7; and Gal. 5:16-26).

WARNING: Continuing to operate the human unit without correction voids the manufacturer's warranty, exposing the owner to dangers and problems too numerous to list and will result in the human unit being permanently impounded. (For free emergency service before it's too late: call upon the Lord Jesus Christ who loved us and gave Himself as a ransom for our sins).

DANGER: The human units not receiving this recall action will have to be scrapped in the furnace.

This action was authorized by the Creator. – Selected

Heading to Taiwan for an "English" adventure

MORRISBURG – When Bobby Jack Hart of Riverside Heights and Tara Deavey of Ottawa step off the plane after a 17 hour flight next week, they will be in Taiwan, the country they will call home for the next several months.

Bobby Jack, 35, and Tara, 24, completed a TESOL (Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages) course which certifies them to teach English in countries throughout the world. For their first excursion they selected Taiwan an island Republic of China.

The couple met this summer at Upper Canada Village where Bobby Jack works seasonally as a broom maker. "Tara and her Mom were tourists and we started talking," says Bobby Jack. The talk led to a mention of the TESOL course he took in May and his intention to teach English overseas. "I only work six months of the year at the Village, so I was looking for something to fill the void."

As for Tara, "I was between jobs and getting frustrated. It was something I had been thinking about."

Bobby's enthusiasm spilled over and Tara took the course, which includes 30 hours in a classroom and another 40 hours of distance learning on the Net, in September. The two stayed in touch after their chance meeting, grew close and decided to head out together.

The TESOL course requirements are a command of the English language. "But the more education you have the more lucrative it can be," explains Bobby Jack who is a Seaway High School graduate. Tara has a college diploma in small business management.

"We are set up with a guy from Calgary who founded the Taiwan Teachers Association," explains Bobby Jack. "He's been in Taiwan for six years, where he teaches, and he knows how hard it is to step off the plane and settle into a strange country with a different language."

"Our plane flight is paid for, and our housing is subsidized. We will also have health and dental coverage." Bobby Jack and Tara will be working for themselves through a broker with the Taiwan Teacher's Association. "He'll help negotiate our contract, and help us get set up. Then we'll be on our own."

They are guaranteed a job in Taiwan and will go through an interviewing process from which they will select a school. The children in Taiwan attend regular school classes from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. and for an additional hour, between 2 p.m. and 9 p.m., they attend an English class paid for by their parents. In fact, these classes, will often include the parents.

"We will teach from 2-9 p.m. Monday to Fridays and that leaves us the rest of the day to do private lessons."

The pay is good and additional private lessons can bring in as much as $100 Canadian for a one hour session. They will be paid in new Taiwan dollars (TWD) and expect, that because of the low cost of living which is about $300 per month (including rent and food), they will be able to put away some savings.

"A lot of students do this type of thing when they finish school to pay off their student loans," explains Tara.

According to Bobby Jack there is a big demand world-wide for English teachers. He says today's trend of people doing business on the Internet, which is 80 percent English, has created the demand for English.

"If they don't have English they can't get a job in their home country, or move up in the job they do have, especially in commerce," says Tara.

Bobby Jack and Tara look forward to living in Taiwan and learning the culture. "We are teaching in the province of Taichung where they speak Chinese Mandarin (official language) and Taiwanese," says Bobby Jack. "Their language is written in characters, and we will be taking both language and cultural courses."

Through his extensive research, Bobby Jack has found the Taiwanese are learning as much English as they can and as an example he explains how they gather to await the arrival of the garbage trucks. "The garbage trucks are equipped with loud speakers which broadcast 12 messages in English. The first message is a 'Good morning, how are you?'. which they answer to."

Bobby Jack has also looked into their culture to avoid any blunders. "I have discovered they consider it a dishonour to show the bottom of your feet."

Taiwan has a tropical climate with four seasons. Winter is from December to February with the average temperature at 29C. The only information he has kept from Tara, and which he revealed during this interview, is that "Taiwan is the number one place in the world for typhoons and earthquakes, with the odd tidal waves thrown in."

But, before she gets herself worked up over the weather, Tara says her main concern is the lengthy 17 hour plane flight which includes stops at Chicago and Tokyo before arriving in Taiwan.

Bobby Jack and Tara have received advice from Mei Chung a longtime resident of Morrisburg who comes from Hong Kong. Chung showed them how to write their names in Taiwanese and warned them they will probably be sick, on and off, for the first month of their stay. She advised them to take water and mix it gradually with the local water to help in the adjustment.

The two are looking forward to their adventure and Bobby Jack has learned, "they take good care of Canadians there. Best of all, I'm going to be tall over there. I picked the one country in the world, where I will be considered tall."

Heading Out for the Far East

Take a walk in Morrisburg

MORRISBURG – About 12 years ago, the vice-president of the Morrisburg and District Historical Society, Reverend Donald Smith, devised a walking tour of Old Morrisburg.

This week, a new and improved walking tour is being made available to the public.

Smith passed away before he had the chance to revise the walking tour guide book, which is now out of print and no longer available.

Last March, members of the historical society decided to revisit the idea.

The new tour guide is available on the society's website, where society president Shaun Wallace has added new photographs of 27 historic buildings and has revised the text that describes the significance of each.

The tour begins at the docks on the east end of the village and travels west down Lakeshore Drive, including as well homes and churches on High, St. Lawrence, and First streets.
