Morrisburg may be site of new 100-bed home

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — The village of Morrisburg remains among several possible locations for a new 100-bed home for the aged. The United Counties of Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry are seeking the new location to replace the Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge on Montreal Road in Cornwall.

The results of the feasibility study by the Toronto-based management consulting firm, Peat Marwick and Partners, is expected in six weeks according to county administrator Raymond Lapointe.

Lapointe said the consultants have looked at possible locations in Cornwall Township and Ingleside as well as Morrisburg. Funding has not been received from the Ontario government, but Lapointe said it is expected the province will fund half of the $5 million cost.

The United Counties council decided to build a new home more than a year ago. A study completed several years ago estimated repairs and renovations to the existing facility would cost between $8 and $10 million.

The need for the new home was recommended in a recent report released by the Eastern Ontario District Health Council. The report also stated that the number of senior citizens in the United Counties, as elsewhere in Canada, is on the rise and few residents living in Dundas County use the current home in Cornwall because of its location. The new facility will service residents west of Cornwall.

Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough said council has spoken with the consultants and showed them the facilities the village has to offer. "They wanted to see the things we had in town, like the ambulance service, the clinic, water and sewers, and to look at the site," he said. "Everything is in order. The site is already zoned institutional, they just have to recommend it."

The five acre parcel of land located on Fifth Street, between Ottawa and St. Lawrence Streets, was purchased from the SD&G county school board in 1985 for $25,000.

Morrisburg had the opportunity to attract a nursing home to the village two years ago, but the builder cancelled plans to build the home near the Legion because of public opposition to the location.

Project near end

MORRISBURG — Motorists who are becoming frustrated at the seemingly never ending sewer construction on the corner of Fifth and Ottawa Streets can take heart that work is nearing completion.

Les Cruickshank of Cruickshank Construction Limited said the intersection should be paved by the end of next week. Ottawa Street will be paved at the same time.

"We will put one lift of asphalt down in the fall and another in the spring," he said. "We are doing it in two stages to allow settling to occur over the winter."

Cruickshank said he realizes people are probably wondering why the intersection was dug up so many times but he said the construction had to be completed in stages.

"There are a lot of connections in the intersection and some people think we made a mistake," he said. "Actually we had to install a six inch water line there to replace a two inch line. The people on Ottawa Street continue to need water so we had to install the six inch pipe, connect it and then go back and take out the two inch line."

With so many lines connecting in one place, Cruickshank said the best thing to do was one project at a time, fill it in and start on something else.

Work is almost completed north along Highway 31 to the trailer park, and after that crews will move to the Morrisburg Golf Course. Construction will begin at the pump house over to the road east of the golf course, and across the course. If two machines are used, Cruickshank said the project will be completed by early December. Work around the Legion area, however, is completed and he said there will be no more digging.

"It' hard to predict a timetable with the weather the way it is and sometimes we have to redig when we find unexpected surprises," he said. Cruickshank pointed out the reason digging occurred twice around the Legion is because crews found a septic tank under First Street, and they had to get rid of it before sewers could be installed.

Spooks delight in Hallowe'en night

Although all bad witches have promised to remain in hiding until Friday, October 31st, not so their nocturnal friends with eyes eerie enough to frighten even the most ghoulish of monsters. So if in the next few nights you should hear the whisper of wings and the lonely whoo, whoo of one of these night creatures stalking its prey don't look over your shoulder . . . remember the celebration of All Hallow's Eve is again approaching and be on your way. Although the witching hour is still some time off, the odd ghouls like those pictured above have been making early appearances. —McNairn photo

Petition circulated in Osnabruck Township

Residents group opposes centre

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

OSNABRUCK CENTRE — Opponents of the $2.8 million recreation centre planned for Osnabruck Centre met Monday night to discuss strategy and organize an alternate proposal.

The Chairman of the concerned ratepayers group, Ross Walker, said residents do not have enough money to pay for such a large facility. "We only have about 1,400 taxpayers and that is a lot of money," he said. "Our tax base is low and we don't have the numbers to talk these kinds of dollars."

Walker wants to put a counter proposal to Osnabruck council. He has suggested that the lands south of Highway 2, owned by the St. Lawrence Parks Commission would better serve the community. He said council has a verbal agreement with the Parks Commission to rent the land for 20 years, in four five-year segments, on the condition that no buildings are put up on the land.

"I strongly believe that down the road we can lease the land with favorable conditions," said Walker. "It needs to be cleaned up but it would make a perfect place for a baseball diamond."

He says many people are not pleased with the site chosen by council for the recreation centre. Council had to choose a site owned by the township in order to qualify for government grants, but Walker said it is located in an industrial park and people are opposed to that. He also said the site is out of the way for most people in the township, and it would be better if council sold the land and used the money to build a baseball diamond on Parks Commission land, and in the future build an enclosed swimming pool attached to Rothwell-Osnabruck high school. Walker says if the pool is located there, every child in the township would have the opportunity to use it.

"We had a very positive response to our counter-proposal and I have had a lot of phone calls from people about it," said Walker. "We're not trying to dump the whole idea but this gives council another avenue, and maybe they will realize we can go with a Chevrolet instead of a Cadillac."

Thirty-seven people attended the meeting Monday night, and 20 took petitions to circulate throughout the township protesting the recreation centre. Walker says his group is not trying to cause a disturbance but they are realistic about the money problems. Walker plans to present council with the signed petitions before their final meeting with the recreation centre contractors on Nov. 24.

School board trustee not pleased with ban in SD&G

Louis Daignault
Leader Staff

CORNWALL — Although his plea that door to door sales by young students be banned was adopted Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board trustee Gerald Samson says the board didn't go far enough.

The board voted last Tuesday to immediately ban door to door fundraising by students attending English schools from kindergarten to grade 6.

The decision comes following an incident in Ottawa where a nine-year-old girl was sexually assaulted while selling chocolate bars door to door.

Samson wanted the ban to include all elementary separate school students, up to grade 8, as well as the French language schools.

Samson had proposed a ban at a board meeting last June following an incident involving a Cornwall girl.

There are more than 4,000 students in the English panel under the board's jurisdicition.

During the debate, Samson pointed out that the Ottawa Board of Education and the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County School Board had already banned door to door fundraising.

Rosaire Leger, the director of education for the SD—G school board said door to door sales had been banned there since early 1985.

"We have administratively forbidden door to door canvassing since Jan. 1985," he said last Thursday.

Leger points out that their decision simply means the Principal's Association forbid raising money for the school through the door to door route or by canvassing for sponsors.

But when a child is asked to sponsor for an organization outside the school, for example raising money for the Cancer Society, Leger says it's up to the parents to control the child.

"We wrote a letter to the family saying the school forbids canvassing," he said. "Once the child leaves the school it's out of our control."

Morrisburg, Iroquois and Rothwell-Osnabruck Public Schools all fall under these guidelines.

The French panel of the Separate School Board disagreed with their English counterparts saying door to door canvassing doesn't jeopardize the student and as long as guidelines are followed and parents assume their responsibility there should be no problems.

Silo fire caused by spontaneous combustion burns for three days

TOYES HILL — A silo fire, first detected at the Martin Bongers farm near here Friday, was finally eradicated Monday when the top of the cylinder was lifted and the burning haylage doused with water and removed layer by layer.

"We were covered by insurance," said a very relieved Martin Bongers Tuesday who, with his family had put in a very long and arduous weekend. He indicated though that his loss could have been much greater. Half of the silo and its contents were salvaged.

In total, the Williamsburg Fire Department was called to the scene four times beginning Friday, when the fire was first detected.

At that time says Williamsburg Fire Chief, Lyal Kehoe, there was nothing the Fire Department could do. The Farm Safety council was contacted and Saturday a procedure which took eleven hours and involved a special chemical mixed with water, was used in an attempt to douse the fire. "The chemical is supposed to leak through the haylage and hit the hot spots but I guess it was too late, by then," said Bongers.

By 3 a.m. Sunday morning the fire was once again blazing.

The Bongers' insurance company was contacted and it was decided to lift the silo top and remove the haylage which could not be unloaded normally because it was burning too badly.

Kehoe said the silo was very close to the barn and there was the danger of losing that building throughout the ordeal. The fire had burned a 10-foot concave hole about 32 feet from the ground.

After the silo top had been lifted, about noon on Monday, the haylage was doused and removed in layers.

The silo was reduced by about half, to 32 feet, and the haylage in this portion was salvaged says Bongers.

The fire was the result of spontaneous combustion explained Kehoe. Haylage has to be over 40 per cent in moisture when stored as opposed to hay in a barn which has to have less than 40 per cent moisture content.

Villeneuve won't support homosexual amendment

Louis Daignault
Leader Staff

MOOSE CREEK — Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry MPP Noble Villeneuve is less than happy about an amendment to the Ontario Human Rights Code that would prohibit discrimination against homosexuals.

"Why should we provide special rights for the gays?" asked Villeneuve. "As of now they have the same rights as other citizens in Ontario."

The amendment is part of many in Bill 7 which was created this spring so the Ontario Human Rights Code can conform to the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

The special clause was added during a recent Justice committee hearing of which Villeneuve is a part. He was one of two MPP's of the 10-person committee to vote against it. The other was Peter Partington, PC MPP representing the Brock riding.

"If the legislature approves it, the message we send to the people of Ontario is that we accept and encourage homosexuality," the local member said. "I have problems with that."

Villeneuve also says he is concerned about the younger generations and how such an amendment would affect them. "The message we send is my main concern," he said.

Ontario would be the second province, according to Villeneuve, to have a sexual orientation clause in its charter of rights, the other being the province of Quebec.

He stresses though he has got nothing against homosexuals. "I'm not a basher of homosexuals," he continued. "I just happen to think it is not a normal way of life."

But Villeneuve is now seeking for a clause by clause discussion of the amendment which was approved on second reading by the Justice Committee.

When the amendment will go before the legislature, Villeneuve is not quite sure.

"Possibly the government will put it on low list of priorities, he said. "But I've heard rumblings that they may pass it quickly."

He notes if the government does rush the amendment, it leaves church groups and other pressure groups unable to have a say about the situation.

According to Villeneuve most of the Progressive Conservative caucus would vote against it.

"And I know some Liberals who have trouble with it too," he adds.

He perceived the NDP would vote for it because they were the ones who wanted it in the first place.

Villeneuve believes that adding sexual orientation to the code would change the way the family is seen by most Ontarians. And if the amendment is approved he says, it could require that schools, day care centres and social agencies employ people whose sexual behaviour is not compatible with those agencies.

He points out as well that the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedom does not refer to sexual orientation.

Confusion surrounds potential impact of government's Bill 38

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — Depending upon whom you talk to, Bill 38, the Ontario Government's Act to amend the lottery corporation means either disaster for recreation in small communities or it is a tempest in a teapot.

The bill which is going into second reading, would redirect lottery funds from Lottario and Wintario into a general tax fund, rather than reserving the money for recreation purposes only.

"How will we fund capital expenditures like arenas and how do we maintain them?" questions Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry MPP Noble Villeneuve. "That is a concern to me."

Villeneuve said Wintario funding has brought great things to small communities and the reallocation of funds will create a serious problem. "In my speech in reply to the speech from the throne, I advised the government that it had better not touch Wintario funds," he said. "I fully intend to speak against this bill."

The Ministry of Tourism and Recreation (MTR) handles the distribution of lottery funding and MTR official Lucio Appolloni says the bill will not affect recreation funding. "The way the Lottery Corporation was set up we had earmarked certain money for cultural and recreational purposes and we had a guarantee that we would receive this money," he said. "We will still receive this money but the rest will be given for other purposes."

Appolloni said the Provincial Treasurer stated quite clearly in his speech that the government would continue to support culture, recreation and fitness activities. He said the Ontario government is committed to improving the way of life for Ontarians.

"Many people were concerned the government was going to take funding away from recreation," said Appolloni. "I think we can rest assured that the distribution of funds for recreation and fitness will fluctuate year to year depending upon need, but recreation will be one of the sectors that will receive funding from the government."

Bill 38 will remove the guarantee for funding but Appolloni said it is just a matter of sharing between all ministries. Some of the money in question will be used to support new hospital beds across the province.

If Bill 38 receives approval, a specific amount of money will not be put aside for recreational purposes and this is not acceptable says Villeneuve.

"I am going to vehemently protest against this bill," he said. "If it passes, I at least want a general amount left in the fund for recreation. I would like to see the people who spend their five dollars a week, like I do on lotteries, get some of their money back."

A resolution from Onaping Falls council to protest the bill has been sent to Ontario municipalities. Morrisburg clerk Lloyd Barkley said he has received the letter and council will discuss it at the next meeting.

Recreation facility planned for Williamsburg

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

WILLIAMSBURG — Construction will begin shortly on a $90,000 recreation building planned for the ball park here on Church Street.

The North Williamsburg Recreation Association received a $45,000 Wintario grant, but Recreation Chairman Ron Froom said fund-raising will be needed to meet all the construction costs. "We are hoping some businesses will donate materials," he said. "The value of any donations we receive will be put towards the extra money required to complete the project."

The ball park has been without washroom facilities since vandals burned the buildings to the ground on Hallowe'en night 1985. In addition, vandalism has practically destroyed the rink shack at the park. "The fire finalized it, we had to build new facilities," sais Froom. "We couldn't hold any ball tournaments this summer without facilities."

The new building will be located along the east end of the tennis courts. It includes washrooms, changing rooms, a meeting room and snack bar. The cement block work matches the new fire hall, and will deter vandalism. Froom said tenders will be called in two to three weeks. "If possible, we hope to start work on the building this fall," he said. "We have to spend half of the Wintario money by January or we will lose it."

The building was designed by a local architect who requested anonymity. It will be wheelchair accessible and measures 32 feet long by 46 feet wide. The snack bar will be located at the north end of the building under a canopy which measures 32 feet long by 20 feet wide. Froom said the Recreation Committee will gladly accept good used refrigerators or stoves for the snack bars.

The building will be open year round and Froom said any group that wishes to use the meeting room is free to do so. "There is no charge for using the room but any groups interested will have to book their night in advance," he said.

Williamsburg Township will look after the maintenance of the building, but the Recreation Committee may hire someone to look after it some time in the future. Froom said the committee's main concern at the present time is raising funds to complete the building.

"We are looking at the possibility of a 50-50 draw to raise money, but we haven't made any plans yet," he said. "We haven't approached any organizations for money but if any businesses want to donate that's fine."

The police village of Williamsburg has donated $4,000 towards the new building, and Froom said he is pleased Williamsburg Township council is also supporting the project. "They are behind us, they felt the facility was needed and they left it to the recreation committee to get the plan underway," said Froom. "I think the people on the recreation committee are very dedicated and they have done an excellent job."

Vandals beware

MORRISBURG — Dressing up in wild costumes and trick or treating are not the only Halloween traditions. Unfortunately vandals abound on Halloween night. Morrisburg and Iroquois fire departments will be on stand-by alert for any fires Friday night. In addition, Iroquois village employees and Morrisburg fire fighters will be patrolling the streets and will alert police to any signs of trouble.

All available personnel from the Morrisburg OPP detachment will be working said Sargeant Roberts. The OPP will patrol Williamsburg and Matilda Townships, including Morrisburg and Iroquois.

Life for the world's kids

November 2nd to November 8th marks the fourth annual Crime Prevention Week in Canada. Proclaimed by the Solicitor General of Canada, the week encourages Canadians in all walks of life to explore the matter of crime prevention, and how they can play a significant role. The ways are many, and they will readily come to light. It is a matter of serious concern to all Canadians that losses due to shoplifting, particularly during the last few months of the year, not only contribute substantially to the cost of living, but also to irrevocable character damage for many people. As a responsible citizen, you too can play a part in controlling and reducing the crime rate in your community and your country.

Shoplifting is theft, and theft is a crime. Shoplifters who are tried and convicted are punished. That's a message which Canada's retail merchants and police would like very much to get over to the public, especially with the Christmas shopping season approaching.

The long-range results of a conviction for shoplifting are much more than the fine or jail sentence which might be imposed. The criminal record which becomes a part of the shoplifters's lives may prevent their ever getting passports. They may find getting jobs very difficult. And they may never be bondable.

Police worry that people, especially youths, think of shoplifting as a lark instead of as the serious crime which it is. Merchants point out that it affects every consumer, since the loss must be made up by higher prices.

Store owners across Canada are being offered special training from police agencies in making shoplifting harder to commit, but easier to detect. Many shoplifting incidents are one-time shots which will never be repeated. They occur because the opportunity arises and the shoplifters think that they won't get caught.

But increasingly, they are being caught, and are being prosecuted. That is the other part of the message which the retailers are trying to spread.

Crime everyone's worry

For more than 30 years, Canadian children have collected coins on Hallowe'en to help UNICEF children around the world. Last year, Ontario's young people raised over $600,000 to assist UNICEF Canada's projects in many countries.

The collection from the UNICEF Hallowe'en boxes assists projects supporting better health care, improved nutrition, clean water and sanitation. One of the major focal points of the United Nations Children's Fund is the Expanded Program of Immunization, which aims to eventually immunize every single child in the world against killing diseases. The lack of such immunization results in more than 5 million child deaths each year in the developing world from polio, measles, diphtheria, tetanus, tuberculosis and whooping cough. These diseases are no longer a threat to Canadian children due to the availability of vaccines and comprehensive immunization programs.

These programs are extremely cost-effective, too. It costs just over $5.00 to immunize one child for life against the six major killing diseases. And that cost includes the price of the vaccine, transport, and medical support. Another plus is that immunization also avoids the high cost of rehabilitating an afflicted child in the future.

But achieving the goal of universal child immunization is not without challenge. It is essential for many vaccines to be maintained at a constant cool temperature to retain their effectiveness. This is being done with specially-developed, solar-powered refrigerators and battery-powered cold boxes. The vaccines are tested regularly to insure their effectiveness.

Parental support is the cornerstone of any successful immunization program. UNICEF plays an important role in educating mothers on the importance of immunization as well as encouraging proper health care and nutrition for their children. Mobile health clinics are provided by UNICEF to give mothers easy access to basic health care. Otherwise, thousands of rural women would be unlikely to carry their children the long distances to the nearest health clinic for proper health care and immunization.

This Hallowe'en Canadian school children will once again be carrying UNICEF's orange and black collection boxes. Please join UNICEF in helping to immunize millions of children by having your supply of coins ready this Hallowe'en. Your children will assure the children of this world a better tomorrow.

THE CITIES AND TOWNS OF CANADA
III
MORRISBURG, ONTARIO

General Notes and Early History

In legal parlance, Morrisburg is an "incorporated village", but a stranger would unhesitatingly call it a "town", and across the border, on an emergency, it would pass for a city. It is beautifully situated on the north bank of the St. Lawrence, 92 miles west of Montreal, in the Township of Williamsburg, County of Dundas, Province of Ontario. The river at this point varies greatly in width. Opposite Morrisburg, it is about one mile wide, while above and below it narrows to a few hundred yards. The boundary line is the centre of the steamboat channel, and as this is invariably close to the north shore, our American cousins have possession of nearly all the beautiful islands which add such a charm to the scenery hereabouts. Morrisburg is at the foot of the Rapid du Plat Canal, which is three miles in length. The rapids are not so steep but what powerful steamers can ascend them. As at Prescott and Caughnawaga, the river never freezes over here, and a ferry runs every day, except Sunday, to Waddington, N.Y., which is situated nearly opposite. As a winter ferry, it is considered the most reliable on the St. Lawrence River.

The County of Dundas is made up of the townships of Williamsburg, Matilda, Mountain and Winchester, and embraces an area of about 250,000 acres. The first settlers were the disbanded soldiers of the Royal Regiment of New York — volunteers, who had espoused the cause of the King at the outbreak of the American Revolution. The regiment was commanded by Sir John Johnston. It was 800 strong, and composed mainly of Germans, the balance being Scotch. At the close of the war, surveyors were set to work to divide as much land as was deemed necessary into lots for distribution among those who stood firm in their allegiance, and preferred the wilderness under the Union Jack to their comfortable homesteads under the Star Spangled Banner. These people were known by the name of "United Empire Loyalists", soon contracted into U.E. Loyalists, and each man was entitled to one hundred acres of land on the river front, and two hundred further back. If married, he was entitled to fifty more for his wife and fifty for each child. Each child was also entitled to two hundred more on coming of age or at marriage. When the Loyalists arrived at Cornwall, they were met by the Land Agent, who requested each man to take a slip of paper from a hat. Thus were the lots appropriated, but, it is said, the settlers afterwards arranged matters more to their satisfaction by exchanging, and so it came that old comrades, who had side by side fought the enemy, now settled down as neighbours to fight the primeval forest. The British Government gave each family clothing sufficient for three years, food enough to suffice until crops could be gathered, a supply of seed, an axe, a spade and a hoe; a plough and one cow were deemed sufficient for two families, and a cross-cut and whip saw served four. Boats and portable mills were also distributed. The first settlers arrived in the county on the 20th June, 1784. Most of them found that they had more land than they could manage, and U.E. rights became a drug on the market. It is on record that two hundred acres of land — now the site of a thriving village — were sold for a gallon of rum. The average price, however, was from 25 to 30 dollars for a lot of 200 acres. Speculators thus were able to gain possession of a large number of the lots drawn for children, and subsequently sold them to immigrants at a large advance. The early settlers did very little farming, devoting their attention mainly to getting out of timber for the Quebec market. Later on, when the tide of immigration set in, many turned teamsters, earning four dollars per day for conveying passengers and freight between Cornwall and Prescott, towing vessels &c. A female ancestor of one of the wealthiest families in the county used to drive one of these passenger wagons. This good woman gave as a reason for thus trenching upon the domain of the Lords of Creation, that the raftsmen and other rough customers who formed the bulk of the passengers, could easily cheat or frighten a man out of his just dues, but that she was not thus to be imposed upon with impunity. After the St. Lawrence Canals were completed, and steam tugs introduced, the people settled down to agricultural pursuits, and the county is today one of the most prosperous in the Dominion. To the excellence of the back country the gratifying progress of Morrisburg is largely due. There is no regular market day, but all the week long the farmers wend their way to the village with wagons or sleighs according to the seasons, laden with wheat, barley, oats, peas, beef, pork or butter — the latter commodity being a specialty. The manner of doing business here is rather novel, As the loads of produce arrive they are surrounded by the buyers, and the owner becomes an auctioneer, standing on his load and stimulating the bids to the best of his ability. The market building is a rather shabby wooden structure on an open space at the eastern extremity of the village. A new and more creditable building is to be erected during the coming summer. The market building includes the Town Hall, which serves as a Council Chamber and Court Rooms. The Reeve acts as Police Magistrate, but, to the credit of Morrisburg, his labours in this direction are exceedingly light. A Division Court is held here six times a year.

THE WINDSOR HOUSE.

The population of Morrisburg is about 2,000. The total assessment amounts to $581,670, and the rate of taxation is six mills to the dollar. It is the most important village in Dundas, and in the event of a separation from Stormont and Glengarry — an event which is now being agitated — it would undoubtedly become the County Town. Farms in the village are held at $350 per acre; outside the municipality they bring from $70 to $120, according to location and soil.

The first impression a visitor receives upon entering Morrisburg is that he is among a community of well-to-do people. Everywhere are to be seen residences which would grace the fashionable streets of any of our cities, and in the business quarter there are blocks and buildings equally creditable. A few facts and figures respecting some of these establishments may not be out of place.

Farlinger's Block

is a fine pile, occupying a commanding site near the business centre. The owner, Mr. Alexander, or Captain Farlinger, as he is generally called, many years ago commanded one of the Hon. John Hamilton's steamers. When the "Trent Affair" caused such a stir throughout the Empire Mr. Farlinger was not found wanting. In a very brief time he raised a company of volunteers, and doubtless, had duty required it, he would have been among the first to "do or die". Thus the gallant Captain has a dual claim to the title which he bears so worthily. Bidding goodbye alike to navigation and the tented field, Captain Farlinger now deals extensively in real estate, and is also a warehouseman, commission and produce merchant. His offices and stores occupy half the block. Some idea of the volume of his business may be formed from the fact that, during the past year, he handled about 85,000 bushels of oats, 50,000 of barley, and butter to the value of $20,000, besides a large quantity of miscellaneous produce. His real estate dealings are upon a corresponding scale. Having established a system of farm tenantry, granting leases of from five to ten years, he has over two hundred tenants, and so mutually satisfactory is the arrangement, that many of his tenants have been occupants for upwards of twenty-five years. He has a large number of farms and village lots in Dundas to dispose of, and 8,000 acres in the counties of Prescott and Russell. Captain Farlinger resides in a venerable mansion on the river side at the east end of the village, but purposes erecting a palatial residence during the coming summer. Believing that Morrisburg is bound to grow, he has had the home farm of 280 acres surveyed and laid out in town lots, with roads seventy feet wide.

The Captain and his estimable wife are among the "main-stays" of the village, being as St. Paul enjoins, "given to hospitality" and always ready to help onward in any good work. It is said that Captain Farlinger will be nominated as the Conservative candidate at the next election for the Commons. He is exceedingly popular throughout the county, and, by all accounts, he would make a capital representative.

The Molsons Bank branch, which occupies the other half of Farlinger's Block is, as may be imagined, a great convenience to the business community. In the management, a commendable desire to meet the wants of the public has always been shown. The branch was established in 1872.

Meikle's Block

Another fine block is that known as Meikles'. The Messrs W. and J. Meikle are dry-goods merchants, and their store attracts customers from near and far. Their stock is large, well-assorted, and marked in accordance with the truthful adage that "the nimble penny is better than the slow shilling". Adjoining is the tailoring establishment of Messrs. Smith & Montgomery. This, like many of the Morrisburg business houses, is quite city-like in all its details. It is often remarked in country towns that a city man can be easily recognized by the cut of his clothes. In the case of Morrisburg, this guide would certainly fail, for it is a fact that the gentlemen residents are as well-dressed as the orthodox "citizen". It is true, many village tailors are dreadful failures, but Morrisburg happily possesses tradesmen who thoroughly understand their business.

occupies a central position. The Messrs. Bradfield deal in shelf and heavy hardware, iron and steel, coal, paints and oils, and, as in the case of most country stores, there is a grocery department attached.

Mr. William McKendry, dry-goods merchant, as well as a tailor and grocer, is the biggest advertiser in the village. His announcements usually occupy a whole page in the local papers. His use of printer's ink, backed of course, by a performance in accord with the promises set forth, has evidently proved a good investment, for his store is one of the best in the village, and the run of the business is very large.

Gibson's Mill and Elevator are situated at the foot of the canal. The former is a large frame building containing four run of stones. The latter is a substantial erection of brick. Its capacity is 90,000 bushels and it will elevate 1500 bushels per hour. The firm W. Gibson & Co. handle a large quantity of grain, sending a deal of barley to Montreal. Their purchases this season of all kinds of grain, wheat, oats, barley, buckwheat, corn, &c., will amount to about 150,000 bushels. The head of the firm,, Mr. William Gibson, represents the County in the Commons, having been elected as a supporter of the MacKenzie Government at the general elections in 1872, and re-elected in 1874. He is a shrewd businessman, a keen observer of human nature, and one who, having travelled a good deal, has profited by what he has seen and learned. He is a most genial soul, fond of a joke, and rarely seen without a smile on his face. His social qualities, allied with the fact that he is not a "rabid" party man, have won him many friends. When Sir John A. Macdonald was entertained at Morrisburg last fall, it is said matters went rather tamely until jovial "Willie" Gibson joined the festive party and cracked a joke or two with the Conservative chieftain. Mr. Gibson's residence has some historical interest attached to it. At the time of the American invasion, Gen. Wilkinson halted there. It was then occupied by "Squire" Rose, whose little boy Isaac was so scared by the soldiers that he hid under a bed. One of the officers coaxed him

the Kitchen Garden

V.A. Hughes

Every moment of bright sunny weather at this time of year is treasured. That brief taste of snow was enough for us, There are always too many things left undone at the end of the season and time is short. This past week saw us accomplish more in three days than we'd done in the previous three weeks. It's amazing waht a little pressure can do.

The Business theory of dealing with pieces of paper (never pick the same piece up twice) applies equally well in the garden. If you're pulling weeds remove them from the scene immediately. In our case they're consigned to the chicken run - no worry there of having seeds or roots of some offending grass that might invade the flower beds. The chickens delight in having some greenery to scratch and nibble. Ever hopeful that we may have brought them some juicy grub they keep a sharp eye on our activities, waiting with anticipation for each new load.

Having finished with the weeds we start to clear the big barrel planters. The Marigolds and Portulaca, which have been finished by the frost, are pulled and their blackened foliage consigned to the back of the flower beds. We will give the much hardier Nicotine another week or more. A top-dressing of fresh chicken litter, to break down some of the tougher stems, is applied and by spring we can just turn it all under and start again.

Keeping the leaves raked may seem like a chore to some, but if you've checked the price of topsoil lately, you may think twice about conserving this resource.

"Making your own" is one way the gardener can save for those more important things: one load of topsoil equals a dozen of the new hardy Rose bushes, 300 Daffodil bulbs or a young blue Spruce for Christmas. Besides the compost you get from leaves contains very few weed seeds.

We look on it a bit like making wine, a creative process and if you have a sharp fall day to do it on so much the better. We're not enthusiastic about building enormous piles that you turn and water and check the temperature to make sure they're "working". In the city we just don't have the space. More often we just bag the leaves, throw in a shovel of fresh manure, tie the top and heave it in the corner. By the time we need a mulch next summer the stuff will be ready to use and the plants love it.

The raking also uncovered two hand trowells and a dozen or more bulbs that had been left to ripen. We planted the bulbs and returned the trowells to their home in the tool box. Having a place to put them helps., like th bill hook on the Kitchen wal that's where the keys live - ca keys, store keys, mail and hous keys. Takes some training b once the habit takes, it works a you can always find them... w almost.

We've put the lawn mo away hoping that we won't h to give the grass another before the snow. Too much hope for? We'll have to wait see.

Seniors' club hold October meeting

Fifty-six persons met in St. Matthew's Church Hall for the October meeting of the Ingleside Sr. Citizen's Club No. 283. Three visitors and three new members were presented and welcomed. Happy Birthday was sung to five members. A minute's silence was observed in memory of one member and also for the Immediate Past President of Zone 35 of the U.S.C.O.

Minutes were read and approved. Mansell Flegg reported the number for bowling had risen to ten and appealed for more to participate. Miriam Brady reported three sympathy cards and two get-well cards and also two gifts for and "In Memoriam" for two recently deceased members.

The Committee, appointed to investigate the possibility of moving our place of meeting, reported unfavorably and as the Executive had already decided against it the matter was dropped.

Mansell Flegg reported on four possible day trips the committee could take if enough persons signed favorably; a school bus would be the transport.

Guest speaker for the day was Mr. Richard Floyd of the free legal clinic in Cornwall. It had been in existence for only one and a half years and was formed chiefly for those persons in low income brackets.

Although there are many aspects of the legal profession, he spoke on wills, stating that even though one does not have much money or property, every one should have a will so there would be no difficulty in disposing of anyone's possessions. He explained about the necessity of an executor to administer it or if there is no will then the Court would have to appoint an administrator. It is important to store the will in a safe, secure place such as your lawyer's safe, trust company or a safety deposit box in your bank. Have only one copy of it that is witnessed and signed. Also attach a codicil.

One of the program members, Dorothy Crites, presented Floyd with a gift, thanking him. Committee president John McFarlane also thanked him.

Meeting was adjourned, grace was said and all moved to the tables, set and loaded with food.

During the afternoon different games were enjoyed by many.

40 years for the children

Once again it is that time of year when children's thoughts turn to Halloween and "Trick or Treat". It is also the time of year to think about UNICEF and what it does for children all over the world. We in Canada who have so much must think of those in other countries who have so little.

Every day of each year 5,000 children die from dehydration caused by diarrhoea. These deaths could all be prevented. All it takes for each child is a packet of salts and sugar which, when mixed with water, stops dehydration. UNICEF is working hard to promote and distribute these packets and in another five years could be saving two million children every year. UNICEF is also fighting the six common diseases of children - measles, whooping cough, Tetanus, Tuberculosis, diptheria and polio. UNICEF is the world's largest single purchaser of essential drugs, including vaccines.

UNICEF, through long term development programs, provides clean water, basic health care, adequate nutrition and basic education to children in 117 countries. UNICEF can't do all this without help. Every donation received is matched by the Canadian International Development Agency and some provinicial governments.

The children of Morrsiburg Public School and Riverside Heights Public School have been provided with UNICEF boxes for this Halloween. When they come around to your door, please be generous. However, please donate only to children who have the special UNICEF boxes. If you wish to donate in another way, please send your contribution to Mrs. Claire Dunn, P.O. Box 531, Morrisburg, Ontario and you will be provided with an official receipt from UNICEF.

Morrisburg History

"Here, my little man, you shall have something to say that no one else can," and with that he seated the child astride of one of the field pieces, saying, "You can boast of having sat straddle-legs across one of Uncle Sam's cannon".

The Windsor House

Last spring a considerable addition was made to this house, and it is now wanting in nothing. It has comfortable public and private parlors, the bedrooms are roomy and neatly furnished and in every other respect, the proprietor, Mr. Walter Ford is untiring in his endeavours to cater to the wants of his patrons. The yard and stable accommodation (for 60 horses) is excellent, and, in a word, Mr. "unsurpassed by any dollar-a-day house in Canada".

The Churches

The Lutheran Church, close by, is a tastefully designed structure in red and cream-coloured brick. The Lutherans are very strong in this county, and their churches are inevitably exceedingly creditable. The Rev. M. Fishburn is the minister of the Morrisburg Church.

The Wesleyan Methodists worship in a commodious, comfortably-appointed edifice. The body seems to be in a prosperous condition. The Rev. R. Hammond is pastor.

The Roman Catholic Church is a small, neat structure, occupying a commanding site overlooking the river. The Rev. J. R. Meade is the resident priest.

IN MEMORIAM

SCHWERDTFEGER — In loving memory of a dear sister Donna who left us October 30, 1982.
The dearest sister, the kindest friend,
One of the best who God could lend,
Loving, thoughtful, gentle and true,
Always willing a kind act to do.
Sadly missed and never forgotten

SCHWERDTFEGER — In loving memory of a dear daughter Donna who left us October 30, 1982.
On a beautiful island somewhere
There's a dear daughter of ours
Whom we looked on as a treasure
And had the honor of calling her ours
You often said we missed you
These words have proved so true
For part of us went with you
Someday we know not when
We will be together again.
Always loved and sadly missed

SCHWERDTFEGER — In loving memory of a dear sister Donna who left us October 30, 1982.
Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of her today
Are those who loved her best.
The flowers we lay upon her grave
May wither and decay
But the love for her, who lies beneath
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed and never forgotten

Card of Thanks

The Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary wishes to express thanks to the many people who helped make our International Bazaar and Festival a success. An undertaking such as this requires the co-operation and helping hands of many people and we were indeed fortunate to be the recipients. Because the list is so long, we cannot begin to name everyone. But to the many ethnic groups who presented displays and musical talent we thank you. Without you, we would not have been International. To the garages and car dealerships whose financial support enabled us to look so festive and to the local artists and florists, thanks for your talents. Most of all to those who worked and supported us, a very large thank-you, it was most appreciated.

Gail VanNoy, President
Committee of the International

McInnis resigns from library board

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — Morrisburg resident Mike McInnis was honored by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Library Board Monday night for 10 years of service with the board.

McInnis was presented with a book, and a plaque to be hung in the Morrisburg Library by board Vice-Chairman Edwin Waldroff.

McInnis joined the board in 1972, and was a member of the county council when planning for a county library system began.

"There were six or seven libraries in the county when I started," McInnis told a crowd of 20 well-wishers. "Since the last one opened in Morewood on Oct. 25, there are about 20, and the number of books being read by the public is always increasing."

McInnis decided to leave the board about one year ago. He said he felt it was time to move on and give someone else a chance. "The times change but sometimes we don't," he said.

Thanks for the hard work

Plans to build mall in Iroquois scrapped

IROQUOIS — A proposed official plan amendment to change lands located on the corner of Elizabeth Drive and Frank Street, south of Highway 2 from highway commercial to general commercial have been cancelled.

At a public meeting Tuesday night, reeve Frank Rooney said the parties involved had withdrawn their amendment. The proposed zoning by-law amendment would have enabled a mini-mall to be built on the land. Rooney said he had received two letters from property owners in Iroquois concerning the proposed amendments, but neither was a complaint.

"The parties are still interested in the property but not for a mini-mall purpose," he said. "I guess they found out it was not a profitable venture. At the present time the land will remain highway commercial."

Residents protest zoning change

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

BRINSTON — Matilda Township residents voiced their opposition at a public meeting Tuesday, to a proposed plan to change zoning by-laws for Lots 15, 16 and 17, Concession 1, from rural to residential hamlet-holding.

The land, which is bordered by Highway 2, Hilliard's Creek, Doran's Creek, and the St. Lawrence River was sold to Matilda Township by Ontario Hydro in 1983, with a rural zoning. Planning Consultant Larry Cotton said the objectives of the re-zoning are to recognize the existing residential area, permit expansion of the existing residential area, and acknowledge flooding rights of Ontario Hydro on land that falls below the 245 feet contour level.

The proposed four severances would create 11 building lots, and one road to service the lands. Cotton said the purpose of designating the lands as residential hamlet-holding was to give Matilda Township council control over development. All vacant lands under RH-holding zoning must remain vacant unless council gives permission to build. Under residential hamlet zoning, permission does not have to be obtained from council before construction can begin.

Several township residents who own land in the area objected to the restriction. One man in the audience wanted to know if he needed permission to build a tool shed near his house under RH-holding. When he was told that he would, he voted against the zoning.

"We recommended the holding zone be removed and all the lands concerned be rezoned from rural to residential hamlet," said Cotton. "Residential hamlet zoning permits general commercial uses, such as a store, but it is only permitted where they front on a major public road like Highway 2."

Cotton said however, that Matilda Township by-law 80-4 concerning residential hamlet zoning doesn't mention permitting stores, only tourist facilities or private homes. "Basically the residents are trusting their council to guard their interests and make good decisions," he said.

The lands south of Saver Road, owned by Ontario Hydro will be designated Open Space from rural, which will limit the use of the lands to recreational purposes.

Police report . . .

MORRISBURG — OPP here report a quiet weekend with three impaired driving charges laid. A break and enter occurred at Tibben Construction in Iroquois on the evening of Oct. 23. Entry was gained through the north east window and $30 was stolen. Constable Frank Wert is the investigating officer.

LONG SAULT — A bicycle valued at $100 was stolen from the Killarney Apartments in Ingleside on Oct. 23. Two rear tires and rims were removed from a 1977 Ford Thunderbird parked on the S.G. Wells and Sons car lot on Highway 2 in Ingleside on Oct. 24. Both incidents are under investigation by the Long Sault OPP.

Long Sault OPP also reported two horses were struck and killed on Highway 401, near the Avonmore Road on Oct. 26 at 3:45a.m. The police had received several calls that horses were loose on the highway, but failed to locate the animals.

N.A. Cho-Suck, 29, of Weston Ontario was driving a 1986 Chevrolet van westbound on Highway 401 when he spotted the horses standing on the median. The horses bolted into the path of the vehicle and were killed. The driver received minor injuries, and one passenger, Hoon Oh, Joong was not injured. The horses belonged to Romeo Saucier and were estimated to be worth $2,000. The van received $10,000 damage.

In addition, Long Sault OPP seized nine radar warning devices, laid four impaired driving charges, two 12 hour suspensions, 2 liquor license charges and received two hunters complaints over the weekend.

Senior Spartans lose share of first, juniors hoop fourth win

MAPLE RIDGE — The Seaway District High School senior girls' basketball team gave up its share of first place in SD&G A school play here Wednesday afternoon with a 57-40 loss to North Dundas Devils.

Although enjoying a 14-7 advantage at the end of the first quarter the Spartans were unable to hold off the North Dundas attack which was led by a fine performance from Donna Koekkoek who put together a 25-point effort.

As a result of the loss the Spartans slipped out of a tie with the Devils and the R-O Lancers for first place. Until Wednesday's game all three had lost one game - R-O to North Dundas, Seaway to R-O and North Dundas to Seaway.

The Devils recovered from their first quarter disadvantage late in the second half and with 4:35 showing on the clock they had evened it 16-16. They carried a 26-22 lead into the second stanza.

From then on they continued to work their way to the victory, taking a three-quarter 40-28 lead and finishing it at 57-40.

For their part the Spartans had a hard time penetrating the North Dundas defence and they were being beat to the rebounds.

Koekkoek led the Devil's effort and she was backed by a 13-point game from Tracie McVey. Rose Rombough hooped another 10 points. For the Spartans Halie Adair turned in 18 points with Cindy Warren adding six. The Spartans saw their ranks depleted in the second half when both Warren and Lisa Van Hoof fouled out.

In junior action the Spartans continued their winning ways downing their hosts 48-36 to improve their record to 4W-2L.

The junior Spartans increased an 11-10 first quarter lead to a 22-16 half-time advantage as they worked their way to the win. Although they held the edge in play throughout the game they were plagued by the successful long shots of Connie Armstrong.

In the third quarter Seaway turned it on to move ahead 36-22.

Coach Judy Madden said one of the reasons for the success was that the whole team rebounded excellently especially Kathy Byvelds who also enjoyed noteable success at the free throw line.

Madden is also impressed with the play of rookies Jennifer McNairn, Kelly Tryon and Elizabeth Jones. All three are still midget age.

Kathy Byvelds and Kim Bucking led the Seaway scoring combining for 31 points.

Riverside darts

Murphys steal show

RIVERSIDE HGTS — Twenty-one mixed dart teams participated in the annual Riverside mixed league tournament here Saturday - a Greely team walking away the winner.

Sean and Jill Murphy and Joe and Cathy Foley threw their way to the $300 first place prize money after picking up 18 out of a possible 20 points in preliminary round action.

Second place and $200 was claimed by the Riverside team of Cecil Lewis, Bobby Jack Hart, Gail Robinson and Sandra Julien and a second Riverside team consisting of Mike and Darlene Lortie, and Glen and Lorraine Adams won third place and $100. Fourth place went to the Mel Typhair team from Kemptville.

The 21 teams were divided into two divisions the winners of Division A (Murphy) and B (Lewis) meeting for the championship and the runners up in A (Typhair) meeting the runners-up in B (Lortie) to decide third and fourth places.

The men's high score was won by Don Lennard 140 and the ladies' by Jill Murphy 140. Both winners were determined by throw-offs.

A total of 10 players came in with 140s over the day. They included Sean Murphy, Glen Adams, Mel Typhair, Hilton Vout, Bob Binette, Jim Kerrey, Dwight Dodge, Don Lennard, Jill Murphy and Cathy Sherman.

Lancers still on top

INGLESIDE — The R-O Lancers continue to lead the SD&G A school basketball league, the juniors riding on top of a six-win record and the seniors with one loss in six starts.

Last week the junior Lancers downed Glengarry 55-26 for win number six, Stephanie Wells supplying 23 points and Cheryl Servais adding 22. Peggy Antonine, who had a big day rebounding, hooped another six.

The junior win over Glengarry came fresh on the heels of a 53-40 victory over North Dundas October 16.

The seniors, led by the 30 point performance of Kelly Dafoe, downed Glengarry 46-29. Sandra Fleming provided six points and Debbie DeGray, Tammy Ware and Bonnie Pidgeon were defensive standouts.

The Lancers now share the league lead with North Dundas both having a 5W-1L record. The Lancers lost their only contest to North Dundas, October 16, 66-52, and North Dundas was defeated the first game of the season by Seaway.

Ferrets stretch football winning streak, Meanies bounce back into second

MORRISBURG — Russell Cameron's White Ferrets continued their nine-game winning streak in town league flag football play Sunday morning when they defeated the Reds 33-12.

The victory boosted the Ferrets' win-loss record to 10-1 for 20 points, 10 better than the second place Blue Meanies who had a 13-12 win over the Greens Sunday.

The Ferrets played a strong defensive game against the Reds allowing only two touchdowns, one to Steve Casselman on a flee flicker and the other to Kevin Adams.

Cameron threw a pair of touchdown passes to Tim Smith and singles to Mike Laurin, Doug Brunt and Jeff VanMoorsel.

Tom Dawley's Blue Meanies scraped out a close one against the Greens. With the Greens ahead 12-7 Phillip Dillabough picked off a Leo Lafortune pass to give the Ferrets ball possession and set the stage for Kent Dawley's winning touchdown. John Vaughan had the other Meanie touchdown and answering for the Greens was Doug Wilson.

Standings

Ferrets	20
Meanies	10
Reds	8

Baker (left) and Dave Sabourin (14), members of the Seaway High School Spartan senior volleyball team, work the net during action against CCVS Thursday. The senior Spartans ving a good season says coach Rick MacKenzie with a 4W - 2L record for a third place ng in S.D.&G. play. MacKenzie says the team still has an outside chance of finishing the first place and they will definitely claim a playoff spot. Thursday the Spartans won one of ames against CCVS and swept St. Lawrence High. The Junior Spartans split their day's vinning a match against St. Joe's and losing to CCVS. —McNairn photo

LEAKING ROOF MEANS

Later start for local curlers

MORRISBURG — Unforeseen problems have delayed ice-making at the Morrisburg Curling Club but if all goes well in the next few days local curlers will be hitting the ice for regular season play next week.

Jack Parnell explained to club members at the annual club meeting last Tuesday that over the summer the club roof had developed a very serious leak. The sand on the floor became wet and had to be dried out before the process of making ice could begin.

The poor condition of the roof was brought to the members' attention at the annual meeting in the spring. Along with a figure of more than $20,000 to correct the roof problems it was hinted that to improve ice conditions it would cost another $10-$20,000.

Many members at the time felt it was a question of priority - the roof or the ice surface floor.

Due to the unusually wet summer the roof problems came to the forefront this fall. Reg Wild, a member of the roof committee, explained the problem was confined to the west end curling area. "The area was repaired, some breaks over the club room were fixed and compound was put around the eaves," he said. "The cost was $2,400."

"What everyone must remember is that the roof was put on in 1957 and the best guarantee you can get is 20 years." pointed out Wild. "We are way past 20 years and where we stand now is that the roof should be tight this season and if we have trouble raising money we may be alright for next year too."

Club president Peter Brunt informed the members that estimates had been obtained for a new roof and they were well over $30,000.

Parnell reported that a new doorway had been cut into the workroom and necessary plumbing adjustments made, including the installation of a new water heater. The bill for this had been defrayed by the senior men's club.

Attention was then turned to the coming season and calendar of events. Alan Brunt said anyone interested in renting ice time had better do so soon because the calendar was quickly filling.

The Opening Mixed Bonspiel was slated for November 9, a second club mixed for February 7 and the closing mixed March 28.

A Little Rock Curling Bonspiel is to be hosted by the Morrisburg Club November 15-16 and the Founders Bonspiel will be played December 5-6. On December 14 the Branch Coltz Playdowns will be held at Morrisburg and January 3-4 have been set aside for the Gore Mutual Playdowns.

During the week the club will be busy. Along with regular club activities high school curling is scheduled every Tuesday and Friday from 4-6 p.m., Beavers Dental has the ice Wednesdays from 5-7 p.m. and Friday nights there is Industrial League curling. Sunday from 2-4 p.m. is Little Rock curling, from 4:15-6:15 a mixed league rental and from 6:30 to 8:30 R-O High School curling.

Club activities include evening men's Mondays and Thursdays, evening ladies Tuesdays, mixed Wednesdays, senior mixed Thursday mornings, men's afternoon Monday, Wednesday and Friday and Ladies' afternoon Tuesday and Thursdays.

Members have received their membership forms in the mail and new members can contact Gerald Adams.

Junior B Lions split weekend games, give Falcons a good run

MORRISBURG — The Morrisburg Junior B Lions ran out of steam in the third period of a Rideau-St. Lawrence league game here Sunday afternoon against the Prescott Falcons, allowing the Falcons to drive home three goals for a 6-3 win.

Up until the third period the Lions stayed with the Falcons, trailing 2-1 after the first and 3-2 heading into the third. While dominating play in the opening two periods their biggest problem appeared to be getting the puck out of their own end—a problem which cost them several goals.

Given a couple of weeks practice on their own ice, they had only one prior to Sunday's game, coach Steven Casselman should have the problem cleared up and next time round the Falcons will have to work a little harder for their goals.

Goaltending Sunday by the Lions' Kent Pilon who hales from Ingleside was outstanding even in the third period when his defence began to let up. His efforts were matched by Andy Cummins when the Lions defeated the Bruins 6-3 in Spencerville Saturday night, said team owner Mike Waddell.

With the Lions looking strong in the goaltending department and plenty of talent in the defensive corps the Lions look to be in for a good season. Greg Whitteker had a good game on the blueline Sunday planting several good hits on the Prescott skaters, something the Lions have been lacking the past few seasons.

Also looking very much at home on the ice Sunday was Sean Baker who is beginning his third season with the Lions. Baker played last year with the Smiths Falls Bears of the Central Junior A Tier II hockey league. Normally a defenceman he is playing forward this season.

The Falcons opened the scoring Sunday five minutes into the first period and at 13:20 the Lions Jim Bennis tapped home a Randy Mullin rebound to tie it. The Falcons went ahead 2-1 with 3:22 left in the frame when a Morrisburg defenceman coughed up the puck to Paul Heisel at the Lions net.

Goals were traded in the second and five minutes into the third Lions' Scott Robinson beat Falcon goaltender Rob Huttinga with a beautiful shot from the faceoff circle to even it 3-3.

From then on the Lions began to falter and the Falcons put home three counters in just under four minutes for the 6-3 win.

Counting for Prescott were Tony Anderson, Paul Heisel, Mike Garswood, Tom Dedekker, Jody Merkley and Jeff Boyce. Bennis, Robinson and Randy Mullin did the scoring for the Lions.

The Lions handled eight minor penalties, six for roughing and the Falcons sat out 11.

Saturday night in Spencerville the Lions controlled the game all the way leading 4-0 after the first and 5-2 heading into the third. Sean Baker led the effort with a three goal performance, Donald Black struck for a pair and Reg Francis had a single.

Scoring for the Bruins were Steve Bullock, Warren Moore and Chris Farley.

Randy Orr was between the Spencerville pipes and Andy Cummins saw action for the Lions. A total of 20 minor penalties were assessed, 13 to the Bruins. The Bruins' Steve Baker and Lions' Lyle Schell drew five minute fighting majors.

Playing in the Spencerville lineup was Bobby Deleavey who was in the Lions' lineup for four years. He was picked up as the Bruins overage player this season after the Lions kept Donald Black and Dan Breyer.

This Sunday, November 2 the Lions host the Westport Rideaus in a 2:30p.m. matchup. No games are scheduled Friday night.

Local league play

Legion darts

MORRISBURG — The Red Devils took a big step forward in Legion mixed dart league play here Tuesday night after coming up one point short of a perfect night against the One Eyed Rileys.

The Devils put together six consecutive wins before accepting a tie for the 13 point night and the league lead at 36 points, three better than the second place No-Names who edged past the Tailenders 4-3.

Hartley Graham was back in form striking for four Red Devil wins and Bonnie Jarvis and Pearl Harris added singles.

For the No-Names, Orval Delage found the winning spot three times and Jim Schultz had a single. Carl Schwerdtfeger had two Tail Ender wins and Lynn Dillabough threw one.

The Two Plus Twos had a strong night picking up 10 points from the Red Hots to move into third place. Gerry Roberts threw three wins and Mary Ann Whittaker had a pair while for the Red Hots Dorothy McBain and Tom McCutcheon had singles.

The Gamblers dropped from third place into fourth when they ran into difficulty against the Bozos, who won the night 5-2. Elva Baker did most of the damage for the Bozos with four wins and Ruth Rice contributed a single. Answering for the Gamblers were Sarah Merkley and Alec Whittaker.

The Go Gos scraped past Popeye's Pals 4-3, two wins coming on throws by Harry Chapman and singles from Phyllis Roberts and Brian McNairn. Karin Schultz, Marg McCutcheon and Lyndon Casselman had the Pals' outs.

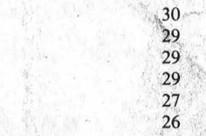
Riverside darts



RIVERSIDE HEIGHTS — The Dream Team took a big fall in Riverside mixed dart league play here Wednesday night, a fall which carried them all the way from a tie for first with the Dart Busters into fifth spot.

The fall was broken and the Dream Team held at fifth place thanks to the three-out performance of Kim Grey.

The demise of the Dream Team however didn't get the Dart Busters home free for up stepped the Dipsticks to claim eight wins and a share of first. Terry Fawcett had another big night with four wins, Floyd Elliot struck twice and Carl Robinson and Gayle Hart (spare) had singles.

The Dart Busters had seven wins, five on throws by Mike Lortie.

Wereley's Warriors and the Dead Beats worked their way to a third place tie at 29 points, the Dead Beats on 12 wins and the Warriors on eight. Dave Robertson found the winning spot five times for the Dead Beats, Cecil Lewis four times and Sharon Wereley three. William Casselman (spare) had five Warrior outs, Brian McNairn two and Ted Seymour one.

Led by the three-win performance of Ron Bradford the Spoilers claimed an eight point night for a fourth place standing. Backing Bradford were Chris Casselman and Don Lewis with two wins each and Sandra Baker with a single.

The seventh place Off the Boards claimed six points, two each from Gary Hart, Mary Casselman and Nelson Julien and the basement dwelling Classics managed four. Gail Robinson helped their cause with two outs and Rob Casselman and John Gummeson had one each.

The Hindenders had the evening by. High scores: Gary Hart 140; Terry Fawcett 136; Mike Lortie 117-100; Elva Baker 104; Gary Bradford 102; Carl Robinson 100-100; Sharon Wereley 100-100; Brian McNairn 100.

A bird's eye view from R-O

by Mike Bird

Welcome to the second Rothwell-Osnabruck article. I will incorporate the information from the first (unprinted) article into this one. The school year has gone quite well thus far. We all started off on the right foot by upholding tradition and renting the grade nines at a slave auction. Although there are fewer of them than last year one cannot tell from looking at the proceeds from Slave Day or the way they still block the hall.

Students' Council has been busy since the beginning of the year, organizing intramural events for the entire school and by starting an Audio-Visual Crew. We held our first dance of the year and drew in nearly two hundred people, surpassing even Social Convenor Alec McEwen's expectations. Alec will be holding a Hallowe'en dance on Thursday the twenty-third.

We are also sending two students and one teacher to a S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) seminar; the school will be starting its own S.A.D.D. later in the year.

Commencement was held on the twelfth. The many hours of frantic decorating were well worth the final result: the gym looked excellent and the event flowed along without interruption. Darcy Beckstead, this year's valedictorian, gave a fine speech and the refreshments were good.

The Students' Council is also selling Christmas gifts this year. Students were given a catalogue which they were supposed to take home with the intention of selling merchandise depicted to family, friends, and neighbors. Popcorn and spices will not be sold this year, something that is a regret to all lovers of these commodities and a joy to all others.

Our teams are doing well this year as well. The Junior Boys' Soccer Team had their first win this season against Tagwi. The team is faring far better than any other in the past five years, despite a slow start.

Our girls' basketball teams are also doing very well. The junior team is first in its division; they won their last game against North Dundas 53-40.

Stephanie Wells scored 19 points, Peggy Antoine scored 12 and Cheryl Servais scored eight. Our senior team is tied for first place in its league. In its most recent game it lost to North Dundas 66-52 with Kelly Dafoe scoring 32 points.

Finally, our Cross-Country team has attended three meets. The team is our largest ever, filled with the bright and eager faces of students who like to run long distances and feel ill. The brightest stars have proven to be John Derochie, Michael Colebrook and Trevor Nickerson. Team member Mike Bird is still finishing somewhere in the middle.

The Concert Band has started the year off well and has already played its first concert. The band has also elected its executive members; however, I do not have a list of them with me right now. I will assure you that they seem to be competent people and you will find out their names in the next article.

The grade 13 class went on its trip to Stratford and several universities. The trip was "fun".

Finally, the school is starting a new literary magazine entitled "This". We will be accepting submissions of short stories, poetry, etc... until November twentieth. We will, I hope, be able to print every submission.

Seaway High news

by Wendy laurin

Gold medalist Linda Thom came to Seaway on Monday to talk to the senior students. She spoke of the importance of dreams and goals in a person's life... how we should persist in trying to achieve, no matter how impossible it may seem.

In Sports, both senior soccer teams had bad luck last week. The senior boys were defeated 4-1 by Glengarry and the senior girls were robbed of their EOSSA chances when Tagwi defeated them 1-0 at home.

There was a volleyball tournament for the boys' teams Thursday. The senior boys did very well improving their record to 4 wins and 2 losses. They are in third place with CCVS first and La Citadelle second.

Then came the dance Thursday night. It was a video dance sans lasers. I guess the truck carrying them broke down in Toronto so we had to do without them. The dance was still pretty good with most people wearing black and white. The "referee boys" painted their faces too, as well as several others, mostly seniors. The black "garbage bag girls" were also very interesting!

Keep the greasepaint close at hand, all those who painted their faces. At the upcoming Pep Rally you'll have the opportunity to paint your face, bang some pots and pans and generally make a lot of noise cheering for Seawy. Bye, see yah in November!

Third period goal ends Peewee Bs chances

WINCHESTER — A third period goal by Kevin Williams, his second of the game, gave the Winchester Peewee B Hawks the security they needed to hold on for a 2-1 victory over the Morrisburg Lions in exhibition play here Monday night.

The Hawks had taken a 1-0 lead late in the opening stanza on a Williams tally assisted by Brad Robinson and held their advantage until midway into the final when Williams added the security.

Rob Domanko struck for the Lions with 2:33 showing on the clock, Mike Francis picking up the assist.

Billy Dillabough and Lenny Beckstead shared the Morrisburg net duties.

Hunting and Fishing by Rex Weegar

NO ICE FISHING FOR LAKE TROUT IN 1987

The Ministry of Natural Resources has proposed new regulations for 1987 Lake Trout fishing in the two local areas 9 and 10. This includes such popular lakes as Charleston and the Big Rideau. Ice fishing will no longer be allowed and there will be reductions in the limits of catch for the summer season as well. After several years of study and public meetings the Ministry has decided that the changes and new regulations will be introduced next year. It will also be illegal for anglers to use herring as bait when fishing for Lake Trout in areas 9 and 10.

With the reduction in seasons and limits and hence the yearly catch of fish look for the provinicial government to cut back and possibly stop the stocking of Lake Trout in the future for many of the local lakes. The government expects to raise as much as $10 million by forcing Ontario fishermen to buy a fishing licence for $10 each to fish in the province. Many experienced anglers and sportsmen feel that the biologists now setting up these new programs very often are full of theory and book-learning but are very seriously lacking in practical on-the-water type of experience and knowledge that has been gained by old seasoned sportsmen. It is common for the officials to accept ideas found in a textbook from Sweden or Texas and ignore or not seek advice from local residents who have fished or hunted in the area for 50 years or more. Old notes and records can provide valuable information if accepted.

DEER HUNTING PROSPECTS LOOK EXCELLENT

The deer population is on the increase in Eastern Ontario thanks to the buck law and several good winters. Local hunters can expect to have very good deer hunting for the season opening on Monday, November 3, 1986.

Because of the increased population more hunters have been successful in obtaining an antlerless permit in the 1986 tag draw. The "Selective Harvest" system has done a good job increasing the deer herds over the last few years.

Many hunters would like to see the draw system changed from the present system where each applicant has the same chance or odds of drawing a tag. The new proposed system would be similar to the moose draw where people who did not draw a tag before get priority or better odds in the next year's draw. This new system for the deer tag draw would be an improvement, giving hunters who did not draw a tag a better chance to obtain one the following year.

DEER HUNTING HINTS
HUNTING SWAMPS AND WETLANDS

The spring and summer has been very wet and the ditches, swamps and low forest areas contain a lot of water. Many of the traditional hunting areas will be difficult to walk this year but hunters should not give up on these areas because of water. The deer will still be in those bushes.

It may be necessary to use hip-boots or chest-waders but the deer will seek refuge on the hills or ridges just above the water. In fact the deer may feel that the water will provide a measure of security and protection for them. Remember to hunt the high areas of the wet bushes where deer have been seen in other seasons, even if it means wearing special footwear.

HUNTING IN RAIN OR SNOW

During periods of heavy rain, snow or wind deer will often seek the protection of heavy cedar or spruce evergreen forest and thickets. If these conditions exist during this year's deer hunt spend some time driving or dogging out this type of cover. You may be surprised at the number of deer these types of bushes can hold during bad weather.

HUNTING NEAR THE END OF THE SEASON

Deer that have been hunted and dogged for several days will often seek cover in some rather unusual and unexpected areas. Large bushes have been heavily hunted sometimes several times per day. The deer will move out and take cover in smaller areas such as a patch of willows, abandoned farm fields grown up in golden-rod, a large patch of cat-tails near a creek or river and even in fields of standing corn. If the deer in a forest area seem to have vanished after a few days of heavy hunting you can expect to find them in adjacent areas similar to those mentioned in the previous sentence.

LOCAL MOOSE HUNTERS BAG 2 BULLS

Four local moose hunters, Mark Stevens, John Allison, Fred Stevens and this writer recently returned from a hunt in Northern Ontario near White River, Ontario with two large bull moose weighing about 1000 poiund each. Seven other moose were sighted within 100 yards during the hunt. The fishing was also excellent with over 60 pike and pickerel being caught. Mark Stevens caught a 14 pound northern pike on a spinning rod with light line that took one-half hour to play and land. Anyone wishing to hunt or fish in this area should contact :

Invitation extended for evening of free curling

MORRISBURG — Are you one of those ladies who would like to try curling but are just a little hesitant at making a commitment without first giving it a try?

If you are, the ladies section of the Morrisburg Curling Club has the answer for you.

Wednesday, November 5th the ladies are hosting a special fun night especially aimed at non-curlers. A friendly one-time event, informal instruction will be offered followed by a few ends of play. The evening will begin at 7 p.m. and will end with a wine and cheese party.

"All of us realize we have to promote curling or interest is going to wane," said ladies' club president Robin Lane at a meeting held last Tuesday night. "What we want is to encourage new women to come out."

All lady members were asked to bring a guest for the evening and everyone is more than welcome said Lane.

In other club business the ladies' executive was given permission to go ahead with renovations to the club kitchen.

Along with a new door and window work is needed on the east wall to prevent mildew.

AIR-CONDITION WITH TREES

Okay I know what you're saying to yourself, "this guy either has his seasons all mixed up or he's slipped some gears, this is no time to talk about air-conditioning".

Not so - look at the title again - we are talking about a special type of air-conditioning and since the fall and the spring are the ideal times to transplant trees I felt this little article would be quite in order.

Step into a woodland on any hot summer day and you can appreciate, without needing any elaborate instruments to prove it, the air-conditioning job performed by trees. They can do the same work at your home.

All summer long the shade trees intercept and absorb the sun's heat, at the same time transpiring cooling water. With your house shielded from the impact of the sun's rays, inside temperatures are kept lower - power consumption for the air conditioner is down. Even if you don't have an air conditioner, those beautiful gifts of nature can help you be more comfortable. Differences of eight degrees in temperature have been recorded between shaded and unshaded outdoor surfaces.

As winter approaches, the clever shade trees shed their leaves to let the sun shine through to help warm up your home. Incidentally, shade trees will do their work most effectively if they are arranged on the south and west sides of the building. They should be no less than about 20 feet from the house so they won't crowd the walls once they are fully grown.

If you are purchasing a lot that is already treed, do your utmost to have the contractor preserve the trees that will be in that relation to your house. If you are buying a lot, or house and lot, that have no trees in the required area then you should plant as soon as possible.

Quite large trees can be transplanted while they are dormant in the fall and spring, naturally the larger the transplant the sooner you'll reap the full benefit, but it will quite probably be your pocket book that will govern the size.

Whatever the size however - now is the time to think about it.

Come in and see us. We have treed and untreed lots as well as landscaped homes. We will also be glad to refer you to landscapers who will give you free estimates and suggestions for what you require.

Upper Canada style

Guests at Upper Canada Motel received a scary surprise this week as employees became involved in the spirit of Hallowe'en. Upper Canada Motel manager Barb Robertson said some of the guests were frightened by the strange people dressed in an odd assortment of clothes hanging around the office, but she doesn't think UCM resembles another famous motel by the name of Bates, in any way. Pictured above, left to right are: Barb Robertson, Diane Scott, Winnie Hutchinson and Connie Cement.

Continues for six weeks

Family course begins in November

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG — A six week series focusing on marriage and the family will be held at Caravan Camp starting in November. The series of video presentations by Dr. James Dobson, Associate Clinical Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Southern California will be on Monday, Nov. 3 and continue each Monday evening from 8 to 10 p.m. until Dec. 8.

The project is sponsored by the Anglicans in Mission Committee of Morrisburg and Iroquois. Organizer Nick Lee says he hopes everyone in the community will take advantage of the presentation.

"Dr. Dobson is easy to listen to and he is very humorous," said Lee. "He draws from personal experience and his discussions are frank and open about a wide range of subjects, particularly in the areas of adolescence and bringing up children."

The six one-hour videos were taped at Dobson's presentation in San Antonio, Texas, which was attended by 3,000 people. "It's for everybody," said Lee. "We didn't want people to feel it was sponsored by the Anglican Church just for Anglicans, so we decided to hold the presentations in a neutral place, like Caravan Camp."

Lee will be the Chairman at each of the six evenings, which will cover childhood, adolescence and marriage. The first evening deals with the strong willed child, followed by a discussion of discipline, fathering, preparing for adolescence, peer pressure and what wives wish their husbands knew about women. The series is free of charge.

Lee said he hopes the series will encourage people to think in a different, more considerate way. "No one can say they are not going to experience things in family life and marriage that he talks about on the tape," he said. "Sometimes we do forget the little things."

Rick Hansen will not stop in Morrisburg

OTTAWA — Rick Hansen's Man in Motion World Tour to raise money for spinal cord research will not visit the St. Lawrence Valley area.

Nancy Thompson, the tour's manager said Sunday night from the nation's capital that Hansen, who is travelling around the world in a wheel chair, would arrive in Napanee tonight.

After a rest day on Thursday, Hansen will continue along the Lake Ontario shoreline stopping in Colborne Friday, Oshawa Saturday and Toronto on Sunday.

Since Monday he has travelled through the Ottawa Valley including Carleton Place and Smiths Falls.

Olympic champion visits Seaway

Judith O'Brien
Leader Staff

IROQUOIS — Courage, motivation and determination are some of the qualities required to be an Olympic athlete, but you need a dream to get started Linda Thom told senior students at Seaway District High School Monday.

Thom, the first Canadian woman and the first woman ever to win a gold medal in shooting at the 1984 Olympic Games said she dreamed of becoming an Olympic Champion for many years. She said she received her first set of toy pistols at age six, "but I wasn't like Rambo."

Thom, sporting her gold medal around her neck, said she began shooting internationally in 1970 and quit five years later. When she returned to the sport in 1982 she found many things had changed but not her determination. "I hung on to my dreams and I challenge and encourage SDHS students to write down their dreams and goals and to continue to improve and expand them," she said.

Positive thinking and knowing that she wanted to win the gold medal helped towards her goal said Thom. "If you keep your goals in front of you, you will find how much easier it is for you to achieve them," she said. "Everyday I wrote in my diary that I was the 1984 Olympic gold medal winner."

She said it was a quiet feeling to win the top honor and part of her success was visualizing herself as winning. "You have to build on all the little successes and forget about all the times you fell in the mud," said Thom. "That is the way champions do it."

Thom also told the students it is important to learn from mistakes, because there is a lot of negativism in our society. Her advice to the students was never quit.

She also used the occasion to present the trap shooting tournament champion trophy to Roger Van Adrichem, a student at SDHS. Van Adrichem shot 44 out of a possible 50 in a recent tournament to claim first prize. SDHS has the only trap shooting club in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

SD&G could be smoking capital of Canada

CORNWALL — Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry have more smokers than both the provincial and national averages, and may well become the smoking capital of Canada according to a report released by the Eastern Ontario Health Unit last week.

The random survey was completed last November and shows the highest smoking rate is among the unemployed, with 58.8 per cent of men and 62.2 per cent of women as smokers. The survey is the first step in an area-wide project to discourage smoking among residents of S.D.&G.

Sixty per cent of men with no high school education smoke, while 50 per cent with some secondary education smoke, and only 38 per cent of high school graduates smoke.

The women's results are the opposite. Only 27.8 per cent of women with no high school education smoke, and 54.3 per cent with some secondary education somke. The percentage of the high school graduates who do smoke is identical to that of men.

Employees in the manufacturing and trade sector are the heaviest smokers, with 52 per cent of the men and 32 per cent of the women smoking. Clerical and service sectors are next, with 46 per cent of men and 49 per cent of women listed as smokers.

Male administration workers and professionals count 28 per cent as smokers and 36 per cent of the women.

Farmers are mostly smoke-free with 38 per cent listed as smokers, while 45 per cent of women who are homemakers smoke.

Dear Sirs:

On behalf of the committee of the International Bazaar and Festival held Oct. 18, and sponsored by the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, please let us express our thanks to The Morrisburg Leader for the co-operation and service given us. All year long, The Leader remains willing and more than happy to publish our correspondence. But it's truly at times like this, when publicity plays such a role for success or failure that we truly appreicate your service. Our bazaar was a huge success and I am sure part of it was the service your paper gave us.

Once again from our committee thanks for your co-operation. It was a pleasure dealing with your friendly staff.

Yours truly,
Arlene Davidson

Year round work required at UCV

Judith O'Brien
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—Upper Canada Village is open to the public from mid -May to mid-October each year, but operating the village is a year round job.

"When you have 240,000 visitors come through the village in a couple of months, things tend to wear out," said W. J. Patterson, Superintendent of historic sites.

Twenty-five people work at the village twelve months a year, including nine security officers, three animal caretakers, office staff, maintenance staff such as painters, cleaners, carpenters and cabinet-makers. In addition, 25 seasonal workers comprised of seamstresses, gardeners and maintenance crews are required to help close up the village and open it each spring.

Patterson said most of the buildings are weather-proofed. Panels are placed against doors to protect from drafts, covers are placed over chimneys and double windows are installed. The majority of the buildings containing furniture are heated, and the temperature is maintained at 50 degrees farenheit.

"The buildings are old and we want to protect them from the cold," said Patterson. "Cook's Tavern is especially vulnerable. We seal the entire east side of that building because it is very soft, and the east side gets the worst of the weather."

The inside of the buildings are also looked after. Freda Carl, the head cleaning lady at the village, goes through each building and does a major cleaning of linens, bed clothes and furniture. Painting and wall papering is done over the winter, and any repairs to floors, stairs and door sills are undertaken by the maintenance staff. Machinery used at the village is cleaned, oiled, greased and covered, and the water used in the mill is shut off.

More than just inanimate objects are prepared for the winter. The animals at the village are moved to a winter barn just outside the village. "The winter barn is more modern and all the animals are housed there, except the poultry which stay in a small building near the barn," said Patterson.

While the interpreters at Upper Canada Village finish on the last day of the season, seamstresses remain until the end of October, and they return two to six weeks ahead of the seasonal staff in the spring. The costumes worn by the interpreters are cleaned, repaired and stored over the winter, while some old ones are discarded. The seamstresses make new costumes for the village staff in the spring.

"Our fall clean-up is usually completed by the end of October, but it will be delayed this year because of the Disney movie filming," said Patterson. "We will be doing our clean-up from November 1 to 15, because we don't want to disrupt the filming."

A person who had his own idea about restaurant take-out service is now wanted by Nepean Police.

On Monday, January 27, 1986 at approximately 02:30 p.m. a female cafeteria employee at the Woodroofe Ave. campus of Algonquin College was pushing a trolley cart of cash receipts from the kitchen office area. When she reached a secluded area, away from other employees, she was suddenly confronted by an armed man who had been stealthily awaiting her arrival.

The bandit held his gun to the head of the victim, and made a grab for the money bag on the cart. The employee also grabbed the bag, and a struggle for possession ensued. The gunman overpowered the woman, after which he ran towards a loading bay, which gave him access to a door leading to the exterior of the building. Witnesses last observed the man running through the east parking area at the rear of Algonquin College.

DESCRIPTION OF SUSPECT: Male, white, English speaking, 5'6", 150-175 lbs., 22-25 yrs. of age, black jacket, blue jeans, dark mask or pulled up turtle neck sweater, light color gloves, black handgun with brown handgrips.

Crime Stoppers will pay $1,000 for information, that if received this week leads to the arrest of the person responsible for this robbery. If you have information about this, or any other serious crime, call Crime Stoppers at 233 -TIPS, that's 233-8477. You do not have to reveal your identity and if your tip leads to an arrest, you qualify for an award.

Canada Savings Bonds ...since 1946
Everyone has someone to save for.
Catch them while you can.
Canada Savings Bonds are only here for a short time, so you'll have to hurry to buy them. Don't delay or they'll be gone.
Once again, a good rate of return.
The 1986/87 Canada Savings Bonds earn 7¾% interest the first year, and a guaranteed minimum rate of 5¾% for the next 6 years to maturity.
Rates on current bonds.
The 7¾% rate will also apply for the coming year to the last three series of Canada Savings Bonds: S38 (issued in 1983), S39 (1984) and S40 (1985).
Outstanding Series 35 (1980) and Series 36 (1981) will earn their guaranteed minimum of 10½%, while Series 37 (1982) will earn its guaranteed minimum of 8½%.
$75,000 purchase limit.
You can buy up to $75,000 of the new series, or more if you want to re-invest your maturing bonds.
Re-invest those maturing bonds right now.
Series 32 (issued in 1977) and Series 34 (1979) mature November 1, 1986, and will not earn any further interest after that date.
If you hold either of these two maturing series, you can re-invest the full face value in the new series in addition to the $75,000 purchase limit.
Always secure.
Canada Savings Bonds are guaranteed by the Government of Canada.
Cashable at any time.
You're free to cash in your bonds at any time at full face value - with no interest penalty after January 31, 1987.
So convenient to buy.
Canada Savings Bonds can be bought where you bank or invest. You may also purchase them at work through the convenient Payroll Savings Plan.
Time is running out, so buy today.
To make sure you don't miss out on this year's Canada Savings Bonds, buy them right away. Friday, November 7, 1986 is the last day the bonds may be bought without paying accrued interest.

Small Business Week is a national event sponsored jointly by the Federal Business Development Bank and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, held this year between October 19 and October 25.

Throughout the week there have been a number of activities organized to provide information on starting or expanding a small business. There have been exhibits, information sessions, conferences, open houses and other special events designed both to promote small business and to honor and acknowledge existing entrepreneurs for their contribution to our economy.

The small business sector can count on the continued support of the federal government as it develops in its role as a key part of the economy. Two successive budgets demonstrated this commitment by reducing the tax burden placed upon small business, by adding $1 billion to the amount of the funding for loan guarantees under the Small Business Loans Act, and by freeing up pension funds for investments.

Most importantly, we have worked to stabilize our economy by demonstrating fiscal responsibility to the international financial community. This has led to increased investment and lower interest rates.

Small businesses in Canada are more aggressive, more innovative and more competitive than ever before. Over 70 per cent of all new jobs are created by small business. Over 3 million Canadians work in the small business sector. In fact, one quarter of businesses' contribution to our gross national product comes from small businesses.

For those of you who missed the organized events during Small Business Week, a good place to obtain information, training and counselling on small business matters, is the Federal Business Development Bank at 1-800-268-9103. In addition the F.B.D.B. offers financial services, including a Financial Planning Program and a Financial Match--making referral service.

Another excellent source of information is the small business hotline, operated by the Small Business Secretariat, Department of Regional Industrial Expansion at 995-9197 (call collect). A knowledgeable staff of counsellors provide information and advice on government programs and services. They also help in such matters as the procedures involved in starting a small business and records retention requirements.

OBITUARIES

G. Leonard Keck

Many friends in Morrisburg, Iroquois and over a wide area learned with regret of the death of G. Leonard Keck, a well-known retired funeral director, and resident of Morrisburg. Mr. Keck died suddenly at his Kingston residence on Friday, October 10th. He was 76 years of age.

Born at Ormond, Ontario, July 24, 1910, he was a son of the late Edward Keck and his wife, the former Katherine Barkley. Prior to coming to Morrisburg, he resided in Iroquois, for some years, where his father operated a hotel, prior to the Seaway relocation of the village. As a young man, he attended the Toronto School of Embalming, and came to Morrisburg in 1939, where he established a funeral director and furniture business, and later a rooming-house business, all of which he operated successfully until the demolition of the old Morrisburg business section. On August 1, 1940, at St. Philomena's Church, Howe Island, he was married to Nonie Goodfriend, who survives. The Kecks moved from Morrisburg in 1973, and have since resided in Kingston and Howe Island.

George E. Messecar

Friends in Morrisburg and area learned with regret of the death of George E. Messecar, a former resident of this village and more recently of Walkerton, Ont. He died at Royal Victoria Hospital, Barrie on Monday, September 29 in his 66th year.

George is survived by his wife, the former Rena Naylor; also by two daughters and one son; a sister, two brothers, and two grandchildren. He was predeceased by one sister.

Funeral service was held at St. Thomas Anglican Church, Walkerton on Friday, October 3, at 11:00 a.m., with interment in Greenwood Cemetery, Waterford.
