HENRY'S Shorthand School Ottawa, Ont.

No School in Canada offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. Henry's leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by more than 600 pupils who have, since January, 1913, left other Ottawa schools to come to it.

Therefore, it is not surprising that business men, in advertising for stenographers, should specially say, "Graduates of Henry's School preferred."

Large Barn Burned Near Morewood

Saturday night about ten o'clock passers-by discovered fire making headway in the large barn owned by John Dillabough, a mile and a half west of Morewood, and which spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved. When the flames were first noticed they appeared to be coming from the top of a mow of hay at the extreme eastern end of the barn and rapidly spread over the whole. The cause of the fire is unknown as no one had been in that part of the barn for several days. The season's crop and some machinery, incuding a milking machine were destroyed. The loss is partly covered by insurance. Mr. Dillabough is offering his stock, implements, farm and feed for sale by auction on Friday Oct. 10th.

The Presbyterian congregation at Morewood will hold a supper and entertainment on Friday evening, October 18th.

Speed---York

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Spencerville, on Saturday evening, September 28th, when Ella M., youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. York, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Ward J., oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Speed, of White Plains, N.Y.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Johnston, of the United Church, Spencerville, under a massive arch of evergreens, decorated with pink and white gladioli, white and yellow streamers and white bells. The rooms were attractively decorated with pink and white carnations, baby's breath, ferns, yellow and white streamers and large white bells.

At four-thirty the bridal party entered the drawing-room, the bride leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, while the Wedding March from Lohengrin was played by Miss Bertha Armstrong, of Spencerville.

The bride looked very youthful in a white satin period gown with tiered skirt and point flounce. For a headdress she wore a tulle veil with coronet of real lace held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms, she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, maidenhair fern with satin ribbon streamers knotted with lilies-of-the-valley, while white satin slippers completed her toilet.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jennie York, R.N., of White Plains, sister of the bride, wore a sleeveless gown of pale green satin with tulle flounce and green and gold satin slippers. She carried a bouquet of roses and maidenhair fern. The groom was accompanied by the bride's brother, Mr. Harold York, of White Plains.

Mrs. W. M. York, the bride's mother, wore a dress of silver lace over pearl grey satin. Mrs. W. C. Speed, mother of the groom, wore a dress of brown transparent velvet trimmed with ecru and gold lace.

After the signing of the register and some instrumental music played by the pianiste, all guests, numbering over fifty, were invited to the large diningroom where the tables were lighted with pink and white candles and a large bride's cake adorning the centre. A full course dinner was served by three young ladies, the Misses Jean Armstrong, Jean Bruce and Mildred Fairburn.

After dinner, amidst the best wishes of their many friends, Mr. and Mrs. Speed left for a motor trip to Ottawa, Montreal and many eastern points. On their return they will reside in White Plains, N.Y.

The bride travelled in a smart dress of eggshell chiffon crepe trimmed with lace of same shade, a honey biege coat with squirrel collar, a close fitting felt hat, lizard shoes and gloves to match.

The guests from a distance were—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Speed, White Plains, N.Y.; Miss M. Taylor, Mr. W. McNeill, Mr. Shell, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. J. McNeill and family, Kenmore; Mr. and Mrs. W. Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn York and Mr. James Fader, Russell; Mrs. A. Taylor, Osgoode Station; Mr. and Mrs. D. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. M. Moore, Winchester; Miss Beatrice Bowman, Prescott.

The beautiful presents were costly and many showing the high esteem in which the bride and groom are favored.

Morrisburg Man Nominated By Conservatives

George H. Challies, Reeve of Morrisburg, was selected by delegates at a delegated convention at Winchester Springs Monday as the Conservative candidate for Dundas county in the coming Provincial election. Mr. Challies was given a large majority over his two opponents on the first vote.

At a meeting of Dundas Conservatives recently, the names of four possible nominees, George Challies, Colonel Mulloy, Iroquois; Edward Strader, Iroquois, and J. F. Ault, Morrisburg, were referred to the convention. Mr. Ault withdrew, leaving three in the field for the delegates to consider.

Following the nomination, Mr. Challies made a brief speech, thanking the delegates for the nomination and giving assurance that he would do everything in his power to carry the riding. Colonel Mulloy congratulated the candidate and declared that he would give him every support. Claire Casselman, M.P., and Irwin Hilliard, K.C., also spoke.

Apple Hill Church Mortgage Burned

The 40th anniversary of Zion United Church of Apple Hill was observed last Sunday and Monday. The special preacher for the occasion was Rev. William Munroe of Montreal, secretary of the Montreal and Ottawa conference.

On Monday evening in the presence of a very large audience the mortgage of the church was burned. The burning taper was applied to the document by Mrs. (Rev.) Brokenshire. The meeting was presided over by the pastor, Rev. W. H. Cramm. During the evening a history of the congregation was given by J. D. McRae and J. W. McJeffry. Mr. McRae traced the development of the church work from its inception up until the present time. Mr. McJeffry dealt with the erection of the present edifice and the efforts that have been put forth to clear the same of debt.

Congraulations were conveyed to the congregation by Rev. H. D. Whitmore, chairman of t he Glengarry Presbytery; Rev. Neil Rattee of Martintown, Rev. R. E. Newman of Chesterville, Rev. R. W. Armstrong of Morewood, and H. D. Cartner of Ottawa.

A musical program was also enjoyed by those present. Selections were rendered by the male quartette from Chesterville, by the male quartette from Martintown, and by the local choir. Mr. Bolster from Chesterville, also gave several selections on the 'cello, and Miss Helen Cartner of Ottawa rendered several readings.

Previous to the gathering the Ladies' Aid had served a chicken supper in the town hall.

Chesterville United Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. A. E. Bolster yesterday afternoon. In spite of the rain there were thirty-five members and visitors present. The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. S. Droppo and Mrs. Chamberlain, a former member. Arrangements were made and plans discussed for a Thanksgiving supper and concert to be held in the church on November 11.

A number of letters of thanks were read by the secretary from sick members for flowers and replies from letters of condolence from members who have been bereaved.

A sum of money was voted for Christmas cheer or charity purposes if needed.

The visiting committee reported 32 calls and flowers and fruit, etc., sent to 13 sick members.

The programme consisted of a solo by Mrs. W. N. Fulton, an instrumental by Miss Betty Bolster and a reading by Mrs. Newman, each number being very much enjoyed.

A very dainty lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Bolster, assisted by Mesdames Dr. Baker, A. Jarvis, Dr. Hutt, F. Forward and W. O. Dixon.

Goldfield

Mrs. Kenneth MacRae and Miss Ileen MacRae spent a few days last week in Montreal.

Mrs. Roland Droppo and daughter Lillian spent a few days last week in Ottawa.

Mrs. E. Nephew left the end of the week for Guelph.

Properly Fitted Glasses Add to Your Comfort

Properly fitted glasses mean much to the profit and enjoyment of all ages. But to middle and old age this applies in a special way. As one grows older there is more time for reading and thought and less energy for physical work and athletic sports.

If in doubt as to the fit of your glasses come to Hunt's Drug Store, have your eyes scientifically examined, then enjoy the pleasure and profit of reading.

Make new friends in books and be the more prepared to talk intelligently with your friends.

New Branch Manager

At the beginning of the week Mr. S. E. Robinson, who for the past six years was manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, left with Mrs. Robinson for Toronto to which place he has been promoted in the service. He is succeeded here by Mr. James Hanna of Bronte, where for the past two years he has been in charge. Mr. Hanna entered the service of the former Merchants Bank of Canada at his native town, Oakville, in 1907, since when he has served at many other points in Ontario. His first managership was that of the Newbury branch, after which he held similar positions at Wheatley, Allenford and Manitowaning.

For the Cornwall General Hospital

A Call for Funds for a Worthy Cause.

The Managing Governors of the Cornwall General Hospital are arranging for a Campaign to cover the three United Counties, in order to raise funds which are urgently needed, the objective being $50,000.00. The Campaign is to be held Oct. 14 to 18, both dates included. A Special Committee has been appointed, composed of Messrs. A. Horovitz, Chairman; John H. Cline, Treasurer, and W. L. G. Snetsinger, Secretary.

A largeaddition has been built at the west end of the main building, which is modern and fire-proof in every respect; various changes have been made to several wards in the old building; the basement of the Nurse's Training Class rooms, so that now the residence has been fitted up into highest quality of training is given. This year there is a class of 15 young ladies registered. A specially qualified Registered Nurse has been engaged as Instructress. The Provincial authorities have made the School an examination centre for the degree of Registered Nurse.

There is no longer need for any young lady in the United Counties going farther away from home for training, for better cannot be obtained anywhere than what is given in Cornwall.

The X-ray apparatus is up-to-date and modern in every respect, having been newly equipped within the last two years, and X-ray work equal to that in any large City Hospital is done here.

The Operating Room is complete in every respect with all late equipment, and operations of the most delicate nature are being performed here almost every day.

The Children's Ward is equipped with specially built cots; the windows are of Vita glass.

The General Hospital, Cornwall, is now equipped with 80 beds, public, semi-private. so that it is able to give accommodation to all, from the patient who is unable to pay for anything, to the patient who wants the best hotel accommodation.

A patient is never refused because he has no money, but those who have money are expected to pay for all they receive.

All this has cost much money, and there is now a debt of about $40,000. in spite of the generosity which has always been extended to the Hospital.

Now, the Managing Governors feel that the United Counties is the special field for this Hospital, and they are looking to them for their support When that is done. there should be no need for a general appeal for years.

A subscription of $100.00 to be paid in annual sums of $10.00 or more, entitles you to become, upon the first payment, a Life Governor of this institution.

A subscription of $1000.00 to be paid in annual sums of $100.00 endowes, or more to be named by the donor.

Letters to The Editor

Dear Mr. Editor,—Through the courtesy of your pages, the British Welcome and Welfare League, Toronto, would like to broadcast a message to every Britisher in Canada.

Since 1907 our institution has been carrying on a great work . . . extending to deserving settlers from the British Isles, a hearty welcome, temporary accommodation, and rendering such other help and advice as will enable them to become worthy citizens of Canada.

The League is a public, patriotic, philanthropic organization, carried on by public-spirited citizens, aided in a small degree by municipal, provincial and dominion authorities, but in the main dependent upon public subscriptions for its maintenance.

In a few weeks our financial year will close, and we must set out to raise $13,000 to carry on for the coming year. May we appeal most earnestly to all Britishers, particularly those hundred thousand newcomers who have been offered a welcome at our hands, to rally to our aid at this time.

Funds are urgently needed. From $1 to $1000 subscriptions will be most gratefully received, and will be formally acknowledged by our treasurer.

Yours cordially,

Denies False Rumor.

To the Editor of
The Chesterville Record,

Deor Sir,—In the interests of the W. C. T. U. of the Counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry, of which I am President. I take this opportunity of positively denying the rumor that has been spreading over this County during this campaign, that I am not going to vote for the Prohibition Candidate for the County of Dundas, and that I pledged myself to the Liberal Candidate at the Convention in Chesterville. No one could make such a statement without knowing it was false. I have never been a partisan, as I do not believe it to be in the interests of good Government, having voted for the Hearst Candidate and for Mr. Sweet. I have always supported and voted for the Man and Party who stood for the interests of Prohibition, no matter what his political affiliation.

I also want to express appreciation and confidence in the Christian Temperance Women of these Counties to support the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of the soul-destroying, crime-producing Government sold liquor. Yours truly

Emma J. Beach.

Time Not Opportune Stormont Liberals Decide

The Liberals of Stormont County met in convention at Finch on Saturday afternoon, and after a careful review of the situation, the gathering decided that the time was not opportune for placing a candidate in the field.

Rodolphe Danis, barrister, of Cornwill, occupied the chair as vice-president of the association, and among those who delivered short addresses were Arnold N. Smith, M.P., James W. McLeod, ex-M.L.A., George A. Stiles, K.C., Rodolphe Danis, P. J. Lally and W. A. Parisien, of Cornwall, and J. H. Aube, Moose Creek. A. H. McMillan, of Finch, was chosen as president of the association, and Arthur Dexter, of Cornwall, was appointed secretary-treasure.r An executive composed of members from various parts of the county was chosen.

Cornwall Man Killed In Auto Crash

What was intended as a pleasure party was turned into tragedy on Saturday afternoon, when Lloyd Hart, of Cornwall, one of four occupants of an automobile, was instantly killed on the State highway, about ten miles from Ogdensburg, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Watson and family, of Massena, N.Y., had motored over to Cornwall, their former home, to spend the week-end with relatives and Mr. Watson took three of his friends, William Malyon, Lloyd Hart and Leonard Cooper, the latter a brother of Carson Cooper of National Hockey Association fame, in his car, the party intending to go to Ogdensburg to witness a football game between Massena and Ogdensburg. They were to return to Cornwall after the game and Mr. Watson was to take his wife and children home to Massena on Sunday.

Leaps Ditch.

The party crossed the St. Lawrence river from Aultsville to Louisville Landing and while driving up the State road the car failed to make a curve, striking a culvert and leaped across the ditch, the top of the car leaving the chassis and crashing into a tree, completely demolishing it. In the impact, Hart was instantly killed and Watson sustained a fracture of the skull and is in a critical condition. Malyon and Cooper were cut and bruised, but were able to return to Cornwall on Saturday night. A road crew rendeed assistance and the injured men were taken to the Hepburn Hospital, Ogdensburg, where Watson is still a patient.

Morrisburg Lady Honored

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Styles, Morrisburg when a surprise party was given in honor of the latter's mother, Mrs. Calvin Gallinger, Gallingertown, being her 59th birthday.

The house was prettily decorated with ferns, dahlias and gladioli. The honored lady was escorted to the dining-room on the arm of her brother, Mr. Jas. S. Morgan, Brockville, who drew the lucky name to dine where her chair was placed, decorated with flowers and ferns and a crescent formed around her plate with flowers spelling the words "Honored Quest." presented by Mrs. H. A. Hayunga. The table was daintily arranged in pink and white with the cake for the occasion, which was made by Mr. Jas. S. Morgan, brother of Mrs. C. Gallinger, daintily trimmed with 59 pink and white candles casting a pale glow over all the goodies.

After dinner was served the hostess carried a yellow and white basket trimmed with golden-glow and white asters to "Mother" where the gifts were opened.

Mrs. Gallinger replied in a few well chosen words thanking the people for their kindness shown towards her. The party broke up at twelve o'clock with all wishing Mrs. Gallinger many more happy birthdays, all having a very enjoyable evening.

The Truth, Always.

William H. Vanderbilt was discussing winter resorts at a Newport luncheon.

"Of course," he said, "we have better winter climates than the Riviera right here at home, but all along the Riviera the hotels are so good.

"Now, our southern hotels, when you get off theb eaten track—well, I'll tell you a story.

"A southerner advertised his hotel as a winter bower of roses and humming birds. A New Yorker read the advt., and the name of the southern town, Ossawottamee, sounded very attractive and old world to him, so he wrote for terms.

"The southern hotel man hurried home to his wife with the New Yorker' letter.

"'Mother," he panted, 'here's a letter from a New Yorker. He wants to come down here for the winter, but he asks if we got a bath. What'll I tell him?'

"'Tell him the truth,' the hotel man's wife said. 'Tell him if he needs a bath he'd better take it before he comes,'"

British Dirigibles Nearly Ready.

The mammoth dirigibles, R-100 and R-191, being built by Great Britain, will be ready for testing at the end of the month, and the engineers believe they will be even better airships than the Zeppelin. As the builders profited by some of the lessons learned by the German craft on its first failure to cross the Atlantic, there may be ground for the conviction. In any event, the British dirigibles are the greatest yet constructed in that country and should give a good account of themselves on the voyages they are soon to make to America.

Most Valuable Book Ever In Toronto

A young Englishman at Niagara felt a sudden desire to go to South America a few days ago, but found that he lacked funds. So he turned out some old books he was carrying around with him and sold them to raise the necessary money. The result is that one of these books is now in Toronto at Mackay's book shop and is held for the highest figure, we suppose, ever set on a book in this country. It is no less than a copy of the Kilmarnock Burns, in modern binding and perfect condition. It is held at $12,250. Since the last copy to be sold in public fetched $2.450, this would appear to be about the market price since the tendency of such books is always upward. Some critics say that the Kilmarnock Burns is as rare as the first folios of Shakespeare. This edition, the first of Burns to be published, was issued in a paper binding, which may have been one reason why there are so few survivors. Or it may not have been as much valued at the time as later editions more substantially put together.

Free Training Camp For Young Athletes

Two boys from each of the ten provincial school athletic districts will be able next year to win themselves two weeks' training under the best coaches at a special camp being laid out by the provincial athletic commission six miles from Orillia on Lake Couchiching.

Announcement of a vast project to help Ontario's coming athletic champions was made in Hamilton by Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, minister of health and labor, speaking at the North Wentworth Liberal-Conservative convention there.

Besides the 20 boys who will be accommodated free, Dr. Godfrey said many others as can be put up will be taken on a paying basis, the fee being made no higher than to cover the bare expense.

To qualify for the camp, a boy will be required to win one of the two scholarships that are to be offered in each of the ten districts. Like the famed Rhodes scholarships, these prizes will be won on both academic and athletic distinction, the minister stated.

Murphy had just been presented with triplets and was so elated that he called in everybody to see them. Among the visitors was Hogan. "An' what do ye think of them?" demanded the proud father. "Well," replied Hogan, looking the babies over carefully and pointing to an especially healthy specimen, "I'd be keepin' that one."

The Hurricane's Whirl

Florida's most recent hurricane scare brings to the fore some interesting facts concerning this type of tropical storm. Hurricanes are no laughing matter, but Floridians of late years have come to take them philosophically. Asked what a hurrican is, the Floridian will find it sufficient to tell you that it is a "devil of a lot of wind in a hell of a hurry, going some place." One member of The Mail and Empire staff who went through several hurricanes and near-hurricanes along the shores of the southern Atlantic, really confirms that view. A hurricane is a circular storm, anywhere up to 400 miles in diameter, the winds in its vortex travelling anti-clockwise with from 70 to 150 miles an hour velocity, and the whole storm moving forward at from eight to 12 miles an hour. In the centre of the circle is always a complete calm, which may be three or four, or 30 to 40 miles in diameter. In this "lull" the barometric pressure is the lowest. On the rim of the lull the winds blow fastest; 20 miles outward the velocity may be 20 miles an hour less, and the velocity diminishes in direct ratio outward. At 40 miles from the rim of the vortex, the velocity may be 40 miles an hour less than at the vortex.

Last Year's Disaster.

In the great West Indian hurricane that swept Miami in 1926, 500 lives were lost and immense property damage done. In the later one, last year, which ravaged the more northerly area of Florida, 2,000 lives were lost when Lake Okeechobee, a great inland lake, was lifted by the wind to waves a hundred feet high and swamped the surrounding country filled with small negro fishing-villages. August and September are recognized by meteorologists as the "hurricane-growing" months of the Caribbean sea. As many as 75 "hatch" in a year, most of them drifting off to sea, and some few heading for land. Of those which head for land, most change their direction on touching or approaching terra firma, while the limited number that do strike, sometimes one in the 75, wreak incredible damage. Now imagine yourself on the outer edge of a whirling windstorm a hundred miles in diameter, moving anti-clockwise and approaching from the east. Divide that circle into its four quadrants. The wind from the northeast quadrant will hit you first, gradually increasing in intensity until the central "calm" is reached. Then you get a half-hour to an hour of rarefied atmosphere, without a breath of wind, and with the humidity a full 100 per cent.

Miami's Long Respite.

Then the southwestern quadrant of the storm will catch you with full intensity, blowing in the opposite direction to the first edge of the storm that hit you, and gradually diminishing as the outer rim of the circle passes. Each quadrant may take six or seven hours, or more, to blow past, over, by or through you or anything else in its way. Prior to that great hurricane of 1926, when a terrific land-boom had focused the attention of the continent on Miami, that city had not felt a hurricane for more than 40 years. In fact, after the storm it was found that giant cocoanut trees which had weathered the elements for 70 years, had succumbed to the force of the blow. Our own eye-witness relates that in the "lull" in the storm-centre, the barometric pressure was so low that a newspaper office in Coral Gables, a suburb, which had withstood the first blast of the hurricane without blowing down, "blew up" in the lull with not a breath of air stirring.

Freaks of Hurricanes.

The place had been closed almost hermetically, and the air-pressure within, being much greater than the rarefied pressure without, blew out the walls. This is vouched for by police officers who witnessed the phenomenon, and thought that a bomb must have been implanted to cause so fierce an explosion. As the storm-centre passed and the second quadrant struck, trees not felled by the first quadrant fell before the onslaught of the wind. Our eye-witness has seen avenues of trees blown down, the tips of the trees on the north side of the road lying south and those on the south side lying north. And also he has seen two trees, not more than two feet apart—after the hurricane one broken off about three feet above the ground, the crest lying to the north; and the other, broken off at about the same height, its crest lying to the south—like two men who had been standing back to back, shot down, each lying on his face, the feet of one touching the feet of the other.

Preparing for Storms.

Well-built houses and buildings withstood the blast. Frame buildings run up cheaply, failed; hence the toll of life. Nowadays a system of warning has been worked out, that enables the paths of the storms to be watched and traced, so that the time a storm, will strike, the probable area to be affected, and the approximate intensity, are known sometimes as long as 48 hours in advance. The residents fasten down awnings, batten windows and doors, lay in water and a stock of foodstuffs. and "let 'er blow."

Horse Swam Three Miles

Wallaceburg News.—Much interest has been taken in the swimming feat of "Blind Bob," who was noticed swimming down the river by Mr. Lyle Tremells and taken ashore when he was looked after until the arrival of the owner, Mr. T. Chambers, of Corunna, three days later. Having no idea from whence came the black driver, Mr. Tremells inserted an "ad" in a local paper and the owner who had been searching for the animal heard of same and thus located the animal. It was but recently that Bob lost his eyesight, and being pastured besidethe river was unable to get his bearings after getting in the water and was unable to locate the shore or the passing boats. "Blind Bob" had many visitors while in Mooretown before his owner arrived to take him back to his pasture, apparently none the worse for his three-mile swim.

Save What You Have Produced

Experimental Farms Note.

The chief object in maintaing an apiary is to produce a crop of honey, this is not usually done simply for the fun of doing it but for the revenue that can be obtained for the honey after it is produced. A crop of honey represents a certain amount of investment and labor expended and for which one naturally desires to reap adequate returns. Unfortunately, however, this hope is not always realized because a portion of the crop produced is too often allowed to go to waste and the labor of producing it receives no rewards. Honey is a perishable article and unless it is properly cared for after being harvested it will soon ferment and spoil. Save what is produced by first allowing all honey to become thoroughly ripened before it is removed from the bees. Unripe honey quickly ferments and spoils, after it is extracted. Honey that is fully ripened when extracted will spoil if stored in unfavorable conditions. Remember that honey contains the necessary elements for fermentation and if kept in conditions favorable for the growth of the honey should be extracted, strained and canned as soon as possible after it is removed and then stored in a cool, dry place. Comb honey must be stored in a warm dry place to prevent loss. In an apiary run for extracted honey, a considerable amount of wax is also produced sometimes running up into several hundred dollars worth. Render the cappings and discarded combs at the end of the season, or store them so that they are safe from rodents or wax moth. A little care given to the storage of honey or wax may turn loss into gain.

The Ups and Downs.

She had just paid her rates and was in anything but a happy mood when she entered the tramcar on her way home. When the conductor came for her fare, she looked sourly at him. "How much do you get a week?" she asked him. The conductor told her. "No wonder the rates are high," she snapped, "when they pay you all that money for just running up those steps." "They don't, mum," retorted the conductor; "we get half of it for running down."

Amazing Horse Thief In New Brunswick Jail

In "Linking the Past with the Present," a department in the St. John Telegraph Journal, the story is told of Henry More Smith, who is said to have been the most extraordinary prisoner in the criminal annals of the province. The fact that he finally disappeared in Toronto might give the relation a local interest, but for the fact that he played his little tragi-comedy on the stage of human affairs more than a hundred years ago. In any event the story is one that should excite the curiosity today as it did when first it was told. Smith inspired a book in which he was spoken of as "The Mysterious Stranger." Some who met him said that he was undoubtedly in league with the devil. He may have been another Harry Houdini, for some of the exploits credited to him would have done no discredit to the greatest professional practitioners of legerdemain and creators of illusion. It is to be remembered that the stage whereon he produced his magic was the cell of a prison where he lay under sentence of death, watched day and night, handcuffed and chained.

Though Smith was sentenced to death he was not a murderer but a horse thief. He stole a horse in Nova Scotia and took it to New Brunswick with the idea of selling it. There he was laid by the heels and eventually put on trial for his life. His behavior in court was what first attracted attention to him and was a fitting prelude to the diabolism with which he enlivened the warders when he was returned to his cell to await the hangman. After his arrest and throughout his trial he remained dumb and gave all the outward evidences of insanity. His behavior in court was so peculiar that before the trial proper began the jurors considered whether his dumbness was an insolent affectation or the result of a visitation of God. After hearing some evidence they concluded that it was a visitation of God. This being determined, Smith was provided with counsel and his trial began.

In the midst of it he proceeded to peel off his clothing until he looked like a fundamentalist Doukhobor. Before the court could recover from this shock the prisoner had proceeded to wreck the dock in which he was placed. Several constables with difficulty subdued him, and he was tied with ropes while the proceedings continued. But his feet were free and with them he kicked into kindling wood what remained of the prisoner's dock. greatly to the scandal of the court which presently found him guilty and sentenced him to death "without benefit of clergy." Smith's lawyer protested that while it might not be amiss to hang his client it certainly was taking more than a liberty to deprive him of ghostly advice at the last moment, and declared that he would enter an appeal. The prisoner was then taken away to what used to be called the hoosegow, but is now called jail or prison, and the sheriff was instructed by the attorney-general to keep a close watch on him and report; so the sheriff notes casually, "The next morning I visited him, observed to him that he was now under sentence of death, and he would be allowed only one pound of bread and water a day for the short time he had to live."

But this produced no effect. Smith seemed oblivious to him, but after one of his visitors had implored him not to play the fool any longer, Smith opened a Bible and indicated a text, "If any man among you seemeth to be wise, let him become a fool, that he may be wise." Soon he had a violent spell and created such a hideous uproar that sleep was impossible within earshot of his cell. He was chained to the floor, but when next visited was found to have torn links from the heaviest chain. Then he was made fast with a lighter chain and this he submitted to. The most extraordinary thing of all was that while apparently bound and without tools or any kind of implements in his cell he astounded his keepers by the extraordinary effigies or mannikins he would make. The sheriff writes, "He now produced an effigy of a man in perfect shape, with his features painted and joints to all his limbs, and dressed him in clothes that he had made in good shape and fashion out of clothes he had torn off himself (being now naked),which was admired for its ingenuity."

Then for seven days he went on a hunger strike. At the end of that time he dumbfounded the sheriff and other visitors who were called to see the marvel, by producing a whole group of effigies, which were so articulated that they danced in unison, one beating time to the supposed music. These miniature figures represented a score of different people—"to view them in their stations they appear as perfect as though alive, with all the air and gaiety of actors on the stage." Many people were invited to express an opinion on Smith's genius and they were agreed that he was the most extraordinary man they ever had heard of. We are assured that he produced these works of art "in a dark room, chained and handcuffed, without so much as nail of any kind to work with, with his hands, and naked." Some few hints we glean. The straw in his mattress, the clothing he had torn from his own body were his chief materials, and blood which he drew from his own veins supplied his coloring matter. The rest is mystery. In the end he was pardoned and when last heard of was in Toronto.

THE HEART

The heart is a most important organ which acts as a pump and thus keeps the blood moving throughout the body. Any unusual condition of one part or organ of the human body may result in the upset of other organs, such as the heart, with perhaps some permanent damage.

Pain in the region of the heart does not always mean heart disease. It may be due to some heart condition, but it is much more frequently caused by some condition of the stomach, such as improper digestion of the food. Usually the first symptoms of the heart's being below par is shortness of breath on slight exertion.

In old age, it is not unusual to find that the heart is not doing its work as well as it did. This is part of the general wearing out of the tissues, and means that life must be so regulated that neither at work nor at play is the heart given more to do than it can accomplish without exhaustion. Persons, young or old, who have a weakened or damaged heart, can live long lives of usefulness, providing they avoid doing such things, as heavy lifting, which throw a sudden strain on the heart. They must also avoid those activities which cause shortness of breath or pain, always stopping immediately to rest when symptoms appear. Exercise in the form of work or play which does not cause symptoms is usually of benefit.

The most common cause of heart disease in young people is infection. The germs which settle down in diseased tonsils, adenoids and teeth very often travel around the body. They may, and very frequently do, attack the heart. They may also suffer from the germs and the poisons produced by the germs in such diseases as diphtheria, scarlet fever and influenza. Damage to the heart is a comparatively common result of acute rheumatism. Syphilis is also an infection which is very liable to attack the heart and blood vessels. The removal of infected parts, such as diseased tonsils and the avoidance of infection are the basis of the prevention of heart disease.

Canadian Eggs in The British Market

Canadian eggs that will hereafter reach the British market will be confronted with a new condition. There is now in effect a new marketing act in the Mother Country which requires that all imported eggs from the various parts of the Empire must be clearly marked with ink "Empire", or with the country of origin. Mr. W. A. Wilson, the Agricultural Products Representative for Canada in Great Britain, has expressed his view of the situation in a statement forwarded to the Honourable Dr. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, in which he speaks with confidence of the position that Canadian eggs will occupy. The quality of Canadian eggs as compared with that of competitors who supply storage eggs, he says, is excellent. This state of affairs he regards as a direct result of the operations of egg grading in this country. Canadian eggs under the new situation, Mr. Wilson considers, are without a handicap and although Canada's relative future position with competitors cannot be forecast with certainty, it may be viewed, in the opinion of Mr. Wilson, as one offering encouragement because where our eggs are known best their quality is appreciated. Mr. Wilson concludes his statement with a message to egg producers, dealers, and exporters, pointing out that Canada has a fresh opportunity well worth safeguarding and that each should be alive to every detail that would tend to conserve the eggs in the freshest condition possible.

Critic (to neighbor at concert): "That woman has wonderful control over her voice."

Neighbor (sadly): "Yes, she's my wife. She can do anything with her voice—except stop it."

The Farm Woman's Lot

Gananoque Reporter — A farmer near Gananoque tells us that he can make more money operating a small farm where help outside the family is not required than he could operating a large farm where one or more hands are engaged. While the farmer himself has speeded up his work and reduced his own manual labor to a great extent, little has been done to ease the labors of the farmer's wife and family. The equipment with which the housewife is forced to work with is often out of date as compared with the farm itself. The phsyical conditions under which the housewife does her work have not been improved. Hence the mother on the farm passes her days carrying water into the house and waste out of it, and doing a heavy weekly washing with a hand-driven machine, if indeed she does not use a tub and board.

A Hospital Bill

Judge Talbot MacBeth in Division Court at London, ruled that neither the father nor employer of Norman Ellah, aged 19, is responsible for the latter's hospital bill incurred subsequent to injury while at work as a thresher. Ellah was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, in London, after the accident, but no one went good for his bill. He died and the hospital sought to collect from his father, Lindsay Ellah of London Township, and his employer, Charles Wilson, of the same township. "It is the duty of every man to do all he can for the injured in the case of an accident. Unless there is a contract, a man cannot be held responsible for the bill of an injured person whom he sends to the hospital," stated Judge MacBeth in dismissing the action.

Artists in British-Canadian Concerts

Brilliant entertainers are to be heard this fall and winter in a nation-wide chain of musical centres throughout the Dominion, sponsored by the Canadian Pacific Railway. They will appear in a series of six concerts, the outgrowth of the Music Festivals, now internationally known, which have been staged by the Music Department of the railway. Each of these concerts will be given at Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria with a probability of other cities being added to the list. Among those now taking part in these concerts will be Florence Hood, brilliant Canadian violinist; Mary Frances James, lyric soprano of Montreal; Stanley Maxted, Montreal tenor; Rudolph Plamondon, Canadian-born star of the Paris Opera; and the Hart House Quartette, internationally famous as players of Chamber Music.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Alvin McIntosh who departed this life October 1, 1927.

October brings back sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
Who will always be remembered
By those who loved her best,

I mourned for her in silence,
No eyes can see me weep,
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.

I miss her when I need a friend,
On her I always could depend,
She cured me in sickness, and soothed my pain,
God grant some day we meet again.

God saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."

Inserted by husband.

IN MEMORIAM

Barkley—In loving memory of our dear son, Elburn Emerson Barkley, who was accidentally killed on October 6th, 1928.

Quickly and suddenly came the call,
His sudden death shocked us all,
Dearer to memory, than words can tell,
The loss of one we loved so well.
Friends may think we have forgotten
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the sorrow
Which that smile hides all the while.

Inserted by mother and father, brothers and sister, Percy, Ernest, Ralph and Dena.
