Bits and Pieces

'A Penny Saved' needed for '73 plates

Do you have your new licence plates yet? If the answer is no, you'd better plan on saving a few more pennies - the price is up this year. The blue and white multi-year plates went on sale December 1st and bear the slogan "Ontario - Keep It Beautiful." They're good for up to five years now and to renew them you simply buy a little sticker to be attached in the lower right-hand corner. There must be a little bit of gold melted into them for the annual rate for 1973 is $40 for an 8 cyl. car; $32 for 6 cyl.; and $23 for a 4 cyl.

A little consideration will go a long way

It's snowmobile safety week in Ontario and Constable Ralph O'Brien of Morrisburg Provincial Police, your safety-minded traffic officer in Dundas County, urges all enthusiasts to drive with care during the entire snowmobile season. Constable O'Brien says 75 percent of all snowmobile fatalities could be prevented if the machines were kept off public thoroughfares and drivers left the little flask of warmth at home. In communities like Chesterville we would suggest that all machine operators use a little common sense and show respect for those who don't drive machines. A lot of hard feelings could be avoided on both sides of the fence.

'Like mother — like son'

"Like Mother - Like Son" as the old story goes. Vera Wyatt of Ingleside, although many miles from her son, W. A. Wyatt of Port Hope, shares the same interests and achievements as her 31-year-old offspring. Recently Mrs Wyatt was acclaimed to the office of councillor on Osnabruck Township Council and following the December 4th municipal elections her son had won a seat on the Port Hope Town Council.

Area arenas in full-swing

We weren't too far off on our predictions regarding the opening of the three arenas in the area a few weeks ago. Finch sort of jumped the gun on us and went into operation a week ago Tuesday, while Chesterville and Winches- r are both looking towards an opening this weekend.

A varied and successful career former Chesterville school teacher, Carl Griffith, is re- ng as principal of Centre Hastings Secondary School in adoc only to continue a varied business career. After grad- ting from high school he went to work as a crane-opera- r and then was overseas with the Air Force and later a oreman in a steel plant. After graduating from Toronto Uni- ersity, he taught geography, history, industrial arts, commercial and physical education in Chesterville, and now, after his retirement, is planning to open an antique shop in Madoc.

More-Wood Homes Ltd.-

New industry officially opened

MOREWOOD — In a brief ceremony here last Saturday, witnessed by municipal, provincial, federal and international government representatives, Eastern Ontario's newest and most unique industry was officially opened.

Approximately 400 from the area were in attendance at More-Wood Homes Ltd., as Winchester Township Reeve Cecil MacNabb snipped the traditional ribbon.

The initial $500,000 industry, founded by Adriaan Heuff, began the in-plant production of modular homes this past summer. More than 30 homes have been built to date by the 50 men and women employed here.

In his brief remarks prior to the actual ribbon cutting, Reeve MacNabb paid tribute to the founder of both this new venture and the internationally known Dutch Sash and Door Co. Ltd., acknowledging Mr Heuff's invaluable contribution to Morewod and Winchester Township.

Also offering congratulations were Grenville-Dundas MPP Donald Irvine, Stormont-Dundas MP and Speaker of the House of Commons, Lucien Lamoureux, and the Ambassador of the Netherlands, His Excellency, Mr Th. H. Bot.

The Ambassador lauded the endeavors of his fellow countryman, citing Mr Heuff's achievements as a monument to the Dutch-Canadian people who strive to make this a more prosperous country for all.

Vice-president of More-Wood Homes, Toby Koyman, was master of ceremonies for the afternoon, introducing the numerous guests in attendance.

Following the ribbon cutting, Mr Heuff led the official party on a tour of the 120 foot by 300 foot plant, explaining the various steps in the assembly line production of a home.

The ribbon drops to officially mark the opening of the new More-Wood Homes Ltd. plant at Morewood. A large number of area residents and special guests were on hand last Saturday for the short ceremony. New route drawn for Santa parade, Sat.

While it will be the same Santa Claus coming to Chesterville this Saturday, the Chamber of Commerce has decided to pull a switch on the time and route of the parade which welcomes the old gentleman to town.

Approximately 15 floats and two bands, including the NDDHS Band and Finch Pipe Band have indicated their intentions to participate in the annual promenade which gets underway at 2 p.m.

Everyone is asked to assemble at the Chesterville Legion Hall at 1.30 where you'll be lined up for the 2 p.m. starting. Travelling east to Main Street, the parade continues east on Emma Street by Dr. Justus's and then turns south on King. Travelling all the way down to the bank corner, the caravan will cross the bridge and then turn west by the Chesterville Community Hall up Victoria Street.

Making a left turn onto College, it will travel to South Street and then swing left again back to Main Street. The whole procession will head back into town, across the bridge, continuing on Main and then swing west at Morrison's Service Centre up to the new Community Arena.

At the arena, Santa will disembark from his float and hand out treats to the children in the arena lobby.

The Chamber of Commerce is urging all those who would like to participate in the parade to make a special effort to be out Saturday.

Any children who are unable to meet Santa at the arena, due to illness or injury, call James Moran at 448-2834 and it will be arranged for Santa to come and meet you at your home.

January 1st opening

Finch Medical Centre planned Slowey, council sign 5-yr. pact

FINCH — The former Community Centre here, for years the site of countless community and social functions, will take on a more serious role at the beginning of the new year as Finch's first medical centre opens its doors to the public.

Dr. Gabriel Slowey of Chesterville will direct the treatment on a part time basis initially, but as the case load increases, a second doctor may be brought in to offer extended health care.

In a five year agreement with Finch Village Council, Dr. Slowey has agreed to man the centre at least three half days a week. The renovations in the north end of the old community building, costing approximately $4,000, will provide a waiting room, an office, two examination rooms and a pharmaceutical supply area.

In recent years this community of 400 lacked sufficient medical care due to the semi-retirement of long time family physician, Dr. J. G. MacLeod. Although the aging M.D. still sees a few patients in his own home, he declines from the vigorous duties of his younger years. Dr. MacLeod welcomes Dr. Slowey and the medical centre.

Finch Reeve Lynden Hough said, while it was Dr. Slowey who originally approached council regarding the possibilities of a medical centre, village fathers were more than anxious to help in any way possible.

Supplying the building, council is also assisting with the finances of renovations. The community centre was originally built a number of years ago by the local Women's Institute. Due to costs of maintenance it was turned over to the village, with the condition that it would still be available for WI functions.

With the opening of a new hall in the Finch Community Arena this past summer, the need for the former centre declined, presenting the ideal location for the new clinic.

Reeve Hough said only a portion of the building will be taken up by the medical offices and the remainder will still be used for smaller community and organization functions.

Council is pressing urgently to have the facility in operation as soon as possible with a goal of January 1 already set.

Finch Village Council was very proud to have artificial ice in and operating last week, with the first night of skating Dec. 6. Derk's zoning approved sub-division in making

A light business agenda faced Chesterville village council at the December meeting last Tuesday night, with land subdivisions, arena progress, snowplowng and CPR eyesores toppng the discussion.

Village fathers gave their unanimous approval to final by-laws zoning the undeveloped land west of Chesterville arena as a commercial and residential area.

The seven acres between Durants Flowers and the arena and north west was purchased some time ago by Martin Derks. The Chesterville resident, hoping to launch a housing subdivision in this area, approached council to have it zoned.

The by-laws state that the southern portion will be for commercial purposes and the northern section for homes. Mr Derks is presently going through steps of obtaining subdivision approval.

Winchester Township now has an official representative on the Chesterville and District Community Arena comittee, it was announced at the meeting. Correspondence was received from the neighbouring municipality, stating that Gerald Carruthers had been appointed to the board, along with reeve Keith Graham and town foreman Harold Sharkey.

There seems to be a problem brewing between the Workman's Compensation Board, Byer's Construction and Chesterville Village over payments during the construction of the new arena.

Reeve Graham told council that contractor Stuart Byers has received notice that he owes the WCB some $1,100 for coverage of workmen during the construction of the Community Arena.

The plot thickened when Mr Byers presented council with a letter, he said he obtained from the clerk's office, which stated payments weren't necessary. If they had been, he would have included them in his contract price.

Clerk Lloyd Graham told council he never saw the letter until Mr Byers brought it to him.

The mysterious matter was left hanging until clarity on where the letter came from and its exact meaning were determined by the Regional WCB office in Cornwall.

In other business, council approved the payment of $30,000 hold back to Byers Construction Co., now that Phase One and Two of the Community Arena were completed.

Southlawn Farms' first effort at plowing Chesterville streets received a nod of approval from councillors. Town foreman Harold Sharkey said he was pleased with their performance and although there were a few bugs to iron out, there were no major complaints.

Town councillor Archie Black expressed disgust with the Canadian Pacific Railway for the deplorable condition in which they leave the land along the side of their tracks.

He said in the summer it's nothing but a forest of weeds and now mounds of dirt and debris line the rails in Chesterville.

In an attempt to have the mess cleaned up, council is sending a letter to the Provincial member Don Irvine and Federal member Lucien Lamoureux to see if their persuasive powers can't budge someone to get busy with a shovel.

The successful completion of 12 4-H Homemaking Projects was acknowledged in Avonmore, last Saturday, with the presentation of a Provincial Honors Certificate to Earla Campbell of Finch. This was the only award of this kind presented during the day although several girls did receive County Honor Certificates for completing six projects. Presenting the award is Miss Lorraine Holding, County Home Economist. — Staff Photo.

Fire Chief issues Christmas warning

A happy Christmas can change in a few moments into a family tragedy, warns Chesterville Fire Chief Grenville Fyke, in homes where fire safety precautions are neglected. Such precautions should head the list of every sensible family's preparations for Christmas, he says.

The Fire Chief urges the public to exercise special care in the setting up and decoration of Christmas trees, and draws attention to the following important points:

If plans call for a natural tree it should be bought fresh and green, and kept outdoors or in an unheated garage before being brought into the home for decorating. Then, one or two inches should be cut diagonally from the butt, and the tree should be set up in water which should be maintained above the level of the cut.

Check strings of electric lights carefully for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulb sockets. Only CSA approved lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations should be used. Declare the tree a no-smoking area and keep matches out of the hands of children.

Do not allow discarded gift wrappings to accumulate under the tree. Dispose of them as soon as the gifts are opened. Even a green tree will burn if ignited by burning paper around the base.

Set up the tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators. Do not allow it to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire. Switch off tree lights at bedtime

Moose Creek Bonspiel played in Alexandria

ALEXANDRIA — The annual Moose Creek Recreation Club Curling Bonspiel was held in the curling club here last Saturday with several rinks from the northern Stormont community participating.

Sponsored mainly by local recreation members, the teams were formed with curlers who live, work, or in some way are connected with Moose Creek. To keep the play fair, rules called for only one experienced curler and at least one lady per rink.

Winning the top honours of the day in the 'A' division was the Tessier quartet with Skip-Harry Tessier, Art Lajeunnesse, Emery Brunet and Mrs E. Brunet.

Coming second was McRae's team with Skip- Wayne McIntosh, Harold McRae, Brent Copeland and Sandra Buchanan.

In the 'B' Division, Emberg's placed first with Skip-Lois Emberg, Bud Atkins, Janet Atkins, Editorial Comment . . .

A Lesson in Community Achievement

You can't help but admire the industrious people of Finch who have achieved milestones in community development, that other centres three times larger have failed to even attempt.

Finch, a village of approximately 400, has a new community arena, a new community hall, artificial ice and now have undertaken renovations in a former town hall for a medical centre.

Why do they do it? — well it's for community betterment. How do they do it? — they have what you might call a few 'human bulldozers' who set their minds at getting a job done, everyone pitches in and before long it's a reality.

They have learned or should we say, haven't forgotten, the secret of community spirit. They defend and promote the name of Finch at every turn. We've seen them scrap among themselves, but then what family doesn't have an argument on occasion. The thing is, just don't let an outsider try and down-grade their abilities and achievements.

Which leads up to the whole point of this editorial . . . Chesterville. In the last year or so this column has been dominated by our hopes, desires and criticism of this community and its spirit.

We have urged community support, called for the patronage of Chesterville businesses, deplored what in our opinion was a half-hearted effort toward some form of achievement, and in short have ridden herd on activities.

And it was just a year ago last Thursday night that the suggestion of a new community arena received overwhelming support from a full house at a Chesterville meeting.

And a year later we have our arena, but hopes of such continued community projects seem even further away as nine men gathered last Thursday to talk about other community ideas.

Some 60 notices were sent out to Chesterville merchants and businessmen and only nine were able to work that two-hour meeting and discussion period into their day — business must be fantastic.

And after all the immediate business was over, the discussion centred on why no one came. It was most discouraging to those who were interested in doing something for the community. The same people who had led in other projects were saying "to hell with it, if this is all the interest there is, why should I bother". And the only thing wrong with that statement is that it's true.

How much can a handful of men do?. There's a breaking point somewhere.

We mentioned Finch's achievements, to emphasize the point that this village has the same community facilities as Chesterville and soon — one more, and yet they're so much smaller in the physical sense.

With the manpower and obviously more money power it should be almost taken for granted that we can do three times as much.

The old song of uniform store hours is to say the least ridiculous in 1972; grown men and women, all working for the same end, to serve the public and yet they can't even sit down and decide amicably what is in the best interest for everyone . . . especially their patrons, which in our books are a first consideration.

Let's congratulate ourselves that we have a beautiful arena with artificial ice, but let's not stop at that. No doubt we could be well served with a medical centre of our own. The recent snow has colored the building in the park with its true shade — why not utilize it. But no, we sit.

To expect those nine of the Chesterville Chamber of Commerce to organize and plan everything isn't fair. Sure more projects mean more money. But if you ask any successful company president he'll tell you in this day and age, you have to spend money to make money, whether it be in your own business or in the community itself.

We can't urge strongly enough and with utmost sincerity the need for community spirit and support. The interest in the last year has declined instead of increased.

At the present rate it seems only a matter of time before we become a centre for the elderly and the poor, as the Provincial government has predicted. Our consolation — we'll only have ourselves to blame.

Illegal reproduction of Canadian Bank Notes will be curbed

The Ontraio Provincial Police Anti-Rackets Branch is concerned with the ever increasing trend on the part of the advertising and printing media to reproduce the likeness of Canadian paper currency in commercial advertising and other printed material. While such reproductions cheapen the position of Bank notes in the public eye, many of the formats used are in contravention of the Criminal Code of Cananda.

Few charges have been laid in recent years as warnings seemed to sufice, however, because of the increase in reproduction and after consultation with senior Crown Counsel of the Ministry of the Attorney General, no further warnings are to be given and charges will be laid where circumstances warrent.

The section of the code dealing with this subject reads in part, "Everyone who publishes or prints anything in the likeness or appearance of all or part of a current Bank note or all or part of any obligation or security of a Government or Bank, is guilty of an offence."

Shift in labor force upsets pattern of unemployment

In addition to rapid labour force growth, the dramatic shift in the labour force mix of job seekers towards women and teenagers has complicated the current unemployment pattern in Canada notes the Bank of Montreal in its Business Review for November.

Between 1961 and 1971, Canada's working population increased by 3.3 million persons, and while part of this growth was due to the high level of immigration by far the largest proportion reflected the post-war baby boom. The full impact of this was not felt until recently because a large number of young people delayed their entry into the labour market by continuing their education.

But it is this group which today represents the most dynamic element of the labour force growth. In fact, persons between the ages of 14 and 24 now account for 40 percent of all entrants into the labour market compared with only 11 percent ten years ago.

To illustrate their measure of influence on the overall unemployment problem, the Bank notes that if this age group had the same rate of joblessness as the rest of the labour force, the overall rate of unemployment in September would have been only about 5 percent instead of 7 percent.

This appearance of large numbers of young people has had a strong impact on the overall rate of unemployment in Canada since it is within this group that the greatest difficulty is experienced in obtaining employment. The Bank points to three factors.

Firstly, young people at the beginning of their working lives are often at a competitive disadvantage because they lack experience. Secondly, for the most part, they have no obligations as family heads, and finally, the evidence suggests that because they take longer to adjust to working environments and longer to find something they are interested in, they have a tendency to change jobs more often than mature workers.

Ann Landers . . .

Dear Ann Landers: You have printed several letters from married men and women who have been "dating" on the side. May I add to the discussion a viewpoint of a single male who is seeing a married woman?

I have dated many married women - secretly, of course. In every case the woman was financially secure, had children and remained married for those two reasons - in that order. These women all described their marriages as tolerable but unsatisfactory. The major complaint: no communication. Example: "He is married to his business (or profession). I feel left out. I need someone to talk to - someone to make me feel alive. Someeone who will look into my eyes and listen to me. I need to know that I am important to a man.

The married woman I am seeing is beautiful, intelligent and exciting. I'd give anything in the world if she'd marry me but she won't leave her husband. He's a lucky son-of-a-gun, getting better than he deserves. But I'm — Not Giving Up

Dear Not: Perhaps it's just as well that she doesn't divorce her husband and marry you because in a few years YOU'D be the husband - and husbands look different than lovers. Also she'd be your wife, and wives look different than mistresses. Are you listening, swingers?

Dear Ann Landers: Is it all right for a husband to ask the person who wants to speak to his wife "Who is this?" Is it O.K. to then ask "What do you want to talk to her about?" Do you consider this an invasion of privacy or protecting your marriage? — Much Ado About Plenty

Dear Much: A person with A-1 telephone manners doesn't wait to be asked. He identifies himself immediately. Example: "Is Mrs Holldanish in? Harvey Klutzville is calling." If the caller doesn't identify himself, it is O.K. to ask, but it should be done tactfully. Example: "May I tell Mrs Holldanish who is calling?"

It is never good manners to ask a person who is calling to speak to someone else, "What do you want?" This is not only an invasion of privacy but an insult, since it suggests suspicion. Screening or monitoring phone calls is no way to protect a marriage. In fact it's a good way to destroy it.

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Her Husband" was from MY husband! Every word he wrote is true. He never said so much as one word to me about the meaningless affairs he caught me in, and I appreciated his patience and forbearance more than I can say. One of the ways I showed my gratitude was by being good to his mother.

That great letter my husband wrote to you appeared last week and it really did both of us a lot of good. But this morning the roof caved in. It seems my ex-boss's wife just caught up with the stale story about my affair with her husband. The jackass must have had one drink too many and confessed to his wife. My husband told me about her phone call with a very sad look on his face.

Since you printed this letter to me will you please print my letter and let him know I promise never to get involved with another man again as long as I live? Thanks, Ann. You're one in a million. — His Wife

Dear Wife: I'd say your husband is one in a million, not me. And now for heaven's sake behave yourself, woman.

What kind of wedding goes with today's new life styles? Does anything go? Ann Landers' completely new 'The Bride's Guide' tells what is right for today's weddings. Report from Queen's Park

by Donald R. Irvine

Education and Colleges and Universities

Both the Minister of Education and the Minister of Colleges and Universities made announcements recently which will have a profound effect on the future of policy planning in the field of education. In a policy aimed at avoiding waste and duplication in school facilities, the Ministry of Education will not henceforth approve new school construction unless and until it can be shown that the need for new accommodation exists and is not available from another school board in the same geographic area. Mr Wells hopes that public and separate school boards will consult each other as to any available accommodations. This doesn't in any way suggest that teachers and pupils share the same classrooms and would only apply to otherwise vacant space.

The Honourable Jack McNie, whose portfolio encompasses all post-secondary educational facilities in the province made a similar announcement freezing capital expansion at the university and community college level. Between 1964 and the present the province has invested over one billion dollars in university and college building. The government will be studying changing enrolment trends and space inventories to match one to the other without further capital cost. This is not inconsistent with our continuing commitment to provide opportunities to all qualified students but the rationale is supported by the Report of the Committee on Costs of Education released on December 4th. While it applies to elementary and secondary school levels the trends are essentially the same. Enrolment at the elementary level is now on the decrease after many years of dramatic growth. It is expected to decline by over 180,000 or 12.3 percent by 1980. Secondary school enrolment will peak in 1977 and decline thereafter to the 1973 level in 1981.

The point that both Mr Wells and Mr McNie are making is that our priorities in the years ahead have shifted from new building to better utilization of existing facilities.

Health Service

As many of our readers, no doubt, have already noted, the whole question of delivery of health services has recently come in for some critical airing in the legislature. The Minister of Health has repeatedly pointed out that one of the most pressing problems facing all provincial governments in Canada is the spiralling costs of health care. The Government this year will spend two billion dollars on our health plan. This is an increase of $200,000 over last year, which was in turn $200.00 more than the year before. We simply can't afford annual increases of 10 percent in this or any other field. We have all heard examples of misuse and abuse of the system by both the public and the profession. The Ministry is, of course, taking steps to curb these abuses as they occur but this is not the major part of the problem. The most expensive aspect of health care is the capital cost and operating cost of active treatment hospitals. To operate these hospitals presently costs $80 per day per bed, a figure that is constantly rising. The fact is that except for a few areas, we have more than caught up with the demand for active treatment beds. Our priorities must shift to those areas of auxiliary care such as chronic treatment and convalescent care where we still face shortages. We can't use active-treatment beds for this purpose. In some areas we have a duplication of facilities such as exist in the obstetrical units Brockville General and St cent Hospital. The main of both where only one i sary is wasteful and o therefore shut down. If beds in the obstetrical uni Vincent's were converted t ive treatment in other s ties we would be no furth head.

The point we can't lose of is that there is no sho of hospital beds in Brockville this purpose. If they were conv ted to chronic care use which far less expensive to maintai operate then they will con tinue to be useful to this community.

N.D.D.H.S. team enters money management contest

A group of students from North Dundas District High School along with about 7,000 Ontario Secondary School students are manipulating millions of dollars these days as 'directors' of business organizations in the fourth "Business Game" sponsored by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario and International Computers of Canada Limited.

Under the guidance of teacher Tom Robinson the three teams at NDDHS join a thousand teams from some 200 schools in 80 towns and cities throughout the province and will play a number of elimination rounds of the game, leading up to the final to be held in Toronto in the late spring when one of the teams will win the laurels as the most astute managers and financiers.

If the growth in popularity of the "Business Game" is any indication, the Canadian business community should not lack for managerial talent in the years to come. From a modest start some four years ago with fifty students from Metro Toronto schools participating, when the Institute introduced the "Business Game", it's popularity among secondary school students has become so great that the Institute is reluctant to even predict the possible future participation. One of the features of the Game is that each group of students is provided with the services of a Chartered Accountant who serves as their business adviser. This year, some one hundred C.A.'s have volunteered to donate their time to help the students and teachers in this way.

The Business Game involves the participating students in the setting up, financing and operation of a manufacturing company which goes into the market place and competes with others in a simulated business atmosphere. Some may fail while others make sizeable profits.

The students will be formed into teams or companies, each with its own president, controller, marketing manager, etc. The students filling these positions (each team member has a position of responsibility) will make decisions in respect to selling price of their product, the amount of money to be spent on advertising and promotion, the amount and cost of research and development of the product, and, most important, the production volume they expect they will be able to sell.

The Game allows the student-businessman to borrow money to expand their operations or to sell assets if the need arises. Interest is earned on invested funds and taxes are paid from profits.

The exercise simulates the actual business environment to the extent that the program even allows the operator to introduce boom periods or recessions, which the young businessmen must adjust to if they wish to remain in business and make their endeavour a success.

Prov. spending cutbacks halt new school construction

The Ministry of Education will not approve new school construction until it has been shown that the need for new accommodation exists and is not available from another school board in the same geographical area.

The announcement was made last week by Education Minister Thomas Wells in a memorandum to all Ontario school boards.

The move is part of a two-point program to ensure that public and separate school boards consult each other on a regular basis regarding enrolment patterns and accommodation available within their areas.

However, the Ministry is not prepared to finance new school construction when adequate vacant accommodation is available nearby. Mr Wells said that it is no longer acceptable for school boards to view the matter of school accommodation in an isolated manner. It must, he said, be viewed on a broader perspective with less attention paid to the jurisdictional boundaries of a particular school board.

Mr Wells said the policy is aimed at avoiding waste and duplication in school facilities while at the same time ensuring that the proper care and educaton of the children involved is guaranteed.

The Ministry, Mr Wells said, is prepared to withold all approvals for new construction where there is a clear indication that planning and decision making has not been carried out in the public interest and where it is clear the new construction is not necessary.

Under the new policy, boards must cooperatively consider their enrolment needs, and from the cooperative planning process estimate the number of students attending public and separate schools within their area. Then they must work out a plan by which their accommodation requirements can be met.

Mr Wells suggested this could take the form of sharing of schools, the sale of schools between boards or by new construction.

The Minister also announced the establishment of a study team to consider the problems associated with the sharing of schools or transferring of students from one system to another. The study team will consider the question of late transfer of pupils from one system to another. This, he said, creates serious problems for the boards involved because they have planned their teaching and accommodation requirements before such transfers are made, leaving them with too much or too little space.

Co-Chairmen of the Team are Mr J. A. Marrese, Chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto Separate School Board and Dr. R. J. Christie, Chairman of the York Board of Education. They have been asked to complete their report by the end of January.

50TH ANNIVERSARY — onto for a number of years where Mr Burns was employed as a motorman with the Toronto Transit Commission.

IN MEMORIAMS

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Samuel Hummell, who passed away December 1960.

Daddy loved us every one
But one day when his work was done
He somehow got a call to come
Where Angels keep.
It did not cause us any joy
When one day like a tired boy
He gently closed his eyes
And went to sleep.

Ever remembered by the family

In 1946, they moved back to the Morrisburg area and began farming along the St. Lawrence River. The Seaway development ten years later brought them to their present farm on the Church Road. Mr Burns retired from farming in 1962 and worked for six years with the St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

The best man and the maid of honour at the weding are still living in Toronto but were unable to be at Sunday's 'At Home' celebrations.

Mrs Burns has several brothers and sisters: Bruce Salmon, Mrs Daphne Casselman, Mrs Lillian Casselman, Mrs Dorothy Torhdal, Mrs Helen Thorning and Grant Salmon.

Mr Burns has two brothers and two sisters, Muriel, Fred, Hattie and Gordon Burns.

Several relatives and friends from across Ontario and Quebec were expected Sunday. The couple also received many cards congratulating them on the occasion.

Ferguson-Helmer

Permilla Susan Helmer and John David Ferguson were married in Winchester Baptist Church Winchester on Saturday, December 2nd, 1972, at twelve noon. Rev. Norman Baird was the officiating clergyman at the ceremony.

Mr and Mrs Colbourne Helmer, R.R. 4, Winchester, are the parents of the bride; Mr Ferguson is a son of Mr and Mrs Wesley Ferguson, Newington, Ontario.

Mrs Harry Mussell, organist, played selections appropriate to the nuptial service. The wedding guests were seated by David Helmer, brother of the bride and Alex Ferguson, brother of the groom. Allen Ferguson, also a brother of the groom, was best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length bridal gown fashioned from white peau de soie, on A-line, with full bishop sleeves, cowl neckline and chapel length train. Escalloped daisy applique enhanced the bodice of the gown at the neckline and edged the hemline. A floral organza spray held her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of pink sweetheart roses and white mums.

Her attendants, Beverley Armstrong, cousin of the bride, maid of honour, Sharon Ferguson, sister of the groom, Debra Armstrong, cousin of the bride, bridesmaids, and Wendy Lee Holmes, niece of the bride, flowergirl, all wore floor length pastel mauve sheer gowns styled with long bishop sleeves, cowl necklines and fitted velvet boleros of deep violet. They carried nosegays of pink and mauve carnations to complement their attire.

After the marriage ceremony, a dinner reception was held in the church hall.

Mr and Mrs Ferguson are residing at Russesl, Ontario.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Helmer was honoured at a miscellaneous bridal shower held in Winchester Baptist Church Hall and attended by friends and relatives. Miss Beverley Armstrong was hostess for the occasion.

Murphy - Sheppard

A beautiful, fashionable and colorful wedding took place on Saturday, October 21, 1972 at St. Elizabeths Church, Leaside Avenue, Ottawa, when Margaret Ann Murphy of Ottawa, daughter of Mr and Mrs Gerald Murphy, Crysler, became the bride of Douglas Glenn Sheppard, Ottawa son of Mrs Lorena Sheppard and the late Ward Sheppard.

Reverend Gerald Donnegan officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her floor-length dress of white imported satin, designed, fashioned and tailored by her mother. The dress was made on princess lines. The long sleeves came to points over the hand, finished with Swiss lace down the centre of the sleeve. The dress also had rows of lace down the seams and wide border at the hemline as did the Queen Anne neckline. Her train was also finished with lace. Her shoulder-length veil of silk tulle illusion was trimmed with Swiss lace daisies and held in place with a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She wore white shoes and gloves and carried an American Beauty rose in a shower of white lace.

The bride was attended by Lynda Herbert, as maid of honor, who wore a floor-length deep purple gown of crimp, made on long fitted lines with accessories to match and carried white roses.

The four bridesmaids the Misses Colleen and Maureen Murphy sisters of the bride, Miss Janet Crump and Miss Heather Simpson, were all dressed alike in floor-length mauve crimp dresses made on fitted lines with white accessories and all carried a single white rose.

Little Margo Sheppard, neice of the groom wore an identical gown of the bridesmaids and carried a white rose.

They all wore pendants as the gift of the bride.

The groom was attended by Mr Sandy Buchanan as best man.

The ushers were Roger Reilly, Barry Lee, Chris Ball and Chris Bryant.

The mother of the bride wore a floor-length dress of pastel pink crimp, silver accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The mother of the groom wore a floor-length gown of blue brocaded satin with matching accessories and a corsage of carnations.

Following the wedding a dinner and reception were held at the Glenn Lea Country Club, where about 100 friends enjoyed the evening.

The Master of Ceremonies was Mr Wayne Sheppard, brother of the groom. Several toasts were proposed to the happy couple. The groom also gave a toast to the bride's father who was celbrating his birthday.

For travelling the bride wore a navy and rose crimp ensemble, navy shoes, bag and gloves to match with a wide navy blue hat and a white ermine cape.

On their return a reception was held in the Crysler Recreation Centre. Prior to the wedding the bride was entertained by her fellow employees at a dinner party at the Lucky Key Restaurant, Ottawa, where she was the recipient of many lovely gifts. She was also honoured by her former friends and neighbours at a shower held in Berwick hall.

The bride and groom have taken up residence at the Westdale Apts.

The bride is employed bilingually by the Treasury Board of the Provincial Government. The groom is employed by the Top Valu Gas Company.

N.D.D.H. School News

Since December has arrived and the snow is fresh, let's think about Christmas and some of its festivities . . . 'The Christmas Festival' for example! It's our North Dundas District High School Concert Band's annual presentation which promises to take the form of one of the most delightful Yule concepts of the year!

The young musicians have some delightful sounds in mind and are busy in preparation for the symphony, Monday, December 18.

We're going to visit Korea - with all its majestic brilliance, in an exciting extravaganza sound for percussion ensemble and symphonic band. The mid-eastern reverence of the ages is reflected in a beautiful carol - part of the Slavonic Suite.

The increased enrollment in our music programme over the past few years has had many advantages - one being the evolvement of an excellent junior band. The students range in age from 14-16 and have been rehearsing readily for this performance.

This year, once again, the senior students have come forth in the successful formation of their dance band. They have created a unique sound in that many students double on a second instrument and then they are able to achieve greater variations in tonality, than would otherwise be possible.

There is something else special about 'The Christmas Festival'. Christmas means coming home for the holidays and this is the theme around which the student committee has planned a most enjoyable reunion of all former band members. Fine music, old friends and festive foods are delightful ingredients for a pleasant evening.

One former band member who's coming home for the festivities is basoonist Dayid Ennis. Dave has ben studying music at the University of Western Ontario for the past three years and is undoubtedly one of the finest basoonists of his age in Canada today. Dave Ennis is our guest artist for the evening, recreating a concerto for basoon.

We're going to celebrate Chirstmas in fine Canadian style with the carols of a brass choral as we deck the halls with gusto and jingle merrily away in the excitement of the season, Monday, December 18 at 8 p.m. in the NDDHS auditorium.

Christmas is a family affair and music is the universal language of all! Think about joining your friends at the 'Christmas Festival.'

Girls from levels 3, 4 and 5 had a chance to visit the Ottawa Civic Hospital on Saturday, Dec. 2. The girls were given a tour of the area and I am sure the tour gave the girls a real insight into a career in medicine.

North Dundas once again is forming a ski club. Last year the club was extremely successful with several trips to the slopes and several beginners trying their skiing legs. This year, with planning and enlistment underway, we hope the weather will prove favourable for another great winter of skiing

Also in the planning stage is the formation of a curling club. Problems have arisen though and the leaders are having a problem getting ice time and prospective members. Perhaps a spark of interest will be shown now that the snow has made its arrival.

On Friday, Dec. 1, the North Dundas Senior Band travelled to Russell Public School to put on a performance for the students there. Carscadden travelled back to her home school to speak to the students about the course offered in music in level 1. Hopefully the music course will continue on its well acclaimed course.

Avonmore UCW holds bazaar and tea

AVONMORE — Bearing out the general theme of 'Santa's Magic Christmas', the members of the UCW of St. James United Church, held a highly successful bazaar and tea in the church hall last Saturday afternon. Not only did the event warrent the support of the ladies of the local community but also it attracted many friends from such district points as Cornwall, Ingleside, Long Sault, Chesterville, Maxville, Newington, Finch, Moose Creek and Ottawa.

The hall had been beautifully decorated by Rev. H. A. Funge, the decor appropriate to the theme.

Convenors for this special event were Mrs Clare Markell and Mrs Rupert Pollock, assisted by their committee, Mrs Gordon McRae, Mrs Grant Tinkess, Mrs H. A. Funge, Mrs Dunlop, Mrs Clarence Boyd, Mrs James Watson, Mrs Floyd Johnston, Mrs Earl Cameron and Mrs Ford MacMillan.

The tea opened with two bagpipe selections by Cathy Flanagan and Karen Ferguson.

The guests were welcomed by the UCW president, Mrs Rutherford MacnItyre.

In charge of the various tables were: Sewing, Mrs Robert Johnston, Mrs James Watson and Mrs Lloyd Grant; Home Cooking, Mrs Clarence Boyd, Mrs Alex Armour, Mrs Milton Crawford, Mrs Ernest Jackson; Post Office, Mrs F. C. Eligh; Candy, Mrs Russell Marjerrison and Mrs Fred Barkley.

Mrs Wesley Meldrum was treasurer for the various tables. Mrs Elmer Park received cash donations at the door.

Mrs James Begg and the members of her committee were in charge of the tea tables and the dining hall.

Pouring tea were Mrs Gordon Bennett, Mrs Cecil Helps, Mrs Cecil Haley and Mrs H. A. Funge. The head table was attractively decorated on a Christmas theme.

During the tea hour, prizes were given to Mrs W. M. Stevenson, whose birthday is on December 5th; Mrs E. A. McKillican and Mrs Edgar MacLean, who held lucky tea cups.

Rev. H. A. Funge was in charge of the Christmas gift and notion table, all articles theron which he had fashioned.

The members of the Avonmore UCW were grateful to those who assisted through their donations and help in making the tea and bazaar the special event of the pre-Christmas season.

Teacher's VIEW...

One Teacher's View

Having recently read two articles in a local publication, I would like to take this opportunity to comment upon them.

These articles were entitled 'Pupil-Teacher Ratio Decline s' and 'Propose Teacher Aides.' Under normal conditions this would certainly be cause for joy and secret elation of the unassuming parent who consequently concludes that the quality of education of his child is improving or at best, has reached its pinnacle.

I strongly question this, and I do so on the basis of the following facts:

1. As a teacher of a subject (French) which demands a small (20-25 would do) pupil-teacher ratio, (calculated by the number of student heads I can count in the classroom, and not by some nebulous, misleading strategem which erroneously included one-eighth of a teaching staff which doesn't teach, in addition to two para-professionals, I find it, needless to say, rather demoralizing to have Board of Education officials tell the public that the PTR (Pupil-Teacher Ratio) is declining.

Well that may be the case elsewhere, but such is not the case for me, nor my Level One students, nor for their parents. The sad part is that some administrators openly state that "things will get worse before they get ebtter."

One might think we were discussing something so insignificant as the weather.

2. My second point deals with the proposed teacher aides whose purpose it will be "to free teachers to provide more individual assistance to students."

Sounds good!

It would be erroneous on my part to condemn such innovative practises, as these people probably could be of aid in certain subject areas. As far as can be forseen in my subject area, what is needed is not a teacher aide but ana dditional qualified French teacher. On the other hand, perhaps a teacher aide could be of use to me. Suppose I were to split my class straight down the middle and send the one half to the nursery accompanied by the aide, then, in all likelihood, I would have the prescribed number of students with which I would work effectively.

In all fairness to the system, it must be stated that the PTR in the higher levels is acceptable, but for all practical purposes it must be at the Level 1 level that the help and opportunity be given.

Mr John McAllister, a teacher of French at Seaway District High School, Iroquois, Ontario, was last seen picking 'Did he ever return, no, he never returned' on his imaginary guitar as he toddled down the corridor to his over-crowded Level 1 classroom.

SHIFTING LABOR —

An additional factor that has aggravated the situation has been the increasingly large number of graduates. Over the past three years persons graduating with a higher degree from Canadian universities has totalled about 210,000 representing a huge annual increase of 12 percent, and the white collar jobs which they have probably sought have not been growing rapidly enough.

But while the highest incidence of unemployment has occurred in this younger age group, in recent years women have experienced an increasingly greater degree of unemployment. The unemployment rate for women in Canada has been traditionally lower than for men due to the female labour force being concentrated in jobs which are generally immune to fluctuations in economic activity. In addition, when women lost jobs they tended to return to household or other non labour-force activities.

However, in the current high unemployment situation these traditional patterns have been reversed possibly reflecting the fact that as families became accustomed to two incomes, women's commitment to gainful employment becomes stronger.

As a result the unemployment rate for women over 25 has increased significantly over the past three years with the consequence that in the first nine months of this year, they accounted for 12 percent of the total unemployed as opposed to 6 percent at the beginning of the sixties.

KITCHEN CORNER

HOLIDAY TREATS

Making holiday cakes and cookies ahead of time will ease the Christmas rush. Most of these festive treats can be frozen. Using moisture or vapor-proof containers or wrappings will pay off in food that keeps longer and better.

Some packaging materials are only partially moisture and vapor-proof, but are satisfactory for a short period of time. For example, while wax paper has many valuable uses in short term preservation of food, it is not satisfactory for wrapping foods to be frozen.

Aluminum foil, polyethelene bags, freezer film wraps, plastic and metal containers are all considered satisfactory. All containers or wrappings should be easy to seal, waterproof (so they will not leak), and durable at low temperatures so they do not puncture or become brittle and crack.

Short Bread

1 cup butter (do not substitute)
1/3 cup fruit sugar
2 cups flour

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add flour to form stiff dough. Turn dough onto a lightly floured board and knead until the dough starts to crack. Roll about ¼ inch thick and cut into Christmas shapes. Bake in 325°F oven until lightly browned.

To add the Christmas touch, sprinkle with fruit sugar colored with a few drops of food colouring before baking.

Maple Nut Squares

Base

1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter

Blend together until of meal texture, press in pan. Bake 5 minutes at 350°F.

Topping

2/3 cup brown sugar
1 cup maple syrup or corn syrup
2 eggs
¼ cup butter
¼ tsp. salt
2/3 cup pecans
½ tsp. vanilla
2 tbsp. flour

Combine sugar and syrup, simmer together 5 minutes. Cool slightly. Pour over beaten eggs, stirring well. Stir in remaining ingredients and spread over base. Bake at 450°F for 10 minutes, reduce heat to 350°F and bake 20 minutes.

Peanut Butter Bonbons

1 cup smooth peanut butter
1 cup finely chopped peanuts
1 cup icing sugar

Combine peanut butter, peanuts and icing sugar. Form into balls approximately 1 inch in diameter. Chill for ½ hour.

Coating

4 squares semi-sweet chocolate
2 tsp. butter

Melt chocolate and butter together in the top of a double boiler. Roll chilled balls in chocolate mixture. Place on waxed paper. Store in refrigerator.

Date Rolls

1 cup chopped dates
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. butter
½ tsp. vanilla

Combine and cook until thick. Cool. Add enough coconut to make stiff. When cool enough to handle, roll in 1-inch ball, then in additional coconut. Refrigerate.

tree is a tree with its butt set in water. However, if a tree has dried out before it is set up, it cannot regain its moisture level. A dry tree can be ignited by a single match, to burn violently to a charred state within a few seconds.

Even artificial trees can be serious fire hazards. Metallic trees are conductors of electricity, and should not be decorated with strings of lights, but illuminated with floodlights. Some plastic trees, made from styrene materials, are inflammable, unlike those made from polyvinylchloride.

All trees should be removed from the home as soon as possible after the Christmas celebrations.
