Lynden Jackson and son Larry with Lynland Mattador Frosty ET, SD&G's first successful frozen embryo transplant calf. Her dam, Oakside Winston Lady VG, was flushed May 10, 1983 and two embryos were transferred to grade recipient dams 20 days later. Both transfers resulted in pregnancies and Frosty weighed in at 110 pounds March 1. A bull calf was born two days later. Mr. Jackson is pleased with the result of the experiment, saying that if he could have ordered up a calf to his own specifications, he would not have done it any differently. Record Photo - Morris

A first for SD and G

Lynland Mattador Frosty ET is a very special calf

MONKLAND (Staff) - Lynland Mattador Frosty ET is a first for Monkland's Lynden Jackson, and SD&G and a major success for Eastern Breeders Inc.

The heifer calf, born March 1, is the first frozen embryo transfer (ET) progeny born in the United Counties, according to EBI transfer technologist Jim Vander Meer. She has also put the Jackson farm on the cutting edge of genetic technology.

There are fewer than 100 frozen ET cattle in all of Canada, Mr. Vander Meer said, although there will soon be seven more at Lynland Farm.

The Jacksons already have 11 ET daughters in their herd so it seemed only natural that they should opt last year for SD&G's first experiement with a frozen embryo.

The calf's dam, Oakside Winston Lady VG, was serviced with semen from A Butlerview Mattador and flushed May 10, 1983.

Two embryos were recovered, frozen and transferred to surrogate dams June 1, 1983. Both transfers resulted in pregnancies in the grade cows chosen to act as host mothers.

Frosty was transferred to a grade cow on the farm of Milton Haley and was born on the first of the month. A male calf was born two days later. She came back to Lynland Farm Monday.

In addition to the seven frozen embryos already transplanted at the Jacksons' 400-acre, 225-head farm, there are three more "on ice" at EBI's lab in Kemptville to be transferred at the Jacksons' convenience.

Theoretically an embryo can be kept frozen indefinitely and still retain the genetic potential of its sire and dam, Mr. Vander Meer said.

In Frosty's case, this is a prestigious potential. Her dam is Very Good and a half sister by Senator sold for $5,600 at the EBI Fall Classic several years ago. Her sire is one of EBI's most popular bulls, rated in the top one per cent of the Holstein breed for type improvement, at plus-14, and in the top 20 per cent for production.

The major advantage of embryo transfers is that it extends the calf bearing years of outstanding cattle. Almost 11 years old, Winston Lady can still pass on her genes as if she were a five year old. The same is true of the Jacksons' Marjy Molly Rockman, another 10-year-old which was serviced and flushed and whose embryos were frozen and transferred to surrogate dams.

The added advantage of freezing these embryos is that like frozen semen, they can be used at the breeder's convenience, giving him greater flexibility in planning recipient management and milk production.

Rather than the simultaneous transfer of all the embryos recovered in a flushing, the breeder can now space them out according to his own management plans and quota situation.

Mr. Vander Meer said it also gives the breeder more flexibility in selling embryos and greatly facilities the cattle export business.

Embryo transfers have been carried out since the 1960s but it is only in the past five years that frozen embryos have been transferred.

Since it is still a relatively new technique, it has not yet reached the success rate of the conventional embryo transfer program.

At present its success rate is between 25 and 30 per cent while the more established program of transferring fresh embryos has a success rate of between 60 and 65 per cent.

Frozen transfers must be able to reach a live birth rate of 40 to 50 per cent before the program becomes commercially reliable.

Heritage committee makes pitch to council

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The Chesterville Heritage Committee is one step closer to turning the old firehall into a museum.

The committee was out in full force at Village Council's March 6 meeting with their museum proposals. Heritage Committee Chairman Bob Bennett noted that his group wants to ensure the preservation of local history and belives that a museum will be an asset to the Village.

Because of the firehalls historical significance (it was built in 1867) the committee has proposed that the Village transfer ownership of the firehall to them for the creation of a museum.

"There has been a lot of work done by all the committee members and we're anxious to get started on a museum," Mr. Bennett said. He noted that a number of area residents have pledged their support, along with a number of local organizations, schools and industries. Mr. Bennett said that the ways and means committee has a number of fund raising ideas in mind including perhaps having patrons (for donations of $500 for example) for the museum.

The Heritage Committee presented Council with a number of draft proposals on what they would like to see happen to the firehall. Mr. Bennett said the firehall would need about $12,000 in renovations and this amount would be reduced if the committee did some of the work themselves. Some of the proposed renovations to the building include bricking in some existing doors and windows and replacing some foundation stonework. The renovations also include installation of washrooms, office space and new front doors.

Mr. Bennett said the annual operating costs for the museum would be about $4,000. He added that the museum would be open for nine to ten weeks in the summer.

Village Councillor Mike Brannen asked the committee if the Village was expected to throw in for up-keep of the building. Mr. Bennett said that through fund raising projects the committee expected to have enough money to operate and set up the museum. "If we applied for grants it would make our task that much easier," he said.

Deputy Reeve Jim Cook noted that often provincial and federal government grants require the municipality to have some type of ownership.

Reeve Carl Ward commended the committee on their work and said that a museum "would be an asset to the Village, though we have to be quite certain the project is viable." He said that projects such as these are often initiated with much enthusiasm, but enthusiasm sometimes wanes through time. Reeve Ward noted that currently the fire siren is located on top of the old firehall, and that if the building was transferred to the committee some type of arrangements would have to be made for its continued use.

Chairman Bennett said that his committee was willing to comply with any arrangements that council has to offer. He added that the Heritage Committee is made up of some responsible individuals and is a good reflection of the community.

"We believe that a museum would help improve the quality of life in the community and we believe that Village Council and the citizens of Chesterville need to work as a team to pull this off." Councillor Jim Sullivan said that the proposed museum was , "a very good thing", and he couldn't see why Council can't help out with the venture. "Council helps other organizations, such as the Fair Board for example," Councillor Sullivan said. "I don't see why if it boiled down to that why we couldn't go about giving you a hand," he said. "A museum would be a real step forward for Chesterville Village."

Councillor Rudi Derstroff questioned whether any costs would come back to the Village if the building was turned over to the committee. Chairman Bennett said that his committee would be responsible for the building up-keep. Councillor Derstroff said that he wasn't sure how other Council members felt, but to make things legal there has to be some exchange of funds and he was prepared to let the building go for the nominal sum of $1.

Reeve Ward said that the committee has had some extra time to do their homework, and now it was the Villages' turn to look into the matter. He added that the Heritage Committee can expect an answer on their proposal at the next Council meeting, March 21.

Legion meeting

(Staff) - Chesterville Legion Branch 434 next regular meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 19. Legion executive reminds that some memberships are now due. The meeting get underway at 8:15 at the Legion Hall.

Two receive gold

AVONMORE (Staff) - Two Stormont dairy farmers received Gold Milk Quality Certificates Thursday evening at the Stormont Milk Committee Annual Meeting. Randy Moke and Lloyd Steven were presented with the certificates for maintaining a high level of milk quality on their operations. To be eligible for a gold seal a farm must be Grade A standard, it must score at least a 90 on inspection, the yearly plate loop count must be less than 5,000-ml., Somatic cell count must be less than 200,000-ml., all inhibitors tests must be negative and all tests for added water must be negative.

Stability hinges on reducing stockpiles

WINCHESTER (Staff) - The Canadian dairy industry won't return to any kind of stability until the United States and the European Common Market countries bring their production in line with demand and deplete large domestic dairy product stockpiles.

Dr. Lloyd McIsaac, a commisioner with the Canadian Dairy Commission in Ottawa, delivered that rather bleak prediction at last Wednesday's Dundas County Milk Producers annual meeting.

Dr. McIsaac gave an overview of the market forces that influenced the domestic dairy industry over the past year, saying the two biggest factors were a decline in domestic purchases of dairy products and an even weaker international market, caused in part by "huge US and Common Market dairy surpluses."

In January of 1983 the country saw production increasing over the previous year at the same time as consumption began a downward trend.

"When that happens," he said, "it's obvious we're heading for trouble. The commission took steps to remedy that situation. It reduced quota in August of 1982 and reduced quota further in January of 1983.

"As production came in line consumption turned up," he said. "At the end of the dairy year we wound up producing the same amount of milk compared to the year before with Canadian consumption up slightly."

In spite of the inherent problems with the domestic dairy marketing system, Mr. McIsaac said it was "pretty clear that we have a good system that was built with a lot of effort and work."

"It has flexibility, adaptibility and most important of all, the support of the producers," he said. "It has stood the test of time and served the industry well, however effort is still needed to improve and make changes to the system as time goes on."

Convention places region in spotlight

OTTAWA (Staff) - After literally years of planning the National Holstein Association of Canada kicked off its 100th annual meeting in Ottawa on Monday.

This is a Canadian success story of which you should be aware," David Clemons, Holstein Canada director, told a Monday afternoon press conference.

Before the five-day meeting and convention ends in the posh rooms of the Capital Congress Centre, more than just the media will be aware of the success story.

Delegations from several countries, including Argentina and Australia, have already arrived in Ottawa to pick up some pointers on the Canadian Holstein industry.

By press time, buyers from 17 countries will have bid on 50 of Canada's finest Holstein cows and calves at prices ranging from between $3,000 and $100,000.

And during the week, 2,500 producers from across Canada will get a chance to talk shop and learn about the latest in breeding and classification techniques.

In the works for three years, the Ottawa convention was the product of a happy coincidence. Because this is the national association's centennial, organizers felt Ottawa was a perfect choice to emphasize Holstein Canada's national character.

At the same time, there has always been a tradition of the national meeting following the president. This year's president is Allison Fawcett of Winchester, making Ottawa a perfect site.

For Eastern Ontario producers, it is a golden opportunity to shine a little before an international audience.

"There is no doubt that this kind of thing creates a lot of interest and involves a lot of people in the area where the meeting is being held," said Mr. Fawcett, who steps down as Holstein Canada's first Dundas County president on Friday.

The association is hoping that interest will be shared by the approximately 1,000 delegates from Quebec, Canada's largest dairying province. "We want to encourage people from Quebec," said David Clemons. "It is the province that offers the association its biggest potential for growth."

The convention is also attracting the attention of associations from other countries.

Emilo Negri, president of the Argentinian Holstein Association, said it was an opportunity to examine Canada's classification, feeding and breeding systems for Holsteins.

Argentina, he said, would like to reduce its herd of between 1.5 and two million Holsteins while maintaining current production levels to free land for grain and cereals.

Although the countries have different feeding systems -- Argentina does not use stalls since the weather provides year round grazing -- Mr. Negri said his association is hoping to utilize silage and concentrate formulas developed here to boost production.

"We are here to enjoy your country and see what your programs can offer us," said Mr. Negro, who earlier in the week visited Mr. Fawcett's Winchester farm.

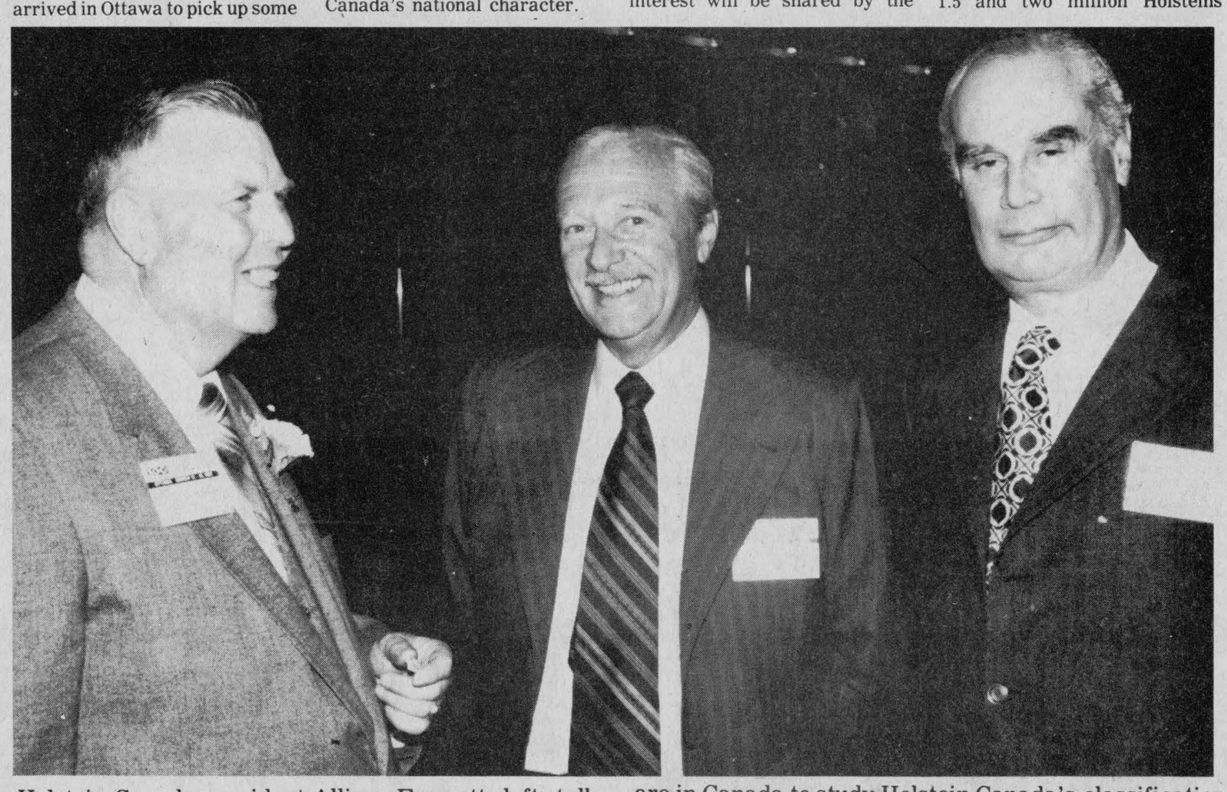
The international impact of Holstein Canada's 100th anniversary was guaranteed with the sale of 50 of Canada's best Holstein calves and cows.

Total sales were expected to reach one million dollars.

Holstein Canada paid $2,800 to use the Congress Centre for an hour during the sale Tuesday afternoon. Congress Centre officials, however, took no precautions in providing the fanciest sale barn ever used in Ontario.

The animals were housed at Lansdowne Park and trucked to the Congress Centre were they were loaded directly on to the elevated show ring.

Among the cattle being sold was Sunnylodge Mattie, owned by Carl Smith of Chesterville.



Holstein Canada president Allison Fawcett, left, talks with Pedro Massalin, centre, and Emilo Negri of the Argentinian Holstein Association during the President's banquet in Ottawa Monday night. Mr. Massalin, a director, and Mr. Negri, president of the association, are in Canada to study Holstein Canada's classification and feeding systems. Buyers and representatives from 17 countries are attending the national convention. Record Photo - Riley

Township may take govt. funding gamble

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Winchester Township council may go ahead with an extensive improvement project in Morewood despite at least a year's delay in government funding.

Council told Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing officials Thursday they want a grant under the Ontario Neighbourhood Improvement Program to complete work on the village's new community centre, build a parking area, repair sidewalks and improve street lighting.

The total cost of the project was not disclosed.

Ministry officials told council the deadline for applications under the grant program is too near to prepare an application that would be accepted in 1984. Even when an application is completed, they said, grant money may not be available.

"We get more applications for grants than money we have available to give out, "Doug Klute, a ministry representative said.

Councillor Dwayne Holmes said he was disappointed by the delay and added that council may have no option but to go ahead with the project using other funding sources. "I don't think the people of Morewood can wait a year for the money and the project to happen," he said.

The Neighbourhood Improvement Program works on a four year basis so that the cost to the community and the ministry can be spread out. The first year is usually restricted to planning with work being completed over the next three years. The ministry requires a detailed plan before funds will be given to any community.

Although council did not come to a final decision, it did not rule out the possibility of starting some phases of the project with grants from Wintario.

Tinkler declines milk committee job

WINCHESTER (Staff) - For the first time in five years Inkerman farmer Norm Tinkler will not be a member of the Dundas County Milk Committee executive.

Mr. Tinkler, who served his final year on the executive as chairman, declined to let his name stand for election Wednesday at the Milk Committee annual meeting.

"I would have liked to have stayed on the board," Mr. Tinkler said, "but we need people to get on and get their feet wet."

In a one page report to the meeting Mr. Tinkler outlined the committee's activities for the past year, from the dairy princess competiton held during the Village of Winchester's Jamaica Day to the OMMB Geneva Park Conference.

In spite of the fact that he would no longer serve on the committee executive warned his departure might not be permanent.

"Give me four or five years down the road," he said, "if they (the new executive) aren't doing a good job, I'll come back."

KCAT grain seminar rescheduled to April 3

KEMPTVILLE (Special) - The cancellation of the Feb. 29 grain marketing seminar due to a severe snow storm, has prompted organizers to reschedule the program for Tues., April 3. The seminar will be held at Kemptville college in the Parish Building auditorium beginning at 10am.

The day, sponsored by the Ontario Grain Corn Council, the Ontario Soybean Growers Marketing Board and the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association, will allow area farmers to hear speakers cover the whole gambit of information related to marketing one's cash crops.

Topics to be covered in the day's proceedings include record keeping of production costs, marketing terminology frequently used by local grain traders and brokers and the many marketing options Eastern Ontario farmers have available to them.

This seminar will be of interest especially to many of the production-efficient dairy farmers who are marketing small acreages of corn, soybeans and spring cereals in this part of the province.

For further details and reservations, contact Jerry Winnicki at 258-3411 Ext. 280.

New dealership

WINCHESTER (Staff) - You may not have seen the newest member of Winchester's business community come into town, but it will be hard not to notice her luggage.

A caravan of 30 cars and trucks worth approximately $400,000 are expected to arrive today as Drewery Pontiac-Buick on St. Lawrence St. opens for business.

The business, situated on the site of the former Angus Pontiac-Buick operation, will be a shot in the arm to the village's economy. The dealership will employ 13 in sales and service.

For Rosalind Drewery, it will be her first chance to own and manage a dealership.

An 18 year veteran in the car sales business, Mrs. Drewery was tempted away from Saskatoon by Winchester's small town atmosphere and a belief that the region was ready for another dealership.

"I think the demand is here for a well run business," she said. "I think people are coming out of the recession period and that it will be a good year."

Even though the economy is still a little sluggish, Mrs. Drewery is adamant that hard work and confidence can pick up the slack. "During 1982, which was a bad year for sales, we used to have a joke that we didn't know how to spell recession," she said.

The route from ordering parts in a parts department in 1966 to owning a dealership in 1984, she said, has been a gradual one.

And although cars and service is a male-dominated business, Mrs. Drewery said her success over the years has not been hindered by bias.

"This is a people business and I think women can understand people as well as men can," she said. "I think I got this far by not being an overly imposing person. I'm quietly agressive."

"Besides, this business gets in your blood and you can't get rid of it."

Drewery Pontiac-Buick, she said, will try to build a market in the region with an emphasis on servicing.

Local businesses, she said, have already given her "a good reception."

The business is expected to open today with an official opening in June.

Rosalind Drewery stands in front of the building that, with a few finishing touches, will become Drewery Pontiac-Buick, the newest business in Winchester. The business will create employment for 13 people in sales and service. Mrs. Drewery was attracted to the area from Saskatoon by the small town atmosphere and the region's economy. Gordon Johnson named chairman of Dundas County Milk Committee

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Gordon Johnson, RR1 Chesterville, was named chairman of the Dundas County Milk Committee last Wednesday at the group's annual meeting.

Mr. Johnson served as committee vice chairman last year and takes over the chairman's position from Inkerman's Norm Tinkler who declined to let his name stand for re-election.

Vice chairman is Tom Clapp, RR1 Inkerman and the secretary-treasurer is Don Johnston, RR3 Winchester.

The remainder of the committee members are Charlie Farlinger, Jim Adams, Bruce Garlough, Stan Baldwin, plus new members Dean Keyes and George Ennis.

SNRCA lets tender

BERWICK (Staff) - The South Nation River Conservation Authority (SNRCA) has awarded Contract V-S to Louis Bray Construction of St. Andrews West.

The company was awarded the contract -- which will involve the removal of the SNRCA sedimentation basin in Chesterville -- when its bid of $11,999 beat out four others. The engineer's estimate for the job was placed at between $12,000 and $14,000.

The basin had been installed while river channelization work near Chesterville was going on. Its purpose was to allow stirred up river sediment a chance to settle and provide the nearby Nestle plant with clear water to be used in processing.

The work will be done to coincide with the annual Nestle summer shutdown.

Stormont producers meet new OMMB reg. director

AVONMORE (Staff) - The new Ontario Milk Marketing Board director for Region 1 says he was surprised at the changes that have been introduced to the OMMB over the past few years.

Grant Cameron officially became director for Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell counties on Jan. 13, replacing former director Jean Claude Dutrisac.

Speaking to the Stormont Milk Committee Annual Meeting at the Roxmore Public School Thursday evening, Mr. Cameron admitted that many things had changed since he worked for the board as a fieldman from 1966 to 1978.

"I've attended three board meetings," he said, "and even though I have some background, there has been quite a bit of learning to do. In five years time there have been a lot of changes on the board."

Figures provided by Mr. Cameron showed that while production in January was up by 1.6 per cent across the province as compared to a year earlier, the county of Stormont still lagged behind.

While the county of Glengarry posted a 1.5 per cent January increase the production figure for Stormont decreased by .2 per cent.

Mr. Cameron also pointed to figures that indicated an increase in butterfat levels between August 1 and January 1. The increase works out to .09 per cent which he called "a sizeable increase over a year ago."

"That had an impact on whether the board will give out additional quota," he said. "The national quota system is based on butterfat and when butterfat increases it means the MSQ available to provinces is reduced. That is why the board decided not to give out any additional quota between now and the end of the dairy year."

Mr. Cameron thanked his predecessor Mr. Dutrisac for his assistance and encouraged the audience to approach him with a question or problem.

"I hope to do the best job I can to represent in Toronto the views of the people of Region 1," he said.

Dundas milk producers given high marks for quality

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Dundas county milk producers were given high marks for the quality of their product last Wednesday during the annual meeting of the Dundas County Milk Committee.

Bill Nibbelink, fieldman with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food's Dairy Inspection Branch, said the most important thing he wanted to tell producers was "we had a good year."

"We saw improvement on all items across the board that we look at," he said. "That speaks well for the dairy producers of Dundas and the province as a whole. We're producing a pretty good product on the whole."

In a one page report delivered to the meeting Mr. Nibbelink noted improvements in plate loop counts, Somatic cell counts and the incidence of inhibitors in the milk supply.

The average Somatic cell count in Ontario for the year (1983) was 410,760 cells-ml while in Dundas it was 413,330. Mr. Nibbelink pointed out that the goal of the Somatic Cell Count Education Committee was still to reduce the provincial average to less than 300,000 cells-ml, while individual producers are being encouraged by the Dairy Inspection Branch to aim for an SCC count of less than 200,000.

"At the present time we don't have enough information to know what the proper level should be," he admitted, "but for the time being we are advising 200,000."

Mr. Nibbelink echoed other speakers at the meeting when he warned producers to become even more careful about inhibitor levels in their milk.

Inhibitors are any one of a number of antibiotics administered to cattle to fight infection. If the inhibitor level in milk is too high it interferes with the production of cheese.

"In the coming year, producers should expect to see a more sensitve test for inhibitors become the standard for all inhibitor testing in the province," he said. "That means you are going to have to be even more careful than you are now. Some places are still having problems making cheese with the (inhibitor) levels we have now."

"In retrospect," he said, "1983 saw a continued improvement in milk quality throughout Ontario, including Dundas county

To be eligible for a gold seal the dairy operation must be Grade A standard, it must score at least 90 points on inspection, the yearly plate loop average must be less than 5,000-ml, the average Somatic cell count must be less than 200,000-ml, all tests for added water must be negative and all inhibitor tests must be negative.

'Fitness Chefs' sample recipes

BERWICK (Special) - The 4-H "Fitness Chefs" are off to a great start.

The "Fitness Chefs", participants in the 4-H Fitness Fare program, have discussed proper diets, keeping fit, and good snacking habits. Various dishes have been prepared and all proved to be quite tasty. The club is informative and interesting and members Angela Logtens, Jennifer Hunt, Eileen Grady and Kristine McRae, plan to benefit from the program in the future. Leaders of the "Fitness Chefs" are Barbara Ann Glaude and Bertha Huybregts.

Stormont elects Craig

AVONMORE (Staff) - Finch Township dairy farmer Ellwood Craig has been named chairman of the Stormont County Milk Committee.

Mr. Craig's election, along with that of seven other committee members, took place Thursday evening at Roxmore Public School at the Committee's annual meeting.

Representing the Township of Roxborough will be Lynden Jackson and Jim McIntyre, who was later chosen to serve as vice chairman.

Mr. Craig and Michel Glaude will represent Finch Township, Osnabruck Township will be represented by Randy Moke and Heinz Mulitze and Cornwall Township will be represented by Peter Beaudette and Barry Grant. Mr. Beaudette will also continue to serve as secretary-treasurer.

IN MEMORIAM

FLANAGAN — In loving memory of a dear husband, Oarn who passed away March 17, 1983.
There is someone who misses you sadly,
In the house where you used to be
There's someone who wanted to keep you,
But God willed it not to be.
I remember the day I met you dear,
And the day God made you mine,
I remember the day I lost you dear,
I will till the end of time.
But with all my tears and sadness,
There is one thing has made me glad,
That you chose me to share with you,
Those wonderful years we had.
Sadly missed and always remembered, Mary.

IN MEMORIAM

MERKLEY — In loving memory of Nina Merkley, a dear wife, mother, grandmother and great grandmother, who passed away March 17, 1975.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of the one we loved so well
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
Harold E. Merkley and family.

BECKSTEAD — In loving memory of sister Lillie J. Beckstead, who passed away March 20, 1981.
March comes with deep regret
For one we shall never forget
A loving smile, a happy face
A broken link, we will never replace
With our faith we will meet again
Only God knows just when.
Sadly missed and always remembered
Your loving brother, Arthur.

IN MEMORIAM

MCLEAN — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Bernard, who passed away March 18, 1983.
It was a sudden ending,
Too sudden to forget,
And we who loved you dearly
Are the ones who won't forget
We are thinking of you today
But that is nothing new
We thought about you yesterday
And the day before that too
And we will think of you tomorrow
And each day throughout the year
So no matter what we say or do
Our thoughts will always be of you.
Love Georgina and son Jack.

IN MEMORIAM

FLANAGAN — In loving memory of our dear Daddy and Grandpa, Oarn, who passed away March 17, 1983.
To the dearest Daddy this world could hold
With a wondferful smile and a heart of gold,
To those who knew him, all will know,
How much we lost one year ago.
What we would give if we could say,
"Hi Daddy" in that same old way!
To hear you laugh and see you smile,
To sit with you and talk awhile.
So you who have a father, cherish him with care,
For you'll never know the heartache
Till you see his empty chair.
Sadly missed forever in our hearts
The Family

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

CARRUTHERS — In loving memory of a dear son, Hector, who passed away March 19th, 1980.
Your end came sad and sudden
No time to say goodbye
You were gone before we realized
And only God knows why.
A golden heart stopped beating
Two willing hands at rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best.
Sadly missed by
Mother and Dad

IN MEMORIAM

MOAK — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Earl, who passed away 2 years ago today March 14, 1982.

And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Helen and family.
29

IN MEMORIAM

FLANAGAN — In memory of a dear brother and uncle, Oarn who passed away on March 17, 1983.
The heavenly gates stood open
One year ago today
With goodbyes unspoken
He was quickly taken away
He would not wish for sorrow
He would not wish for tears
But just to be remembered
By us throughout the years.
Ever remembered by
Georgie and Bill.

Chesterville Rotary

The Easter Seal Campaign under the chairmanship of Martin Derks is well underway. All requests for donations have been distributed to householders and as well, donation boxes have been placed in all banks and various business establishments in Chesterville and Winchester. The response to date is heartwarming in that $1148.00 or 22.9 per cent of the objective has been realized. So please give generously to this most worthy cause, helping physically handicapped children.

Our thanks goes out to Jackie Hudson and Girl Guides for their assistance in getting this campaign launched.

The Chesterville Rotary club will be 50 years old in 1988 and the village of Chesterville will be zeroing in on 150 years. Rotary will endeavour to initiate a suitable celebration in commemoration of these events.

The Heritage committee showed their enthusiasm at the council meeting of March 6, 16 of 18 members attended. It is anticipated that the council meeting of March 21 will bring a favorable decision.

Inderjit Moonaar of the Nestle Company, Trinidad was a guest at this meeting and gave a brief talk on the Nestle operation in Trinidad.

Nikil Chande top junior public speaker

DIXON'S CORNERS (Staff) - Everything from a talk on skiing to a story about a family of rabbits kept the judges on their toes at the Dundas County Junior Public Speaking Contest held here March 8.

Ten area schools, represented by students from grades 4 to 6, took part in the contest. Judges noted that all participants spoke very well and admitted they had a difficult time choosing a winner.

Nikil Chande, an Iroquois Public School student, took first place and the Morewood Firemen's Trophy with his speech on Disaster Day. Jason Prost of Riverside Heights Public School took second spot with his talk on skiing. Third place was a tie between Joanne Garlough, Elma Public School, who spoke on Bees, and Glenn Rodger, Nationview Public School, with a speech on marijuana.

Rev. Tom Lowry, of Williamsburg, one of the judges for the competition noted that the speeches were of excellent quality and the contest spoke well of the quality of junior public speaking in the area.

Other public speakers in the contest included: Robbie Wilkins, Morrisburg, Life With A Teenage Sister; Chris Van Bridger, Winchester, the Origin of Hockey; Laurie Jollotta, Dixon's Corners, The A Team; Sarah Whittam, Morewood, Guppies; Rhonda McMillan, Chesterville - Rabbits; and Dawn Jennings, Inkerman, the Five Senses.

St. Pat's bake sale

(Staff) - The Volunteer Parents of St. Mary's School held their annual bake sale Thursday to raise money for the purchaser of a computer for the school. The parents assist the teachers and staff throughout the year in organizing events such as these and also help to serve soup lunches from Christmas to the winter break and hot dog lunches once a week.

This year the parents hope to collect about $1,000 from their work on the bake sale. Altogether for the whole year the parents will have collected in excess of $2,000 for the school. In past years the money has gone to the school so they may purchase books, supplies, etc.

Also on Thursday a draw was held for three home made St. Patrick day cakes donated by Suzanne St. Pierre, Joanne McMann and an anonymous donor. The cakes were won by Sharon Ross, Audrey Enright and Corry Dingeman.

With gifts donated by the Catholic Women's League, ($50); Sheila O'Connor, (Cabbage Patch doll), and Nestle's (clock radio) the parents held a second raffle to be drawn on Thursday. Winner of the $50 was Donna Bushley, winner of the doll was Angela Acres a grade 4 student at St. Mary's and the radio went to the Van der Pool family.

Baby shower

MOREWOOD (Special) - A baby shower in honor of Connie Woods was recently held at the home of Mrs. Betty Merkley, Morewood.

The home was decorated with streamers and balloons, and the dining room table was centered with a cake made by Mrs. Carruthers. Much of the afternoon was spent viewing the newcomer, "Sarah Dawn".

An address was read by Beatrice Riddell and a baby book and table well laden with gifts was presented to Connie. Lunch followed after the presentations.

Showmanship and fashion

(Special) - A touch of showmanship, a dash of fashion, and a whole lot of good old country flavour should turn the Kemptville College Royal into a winning combination March 23 and 24.

In the two-day livestock showmanship competition, 130 students will be vying for top honours. Five classes of animals are involved.

Accompanied by the music of Michael Jackson, another 50 students will parade 100 outfits ranging from casual spring wear to evening wear. Fashion shows will be staged twice a day. All outfits in the show have been created by the students.

Dennis Timbrell, Minister of Agriculture and Food, will officially open the Royal on Friday at 1pm

A petting zoo has been added to help make the Royal more of a family affair, with animals ranging from a calf to a llama. The bi-centennial oxen will also be on display. A baby sitting service, free of charge and manned by the students, will be set up in the gymnatorium.

Co-presidents of the Royal, Mark Gemmill of Renfrew and Janet Kirk of Kemptville, have been co-ordinating 21 committees, involving almost 300 students, since last September. A mother of three, Kirk calls the job "fabulous" and "invigorating".

Many Royal traditions will return including the food and farm exhibits and the home produce competition. The public can look forward to an expanded "herbs for cooking" show. All herbs have been grown in the College greenhouse.

Other events will include a celebrity milking competition, a tractor rodeo, clothing demonstrations, and a variety show.

Visitors will have an opportunity to tour some of the new facilities including the bull test station, the experimental beef barn, the horticultural centre and the farm power and equipment centre where merchanics train.

The final of the livestock showmanship competition will take place on Saturday at 2pm. Demonstrations will be scheduled for various times both days.

COURT — MARCH 9, 1984

Patrick Kelly, 22, of RR1, Chesterville, appeared on charges of impaired driving and driving over .08. These charges were laid when a vehicle was observed being driven erratically on Main St., Chesterville, on January 15, 1984. Kelly was fined $350 or 30 days in jail and his licence suspended on the impaired driving charge. The driving over .08 charge was withdrawn by the Crown.

Tom Harper, 61, of RR1, Osgoode, appeared on a charge of careless hunting. This charge was laid when Harper's daughter Susan was shot in the leg on January 7, 1984, near Mountain. Harper was found guilty and fined $50.

ACCIDENTS

On Monday, March 5, 1984, at 3:15pm Kenneth Loughlin, 29, of RR2, Mountain, was driving a 1982 Chevrolet pickup east on Highway 43 approaching the Dundas-Grenville Boundary Road. Kevin Lee Allen, 25, of RR2, Mountain, was driving a 1981 GMC pickup west on Highway 43. Loughlin turned left into the path of the Allen vehicle. The front of the Allen vehicle struck the right side of the Loughlin vehicle causing approximately $3,500 damage. There were no injuries. Loughlin has been charged with making an improper left turn. Allen has been charged with failing to produce insurance. Const. Al Lummiss is investigating.

On Thursday, March 8, 1984 at 4:45pm Guy A. Boudreau, RR3, Russell, was driving a 1976 Ford eastbound on the Winchester-Russell Boundary Rd. east of Marionville. Shirley Hacket of RR3, Russell was driving a 1983 Plymouth westbound when a head on collision occurred between the vehicles causing $6,000 damage. Both drivers sustained injuries and were taken to Winchester Memorial Hospital. Guy Boudreau has been charged with impaired driving and failing to supply breathalizer sample. Const. Ken Hawkins is investigating.

On Sunday, March 11, 1984 at 1pm on County Rd. 7 south of Highway 43 a three vehicle collision occurred during the high winds with drifting snow. A 1974 Crysler driven by Lester Joyce of Morrisburg was struck in the rear by a 1982 Volkswagon driven by Glenda O'Brien of RR1, Chesterville. The impact caused the Joyce vehicle to go sideways across the roadway where it was struck again by a 1983 Toyota driven by Marlene Hamilton of RR2, Iroquois. No injuries were sustained and damage was estimated at $6,000. Const. Bryan Helmer investigated.

Sealers fight back

This has not been a good week for certain protest groups in the country.

On the weekend a helicopter owned by the International Fund for Animal Welfare was attacked and overturned by an angry mob on Illes-de-la-Madeleine. On Sunday about 100 people attacked the $350,000 helicopter with bottles, clubs and chains before finally tipping the craft over on its side.

While such violent, ruthless, vigilante action cannot ever be tolerated in our society, the origins of it can at least be understood and while the group's actions can't be condoned at least we can sympathize with their feelings.

On Monday federal fisheries minister Pierre De Bane said as much saying, "I understand very well the reaction of our fishermen who have seen their livelihood endangered by people who come and protest one week during the year precisely where our fishermen live on a permanent basis."

The International Fund for Animbal Welfare have been pulling the tiger's tail for years now and, now that the tiger has decided to strike back, the group is surprised.

What is rather strange about this whole seal hunt protest affair -- quite aside from the fact that the people involved in the protests are weekend protesters who go home after its all over -- is that the hunt for harp seal pups has all but ended. However for some odd reason the protesters haven't seemed to have noticed and they just keep on coming, provoking the confrontation we saw on the weekend.

This year hunters will take about 60,000 adult and juvenile seals compared to the 180,000 seal pups clubbed to death annually up until the year 1982 when the government of Canada yielded to public pressure.

However in spite of that the International Fund for Animal Welfare continues to portray Canada as a country which permits and even encourages the ruthless slaughter of those gosh darn too-cute-to-be believed baby harp seals. (One must wonder what short of support the pups would receive if they were ugly).

The Fund has successfully staged a massive letter writing campaign in Great Britain to convince one of that country's major food chains to boycott the purchases of Canadian fish products until the hunt for seal pups has stopped. Well, it has stopped but it seems the animal welfare people haven't caught on to that fact.

Animals have been killed by man for his own uses for centuries and it doesn't appear that the situation is about to change. Cattle in slaughter houses are still killed with a steel bolt to the brain which, if you wanted to give it some thought, doesn't sound much better than a baby seal being clubbed over the head.

The groups have succeeded in all but putting a stop to the once lucrative trade in seal pup pelts and at the same time haven't won over too many people in the area. Therefore, it shouldn't have come as any surprise to anyone that they weren't greeted with open arms this weekend.- bruce hayes -

Lack of control

You know, it's strange how situations, especially ones with political or historical overtones, are replayed over and over throughout the course of history.

A confidential Revenue Ministry document released recently showed that as long ago as December of 1982 minister Pierre Bussieres was being warned "that the tax department lacked effective ministerial control and that its sweeping legal powers should be reduced to prevent abuse of taxpayer's civil rights." Loosely translated, "The lunatics are now running the asylum."

Now what do you suppose a feeling, concerned, conscientious and responsible minister would do once he received a report like that? Launch a massive internal investigation to find out just what in hell was going on in the ministry he is supposedly running? Nope. He shelved the secret report after being convinced by members of his staff -- most likely the same people the report was referring to -- that the document was just so much cow dip. They somehow managed to convince the minister that the powers were necessary and the potential for abuse really wasn't all that great.

The rancid smell emanating from the Ministry of Revenue now days is quite reminiscent of the all prevading stench which hung over Washington during the days of Watergate.

The warnings contained in the report are similar to Richard Nixon's former chief legal counsel John Dean's warnings that "there is a cancer growing in the presidency."

He too was ignored.

Mr. Bussieres did his best to keep the report a secret, refusing to release it to the public and now that a news organization has finally succeeded in getting a copy under the Freedom of Information Act he has moved to the standard 'no comment' ploy, obviously hoping that if he ignores the situation it will go away.

When members of the Opposition first began their barrage of accusations against the Ministry of Revenue, many people took what was being said with a grain of salt.

However, with the recent almost steady stream of incriminating documents appearing it seems the Progressive Conservative charges were growing more believable with each passing day.

Couple that with revelations of strong arm tactics -- up to an including ministry employees engaging in extortion -- that have arisen from the Conservative sponsored public investigation of the ministry and it becomes clear that something needs to be done and done quickly.

Is Mr. Bussieres really naive enough to not believe everything he has heard about his department or his he a puppet minister, with strings being pulled by top level bureaucrats?

Chesterville's Past

From The Record Thurs., March 13, 1924

The Bell Telephone Co. has recently spent over $1,500 on their Chesterville exchange. A large part of the outlay was caused by the installing of a new switch board. The change was made from the old board to the new one without any break in the service which cost extra money. In order that the party lines might be specially benefited, a new condenser has been added.

The option lists of the Horticultural Society are now being prepared and within a few days will be mailed or otherwise delivered to all those who were members last year. Every house should at least have one membership as it is not only supporting a good cause but it is profitable to you if you go no farther than getting your garden and flower seeds through it.

A number of friends and neighbours gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker on Monday evening to bid them farewell before they left for their new home in Lisbon, New York. Several short speeches were given by Mr. Hamilton, Mr. King and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Durant. Mrs. Ingram Cross read a special tribute to the Bakers.

On Monday evening in the Music Hall, a play entitled "The Village Lawyer" will be presented. The play, composed by the famous Arthur Lewis Tubbs, who is well known to the stage, and admired by critics for his superior talent in weaving pathos with commedy into his trend of thought, ranks with the best he has written.

Mr. and Mrs. John Coulthart, Morewood, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage on March 5, both looking hale and hearty in their sixty-ninth year. Old fire station was first township hall

The following article on the history of the old town hall was presented to Chesterville Village Council at their March 6 meeting. The article was written and researched by Patrick Coyne and Christine Cormier, Chesterville Heritage Committee members.

"As the municipality of the Township of Winchester began to develop in the mid-1860's, some residents considered the construction of a municipal building a necessity. Consequently, the Township Council (consisting of Reeve Giles Bogart, James C. Casselman, J. Fitzgibbons, John Halliday and J.L. Hughes) meeting at James McGinley's Inn on Feb. 23, 1867, was presented with a petition organized by Patrick Jordan asking for the erection of a town hall in the Village of Chesterville. Township Council reviewed the petition favourably, but moved that the Town Hall be built in connection with a school house for school section No. 8. This motion was accepted by council.

The proposition, however, was short-lived and at the meeting of Council on March 18, 1867, the motion was annulled. Council called a public meeting to discuss the propriety of building a town hall but also asked the clerk to advertise for tenders in the Dundas Courier for three weeks. Plans and specifications of the town hall furnished by Johnson Hill were available from the clerk's office.

At a special meeting of Council, Tues., April 6, 1867, five bids were reviewed: Avon Howes - $1,425; Johnson Hill - $1,214; Edmond Kerr - $1,175; Thomas Russell - $1,165; and Henry Mode - $1,100.

Henry Mode was awarded the contract and Johnson Hill was paid $6 for his plans.

Council then turned their attention to finding a building site. The present site was purchased from Joseph Johnson for $60 and was to be paid for by December of 1867. At a later meeting, there was some discussion as to who should be paid. On June 24, 1867, councillor John Halliday and councillor J.L. Hughes moved a motion that John Henry Crysler's name be substituted for Dr. Johnson on the deed of conveyance. This motion was defeated.

On June 29, 1867, the by-law ordering the erection of the town hall was passed and signed. Construction began later in the summer and on Aug. 3, 1867, Dr. Johnson was appointed inspector and directed to make sure that the work was done in good mechanical order according to the plans and specifications. The construction continued through the autumn and in Sept. of 1867 the treasurer was authorized to purchase a suitable stove and pipes for the township.

By Dec. 21, 1867, the town hall was completed and Council met in their new premises. Council again met in the new town hall on Dec. 28, 1867 but agreed to rent the new hall for one year to the trustees of School Section No. 8 for $30. Not only has the town hall served as a school, but it has been used as a division court, a local theatre, a boy scout meeting place and a firehall.

The Farmer's Wife

by Wyn Thompson

I was reading a statistical report recently and this bundle of figures support the belief that most Canadians favour a retirement age of 65. Sixty-five years seems to be the mythical age most men and women look forward to all their lives, as if something wonderful were going to happen when they reach it.

Pension money rolls in, no one has to work any more, you can retire and do all the things you've wanted to for years. Banks give you a discount; drug usage (legit, that is) is subsidized, you get a cut on some tours and in some cities, on the bus; some organizations give your spouse a discount, too, so they can experience a bit of the heaven here and now.

If you have been in business or industry for a number of years you opt out the day you reach that magic number, you are not fit for another hours work; besides that's when you really start to enjoy living, golfing, hunting, travelling or just lounging around. And you'll find a cozy little restaurant where other retirees hang out and you will compare lifestyles and of course, pension cheques.

Of course you can look forward to mowing the lawn, weeding the garden, ploughing the snow, going to the post office for the mail or the library for a book. And it is particularly exciting to pick up each month that brown envelope that comes no matter how patchy the mail service is.

I asked the Farmer the other night who set 65 as the magic age to retire people, for most people are just starting to get smart then and have settled down a bit...matured, the word is. I guess...have given up most bad habits and thus are dependable and can do a better job with fewer distractions on their minds.

"Here's where the Farmer has the edge," he replied, "he never needs to retire for there's always lots of work to do on the farm. In fact, I'll likely keep plodding along like Aunt Min who at 94 still kept a few heifers, grew a large garden and packed her water from the barn well, and who after she had played the organ for the Sunday morning service and returned to her home sensibly sat down and died."

"We're nicely into March, and no guessing about it. I wake in the night and hear the wind pounding across the sky. The wind drives the water down the rivers, crashes branches on the lawn, sweeps drifts away, and unearths the frozen secrets of winter. As soon as there is a break in the weather the dogs dash around collecting all the delightful bones they mislaid during the last snowfall.

This is the time of year when the house looks shabby, and between mop up jobs we notice the wear and tear of winter. Spring fever is just around the corner, or so it seems.

But March is not the beginning of spring in Eastern Ontario, it is a postscript to winter. Some of our worst weather belongs to March, along with heavy flooding rains. Then we may have a few days of pure delight with the air as refreshing as wine. Although we know better, we all predict an early spring. We celebrate with a buffet supper for a few friends, and everyone is merry. The talk is of spring projects, cropping, gardening and the robins return.

Any day now, we say, we'll be out raking the lawns and uncovering the roses. We are not so giddy as to serve spring salad plates. We stick to roast beef, mashed potatoes, coleslaw and apple pie and cheese. The moon is out when the guests drive away, and the world looks scrubbed and fresh

Then the next day, dark rain and violent winds are right back, snow boots come out, wool mitts are found, storm jackets are wiggled back into.

We had weekend guests recently and they set me to thinking about sleeping and waking habits. I have friends who like to bound out of bed early in the morning. Our recent guests were of that disposition. In spring and summer they have been known to take a brisk walk around 6am before breakfast. Around 7:30am they'd wake me up and bring me a cup of coffee and chat away as brightly as if it were 3pm. I could scarcely grunt.

Occasionally I get up and look at the sunrise for it is so beautiful, but then I go back to my snug bed. I purely hate to get up early and be brisk. I am glad I have to drive twenty-seven kilometers to work before I have to begin communicating.

When I do waken I am not bounding. I like to think. When the house is quiet and nobody is stirring about, I can remain snug in my bed and let my thoughts wander pleasantly.

When I do get up in the morning, I let the dogs in, for the Farmer has let them out. And I enjoy that first cup of coffee. I recall that I once asked a group of farmers if they wouldn't like to sleep in each morning. Isn't farming a hard taskmaster?

"I'm my own boss," one said, and the rest concurred. "No one tells us what to do or when to do it. Agrees with me."

This is the feeling farmers still have, as far as I can see. They may work much harder and longer than if they had nine-to-five hours, but it is their own decision, and they feel they are their masters. Which is not to say that they shouldn't be adequately reimbursed for the sale of their produce.

In the same vein of thought, it's strange to think how our dreams change. When I was growing up, I cut out the most glamorous apartments in the magazines and planned to live in one. It took growing up to make me realize that for sometime, at least, I needed breathing space about me.

I dreamed of being a nurse without realizing that I really didn't have the stomach for it, although my sister did.

But, in any case, people without dreams are the losers. We all follow some star, and without a star, the world can be a very dark place indeed.

Stormont high BCA awards

Three high BCA awards were handed out when the Stormont County Milk Committee held its annual meeting Thursday evening in Avonmore. Delburn Carruthers, left, received the Holstein Award for a BCA of 228.5 and Floyd Dingwall was presented with the Jersey award for his 204.5 BCA. Picking up the Aryshire BCA award was R. Producers encouraged to maintain quality

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Dundas county milk producers were encouraged to maintain the high quality of their product last Wednesday when the Dundas County Milk Committee held its annual meeting at the Winchester Community Centre.

In a report delivered by the Ontario Milk Marketing Board's Regional Marketing Officer Sarsfield O'Connor, producers were commended for the accomplishments of the past dairy year, but at the same time were warned to make sure the quality of milk produced in the area remains constant.

In 1983, the area Mr. O'Connor covers -- Eastern and East Central Ontario -- saw a total of 25 loads rejected by plants, as compared to 80 load rejections province wide.

Of those 25 loads, 21 were marketed after undergoing more extensive checks, three were used in part and one load, contaminated by blood, was destroyed.

The problem of high levels of inhibitors in milk delivered to production plants also was evident in last year's dairy production.

Inhibitors are any one of a number of antibiotics administered to cattle. While high levels of inhibitors in milk pose no health hazard to humans, it does create a problem for cheese makers. When a culture is introduced into the milk to begin the curdling process the inhibitors still present kill the bacteria and prevent the production of cheese.

"In 1983, 86 loads were alledged to have tested positive at the plant for inhibitors," Mr. O'Connor said. "This, however, proved to be untrue after more extensive tests were carried out. I appeal to you, if your milk is in any way doubtful, take a small sample to the plant to be tested rather than risk having your whole load rejected. Most plants now have sophisticated inhibitor detecting equipment and the consequences can be costly."

In spite of these warnings, Mr. O'Connor said the "quality of milk in Eastern Ontario is good. I've just pointed out some problems we've had."

Legion public speaking

FINCH (Special) - Heather Branch, 357, Royal Canadian Legion, Finch, held its public speaking contest for local schools Sun., Feb. 26 and, according to youth education chairman R. Lorne Johnson, the quality of the speeches and their delivery was excellent.

Judges for the competition were Lorna Marcellus of Ingleside and Ivan Lavoie and Reg Villeneuve of ES Tagwi Secondary School.

The opening and closing ceremonies were conducted by branch president Doug Ouderkirk and the competition was handled by Mr. Johnson.

Results are as follows:

Show and tell, grades 1, 2, 3 first, Kathie Poirier, grade 2, Roxmore PS, Avonmore; second, Craig Cameron, grade 3, Roxmore PS.

Grades 4-5: first, Joey Major, grade 6, Roxmore PS; second, Sherrie Blaine, Finch PS.

Grades 7 and 8: first, Jennifer Paul, grade 8, Roxmore PS; second, Sylvia Speck, grade 7, St. Bernard's Separate School, Finch.

LFI "logical sequence"

CORNWALL (Staff) - The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education has made yet another move to entrench its Late French Immersion program by introducing LFI into three secondary schools.

The recommendation was contained in a report of the Program Review Committee on French Immersion Programming at the Secondary School level and was presented at the March 6 board meeting.

At its last meeting the board agreed with a plan that would see seven 'strategic location' schools be designated to provide the LFI program which begins with students entering grade 7. The recent proposals for secondary school LFI are merely "a logical sequence" according to the committee's report.

The committee recommends that as of September 1984 St. Lawrence High School in Cornwall, Seaway District High School in Iroquois and North Dundas District High School in Maple Ridge provide a French immersion program for graduates of either the Early or Late French Immersion programs already in existence in the elementary schools.

Locally North Dundas District High School would be expected to initiate the immersion program in grade 9 for Nationview and Maple Ridge Public School graduates.

New Rec. Director in Osnabruck

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - The Township of Osnabruck has a new Municipal Recreation Director.

She is Marion Avery who began Mon., March 5 and takes over from former director Pat Flanagan.

Miss Avery grew up and went to school in Brockville. She graduated from Peterborough's Sir Sanford Fleming College in 1972 with a Recreation Leadership Diploma.

Before coming to Osnabruck Township she was the leisure co-ordinator with the Brockville and District Association for the Mentally Retarded. While this is her first municipal recreation directors position, she said she had done a lot of work with recreation directors in her previous job.

"I'd like to have a lot of community involvement," she said. "The programs I bring in will depend on what people are looking for. I'd like their suggestions on what they want and don't want."

Although she has only been on the job for a short time she said the help she has received from the community has been encouraging.

"Everyone in the community has been helpful and friendly," she said. "It's nice to feel at home when you come in new to a job."

Miss Avery can be reached at the municipal office in Osnabruck Centre at 537-2362.

Osnabruck residents upset over road

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - A delegation of Osnabruck Township ratepayers didn't receive the promise they might have been hoping for when they approached township council last Tuesday evening to see about getting their road paved.

George Beach lead the delegation of Concession 2 residents who have been trying to have a portion of the road stretching from Ingleside to Vin Vista Drive paved.

Mr. Beach told members of council that he and his delegation had approached council about their request in the late spring and early summer last year and "since then not too much has been said and not too much has been done."

Deputy reeve Gordon Ross told Mr. Beach that council had never made any promises or agreed to a timetable for upgrading and paving the road.

"We told you we didn't think we'd do it last year," he said, "and I don't think I said we'd do it this year."

Township Roads Superintendent Watson told the delegation that his preliminary budget figures for the coming year didn't include funds to pave the road.

"I can see gravelling but I can't see both," Mr. Watson said. "I think we have to spend money in other parts of the township."

Mr. Watson did point out that $30,000 has been included in his preliminary roads budget for gravelling and upgrading the roadway.

Township reeve Stewart Hart agreed with Mr. Watson that there were other parts of the municipality that needed immediate attention.

"The northeast corner of the township is in a terrible shape," he said. "It's just mud. But I'm sure council will take a good look at your request."

Council takes step toward rezoning Ingleside property

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - The on again, off again rezoning controversy in Osnabruck Township seems to be on again.

At last Tuesday's meeting township council passed by-law 84-06, which is the first step in getting a parcel of land -- formerly the old ball diamond in the community of Ingleside -- rezoned from its current open space designation to residential first density.

What is rather odd about the entire matter is the fact that council had previously rejected the same plan for the parcel of land -- known as Block W -- on the advice of their solicitor.

This brought an angry response from local developer Bill Mesman, who purchased the property in trust from the Lunenburg firm of Wales Construction Ltd. At last month's council meeting Mr. Mesman told members of council that if the situation were not resolved he would take the matter to an Ontario Municipal Board hearing.

However, a 40 minute in-camera session with Mr. Mesman and members of council at last Tuesday's meeting, seemed to resolve the situation in a way that pleased everyone.

After emerging from the closed session council proceeded to pass the amendment to the zoning bylaw which would rezone the area to accommodate single family dwellings.

Plans for the 32 lot subdivision will have to be circulated to all residents living within a set radius of the parcel of land. They will have 35 days to make any objections about the plan and if none are received the plan will move on to the next step.

Continue to press MTC for new light

OSNABRUCK CENTRE (Staff) - The Township of Osnabruck intends to press the Ministry of Transportation and Communication after the government department turned down a request from the municipality for a street light.

At a council meeting last Tuesday evening clerk-treasurer Tom Melesky read an MTC reply to the township's request which basically said that the ministry didn't consider the request "eligible for subsidy."

Council had requested a street light for the Vin Vista subdivision, located near Vin Vista Drive and Highway 2. The MTC leeter gave no explanation why the request had been turned down.

Pee Wee C's finish round robin in second place

(Staff) - The Chesterville Pee Wee C's finished their round robin series on a winning note last Tuesday as they defeated the Morrisburg No. 2 team 4-1. This gives the Pee Wee team a record of nine wins, three losses and two ties.

The Flyers also scored 46 goals in their 14 games for an average of 3.29 goals per game. In the defensive area the Flyers had only 16 goals scored on them for a great goals against average of 1.14. The Flyers finished the round robin series in second behind the Morrisburg No. 2 team.

In last Tuesday's game Gerry Van Kessel had three goals and one assist in leading the Flyers to victory. Van Kessel started things off for the Flyers as he scored his first goal from Troy McMillan's and Jeff Miltimore's pass play 5:50 into the game. Van Kessel made it 2-0 when McMillan and Jason Laflamme set him up.

Morrisburg's lone goal came with 6:14 remaining in the initial period. David Lowry and Eric Millward teamed up for the play with the goal going to Millward.

The Flyers wrapped things up in the second period when William O'Connor scored the third for the Pee Wee's. Van Kessel not wanting to be left out also assisted on the play. Van Kessel's third goal came with 1:16 remaining in the second period. He was unassisted.

Dave Van Delst struggles for the puck in front of the Embrun net in first period action. Van Delst succeeded in clearing the puck out in front to Kevin Moore for the Flyers third goal. Embrun argued that Van Delst was interfering on the goal as he was mixing it up in front with the Embrun defencemen. Record Photo - Morin

Jr. C Flyers defeat Embrun in final game

(Staff) - The Jr. C Flyers performed up to Coach Mike Armstrong's expectations last Tuesday as they defeated the league leading Embrun 72's by a score of 6-3. This was only the third time that Embrun has been beaten this year.

The main things that pleased Armstrong was the fact that the game was held to nine goals. The first period started with a bleak outlook. Six goals were scored in the initial period but the Flyers prevailed and held Embrun for the rest of the game.

A penalty killing line also pleased Armstrong. They played good solid defence and shut out the 72's while being a man down. Larry Faulkner also scored a short handed goal while killing penalties. The power play line also scored one goal and kept tremendous pressure on flustered Embrun goalie Pierre Cousineau.

Goalie Kenton Holmes, Shane Morin of Chesterville and Ivan Clement all anticipate the shot from the point in second period action. Morin suffered a dislocated shoulded in the second period as he slid into the boards. This leaves the Flyers with five defencemen again.

The first period scoring opened up with Carl Bartholomew driving home an unassisted slap shot from the point. He beat Cousineau on his top left glove side for the goal.

Embrun quickly retaliated seven seconds later as Ivan Clement, Brad Spooner and Alain Lapointe took the face off and rushed down the ice for the goal. This was Lapointe's first goal of the night.

This line proved to be the only potent offence against Chesterville as they contributed all three goals in Embrun's losing cause.

Embrun took a 2-1 lead when Clement used Spooner's and Lapointe's abilities for the goal. Embrun scored again with 6:54 left in the first period to give them the 3-1 lead. Spooner collected his third point of the night to make him the league's top scorer while Lapointe had his second goal. At this point Greg Van Dellen voluntarily pulled himself out of the game to be replaced by Kenton Holmes.

With each team at four men Mark Guy recorded his 27th goal of the season while captain, Dale Simms and Mike Guy each got the assists. This pulled the Flyers to within one goal.

With 3:17 left in the period the referee ruled against the Flyers in a contested goal. The Flyers argued that the puck was loose and that the whistle was blown after. No goal said referee Robbie Wilks.

Two minutes later it was the 72's who were arguing. With a Dave Van Delst rebound shot picked up by Kevin Moore, the Flyers tied the game. Embrun argued that Van Delst was interfering with their goalie in the net.

The start of the second period was a forecast of things to come. At the 56 second mark Chesterville's Darcy Last earned a hooking penalty in doing his job in front of the net. Seventeen more penalties were called in the second period.

About one minute after the penalty being called Larry Faulkner missed on a breakaway play. Faulkner made up for his shortcomings as he scored a short handed goal at the 3:49 mark. Marc Beishem assisted giving him 28 points on the season.

Moore made it 5-3 two minutes later. He capitalized on Darcy Last and Simms play. He took Last's and Simm's pass and swatted it under a very frustrated Cousineau who almost got himself a penalty for his retaliation.

Kenton Holmes played superbly in nets and in one play showed his quick thinking abilities. In the final period he skated out to the blue line to stop an oncoming Embrun player long enough for his defence to get back and regain control.

Chesterville's final goal came from Darcy Last who drove the puck between Cousineau's legs. His unassisted play gave the Flyers the 6-3 win.

In winning this game the Flyers have accomplished two things. First and most importantly they have found that they can beat Embrun. The only thing they must watch out for is the Spooner, Lapointe and Clement line. The second thing they have accomplished in winning this game is that they are assured of second place overall in the league. This means that if they advance to the finals they will have home ice advantage over Maxville.

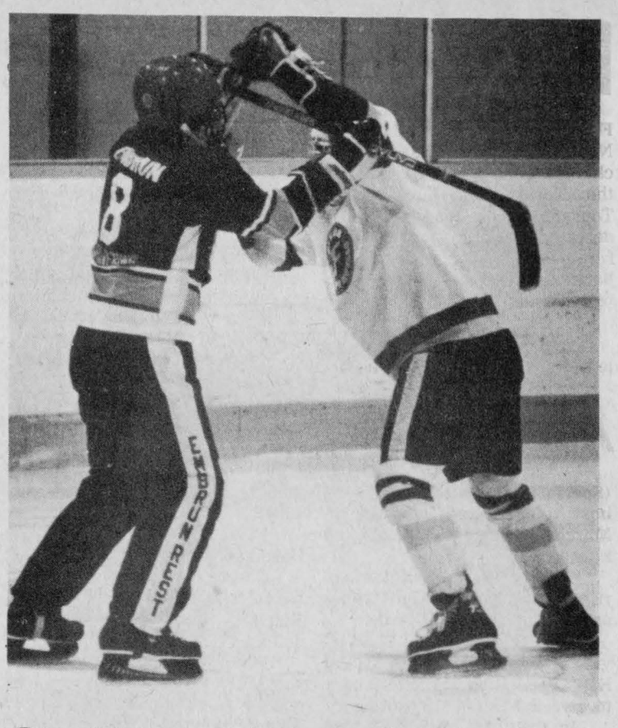
Good news for Flyers

The Flyers had some good news over the past week when they found out that Embrun is behind one game to none against Crysler. In Sunday's game the Raiders defeated the 72's 6-3. The Crysler manager thinks that they can take Embrun. With the Raiders on a high and Embrun on a low anything can happen.



Shall we dance?

Action in front of both nets was very heavy in last Tuesday's game. In this photo Marc Beishem and Mario St. Louis square off in front of the Embrun net. Both players received high sticking penalties 8:15 into the first period.

No Stars go home with no win vs. Jr. Farmers

FINCH (Staff) - The CJOH No Stars had no luck in Finch on the weekend, but they did help the Stormont Junior Farmers raise more than $700 for the Canadian Cancer Society.

The pie throwing antics of the No Stars proved to be no match for the skill of the local Junior Farmer team, and in a fast paced game the No Stars went down to a 8-6 defeat.

Mrs. Glendon Casselman dropped the puck to start the game on Sunday afternoon. Proceeds of the day ($707) were donated to the Finch Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society.

This CJOH No Star player gets some help from the referee after an unidentified Junior Farmer player knocked him over the boards. The players received a stick through the side of his head, and some other minor injuries. The game, all in fun, also saw cream pies and buckets of water thrown on opposition players.

Wallace Morris, President of the Stormont Unit of the Cancer Society, thanked both teams for their generous donation and added that the contribution was a nice start to kick of the April campaign. The game was organized by Gary Kramer, and special thanks go to Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Wert for their help.

The Junior Farmers took little time getting on the scoreboard when Susan Moore put one in at the seven second mark of the game. Susan was the recipient of a special television interview for scoring the 500th goal against the No Stars. Junior Farmer Dave Rumer picked up two goals in the first period, with assists from Susan Moore, Grant Simpson and Kelly Moore. Squirrel Medaglia managed to pick up the only No Stars goal of the first period at the 19 minute mark.

Plagued by penalties, No Star Rotten Ron Nieman kept up the antics with some cream pie throwing. The referees had a hard time keeping Rotten Ron in the penalty box, and ended up getting buckets of water over their heads for their trouble.

Jeff Johnston scored for the Junior Farmers in the second with Grant Simpson assisting. The No Stars got goals in the second period from Fred Ness, Squirrel Medaglia and Tracy Gallenger.

In the third period Stormont goalie Jim Hume came up with some great saves against Rotten Ron and the rest of the No Stars. The No Stars managed to knock in only two goals in the third, compared to the Junior Farmers four. Doug Simpson capped off his hat trick with two goals in the third, and Jeff Johnston and Grant Simpson picked up a goal each.

Bantam B's finish season

(Staff) - The Bantam B Flyers finished off their season on Friday as they fell to Morrisburg in the finals. On Thursday they were shut out by a strong Morrisburg team 4-0 and then on Friday they lost 4-1.

In Friday's game Morrisburg's John Morrow scored three goals to lead his team. The fourth Morrisburg goal was scored by Barry Degray. Greg Whitteker and Jim Bennis assisted on the first Morrisburg goal.

Chesterville's goal was scored by Donnie Marcellus, unassisted.

Andy Cummins led the Morrisburg team on Thursday in recording the 4-0 shut out. Goals were scored by Whitteker, Morrow, Bennis, and Mark Froats. Assisting on the goals was Morrow, Degray, Froats, Bennis, and Whitteker.

David Brown one away

(Staff) - Playoff action continued last week in the North Stormont Men's Intermediate Hockey League. On Friday Avonmore beat Newington 3-2 and Dave Brown took Finch 5-2. In Sunday's action Finch lost again to David Brown, 4-2. Newington avenged their loss to Avonmore by beating them 6-2.

In the overall playoff picture David Brown leads Finch 3-0 while Newington is slightly ahead of Avonmore 2-1. Each series is a best four out of seven.

In Sunday's action Avonmore had the 2-1 first period lead on goals by Drew Adams and Blair Henderson. Henderson assisted on the first goal with Brent Theede while Theede assisted on the second goal. Newington's first period goal was scored by Terry Gove and assisted by Rick Dumouchel.

Newington then erupted for five goals in the second period to silence the Avonmore team. Goals were scored by David Tait, Steve Casselman, Grant Simpson, Dan Pomainville and Don Simpson. Assisting was Grant Simpson with three, Lance Armstrong with two and Tait, Pomainville and Gove each with one. This gave Newington the 6-2 win.

David Brown won their third of the series in the second game of the night when they beat Finch 4-2. Leo Lafortune's unassisted goal combined with Brian Tardiff's and Bill Kroeze's goal gave the David Brown team a 3-0 lead before Finch could answer back. With 1:56 left in the first period Steve Sullivan and Mike O'Donohue made it 3-1. Sullivan recorded the Finch goal.

Second period action had both teams adding one goal each. David Brown's being scored by Jim Locey, assisted by Todd Prieur while Finch's was scored by O'Donohue and assisted by Sullivan.

File 1. Evolution of our sportsworld

As everyone realizes everything in our world had to get its start somewhere. Whether it started 10 days ago, 10 years ago, or 10 centuries ago, it still had to start somewhere.

Let's now imagine about how our sportsworld started and how it has evolved through the centuries.

In the beginning there was man, and woman, of course. This species of man was not your everyday person. He didn't complain about the cold or taxes. His main purpose in life was simply to survive.

He had no inclination whatsoever of starting something that would last forever. It just happened. This man, I'll call him Aghe, only cared about providing for his family and staying out of the lava pits. Let's not get him wrong because he also had his leisure activities. He drew pictures on his cave walls, dragged his wife around, and kept busy evading the ice age.

As time went on he found that life could be dull. He had gathered or hunted enough food to last his family and tribe for a while and he had a little spare time on his hands.

Finally that fateful moment that all men had been waiting for: Aghe picked up his spear, walked over to his neighbor's cave and decided to see if he could throw his spear father than Oghe, who lived in a neighboring cave. Oghe exclaimed in various grunts and grumbles about how there should be a prize for whoever won. So they decided that whoever won would get the other's wife.

This moment is history. Not exactly the Olympics, mind you, but history anyway, for in this brief moment a few million years ago man competed, not just for the sake of competing but also for a prize.

Man learned fast. Unfortunately he learned too fast. He learned that in having these contests he could prepare himself for war. Whoever could throw a spear the farthest was in charge of the spears, whoever could toss a rock the greatest distance was in charge of the rocks, etc. The only problem with this was that when modern technology came around lots of professional soldiers were out of a job.

A little further on down the line we come to the Egyptian age. We all know this age is famous for its pyramids and the pharoahs but what we didn't know that this age was also famous for its weightlifters.

The Egyptians were a small, relatively weak race and found they could not build the pyramids fast enough for the pharoahs.

"What shall we do," cried an exasperated contractor, "We are just not strong enough or have the suitable manpower to do the job."

"I know," said a young apprentice. "Why don't we find ourselves some cheap laborers to do the job for us. We could give them a purpose in life instead of spending all day in those boring fields."

And so the story follows on to the point where they find themselves an entire race of people who will work. The only problem is that is was against their will.

With only human strength these people built the great pyramids. Tons and tons of rock were molded into some of the most interesting pieces of our history.

This is where the sport of weightlifting came in. With all of this lifting being done some people were obviously more adept at it than others. They soon became the envy of all their friends. Soon competitions were held to see who could lift the greatest weight. Those who won were then given the heaviest jobs to do.

And so time went on its way until it decided to stop at the Greek age. Sorry, until I decided to stop at the Greek age.

The Greek age is probably the most important age when it comes to sports history. In this age the true meaning of an athlete came to life. The Greeks believed that to be a whole being one must be fit in body and mind. One must be strong, alert and quick thinking.

The first organized games were held in Greece. Instead of the Olympics they were called the Olympians. It was in 776 B.C. that lists of the winners were first taken and recorded. The contestants were required to train 10 months in advance. The first prizes and the honor of the Olympian was a crown of olive branches.

In the fifth and fourth centuries it became a more professional job with athletes training all year and being worshipped as gods. Something like today.

Perhaps the most important sport to come out of this era was the marathon. In 490 B.C. the battle of Marathon was fought between the Athenians and the Persians. Story has it that when the outnumbered Athenians crushed the Persians an Athenian named Phidepidas ran the 26 miles, 385 yards to Athens to tell of their victory. He then promptly died on the spot.

The mighty empire of Rome came next. Never has one race of people so dominated the known world for so many years. Easily the most important sporting events to come out of this time were the chariot races and the 100-yard or metre dash.

Never has a race been so immortalized as the famous chariot race in Ben Hur. The action, the drama, flying people and horses, what excitement. It was great in the movie but bad in real life. This event can easily be compared to our modern day auto races. The drivers had to be fearless and quick thinking. Being a little crazy helped quite a bit as well.

The second event, the 100-metre dash came from the Christians. Little did they know that when they ran from the lions they were bettering our modern day world records. Many times these races were cut a little short. Being slow was not a good idea.

As time slowly turned its wheels the sports world took a rest. It was not until the middles ages that sports again took the limelight. With wars constantly taking place in the Britains many men were forced to train for their king.

With all of this training going on the King had no real way of testing their knights strength or courage. He then devised many tournaments of skill and daring for his followers. Archery was now at centre stage.

This was the age of modern weapons. Archers could be used from afar and still inflict great damage with little losses to themselves. By having tournaments the king could find who was the best archer and who was suited to work in the fields.

Another event which was the limelight of the middle ages was the jousting events. The knight had to have a steady arm and a steadier head. In this event the winner was usually given the prize of some maiden to care and provide for. Lucky winner.

After the new world was discovered things calmed down for quite a while. The invention of the musket soon made the archers take the back seat and man was preoccupied with the new world.

After everything had settled down and man was relaxed and content with knowing that there was no more world to explore on the earth his attention shifted again.

Now with time of their hands, no wars to fight and renewed interst in leisure time the modern Olympics were started. And what better place to have the first Olympics but in their birthplace, Athens.

In 1896 the first modern Olympics were held. Great Britain, the U.S.A. and 11 other countries competed for the gold. Their popularity soon increased through the years as more and more countries became involved. Now with modern weapons man need not worry about training men to be as physically strong, mainly just mentally strong to handle the horrors of war.

In 1924 the first winter Olympics were held. Women also started to compete in the events.

The only times the Olympics have been cancelled were in 1916, 1940 and 1944. World Wars I and II were the reasons. The 1980 the Olympics were boycotted because of the invasion of Afghanistan. The question of whether politics should enter the sports world was asked and will continue to be asked because of this situation.

As usual man looks back on the past to see what he has accomplished. But can we honestly say that we have gained anything? Politics are now the limelight of the sports world with the super powers in control. Judging is often criticized and scorned by the athletes themselves. Drugs such as steroids are playing a more important role. Where can we go from here?

In Canada the awareness of the public is now increasing. We are not only a hockey country now. We have many fine athletes who we can be proud to support and fund. This distinct region has the honor to help send Rose Marie Hauch to the 84 Olympics. With the help of communities such as ours the athletes can continue their training and be able to compete for the gold.
