Chesterville W.I. Holds Christmas Meeting Committee Makes Plans for Santa's Visit

An exchange of gifts marked the annual Christmas meeting of the Chesterville W.I. The meeting was held last night in the Library with Mrs. B. W. Campbell, the president, in charge, assisted by Mrs. Geo. Merkley, secretary.

The meeting opened with the Ode and Mary Stewart Collect, followed by the roll call and minutes of the November meeting. Mrs. Floyd Edgerton, treasurer, reported a balance of $262.40 on hand.

Mrs. Gerald Gilbert moved that Mrs. Sutherland be paid $10 towards her expenses as delegate to the regional convention held at Ottawa in November. This was seconded by Mrs. Graham Smith.

Mrs. King, reporting on the children's Christmas treat, named the following donations: Business men, $41; Nestlé's, $10; Oddfellows, $10; Legion, $10; Council, $10; Rotary, $15. There was also a donation of 40 pounds of candy. The committee assisting Santa Claus will distribute 400 bags of candy December 24th at 10.00 a.m. at the Community Hall.

The grand total received from the C.N.I.B. canvass was $210.54.

Mrs. George Barkley moved that two dish pans and $5 worth of tea towels be purchased for use in the kitchen. This was seconded by Mrs. Gerald Gilbert.

Mrs. Sutherland gave an interesting account of the resolutions discussed at the November Convention, three of which were adopted.

On a motion by Mrs. H. K. Graham, seconded by Mrs. O. L. King, it was decided that the money remaining from last year's dancing classes should be used to help finance the project this year if it should prove necessary. It is hoped that the dancing teacher, Miss Groulx, will be able to meet the pupils to organize the classes before Christmas.

Mrs. George Johnston and Mrs. Arthur Ball were in charge of the programme which opened with the singing of Christmas carols, with Mrs. Eric Casselman at the piano. Miss Ann Casselman and Miss Ann Crawford sang two Christmas songs, "Silent Night" and "Deck the Halls." Mrs. Ball conducted an amusing contest which was won by Mrs. Floyd Edgerton and Mrs. Peter DeRooy.

An exchange of gifts was followed by refreshments in charge of Mrs. Geo. Johnston and Mrs. Arthur Ball and their committee, Mrs. O. L. King, Mrs. Gerald Gilbert, Mrs. Geo. Barkley, Mrs. Campbell Thompson, Mrs. Jack McMillan, Mrs. Tom Moran, Mrs. Walter Hummel, Mrs. John Price and Mrs. Howard Fulton.—H.L.G.

Hospital Auxiliary Holds December Meeting

The December meeting of Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary was presided over by Mrs. Percy Roberts in the absence of the president, Mrs. R. D. Ledgerwood. The purchasing committee presented a list of requirements needed for the hospital office and kitchen. They were immediately taken care of by several units, being responsible for same.

Mrs. P. Roberts gave a splendid report of the regional meeting held in Ottawa at the General Hospital.

Four cases of ginger ale and ockes will be sent to the hospital for the nurses' party to be held in December.

Miss Wilson, hospital superintendent, gave her monthly report. Several individual food donations were received and sewing done by the South Mountain unit, as well as mending by Miss McConnell, of Winchester.

In the absence of Miss Elliott, the treasurer's statement was given by Mrs. Archie Rice; this revealed that every unit is busy canvassing for members.

Mrs. Roberts thanked Miss Madge Coons for her untiring efforts and splendid co-operation as convener of purchasing committee. Mrs. B. Mulloy, Reg. N., of Inkerman, was appointed convener of this committee.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Classes Being Held For New Canadians

English and citizenship classes for new Canadians are being held in Morewood two evenings a week with Mr. W. Kosonic, principal of Morewood High School, as instructor. The Department of Education furnishes the supplies and pays for the instruction.

This is the second school of its kind being held in Dundas County. I.O.O.F. Lodge No. 285, Morewood, was instrumental in getting the project started and have made their hall available for classes to be held there.

At present the enrollment is 15 but is expected to reach 25 soon

Judy Butcher President New C.G.I.T. Group Special Service Sunday

A Canadian Girls in Training group was recently organized in Trinity United Church under the leadership of Mrs. Gerald Gilbert and Mrs. R. A. Mitchell. The girls meet weekly in the dining hall of the church on Wednesday evening at 7 p.m.

The twelve girls who are members have elected Judy Butcher to be their president; Judy Henderson, vice-president; Eleanor Simpson, secretary, with Patricia Cunningham, the treasurer. The meetings include a worship service, a business meeting and games. The girls have already made bean bags for the Wolf Cub Pack and expect to begin other projects in the near future.

The group enjoyed a visit to the Winchester United Church C.G.I.T. meeting, from which they were able to profit by the experience of the older group. The evening they enjoyed in Winchester was concluded with a fine social period and refreshments.

This Sunday evening the local group, which is open to all girls in the community between the ages of twelve and seventeen, will conduct the evening church service in Trinity United Church. One Sunday annually before Christmas all C.G.I.T. groups across Canada hold a national Christmas Vesper Service, which they share with their parents and friends.

The service is prepared by the C.G.I.T. Committee of the Canadian Council of Churches, which sponsors the programme, and the offering which the local groups receive is forwarded for the work of this committee. It is this service which the local group will take part in this Sunday evening.

Store Hours Decided For Christmas Season

Members of the business establishments of the village have gotten their heads together and come up with agreed upon store hours for the present holiday season.

Starting Wednesday, December 15th, stores will be open in the afternoon and starting Thursday night, December 16th, all stores will be open every evening until Christmas.

Stores will not be open the Wednesday afternoon between Christmas and New Year's. Boxing Day will be observed in the town on Monday after Christmas when all business places will be closed for the day.

Butterflies, Now!

Ethan McElheran is under the impression Spring has arrived even though he has just got his winter's coal in the cellar. The other day, after the coal had arrived, he found a large cream and white butterfly flitting about the coal pile. It would appear a little late for butterflies, but that particular one knew where to go to keep warm, at least.

Scout Open House

Chesterville Troop will hold open House in the Scout Hall on Friday, December 17th, starting at 7.30 p.m. Members of the community are cordially invited to attend.

Santa Claus Coming To Community Hall December 24 at 10 a.m.

The latest word on the annual visit of Santa Claus with his welcome treats for the children is that he will be in Community Hall in the Auditorium at ten o'clock in the morning of the day before Christmas. At that time he will be welcomed by members of the W.I. who are in charge of arrangements this year.

There will be later word on Santa's visit next week.

Cecil J. Wylie Killed by Car At Winchester

Cecil John Wylie, 50, road superintendent of Mountain Township and a well known district farmer, was killed instantly at 7.30 pm. Tuesday when he was struck by a car after alighting from an Ottawa bus on St. Lawrence St., Winchester.

There were no witnesses to the accident. Mr. Wylie had apparently waited for the bus to move away from the stop before he crossed the street. He was a littlee way across when struck by a car driven by Howard Annable, 16-year-old son of Kenneth Annable, of the staff of Glebe Collegiate, Ottawa, who lives in Winchester.

Wylie suffered fractures to the skull and right leg.

Riding with Annable were Jas. Champion and Robert Levere. All three youth helped to carry Wylie to Winchester Hospital, which was only a block away from the scene of the accident.

A call was sent out for Dr. W. M. Byers who, on his arrival at hospital, pronounced Wylie dead.

Investigation of the accident is being carried out by Chief Gilbert Raistrick.

Mission Band Members Hold Christmas Party

The Mission Band Christmas party was held in the dining room of the United Church on December 6th with forty members present. Mrs. White read the Christmas story from Luke and Mrs. Butcher offered prayer.

The members handed in Mite Boxes whose contents totalled $21.63.

Rev. Mr. Mitchell showed pictures, "The Night Before Christmas" and "The First Christmas." The children exchanged gifts and received a treat from the Christmas tree.

Cub Achievement Night Further Milestone Of Progress

Monday night of this week members of the community visited the Scout Hall and witnessed the efforts and heard the results of an intensive summer and fall of Cub work. Displays of handicrafts were on every side. Wood carving, soap modelling, knot work, drawing and other items that take up a small Cub's time were there and examined and fingered with interest.

Duane Gilbert led the pack in a Grand Howl denmonstration that strained the lungs and let off a little steam. At eating time, an enjoyable lunch was organized by Mrs. Jas. Cunningham and Mrs. G. W. Gilbert. Members of the Scout Troop assisted in the serving.

Achievement awards from the Chief Scout were presented by Jas. Cunningham to the leaders of the Cubs and Scouts, Mrs. Gordon Lannin and Jack McGee. The awards were in recognition of "Work Well Done."

Chesterville Rotary Club committee members represented the club at the gathering. The Rotary Club is the sponsoring body of the Scouts and Cubs in Chesterville. Hosea Droppo, a member of the Scout Committee of Rotary, presented Bronze Arrowheads to Robert Miltimore and Eivind Klingvall for their completion of the leadership course held in Cornwall last winter.

Last Council Meeting Held for 1954 Catch Basin on Community Hall Lawn

Members of Chesterville counril met Monday night for the last regular meeting of the year. Business was light and the meeting moved with dispatch to an early closing.

All members were present with the reeve and clerk.

The recording voltmeter, ordered for the Hydro Commission, was reported on hand and in use. Hydro accounts were ordered paid.

The longest discussion of the evening took place prior to the signing of the police contract for the coming year. It was pointed out that if the contract was not signed now, the municipality would be without the services of a policeman from midnight of December 31, until the new council for 1955 met and made some decision.

Discuss Policing

All members were in agreement that the present system of policing was most satisfactory, even though the cost was high. It was felt the low cost of the automobile offset that cost somewhat. Three members of next year's council were voting on the matter and it was decided to sign the police contract for another year which will include the use of a police car at 6 cents a mile. The new contract with the department calls for an expenditure of $180 more a year for police services. The new contract is for $3,480 a year for policing the village. Car mileage is extra.

Fees and fines for the month of October came to $60.40 as the town's share.

Women's Institute members are sponsoring the Santa Claus handout this year and they approached council for the donation of a Santa Claus suit. The reeve was appointed agent to purchase a suit for the community. A donation of $10 was also allotted for the W.I.

Fire Chief's Report

Fire Chief John Hehir made his annual report to council and reported on the many practice runs the brigade had made during the summer months. It was his opinion the fire hall needed the installation of a trickle charger to make sure the pumper battery was always in top condition. Council authorized him to purchase a charger and make use of it as he saw fit. The chief expressed the thanks of the brigade to council for the co-operation they felt they had received during the past year.

A long-needed catch basin is to be installed at the corner of the Community Hall lawn next to the library door. Ever since the construction of the new river bridge, spring run-off has made a miniature lake of the hall grounds. The new drain should do much to eliminate this condition.

Sydney Morris was hired to do the village snowplowing again this year at the same terms as last year. The contract calls for $200 to be paid as a retainer and plowing to be done at the rate of $3 per hour.

Boxing Day will be observed on Monday, December 27th, by resolution of council. All business places will remain closed.

Council adjourned to meet again at a special meeting on December 20th.

OPINIONS . . .

Rude Attitudes

On November 11, Pravda, the official newsorgan of the Communist Soviets published a decree of the Soviet Communist Party under the title, "On the Mistakes in Carrying Out Scientific Atheism," signed by Nikita Khrushchev, General Secretary of the Soviet Union Communist Party, which condemns "insulting antireligious attacks against believers" as well as the "rude attitude toward the clergy" by officials in "violation of repeated instructions of the party about the impermissibility of hurting the feelings of believers."

The above gem of Soviet hypocrisy caught our eye the other day and set us to thinking. "The rude attitude toward the clergy" presumably has only o do with present attitudes. The state which is regretting the rude attitude still has in its toils Cardinal Mindszenty, Archbishops Wyszynski and Beran and many other high dignitaries of the church as well as thousands of clergy and believers of all religions.

Scientific atheism might have difficulty trying to "hurt the feelings of believers" especially at this time of year. The Christmas story is too much a true part of our heritage to allow any atheistic doubts, scientific or otherwise, to intrude in the spirit of the season.

Of Ponds and Pebbles

Here is a story with a moral, the first chapter of which we can only deduce, says the Christian Science Monitor:

A couple of weeks ago a mother—a father?—was dining in a great New York Hotel where a state teachers' convention was in progress. She, or he, noticed two teachers sitting at a nearby table and felt somehow impelled to drop a pebble of gratitude into a great pond of need.

The second chapter is reported as news: The two teachers finished their luncheon and asked the waiter for their checks. No charge, he told them, and when pressed he handed them a note.

Don't take any money from these teachers, said the note. I have two boys in school; I owe so much to the teachers. And, added the waiter, no tip please. That's my little token of the same.

That was the pebble. And the ripples? The story was spread from the convention platform. Also, no doubt, from the delegates' assembled to thousands of teachers back home, and perhaps, by some newspapers, to thousands more.

It would be our guess that many a teacher hearing of it, bending a bit under today's added burdens laid on by over zealous critics, looked up, as did Elisha's servant, and glimpsed, if but for a moment, the hosts of people like the most of us around her.

And the moral? A very old one put in modern terms: Never sell your pebble short if it's a good one. The pond you drop it in may be bigger than you think.

Right of Lay-off Apple of Discord

The right to a guaranteed annual wage is the right to full wages during lay-offs. When once such rights have been established in a plant, the next question will be the right of lay-off.

When lay-offs become necessary, who should have the right to be laid off first; and how long should his right hold good before he has to return to work and let someone else have a turn at lay-off pay?

Naturally the employer will want to lay off his least competent. But will the unions stand for that? Will not the workers with the most seniority demand the right to be laid off before the newcomers who have hardly yet got onto their job? And will not the unions insist that this new right is a perquisite to be distributed by them according to union rules?

Really it is hard to imagine anything that would cause more discontent and bad blood among the workers in a plant than to see part of the products of their toil going to pay full union wages to men who are doing nothing to earn it.

Yet, if men are to be paid full wages during lay-offs there is no place their wages can come from, other than the production of those who are working.

CANADIAN PLOWMEN ABROAD

by W. R. BULLICK, Past President ONTARIO PLOWMEN'S ASSOCIATION

William Bullick, Camlachie, Ont., past president of Ontario Plowmen's Association and manager of the Canadian plowing team at the second annual World Plowing Match at Killarney, Ireland, recently returned to Canada with team members James Eccles, of Brampton, Ont., and Robert Timbers, of Souffville, Here is the second of his reports on the trip.—Editor.

One of the most frequent topics of converstations I've had with other farmers since my return to Canada has been about farm life and farming methods in Ireland, compared to the conditions we know on farms in Canada.

James Eccles

It's quite impossible to make any sweeping statements about Irish farming as a whole, for we noticed a marked contrast between conditions in the eastern part of Ireland and those in the west.

Farming in the east in such counties as Wicklow and Kildare, seems far more advanced in every way. In fact, there's probably far more contrast to be found between conditions found in the east and west of Ireland than between those in eastern Ireland and those in Canada. Of course, considerable differences are to be found betwen all three areas.

Robert Timbers

Eastern Irish farms seem, on the whole, to be much larger than those in the west, and this may have much to do with the fact that living standards are also much higher. The houses we saw were nicely kept stone or brick structures, and nearly all the farm work appeared to be done by machinery. Most farmers in the east have some kind of a car or truck to get to and from town, and although we din't visit inside any farm houses in the eastern area, I imagine most would have telephones and radios as well.

One eastern farm near Dublin consisted of 3,000 acres, which was the first indication we had of how large some farms there really are, although I'm sure the average eastern farm would be much smaller than that.

If I were a farmer in Ireland I would naturally want to have a location somewhere in the east, possibly near Dublin, which is on the east coast.

But as a visitor, I found such counties as Cork and Kerry, in the western area, more fascinating, because farming was so different from what we were used to at home. When you first see farms in western Ireland you get a feeling that something is missing. After a while you realize that hardly any of the farms have barns. The mild Irish climate permits the farmers to graze their live stock in the fields the year round. They never have to provide them with shelter, even during the winter. The other thing you notice on a western farm is the little donkey-drawn cart which the typical farmer uses instead of an auto. I suppose farmers in that locale have been using that same type of cart for centuries.

The typical western Irish farm is divided into small fields of perhaps an acre or so each, enclosed by a stone fence which has earth piled on top of it. In the earth, hedges are planted, giving the fence a total height of perhaps five feet or more. Thus even the fences were green like the fields; and I've never seen greener fields anywhere in my life.

I don't know why it is that the grass and foliage in Ireland seem greener than anywhere else in the world, but I expect the considerably heavier rainfall there has a lot to do with it.

In addition to live stock, Irish farmers go in a lot for wheat and other grains, sugar beets, potatoes and vegetables, especially turnips. In the eastern sector they grow a lot of barley as well, producing it under contract with the breweries, which use it to make ale. Barley production seemed to be quite a specialized and profitable business.

One of the most interesting customs among the Irish famers is their "fair day"—what we would probably call "market day"—and which takes place once a month.

On this day, a farmer from the west of Ireland will either load his produce in his little cart; or, if

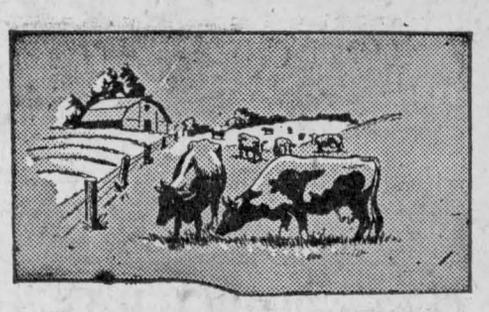
FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



By Lillian Allison

Just the other day one of the daily newspapers carried the report of a speech made by Dr. Brock Chisholm, that noted Canadian who is world famous in the field of mental health. Now there was nothing unusual about the report I read because it seems we read the same words spoken by the same man about the same time every year.

For Dr. Chisholm is the gentleman who is trying to disuade parents from telling their children that there is a Santa Claus. He's been preaching his theory for years but whether he has many converts I don't know.

Now, of course, he has a good argument. Parents tell children in perfectly good faith that there is an old gentleman who lives at the North Pole who is so blessed with some supernatural power that he can make presents for all the kids in the world and deliver them personally on Christmas Eve via a reindeer sled. Although he is fat enough to be on a diet still he can come down a chimney whose only exit leads to an oil-burning stove and bring a huge bag of toys with him.

He is in one city store when Mom and Junior call there and as they get out to the street corner he's standing there too. A most unusual character indeed! But because Junior is only three with small powers of reasoning, and because Mom and Dad say so, they believe all this is true as gospel.

Then some day someone has to admit that there wasn't a word of truth in the whole story. And, Dr. Chisholm says, the children realize that their parents lied to them. Now if parents lied about Santa they lied about other things too. And the foundations of parental trust hve crumbled.

But when we see the fun the little folks have before Christmas, the joy of anticipation, the happy excitement that makes a child's Christmas what it is it would be a crime to deprive them of the pleasures associated with Santa. For I believe there really is a Santa Claus at Christmas, only for adults he has another name. He is the Spirit of Christmas. And there is a Spirit of Christmas just as surely as there is a December 25th. It is the spirit of love, of kindness, of generosity, of giving, of friendliness that fills the air at the Yuletide season. And as a spirit Santa Claus does exist.

Now if we adults would only remember this when we answer children's suestions we wouldn't need to lie and yet we wouldn't need to spoil the lovely picture that exists in the child's mind.

So remembering that Santa is the Spirit of Christmas answer your child's questions:

"Are there a lot of Santa Clauses or just one?" "There is just one real Santa Claus (the Spirit of Christmas). The others are his helpers."

"Did you ever see the real Santa?" "No." (Nobody ever saw a spirit).

"Where does he live?" "I don't know. Some folks think he lives at the North Pole. Maybe he lives in Santa Claus Land."

"Does he wear a red suit or a fur suit?" "The poem, 'Night Before Christmas' says he wore a fur suit but I like to imagine he wears a red suit and has long white whiskers."

"Where does he get the money to buy all the presents?" "I don't know. But where does God get all the stuff to make grass and snow?"

"Does he drive reindeer?" "I've never seen them but some people who live away up north drive reindeer."

"Why did he bring me an electric train and he only brought Jimmy a pair of mittens?" "Santa brings things to make children happy. Your friend, Jimmy, needed mittens while you had plenty of them and wanted an electric train."

You can't say those answers are lies. And don't hesitate to say "I don't know," sometimes. Leave a lot of mystery about Santa. Even children like a mystery story. It gives them something to think about.

Then in years to come if Junior says, "There isn't a Santa Claus. You lied to me." You can say, "I didn't lie to you. For as long as love and children remain on earth there will be a Santa Claus for he is indeed the Spirit of Christmas."

Light Along The Way

". . . and his name shall be called Emmanuel which means: God with us."

There is no other way of satisfactorily explaining the event which took place in Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago than to say that God came into the world that night in human form. There is nothing about Christmas that ha s any significance except that. Christ alone is the centre of Christmas.

While many of our Christmas customs are meant to emphasize the significance of God's gift in Christ, they can have meaning only if they further His Spirit in the world of our day. To disassociate the deed from the faith is to make it meaningless. When we examine the life and ministry of our Lord we discover how much is expected of us. He went out to give all that He had to whomever needed help. He travelled the high road and the low bringing comfort, help and hope to high and lowly alike. He gave Himself in a continual outpouring of the Spirit of love and compassion which His Father sought to set forth in the life of man through Him.

We, who are His followers, have now the responsibility of showing forth this same spirit in the world. It is for this reason that Christmas must begin in Christ. It is now our task to make men feel that God is with them. Such a responsibility like any other, demands careful planning for successful execution, and no mere giving of Christmas presents will suffice. We must not feel satisfied in giving only to those who have no need, or in teaching our children to think only of what Santa Claus (whoever he may be) will bring them on Christmas Eve. As the Master went forth to minister to any by the way, so we must carry His love to God's needy children throughout the world. A formidable task, but one in which we can share.

There is a great deal made, these days, of the more frightening discoveries and deeds of men. Our papers are full of terrible portents and horrible possibilities. They often exclude much more important things that have captured the minds and hearts of many of God's faithful people. Yet these quiet, unobtrusive deeds will ultimately spell the difference between a world of Good and a world of Evil. It is with a sense of joy that we learn of them, and with a sense of accomplishment that we join in them. They help us share our love with our needy brethren, and it is love alone that will fulfill the mission of God on earth. Our churches, service clubs, charitable institutions and other organizations have provided the means for us to share with the world's hungry and needy. One organization, for example, has delivered 15,000,000 relief and rehabilitation packages, valued at $165,000,000 to needy people in 60 countries since the end of the war. That organization is Care. We can be thankful, though hardly satisfied, that so many thus seek to share with others.

Pollution Report Highlights Convention

High spot of the ninth annual convention of the Guebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations was the report presented by Paul Trudel, chairman of the Anti-Pollution League of Quebec, detailing results of an investigation of pollution in the Ottawa River. This report, the work of Dr. Lucien Piche, Director of the Department of Chemistry at the Faculty of Science, University of Montreal, embraces the Ottawa River from Ottawa-Hull to the city of Montreal and since it deals in the main with interprovincial waters, the findings are of interest to sportsmen and ordinary citizens of both provinces.

The report as previewed at the annual meeting of the Lake of Two Mountains Rod and Gun Association, which, incidentally, was the organization first responsible for instigating this investigation, brings to light a situation long suspected by folk residing on or by the Ottawa with a recreational interest in these waters.

Minority Group Sparks Action That Will Ultimately Benefit General Public

This is an interesting case and one that might ultimately prove a test case for other sportsmen's organizations to note. Eighteen months ago the aforementioned Lake of Two Mountains Rod and Gun Association, with membership around three hundred, agitated to their parent body, The Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Associations, for an investigation of pollution in the Ottawa River and Lake of Two Mountains. Although a marked decline in sport fishing within a period of two or three years first sparked the interest of this sportsmen's organization, they were quick to realize the significance of a pollution problem in terms of the effect on public health and the public's use of these waters for recreational purposes. Problems arising from water pollution in one form and another may be found to exist almost anywhere in Canada.

Increasing populations, industrial expansion, and the trend toward decentralization of people and industry all add up to a greater aggravation of the water pollution problem and it is only an enlightened public opinion that will eventually demand the restoration of our watercourses to their natuarl state for legitimate use and enjoyment.

Filth in River Threat to Health And Recreation

In his report Dr. Piche states: "In a relatively short space of time, we have seen the disappearance o f the open sewer in the street, only to have it reappear in a disguised form in an adjacent watercourse. In an even shorter period of time, we now witness the disappearance of the wholesale consignment of municipal sewage or of plant effluent into the same river."

"Pure water," the Doctor continues, "is an exceedingly fragile material; it takes only a very little foreign matter to make it unfit for domestic or industrial use." As matters presently stand those residing on the banks of the Ottawa River are in effect living on the edge of an "open sewer! The waters of the Ottawa River are

ST. LAWRENCE POWER PROJECT

In pressing forward with the vital St. Lawrence power project, it is our desire to keep the public fully infomed at all times regarding our plans and progress. Through these columns we shall publish information of particular interest to those most directly affected by the project—the residents of riverside and adjoining communities. In this way. it is our hope that families and business organizations in the immediate area will be kept up to date on those matters so important to them, such as community rehabilitation, relocation and other subjects related to our work.

At the outset we wish to express publicly our sincere thanks for the co-operation we have already received. In a programme of this magnitude, it is natural that many problems will arise. We are confident that through mutual understanding and full co-operation, every problem can be successfully met and solved. It is our objective, in all our activities, to protect and advance the best interests of the residents, the communities, and the Province as a whole. The wholehearted support we have already received from the general public, from the press and radio stations, and from the government and municipal officials has laid the ground work for effective co-operation in the years immediately ahead.

A great deal has happened since June 7th of this year, when we received the long-awaited "go ahead" signal on the power development. Working in close association with our partner in the great 2,200,000-horsepower project — the Power Authority of the State of New York—we have been able to make rapid strides on our construction work in the Cornwall area where the powerhouse will be situated. We have awarded contracts for the construction of our project office just west of Cornwall, and for the construction of two cofferdams in the powerhouse area. We are pleased to report that all phases of this work are progressing very favourably. The Power Authority, under the vigorous leadership of Chairman Robert Moses, has also awarded contracts for vital sections of the project on the American side.

Foremost attention, of course, has been directed to community planning proposals for those towns and villages to be affected by flooding for the power development. A number of meetings have been held in Toronto and in the individual municipalities involved, in an effort to arrive at a satisfactory solution to the many problems to be encountered. The Provincial Government through the Department of Planning and Development, has been extremely co-operative in offering its advice and facilties to Hydro and the affected centres.

In our negotiations to date regarding rehabilitation and relocation, we have tried to work very closely with representatives of local municipal councils and planning boards. We have been deeply impressed by the zealous manner in which they guard the rights of those they represent and by their keen grasp of the problem at hand. We are confident that their enlightened approach to our common responsibilities will, in the end, work to the distinct advantage of all those affected.

When ground-breaking ceremonies on the St. Lawrence power project took place last August 10th, the event symbolized one of the most monumental undertakings in Canadian annals. Between now and the time when the new powerhouse delivers its first energy—in 1958—we shall have to meet a tremendous challenge. We cannot emphasize too strongly our desire and our determination to do an outstanding job in every area of our responsibility. With all-out co-operation, our success will be assured.

Robert H. Saunders, Chairman.
Hon. Geo. H. Challies, 1st Vice-Chairman.
W. Ross Strike, 2nd Vice-Chairman.

Trophies Presented At Annual Banquet Stormont 4-H Clubs

Presentation of many trophies and awards featured the second annual 4-H Club banquet for Stormont County held recently in Lunenburg Community Hall. R. R. Crozier, county agricultural representative, reported that the junior club work had expanded to a record level during the past season.

Winner of the Peter Manley trophy, presented by Mr. Manley to the outstanding junior farmer in the county, was Buddy Thompson, Finch. The Harold Farlinger trophy, presented by Mr. Farlinger to the higest point winner, was tied between Buddy Thompson and Donald Henry, of Berwick.

William Legault, president of Cornwall Rotary Club, presented the Eddie Anderson trophy and the Sam Lou trophy on behalf of the donors, to Sharon Young and Willie Esdale, who had the highest standing in the Cornwall Centre Calf Club.

Donald MacIntyre, of Finch, presented the Donald MacIntyre trophy to Donald Henry, Berwick, who was the showmanship winner of the three calf clubs with their achievement day at Newington fair. The F. C. Eligh trophy was presentedby Mrs. Eligh to the member making most progress during the first year in club work.

The Thorold Rutley trophy for the boy or girl with highest points in Avonmore Calf Club was presented by Mr. Rutley to Joan Rutley, Avonmore. The CNE shield was won by Dawn Hanna, of Finch.

Win Trip, Scholarship

Joan Rutley won a trip to the Royal Winter Fair and Buddy Thompson, a scholarship to a winter Short Course at the OAC in Guelph. These were given by Kraft Foods Ltd. and the Quaker Oats Company.

Sam Nyman, president of the Cornwall Kiwanis Club, presented cash prizes for showmanship to Joan Rutley, John Dingwall and David Watkins, of Avonmore Club; Floyd Dingwall, Dwaine O'Donohue, and Nicholas O'Donohue, of Berwick-Crysler Club; Campbell Murray, Betty Brown and Robert Brown, Cornwall Centre Club; Gary Shaver, Evan Henry and Ercel Baker, Newington Junior Club; Donald Henry, Buddy Thompson, Bobby MacIntyre, Newington Senior Club; Leroy Cain, Arthur Buchanan, Louis Bray, of Sandringham Club; Lorraine Shaver, Ronald Beaudette and Billy Hall, of the Aultsville-Gallingertown Club.

About 70 individual prizes were given to club members finishing their year's course. Presentations were made by heads of the sponsoring groups, Frank Dafoe, William Legault, George Baker and Thorold Rutley.

Speaks on Nyasaland

Bob Maginnis, president of Stormont Junior Farmers, acted as chairman. Alfred Beaudette, assistant to Mr. Crozier in junior extension work in Stormont, introduced the head table guests. Dr. W. J. Shannon, pathologist at the Cornwall General Hospital, addressed the group on some of his experiences in Nyasaland, in Central Africa, where he was associated with the government medical service.

He was introduced by Donald Henry and thanked by Muriel Casselman. Floyd Dingwall moved a vote of thanks to the ladies of Lunenburg Women's Institute, who served the banquet.

An Oregon doctor, Robert F. Day, observed in his address to a Rural Health Conference that some patients, lax in paying bills, must be gaining the wrong impression from his R.F.D. initials.

Psychologists Help Parents Choose Toys Christmas Gifts Can Develop Child and Amuse

Most of us have some toys on our shopping list. Thanks to the work psychologists have done on children's play and playthings, we can now make our choice from their lists of kinds of toys that children of various ages usually enjoy the most. Of course there are some toys a youngster will play with for years—for instance the right kind of blocks—although he uses them quite differently as he grows older. At two years he just lugs them about and dumps them in and out of his wagon or box. Later he builds crude structures from them. Eventually, when he is five or so. he can bulid houses or even whole villages and he likes to have miniature lead animals, cars and people to live in them.

Play is the child's work, and suitable toys can do a lot for him as well as provide fun. They help him develop the large muscles of his arms and legs. They may aid him in learning various skills, they can stimulate his imagination, they can encourage initiative and independence. In short, they can help him to grow up in a "painless" way.

Here's a list of some toys suitable for children of various ages:

Under 1 Year

Rattles—after three or four months of age. Dumbell-shaped ones are especially good; soft, washable animals or dolls; bath toys; playpen—use it regularly for part of the day until your child can climb out of it. It'll help you both in many ways. Playpens are not old-fashioned.

From 1 to 1½ Years

Balls; boxes; small, bright-coloured blocks; pots and pans.

From 1½ to 3 Years

Larger blocks—for long use; walking muscles—small wagons, push and pull toys—for developing animals on wheels, etc.; kiddie cars (muscle developer); balls; nursery-rhyme records; sturdy picture books—of familiar objects in bright colours; simple story books, to read to him; small chair; small table; peg board with bright-coloured pegs; large wooden beads (too big to swallow); shoelace for stringing beads; sandbags, about 3 by 5 inches long, adhesive wound around saves breakages; unbreakable doll's dishes; small broom and dust pan; shovel.

From 3 to 4 Years

Blackboard and chalk; plasticine; tricycle; toy dump-truck; telephone; dolls that can be dressed; doll's carriage; poster paints in jars; blunted scissors; coloured paper; nursery-rhyme books.

From 4 to 5 Years

Paper dolls to cut out; doll's house with a little furniture; hammers; saws; simple construction toys; mechanical toys ;dress-up clothes; miniature animals; motor cars, airplanes.

From 5 to 6 Years

Indian, cowboys or other outfits; nurse's uniform toy stores; simple picture puzzle; skates.

Over 6 Years

Games, sports equipment, hobby books supplies, books, records, cameras.

COW WITH HANGOVER

Farmer Antonio Fantini, Portograuro, Italy, noticed that one of his cows was acting pugnacious and smelling of wine.

He investigated and found a wine truck had overturned next to his pasture. The cow had sampled some vintage, then charged about with lowered head, looking for a fight.

Fantini managed to lead the cow home and put her in a stall, where she was reported as feeling beastly the next day.

At Spokane, Wash., an attorney, upon passing his bar examinations, hung up his shingle: James J. Lawless, lawyer.

IN MEMORIAM

EDGERTON—In fond and loving memory of a dear son and brother, Garnet Knowles Edgerton, who passed away one year ago, December 11th, 1953.

They say time heals all sorrows
And helps us to forget;
But time so far has only proved
How much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to take it
And courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.

Father, Mother, Floyd and Gladys.

IN MEMORIAM

DROPPO—In loving tribute to my dear husband, Andrew J. Droppo, who passed away December 10th, 1953.

One year ago today you were called
To thy eternal rest;
Gone, where the angels sing so sweetly
And taken when God knew best.
I miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems nigh,
But we all hope in Heaven to meet
Where no one says good-bye.

Lovingly remembered by wife, Olive.

IN MEMORIAM

HARPER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ford Harper, who passed away December 6th, 1952.

Beyond the gate, beyond the wall,
Beyond the realm of time and space,
With cheery smile and a wave of His hand,
Surpassing all the joys of any earthly place.
And we who have a loved one there
Find comfort in the truth well known
That Death is ruler over Life
And Love will never lose its own.

Ever remembered by wife, daughters and son, Mrs. Ford Harper, Lena, Edythe and Shy.

LOST—ONE GIANT SANTA

The world's largest Santa Claus was missing somewhere between San Francisco and Montreal the other day and frantic appeals went out for the van carting the big fellow across the continent.

The giant St. Nick—who's 33 feet high and walks and walks—left Linwood, Calif., 10 days previous aboard a truck. Neither he nor the van were heard from since.

Michael Gilbert, administrator of Dorval Gardens shopping centre, said Saturday that, unless Santa was found soon, "Someone had better arrange some cosy spot for me in Siberia."

He said thousands of kids, not to mention their impatient parents, have been on his neck when the outsized Father Christmas, with a 10-foot wait and eyes as big as a babys' head, failed to appear.

Penny: "Stop that man. He tried to kiss me!"

Benny: "Take it easy. There will be another one along in a minute."

SOMETHING new and different FOR CHRISTMAS

For bedroom or guest room

an Extension Telephone!

For kitchen or laundry

What more thoughtful — more useful — more pleasing gift than an extension telephone! Day after day it will be a pleasant reminder of your consideration, for a second telephone in the home stops those "through-the-house" dashes to reach a ringing telephone, saves many a missed call. There's more privacy, too, because you can make and take calls in a quiet room away from the noise and bustle of family activities.

You'd be surprised how little an extension telephone costs! For just a few cents a day you can have another phone placed anywhere you please. You may pay for it now, for a year in advance, or you can have the extra cost tacked onto your monthly bill.

For workshop, den, garage, playroom

WHY NOT CALL our Business Office right now and arrange to have an extension telephone installed before or after Christmas.

For her, or his, own room

It's no problem to install another phone if you already have one, because extensions do not require separate lines to the exchange.

HE FOUND IT!

A middle-aged man walking into a tavern in Plymouth, Eng., put a pair of pint beer steins on the bar and said: "Fill them up, please."

The barmaid filled one of the steins with beer, then opened the lid of the other. It was already filled—with about 100 pound notes.

"My wife's secret horde!" the man gasped.

He peeled off one of the bills to pay for the beer, stuffed the rest in his pocket, grabbed his steins and fled—presumably not home.

Canadian women used an average of slightly more than 11 pairs each of full-fashioned hosiery in 1953.

EVERYBODY EATS-- TRY THESE!

By Helen Graham

SUGAR AND SPICE—BUT MOSTLY SUGAR

DO YOU MAKE THE SAME CANDIES every year for Christmas? Or do you like to try some new ones? Why not some of your old favourites and something new as well!

Rich Chocolate Fudge

1 lb. semi-sweet chocolate
3 eggs
1 lb. icing
1 tbsp. vanilla
¼ lb. walnuts or ½ cup seeded raisins
1 tbsp. butter

Melt chocolate and butter in double boiler. Add beaten eggs, sugar and vanilla. Mix well. Add nuts or raisins. Spread on buttered dish. Cool and cut.

Fruit Roll

Chop equal quantities of raisins, prunes and dates (figs and marshmallows may be added if desired) in meat chopper. Knead together thoroughly, roll in small balls with the hands and coat with granulated sugar.

Uncooked Fondant

1-3 lb. butter
1 1-3 cups condensed milk (1 can)
2 tbsps. corn syrup
1 tbsp. vanilla
3 lbs. sifted icing sugar

Melt butter; mix with milk, corn syrup and vanilla. Add sugar. Chill.

CANDIES MADE WITH FONDANT

Chocolates: Divide fondant into three or four parts, and add a different flavour to each as maple, peppermint, almond, cocoanut, etc. Roll into balls of suitable size and dip in chocolate as follows: Melt 1 package of unsweetened chocolate with half bar of parawax in top of double boiler. Dip pieces of fondant in chocolate, one at a time, and drain on wax paper. Keep chocolate over hot water while dipping and use a fork for lifting pieces of fondant from chocolate. If you desire a thicker coating of chocolate allow chocolate to cool slightly during dipping.

To add variety, roll cherries, nuts, raisins or California grapes in vanilla fondant before dipping.

Stuffed Dates or Figs: Stuff dates and figs with small piece of fondant. Roll in granulated sugar.

Walnut Creams: Press a piece of fondant between two walnut halves. Roll in sugar.

Turkish Delight

3 tbsps. gelatine
½ cup cold water
2 cups sugar
½ cup boiling water
1 orange, rind and juice

Soften gelatine in cold water. Make a syrup of sugar and water; when boiling, add gelatine; boil gently 20 minutes. Remove from heat, add fruit juices; strain, add rind; candied fruit and chopped nuts may be added. Pour into moistened pan. When firm, cut in squares, using a knife dipped in hot water. Roll in icing or fruit sugar.

TRAIN BACKS UP FOR NEW BONNET

Breathes there a railroad with soul so dead that it wouldn't back up the 9.22 to put a lady's new hat back on her head?

Not the Long Island Railroad, anyway.

Mrs. Mary Jo Hasson gave an anguished cry the other morning as she arrived on the platform at Mineola, N.Y. The wind had whipped off her brand new $12.50 bonnet and deposited it under the second car of the train between the rails.

Conductor J. F. Ryan Sr. heard Mrs. Hasson's wail. He trotted up to the engine and conferred with engineer Walter Stephenson. The engineer nodded.

Slowly the 9.22 backed up two car lengths. Mrs. Hasson's hat emerged to view, its two nine-inch feathers intact.

Restoring it to Mrs. Hasson, Ryan bellowed "all aboard" and the train clattered out of the station.

OUTDOOR ROUNDUP—

unsuitable for any use whatever."

Apart from the municipalities and industries located on the Ottawa itself who are charged with dumping municipal and industrial sewage into the river, there are communities and industries located on tributary streams emptying into the river, who are proportionately guilty in that they too are dumping untreated sewage and industrial wastes without any thought of the ultimate consequences.

A Start Has Been Made

With Christmas only a short way off and four or five months of winter separating us from the swimming and fishing seasons, we can't expect too much public excitement over this report, which has already has ben widely publicized in the Montreal and Ottawa dailies during the past few days. As I see it the public never wants to believe that things are as bad as they are until they are faced with it. Fact of the matter is that the Ottawa River from Ottawa right down to Montreal has "had it" recreation-wise until such time as the pollution problem is overcome. And in the meantime all those who may be interested can be certain of one thing and that is that conditions will get worse rather than better.

PLOWMEN ABROAD—

he has quite a number of live stock to sell, set out on foot for the nearest village or town, driving the animals ahead of him along the road.

In one place we visited, the townspeople were quite annoyed because the farmers persisted in driving their pigs, sheep and cattle along the main street (which was very narrow anyway). The farmers also insisted on doing their marketing right on the same street, instead of using the fair grounds on the edge of town, which were laid out for that purpose in the first place.

In contrast to this ancient and traditional marketing system, the Irish government has recently begun sponsoring farm services, such as soil testing and plans for scientific rotation of crops.

And judging by the enthusiasm which both the farmers themselves and the government workers seem to have for these projects, I think its' safe to make this prediction: Not many years from now, that same Irish farmer whose customs see m so quaint to us, may rank among the most scientific farmers in the world.
