Young Girl Killed Near Morrisburg

Muriel Lorena Eckford, seven-year-old daughter and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Eckford, who reside about four miles west of Morrisburg, was instantly killed Tuesday when coming home from school, she was struck by a large motor transport driven by Lloyd Haynes of Oshawa.

The girl was coming home at noon from the school, at the junction of the Flagg Road and No. 2 Highway. Before crossing the road she waited until a milk truck, westbound, had passed and walked behind it straight into the side of the eastbound transport.

Haynes stated that he did not see the girl until she walked from behind the milk truck. He applied his brakes at once, but was unable to avoid striking her.

Doctors said her death was due to a fractured skull and internal injuries. Coroner Dr. C. A. Louden of Morrisburg investigated, and released the body to the Fitzsimmons Funeral Parlors at Iroquois. A report of the accident will be sent to County Crown Attorney J. G. Harkness, K. C., of Cornwall, who will decide whether an inquest will be necessary.

The accident was first investigated by C. B. Biccum, chief of police, Morrisburg, who later turned over the investigation to Provincial Constable M.E. Armstrong of Prescott.

Wright with interment following in Maple Ridge cemetery. The deceased, Mary Christie Beckstead, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Beckstead, two of the pioneers of the district. Her husband passed away in Winchester four years ago. Mrs. Casselman is survived by one son, Murray of Montreal.

Cardinal Girl Seriously Injured

Winnifred Campbell, 13-year-old resident of Cardinal, is in a critical condition in St. Vincent de Paul hospital, Cardinal, and two Prescott youths are recovering from cuts and bruises, the result of a bad accident Saturday evening.

Pte William Baynham and Donald Madden, with the Campbell girl, were picked up as hitchhikers on the Fort Hill, by a Montreal man, Stewart Mc Knight. Proceeding toward Cardinal, the car failed to make the turn near Cook's farm, about three miles west of that village. After turning over several times the car was badly wrecked and the trio of hitchhikers sustained various injuries.

The Campbell girl, suffering from head injuries, is still in a critical condition. Baynham suffered a cracked rib and numerous lacerations and bruises, while Madden also suffered multiple cuts and bruises.

The driver escaped with a cut hand and a few cuts about the head.

Appearing in Brockville court on Monday, McKnight was remanded for a week in custody on a charge of dangerous driving.

Find Car Belonging To Murdered Woman

Ontario Provincial Police in Kingston announced last night the finding of an automobile belonging to Mrs. Austin Smith, 43, of Detroit, Mich., who was found murdered in her Summer cottage at Port Franks, 35 miles northwest of London, early Monday.

Officers said the car had been locked and abandoned on a country road three miles from Kingston. It was brought to Kingston.

As a result of the discovery all members of the Provincial Police force in Eastern Ontario were called to duty to search for the slayer of Mrs. Smith, who was shot through the back in her bed-room of her cottage.

Since the discovery of Mrs. Smith's body by her husband, a Detroit service station operator, police have been searching for an 18-year-old soldier reported missing from Camp Ipperwash, near London, since Sunday. Police said a .303 rifle also was missing from the camp.

A $1,200 ring first reported ripped from Mrs. Smith's finger by the slayer, was found on her hand at a post mortem performed in Sarnia.

District police are on the lookout for a Plymouth sedan stolen from J. H. Wolsley at Kingston at 10.45 o'clock last night, which they believe is being driven by the murderer of Mrs. Austin Smith who was slain at Port Frank on Sunday. The car stolen from Mrs. Smith at the scene of the murder was left in place of the sedan.

TEACHING HAS COME TO ITS OWN

It is a far cry from the days when in many rural districts in Ontario it was considered a wise policy to elect hard-bitten bachelors as Trustees on the assumption that they could be depended upon to keep down school expenses and particularly the salaries of teachers. It must be admitted that in the latter respect they succeeded fairly well, attention being paid in the applications submitted to the salary expected rather than to the qualifications detailed. This is a new day and fortunately a new era in educational matters in Ontario. While in the Western provinces more than 550 one-roomed schools remain closed for lack of teachers, in Ontario only a handful of public rural schools are without teachers at the present time and they will reopen before many days. This has been brought about by a variety of changes, but principally by providing adequate salaries for the teachers. It is claimed that the two normal school courses, one at London and the other at Toronto, have succeeded in meeting the problem of a teacher shortage. This year, interim, second-class certificates were given to 600 teachers, mostly young women. Last year provisional standards were given to 700 teachers, many of whom held certification from England and other Provinces of Canada. The consolidation of rural schools, a process that has been accelerated in the past year, is also a factor in the present situation. In the past seven or eight years over 600 rural schools have been closed because the attendance fell below the minimum of eight pupils. In all such cases the pupils are transferred to the nearest school. As far as salaries are concerned, teachers in public schools get a minimum of $1,000 and rise as high as $1,400. The average is about $1,200. A recent amendment to the Public Schools' Act stipulated that no rural school board would be eligible for a township school grant unless it paid the minimum of $1,000.

WONDERFUL GROWTH OF ELECTRICAL POWER

With the overthrow of Germany a matter of no great duration, the boon of Hydro Electric power will be made available to many Ontario farmers denied this privilege owing to the shortage of essential materials and the power needs of war plants. Munitions Department officials estimate that Canada will emerge from the war with electric power production facilities 21% in excess of 1939. It took Canada a half-century to build up the power system of 8,190,000 horsepower she had in 1939 and then in the five war years 1,803,000 has been added. Canada now is believed to be the highest per capita user of electric power with electricity providing the motive force for 80% of the Dominion's industries. Greatest increase—1,002,273 horsepower—came last year with the Shipshaw, Que., aluminium development accounting for 740,000 horsepower. This year there is a gain of a further 68,000 horsepower. So rapid has the power expansion been since the first Great War that Canada now is producing as much electricity every 54 days as she produced in a whole year of the 1914-18 period. Yet less than 20 percent of the minimum of the country's water power resources is being used. More than 56 percent of Canada's installed power capacity is in Quebec which, despite heavy needs of its own industries, is able to export about 25 percent of its power out put to Ontario. Quebec has an installed capacity of some 5,700,000 horsepower. Ontario ranks second in installed capacity with 2,670,000 h.p. and British Columbia—second to Quebec in available water power resources has 796,000 horsepower.

EXPORT TRADE SEEMS ASSURED

There are plenty of indications that Canada will be in a position to absorb the shock of the reconversion period from war to civilian production with a fair amount of success. There is bound to be quite a bit of dislocation for a few months but the growing scarcity of essential civilian commodities should keep the wheels of industry turning for a considerable period. There will be need for export markets to ward against unemployment but there seems no doubt that these will be forthcoming. In this respect the fund supplied by the United National Relief and Rehabilitation Administration will be a big factor. The Canadian woollen trade has just completed arrangements for providing the 2,250,000 yards of cloth called for in the $6,000,000 worth of garments to be produced in Canada. Thirty-four mills across Canada are co-operating in this initial effort. It is likely more will be called upon later. Meeting the demand is throwing quite a responsibility on Canadian mills, already heavily loaded with military requirements and operating under labor shortages. But the work had to be speeded up because indigent peoples of Europe desperately need clothes. The garments will include skirts and girls' dresses; women's, girls' and children's coats; men's and boys' pants and coats. Clothing and footwear will have to be supplied to 75,000,000 people of Europe through the UNRRA, to which Canada is a party with a total contribution of $77,000,000 covering food, cothing, farm machinery and other Canadian products.

WHY CONSERVATION OF MILK IS URGED

The great reason why conservation of milk is being urged by the Prices Board lies in the fact that total demand for milk in its various forms now exceeds supply. Moreover, out of every gallon of milk that is produced, a variety of essential foods must be supplied. Those include fluid milk, the most valuable of all from the standpoint of nutrition; cheese, for our own supply and to yield the 125,000,000 pounds we have agreed to send the United Kingdom; butter, to meet the coupon ration and to send to prisoners-of-war; evaporated milk, for babies and those living in remote areas where fresh milk is not obtainable; and powdered milk, a pound of which is included in every prisoner-of-war parcel.

Fact Finding Stations

The 161 Illustration Stations throughout Canada and the 45 District Sub-Experimental Stations in the Prairie Provinces are essentially experimental units, in that they are fact finding and are the proving grounds for research work done in laboratories and on some of the Experimental Farms when taken to different soil and climate conditions in the various Provinces.

A London Bobby And a French Orphan

A story of a policeman, a little girl and a flying bomb was told to BBC overseas listeners by Henry James a few days ago.

The policeman was covered in dust, his helmet was dirty and he had a bloodstained bandage round his head. He was standing in front of a roped off alley where debris, broken glass and bricks, and its of furniture were all mixed up together. Yes, a flying bomb had fallen there a short time before. The policeman was monotonously repeating, "Move along there. Keep moving!" to curious onlookers.

As Henry James caught his eye they recognized one another. James had first seen the "Bobby" in a little French restaurant in London. His helmet was on the table beside him and sitting opposite was the four-year-old daughter of the proprietor. The policeman was telling her stories; stories of Africa, of pigmies and elephants. . James often saw them after that. The scene was nearly always the same, though the setting of the stores varied—Australia, North America, South America, all round the world—"outrageous melodrama" James styled them.

Now the policeman called James over. He asked him to go round to that same little cafe and find out what happened, because he, the policeman, couldn't leave his post. James went. He found no cafe, but men were digging and pulling away at the rubble. Presently they found the proprietor, and an ambulance took him away. James waited on wondering about the back-haired little girl. Later they found her. A cut on her forehead had been bleeding and the neat frock she was always so proud of was dirty and crumbled and soiled. She was unconscious and an ambulance took her away. James went back and told the policeman, and later in the day when his work allowed him James went to the hospital. He found the policeman there, his helmet clean now and his uniform brushed. The little girl sitting up in bed, and this time it wasn't the policeman who was doing the talking. She had a bandage round her head, but she was very proud of it because the policeman had one too. Then, accepting James as a friend of hers, she told him she didn't have any real Daddy now because he was killed when the bomb fell on him. But the policeman was going to be her new father, and she was going away with him when she was better and they let her leave the hospital. She thought it "would be funny to have a policeman for a father."

PAPER FROM WOODLOTS

The farm woodlots help in Canada's huge production of paper, because coniferous woods at the present time are the chief papermaking material in Canada and in the world, ninety per cent of the total production coming from wood, mostly coniferous. Rags, esparto grass, straw, bamboo, sabai grass, old ropes, fibres and waste paper make up the remaining material. No other country in the British Commonwealth of Nations, apart from Newfoundland, approaches Canada in importance as a source of wood pulp for paper.

about the things you buy in wartime

THE STORY OF

CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR

When you go to a store to buy and can't get the things you want, remember that war upsets the whole machinery of production and supply. This is true not only in Canada but throughout the whole world.

As Canada is devoting over half her production making things for war it is inevitable that civilian supply must be reduced.

We just can't produce all the things required to fill the greatly increased civilian demands, but production efforts are being directed to see that the best use is made of materials and labour that are available for the production of civilian goods.

Remember these facts when you have difficulties in your shopping.

Chairman
Wartime Prices & Trade Board

OBVIOUSLY babies and children must have underwear. So—the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has given special attention to the production of these garments.

The problem has not been so much one of a lack of raw materials, but of getting the raw materials (wool, cotton, rayon), spun into yarns—and then knit into garments. Canada has never produced all the wool, cotton and rayon yarn she requires. We have always had to get a substantial part of our requirements from other countries, even in peacetime. But since the war, there has been an acute shortage of underwear yarns everywhere.

There has been a greatly increased demand in addition to production difficulties. The efforts of the Board to meet the problem are given below.

THE INCREASED DEMAND RESULTED FROM·

More babies . . . It's apparently always the way in wartime.

Reduced use of second-hand or "hand-me-down" garments.

Extra buying . . . Perhaps too many people wanted to be "on the safe side."

Increased consumer buying . . . More people with more money.

Less home sewing . . . Mothers have been working outside the home.

Huge demand for underwear by Armed Forces.

MORE UNDERWEAR: but still not enough!

The reason is that it just has not been possible to produce with the skilled workers and machines available to the United Nations enough yarn and garments to meet the increased demands all over the world.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE ABOUT IT

√First of all the Board found out the kind and quantity of garments Canadian children must have.

√This showed that the public is asking for more than is actually needed.

√So plans were made to see, by directing production all down the line, if we could meet the swollen demand as nearly as possible.

√Each manufacturer was told to produce an increased number of garments.

√A constant check is kept on mills to see that they are producing the required number.

√Manufacturers not previously making children's underwear were induced to go into its production. An additional 600,000 garments will be provided this year from these sources.

√Negotiations were conducted with production authorities in other countries for supplies of yarn to Canadian knitters for use in children's underwear.

√Primary cotton mills were required to divert spinning facilities from fabric manufacture to the spinning of underwear yarns.

√Arrangements were made through National Selective Service to direct more labour to the underwear mills.

√A special campaign was launched to enlist part time workers.

√Distribution to retail stores was organized to ensure equitable supply to all areas.

The greatly increased supply of children's underwear resulting from these efforts is shown by the relative sizes of the figures below.

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES OF ANNOUNCEMENTS GIVING THE FACTS ABOUT THE SUPPLY SITUATION OF VARIOUS WIDELY USED COMMODITIES

Late Mrs. James McCadden

The death of Mrs. James MsCadden, which occurred very suddenly at her home on Tuesday, August 29th, was a great shock to her husband, and family and many friends.

Mrs. McCadden had been ill in Cornwall hospital but was able to come home and for the past three weeks was about her home attending to light duties and apparently had almost regained her usual health.

After retiring for the night she suddenly became ill. Dr. Justus and Rev. Father Keaney were summoned at once and everything that could be done was of no avail as God saw fit to call her. After receiving the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church administered by Rev. Father Keaney, she passed peacefully away surrounded by her husband, family and a few friends. In less than two hours after she became ill.

Mrs. McCadden, whose maiden name was Margaret Anne O'Grady, was born on Nov. 5, 1906, daughter of Thomas O'Grady and Catherine Moran, who died a number of years ago.

She was educated at Chesterville High School, Cornwall Collegiate and Ottawa Normal School. She taught in district schools a number of years where she was highly regarded by parents and pupils.

Her marriage to James McCadden took place at Crysler, July 26th, 1937 by whom she is survived along with a little daughter Joan, 5 years old.

She is also survived by two brothers, Charles of Crysler and Walter of Montreal, along with a number of aunts and uncles.

The love and esteem with which she was held and the sympathy for those who mourn their loss was testified by the large funeral cortege which proceeded from her home to St. Mary's Church, Chesterville, where requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. P. J. Keaney with Rev. W. J. Buckley of Flinton, in the Sanctuary.

Burial took place in St. Mary's cemetery. The pall bearers were, Edward Wheeler, Peter Manley, Leo Coyne, Kenneth Murphy, D'Arcy Lynch and Harold Barrett.

WILL NEED HORSES FOR EUROPE'S FARMS

Canadian breeding stock may play a large part in re-building the livestock herds of Europe when the war is over. Particularly in the restoration of farm power, the horse will be required, and some idea of the coming demand for horses may be gained from the estimates of the declining numbers of horses in the various countries since the war began. It is estimated that the numbers of horses in Britain, Holland and Belgium have been reduced by half, in Russia by one-third and that only one-third of the horses has been left in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Greece. Germany, by plundering the other nations, is believed to have as many horses, if not more, than when the war began. However, say the authorities, the task of supplying farm power to help in the restoration of agriculture in the devastated countries is going to be a tremendous one and is expected to result in a strong demand for Canadian horses for some time to come.

Taunted by someone because of an inordinate number of freckles on his face, a boy replied good-naturedly:

"They ain't freckles. Y'see, we been goin' swimmin' 'most every day and them spots is just my iron constitution rustin' on me!"

Just Too Much

This happened in London. In the early hours of the morning, the duchess strode haughtily across the pavement from the hotel, where a charity dance had been held, and was getting into her car when a beggar accosted her.

"Spare a copper, lady, for charity? I'm starving."

The duchess turned on him sharply. "What ingratitude!" she exclaimed. Don't you know I've been dancing for you all night."

PROTECTING CHILDREN'S LIVES

In the last year of record there were 687 cases of infantile paralysis in Canada and 64 deaths from this cause. This is a disease which is regarded with veritable terror by the average parent, who is apparently comparatively indifferent to the ravages of diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough, three diseases, the seriousness of which has been stressed during National Immunization Week.

In 1942 as compared to 687 cases of infantile paralysis (paliomyelitis) there were in Canada, 2955 cases of diphtheria, 18,384 cases of whooping cough and 20,648 cases of scarlet fever—a total of 41,987 cases and 943 deaths. What the end results in the children effected and surviving will be we do not know.

The point in which parents should be interested is that scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria are preventable and in the absence of immunization more to be feared than the dreaded polio. Parents are urged to see to it that their children are protected. It is no credit to our intelligence or our patriotism that the lives of more than 40,000 little children should be endangered by disease which could be prevented.

Parents of Canada see your family doctor or your medical officer of health now.

Noble Animal

The horse can live off the land and perpetuate a supply of horsepower by raising a family. With mechanized power, such as tractors, repairs, gas and oil have to be taken out of the pocket of the farmer.

The horse can forage and to a considerable extent, live on its own.

A horse can rest while waiting, thus automatically refueling himself.

The horse is a handy source of mobile power on the farm. He can be taken to any corner of the farm and he can stop and start, wheel about, or turn this way or that hundreds of times a day without running up expenses.

CRISIS NEARS ON GERMANY'S MORALE FRONT

A quick showdown on Germany's morale front was indicated today as massed Allied air power began transforming the Rhineland into a burning, crumbling wasteland and Gen. Eisenhower warned the inhabitants to run for their lives.

The Nazis—grasping the danger of a civilian collapse under the day and night bombing and strafing of the whole region behind the Siegfried Line—stepped up their last-ditch propaganda. Special appeals were addressed to Rhinelanders to dig in, stand and die.

A radio spokesman for Gen. Eisenhower told foreign workers in northwest, west and southwest Germany to "leave the factories" and get away from the German hunt for fresh soldiers and trench diggers.

Dr. Goebbles Reich plenipotentiary for the total war effort, displayed nervousness over the possibility of a dramatic 11th hour Allied appeal to the German people.

He set his propagandists to work, warning Rhinelanders and others that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Quebec were drafting a last call to surrender. The embattled Germans were told the call would be something on the line of Woodrow Wilson's 14 points of the last war, but that it would be a swindle "worse than Versailles."

Editorials in the Nazi press more frequently mentioned widespread fear and discouragement among the population tried a new pep talk line to the effect that "X, the unknown" was about to save the situation—meaning still another miracle weapon.

Amid stories of a new crisis approaching in Germany there was an unconfirmed report that the Nazi party itself had broken up into a "destruction party" headed by Hitler and a "peace party" under the leadership of Hermann Goering.

The Paris radio reported 80,000 of the 12,000,000 slave corps in Germany had escaped and formed a regular Maquis within the Reich borders.

Cows Get Tinted.

—One job given to Australian airmen in India was to fly cattle into Burma. First step was camouflage.

White beasts were painted with permanganate of potash and turned into brunettes.

Then they were walked into the 'planes, thrown and tied—danger and excitement. Later they were lashed into bamboo stalls. They also flew in mules and ponies, but they were less troublesome.

DUNDAS THIRD SALE WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Investments of pupils in Elementary Schools of the Province last year exceeded $1,800,000. Dundas County pupils sold or invested to the extent of $8557. An investment of $10,000 would have given the schools the honour of having a training plane named for the County. Do you think the schools can reach an objective of $10,000 for this school year? This would mean that the pupils must either buy themselves or sell to other people a minimum of $1000 worth per month. Let all see just how good a start can be made during September. The older pupils could locate people in the community who would pledge themselves to purchase each month say one certificate of the denomination $5, $10, etc. If one pupil in each school would get one person to purchase a $5.00 certificate each month, this alone would amount to an investment of $2760 during the school year. Of the eleven inspectorates in Eastern Ontario Dundas County was third last year. Stormont and South Frontenac were ahead of us, each gaining the coveted honour of having planes named for them. Teachers and pupils! Put Dundas County over her new objective of $10,000 for 1944-45!

Isolate Herd.

As there is a possibility of disease in farm animals being spread at community livestock sales, veterinary authorities suggest that as a protective measure animals brought home to the farm should be isolated from the home herd for a reasonable period, placing the animals in well-ventilated, well-bedded quarters, with a plentiful supply of good clean drinking water.

Silk Stocking Is Good Luck Omen For Iroquois Airman

PO. J. D. Johnston, of Iroquois, has finished his second tour of operations as rear gunner in an RAF Liberator Squadron and hopes to be sent home on leave. After that, he thinks he would like to go on operations in Southeast Asia but he wants to train as a pilot first.

Johnny is a veteran of the squadron, which he joined in Egypt in January, 1943. He has made 70 trips against enemy targets, from the Dodecanese to Germany.

Munich Vienna, Northern Italy, and Romania have been major targets in Johnny's second tour. On every one of his 70 operations, he has worn the same silk stocking around his neck—a good luck charm borrowed from a girl in England. "It worked", he says, "I've never had a fighter attack and never been in serious trouble."

Bulls Is Bulls

A bull is a bull and no more to be trusted than a Nazi. In every case, however, where a farmer has been injured or killed by a bull, that man has thought his bull was the exception that proved the rule.

It had always been quiet and easy to handle. So much so that little by little, over a space of time, the owner had ceased to take even ordinary precautions.

Then, unexpectedly, and usually without warning comes a day when the bull reverts to his true nature, and there is a trip to the hospital or a funeral back at the house.

His Choice

"I like the shy demure type," observed a sailor, "you know—the kind you have to whistle at twice."

Unmasked.

How much longer are the general public going to be kidded into thinking the numerologist who predicts the war will end at 2 o'clock, September 7th is really telling us something?

I certainly wish it were true, or sooner, but one does not need to be a numerologist to see that if you take the date of your birth and add your age that it will add up to 1944.

Also if you take the year of going into office and add the number of years in office and what else could it add up to but 1944? Add 1944 and 1944 and you have 3888. All very simple isn't it?

Ten-day Pass!

Somewhere in the South Pacific area a G-I got a 10-day pass which he was supposed to spend in Australia.

He was one day late in returning, took a terrific bawling out from his commanding officer. When an explanation was demanded, he said: "Sorry, sir, I would have made it, only we were held up in Chicago on account of bad weather."

A man of no little faith, he'd planned on a tight schedule. He hitch hiked to New Haven, Conn., on an unidentified aircraft, spent a couple of days with his wife and would have been back on time if Chicago weather hadn't been uncooperative.

P.S.—He was fined $1.

Fresh vegetables can be better sources of vitamin if care is taken to chill them as soon as they come from the field.

Before you blame your telephone...

CHECK THIS DISTANCE

Engineers designed the mouthpiece of your telephone to give best results at one-quarter of an inch from the lips. When your lips are farther away than this, your voice is transmitted less strongly . . . less clearly.

Failure to remember these simple facts accounts for the great majority of "trouble" reports.

Help avoid needless service check-ups, and at the same time let those you talk to hear you without strain. Just remember: Talk clearly, normally, directly into the telephone, with your lips just one-quarter of an inch from the mouthpiece.

On Active Service — Giving Wings to Words

Smoking while you talk may cause distorted reception. It also prevents your holding the mouthpiece directly in front of the lips.

If you need to reach across your desk as you talk, continue to hold the telephone in correct position, close to the lips.

A wall set can't come to you; stand or sit so that your lips are directly in front of and close to the mouthpiece. Don't "talk across" it.

For clear, noise-free transmission, always keep your desk telephone upright — not at or near the horizontal position.

SQUARE MILK BOTTLES

After a year's trial, the innovation of square milk bottles in quarts and half-pints at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and other cities in the United States, has proved a success. Basis of the change from round milk bottles was the desire to conserve cold storage space and to increase truck loads. It was found that about 45 percent more milk could be stored and considerably more milk be carried in trucks by using new cases, more compact and lighter in make than the conventional type. These cases require about one third less space inside the truck and save much work and time to the driver. Grocers and retailers say that they can put 36 square quarts on a refrigerator shelf that held only 25 round bottles.

Perhaps It's True!

Tigers had been ravaging a village and the terror-stricken natives sent for the nearest white man to assist them.

This man was a crack shot and had never been known to miss. His method was to tie a goat to the foot of a tree at dusk, climb the tree and when the tigers came for the goat, fire at the flash of their eyes. In the morning they would be found dead, shot straight between the eyes.

He followed his usual procedure the first night, but although he fired several shots, when the day dawned the goat was gone but there were no dead tigers.

This happened on two succeeding nights. Perturbed, he took a huge torch with him on the fourth night, and instead of firing at the flashing eyes, switched on his torch and saw, to his amazement six tigers advancing in pairs, each with one eye closed.

Need For Speed

Proper handling of fresh produce is an important step in the preparation of a high quality dehydration food. Sweet corn, peas and spinach, for example, are so perishable that they should be processed within a few hours after harvest. In the case of unavoidable delays they will require refrigeration to slow down deterioration.

THE TRAVELER.
By Audrey Alexandra Brown

TO the last hill he came and climbed, and weary
Stood on its crest at last, and looking down—
Where he had thought to see the tiled steeple
Of a huddled market-town.

Or fields of corn and rye set next each other,
Or a row of poplars marching silently,
Or a windmill clacking against the sky, or a sheepfold,
Or the foamless, fathomless sea.

He saw the crag fall sheer and fall forever;
Faint wisps of milky vapor swirled and clung
To the cliff-edge; but beyond, below, was nothing,
The words failed his tongue—

And he stood, and strove, and said:
"I have fared farther,
Than ever man followed, or bird flew,
And nothing I found was fair enough to stay me—
Neither the old or new.

"Always beyond beauty I sought beauty—
Always beyond bright shore a brighter shore:
Is there no more?" he said, and his voice faltered,
Saying, "Is there no more?"

And softly, softly, as the voice of the known and loved,
As the voice of a friend,
Echo answered through the darkness, saying,
"This is the end."

Too Foggy.

Two men who had traveled were comparing foreign cities.

"London," said one, "is certainly the foggiest place in the world."

"Oh, no, it's not," said the other. "I've been in a placle much foggier than London."

"Where was that?" asked the friend.

"I don't know where it was," relied the second man, "it was so foggy."

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Co-operation and working together for a common cause are more important today than at any time during the last decade—and the women of Ontario are rising to the occasion. An analysis of our mail will vouch for that.

Good old-fashioned neighborliness and willingness to share with others are expressed in your letters. They are reminders of those days when neighbors everywhere exchanged a loaf of bread for a jar of preserves over the back fence.

It is significant of this growing together in these times that Mrs. M. looks up old recipes gathered during the last war and sends them for you and me. We do appreciate all suggestions and discussions pertaining to our problems.

SPICED COTTAGE PUDDING.

Suggested by Mrs. C. B.

½ cup shortening, ¾ cup sugar, 2 tbsps. honey, ½ tsp. cloves, ¼ tablespoon cinnamon, 1 tsp. baking soda, 2 cups sifted flour, ¾ cup water.

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream well together. Add honey. Mix cloves, cinnamon, baking soda and flour. Add water alternatively with the flour and spices. Stir well and pour into greased cake pan. Bake in a slow oven of 325 degrees F. for 1 hour. Serve hot with Grape Sauce.

GRAPE SAUCE

Suggested by Mrs. D.M.

8 cups grapes, 6 cups granulated sugar.

Wash and crush grapes of any variety. Cook slowly on electric element turned low for 15 minutes. Press through a coarse sieve. To the pulp add the granulated sugar. Mix well and cook for 15 minutes, stirring frequently to prevent scorching or sticking. Seal in sterilized jars for future use. Serve with puddings or ice creams.

MELON AMBROSIA.

1 cup melon, cubed; 1 cup diced watermelon, 1 cup sliced orange, 6 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Mix all ingredients and chill thoroughly. Pile into sherbert glasses and serve garnished with fresh mint leaves. Yield: 6 servings.

DAMSON PLUM CONSERVE.

(Requested.)

2 pounds Damson plums, 1 chopped orange, 1 pint water, ½ cup raisins, 2 2-3 cups sugar, ¼ cup nut meats (if obtained).

Pit and halve the plums, put through food chopper or cut in small pieces. Cook the chopped orange with the 1 pint of water for 20 minutes. Add plums and raisins and cook until about one-half the liquid has evaporated. Add sugar and cook rapidly until mixture will heap up on a spoon. Add nuts and pour into hot sterilized jars. Paraffin and cover.

Varieties of apples good for cider are Baldwin, Golden Russett, and Gravenstein.

Varieties of apples good for baking are Tolman Sweets, Northern Spy, McIntosh Red, Baldwin Wealthy and Baxter.

CODDLED APPLES.

2 cups boiling water, 1 or 1½ cups sugar, 6 apples.

Make a syrup by boiling water and sugar together for 5 minutes. Core and pare apples, lower into syrup and cook slowly. Cover and watch carefully. When tender lift out apples, add a little lemon juice to the syrup and pour over the apples.

TAKE A TIP

1. To plant slips of geraniums, etc, put some lumps of charcoal in the pot—wood ash charcoal keeps the earth sweet.

2. For potted plants on the window-sill, use glass gliders that you buy for furniture. They are convenient to use on a narrow ledge.

3. Always water plants with a little warm water—preferably at night.

4. Do not forget to pot some parsley. It grows easily and supplies a summer green for winter salads.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. G.S. asks: How can the flat flavour of fish be prevented?

Answer: Sprinkle well with salt and let stand a few hours. Then rinse off. Soaking fresh-water fish in water destroys flavour.

Mrs. B. J. asks: Recipe for boiled Salad Dressings without eggs.

Answer: ¾ tsp. mustard, 1 tsp. salt, ⅛ tsp. pepper, ¼ tsp. celery salt, 1 tb. flour, 1 tb. sugar, 1 cup cream, 3 tbsps. vinegar.

Mix dry ingredients together: add cream and stir until blended. Then add hot vinegar and cook until smooth and creamy. (¾ cup milk and ¼ cup melted butter may be used instead of cream.)

Mrs. N. M. asks: Why do meringues liquefy on some pies and not on others made from the same beaten egg whites?

Answer: Filling should be cooled slightly before meringue is put on or meringue will liquefy underneath. Beaten egg whites should be kept cool and should not stand too long before used.

ANGUS McGILLIS FORMER M.P. DIES IN HIS 71ST YEAR

A former member for Glengarry in both the House of Commons and the Ontario Legislature, Angus McGillis died suddenly Sunday at his farm near Williamstown. He was 70 years old.

From 1918 to 1923 he served as councillor and reeve of Charlottenburg township. He first contested the Glengarry riding in the Federal Elections in 1925 but was unsuccessful.

In 1926 he ran for the Ontario House and was elected with a majority of 1850. Contesting Glengarry again for the Federal House in 1930, he was elected, winning the first Conservative victory in Glengarry in 34 years.

For five years he was with the Department of Agriculture Demonstrating scientific dairying methods in the Canadian West.

A son of the late Hugh McGillis and Mary Grant, he was regarded as a brilliant student in the schools of Summerstown. The family was of United Empire Loyalist stock and Mr. McGillis belonged to the Catholic church.

Funeral services were held at Williamstown Roman Catholic church on Wednesday.

CUT BUTTER RATION BY POSTPONING DATES OF COUPONS

The Prices Board last night served notice on Canadian housewives that they will have to get along with less butter than they expected between now and the end of the year.

For the fourth time this year the board ordered postponement of the validity date of butter coupons. Last night's order affects two pairs of coupons. Those numbered 80 and 81, which ordinarily would have become good October 5, will not be valid until October 12 and coupons 88 and 89 have been advanced to December 14.

While butter is going to be less plentiful, S. R. Noble, sugar administrator, had a measure of cheering news. He said that while world sugar supplies were "next thing to desperate" no reduction in the ration is expected this year.

Announcing the reduction in butter ration, the board said Canadian butter stocks at Sept. 1 were 11,500,000 pounds below the Sept. 1, 1943, stocks. Early announcement of the cut was made to enable consumers to plan to make their butter purchases last longer.

Under the revised coupon dates butter bought Sept. 21 with coupons 78 and 79 must do the consumer for three weeks. Butter coupons, each good for eight ounces, normally become valid every two weeks.

Vitamins In Weeds

Research laboratory tests have shown that the edible wild greens, pokeweed, poverty weed, and tall curly dock contain double the amount of Vitamin C normally found in spinach. A second group of edible wild greens, including shepherd's purse, lamb's quarter and wild lettuce, contains as much Vitamin C as spinach

Moles do not care for vegetable matter. They burrow to get food which consists of earth worms, white grubs, cutworms, wireworms, crickets, beetles, spiders, centipedes, millipedes, insect eggs and such like animals.

Water Before Feed

Why should a horse be watered first and fed afterwards? The answer is because of the comparatively small size of the horse's stomach. If grain is given before the horse is watered the inrush of water when the horse drinks washes the grain out of the stomach. This causes colic and impaction in the digestive tract. Veterinarians point out that the horse has such a small stomach compared to its body that proper feeding is one of the most important factors to bear in mind in the care of work animals.

Because nowadays you are driving fewer miles than you used to is certainly no reason for being without the protection an Automobile policy will give you.

Let us plan your automobile insurance to give you the protection you need TODAY.
