The Stormont-Dundas branch of the Ontario Landowners Association held Meet and Eat: A Sampling of Eastern Ontario with Tim Hudak and Randy Hillier on Sat., Oct. 17 at the Morewood Community Centre. Hudak, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Ontario, was there to draw support for the Ontario Conservatives and criticize the Liberals and Premier Dalton McGuinty. Also, portions of produce, meats, cheeses, wines, and beer from within the region were available for guests to sample. Press Photo — Uhrig

MOREWOOD — Two high-profile members of the Progressive Conservative Party of Ontario were in Morewood on Sat., Oct. 17 to discuss current government action in the province and to sample locally grown products.

Tim Hudak, leader of the Progressive Conservative (PC) Party of Ontario and Randy Hillier, MPP for Lanark, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, were on hand to meet with party supporters and rally behind rural landowners.

The event was orchestrated by the Stormont-Dundas branch of the Ontario Landowners Association, an organization that aids landowners whose rights to own, use, or enjoy property have been, or will be, affected by government actions.

"It's nice to mingle, and good to taste the local foods," said Hillier in an interview with the Winchester Press. "It's a good atmosphere."

Prior to his speech, Hillier strolled through the crowd and met with those in attendance, shaking hands and giving praise to one man who was wearing a t-shirt with the slogan, "Look out Dalton, here we come," just below the PC party symbol.

Walter Pamic, who acted as master of ceremonies for the event, introduced Hillier to the crowd.

"I am fed up with what is happening in this province," said Pamic.

As Hillier took the stage, he targeted the Liberals from the beginning.

"They [Liberals] have different thoughts than I do," said Hillier, who praised Morewood and its surrounding area. "Things are a little bit different here."

Hillier didn't speak long and he soon turned the floor over to Hudak, who travelled to Morewood from a conference at Parliament Hill regarding the $1-billion eHealth Ontario scandal.

"Only 719 days until the defeat of Dalton and the Liberals," said Hudak, which received a roar of applause and a standing ovation from those in attendance, as he reminded the crowd of the next Ontario general election in 2011.

Hudak praised the "hard-working" farmers of the local area and criticized the "$1-billion boondoggle," surrounding eHealth.

"[You all] are justifiably angry," said Hudak.

Hudak promised the crowd that a full public inquiry will be pursued and those responsible will be "held accountable," and said criminal charges are possible.

The public was invited to enjoy local produce, meats, cheeses, wines, and beer, all of which came from businesses within the local area.

New medical office to open autumn 2010?

by Amanda Smith-Millar
Press staff

WINCHESTER — In a move to centralize family health care in the local area, four doctors have decided to join forces and work at the to-be-constructed medical clinic in Winchester.

Doctors could form Family Health Team

Council gave its blessing to a zoning amendment on Tues., Oct. 13 at a regular Township of North Dundas council meeting.

The politicians' approval means builder Al Racine can start to work on the medical clinic, which will be located just northwest of the Winchester Curling Club on Main Street.

"We're essentially moving four doctors into one bigger building," said Dr. Bart Steele in a telephone interview with the Winchester Press.

Steele said he's scheduled to work with Dr. Teisha Legault, Dr. Vikas Bhagirath, and Dr. Martin Racine (no relation to the builder) at the new facility.

Steele explained that when it comes to the size of the new facility, there are two options on the table.

In the first scenario, the structure will be about 5,000 square feet, with room for six doctors. The extra space, Steele explained, would allow two more medical professionals to set up shop immediately if they wanted to start practising in Winchester.

"They can walk in," said Steele. "It's already running — all they have to do is sign a roster of patients up."

Steele added that a recent Township of North Dundas plan to attract a doctor who was both a general practitioner and anaesthetist to the Winchester area was unsuccessful, partly because the prospective recruit had nowhere to practise full-time.

In the second scenario, said Steele, the Ontario Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care will allow the doctors to form a Family Health Team (FHT).

Lights out at next year's popular yuletide parade

by Amanda Smith-Millar
Press staff

WINCHESTER — The 2009 North Dundas Country Christmas Parade of Lights on Sat., Dec. 5 will be the last one for a while — and perhaps ever.

Daytime event returns Christmas 2010

The Winchester parade will switch back to being a daytime event in 2010 because volunteer organizers think it's time for a change, Township of North Dundas recreation director Mark Guy told council during a Tues., Oct. 13 meeting.

"They would like to see a day parade again," said Guy.

Only a month ago, the Parade of Lights was in jeopardy of being cancelled. Many long-time volunteers had "retired" from organizing the popular parade that has become a favourite local yuletide event.

Eventually, new helpers did come to the rescue, but wanted the event to revert back to the daytime format used before the evening Parade of Lights was launched 13 years ago.

Sheila McDonald said she and her fellow co-ordinators plan to organize a winter carnival with the parade in 2010 to make a full day of "old-fashioned Christmas" fun for families.

Winchester clinic

Steele said the FHT designation would allow the group to qualify for extra funding to hire up to eight paramedical professionals, such as nurse practitioners, psychologists, and dieticians. The building will also be larger in size.

"If we don't [get FHT status] it'll be about 5,000 square feet," said Steele.

Currently, Dr. Legault and Dr. Bhagirath take one shift each per week at a small clinic in Chesterville. They'll likely stop doing so when the new Winchester clinic is built, said Steele. That means the Chesterville clinic would be open for another family doctor to use.

Steele explained that while local family doctors have tried moving from place to place throughout the week to serve clients, it isn't efficient.

"We have tried this decentralized model," said Steele. "Doctors want to work in groups."

Construction is scheduled to start in spring of 2010. The move-in day should happen later that fall.

"Developers will be paying to build it, and we will be leasing it from them," said Steele. "We've gone through a process of tendering for this building."

This map shows the proposed medical clinic site. Vehicles would come into the area through a Main Street entrance.

During the Oct. 13 zoning amendment meeting at council, residents raised two concerns — the importance of proper drainage, and the need to drop the speed limit outside the future Main Street entrance down from 60 kilometres per hour. Nobody said they were opposed to the project.

Two SD buildings on chopping block

by Matthew Uhrig
Press staff

WILLIAMSBURG — In an effort to help the Township of South Dundas shed some municipally owned buildings, members of council have decided to get rid of two structures.

At a special meeting on Tues., Oct. 13, the politicians concluded that the need to keep Stampville Centre and the parks building in Morrisburg (home to the township's branch of the Dundas County Food Bank) would be thoroughly reviewed. Most likely, the township will no longer own the two facilities in the near future.

According to the councillors, both structures require serious repairs.

"We have to have some kind of principle [determining] which buildings we need and buildings we don't," said Deputy-Mayor Steven Byvelds.

Mayor Robert "Rowdy" Gillard agreed with Byvelds' assertion, but said the groups and committees using the buildings will need a new home.

"Some buildings definitely have to go," said Gillard. "[But] we have to make sure we have a place for these people."

Byvelds suggested the politicians use the fall months to "figure out what we should be doing with certain buildings."

The township has plans to pursue building assessments on more than 15 publicly owned structures in order to determine which ones should repaired or sold.

Other buildings under review include the municipal offices and library in Williamsburg, the Dunbar Recreational Centre, the Winchester Springs Hall, the Riverside Heights Recreation Centre, the current justice building and old high school in Morrisburg, the Iroquois Civic Centre, Matilda Hall in Dixons Corners, the Carman Museum in Iroquois, and other accessory buildings throughout the township.

The politicians talked about health-related issues, including poor maintenance and upkeep of the facility, as well as mould, within the Winchester Springs Hall. They decided that the recreational group that uses the hall should talk with council and determine an outcome for the building.

"We've all been in it," said Gillard, acknowledging that the structure is becoming increasingly unsafe for those inside.

Other recreational groups also operate in Dunbar, South and North Williamsburg, and Iroquois. They will meet with council as well to discuss their use of certain buildings.

Councillor Delbert Jones said he feared the community groups might feel like "we're dumping them," but nevertheless agreed to move ahead with notifying the groups about what needs to be done.

For now, the politicians have directed township staff to approach food bank representatives and the other groups to find each of them a new home.

The buildings may be sold for a nominal fee to the groups using them, or the structures could be destroyed.

Major Christmas festival planned for future

More people, she said, are likely to come out if it's during the day.

"I think people are thirsty for a fun daytime parade," she said. "You want to have it at a time when [kids] are awake, and they're not cranky, and they're not freezing."

She added that many villages have nighttime parades nowadays, so Winchester's event isn't as unusual.

McDonald said she would eventually like to see a weekend-long festival that would draw tourists to the region and become an essential part of every local family's Christmas tradition.

"What we want to 'sell' is Christmas spirit — country Christmas spirit," said McDonald. "I think the city people will flock to Winchester for it."

Plans for the larger festival would include a hay maze, little kids' train ride (which is also on the schedule for this year), a large Christmas tree at the corner, Santa, a vendors' fair at the arena, choirs, concessions, ice sculpting, carolling by church groups, live music, stories for the children, kids' activities, and crafts at Old Town Hall. McDonald said it would be nice if there were character actors walking around the streets, wagon rides, an outdoor theatre production, poetry reading, lots of Christmas stuff in the stores, hot chocolate out on the streets, and a house-decorating competition.

McDonald is a strong supporter of the proposed Upper Canada Region marketing strategy. Back in May, Township of South Dundas economic development officer Linda Wilson and South Stormont CAO and clerk Betty de Haan made a presentation at North Dundas council, asking for support for a marketing plan that would promote the entire local region as "Upper Canada", incorporating Upper Canada Village, the Morrisburg waterfront, and other local attractions the townships have to offer.

Council has yet to formally support the project, but McDonald thinks it would be great if North Dundas adopted the Upper Canada Region marketing strategy. She'd like the Christmas parade and carnival to be called the Upper Canada Christmas Festival. This would tie in to McDonald's other plans for the area, which include a rodeo planned for June (she wants to call it the Upper Canada Rodeo) that would help fund a YMCA pool in the area.

Volunteers needed for 2009 parade

WINCHESTER — The 2009 edition of the North Dundas Country Christmas Parade of Lights will be the last one to be presented after sundown.

Beginning next year the parade will roll in the daylight as part of a winter celebration to be held in Winchester.

Meaghan Elder, the North Dundas community development programmer, reported Winchester resident Gina Welsh, who headed up the village's annual Dairyfest celebration, has agreed to chair the final parade of lights.

Elder also told the Press that Chamber of Commerce president Owen Shortt has made revisions to the parade registration forms.

They will soon be sent out and will also be available on the township's website. Elder also explained that more information about the day's events will be available in a brochure to be mailed out in mid-November.

"We have booked a toy train for the kids," she said. "It will run on the paths at the 100 Club Community Park from 10 am until 4 pm on the day of the parade."

Elder said that the program is taking shape and several new attractions will be presented.

"The Cornwall Nativity Guard band has confirmed they will be in the parade," she said.

More volunteers are needed and the public is invited to attend the next organizational meeting at Mary's Restaurant on Thurs., Nov. 5 at 7:30 am.

For more parade information, contact Elder at melder@northdundas.com or by calling the township at 613-774-2105.

Subdivision for PDH Healthcare?

WINCHESTER — PDH Healthcare — the company that aims to build either a nursing home or retirement residence along Ottawa Street in Winchester — has bigger plans for the property.

PDH has submitted a zoning amendment application to the Township of North Dundas to construct a subdivision on the remaining 10 acres not being used for the institution.

Calvin Pol, director of planning and enforcement for the township, broke the news to council during a regular meeting on Tues., Oct. 13.

PDH will require a new zoning amendment to continue with its plans.

Back in July, council gave PDH's project the go-ahead when the politicians rezoned the land to allow the construction of a nursing or retirement home.

No further details were available as of press time.

Council notes from North Dundas

Cell phone tower

Rogers Wireless wants to build a cell phone tower roughly 400 metres south of County Road 43 on County Road 7, just south of Chesterville.

"The intent is to service Chesterville with cell phone and wireless internet services," said Pol during an interview with the Winchester Press.

However, Pol had some misgivings about the tower's location. "They're building it very close to the roadway," he said, adding that if ice flew off the tower during the winter, it could hit a car on the road below.

At the meeting, council decided to send comments to Industry Canada, indicating that the tower would be too close to the road and should be moved back.

Dog licences

The Township of North Dundas is going door-to-door to register pooches.

Dogs in North Dundas are, under the canine control bylaw, required to have a licence that needs to be renewed every year.

"If the dog's lost, we can get it to you," explained Pol.

He added that the door-to-door service is popular because people can get the tags at home without any delay. The township typically canvasses once every two years as a service to taxpayers. Registration costs $15, or $20 if the animal isn't neutered or spayed. Payment with either cash or cheque is acceptable.

Cats are not required to be licensed in North Dundas.

No advertising on e-sign

Recreation director Mark Guy said he'd received some requests from businesses asking if they could advertise on the new electronic billboard outside the Winchester Arena.

After some consideration, council decided not to allow advertising. A few politicians mentioned it might be too crowded, and that there were too many bits of information on the board already.

"I think it should be mainly recreation-type things," said Deputy-Mayor Estella Rose.

Water-sewer debate

Council had a discussion about where funding should come from in order to pay for three water and sewer-related projects: the Chesterville sewage lagoon, the Winchester-Chesterville water transmission main project, and cathodic protection on existing water pipes.

Assistant administrator Angela Rutley presented council with multiple options in order to get them thinking about the major decision.

The politicians debated between having user fees cover the infrastructure work, splitting the bill between user fees and the township, or using the interest from the old hydro reserve fund. (When Hydro One bought North Dundas Hydro, which only served Chesterville and Winchester, for about $4 million in 2001, the township was left with a special reserve fund.)

Councillors also discussed potentially paying for the project using the fund itself — not just the interest.

No decision was made because the discussion was preliminary, and council will address the issue at a future meeting.

Drinking water rules

Council approved an operational plan for the Drinking Water Quality Management System, which lists the township's rules and regulations that aim to ensure everyone has safe water to drink in the township.

The plan needs to be submitted to the Ministry of the Environment by Nov. 1.

Ground-breaking ceremony

Construction on the dilapidated Belmeade Road is underway. The road, located at the border of the Township of North Dundas and the City of Ottawa, received two-thirds of the money needed for reconstruction through federal-provincial stimulus funding. The remaining one-third — which came out to $833,133 — was split between the township and the city. A formal ground-breaking ceremony took place on Tues., Oct. 13. Pictured are: Alvin Runnalls, mayor of the Township of North Dundas (left); Guy Lauzon, MP for Stormont, Dundas, and South Glengarry (SD&SG); Jim Brownell, MPP for SD&SG; Estella Rose, deputy-mayor for the Township of North Dundas; Doug Thompson, councillor for the City of Ottawa; and Pierre Poilievre, MP for Nepean-Carleton.

Panther Prowl hunts down $4,000 for CHEO Foundation

METCALFE — Osgoode Township High School (OTHS) students went on a Panther Prowl on Thurs., Oct. 15 to raise money for the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario (CHEO).

More than 160 students participated in the three or five-kilometre walk/run, collecting $4,000 in sponsorship from the community. Intermediate students from nearby Castor Valley Elementary School also participated.

"We are tremendously proud of our students and their enthusiastic participation on behalf of CHEO," said Brett Reynolds, OTHS principal. "Our leadership class, under the guidance of teacher Russell Catt, did an outstanding job of organizing the event and ensuring great participation."

Top student fundraiser for the Panther Prowl was Grade 9 student Bryana Singhal at $1,030.

On hand to receive the donation on behalf of the CHEO Foundation was Norma Lamont, the hospital's vice-president of community development.

OTHS PROWL

"It is because of the wonderful efforts of caring communities like the one at OTHS that we are able to make a difference," said Lamont at the wrap-up assembly. "Thank you so much for your support."

Through its Community Involvement Program, staff from the Scotiabank in Russell also lent their support by sponsoring the event and treating the students to a barbecue for an additional total donation of $2,000.

Linda Hendrikx, customer service manager, and Lynn Ladouceur, customer representative, volunteered their time to serve food and drinks to the hungry Panthers.

On hand to acknowledge and thank the students was City of Ottawa Councillor Doug Thompson, who represents Osgoode Ward.

This was the sixth annual, and most successful, Osgoode Township High School Panther Prowl. The event has raised more than $16,000 since its inception.

The panther is the school's official mascot. To learn more about the many events and programs happening at OTHS, visit www.othspanthers.ca.

WDMH bringing chemo into home

WINCHESTER — The new Chemotherapy Home Infusion Pump Program (CHIPP) at Winchester District Memorial Hospital (WDMH) is bringing additional chemotherapy treatments closer to home for local residents.

In fact, it's bringing treatments right to their homes.

CHIPP is a partnership between WDMH, The Ottawa Hospital Cancer Centre, and the Champlain Community Care Access Centre (CCAC). It allows patients with cancer to receive some of their chemotherapy treatments in their own home instead of in a hospital.

Patients wear a special device that delivers chemotherapy automatically.

"Past patients in the Winchester area who have been on the CHIPP program have had to go to The Ottawa Hospital Cancer Centre's Chemotherapy Unit to initiate their treatments," explained Linda Johnson, WDMH's nurse navigator for the cancer program. "This work can now be done at WDMH in the Brian Hough Chemotherapy Unit."

The CHIPP program also involves agencies providing care in the home and community pharmacists.

A sweet donation

Saluting small businesses

What does sustainable development mean to you?

For many people, it's a policy that — if followed — will produce a place where we can live, work, and play. A community where children can go to school while their parents work at a decent-paying job nearby; where there are enough recreational and entertainment activities to keep us healthy and busy; where we can buy groceries, toiletries, clothes, and other essential supplies without having to drive elsewhere.

To achieve this dream, we need a strong local economy.

And if we want the local economy to stay healthy and grow, then consumers need to open up their wallets and support small businesses in the region.

Right now, we're in the middle of Small Business Week, which runs from Sun., Oct. 18 to Sat., Oct. 24 this year.

A small business technically has fewer than 100 employees. By that definition, the majority of our local economy is comprised of businesses that are very small indeed.

We're lucky to have the businesses we do in the region. Despite our small population, we can still buy all our essentials and more without driving to the Ottawa area or Cornwall.

However, if our local businesses are to remain viable we need to "vote" for them with our dollars and keep them open to provide the goods and services necessary to keep our rural communities going.

Small businesses often subsist on small profit margins, and it takes a lot of courage, hard work, and intelligence to run a successful company in rural Ontario.

Despite the obstacles, many of our local shops and service providers have been open for decades. In addition, they continue to support all sorts of community activities, from sports teams to parades and charities.

Thanking the businesses by choosing to shop locally really does make a difference — and your support is appreciated.

Taking out the trash

Members of the Mountain and District Lions Club spent the morning of Sat., Oct. 17 picking garbage out of the ditches on County Road 1 between County Road 43 and the village of Mountain. Throughout the year, the club does two cleaning sessions — one in the spring and another in the fall — as part of the group's involvement with the Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry (SD&G) Adopt A Road program.

Remember when...

The weekly Beauty for You column advised that beautiful arms are among the most effective weapons of any woman's battery of beauty. Among the helpful hints on arm care and grooming was the suggestion that women with angular arms try massaging them with turtle oil every night.

1949

The Picadilly Theatre in Williamsburg was showing a double feature of Mexican Hayride, starring Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, followed by He Walked By Night, starring Roy Roberts and Scott Brady.

1959

A central high school serving the North Dundas district was moving closer to becoming a reality. The project received unanimous support from the all-district council and the high school board at a special meeting held in Chesterville. The estimated cost of the school was $650,000.

1969

Both Winchester and Chesterville were embarking on extensive sewage programs when both villages learned that provincial funding was available. The Ontario minister of energy and resources said that provincial assistance will be offered to sewage works so that the charges against the average home would not exceed $120 a year.

1979

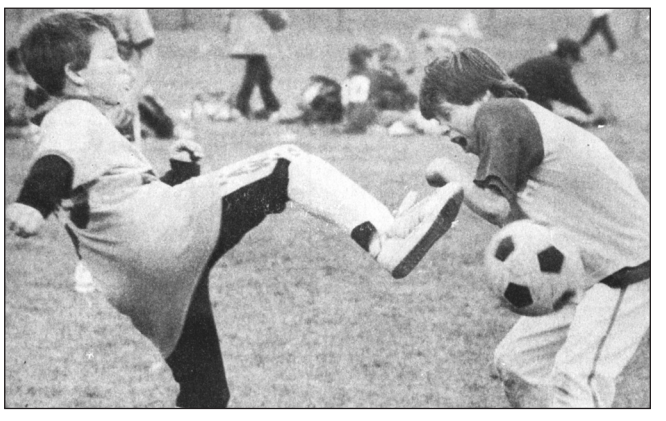
The Winchester Press reported this week that the town councillors had become so used to talking about a lack of water in village wells, that when the subject of too much water came up at a recent council meeting, the politicians were shocked. It was also the suspicion of some councillors that sewage backup after a recent downpour was due to citizens illegally using sump pumps.

1989

The chairman of the Winchester Parks and Recreation Committee decided this week that it was time to clamp down on underage drinking. The plan was to beef up security, making it more difficult for people under 19 to get drinks at weddings and sports banquets at the community centre.

1999

A routine traffic check by Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry (SD&G) OPP led to the arrest of two local men who were in possession of stolen property. The stolen goods included a number of vehicle doors and several other car parts. The pieces were taken during a number of recent vehicle thefts. As many as 39 missing vehicles were reported in areas patrolled by the OPP and the Ottawa-Carleton Regional Police, as well as some from Quebec.



In soccer action during the 1989 Dundas County championships, a Chesterville Public School attacker (right) narrowly missed being creamed by the ball after it was booted by an Inkerman Public School Rocket. Chesterville went on to defeat the Rockets 6-1, but fell to Morrisburg 3-2 in the semi-finals.

NDDHS Halloween dance Oct. 29

MAPLE RIDGE — As the end of October draws closer, the North Dundas District High School (NDDHS) student council plans to have a dance associated with a season-appropriate theme. Everyone is to get out their costumes, for on Thurs., Oct. 29, there is a Halloween-theme dance at NDDHS.

Continuing with the Halloween spirit, the day after — Fri., Oct. 30 — will bring with it a Halloween Spirit day. Students are encouraged to come dressed in their Halloween attire. The last spirit day, Monochromatic Day, which was held on the Fri., Oct. 9, was quite successful.

NDDHS Notes

by James Casselman

The same amount of participation is hoped for on the Halloween spirit day.

Recent parent-teacher interviews gave parents and guardians the ability to meet the teachers of their children. It was at this time that the 2009-2010 school clothing made its debut. It's on sale until Tues., Oct. 27.

Before Thanksgiving, the school collected canned food for families in need through a food drive.

In the end, around 1,400 pounds of canned food were collected.

Although the event itself is months away, planning for the annual Christmas concert is underway. The earlier the planning starts, the more successful the show will be.

Intramurals continue at North Dundas, with volleyball as the activity. Students make their own teams, but achieve points for their gender for participation.

The gender competition continues, and the girls are now beating the boys by about 200 points.

SHEPHERD TALK

by Rev. Paula Gadbois

Giving thanks, all year

Have you ever stopped somewhere along in your day and noticed the differences between the generations of people? When I was growing up, from a very early age, my parents taught me two very important words: please and thank you. You don't hear these words too often today. We pretty much live for ourselves, and the rest is just taken for granted.

The first recorded Thanksgiving in history took place in 1621. The Plymouth colonists and Wampanoag people shared an autumn harvest feast, which is acknowledged today as one of the first Thanksgiving celebrations in the colonies.

Jewish families have also celebrated a harvest festival called Sukkoth. Taking place each autumn, Sukkoth has been celebrated for more than 3,000 years. Also known as the Feast of the Tabernacles or the Feast of Ingathering, this time of thanksgiving lasts for about eight days. The Jewish people built small huts of branches, which recalled the tabernacles of their ancestors. Inside these huts hung fruits and vegetables, including apples, grapes, corn, and pomegranates. On the first two nights of Sukkoth, the families ate their meals in the huts under the evening sky. Thanksgiving was offered up for all the blessings that Jehovah had brought them.

In times past, families gathered together, coming from far and near, to celebrate with a bountiful feast. Setting aside time to pause and give thanks to God for all His provisions through the year and for future days ahead. Is this the picture of Thanksgiving today? Today, it's just thought of as the day which we celebrated last week. It is more about the football game on TV, wild parties with drinking, no more times spent around the table with family and friends, and — unfortunately for some people who don't realize the consequences — leaving home in a state of intoxication. The last thing on anyone's mind is God or giving thanks.

In Psalms 136:3, the Psalmist David writes, "Give thanks unto the Lord of lords, for his loving-kindness [endures] forever."

I would encourage everyone to take time out to go back to the beginning and give thanks. Not just during the harvest season, but all year, every year.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Toronto resident impressed with Winchester spirit

The Editor:

I just read Christina Blizzard's recent column in Sun Media about Winchester cancer patient Pat Holmes and the response of the members of your community to help pay for her expensive Avastin treatments.

It goes without saying that most sensible Ontarians view eHealth, ex-Minister of Health and Long-Term Care David Caplan, and the pack of self-serving "consultants" with the same distaste reserved for the dropping of a stray animal on one's lawn.

However, to read about your community's response to the plight of one of its members is truly inspiring.

It makes it just a bit easier to swallow the rubbish and nonsense that is presented daily to "we the people" who pay the bill.

The people of your community are a credit to it and serve as a silent testimony to what the term "community" means.

I have no doubt that such spirit exists in many corners of this province but Winchester has put a name and face to this spirit.

I salute your people and your community.

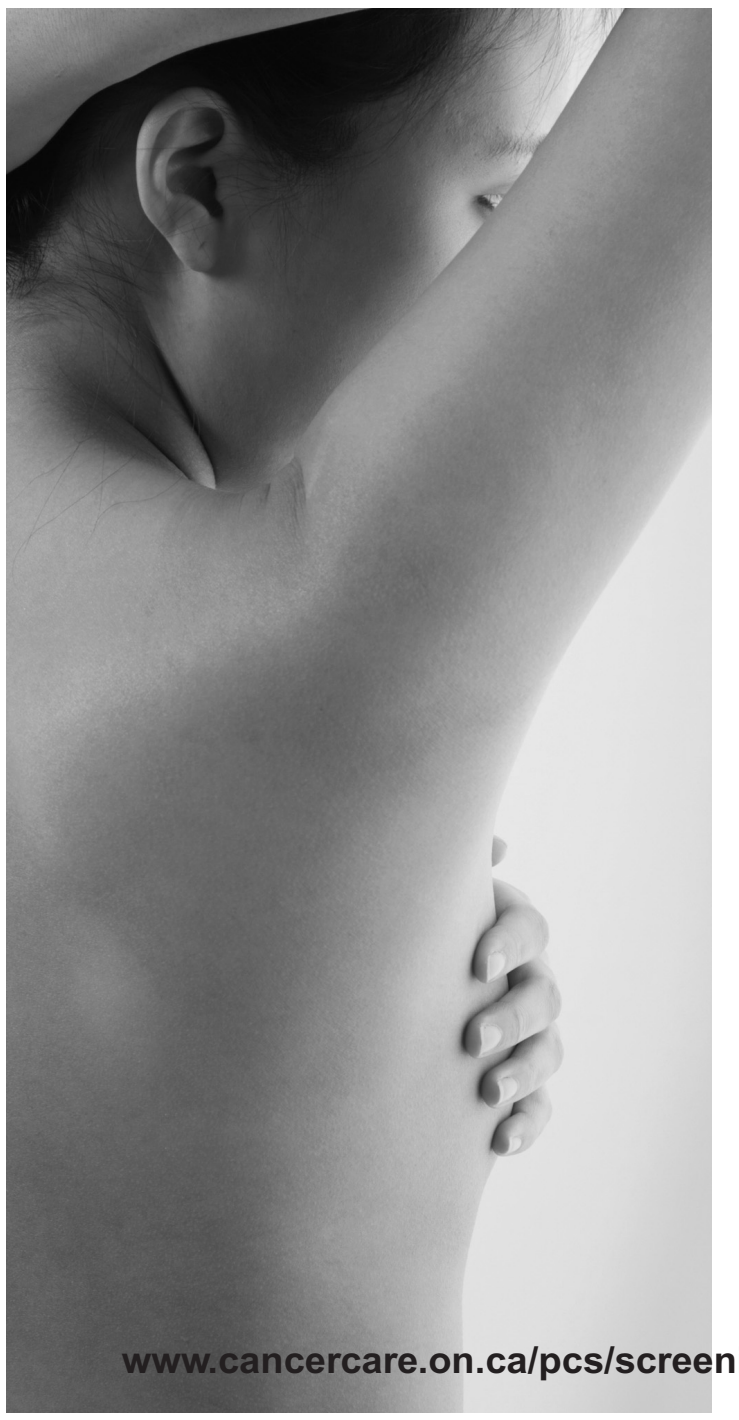
October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Early Detection Empowers



Breast screening is the regular examination of a woman's breasts to find breast cancer early. It includes mammography (breast x-ray) and a physical examination of the breasts by a physician or a nurse. Breast screening saves lives! Between 1989 and 2004, Breast Cancer mortality rates in Ontario women aged 50-69 decreased by 33% due to improved cancer treatments and increased participation in breast screening.

Regular breast screening can find cancer when it is small, which means:

- There is a better chance of treating the cancer successfully;
- It is less likely to spread;
- There may be more treatment options; and
- Finding cancer early is important. Breast screening and better treatments are helping to reduce deaths from cancer.

Ontario women can receive a screening mammogram in one of two ways: through the Ontario Breast Screening Program (OBSP) or through stand-alone OHIP funded clinics.

Easement agreements will protect four natural heritage lands in SD&G

FINCH — Lincoln M. Alexander, chairman of the Ontario Heritage Trust; Donna Cansfield, natural resources minister; and Aileen Carroll, culture minister, have announced four natural heritage conservation easement agreements to protect significant heritage lands in the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry (SD&G).

"These properties in Eastern Ontario will now be preserved for the future," said Alexander.

The conservation easements aim to ensure the protection of four properties acquired by South Nation Conservation (SNC) through the Ontario Heritage Trust's Natural Spaces Land Acquisition and Stewardship Program. The properties represent a total of 416 hectares (1,035 acres).

"These forests and wetlands not only provide habitat for many species, but also help keep our air and water clean and fight climate change," said Cansfield.

Two of the properties are part of a large block of public land that includes a significant area of forest and wetland habitat known as the Warwick Demonstration Forest, and they contain part of the North Stormont (Finch) Recreational Trail. Another of the properties forms part of the Newington Bog, a Provincially Significant Wetland. The fourth property is the site of the Two Creeks Forest Recreation Trail and contributes to a block of forest and wetland containing the headwaters of the Doran's Creek Marsh, a Provincially Significant Coastal Wetland adjacent to the St. Lawrence River. The protection of these properties will preserve wildlife habitats and wetlands.

Nearly half of the funding for the acquisition of these properties was provided through the Natural Spaces Land Acquisition and Stewardship Program. The program supports the acquisition of natural heritage lands, which the Ontario Heritage Trust may hold directly or protect through natural heritage conservation easements. It also supports land stewardship activities on newly acquired lands.

"Eastern Ontario will undergo significant development over the next few decades," said Dennis O'Grady, general manager of SNC. "This acquisition will help achieve the goal of 30 per cent forest cover in this part of Eastern Ontario, which is recommended as the minimum to sustain a healthy ecosystem."

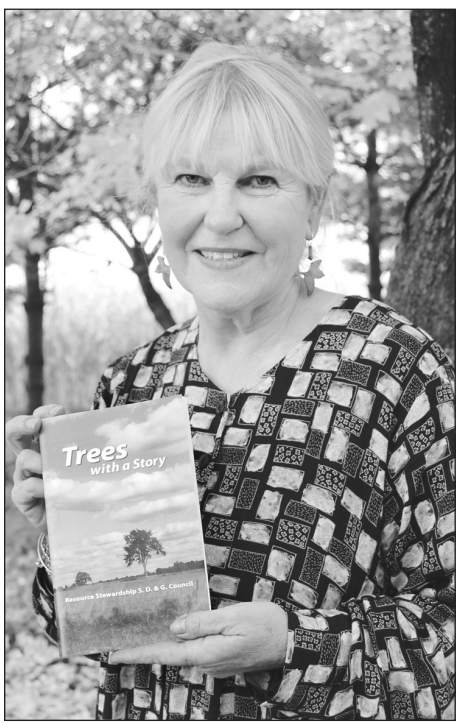
These trees have a story to tell



Here's the story

Chesterville-area resident Jo Saunders recently co-ordinated the publication of a pamphlet called "Trees with a Story."

CHESTERVILLE — Do trees have a tale to tell?

Chesterville resident Jo Saunders thinks they do.

So do local contributors who wrote 24 pieces in the recently published booklet, "Trees With A Story."

Saunders — the editor of the publication — asked people to write short stories about a tree that they loved.

"The trees described in this booklet have touched the hearts and minds of the authors," Saunders wrote in the forward of the publication. "It is our belief that they will also touch the hearts and minds of the readers. And thus, it is our hope that many others will be inspired to continue to enhance and protect the life and health of our urban and rural forests."

From the tale teacher Kim Henbest and Chesterville Public School students submitted about an inspiring old oak tree on school property, to the story of a spruce in Williamsburg that James Gow planted for his mother in 1925 before heading out west, the booklet suggests that trees do, indeed, have something to say.

All the trees mentioned in the publication live or have lived in the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry (SD&G).

Many contributors gathered for an opening ceremony at Saunders' house on Thurs., Oct. 15. The writers were given an orange slip of paper with an excerpt from their submission and were asked to read it aloud.

At the end of the event, the group sang the song, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" while Saunders played the accompaniment on piano. The guests were invited to munch on some "nibblies" that, naturally, all had a "tree connection." (Everything either contained nuts or some tree by-product. The only stretch was the cheese; Saunders suggested that a cow must have lain beneath a tree at some point and enjoyed the shade while producing its milk.)

Support for the project also came from Grinning Gecko Design, TD Friends of the Environment Foundation, and the Resource Stewardship of SD&G Council.

Copies of the publication are available for $5. To get a booklet, contact Jim Hendry of the resource stewardship at jim.hendry@mnr.gov.on.ca or 613-933-7671. All proceeds will go toward the Ministry of Natural Resources' Roadside Tree Project.

Project Greenman video in the works

WINCHESTER — An educational project that has sent seeds to the peak of Mount Everest and the depths of the Atlantic Ocean may soon make it to the big screen.

Project Greenman, the brainchild of Winchester Public School educational assistant Jeff Arsenault, will be the subject of a short film created by Vancouver-based producer-director C.J. Wallis. The video, which Arsenault hopes to circulate at commercial theatres as well as on the net, will discuss the history of seed preservation and then link it to the Project Greenman initiative, which seeks to grow an interest in gardening among Canada's youth.

Wallis is the director of two independent films — the 2006 production Circumference about a man's struggle with a failed marriage, and the 2009 production Last Flowers about an author dealing with rejection who finds solace by sneaking into funerals as a bizarre form of self-help therapy.

Wallis was interested in helping the Greenman project because he believes in the cause, the director said in an e-mail. He was also pleased with Arsenault's work ethic and all the extra hours he puts in to keep Project Greenman growing.

Vancouver producer finds Arsenault's cause compelling

The director said he was impressed by the images associated with the project such as the Greenman "secret agents" used to market the initiative — children dressed in dark suits, with bright green ties, secret agent sunglasses, and secret service-style earpieces.

The three-minute video will talk about the history of seed preservation and gardening. It will begin with an animated section on Columbus and how he imported tomatoes to the Spanish court after discovering them on his travels to the new world in 1493. It will move on to discuss seed preservation by the Soviets during the Second World War, and provide information on the Greenman team, which is promoting the preservation of seeds by encouraging children to garden.

The idea behind the piece is to show students that seeds and gardening have been important to people for centuries, and that by adopting gardening as a pastime they are carrying on a tradition that is not only a great hobby, but teaches self-sufficiency. It also contributes to the preservation of diverse varieties of flowers, vegetables and other plants, he said.

"The video will be fantastic because it gives me another tool that I can use to promote gardening," said Arsenault. "We can use it to create hype about gardening."

This is Arsenault's latest initiative through Project Greenman. In the spring of 2008, he sent seeds to the top of Mount Everest with a climbing team. The idea was to see how the seeds were affected by exposure to high altitudes. When the seeds returned, he distributed them to children in the Winchester, Cornwall and Morrisburg area, as well as to schools in the United States. The students were then asked to take part in a massive science experiment by growing the sunflower seeds and reporting any unnatural growth of the plants that resulted.

He has sent seeds to the ocean depths on a Canadian submarine, and hopes to send seeds beyond the earth's atmosphere as part of the first commercial space flight on Virgin Galactic.

The video project should be finished within the coming weeks.

The coffee and dessert bar will be open one hour before showtime, offering special treats such as pumpkin tart with whipped cream and victorian cheesecake, as well as drinks such as mochaccino and hot apple cider.

The cabaret includes the one-act play Worth It written by local playwright Moira Law. The DCP is sending the play on to compete at the Eastern Ontario Drama League 2009 One-Act Festival in Perth this November.

Art in the country

Studio tour winds through Dundas County

by Matthew Uhrig

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Twenty-five artists were working at 11 different stops on the 16th annual On Common Ground Studio Tour.

The event took place over the weekend of Sat., Oct. 17 and Sun., Oct. 18.

The route was marked on side roads along County Road 1 between Mountain and Hainesville, with one stop east of Hallville on County Road 43.

South Mountain-based pottery artist Debbie Gilmer opened up her home for the tour and invited others to display their work alongside her.

Gilmer, along with Steve and Karen Henderson, Lisa Blais, Ewanna Gallo, and Loretta Moore displayed their art (and skills) for guests.

"We wanted to make this stop 'one of a kind'," said Gilmer.

The Hendersons' art consists of recycled pieces of agricultural elements (old tractor seats, tools, and more) transformed into furnishings for homes and gardens.

"This is part of my living now," said Steve, who used to be a full-time dairy farmer. However, he said he quit because the lifestyle was too stressful.

Gallo said her work on display was inspired by the death of her brother.

"He loved nature," said Gallo of the ink paintings depicting the outdoors in honour of her brother's passion for "living in the moment."

The On Common Ground Studio Tour took place over the weekend of Sat., Oct. 17 and Sun., Oct. 18. Debbie Gilmer (left) showed guests how to prepare clay.

Exceptional variety of artistic talent along route

"[The paintings] were a healing journey for me," said Gallo.

Blais also found her inspiration in the darker side of life.

In 2004, she was diagnosed with breast cancer, and once again began painting full-time, 25 years after studying the art at the University of Ottawa.

"I love the colour," said Blais. "It's really fun."

Moore, a rug hooker, said she enjoys getting people "hooked" on her artistic passion. "I love to demonstrate rug hooking," she said, noting that she believes anyone can learn the art.

The five artists all said the weekend tour was a success, and guests saw a variety of styles of artwork throughout the region.

"Plus it [was] a weekend away from working on my house," said Moore.

One-of-a-kind walking bridge unveiled in Russell

Bridging the community

Members of the Russell and District Horticultural Society, residents of the village, and other guests packed into MacDougall Park for the unveiling of the new dry-stone bridge on Sat., Oct. 17. The bridge is only the fifth of its kind in Canada. Press Photo — Uhrig

RUSSELL — The newest edition to Russell's MacDougall Park won't be coming down anytime soon, according to those behind the project.

Only the fifth of its kind in Canada, the new dry-stone bridge spans 13 metres over the park's dry streambed, with a Roman arch of 3.7 metres in the middle.

"About 60 years ago, there was a drain pipe put in place, and the swale was filled in about three feet," said Lindley McPhail, president of the Russell and District Horticultural Society, as she explained how water from the Tweed Forest used to empty into the ditch the bridge spans.

The bridge was constructed by placing stone on top of stone, without any mortar to hold the structure in place.

"It will be here long after I am gone, and the stone needs no maintenance," said Cindy Cluett, a Russell landscape designer and member of the horticultural society.

The man leading the charge for its construction was John Shaw-Rimmington of Port Hope, along with Cluett.

The horticultural society, which manages the park, and the Lions Club of Russell both played a large part in fundraising for the $50,000 project. The Lions originally donated $5,000 in 2008 for the geotechnical survey that was administered in order to ensure the ground would support the bridge. Then, this past summer, the Lions donated another $40,000 to meet construction costs, including the stone drawn from a quarry in Madoc, Ont.

A path from nearby Craig Street is expected to be built by Russell Township, while many of the village's tradespeople offered their skills for free during the bridge's construction, and local suppliers provided equipment at cost.

The rest of the stone used on the bridge came from area farms, and the four large stones at the foot of both ends of the bridge were donated by village resident Bruce Hackett.

Hackett procured the stones in 1979 after they were removed from the registry office during remodelling. Since then, they have been stored at Hackett's home, until he offered them to the horticultural society.

For now, village residents and other guests can enjoy the one-of-a-kind structure for years to come.

Panthers pounce on North Dundas in SD&G high school volleyball play

MAPLE RIDGE — The visiting St. Joe's Panthers pounced on the North Dundas District High School Devils and clawed their way to five wins in six sets of SD&G boys high school volleyball league action.

North Dundas hosted St. Joe's and the Seaway District High School Spartans on their Maple Ridge hardwood last week (Thurs., Oct. 15), and both the host senior and junior squads finished the tournament with winning records.

Coach Cheryl Williams faced the senior Panthers with a short bench and less than a stellar effort from her charges.

"We lost two sets against St. Joe's (22-25, 23-25) because of inconsistent play. We could not get the blocks on their cross-court hits," explained the coach.

The Devils took the third set 25-14 and finished up with a 1-2 record against the Panthers.

The day finished on a positive note with a 3-0 (25-15, 25-23, 25-14) victory over the Seaway Spartans.

In their previous outing, the Devils defeated the Char-Lan Crusaders 2-1 (25-12, 24-26, 25-20) on Thurs., Oct. 8 in Williamstown.

"The boys were on fire in the first set. They were hitting everything and put up some amazing blocks," said the coach. "The second and third set were a different story. The bottom fell out. They lost their energy — where it went I don't know," she continued. "Thankfully they put things back together and won the third set."

Overall, the seniors' record stands at 16-5. Next game at NDDHS is set for Mon., Oct. 26.

Junior Devils

The North Dundas Junior Devils also opened their day with a match against St. Joe's and were swept 3-0 (25-18, 25-19, 25-20) but finished up sweeping the Seaway Spartans 3-0 (25-18, 25-17, 25-23).

Ian Wilson's squad whitewashed the host Char-Lan Crusaders 3-0 (25-10, 25-11, 25-8) on their own court in their preceding action.

"Will Fawcett served 13 points in a row in one set and Brandon Cousineau played his first set of the season, after recovering from a broken arm, and made some great spikes," said the coach.

The juniors' record stands a 16-5 with two tournaments to play before the playoffs.

Crusaders knock Devils back to 500

CORNWALL — An unusual twist in the 2009 SD&G senior girls high school basketball schedule took the North Dundas District High School Devils to Cornwall for a home game with the Char-Lan Crusaders.

The result of last week's (Oct. 13) road trip was a 49-24 loss to the Williamstown-based Crusaders who keyed on the Devils' "go-to player" Olivia Wouters and held her to a single bucket.

"I told the girls that they (Char-Lan) would double-team Olivia and they did," said coach Deanna Corbett-White. "They put two experienced seniors on Olivia and they were rough on her."

Corbett-White pointed out that Olivia, a Grade 10 student, has a lot of pressure on her playing as a first-year senior but battled hard against the older defenders.

"A lot of those girls (Char-Lan) are on travelling teams and play all year. Our girls start practicing when school begins in September," said the coach. "That's quite a difference in experience."

In spite of the end result, the coach felt the girls gained some valuable experience competing against veteran players and should be better prepared to meet the challenge when they play a rematch in Williamstown on Tues., Oct. 27.

Char-Lan led North Dundas 12-4 after eight minutes and 23-8 at the half and cruised to a 49-24 victory.

Point guard Lindsy Allen led the Devils' offence, swishing six points. Rebecca dePaiva, Kirsten Milne, Jenna Wouters and Rachel Saad all drained double buckets (four points). Olivia Wouters added a deuce and lifted her four-game point total to 45.

The coach acknowledged the effort and desire Allen and Milne put into the game.

"Lindsy and Kirsten never stopped. They worked hard the whole game. Overall the whole team played hard," she said.

This week (Fri., Oct 23) the Devils will host their Dundas County rivals from Iroquois — the Seaway Spartans — who will provide the opposition for a 1 pm tip-off.

McRae, Gibson power Bantam 'B' Demons offence

MAXVILLE — Mark McRae ripped in four and Patrick Gibson sniped three goals as the North Dundas Bantam "B" Demons bombarded the host Nor-Glen-Stor Braves 11-0.

Sunday's (Oct. 18) victory improved the Demons Upper Canada Minor Hockey League record to a perfect 3-0-0. The verdict was also the second time in as many games that goaltender Colin Giberson was perfect — he blanked the Perth Blue Wings 5-0 in his previous start (Wed., Oct. 14).

Tonight (Wed., Oct. 21), the Demons will welcome the North Leeds Stars to the Winchester Arena for a 7 pm tilt.

McRae scored four times and drew two assists for the winners. Gibson had the hat trick in a game the home team led 3-0 after a period and 7-0 after two stanzas. Mitchell Kirkwood (2), Aaron Burns and Nick Fleury (PPG) registered the other markers. Assists were booked by Dylan Comeau, Mason Steele, Fleury, Burns and Kirkwood.

Hay stacks pads, blanks Wolves, rips Rangers

Hay hot

Winchester Hawks rookie goaltender Ryan "00" Hay has posted back-to-back shutouts over the Akwesasne Wolves. The North Dundas Midget "B" Demons grad owns a record of 4-0-0, has allowed just four goals, and sports a GAA of 0.94. Press Photo — Van Bridger

WINCHESTER — Rookie goaltender Ryan Hay stretched his personal undefeated string to four games over the weekend, backing the Winchester Jr. "B" Hawks in a pair of Rideau - St. Lawrence Conference victories.

The North Dundas Midget "B" Demons graduate blanked the visiting Akwesasne Wolves 3-0 in Winchester on Friday (Oct. 16) and edged the South Grenville Rangers 2-1 in Prescott on Saturday night (Oct. 17).

Hay's stellar work enabled the Hawks to improve their record to 6-4-0 and move into a share of first-place in the St. Lawrence Division standings with the Casselman Vikings (5-2-1). Both teams have 12 points. They are being chased by the Alexandria Glens (4-2-3=11 pts), Morrisburg Lions (5-4-0=10 pts), Char-Lan Rebels (3-3-2=nine pts) and the Akwesasne Wolves (0-8-1=one pt).

Hawks head coach Paul Sheard told the Press that he was pleased with the weekend results but was quick to say, "It is nice but, we are not a first-place team — yet!"

"I don't like saying this all of the time — but, we are still a work in progress," added Sheard.

Hay got the start in both weekend games, replacing veteran Michael Hitesman who was nursing some minor bumps and bruises. Hay has now defeated the Wolves three times — 7-1, 2-0 and 3-0.

Two straight

The Winchester freshman made 33 saves in the Hawks' 3-0 win over Akwesasne. It was his second consecutive whitewashing of the Wolves following a 2-0 win on Cornwall Island on Sun., Oct. 11.

Veteran Alex Krumins netted his first goal (the winner) of the season finishing a power play set up by Graham Loyst and James Kirkwood at 16:10 of the second period.

Three rookies made it 2-0 when Ben Brayman (4) scored with help from Brandon Buma and Lance Hodgson 6:26 into period three.

Three wins in three days for Minor Midget Demons

North Dundas started out last week posting a 7-2 decision over the Panthers in Kemptville on Tuesday (Oct. 13). They followed up with 5-0 shutout over the NGS Braves in Maxville on Wednesday (Oct. 14) and finished the string by beating Kemptville 4-1 on home ice Thursday (Oct. 15).

WINCHESTER — Colin Giberson was perfect working the nets for the North Dundas Bantam "B" Demons who marked their 2009-2010 Upper Canada Minor Hockey League home opener posting a 5-0 win over the visiting Perth-Lanark Wings.

Giberson and his mates improved their record to 2-0-0, waxing the Wings 5-0 on home ice last week (Wed., Oct. 14). Next home date for the Demons is set for Wed., Nov. 11 when the Akwesasne Wolves will pay a visit.

Dylan Comeau netted what would prove to be the winning goal when he beat the Perth goaltender after taking a feed from Bryden VanKessel and Brett Bartholomew at 11:03 of period one.

Josh Hodgson made it 2-0 when he drilled in a long shot at the 6:56 mark of the same frame. Patrick Gibson and Bartholomew set up the play. The count went to 3-0 with 4:48 left in period one. Dayton Kelly fired the puck in off the Perth goal post to finish a power play set up by Comeau and Donnie Gamble.

Captain McLean nets winner, Flyers claim first victory

WINCHESTER — Captain Josh McLean used a pass provided by Trevor Gilmer as the ammunition for the game-winning goal in the Flyers' first victory of the Winchester Town Hockey League campaign — a 6-4 verdict over Heuff's Howlers.

The first half of the Tuesday night (Oct. 13) twin bill's second game was knotted at 1-1. It was still even at 4-4 with just 8:45 left on the clock when Captain "Champ" McLean roofed Gilmer's pass to make it 5-4. An unassisted marker by Nik Paas scored 1:20 before the final buzzer salted away the 6-4 win.

Paas (2-2-4) and Dean Moore (2-2-4) each collected four points for the Flyers, who improved to 1-1-1 and moved into a tie for second place with the Rockets. Gilmer (1-1-2), McLean (1-1-2), Matt VanDelst (0-2-2) and Jeff Pashak (0-1-1) also picked up points. Chris Currie posted the win.

Luykx leads Stylists to win

WINCHESTER — Christina Luykx did the scoring and goalie Lorie Casselman blocked the shots for the Double Beauty Stylists as they posted their first win of the 2009-2010 Winchester and District Ladies Hockey League season.

Luykx bagged a pair of late goals in the Stylists' 2-1 decision over Andy's Foodland Reds in the 10 am game on Sunday morning's (Oct. 18) triple bill.

The first half of the contest was scoreless, as Dominque Cavill (Reds) and Casselman proved to be unbeatable. The Reds hit the scoreboard first at 14:34 of the second session when Cheryle Canning cashed in a pass from Amy Darling and Jane Hendrikx.

Luykx tied it up with her first goal, which was set up by Robin Berends and Kelly Zeran with 7:34 left on the clock. Zeran figured in on the game winner when she provided Luykx with the pass.

Double Beauty improved to 1-2-0 and Andy's Foodland remained in sixth place with a 0-2-1 record.

Goalies Roxanne Backes (WS Trucking) and Kristie Wade (Cooper Physio) turned in flawless performances in the 9 am contest which finished in a scoreless tie. The point kept the Truckers (2-0-1) in first place. The Cooper Pinks (0-0-3) remained winless but also undefeated with the tie.

All tied up

Nancy Pothier took a feed from Sonia Clement and fired into the back of the Country Girls cage 5:58 before the final buzzer and gave the Annable's Jewellery Blues (1-1-1) a 3-3 tie with the Country Girls (1-0-2) in the opening game at 8 am.

Julie Drouin (from Sandra Cloutier at 19:51), Cloutier (unassisted at 10:45) and Nancy Nicolaassen (unassisted at 5:52) scored in that order to give the Girls a 3-1 first-half lead.

Clement (from Colette Moulton at 14:06) and Jen Manley (from Jennifer Wilson and Aline Smith at 13:24) netted the Blues' first-half markers.

Carrie McCadden (Blues) and Karina Domato (Girls) were the opposing goalies.

Atom Demons beat Bears 4-1

WINCHESTER — Cordell Steele slipped a pair of pucks into the back of the Smiths Falls Bears cage as the host North Dundas Atom House "C2" Demons posted a 4-1 victory.

The win came last week (Wed., Oct. 15) in the Demons 2009-2010 Upper Canada Minor Hockey League home opener.

Smiths Falls cashed in the first goal of the game with 9:19 left in period one but the Demons were quick to respond. Eric Armstrong tied it up 13 seconds later scoring on a play set up by Steele and Kody Anderson. Steele made it 2-1 connecting on a pass from Armstrong at 6:02 and Anderson opened up a 3-1 lead using a feed from Armstrong and Caleb Jaquemet with 32 seconds left in the period.

Steele made it a 4-1 final finishing an opportunity provided by linemates Armstrong and Anderson.

Saturday (Oct. 17) the Demons were in Kemptville where they absorbed a slim 1-0 loss to the "C2" Panthers. The home team put the winning goal in the books at 2:48 of period two.

"We dominated the game but the puck won't go in," offered Demons coach Doug Armstrong. "The kids had numerous chances."

In Memoriam

VILLENEUVE – In loving memory of a dear mother and mother-in-law, Mary, who passed away October 21, 2001.
In a quiet country graveyard
Where the gentle breezes blow,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
Whom we lost eight years ago.
Her resting place we visit,
And place flowers there with care,
But no one knows the sorrow,
As we turn and leave her there.
– Forever in our hearts, Terry, Doreen and Wayne

32

SIMZER – In memory of Lillian, who passed away October 23, 2008.
God took her home, it was His will
But in our hearts we love her still.
Her memory is as dear today,
As in the hour she passed away.
We often sit and think of her.
When we are all alone.
For her memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
– Forever in our hearts,
– Your loving children

32

GAYDA – In loving memory of a dear brother and uncle, Edward, who passed away October 20, 2008.
In a quiet country graveyard
Where the gentle breezes blow,
Lies the one we love so dearly,
But lost one year ago.
Your resting place we visit,
And put flowers there with care
But no one knows the heartache
As we turn and leave you there.
– Always remembered by Mary, Grant, Wanda, Darren and Justin

Playhouse spices up annual Christmas auction with laughs

MORRISBURG — It's that time of year again when the community comes out for one of its first big holiday events: the Annual Playhouse Christmas Gift Auction, set for Sat., Nov. 7 at the Morrisburg Meeting Centre.

The event, to be held in support of the Upper Canada Playhouse, will start off with cocktails and the silent auction at 5:30 pm. This year, the playhouse is making the evening more entertaining by including a 45-minute special show by popular comedian Lorne Elliott.

"We wanted to offer our patrons something new and different," said auction organizer Geraldine Fitzsimmons. "Treating them to a hilarious comedy act between the dinner and the live auction will certainly get the evening off to a lively start."

Elliott is a well-known comedian who has entertained audiences throughout Canada and internationally, and starred for 11 years in his own CBC comedy series, Madly Off In All Directions. He has performed at the playhouse in the past, and many people are looking forward to enjoying his brand of comedy again.

Many businesses, organizations, and individuals continue to make the auction successful by donating their products and services to this event. This year's auction will enable the playhouse to upgrade its box office and technology to better serve its growing audience.

The playhouse is also looking for businesses, organizations, and individuals interested in donating to this year's auction. Any gift provided entitles the donor to a tax receipt upon request, as well as recognition at the theatre. Both auction tickets and donor forms can be obtained by contacting the Upper Canada Playhouse at 613-543-3713 or at Cardinal Flowers, Morrisburg Plaza.

Golden Years report

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Golden Years Society meeting was held at the Winchester Lions' Hall on Thurs., Oct. 15.

President Dawn Campbell welcomed about 60 members and three guests.

Doris Cross played piano for the singing of "O Canada." The Lord's Prayer was said.

Campbell read the birthdays and anniversaries for October, and they were acknowledged by the members. Guests Grace Robinson, Iva Stewart, and Thelma Larocque were welcomed. The minutes were read, the treasurer's report was given, and the card, choral group, euchre, bus trip, and zone committees were heard from.

Members signed petitions to Stormont, Dundas, and South Glengarry MPP Jim Brownell pertaining to the harmonized sales tax.

Many poems were read and jokes were told throughout the meeting. Rev. John Martin said grace before a potluck lunch was enjoyed. Donnella MacIntosh introduced Lorraine Ford, who entertained the members with rousing piano music and singalong of old tunes. She received a gift basket in thanks.

Anyone interested in playing euchre should get in touch with Ray Robinson at 613-774-2134.

For information about joining the Winchester Golden Years Society, call Roberta Giberson at 613-774-4273.

SD&SG wins 'most patriotic' riding title

OTTAWA — MP Guy Lauzon has announced that the riding of Stormont, Dundas and South Glengarry (SD&SG) has won the title of most patriotic riding in Canada, now that the Proud to be Canadian Campaign challenge has wrapped up.

"A third of my colleagues took me up on my challenge," said Guy Lauzon on Fri., Oct. 2 in the House of Commons. "Because of this initiative, over 1.4 million Canadian flags are on display from coast to coast across Canada."

Mr. Lauzon congratulated both Ben Lobb, MP for Huron Bruce, who came in second, and Phil McColeman, MP for Brant, who finished third in the competition, which encouraged the public to display their Canadian flags with pride.

"Mr. Speaker, after five years of proudly representing the riding of SD&SG, I can truly confirm to this House that my constituents are definitely the most patriotic of all Canadians," said Lauzon.

Nomination deadline nears for Pride of Workmanship, Consumer Choice awards

CHESTERVILLE — The Chesterville Rotary Club is presenting its fifth annual Pride of Workmanship program in partnership with the North Dundas and South Dundas chambers of commerce, the Winchester Bank of Montreal, and MB Foster.

The program recognizes workers' contributions to the workplace, which have gone above and beyond the call of duty, be it acumen with a monkey wrench, troubleshooting on an assembly line, the development of a dynamic sales approach, or truly excellent service.

Employers in North and South Dundas are invited to nominate one employee who displays significant excellence on the job. The deadline for nominations is Mon., Oct. 26. For more information, please contact Mike Cassell at 613-448-2472.

The Consumer Choice Award continues this year. The general public can nominate a company, department within a company, or an individual that they feel delivered service above and beyond what they could reasonably expect. This award will allow smaller companies and individual proprietors to be recognized and larger companies to allow unsung and unrecognized heros to be found.

For further information about the program and nomination forms, check out www.chestervillerotaryclub.org.

Mexico church building celebrated at fall rally

by Leita Foster

BISHOPS MILLS — A presentation called "Building a Church in Vicente Guerrero, Mexico" by Melody Trolly took place at the Presbyterial Fall Rally on Tues., Oct. 6.

The group began the meeting by enjoying coffee and muffins, checking out the book room, and socializing.

The welcome started with music and a brief church history.

The worship was based on the theme, "celebrating the beginning of our new year after summer holidays."

The scripture reading was acts 2:43 to 47, followed by prayer and reflection.

The hymns sung included "Jesus United By Your Grace," "I Love to Tell the Story," and "May the God of Hope Go With You."

> Pastors in Mexico, Kemptville worked together to make dream happen

Reports regarding the Summer Event, finances, the House of Lazarus, and a book review were given.

Grace was followed by a delicious potluck lunch.

Wanda Tensen introduced guest speaker Trolly from the Southgate Community Church. Many people from the community were responsible for the work of starting a congregation and the church in Mexico. Pastors in Mexico and Kemptville worked together to make the dream happen. The first team went in November 2008, followed by two more teams in January and February 2009. A short film depicted the tough conditions in which the volunteers worked, but in the end, the joy on everyone's face made it all worthwhile.

There are many fall suppers and Christmas bazaars taking place throughout the area. Check out your local papers for more details.

The next Presbyterial meeting is scheduled to take place at the Algonquin United Church on Tues., Nov. 10.

Ladies Aid counts blessings

by Kathy Spruit

WINCHESTER — A supper prepared by the St. Paul's Ladies Aid executive was enjoyed during the Mon., Oct. 5 meeting. After consuming the plentiful dinner, salad, buns, and apple crisp, the ladies were inspired by Jan Clapp's devotions about thankfulness. The singing of "The First Thing I Do Every Morning" was followed by the reading of Psalm 100. Clapp suggested the ladies should write a list every day during the following week detailing 10 things they are thankful for and thank those who have made a difference in their lives.

The singing of "Count Your Blessings" concluded devotions.

Libby Pelkey gave a warm welcome to the guest speaker, Christina Enright. Enright introduced herself as a breast cancer survivor and shared her life story with the ladies. Her stories about her diagnosis in 2004, chemotherapy, and radiation treatments revealed that no matter how difficult and tough life was, little "gifts" would be given that would inspire and uplift, and help her carry on in a positive manner. As Enright said, having cancer has forced her to look at life "wearing different glasses." She ensures that everything she does has a positive influence on someone else's life. Enright then gave a gift to the St. Paul's Ladies Aid — Bea Elliott opened the package containing a framed postcard dating back to 1911 that had a picture of the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on the front. Enright had purchased this card on eBay when looking up websites about the church. Several members of the Winchester Hospital Heelers, who had attended the meeting, joined Enright when she was given a financial donation to the Heelers by Ladies' Aid.

In the business section of the meeting, several decisions were made: to purchase four boxes for Operation Christmas Child; to purchase a wreath for the cenotaph; and to provide baking for the social time following the Support Our Troops Service on Sun., Nov. 1 at 7 pm. A subscription for the mission magazine, Glad Tidings, was renewed for the congregation.

The next St. Paul's Ladies Aid meeting is scheduled for Mon., Nov. 2 at 7 pm.

Winchester euchre results

WINCHESTER — The white-card winners of the Winchester Seniors' Euchre on Thurs., Oct. 8 were Doris Michaels and Marguerite Fawcett.

The pink-card winners were Mary Hoy and Fay Robinson.

The 50/50 draws were won by Robinson and Manford Wallace.

Fawcett and Lillian Moore won the door prizes.

Everyone is invited to the next euchre event at the Winchester Lions Hall on Thurs., Oct. 22.
