Halloween Party In Local Arena Was Well Attended

Over 200 youngsters decked out in costumes ranging from nasty old witches to Little Bo Peeps, all highly colourful, took advantage of the kiddies' monster Halloween Party in the Winchester Arena on Monday night. In addition to the kids, who had a lot of fun, there were many parents and other adults, some of them in costume too, to help supervise at the party sponsored jointly by Winchester Legion Post 108 and the 100 Club. The party, which this year almost didn't come off, was arranged at the last minute by Gerald Helmer, president of the Winchester Rink Company. He was greatly assisted by his wife, and Frank Morgan, Jim VanBridger, Keith Carkner, Dr. S. Dawley, Arnold Duncan, Gordon LaRose and others who turned up at the party to help supervise the happy mob.

Ranging in age from two to the unmentionables, all the kids were given a real treat, and if smiles and noise were an indication, everyone had fun. After they had been given the freedom of the rink floor to simply run off some of their enthusiasm, the youngsters were lined up, 200 strong, each given horns, whistles and other novelties, and were paraded out town under the direction of Police Chief Gilbert Raistrick. Yelling and hooting, running and climbing, the parade did up the main thoroughfares of the town in real Halloween fashion before returning to the rink.

At the arena, prizes were given for best costumes in the various age groups, 190 bags of candy and over 200 bottles of chocolate milk were given out free, and a few games were played before the party was dismissed and the now weary youngsters were escorted to their homes to dream about the fun they had at the rink. Rev. W. Sutherland and Rev. T. N. Mitchell were the judges of costumes. Master of ceremonies was Gordon LaRose, and parade leader was Davy Crockett (Frank Morgan) dressed in buckskin and armed with musket just like the hero who appears in the comic books and the movies. The three fat clowns who provided many laughs were Doc. Dawley, Keith Carkner and Willis Robinson.

LOCAL TEACHER BEREAVED OF FATHER

The sympathy of the community is extended to Miss Kay Morgatroyd, local Public School teacher, who learned on the week-end that her father, Mr. Edson Morgatroyd, had passed away at his home in Iroquois following a lengthy illness. At the time of his death he and Mrs. Morgatroyd were erecting a new home in the new Iroquois, as their present home will be inundated by the waters of the St. Lawrence River when the power project is completed.

In his 81st year, he is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. E. Bailey, of Inkerman; Mrs. S. J. Ellis, of Toronto, and Miss Kay Morgatroyd of Winchester. Two brothers, Noah and Delbert, of Cardinal, and three grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held from his late residence on Tuesday afternoon. Interment was made in the Point Iroquois cemetery.

Wm. Gorrell Sworn In As Deputy Magistrate

G. William Gorrell, of Morrisburg, newly appointed magistrate, was sworn in after the opening of Magistrate's Court at Morrisburg last Friday afternoon.

Magistrate G. H. Jermyn, of Gananoque, presided, and the oaths of office and allegiance were administered by Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan, of Cornwall. Magistrate Jermyn welcomed him to the office of magistrate after which Mr. Gorrell took over.

He was congratulated and welcomed by Mr. Milligan who said he had known him for some time and was happy he had seen fit to accept the appointment.

It was well for this administration of justice that men of Mr. Gorrell's calibre were willing to make the sacrifice this office entailed, and it was a sacrifice.

Mr. Milligan thanked him on behalf of the people of the counties and wished him a long and happy term on the bench and assured him of the help of all.

R. H. Armstrong, Morrisburg solicitor, said he echoed the sentiments of the Crown Attorney to which he wished to add his own good wishes for success.

Magistrate Gorrell said he appreciated the sentiments expressed and also the opportunity to be of service. He had known Mr. Milligan for a long time and had always found him a very fair and impartial Crown Attorney. He thanked Magistrate Jermyn for his kindness in coming here to act as he had done at considerable sacrifice. He also thanked Mr. Armstrong for his good wishes.

Special Meetings Continue At Ormond Baptist Church

A special series of evangelistic meetings continues for three more nights at Ormond Baptist Church this week. The meetings started last Sunday evening and have been well attended. The Rev. Ian G. Hind, singer-evangelist, is the guest preacher.

Rev. Mr. Hind has spoken in Winchester at a meeting of Baptist Sunday School Superintendents, and also last October 15th he was the guest speaker at the B. Y. P. U. Rally of the Ottawa Association. Last year Mr. Hind conducted evangelistic meetings at Colbourne and Brighton.

Topics for the remaining nights are: Thursday, November 3rd, "Come Let Us Reason"; Friday, November 4th, "Come Unto Me"; Sunday, November 6th, 11.00 a.m., "Come Unto Me"; 7.30 p.m., "Let Him That Is Athirst Come."

Week-night meetings will begin at 8 o'clock. Rev. C. Roberts, church pastor, is in charge of the services, and extends a warm welcome to everyone to attend these special meetings.

W. A. MEETING

The November meeting of the United Church W. A. was held Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 1st, in the Sunday School hall, with Mrs. D. L. MacLean presiding. One minute's silence was observed in memory of the society's late president, Mrs. J. K. Ault.

The theme for the devotion period was "The Way." Reports were heard, and a very encouraging report of the Anniversary Supper was given. Mrs. Roy Merkley and Mrs. Fred Deeks were appointed a nominating committee, and Mrs. T. N. Mitchell and Mrs. Merkley are the social committee for December.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction, after which a dainty lunch was served by Mrs. E. Helmer and Mrs. Sherman Christie. Mrs. W. M. Byers, on behalf of the ladies present, thanked the committee in charge..

Lest We Forget!

Chairman Archie Rice, who heads the Winchester Legion's committee in conducting the annual sale of Poppies, announced this week that the sale of poppies would start this week-end and continue through next week. Members of the Ladies' Legion Auxiliary will conduct the campaign, proceeds from which go towards handicapped veterans and the local legion's fund for underprivileged veterans.

In addition to these worthy causes, Mr. Rice also emphasized the importance of wearing a poppy as a humble remembrance of the fallen heroes who gave their life in defence of freedom.

Culminating the poppy campaign this year, the Legion will hold its annual Church Parade and Armistice Service at the Cenotaph on Sunday, November 13th. The church service will be held at the United Church. Heading the parade will be the well-known Salvation Army Citadel Band of Ottawa. A further announcement concerning the parade will be made in next week's Press.

Great Movie Film Coming To Picadilly

One of Hollywood's all-time great pictures is brought back to the screen at the Picadilly, Williamsburg, with the showing of MGM's masterpiece reprint of "San Francisco," with Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald and Spencer Tracy as its outstanding stellar trio.

Jammed with spectacle and exciting action, together with music and romance, the unforgettable picture has its setting on the fabulous Barbary Coast when it was a byword around the world. It takes us into aristocratic Nob Hill, into the old Tivoli opera house, the historic Palace Hotel and other landmarks of old San Francisco —and it takes us through the disaster that levelled a beautiful city to the ground over 50 years ago, in a series of the most realistic disaster scenes ever filmed.

Clark Gable offers one of his greatest characterizations as Blackie Norton, owner of the most popular resort on the Coast. Jeanette MacDonald is superb as the country girl who starts her singing career on the Barbary Coast and rises to great operatic heights, only to return to the Coast because of the man she loves. Spencer Tracy scores in an unusual role as a kindly priest who chooses this wicked street for his evangelistic work. Nine musical numbers are also featured in the picture as only Jeanette MacDonald can sing them. They include: "Nearer My God To Thee," "San Francisco," "Ave Maria," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Love Me and the World Is Mine," and others.

With its never to be forgotten and electrifying earthquake scenes, its tragedy and heart-breaking emotion, San Francisco is one great picture older patrons will surely want to see again. And there is a whooping new audience of persons who were too young, and who will enjoy the picture even more today that when it was released back in 1936. Its Gable as the king of the gamblers, MacDonald singing her way into his heart, and Tracy as the fighting mission priest on the world's wickedest street. It's one of the truly all time greats returning for three nights, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 7, 8 and 9, at the Picadilly Theatre in Williamsburg, at regular prices.

Reception For Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Docksteader

Over a hundred friends and neighbours of Cloverdale and Harmony gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Docksetader recently to honour Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Docksteader (the former Avril Smith) on their recent marriage. The evening was spent in music and contests. Later, the guests of honour were presented with a trilight floor lamp, mirror and magazine stand, by the Misses Audrey, Doris and Betty Cinnamon, and an appropriate address was read by Mr. Roy Cumming. Glenn, on behalf of the couple, thanked all for their lovely gifts and invited everyone to visit them in their new home.

Friends who attended from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Smith, of Cobden; Mrs. L. Relyea, Mrs. Spence, Miss Heather McCaig, Miss Dorothy Spence, Roy and George Spence, of Ottawa; Mrs. Shaver and Miss H. C. Wilson, of Lunenburg. All signed in a lovely bride's book, designed by Mrs. George Cinnamon and Miss Audrey Cinnamon.

FALL CHANGEOVER

Well, it looks like CBC Television's easy emcee Dick MacDougal is going to have to go a bit more formal now that fall is here. During the summer, when "Pick the Stars" was an informal show, MacDougal took advantage of it by wearing some pretty casual clothes; now that the show is back to its regular format, Marshal Spiegel is on hand with a suit for MacDougal to wear as the second talent-hunt season gets under way.

PRESS BRINGS GIFT TO WILLIAMSBURG COUPLE

A recent issue of the Winchester Press has brought a wedding anniversary gift to a well-known Williamsburg couple, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Saddlemire, from Dominion Textiles of Canada. The firm apparently clipped the news item of Mr. and Mrs. Saddlemire's 50th anniversary which appeared in the Press recently, and as a token of support given their company by Canadians, and because Dominion Textiles are observing their 50th anniversary this year, sent along a lovely set of sheets and pillow cases to the Williamsburg couple. With the gift was a congratulatory letter from the president of Dominion Textiles. Needless to say, Mr. and Mrs. Saddlemire were quite pleased with the gift, and with the Press which they read every week.

Sustains Fractured Ankle In Fall

A cousin of Mrs. Lannin, Mrs. Strang had arrived in Winchester from Huntingdon, Que., only two weeks ago to spend the winter months here. While reaching for the clock she apparently missed her balance and fell heavily to the floor. She was treated by Dr. W. M. Byers, who had her removed to the District Memorial Hospital where the leg was placed in a cast.

LEGION LADIES' AUXILIARY

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was held on Thursday evening in the Legion Hall, with the president, Comrade Helen Coons, in charge.

Inquiries are still being sought for the services of a dancing teacher, and there have been some replies. It was decided to sell woollen goods again, the date of sale to be announced later. The Salvation Army canvass was completed, amounting to approximately $130.00.

Letters of appreciation were read from A. Rice, Mrs. D. Crowell, Mrs. C. Churchill and Mrs. H. Thomas. It was decided that the members would hold a supper meeting on Wednesday, December 14th.

The Ladies' Legion will again conduct the sale of poppies during the week of November 7th. There will be a parade on Sunday, November 13th of Legion members to the United Church where a special service will be held.

Tickets are to be sold on a car rug and wool blanket, the draw to take place in December.

The meeting adjourned, after which lunch was served by the social committee.

Jim Reynolds' Southdown sheep have again taken all the honours in that class at the Ottawa Winter Fair, bringing their youthful owner 8 firsts, 2 seconds, as well as champion ram and champion and reserve champion ewes in the Southdown division.

Jim's entries took first place in the yearling rams, champion ram, aged ewes, yearling ewes, champion ewe, reserve champion ewe, flock, get-of-sire and lamb flock.

Other big winners in the sheep class at the Fair were W. E. Burton of Vars, who won the most awards in two different classes; Cecil Acres, Osgoode, and Alex Dow and Sons, of Metcalfe.

Jim, who attends Winchester High School, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Reynolds, Winchester.

BRIDE-ELECT HONOURED AT METCALFE

Miss Dorothy MacDonald, bride-elect of Metcalfe, was honoured at a shower held at the home of Mrs. Amy McCallum recently. For the occasion the McCallum home was tastefully decorated with wedding bells and pink and white streamers. Mrs. McCallum received the guests, and the pianist was Mrs. Bella Carkner, playing the bridal chorus as the honoured guest was ushered in to the reception.

The bride-to-be, her mother and Mrs. Boland, mother of the groom-elect, each received corsages. During the evening Miss MacDonald was presented with a lovely basket of gifts by Mrs. Ormond Craig and Mrs. Ray Wilson. The accompanying address was read by Mrs. McCallum. Miss Anne Wood, of Marvelville, provided the entertainment, and a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. McNeil and Mrs. Harten.

Little Damage Done Here By Halloween Pranksters

Trick or Treat!

In Winchester it was mostly treat on Halloween night. While the witches, goblins and clowns were making their rounds, however, a few pranksters accomplished a couple of feats which, if they had to do in everyday life, would never be undertaken because of the work entailed.

One of the pranks was the moving of a huge 3000-gallon tank from the premises of W. J. L. Boyd & Sons' new show room on St. Lawrence Street south. The tank, which was moved to the Boyd premises by an oil company a few days ago, was rolled (just how, we aren't sure) on a trailer owned by Winchester Motors, and, ironically enough taken and dumped on the front yard of Police Chief Gilbert Raistrick, a distance of four or five hundred feet. While the operation was in progress, Chief Raistrick was patrolling the opposite side of the village.

Although no names were mentioned, the Press learned on good authority that it took 15 healthy young fellows to hoist the tank on the trailer.

Another prank saw an outhouse upset. This is not uncommon at Halloween, but in this particular instance the outhouse in mention had been standing in the same spot for the past thirty-five years, and up to this year had escaped the hands of Halloween tricksters. The outhouse, by the way, belongs to a village councillor, who says he is now firmly convinced that water and sewerage is the only thing for Winchester.

The entrance to the local High School was jammed up with various items moved from several Winchester properties, but school went on as usual on Tuesday morning. Aside from this, no serious damage was reported in the village.

DRIVER JUMPS CLEAR WHEN TRACTOR OVERTURNS

Leo Paul St. Pierre escaped injury Monday evening about 6 o'clock when the Massey "30" tractor he was driving upset.

The accident occurred as Mr. St. Pierre was returning to his barn after ploughing. Driving the tractor, with the plow behind, up a steep grade in his lane, it suddenly overturned, landing on all four wheels and continuing to move. The plow unhitched and the driverless tractor circled around, driving the plow through a fence and finally coming to rest, minus a muffler and with a badly damaged radiator.

Mr. St. Pierre jumped clear when he felt the tractor going, and was not injured. Damage is estimated at well over $100.00.

DISTRICT PUBLIC SCHOOL MEN TEACHERS HOLD MEETING

The regular meeting of District No. 2 of the Ontario Public School Teachers' Federation was held in Winchester last Friday evening. About forty members of the Federation enjoyed a full course turkey dinner at Heidi's Restaurant at 7 p.m.

The members convened in the auditorium of the Winchester Public School for a full evening of business. Reports of a conference held in Toronto recently were given by Messrs. A. G. Halliday of Prescott, and J. Hugel of Cornwall. Election of officers resulted in the election of Mr. A. G. Halliday of Prescott as president, Mr. Lyle Stewart of Brockville, as vice president, and Mr. D. Warren of Brockville, as secretary-treasurer.

Arrangements were made for a conference of representatives from the various branches in the district to be held in Morrisburg the last Saturday in November. District No. 2 includes the five eastern counties of Ontario, and members present included those from Hawkesbury, Vankleek Hill, Cornwall, Brockville, Prescott, Kemptville, Merrickville, Hallville, Chesterville and Winchester.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by the retiring president and secretary, Messrs. W. J. MacDonald of Cornwall and J. Hugel of Cornwall, and J. H. Potter of Winchester.

Delphinium Still Blooms At Beckstead Home

Winter may be just around the corner, but it apparently means nothing to the delphinium border at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Beckstead, just south of Williamsburg. Last Saturday Mrs. Beckstead picked nearly a dozen spikes of this lovely plant, all in bloom. This is the second blooming of the same plants, an unusual occurrence at this time of the year when these same plants are usually dried up for the season, not blooming again till next year.

It must be the "blooming" weather.

Veterinary Director-General Visits Local Commission Auction

Owners of Winchester's popular Commission Auction Sales were highly honoured on Tuesday evening with the unexpected presence of a very distinguished visitor, Dr. Kenneth G. Wells, the Veterinary Director General of Canada, and his party.

The visit by Dr. Wells was entirely an impromptu affair. He and his guests were welcomed to the Auction Barn by Dr. D. L. MacLean, of Winchester, veterinarian in charge of Livestock Sales at the Auction. Dr. MacLean introduced Dr. Wells to the owners, Messrs. Quaile and Harvey. After watching the bidding for a short while, the Director General and his guests departed, much impressed with the local Commission.

Dr. MacLean, as provincial veterinarian representative, inspects all livestock for injury, disease, etc., and checks the barns for sanitation, etc.

District Man Nearly Victim Of Carbon Monoxide Fumes

A young Chesterville contractor may have had a close call with death last Friday afternoon when he was overcome with carbon monoxide fumes while cleaning out a well at the farm of W. E. Barrett, near Chesterville.

Using a pump to clean out the dug well, Arnold Sullivan apparently breathed in enough of the deadly fumes which came from the exhaust of the pump motor and which could not escape from the well. Feeling quite ill, he drove to his mother's home in Winchester, where he nearly collapsd. Gilbert Raistrick, a neighbour, rushed to the young man's aid, and summoned Dr. H. G. Barton, who had the victim rushed to the District Memorial Hospital by Vice & Craig ambulance. Dr. Howard Justus was later called in on the case. At the hospital Mr. Sullivan was given oxygen and received other treatment before he fully responded. He was detained over night before being released Saturday morning, once again in a normal state of health.

Citizens Are Invited To Lay Wreaths

The officers and members of Branch 108 of the Canadian Legion, Winchester, extend an invitation to all citizens and organizations to join them at the Remembrance Service which will be held at the Cenotaph following the annual Church Parade on Sunday, November 13th. Families or groups purchasing wreaths may choose their own representatives to lay the wreath or may call upon a member of the Legion to perform the solemn duty. It is hoped that the business men of the village will again support the local Post in the same manner as they have in the past by preparing memorial windows and decorations in keeping with the occasion. At the same time Poppies will be sold in Winchester and district and everyone is urged to buy one in humble remembrance of the loved ones who gave their life in defence of freedom. All persons interested in placing wreaths should contact Archie Rice, chairman of the local Poppy campaign, Phone 31, as soon as conveniently possible.

Order Extra Copies Of Press In Advance

As a convenience to readers of the Winchester Press, we print each week extra copies which may be picked up at Harry Flora's Lunch Bar, Allen Summers Colonial Coach Stop, and at the business office of this newspaper. From time to time there is a severe demand for certain issues, and quite often all three places are sold out before the needs of every one are satisfied. Lately the demand for papers has been consistently heavy each week, and many requests for extra copies of the Press have been reluctantly turned down. In an effort to avoid this unfortunate situation, the Press will again step up the number of extra papers printed each week, and at the same time would ask those persons planning to get extra copies, to notify this office in advance of publication so that the necessary arrangements can be made. With the cost of newsprint soaring to almost $170.00 a ton, it is not feasible to have too many extra copies left over. Your co-operation in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Winchester Should Have Delegates At This Meeting

A general meeting of the Eastern Ontario Development Association has been called for Wednesday and Thursday, November 9th and 10th, at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa. Although every municipality in the Eastern Ontario triangle is regarded as a member by the Association, Winchester, to our knowledge, has never contributed anything, man power or financial, to this organization which seems at the moment to be the only representing force of its kind of the combined peoples of this particular part of the province.

Just what the Eastern Ontario Development Association can do for any one town is something no one in this village can explain, because no one here, as yet, has taken much interest in this development which is designed to create only betterment for Eastern Ontario. The Association, of course, cannot say to any one town "we are going to bring you industry," but it may be able to help. The services of the E.O.D.A. go well beyond the industrial department, however, and should not be overlooked by the local powers that be.

It would seem, too, that there is still room for improvement in this association, but it seems apparent that the executive and committee heads are ready to do anything which might benefit their organization. One thing is certain, nothing can be lost by this town in sending a delegation to this forthcoming meeting. At a time when we are thinking in terms of possible expansion, the least we can do is to see what benefits may be derived from the Eastern Ontario Development Association. In any case, it doesn't cost anything to listen.

Sales Boom

Saint Nick promises a welcome present for Canadian retailers this year: an estimated increase in Yule sales of more than 5 per cent. over 1954, writes Donald Gordon in The Financial Post.

Storekeepers from coast to coast are stocking shelves with extra goods in anticipation of the holiday boom. The first trickle of festive buying has already begun to push sales up and if the payoff grows as expected it will be the final boost to what has been a record-smashing retail year.

Main reason for the optimism is the nation's healthy economy; employment, wages, crops, manufacturers and construction are all in good shape—described by some economists as the best in the nation's history.

Automation And Labour

A four-day, 32-hour work-week is predicted by CIO president Walter Reuther.

Similar prediction was made some weeks ago by W. J. Smith, president of Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees. Difference between Mr. Reuther and Mr. Smith is that the former says four-day, 32-hour work week won't be realized before 1965, while the latter, in his remarks of a month ago, declared that it would be fought for forthwith.

Trouble with reasoning both of Mr. Reuther and Mr. Smith is that record of productivity gains in output in industry, both in the U. S. and Canada, average over the years somewhat less than 2 per cent. per annum. If output per man-hour, over next decade, continues to increase at same rate, total gain would be only 20 per cent., while reducing work week from 40 hours to 32 hours would also be 20 per cent.

Unless Mr. Reuther proposes to abandon all demands for wage boosts and fringe benefits over the next 10 years, which is highly improbable, talk about a four-day, 32-hour work week just doesn't make sense.

Automation, much misunderstood and therefore regarded by some labor leaders as a gateway to mass unemployment, and by others as a path to utopian society in which no one works and physical comforts may be had for the asking, is much in need of clarification.

Welcome, therefore, is Labor Minister Gregg's statement before the Canadian Congress of Labor convention in Toronto that fears about automation have been greatly exaggerated.

Mr. Gregg is quite right. Automation, in its final analysis, means one or both of two things. It may imply greater use of assembly-line techniques. Or it may mean introduction of more self-regulating devices in industry, resulting in lower production costs and higher output.

Latter, as much as former, will almost certainly result in more rather than fewer jobs. Compelling argument supporting the view that automation actually increases job opportunities is found in the automobile industry, which now employs a work force many times larger than when assembly-line technique was first adopted.—The Letter-Review.

Capitalism And Socialism

Writing in the Harvard Business Review, David McCord Wright, Professor of Economics and Political Science at McGill University, argues that Capitalism and Socialism must be evaluated, not in mere doctrinaire terms but rather "in terms of the degree of freedom-to-experiment and will-to-adventure which they provide. He says:

"Capitalism loosely organized and genuinely competitive, with due consideration for a floor under security and with a willingness by government to keep instability within bounds—capitalism of this kind provides the most favorable climate for adventure and risk-taking. And even routinist capitalism always carries the possibility of an unfreezing of its process by the reassertion of the adventurist drives which are part of its tradition and akin to its basic concepts.

"Socialism, on the other hand, while it can be adventurous for a time and may contain elements of daring and experimentation, has a bias towards the routinist society. It is concerned with order, smooth repetition and neatness. Any adventurism it may sometimes show is always in danger of being stamped out by the assertion of its basic dogma, which is inherently opposed to change because of its emphasis upon tidiness and control."

Editorial Notes

There should be no need to remind conscientious citizens of the importance of wearing a poppy. The poppy campaign in this district has started, and in buying and wearing the little red boutonniere you are not only helping many invalid veterans who make them, but you are assisting the local Legion Post in its year to year effort to help the underprivileged. And, perhaps, more important, it is the one simple way to show that you have not forgotten the loved ones who didn't come back from two Great Wars and the Korean theatre of conflict. Buy a Poppy!

This year's Grey Cup classic in Vancouver, B. C., will prove a test for Easterners. In recent years, especially since the Grey Cup has become the country's most lavish sports extravaganza, the show has been mostly Western. Each year the Western team came down so did thousands of supporters, from all over the western provinces, not to mention their colourful displays, floats, bands, drum majorettes, etc., which have come to be a feature in the big before-the-game Grey Cup parade. But most important, these people from the West were tremendous good-will ambassadors; they treated a stranger like a long lost friend, and to a great extent they have made the Grey Cup classic in Canada what it is to-day. Now that the game has been switched to Vancouver it will be up to Easterners to carry on this same spirit, to produce as good a show as the example they have to follow. Hamilton's recent decision not to send a contender to the Miss Grey Cup contest is one good way of how not to get off on the right foot.

PROS AND CONS OF DEATH PENALTY
By Matthew Halton

Today Canada has complete control over the penalty for crime. The accused has no appeal to the Privy Council of Great Britain. Nevertheless, because our Criminal Code conforms with England's, we are vitally interested in Matthew Halton's report this week in The Star Weekly. Should we retain the death penalty in our Laws?

OF MANY THINGS . . .

THE FAMILY

(By Ambrose Hills)

Down at the railroad station yesterday I saw a father saying farewell to his family. They are moving to a western city, and he is to follow as soon as he gets his business affairs in order. It is a very lively family, ranging in age from 4 to 14, and as I helped Charlie get settled into his hotel room I said, "Well, I suppose you'll enjoy a few weeks of peace and quiet without the youngsters underfoot?"

"That's what I always tell myself," he said. "But it doesn't work that way. The peace and quiet bores me. I don't amount to much without the family."

I know just how he feels because I have a family of five myself. They disturb me when I am trying to write or read or think. They wake me early in the morning when I'd sometimes like to sleep. They pester me for car rides and they bother me for spending money. They worry me about their homework and report cards, and they get noisiest and most demanding just about the time when I am loaded with problems of my own. But that is not the worst of it.

The worst of it is when they go away! That is when the terrible peace and quiet settle in. And just like Charlie, I don't amount to much without the family.

I don't think a nation would amount to much for long, either, unless composed of families where each father is responsible for the welfare of his own brood. That's one reason why I am always suspicious of governments that try to take over all or part of that responsibility. Hitler did it; tyrants have always invaded the sanctity of the family. They use wonderful excuses and they pretend it is only to help, to improve the family welfare. They may even be sincere about it at first. But it never works.

Families are a terrible load, an awful burden, a great responsibility. But they are worth it—ten times over!

It's YOUR HOSPITAL

by

PRESIDENT, ONTARIO HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION

Your hospital, through the minds and hearts of over 2500 persons attending the recent Ontario Hospital Association Convention, in Toronto, has just had a good look at the hospital's primary function, good patient care. This does not mean, of course, that for 362 days in the year your hospital has ignored this important feature. It does mean, however, that for three full and busy days trustees, administrators, nurses and other important hospital people, including members from 135 hospital auxiliaries, have sat down to pool their accumulated knowledge, and discuss their mutual problems, with a firm determination to see that everything possible is done in our hospitals to ensure the best possible patient care at the lowest possible cost.

This annual convention is not a time devoted to fun and frolic, no back-patting session where only our accomplishments are reviewed. It is a serious group, where among other things, members of the large hospital family ask themselves the questions they have been hearing from the people in their communities throughout the year. It is a time of searching analysis and earnest endeavour to try and find the answers at least to some of the questions. Special sections, such as nursing, dietetics, pharmacy, medical record librarians, accounting, trustees, and women's auxiliaries devoted many hours to their particular function in relation to good patient care. In the general sessions three important functions were pinpointed for discussion — what does the doctor need—what can the hospital provide.

These questions led to a survey of hospital accreditation, which has to do with official approval of the standards of service required to be rendered by all departments; communications, a very real problem in many hospitals; and the general and specific safety measures, to ensure protection for the patient at all times. All discussions combined to promote the general theme of the convention—good patient care.

To a patient, good hospital care naturally revolves around the bed which the patient occupies. To the hospital personnel, good patient care is the result of efficient service from every department of the hospital. Good patient care does not merely mean a clean bed, with nursing service and meals provided by the nursing and dietetic staffs. It involves every department of the hospital from the admitting office to the boiler room, for each has a definite part to play in the care which is given to patients.

It is the Board's responsibility as trustees of the public, to make certain that the hospital is equipped and ready to meet every emergency, and it is the administrator's job to see that all departments are co-ordinated into a smoothly functioning unit of service.

In other words, good patient care does not just happen. It is the result of constant planning and supervision, and it costs money to provide it.

The concern over hospitalization costs is not restricted to the patients who receive the care. It is the constant concern of hospital trustees and administrators who spend long hours around the board room table and in committee meetings devising ways and means to keep costs to the absolute minimum, with service maintained at the highest maximum of efficiency.

The science of medicine has made tremendous strides in the last decade. New techniques, new drugs, new operative procedures, new equipment—all these add up to better treatment and quicker recovery than ever before. The hospital must move with the times, it must provide the equipment and facilities for these modern medical miracles to be performed. A raise in hospital rates seldom increases the revenue beyond the expenses of maintaining the service of the hospital. More often the increase only decreases an operating deficit.

Here, perhaps, emerges one of the most difficult problems which your hospital has to face. On the one hand, from the people, comes the cry that hospitalization costs are too high. On the other hand, those responsible for the hospital's operation repeatedly ask how can we meet the increasing cost of providing the best in patient care.

Hospitals do not create the economic and social conditions which surround them. Shorter hours, increased wages, rising cost for equipment and supplies —these are all controlled by forces outside the hospital. Except in a few cases where a hospital is endowed, to meet these increasing demands the hospital has only the revenue which comes from the patients they serve, with small additional assistance from government grants mainly toward the cost of indigent patient care.

From this total revenue, between 60 and 70 per cent. must first be paid out for salaries and wages, leaving only a small portion of revenue for all other expenses. Hospitals, therefore, usually depend on donations and bequests to purchase new or renovate old equipment.

People point with understandable pride to the well-equipped hospital which they have helped to build. But bricks and mortar and the most modern equipment do not make a hospital.

Hospitals are people—citizens who contribute to help build the hospital, governments who assist with the people's money, those who serve in the hospital, and, lastly, that large group, which includes all of the others, the people who are cared for by the hospital. It is when all these groups work continually together that the hospital really becomes a vital part of the community.

It's your hospital—cherish it well.

Several local citizens have been having trouble with their private water pressure and sewerage disposal systems. Due to dried-up wells, the water supply has become exhausted in some homes, while other householders have been forced to dig up lawns and driveways to ascertain the cause of blocked sewerage pipes which rendered their flush toilets useless. With these conditions existing and causing considerable annoyance and inconvenience, we are prompted to ask "What has become of the proposed municipal water and sewerage system that was being promoted by a special committee earlier this year?" Has it been shelved?

Jesus Meets Human Needs — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke, 5:1-6:16.

After preaching to multitudes from Peter's boat on the sea, Jesus told Peter to go further out and cast his nets. A tremendous catch resulted and after taking it ashore, Simon Peter, James and John left all and followed Jesus.

Seeing Jesus, a leper threw himself at His feet asking to be made clean. Christ healed him. After this miracle, the fame of Jesus spread abroad, and great multitudes came together to hear Him and be healed of their infirmities.

A man afflicted with palsy was let down on his bed from the housetop to Jesus. Jesus forgave him his sins and healed him. Pharisees and doctors of the law accused Christ of blasphemy, saying only God could forgive sins.

Jesus chose the 12 Apostles: Simon Peter, Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, Matthew and Thomas, James, Simon, Judas, James' brother, and Judas Iscariot, the traitor.

MEMORY VERSE—Luke 5:31, 32.

FAREWELL PARTY

The friends and neighbours of Church Street and Kerr's Ridge gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McConnell prior to their leaving to take up residence in Kemptville.

The evening was spent playing cards and dancing. During the evening Hazel and Bob were called forward and Mrs. Fenton Hyndman read the following address:

Dear Hazel and Bob—Most of us here have spent many pleasant evenings in your home and to-night is no exception. However, when the reason for this gathering is to say goodbye to neighbours of as long standing and high repute as you two—then a thread of sadness cannot help but be woven into the fabric of our gaiety.

You, Hazel, have taken an active interest in many community affairs and perhaps it will not be out of place to mention especially how you have endeared yourself to the younger generation through your leadership of the Mission Band. Such leadership is an inspiration to the whole community.

You, too, Bob, have taken an active role in the affairs of church and business. Your cheery and wise counsel will be missed at many a meeting. But perhaps it is just as a neighbour—a fellow farmer and his wife—that you will be most missed by us all.

One thought comforts us. Kemptville is not far away and we can hope that you will never lose touch with this community.

And now we would like you to accept these gifts as a token of our affectionate remembrances.

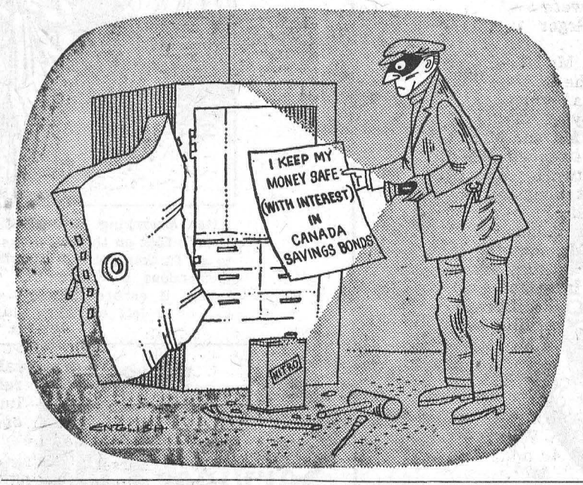
SOUTH MOUNTAIN HOME-MAKING CLUB

The first meeting of the Homemaking Club, sponsored by the South Mountain Women's Institute, was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Lou Hunter. There were nine girls present and the following is the slate of officers for the course:

President, Miss Marilyn Shaver; secretary, Miss Janet Anne Gilroy; press secretary, Miss Lorraine Coons.

The objective of this club, "What shall I wear," is to learn how to assemble their wardrobe to the best advantage with good taste, and how to spend their clothing allowance wisely, and also to work together for mutual benefit. The members each make a blouse and model it on Achievement Day. The name chosen for the club was "The Modern Miss."

Miss Lou Hunter will be the leader, and Mrs. Arnold Shaver, the assistant leader, during the course.



LATE CHESLEY MERKLEY

A well-known resident of Winchester Springs, Mr. Chesley Merkley died at the District Memorial Hospital recently. While still a young man he contracted infantile paralysis and had been an invalid since that time.

He was the son of the late William Merkley and his wife, Nora Jeffrey, and was born in Winchester Springs, where he attended school. His kindly disposition won for him a wide circle of friends, old and young alike, who mourn his passing.

The funeral was held from the Armstrong Funeral Home, South Mountain, where the service was conducted by Rev. Nathan Bowering. Mrs. Clarence Thompson and Mrs. Irwin Holmes sang a duet, "The Old Rugged Cross."

Interment was made at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Jesus Meets Human Needs

HE PERFORMS MIRACLES OF HEALING

Scripture—Luke 5:1—6:16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE TIME of the incidents which took place in the portion of the New Testament assigned to today's lesson is reckoned to be the summer and autumn of 28 A.D., and the place is for the most part, the city of Capernaum at the north end of the Sea of Galilee.

Jesus' fame had spread tremendously, so that wherever He went people followed Him, some to receive healing, others to listen to His words.

"As the people pressed upon Him" as he stood on the seashore, Jesus noticed two ships by the sea but no fishermen in them. He stepped into one ship, and asked Simon Peter, a fisherman, if he would take it a little further out into the water Peter (or Simon) did so, and Christ preached to the people on shore from the boat

After the others had gone Jesus told Simon to take the ship out into deep water and drop the nets over the side. Simon said they had fished all night with no results, but he did as he was told and the result was that so heavy was the catch that the net broke, and Simon's partners on shore were called to help.

Simon Peter was so overcome at this miracle, that he threw himself at Jesus' feet, and admitted that he was a sinful man. James and John, the sons of Zebedee, Peter's partners, were also overcome by this occurrence, so that the three brought their ships to land and followed the Lord.

When Jesus was in "a certain city," a poor leper came to Him, saying, "Lord, if Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean."

This terrible disease not only causes great suffering, but excludes the victim from any contact with others. Lepers were obliged to cry out, "Unclean, unclean," if anyone approached them. What a dreadful, lonely, suffering life these poor creatures led.

No one dare touch a person so afflicted, but Jesus—the Fearless One—"Put forth His hand, and touched him, saying, "I will, be thou clean," and immediately the leprosy left him.

Jesus told the man to go to the temple and be formally cleansed according to the Mosaic law, and to tell no one of his healing. Evidently he did not do as he was told, thinking, possibly, that he was doing Christ a favor by spreading word of the miracle. At any rate Jesus' fame spread so much that He withdrew to the wilderness and prayed.

Then one day, when some Pharisees and doctors of the law were present, coming from different towns, some men wanted to bring a man who had been taken with palsy to Jesus.

The crowd was so numerous that they could not bring him near the Lord, so they took him up on the housetop and let him down through the tiling with his couch. The teacher here should, if possible, tell the children how the houses of Israel were built so that they could understand how this was done.

When Jesus saw the man He said, "Man, thy sins are forgiven thee." The Pharisees were angered at this, thinking, "Who is this which speaketh blasphemies: Who can forgive sins, but God alone?"

Jesus knew what they were thinking, and He said, "What reason ye in your hearts, whether it would be easier to say, Thy sins are forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk," and to the man He said, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thy house," and the man did so.

One day Jesus saw a publican named Levi—Matthew—who was also an outcast from the rest of the Jews because he worked for the Roman government. Jesus called upon him to follow Him, and he did.

That night Levi gave a great feast at his home for his publican friends, and Jesus was the honored guest. The scribes and Pharisees murmured against Him because he was eating with sinners. But Jesus rebuked them by saying: "They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Then they found fault with Jesus saying that He and His disciples did not fast according to the law. To that Christ replied that the children of the bridechamber would not be likely to fast while the bridegroom was with them, but when the bridegroom had gone from them, was the time to fast. He was here referring to Himself as the bridegroom, and suggesting that He would not be with them always—prophesying His death on the Cross.

If the teacher has time, the episode of the walk through the field on the Sabbath can be mentioned, and the miracle of the man with the withered hand who was healed in the synagogue on the Sabbath—further infuriating the Pharisees.

In Luke 6:13-16, the writer tells of Jesus calling His disciples together and appointing the Twelve Apostles to carry on His work.

MEMORY VERSE

"They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Luke 5:31, 32.

PRELIMINARY ESTIMATE OF ALFALFA SEED PRODUCTION

(Department of Agriculture, October 27th, 1955)

"A preliminary alfalfa seed production estimate in Canada in 1955 has been placed at 3,480,000 pounds of clean seed. This is nine per cent. less than the very small crop of 1954 and only one-third of the 10-year average of 10,438,000 pounds. If the crop realized is no larger than preliminary information would indicate, it will be the smallest since 1936 and, as in 1954, one of the smallest on record.

The alfalfa seed crop in the United States is reported by the United States Department of Agriculture to be the largest on record and forecast at 213,656,000 pounds of clean seed. It exceeds the previous record crop of 1952 by 18 per cent., is one-third larger than last year's 161,170,000 pounds, and is more than twice the 1944-53 average of 102,132,000 pounds."

ESTIMATE OF RED CLOVER SEED, 1955 CROP

"Red Clover seed production, according toaccordingto prelimaccording to preliminary estimate, has been placed at 6,400,000 pounds of clean seed. This is 26 per cent. more than in 1954 but 22 per cent. less than the ten-year average.

The United States Department of Agriculture has forecast production of Red Clover seed in the United States at 87,895,000 pounds of clean seed. This is 58 per cent. larger than in 1954, but 11 per cent. below the 1944-53 average."

The sympathy of the district is extended to the relatives and friends of Mrs. John Pyper, of Manotick, who passed away at her home on Saturday, October 29th, after a lengthy illness.

"What kind of a fellow is Twiggs?"

CANADA'S health

INDULGING THE SWEET TOOTH

Eating candy, cake or pie within reason may not hurt the teeth, so long as the toothbrush is used immediately after eating, in order to remove all remnants of sugar and other food particles which could form destructive acids. Brush the teeth carefully from the gum out to the biting edge, so that the crevices between the teeth are perfectly clean. If brushing is not convenient, rinse the mouth with water. In emergency, eating an apple or other solid fruit will serve as a substitute for brushing.

IN THE PATH OF THE BLIND

Children's toys, wagons or roller skates left on the sidewalk may cause a dangerous fall to a passerby, especially to a blind person whose cane may not contact the obstacle. If Junior persists in leaving his possessions where they may prove a hazard to other people, he might be penalized by having the articles taken away for a time. Parents, too, are often offenders when they allow the door of the car to swing open over the sidewalk, so that it may cause still another hazard to the blind pedestrian.

LOOKING FOR A HOBBY?

Most active people in normal health need an interesting hobby for their spare time. There's one hobby that is an especially valuable one, in which new skills may be learned that can prove of value to the hobbyist and his neighbours in case of emergency. Civil Defence offers some extremely interesting courses in which men, women and older children may take part. It is possible that certain spare time skills already learned might be of value to the local organization. Anyone who is interested in taking up these new studies, meeting new friends and learning what to do in case of certain disasters, in time of war or peace, should get in touch with the local or provincial Civil Defence organization in that area.

LOST?

One of the easiest things when in the bush is to get lost. It is also easy not to get lost, if a little care and common sense are used. The man who wanders off alone into the woods in unknown territory is asking for trouble; he should not venture away without a guide or a companion who knows the country. It is wise to carry a compass, watch and matches and also to note carefully where the sun is when leaving the camp. If the sun is shining at his back when he leaves camp in the morning, when it is in the east, it should also be shining on his back in the late afternoon, when it is in the west and he is returning to camp. To tell the direction on a sunny day, hold the watch so that the hour hand points to the sun; half way between that and twelve o'clock is south. A good strong police whistle is a valuable piece of equipment since its sound carries well and doesn't resemble other outdoor sounds that could confuse searchers.

DON'T WASTE THE MINERALS

The liquid in which vegetables have been boiled contains many of the valuable minerals drawn from the vegetables during boiling. This should not be thrown away but added to soups, gravies or vegetables juices to add food values and flavor.

DUNDAS 4-H CLUB TEAMS AT GUELPH FINALS

These teams were representing their various local 4-H Clubs in the Provincial finals.

CUTE SONGSTRESS

Joyce Hahn has been in show business since she was four, touring with her family in the West on a rough grind of honky-tonks, and in New York with Major Bowes. For some years now she's been heard on "A Date with Fred Hill" on CBC Dominion, and is now featured on television's "Cross Canada Hit Parade." This variety series has Austin Willis as emcee, Bert Niosi's orchestra, vocalist Wally Koster, and a well-known guest. The series is weekly on the CBC-TV network.

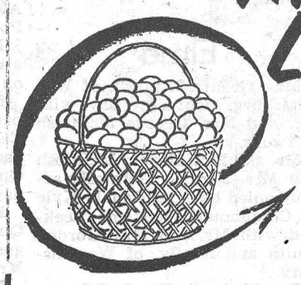
More Eggs! Less Feed!



SHUR-GAIN
SUPER LAYING MASH

Less feed for your laying flock means more money in your pocket. It's possible with SHUR-GAIN Super Laying Mash as good poultrymen everywhere are finding out.

Super Laying Mash is a "high-efficiency" feed which is extra fortified with energy, proteins, minerals and vitamins. When a hen fills up on this type of ration her maintenance requirements are looked after on a smaller amount of feed so that more is available for egg production. With ordinary "lower efficiency" rations a hen has to "cram" so much in to look after the maintenance needs that she has very little left over for egg production.

Now with SHUR-GAIN Super Laying Mash poultrymen are getting a higher rate of lay and are producing a dozen eggs on even LESS than 4 lbs. of feed. Tests at the SHUR-GAIN Demonstration Farm also prove the superior performance of "Super."

Canada's Plowing Champions

Winner of Canada's top plowing trophy for the second time in three years is Bob Timbers (center), 28, of Stouffville, Ont. Timbers, who was Canadian champion in 1953, won the Esso Silver Plow at the International Plowing Match near Leamington, Ont., again last week. Runnerup was Jerry Ferguson (left), 63, of Croton, Ont. Edwin "Mickey" Demman, 22, of Portage la Prairie, Man., came third and will travel to England with Timbers next year to compete for the world title. Demman, rather than Ferguson, qualified for the trip because no province is permitted more than one man on the two-man overseas team.

REMEMBER
Wear A Poppy

Sale of poppies and wreaths for Remembrance Day, November 11th, helps veterans in four ways, as follows:

It perpetuates the memories of those who fell, reminding Canadians that the ideals for which they died must never be taken for granted. Those who were injured are aided in overcoming their handicaps through the sale of poppies.

Veterans and their dependents often are aided through local Poppy Funds. The Legion Service Bureau works constantly in the interest of ex-service men.

"Vetcraft shops, the first of which was set up in 1923, are administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs. These shops provide employment for disabled veterans who cannot compete on the open labor market.

In these centres, the largest of which are located in Montreal and Toronto, workers cut and shape parts that go into millions of poppies and thousands of wreaths sold each year.

Many workers get a disability pension, but in most cases they are not large. Therefore, income earned in the vetcraft shops provides a real as well as psychological form of help.

Perhaps the greatest value of the poppy trust funds is in the immediate assistance it offers needy veterans and their families. Often the distress of these men is only temporary. Through the local poppy fund they can get quick help when they need it most.

The Sale of Poppies in this district is being conducted by the Winchester Branch of the Canadian Legion. Your support will be appreciated.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PREPARE FOR COLD WEATHER AHEAD!

INSULATION INSURES COMFORT BECAUSE:

1. It provides more even temperatures in the house.
2. It cuts down drafts, eliminates cold corners, thereby protecting the health of the family.
3. It makes the house cooler in the summer by retarding the flow of heat into the house from the outside.

INSULATION SAVES MONEY BECAUSE:

1. It reduces heat losses, thereby saving fuel and lowering fuel costs.
2. An insulated house requires a smaller heating plant.
3. It reduces the cost of air conditioning.
4. It saves painting and decorating bills, as dust and dirt are not attracted so much to warm surfaces as to cold surfaces. Reduces house cleaning work.

INSULATION GIVES THESE PLUS VALUES:

1. Increased property values.
2. Increased resistance to fire.
3. By eliminating "hard-to-heat" rooms, more liveable space is added to the house.
4. Makes "intolerably hot" rooms useable in summer.

EVENING AUXILIARY

The November meeting of the Evening Auxiliary was held on Tuesday evening, November 1st, at the home of Mrs. Eldon Davidson. The meeting opened with a hymn, and a minute's silence was observed in memory of the late Mrs. Kenneth Ault, a devout member of the Evening Auxiliary.

Mrs. Davidson welcomed the members from Harmony Auxiliary, as well as the local members and visitors. Letters of appreciation were read from the Ault family and Mrs. H. Lannin. The various reports were heard, and Mrs. Robert Holmes gave a full report of the Eastern Sectional Rally held at Williamsburg on October 18th.

Miss Evelyn Fennell, Mrs. Chas. Anderson, Mrs. H. Clark and Miss Ruth McInnis led the worship service, the theme being "The Call to Fellowship." They told by Scripture readings just what is expected by God of us in everyday life. Most important of these expectations is prayer.

Miss Ruth McInnis showed interesting pictures on screen of her recent tour of the British Isles and Europe. These were greatly enjoyed by all present.

A lovely birthday cake was brought in, and Mrs. Davidson read the aims and objects of the W. M. S., while Mrs. T. N. Mitchell lit nine candles in honour of the ninth birthday of the Auxiliary. A dainty lunch was then served by the committee, including the birthday cake.

Mrs. Wallace Cinnamon voiced the thanks of the Harmony Auxiliary and invited the Evening Auxiliary members to their Thank Offering meeting on Monday evening, November 7th, at Harmony church. Mrs. W. M. Byers voiced the thanks of the local members, and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.
