Big win for Barkley, return for Gillard, new look for council

SOUTH DUNDAS – In an election which has garnered unprecedented interest from the people of South Dundas, it was Charles Barkley who reaped the benefits to become the next mayor of South Dundas.

Over 150 people, including the candidates, gathered at Matilda Hall, Monday evening at 8 p.m. to await the results which were announced shortly before 8:30 p.m.

Voter turnout was 59.3 percent, and of the over 5,000 people who voted, over half selected Barkley mayor.

Barkley's 2,691 votes translate into about 53 percent of the vote. Incumbent Lyle Van Allen picked up 34 percent of the vote, while Cam Martel and Ed Merkley picked up 10 percent and three percent of the vote respectively.

Like all of the other election candidates, Barkley was glad to see the results, which put an end to the campaign. "I'm very pleased," said the newly elected mayor.

"The people had their say, and now it's time to fulfill the promises," he said. "I think we have a good group to work with."

Barkley was also very pleased to see the voter turnout. He said he wasn't sure how good the turnout would be because of the significant problems with people being left off the list for no apparent reason.

The voters' list, generated by the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC), was riddled with problems during the 2003 campaign and Barkley said, "It might have been worse this time."

"There has to be something else we can do," he said, adding that he would like to look at using a voting system for the next election which allows for the use of telephone, internet and traditional ballot voting.

This election was the first in South Dundas without the ward system and the first where the people were given an opportunity to elect a deputy mayor.

Robert 'Rowdy' Gillard pulled 41 percent of the vote to win the seat and return to South Dundas Council. Bill Ewing was second with 31 percent of the vote followed by Johnny Whitteker with 16 percent and Roger Coligan with 12 percent.

This vote put an end to Whitteker's 52 years in municipal politics. "To lose only once in 52 years is a pretty good average," said Whitteker, who doesn't regret running for the office. "A politician never knows enough to quit."

Whitteker said that he will miss being part of South Nation Conservation, the board of health, United Counties Council,

Third Council says farewell

WILLIAMSBURG – Barring anything unexpected, the 99th meeting of the third council of South Dundas was their last.

With the election this week, council didn't feel it was necessary to meet again.

Before adjourning the meeting South Dundas mayor Lyle Van Allen gave each member of council the opportunity to say a few words.

Van Allen thanked council and staff for their work over this term of council. "It's been an interesting three years."

"I wish everyone the best of luck in the election," said Van Allen. He then laughed and looking to South Dundas councillor Charles Barkley, who is opposing Van Allen in the mayoral race said, "Some people not that much luck."

Barkley said, "It's been a pleasure." He thanked the media who cover council. "You've been fair and I appreciate that." Barkley also thanked the audience members who have consistently attended the meetings over the last few years. "You've been almost as faithful as council."

Bill Ewing thanked council for the opportunity to serve with them. "It's been a good year and a half."

South Dundas councillor Sandra Bailey said, "I've enjoyed this tremendously." She directed special thanks towards the staff. "Anytime I had questions, you were always more than helpful." Looking to her fellow council members she said, "We are cer-

Just in Time for Christmas

Sharon Duprau specializes in dry and silk floral arrangements

MORRISBURG – For Sharon Duprau part of the fun of her craft is in the hunt.

That's because Sharon likes to find unique containers in which to create her dry and silk flower arrangements. Her containers have been everything from old kettles to figure skates.

"I work with many things. I attend a lot of auction sales. They are a fun and I really enjoy them. Anything I look at, I use my imagination and picture an arrangement."

"Chamber pots, anything I can put a flower in I've done."

Sharon is the president of the Morrisburg and District Arts and Crafts Association which brings two yearly shows to South Dundas, one in the spring and the annual Christmas show.

She, along with her fellow members, are now putting the final touches on their work for this weekend's show (November 17-18-19) at the Morrisburg Legion.

Sharon estimates that she has been creating dry and silk floral arrangements for 25-30 years.

"My dried flowers are not just dried, they are preserved which makes them a bit better quality."

Although she does preserve some of her own flowers, most are bought.

She began doing pine cone arrangements for her home. After a few sales to family and friends, who told more friends, she was on her way.

"The very first show I did was in Morrisburg. I thoroughly enjoy the Morrisburg show."

From the pine cones, she soon began adding greenery and flowers. "I now do more roses than anything else. I like the burgundy and rose shades."

Of her craft, she says,"It's always given me that out, and I enjoy meeting people. At the shows you are with people who have the same interests and you make lasting friendships."

Sharon has no formal training in floral design. She just sees something and then imagines what she can do with it.

"One idea leads to another. I've even done arrangements on wash boards and old sleighs."

Along with the unusual Sharon creates beautiful centerpieces, wreathes, swags etc. She varies her pieces and the flowers in them for the seasons and of course holidays like Christmas.

"I do a lot for people to their specifications."

"I have quite a few Christmas pieces ready for the show this year," she says. "And of course there are my bells."

Sharon's bells are brass and hang from a ribbon. They can be hung from archways or in windows. "They are big sellers. I bet I have been doing them for 20 years now."

Sharon says she is very excited about this weekend's show at the Legion.

"We have been looking for some new crafters and we have found several, who have some wonderful work."

"We have a gentleman from Martintown coming in who will bring his lathe and create pieces while people are watching."

A new artist from Ingleside will feature children's fleece sweaters and sleep wear. Another jewellery crafter and a tole painter have been added.

Sharon is extremely pleased to have guest artists Anna Bing from Mariatown and Margi Laurin, from Morrisburg. Bing designs and makes knitted hats and Laurin produces a variety of items from her "Wearable Art Jewellery" to her recycled journals and her wide variety of polymer clay products.

"We have some new fresh faces and some really nice different crafts. And of course most of our members are returning. The show is full (24 spaces), and I think everyone will be impressed."

The show runs from 12-7 p.m. this Friday, November 17, from 10-5 on Saturday and noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday. There is no admission charge. In addition to the arts and crafts the Presbyterian Church ladies will host their bake sale and have soups and sandwiches available.

The community is invited to take in the show and do a little early Christmas shopping.

tainly an eclectic group."

South Dundas councillor Johnny Whitteker said, "We've had a good council." He thanked the CAO for "steering us in the right direction," and the staff for always being helpful and friendly.

On behalf of the staff, South Dundas CAO Steve McDonald thanked council for their support and wished all of them luck in the election.

Whitteker moved the motion to adjourn the meeting.

The adjournment was followed by hand shakes, hugs and best wishes all around.

Seaway Corp. makes new appointment

CORNWALL – The St. Lawrence Seaway Management Corporation last week announced the appointment of Bruce Hodgson to the position of director, market development, effective immediately.

"We are fully committed to our approach of marketing the overall system through the Hwy H2O Brand and working in partnership with other interests to grow the business on the Seaway. Hodgson will play an important role in making this happen," said Richard Corfe, president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Management Corporation.

Hodgson will be responsible for advancing the work already underway to attract more traffic, including both traditional and new cargoes, into the Great Lakes/ Seaway system and positioning Hwy H2O as a key component of the North American intermodal transportation system.

Hodgson, who will be based in St. Catharines, has extensive marine industry experience in British Columbia. Prior to joining the Seaway, he ran his own company and previously held management and senior sales positions with Norasia Container Line Canada Ltd., Wheels Pacific Freight Systems Inc., Westwood Shipping Lines and International Sea-Land Shipping Service Ltd.

Having worked for a variety of organizations, he has developed a wide knowledge of inter-modal shipping, both nationally and internationally. "This background, along with his knowledge of transportation markets and container traffic, will be especially valuable as we market the Great Lakes / Seaway system to the world," said Corfe.

2006 Municipal Election

New look for local council

and especially being part of the local council. "It's been a way of life."

He joked that he may have to attend a few more council meetings to get himself weaned from it.

Of Gillard winning the seat, Whitteker said, "We worked 25 years together and I know what he is capable of. I think the people elected a good council."

"I didn't beat Johnny Whitteker," said Gillard. "Time did. It gets us all."

Gillard had mixed emotions about the win. "In one sense I feel good, in another it's sad to return this way," he said of having to win over his longtime friend and mentor.

"We will miss having Johnny at the council table," said Gillard.

Of being elected South Dundas' first deputy mayor Gillard said he looks forward to going to Counties Council and said he will work hard to unify council, getting everyone to work together rather than as individuals. "It's important that no matter what happens at council, you have to leave the meeting as friends," he said. That is one thing that Gillard learned from Whitteker.

"This is hard to describe," said Gillard. "I'm happy and I'm thankful to the people who voted."

In the highly contested councillor race it was Steven Byvelds who pulled the largest number of votes of all of the candidates. Byvelds earned 47 percent of the vote

"I'm pleasantly surprised," said Byvelds, adding that he is pleased with the result. "Being on top puts a bit of a burden on me. It shows that people think I can do the job, now I have to show that I can measure up."

Delbert Jones was elected to council with 41 percent of the vote.

"I'm pleased with the results," said Jones, adding that everyone ran such a good campaign that he had no idea who would win. "It's nice to be successful and I'm looking forward to the challenge of working for South Dundas."

The third councillor, and final member of the next council of South Dundas, will be Jim Graham, who earned 32 percent of the vote.

"I'm quite surprised," said Graham, who added that he believes his door-to-door campaigning helped him win the seat, as did his interest in council which he has built on over the last few years by consistently attending meetings. "Now I feel that I am current with the issues, which should make the transition to council easier for me than for someone who hasn't been there."

Evonne Delegarde finished in fourth place, 370 votes behind Graham, followed closely by Michael Ault, who was only eight votes behind her.

Barkley is the only member of the current council who will return when the inaugural meeting of the fourth council of the township of South Dundas takes place December 5, 2006.

All of the above information is based on provisional results issued by CanVote Inc., Monday evening.

Did you know that 257 shoe boxes will fill the trunks and back seats of two cars? That was what Carol (left) and Nancy Richer learned when they packed up this year's Operation Christmas Child Shoe boxes lovingly filled by the congregations of St. Mary's/St. Cecilia's parish. The operation Christmas Child project was organized by St. Mary/St. Cecilia Catholic Women's League of which Nancy Richer is the president. "We've probably been doing this for five or six years now, and it just keeps growing and growing," said Carol. This year 300 boxes were available at the two churches and 257 were returned. Carol and Nancy delivered them (in two vehicles) to the drop-off centre in Cornwall, Tuesday morning, where they were told 257 of 300 was a fabulous return. "It is amazing what people can come up with in their box," said Carol. Suggested items are small toys and personal care items. In just one box someone fit in a coloring book, crayons, two washcloths, soap, toothpaste and brush, hairbrush two small toys and a pencil and pencil sharpener. "It is amazing how much you can fit in when items are removed from their packaging." From the Cornwall drop-off, the boxes are shipped to a warehouse in Moncton. They are then shipped by ship and plane to their final destination and into the hands of a child for Christmas. The boxes from St. Mary's/St. Cecilia's, this year, are destined for several African countries.

South Dundas voters make their decision

The municipal election is now complete and the people of South Dundas have made their decision. We decided that two veteran politicians will lead us, our mayor elect Charles Barkley and deputy-mayor elect Rowdy Gillard. We also decided to put some new faces around the council table. We have placed our trust in some brand new people (Steve Byvelds, Delbert Jones and Jim Graham) to the municipal government level. We now hope that these people will breathe some fresh new life into our community, under the guidance of Barkley and Gillard who we count on for their experience and knowledge.

We congratulate all of these people who were successful in obtaining council seats and look forward to working with each and every one of them as we forge ahead to build a better South Dundas.

But it is not just those who were successful that we congratulate. We congratulate each of the individuals who threw their hat into the ring. The decision to run for a political office is not an easy one, and even at the municipal level it means giving up a lot of a person's time. It also means, all too often, a lot of criticism, and we thank each and every one for the interest they showed in our (and their) community.

We also would like to thank and congratulate those who have sat on council these past three years who were not successful in being reelected. You were elected during a time in this municipality when there was a lot of controversy and a lot of dissatisfaction. But you stuck to your guns and you accomplished everything you sat out to do, albeit, not without taking some severe criticism and perhaps not without making a few mistakes. We applaud you for making some difficult decisions with honesty and integrity and what you felt was in the best interest of the community.

We thank you mayor Lyle Van Allen, and Councillors Johnny Whitteker, Sandra Bailey and Bill Ewing for all of the time and effort you have devoted to South Dundas. BMc

Remembrance Day Service at Branch 48

A large crowd attended the Remembrance Day Service held at Morrisburg Legion Branch 48 on November 11. Above are World War II Veterans and members of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corp 338 Defiant based in Morrisburg. Below Jean Vaughan receives assistance as she lays the Silver Cross Mothers' wreath and to the right World War II Veteran John Rice salutes after laying a wreath. Rev. Jean Udall, Father R. J. Chisholm, Rev. Craig Bowers and Rev. Norene Gullens participated in the service, which was led by Legion president Gord McGregor. George Locke and Richard Vinet, who fought with the United States, for the first time laid a wreath in memory of those who lost their lives in Viet Nam. A total of 42,900 Canadians fought in Viet Nam and 325 lost their lives. In his address Rev. Craig Bowers said "We are about peace and justice. That is what is great about our land. If you don't stand together, you don't stand for very long at all." Father R. J. Chisholm asked that we pray for those now servinig in Afghanistan and for their families.

Pictured on the front page of the November 13 issue were WWII veterans, John Rice and Charlie Eamon who were among a large crowd to take in the Remembrance Day Service at the Morrisburg Legion.

Seaway High's Physical and Health Education teacher Irv Francis was concerned with the Ontario government's intention to eliminate Physical and Health Education as a compulsory course in secondary schools.

Wheeler's, Mr. Grocer store in Morrisburg became Wheeler's Valu-mart. Both Valu-mart and Mr. Grocer were owner-operated franchised stores affiliated with National Grocers.

For the second straight year, the Seaway Junior Spartan basketball team was undefeated in SD&G single A basketball action. In their latest win, Stephanie DeVries drained 11 points and Sarah Charbot and Katherine Adams had 10 points each in a 50-10 win over R-O.

Work was proceeding on the plans for a local radio station based at Seaway High.

Pictured on the front page of the November 12 issue was Charles M. Crober of Morrisburg as he was presented his 70-year jewel by the Oddfellows Lodge in Brinston. The presentation was made by Clifford Hart, Deputy Grand Master Eastern District.

Two major robberies occurred in the area. Approximately $10,000 in equipment and tools were stolen from the building on Highway 2 in Morrisburg that housed Hess Automotive, the Seaway Gas Bar and Osler's Auto Body. In Williamsburg, cash was removed from a cash box during business hours at Barclay's M&M.

Miriam Salmon was honoured in her retirement at Seaway Valley Pharmacy. Her 30-year career at the pharmacy began under Mac Wilson when the store was located on Main Street in old Morrisburg.

Tom Cassell's dream came true when he was selected as an extra and would be riding a horse in the Disney movie "The Liberators" being filmed at Upper Canada Village. Some other locals who would be in the movie as extras were Karen Cassell, Gerry Thompson, Keith Johnston, Jennifer Saunders and Ken Wood.

Headlines in the November 19 issue read: Morrisburg acclaims reeve, deputy reeve. Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough was acclaimed to that office for another two year term when at the close of nominations on Monday his was the only name in nomination. Also acclaimed was Carlton F. McInnis as deputy reeve. McInnis, who was replacing veteran deputy reeve Ed Jones, was a member of the present council. He was a former reeve and former warden of the United Counties. Six men were contesting the positions of councillor. They included Dr. Gerrard Rosenquist, Frederick Hill, Albert Belanger, Ed Jones, Harland Veinotte and Roy G. Brister.

In Williamsburg Township, present reeve, Johnny Whitteker was also acclaimed. Glen Cunningham of Mariatown was acclaimed as deputy reeve replacing current deputy reeve Ed Hanson who had decided to withdraw from municipal politics. For the three council positions voters were choosing from Graham Hess, Donald Kyle, Gordon McNairn, Robert Gillard and Dwight Crowder.

At Iroquois, the reeveship was being contested by Frank Rooney and Jack Saver. Eight people were seeking the four council chairs. They included Jim Styles, Helen Smith, Bev Hutt, Peter Swank, John Haldane, John McAllister, Clare Brown and Leo deBellefeuille.

In Matilda, incumbent reeve George Cooper was acclaimed and Lorne Strader and Dwight Gilmer were running for the deputy reeve spot. Michael Ault, Richard Zandbergen, Clarence Levere, Gerald St. Pierre, Robert Bennett, Bert Smail and Lorne Mellan were seeking the four council seats.

1966

Pictured on the front page of the November 11 issue were offensive captain Steve (Juan) Casselman and defensive captain Russell (Moe) Garlough with coach Ed Fluter as they accepted the EOSSA B High School Football Trophy. It was Homecoming Weekend at Morrisburg High School and the Morrisburg Blue Tornados jumped the gun on festivities by completing their third successive undefeated football season. Homecoming Weekend festivities began with the commencement and dance on Friday evening. On Saturday there was a parade and snake dance through Morrisburg led by the Morrisburg Legion band, the Powder Puff Football team and the boys' cheerleaders. There were chariot races, a donut dunk and a hay ride. Judy Patterson was crowned the school's Miss Blue Tornado and her princesses were Hilda Lock and Betty Scott.

1956

The November 16 issue reported Morrisburg council had hired a new clerk and new police chief for the village. Lloyd Barkley, a native of the Morrisburg District who had 10 years experience with the Pyramid Paper Products Company in Morrisburg, had been retained as municipal clerk. He held the position of office manager at the Pyramid Company. Council also made the appointment to the office of chief of police of John Rankin, 42. He had been police chief in Madoc for the past five years and received his first police training as a member of the City of Glasgow (Scotland) police force. The new chief was married with two children and planned to take up residence in Morrisburg as soon as possible. He was 42 years old.

1926

The November 12 issue reported that Fred F. Deeks, one of Morrisburg's popular young men, was married at the United Church Parsonage in Spencerville to Miss Grace Tully of New York City.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We must never forget them

Dear Editor,

Let us never forget: I have attended many Remembrance Day services in Williamsburg, with friends and relatives from that area. It is a solemn experience. However, on Saturday, I, along with thousands of others, spent almost two hours in the cold and rain, for the Remembrance Day service at the cenotaph in Ottawa (after the ceremony, a great majority laid poppies on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier).

Standing there in the crowd, listening to the service and watching the parade gave one a chance to reflect on events past. I cannot imagine lying in a fox hole or a trench for days at a time, in the mud, the snow, the rain, and the cold, with bullets flying around my head and mortars dropping near me.

The sacrifices of the men and women who fought and died for Canada during the 1st and 2nd world wars, the Korean conflict, and now Afghanistan, deserve our utmost respect. You make us proud, I salute you all.

As a young person, I did not appreciate the sacrifice our soldiers endured, even though my father and three uncles fought in Europe. One of them, my mother's brother John, did not make it home.

Many of our friends and neighbours in Morrisburg, Williamsburg, and surrounding area, had grandparents, parents, spouses, aunts, uncles, brothers and sisters, who either fought overseas or were part of the war effort. Some of them also paid the ultimate sacrifice.

Many of our Dutch neighbours played a major role in saving allied soldiers. To all of them, and those who have passed, I say thank you.

When you see young, brave soldiers of today, like Master Cpl. Collin Ryan Fitzgerald, and think of other boys who are about to serve in Afghanistan, we have to let them know they have our support, whether we believe in the conflict or not.

They put their lives on the line every day for a cause they believe in, and that is all that matters. These young men and women along with those we honour on Remembrance Day are true Canadian heroes. We must never forget them.

M. W. Locke.

Wreath laid at the Menin Gate Memorial

BELGIUM – Four times in four years, Stuart Peters of Morrisburg has travelled to France and Belgium to visit the places his father had been while serving in World War I.

Peters attended the ceremony in mid October and took with him a wreath to lay at the Menin Gate Memorial.

Every night at 8 p.m., a ceremony of remembrance is held at the Menin Gate Memorial, at the eastern end of the town of Ieper (Ypres) in Belgium.

At this ceremony, buglers from the town volunteer fire brigade play the Last Post and the Reveille. The Oath of Remembrance is recited and wreaths are laid.

The ceremony is held to remember those who gave their lives during the First World War.

Among the names engraved on panels on the walls of the memorial are the names of about 7,000 Canadian soldiers who were missing in action in Flanders (Belgium) and have no known graves. This ceremony is attended each evening by about 200 people from the town and many tourists, including school students from Great Britain who study the Great War as part of their school cirriculum.

Peters says the ceremony really has an affect on people. After the ceremony he spoke to a teenager from Britain in attendance with tears in his eyes, who told him he found the ceremony very overwhelming.

IROQUOIS LEGION NEWSLETTER

Royal Canadian Legion
Branch #370

IROQUOIS – Doubles was the order of the day as twenty players gathered in the lounge for an afternoon of cribbage.

Finishing first was Dave Krick with a score of 1062. Taking second place with 1055 was Don Hutt. Ron Perrin came in third with 1040. Taking bridesmaid honours was Patricia Casselman who just happened to have been the bridesmaid last week.

Ten skunks made an appearance but nobody got sprayed twice.

Zone cribbage takes place this upcoming Saturday, November 18. Registration will take place at noon with play to begin at 1 p.m. Regular cribbage play will be held in the lounge for those who didn't sign up for zone cribbage.

Don't forget the 5th Annual Joe McDonald Memorial Cribbage Tournament, which takes place, Saturday, November 25 at 1 p.m. sharp at the Legion. There is a $5 entry fee and winner takes all. The tournament will consist of nine games of singles play. A blind draw will determine your opponents and anyone can play, just show up.

Nine tables of euchre were played on Tuesday evening. Picking up first prize was Sharron Easter, while Jean Dunbar claimed second prize. Doris Wright held low score for the evening.

Duplicate bridge was cancelled.

The Pot of Gold winner was Joel Adams, who was not signed in.

The Friday meal will be Swiss Steak with gravy, mashed potatoes and vegetables.

These past weeks have been a significant time at our Branch. We held our Poppy Campaign, and our Remembrance Services for the schools. We sent representatives to Dixon's Corners Public School and Seaway High School for services. Iroquois Public School came to the Legion for their service. We are quite fortunate to have then visit, as we have so much to show them. They did a lovely service.

Then on Saturday, November 11, the service was held at Matilda Hall with a decent crowd attending.

The Remembrance Services have come and gone, but we must never forget the supreme sacrifices there have been for us. We often take for granted our Canadian values and institutions, our freedom, to participate in cultural and political events and our right to live under a government of our choice.

The Canadians who went off to war in distant lands went in the belief that the values and ideals enjoyed by all Canadians were being threatened, they truly believed that without freedom there can be no ensuring of peace and without peace no enduring freedom. "Lest we forget."

Before closing, our thoughts and prayers are extended to our Comrade Willis Douglas, who is currently convalescing we hope you are well on the mend you are missed by all.

Don't forget the Legion General Meeting, Thursday, November 16, 7:30 p.m. Hope to see you there.

Until next week-take care.

Obituaries

William "Bill" Wert

A lifetime resident of the area, William "Bill" Wert passed away October 30, 2006, at Winchester District Memorial Hospital, where he had been since September 18. He was 72 years old.

Bill lived nine years in Morrisburg and previously lived at Long Sault and North Lunenburg.

Born April 21, 1934, in Montreal, Quebec, Bill was the son of the late Cecil Edgar Wert and the late Wilda O'Flaherty.

He leaves behind his dear wife Doreen (Wereley) who he married, September 18, 1954, in Osnabruck at the Willis United Church, North Lunenburg.

He was the loving father of Michael (Cathy) Wert of Frenchman Butte, Saskatchewan, Shell-Lee Wert (Leslie Comrie) of North Vancouver, British Columbia, and Melinda Wert (Chris Wouters), Iroquois, Ontario.

He will be missed by his grandchildren Kayle, Brady, Blayne, and Logan Wert all of Frenchman Butte, Saskatchewan.

Bill was a graduate of Finch High School and Williams College in Montreal.

He worked for 39 years as a welder for Domtar and retired from there in 1992. Bill was also a farmer.

He was a member of Royal Canadian Legion Branch #48 in Morrisburg and a member of Lakeshore Drive United Church.

A celebration of life gathering was held November 5, with Rev. Craig Bowers officiating.

Memorial donations were directed to the Cornwall SPCA because of the family's dedication to the rescue of four-footed creatures.

Grace Loretta Casselman (VanderVelde)

Grace Loretta Casselman passed away November 6, 2006, at the Ottawa General Hospital, following a lengthy illness (5.5 years). She was 37 years old.

Formerly of Calgary, Alberta, Grace moved to Ottawa just a few short months ago.

Born August 30, 1969, in Kingston, Ontario, Grace was the cherished daughter of the late Reverend Robert Carl Casselman, who passed away in April, 2005, and Reverend Lorna May Morrison, who survives.

December 28, 1991, Grace married her beloved husband Douglas Henry VanderVelde at the Kemptville Pentecostal Church, with her father, Rev. Robert Casselman and Rev. Brent Russett officiating.

She was the beloved wife of Douglas and loving mother of Adam.

She was the dear sister of Ruth Casselman (George Tsintzouras) and Sara Casselman (Reginald Tang), both of Kitchener.

She was a mentor to Ruth and took on a care-giving role with Sara.

Grace is also survived by Doug's parents Kathy and Hank VenderVelde of Ottawa, and many aunts, uncles, cousins and friends.

Grace was a journalist, editor and author.

She was a gentle soul with a vivid imagination; she loved to read books, paint pictures and play the piano.

From an early age, she showed a high level of determination, and took on challenges that others would have avoided. Her quiet nature was mistaken for shyness, but she was never shy.

From early on, Grace knew that she was going to be a achiever. Grace was an excellent student, an Ontario Scholar in high school, who went on to graduate university with a Bachelor's Degree in Journalism.

Growing up a minister's daughter, Grace moved from parish to parish. In total she attended five elementary schools and two high schools. She often said while it was somewhat traumatic always being "the new kid", that experience helped her later in life to adapt to new situations.

During her career Grace worked for many years as a business and technology journalist in Toronto, writing for a number of prominent newspapers such as the National Post, the Globe and Mail and the Calgary Herald. She also edited technology magazines, and that work gave her the chance to travel around the world, and meet people like Microsoft's Bill Gates and Apple's Steve Jobs.

In more recent years, she transitioned her career into being a young adult novelist; She penned and successfully published A Walk in the Park and A Hole in the Hedge and her last novel A Light Through the Dark is currently in the final stages of editing.

Grace and Doug's son Adam arrived on September 27, 2000. Adam was Grace's pride and joy; and he became one of the most significant motivations in her fight to survive.

In 2001, Grace was diagnosed with an extremely serious form of Lupus, which included serious muscle inflammation and weakness, and within weeks she was struggling for life. Since that time there were many ups and downs. She developed the severity of her symptoms she spent weeks and months in hospital. During that time she wrote a book called Knocked Off My Knees. She said she wanted to pass along what she learned about the disease, the medical system, and offer guidance to those caring for the chronically ill.

Grace was a woman of great faith in God. Anyone who knew her was thankful that their lives intertwined and they had the opportunity richer beyond measure.

Friends called at the Parker Funeral Home, in Morrisburg, November 8. The funeral service was held November 9, at the Morrisburg Pentecostal Tabernacle, with Pastor Duncan Perry officiating. Interment followed at Fairview Cemetery, Mariatown. Pallbearers were George Tsintzouras, Reginald Tang, Larry Casselman, Ken Casselman, Jeff VanderVelde and Reg Rivette.

Memorial donations to the Lupus Foundation or Canadian Cancer Society are gratefully acknowledged by the family. Condolences or donations may be made at parkerfh@personainternet.com

Howard Ray Linnen

Howard Ray Linnen, who lived most of his life in Iroquois, passed away, suddenly, November 9, at Winchester District Memorial Hospital. He was 77 years old.

Born April 7, 1929, in Medicine Hat, Alberta, Howard was the son of the late James Linnen and the late Elsie Sloan.

He was brother to Loretta Crowder of Williamsburg, Beatrice Walker and her husband of Pennsylvania and Patricia Waddell of Iroquois. He is also survived by a sister-in-law Joyce Linnen.

He was predeceased by his brother Leslie Linnen, his brother-in-law Claude Crowder, his niece Linda and nephew Ronnie.

Howard lived in Hazlet, Saskatchewan until 1937.

He worked as office manager for Dominion Textile in Long Sault.

Howard was a great brother, uncle, friend and community volunteer. His love of animals aspired him to become the most reliable dog sitter in the neighbourhood, who always had a treat in his pocket for his four-legged friends.

He enjoyed gardening and spent many hours helping others create splendid displays of colour in their own gardens. His friends, young and old, could often be found visiting under the shade of the maple tree that Howard and his father planted 50 years ago.

He was a dedicated and proud member of the village of Iroquois. This was evident in his past memberships in the Lions Club, Odd Fellows, Carman House Museum Board, and the Knox Presbyterian Cemetery Committee. Howard worked tirelessly on the building maintenance of the Knox Church and the manse and spent many winter nights ensuring the village children had fresh ice to skate on.

Howard's care and compassion for others was recognized in 1997, when he was named citizen of the year.

He will be sadly missed by his nieces, nephews, friends and many neighbourhood animals.

In the spirit of Howard's life, keep it simple.

Friends called at Marsden and McLaughlin Funeral Home, Iroquois, on Saturday. Funeral was held Sunday, November 12, at Knox Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Geoffrey Howard officiating. Interment of cremated remains was at Knox Cemetery. Pallbearers were Ernie Schuck, Gifford Collison, Tom Waddell, Ron Lapier, Scott Elliott, Mike Osbourne and Peter Brechill.

Donations to the Diabetes Association or a charity of choice are gratefully acknowledged.

Ice booms in this week

CORNWALL – Ontario Power Generation wishes to advise hunters, anglers and recreational boaters on the St. Lawrence River that ice booms will be installed in narrow stretches of the river between Iroquois and Prescott over the period of November 13 and 26, 2006.

Final closure of the booms will take place around the end of December or when the water temperature reaches freezing point.

Ice booms are placed in the St. Lawrence River off Galop Island, in the North Channel, near Johnstown and at Prescott each November. They are removed in the Spring when the ice has melted, before the St. Lawrence Seaway shipping season commences.

These chain-and-wood booms are used to prevent the build-up of ice during the winter. They ensure an even freeze on the river, helping to improve power generation during the winter months.

All users of the river should take extra care in the narrow reaches where the work is being undertaken to install the booms.

Ontario Power Generation would like to remind boaters to take every precaution around its dams and generating stations, and to practice safety on Ontario's waterways.

Look good

WINCHESTER– On Wednesday, November 1, the Look Good Feel Better program offered a workshop at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, hosted by program coordinators Linda Johnson, RN and volunteer Carol Hollingdrake.

Ann Isabelle Pedro, Regional Manager of Look Good Feel Better was on hand to lend her support and expertise to the participants and volunteers.

The program is sponsored by the Canadian Cosmetic, Toiletry and Fragrance Association, and each participant received a complimentary tool kit rich in samples donated by the CCTFA.

Ten women with cancer attended the workshop and enjoyed an informative afternoon of encouragement, fun and camaraderie.

Look Good Feel Better is a national public service program dedicated to helping Canadian women living with cancer manage the appearance-related side effects of cancer and its treatment.

Improved self-image offers a boost to morale, making women better able to face their disease.

WDMH, which offers a chemotherapy service in partnership with The Ottawa Hospital, is a strong supporter of the program, and initiated the Winchester branch, which offers it's services in the Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry counties.

Launch Site Key to All Mortall Things

Local author Maggie Wheeler (pictured above), invited the media, local dignitaries and the public to the launch of her third novel, All Mortall Things, last Thursday evening at the Nightingale House Bed and Breakfast in Ingleside. Although the name is different the historic home, one of the largest frame houses moved during the St. Lawrence Seaway Project, serves as the setting for Wheeler's latest murder mystery. The room behind Wheeler is the room at the home where the murder took place. Comfort photo

Maggie Wheeler series continues

INGLESIDE – The scene of the crime was the backdrop for Maggie Wheeler's latest book, All Mortall Things.

Last Thursday evening, the official launch of Wheeler's third novel in the Lost Villages murder mystery series, "A series I didn't know I was going to write," says Wheeler, was held at the Nightingale House Bed and Breakfast in Ingleside.

Although the name changes in the novel, the Nightingale House is the setting for this novel, and one of characters is based on the woman who owns and operates the B&B.

This work has allowed Wheeler a number of new opportunities.

"This is Jerry's story, not Farran's," says Wheeler.

This book is based on the popular character from her previous novels, Inspector Jerry Strauss.

In her previous novels, working with the history of the Seaway Wheeler has explored the types of relationships people have in their lives. First it was the parent-child relationship in A Violent End, then it was friendship in Brother of Sleep and now All Mortall Things explores the relationship that you have with yourself.

"For me it's been quite a journey," says Wheeler.

This book is Wheeler's first locked house mystery and is written in the third person, unlike her first two novels which are written in the first person.

This novel is significantly shorter than the first two, which reflects Wheeler's attempt to capture the view point of a man. "It's a man I created and I hope I got it right," she says.

Wheeler will write one more novel in this series and she expects to launch it in 2008.

Wheeler's first two novels are in their third printing and are regional best sellers.

South Dundas workplaces receive health awards

CORNWALL – Eight deserving workplaces were presented with the Bronze level of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit Workplace Health Award during the Workplace Health Workshop on November 7 at the Nav Canada Conference Centre.

The Workplace Health Award recognizes the efforts made by workplaces in encouraging their employees to develop and maintain a healthy lifestyle.

Many workplaces within the five Eastern Counties were nominated but only eight were selected to receive the bronze award.

This year's recipients are: Tulmar Safety Systems Inc., Hartford Retirement Centre, Chateau Gardens, St. Lawrence Seaway Management Corporation, Ross Video, Corporation of the City of Clarence -Rockland, Maxville Manor and SKS Kerr-Beaver Dental.

"Being that this is the first year we put out the challenge to local workplaces, we are very happy with the results. The challenge is now out to all other workplaces to follow the lead of our champions who strive to provide healthy environments for their employees," said Darlene Rose, Program Coordinator, Workplace Health.

The Cornwall Community Hospital was recently presented with the Silver level of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit Workplace Health Award during the Ontario Public Health Association 2006 Annual Conference held on October 27, at the NavCanada Conference Centre.

Dr. Sheela Basrur, Chief Medical Officer of Health for Ontario and Assistant Deputy Minister, Public Health Division, presented the award. The Cornwall Community Hospital is the only workplace to achieve the Silver level of the Eastern Ontario Health Unit's Workplace Health Award in 2005-2006.

Cole Beckstead, eight-year-old son of Ernie and Lisa Beckstead had a very good season on the football field in Cornwall this past summer and fall, and topped it all off when he was named "Wildcat of the Year" at the league banquet on November 4.

Cole Beckstead named "Wildcat of the Year"

MORRISBURG – Eight-year-old Cole Beckstead, a grade 3 student at Morrisburg Public School, says he loves to play football... and hockey ... and soccer...and baseball...and I'd like to play lacrosse but mom and dad won't let me.

Currently, football is at the top of Cole's list and for good reason. Cole wrapped up a successful football season in the Cornwall Wildcats program ("Tykes" level) at the year-end banquet on Saturday, November 4 when he was presented, not just the Heart and Soul award for his team, but the "Wildcat of the Year" award.

"That's for all of the organization...everybody," explains Cole. "It's the MVP of all the teams even the 16 years olds."

Asked why he felt he had earned the honour, he replied, "It was because at the first I couldn't tackle but by the end of the year I was amazing." (To qualify the use of the word amazing, he leans over and says, "I like to use big words.")

"I always brought my game, and I always got my team pumped for the game."

As a left linebacker, Cole says he "recovered at least four fumbles".

Although only eight years old, Cole played with nine and 10 year olds in the Tyke division. The program is set up in age categories but weight and size are also factors. Cole's 80 pounds meant he moved up a category.

"He was playing with the nine and 10 year olds and in some cases giving up 30 pounds," explains his mom Lisa.

The Wildcats played in an Ottawa League. "We weren't even expected to win a game," says Cole who wears the Wildcats #4 sweater. "But we did. Just one though."

In addition to being named Wildcat of the Year, Cole won the Heart and Soul Award for his Tykes team.

"I always got my team ready to go, and I was at every practice."

The football program ran from June through October and was thoroughly enjoyed by Cole and older brother Marc.

There are no football programs in South Dundas and it is no longer played at the local schools. Some other local youngsters who participated in the Wildcats program were Riley and Trevor Nicolaassen, Tom Keyes, Donovan and Nick Hogan, Chris and Adam Tindal and Lucas Stewart.

"There were team tryouts and it was very disciplined. It's a very good organization."

Cole agrees remembering how his coach made him "run two laps around the football field once. "

Thomas meets goal, finishes in top 40

IROQUOIS–Seaway District High School's long distance runner Nick Thomas capped off a successful season last week when he placed 39th out of 250 runners at the OFSAA Cross-country meet in Thunder Bay.

Thomas flew to Thunder Bay accompanied by his mother Ilona with the objective of placing in the top 40 at the junior boys level.

The Thunder Bay course at 6,380m was a longer course than those experienced at the SD&G held in Cornwall and EOSSA which was run in Cobden.

At the SD&G Thomas finished first with a time of 20 minutes and 10 seconds, claiming the championship a full three minutes ahead of his closest competition.

The next run was EOSSA which was held at Cobden. There he claimed a fourth place finish with a time of 19 minutes, 36 seconds. The fourth place finish qualified him to advance to last week's All-Ontario.

"I ran pretty well. There was a group of four in front and then a gap. I was about 15 seconds behind first place."

Nick explains the length of the course, the terrain and the weather are all factors in times.

He says the runners thought the weather might be a major factor in North Bay, but it wasn't bad. "It didn't snow and it was only about -2°C."

A highlight of the North Bay trip was the opportunity to meet two of the Trailer Park Boys, Mr. Lahey (John Dunsworth) and Randy (Patrick Roach) who were present at the airport.

"I had a lot of fun. My goal was to finish in the top 40 and I did it. The level of competition was very high."

Nick trains year round in Brockville under coach Bob Tucker. He has been a member of the Brockville club for about a year and a half. His Seaway coaches are Lilace McIntyre and Tracy Henderson.

His next big run is coming up on November 19 when he runs in the OTFA club championship. He will run some indoor off-season meets and will be ready for the track and field season in the spring.

On the track Nick runs the 1,500 and 3000m races. He was last year's SD&G high school champion in both events at the midget boys level.

"I like running the longer distances. Six-K is a good distance for me he says of this year's cross-country season.

Nick has been distance running since he was in elementary school and now runs about 50-55 km a week for training. "Over the summer I worked on building up my mileage."

Nick's goal for the 2007 track season is to lower his personal times in the 1,500 and 3,000m.

Record result at first time moose hunt

Bonnie McNairn
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG – It was a day for a lot of firsts for 16-year-old Brad Munro of Morrisburg.

It was just before 8 a.m. on the first day of his first moose hunt (October 7) when Brad and his dad, Ron, spotted something moving some 330 yards away.

They hit the ground, counted to three and fired. It was Brad's first shot fired while moose hunting and it resulted in his first harvest.

It gets even better than that. Not only did Brad successfully make the hit, (dad missed by the way) but he brought down the biggest moose harvested in the Elk Lake area in the past 18 years.

The previous record was held by Wayne Dillabough who also hunts with the Chesterville party of 13.

The exact weight of Brad's catch is unknown but it dressed at 980 pounds so it is being estimated at about 1,600 pounds. Its wrack measured 46.25 inches across and it is estimated he was 4-5 years old.

Brad says it was a wonderful experience and admits to shaking a bit.

"Ron was still trying to educate Brad on the land when they looked over and spotted it," says his mom Janet.

"We were up on a big rock and dad had called a few times. It was a fluke we were there. Dad had shot one the year before and everybody went to that area."

"After we spotted him we crawled about 30 yards closer. We were laying prone, and Dad said we would fire on the count of three."

"I was shaking a bit and my dad was breathing pretty hard. I thought maybe he was having an asthma attack or something."

On the count of three both fired and the moose took off. After searching unsuccessfully they figured they had missed him. "He had run about 100 yards into the bush and dropped."

Brad regrets that his grandfather, Lyle Munro of Chesterville, was unable to be at the hunt.

"Brad's grandfather has hunted there for the last 37 years and has never shot a moose," says Janet. "Brad goes his first year and shoots one."

"I phoned him the day of to tell him," says Brad.

Brad was using a 30.06 rifle and the moose was hit just once. It was determined, when it was dressed, that it was Brad's and not his dad's.

A grade 11 student at Seaway, this is Brad's second year of hunting, but his first to hunt moose. He hunted deer locally last year.

Obviously, he enjoyed his first experience, both in the field and back at camp. "It was loud but it was fun. We had a lot of food, and by 9 p.m. we were falling asleep."

Brad Munro "Wracks" Up a Big One

Brad Munro holds the wrack from the 1,600 pound (estimated) bull moose he shot on his first-ever moose hunt at Elk Lake, Ontario on Saturday, October 7. The wrack has a 46.25 inch spread.

Seaway wins SD&G volleyball crown with spectacular comeback

The Seaway District High School Junior Boys Volleyball team was facing elimination on their home court Monday afternoon when they turned it up a notch to claim the SD&G championship. The Spartans lost their opening two sets against La Citadelle 25-21 and 25-17 and were facing elimination in the best-of-five match when they began their comeback. They got off with a solid start in game three quickly moving into a lead and never looked back as they posted their first win 25-13. Game four was a hard fought affair with Seaway hitting for win number two 25-19, to force the fifth and final game. Again it remained close until Seaway took a 13-11 lead. They got to within reach of the win at 14-11, but then faltered and let the Patriotes in for a single point (14-12). That would be it and the Spartans finished it off 15-12 for the 2006 SD&G Championship. Pictured above the champs are Scott Hallam (with the trophy). Kneeling, l-r, Thomas Corden, Spencer Peters, Tommy Keyes and Nick Thomas. Back, l-r, coach Julie Iwachniuk, Drew Morrow, Brett Baker, Josh Veltkamp, Jody Shearer and assistant coach Matt Hummell. The Junior Spartans now advance to EOSSA which they expect will be played this Friday at Ernest Town near Kingston.

Jr. B Lions on a big roll

MORRISBURG–The Morrisburg Junior B Lions did it again. For the second consecutive weekend they swept their games in the St. Lawrence Division of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey league.

The two wins (7-4 over Char-Lan and 7-3 over Gananoque), combined with other weekend results, puts them in a solid fourth place position and moves them to where they can now seriously threaten the top three St. Lawrence Division teams.

Division leading Alexandria (24 points) had a tough weekend losing to Gananoque 4-2 and Westport 6-3. Kemptville (22 points) also came up short on the weekend losing to Gananoque 4-2 and Athens 4-3.

Looking solid are the Winchester Hawks who are tied with Kemptville and have three games in hand.

The Lions got the weekend rolling on home ice Friday night with a 7-4 win over the Char-Lan Rebels.

It was a close game right through the second period (tied 1-1 at the end of the first and 2-2 at the end of the second), but the Lions blew it wide open in the third with five consecutive goals for a 7-4 win.

"Everybody's playing really well," says coach Eddy Gove. "Our specialty units are working really well, everybody is healthy and our goaltenders are giving us a chance to win."

Vince Quesnel opened the scoring for the Rebels early in the first period of Friday night's game, but that effort was cancelled at 14:30 when Ian McKay scored on the Lions' power play with help from Tyler Lafortune.

The 1-1 tie held until late in the second period when the Rebels again took the lead, this time on a Bailey MacDonald goal at 17:32. Just over a minute later (18:59) Kyle Lagace and Kalvin O'Brien provided the setup for a Chad Galipeau counter and the second period ended in a 2-2 tie.

At 4:44 of the third, Philip Theriault gave the Rebels a 3-2 lead, but then the Lions took over and it was their game the rest of the way.

Chad Galipeau tied the game 3-3 at 5:22 and that was followed by goals from Ryne Gove (7:48), Cory Gove (power play at 10:42), Ryan Wong (13:31) and Justin Elliott (shorthanded at 15:34).

The Rebels counted one more against Lions' goaltender Michel Bouchard at 19:09 and the Lions hung on for the 7-4 win.

The Lions drew 12 minor penalties and scored two power-play goals on 11 minors assessed to the Rebels. The Rebels struck once on their power play.

Sunday in Gananoque, the Lions fell behind in the first period 2-0, the Islanders counting goals from Tom Dickson and Curtis Peters.

Less than one minute into the second period Ryne Gove put the Lions on the scoreboard (power play goal :56) with help from Galipeau and Justin Elliott. At 2:32 Cory Gove struck for the Lions second power-play goal with Galipeau and Brett Conway providing the assists.

The 2-2 tie held until 10:25 when Max Gordanier pushed the Islanders ahead 3-2.

Tyler Lafortune put the Lions back on track tying the game 3-3 at 11:50 and then, for the first time in the game, Justin Elliott (on the power play) gave the Lions the lead at 14:20 with Cory Gove and O'Brien assisting.

The Lions carried their 4-3 advantage into the third period and then scored another three power-play goals to collect the 7-3 win.

Ryne Gove got it going at 7:44 with Galipeau assisting, then it was Cory Gove from Galipeau and Elliott at 10:20. Tyler Lafortune counted the Lions seventh goal at 19:57 with Ryan Wong and Galipeau providing the assists.

Andrew Pearson was in net for the Lions giving up the three goals on 28 Islanders' shots.

The Lions blasted Islanders' goaltender Chris Feniak with 44 shots and collected six of seven goals on the power play.

The Lions drew 15 minor penalties and the Islanders sat out 16.

"Andrew (Pearson) played really well in net and our power play is really working," says Gove who continues to run with two lines on their power play.

He also noted the defense has tightened up and the Lions were better able to stay out of the penalty box.

"The type of team we have is always going to take penalties. But if we can keep it to eight to 10 per game, we can live with that."

Coming up this weekend the Lions host Akwesasne Friday night (November 17) at 8:30 p.m. in their lone game of the weekend. Next Thursday, November 23 they are on the road to Kemptville for an 8:15 p.m. match.

"Akwesasne just beat us so we don't want to look past them," says Gove of the Lions upcoming action.

Midget B Lions stretch streak to seven games

MORRISBURG–The South Dundas Midget B Lions posted another pair of wins on the weekend to stretch their undefeated streak to seven games.

The Lions opened it on home ice Saturday, with an 8-2 win over the NGS Braves and polished it off Sunday in Alexandria with a 4-2 win over the Glens.

Sam Wensink got it rolling for the Glens on Saturday putting them up 1-0 at 7:02 of the first period.

That sparked the Lions who came back for three in a row, two from Jay Keller and a single from Andrew Hutt. Daniel Stevens assisted on both of the Keller goals.

With 44 seconds left in the first period Jordan Villeneuve beat Lions' goaltender Lucas Stewart for what would be the final Braves' goal of the game.

The Lions went up 4-2 with Keller's third goal (assisted by Joshua Veltkamp) in the second period.

The third frame belonged entirely to the Lions as they counted another four goals for the 8-2 win.

Keller collected his fourth and Patrick Chesbro, Connor Hodgson, and Matt Hanson added singles.

Thomas Corden provided his help on two goals and Thomas Keyes and Spencer Peters had one assist each.

On Sunday, the Lions travelled to Alexandria where they led the Glens 2-0 after the first period and 3-2 after two as they headed for a 4-2 win.

Andrew Hutt (Connor Hodgson assisting) and Hodgson (unassisted) counted the Lions' first period goals.

Jay Keller counted the Lions second period goal with help from Peters and Matt Hanson and Andrew Hutt finished it off in the third with help from Hodgson and Kris Quirouette.

Spartan's Scrawl

by Matthew Goodmurphy
Student Reporter

IROQUOIS – Since the last Spartan's Scrawl Seaway has been busy with a number of events.

Seaway came alive with the sights and sounds of Hallowe'en and was witness to the creativity and originality of its students, many of whom wore creative costumes for Tuesday's festivities.

In an effort to promote the holiday, Student Council President Ryan Heyn even dressed himself as a woman and paraded the halls in a mini-skirt and heels, challenging other costume-goers to compete in a lunch-time fashion show.

While Ryan did take first place, second place was awarded to Sean Elliot who dressed himself as a Russian dancer. Erin Fader, who disguised herself as a life-size beer keg, won third place in the contest.

Other memorable costumes included Alice-in-Wonderland, the Green Giant, Batman, and a two-seater schoolbus with wheels that transported students between classes. "Alot of students participated this year," stated Student Council Secretary Katherine Choi, "more than I've ever seen in my whole time here at Seaway."

Participation was also high in the annual Hallowe'en Door Decorating Contest, an activity in which MSIP classes competed to create the spookiest doors.

Among the winners was door decorated with The Shining as a theme, where a cardboard axe jutted out from the door and the phrase "Here's Johnny!" played repeatedly in a sinister voice.

For their efforts, contest winners were rewarded with Hallowe'en Hoot Bags and other spooky prizes.

Other Hallowe'en activities at the school included the sale and distribution of Hallowe'en-o-grams by the Prom Committee, a fund-raiser in which students pre-purchased candy packages from the Prom Committee and had them delivered to friends or to themselves on the day of Hallowe'en. "All proceeds go to Prom Committee," said President Kristen Phifer, "and all the money we raise will help us start planning prom." The fund-raiser was a huge success and over 150 of the candy packages were sold.

Last week at Seaway, a slew of sporting events filled the school with excitement and encouraged students to show thier school spirit. On Wednesday, the Prom Committee hosted a student-teacher dodgeball game during MSIP to raise funds which would allow them to start planning for this year's prom. While there was some moderate cheating from the teacher line, students deemed the game a huge success and were happy to see the intense competition between favourite teachersand a team of seniors. No clear winner could be chosen, and after an hour of competing, both sides were happy with a draw. "It was a lot of fun," said event planner Sarah Mackler, "and there was a lot of school spirit." The event raised more than $300, and will be key in helping our Prom Committee to start their intensive planning.

Also in the realm of sports, Seaway was home to a number of volleyball competitions over the past week and saw great successes in both the junior and senior teams. Lead by Ms. May, the Junoir Boy's team competed in their regional semifinals against the General Vanier Vikings.

Through teamwork and determination, the team was able to win their first set 25 to 23. Player Scott Hallam showed great skill in this match, helping his fellow team members to work together and achieve these positive results. While they lost their second set 17 to 25, their decisive victory came about in the third set, where they achieved a score of 25 to 20. "I was really impressed with their performance," said coach Ms May, "and I really hope they'll do well in the upcoming finals."

The senior team also showed great improvement this year, both winning and losing several inter-school competitions. It was a good season for the team, and all members showed a great deal of progress and personal improvement. Showing much team work and positive encouragement, the senior team won several games in the fierce regional competition, and put forth a valiant effort. Congratulation goes out to all members of the team.

The Week In Curling

Sydney Schnurr, the Morrisburg Curling Club's Little Rocks coach, reports that she has 30 students, and is looking for people able to come out on one occasion each to help her on the ice. One night has already been spoken for by a volunteer. She asks that those interested sign up on the sheet by the kitchen.

Sydney also reports to us that we now have a total of 10 bantam and 10 junior curlers. Our young athletes do well in competition, and with some help to hone their skills, they'll be off curling throughout Eastern Ontario again this year.

Alice Thompson, Susan McIntosh, Sandra Beckstead and Dorothy Culkin drove to Cornwall last Monday for a senior ladies' bonspiel. They played teams from Russell and Prescott, had a good time, and brought home prizes.

Three Russell teams came to Morrisburg for their first Friendly Mixed match with us last week. Wally McDonald, Susan McIntosh, Doug Jarvis and Cheryl Thompson tied with their opponents.

However, the other two local teams were not so kind. Alice Thompson, Bob Burgess and Walter Reid, and Don O'Brien, Dave King, Gerry Thompson and Dorothy Culkin won handily.

It was a very pleasant morning, visiting with old friends from our sister club, and making new friends. The contests were followed by a filling lunch. Unfortunately, there were no jokes or stories afterwards on this occasion. Our curlers will be paying a return visit to Russell in January.

On Wednesday, one of our senior ladies foursomes competed in Richmond. Alice Thompson, Susan McIntosh, Dorothy Culkin and Sharon Van Allen defeated teams from Carleton Heights and Perth, and finished third out of 14 teams. They returned home with fine prizes and raved about an excellent lunch and a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Friday saw the senior mixed team of Steve Thompson, Susan McDonald, Wayne Pulfer and Alice Thompson venture west for a bonspiel in Prescott. They played two tight matches against Kemptville, but came out on the short end of both.

On the weekend, John Toonders, Leanne McCooeye, and Allan and Heather Black entered a mixed bonspiel in Cornwall. They played a game Friday night and two on Saturday against teams from Cornwall and other clubs. While they didn't come home as champions, they cleaned up at the prize table and enjoyed the huge, two-day event.

This week, one of our senior ladies' teams has a full day planned at Brockville, and senior men's foursomes are entered in bonspiels at neighbouring clubs.

Saturday is a busy day, with the annual Women's Invitational Bonspiel being held at the local club. Meanwhile, the Wilson and Cooper mixed teams will be in Winchester for the annual Gamble competition. We'll have all of the results in the paper next Wednesday.

Our Board of Directors meets next Monday night, with a number of important items on the agenda. President Joe McCooeye reports that Greta McGann was able to arrange for a new bar fridge for the lounge. The challenge will be to get the big old cooler through the doors, and to get the new one in. Is anyone looking for a large, used cooler? Does anyone have a suggestion as to how to extract it from the bar?

That's it for now.

Good curling to all!
