PCBs stored in Iroquois

JUDITH O'BRIEN
Leader staff

IROQUOIS — Despite reservations by Iroquois Village Council permission has been given to Ontario Hydro to store PCB waste material at the Iroquois Dam Transformer Vault.

The vault is located on lot 24, concession 1, Matilda Township and the PCB waste has been stored there for some time. But a plan by Ontario Hydro to move the waste to a storage site in Cornwall approved by the province's Ministry of Environment ran into fierce public opposition. The plan was cancelled and the waste will remain at the vault until it is moved to the United States for disposal.

"It is necessary to store it there while we are working out the details to move it to the United States," said Ron Robertson of MOE's Cornwall office. "It is only interim storage. The PCBs could be moved within a couple of weeks or the next six months."

The two transformers containing 1,818 litres each of PCBs and three isolation switches containing 113.7 litres of PCBs each originate from the dam. There is a vault on each side of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The American side has been dealt with but the PCBs on the Canadian side belong to the New York Power Authority.

"They will be moved but being an international shipment there are a few extra details to work out," said Robertson. "Environment Canada is involved as well as MOE, the New York Power Authority and the US EPA (Environmental Protection Agency)."

Robertson said preparations to store the PCBs have been completed. The equipment formerly in use has been taken out of service and drip pans have been placed at the bottom of all equipment. When the material is moved it will be hoisted onto a float and taken to the American side. From there the material will be moved to Model City, N.Y. where the transformers will be drained. The carcasses will be taken to a landfill site and the liquid will be brought to the Chicago area for incineration.

"There is no more risk from PCB contamination now then there was before," said Robertson. "Ontario Hydro has taken it upon itself to replace PCB units with non-PCB equipment."

Clerk Betty Marlin told councillors MOE has the final say on PCB storage.

"There's not much we can do if they are given permission to leave them there until such time as they are ready to remove them," said Reeve Frank Rooney.

Plans to amalgamate grade 7 & 8 topic in new year

JUDITH O'BRIEN
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — Plans to amalgamate grade 7 and 8 students from Morrisburg Public School, Iroquois Public School and Riverside Heights Public School into one building will be presented to parents for discussion in late January.

Ken MacLennan from the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education said the board is concerned about declining enrollment at Riverside Heights and overcrowding at Iroquois, where three portable classrooms are currently in use.

Enrollment at Riverside Heights fell to 42 students this year, down from 73 in 1986. At Iroquois 231 students are registered.

"The matter will be reviewed and we expect to meet with the communities concerned to discuss options," said MacLennan. "We're not only concerned with declining enrollment and overcrowding but the possibility of triple grading."

The increased enrollment of 285 students at Morrisburg Public School has forced some changes to its annual Christmas concert.

MPS Principal Dick Turner said this year's concert will only include students from kindergarten to grade 3. The older children enrolled in grades 4 through 8 will help with minor preparations for the concert but will mostly work on individual classroom activities.

"We have too many kids enrolled and to put a program together for them all takes too much time in relation to the actual concert time," said Turner. "In the past we've given up a fair amount of school time for concert preparation and I know that was a concern of some parents and teachers that we were giving up too much learning time."

The scaled down Christmas concert will work on alternating years. Next year's concert will feature students from grade 4 to 8.

Turner said the older students are heavily involved in a music festival and gymnastics in the Spring so activities for all students will balance out fairly. He said no one has questioned the scaling down of the Christmas concert.

"Our reasons are pretty legitimate," he said. "It's not that we don't want to do it but it is becoming too cumbersome to do."

Tricksters quiet

MORRISBURG — OPP here report a quiet Hallowe'en weekend in Morrisburg and vicinity.

Several egg throwing incidents were reported at Beckers in Morrisburg and on Maud Street.

A cucumber throwing incident was also reported in the village and an apple throwing incident on Dundas Street in Iroquois.

A building belonging to Douglas McInnis of Lot 11, Concesion 2, Matilda Township was set on fire as part of a Hallowe'en prank. No injuries were reported and the building was valueless.

No arrests have been made.

SLPC will evaluate 23 day camping rule

MORRISBURG — The St. Lawrence Parks Commission will re-evaluate its controversial 23-day camping rule over the winter, with a final ruling expected in time for the opening of next season.

A little known rule on the books, the 23-day camping rule was enforced earlier this year after complaints by campers. The rule stated that after 23 days a camper had to move out of the park to another facility. The parks commission received close to 500 letters and telephone calls from angry campers who use the facilities all season. The rule was later modified so a camper could stay in the same park but had to vacate a particular site after 23 days.

Many campers openly defied the rule, but the parks commission defended the move saying some campers were using choice sites by the river as cottage lots, keeping the site for the entire summer and leaving visitors with less suitable sites.

The SLPC board is awaiting attendance results for the season and will talk to park rangers before making any decision.

Morrisburg-Iroquois fail to provide water sample

DOUG CARSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — The Ministry of the Environment had a hard time analyzing any waste discharges for Morrisburg and Iroquois because only one sample out of twenty-four was sent in.

Wastewater samples are sent to be analyzed for any problems, but Morrisburg only sent in one sample, in June, 1986, and Iroquois didn't send in any samples in all of 1986.

Gerry McKenna of the Cornwall district office of the Ministry of the Environment, said the villages are not required under law to submit samples, but his ministry could go to court to force samples to be provided. "If someone simply refused to supply us with samples we could get a legal order," he said.

McKenna added that he was not too concerned about the lack of samples at the plant because basically the ministry knew what the plants were doing.

McKenna also said now both plants have been supplying the ministry with samples on a regular basis. McKenna said that of all the municipalities in Ontario, around 22 did not supply the requested data.

Morrisburg Superintendent Claire Van Allen said they had been busy with problems at the plant last year, and with things under control now, have been supplying the water samples.

Also contained in the report were comments on problems Kraft Foods Ltd. in Ingleside has been having with their waste disposal.

The main problem, said McKenna, was that the biological oxygen demand, (BOD) was not in compliance with ministry regulations.

The ministry has told Kraft to submit a report to them by February on how to clear up the problem. Some temporary measures to reduce odor at the plant have been taken, but McKenna said the ministry wants more sludge removed to reduce odor even more.

Judge chastises officer convicts impaired driver

MORRISBURG — The judge may not have of approved of his methods, but did agree with the testimony of Joe Roach and ended up convicting a Dundela area man of impaired driving.

Roach, an officer with the Morrisburg detachment of the O.P.P. was driving home from work west on Highway 2 at around 6:05 p.m. Sept. 4, when he noticed a car heading towards him, swerving from the shoulder of the highway to the dividing line.

Roach testified in provincial court Nov. 3 that as the car got closer to him it crossed the dividing line completely, forcing Roach to pull over onto the shoulder of the highway.

After a slight problem getting his car pointed in the right direction Roach testified he tried to follow the car but lost sight of it.

He noticed a similar type car ahead of him heading out of Morrisburg going east on Highway 2.

Roach caught up to the car near the Rohm and Haas plant, only to discover it was a different vehicle than the one that had forced him off the road.

Roach then pulled into the driveway at Rohm and Haas and was prepared to head west on highway 2 when he once again observed a car like the one that had run him off the road, and this car was swerving back and forth. Roach followed the vehicle, pulled up beside him, identified the driver as one he had first encountered, and waved for the driver to pull over.

Roach then pulled up behind the car, walked to the door, told the driver he was under arrest for impaired driving, picked him up by the armpits and threw him into the ditch. He then placed the man on the ground, cuffed his hands behind his back, dragged him up the embankment and made him kneel between the two parked cars until more officers could arrive.

When the judge asked Roach why he threw the man down into

Sewer investigated

MORRISBURG — An engineer from the Ottawa-based firm of Totten, Sims and Hubicki arrived in Morrisburg Friday to study the problems with the village's sewer project.

The firm was selected by council at last month's meeting to investigate the sewer system and offer a second opinion on its design and effectiveness. Council is unhappy with the original design by engineer Derek Wilson.

Bruce Miller, who is handling the project for Totten, Sims and Hubicki, said he was not in a position at this stage to reveal anything about the project.

"We cannot say too much until we file our report with the village," he said. "That will take some time but we have advised the village we will have a preliminary report ready near the end of November."

Miller said he or a representative of his firm would attend the council meeting to present the report. When asked if there were any major problems with the sewer system, Miller declined to comment.

Trendy or scary?

Morrisburg Public School students celebrated Hallowe'en in style last week at their school party. The halls were filled with ghosts, goblins, witches and plenty of other indescribable creatures. Left to right Laural Brister, Amber Sager and Stacey Hitsman show off their lesser known selves.

LET US REMEMBER THOSE WHO GAVE

They went with songs to the battle,
they were young,
Straight of limb, true of eye,
steady and aglow,
They were staunch to the end
against odds uncounted
They fell with their faces to the foe.

They shall not grow old, as we that
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn,
At the going down of the sun and in the morning,
We will remember them.

Village to proceed with water treatment

IROQUOIS — At their meeting Tuesday night Iroquois councillors decided to proceed with bioaugmentation treatment at the water protection control plant.

In a letter addressed to council, Rick Eamon, Senior Environmental Officer at the Ministry of Environment's Cornwall office said he had no objections to the trial treatment.

He said the treatment will help remove soap scums and reduce the quantity of sludge produced which will be a benefit to the village by reducing the cost of sludge removal. However to determine the economics of using this product, Eamon said the village would have to compare the savings on sludge removal versus the cost of the product.

He has agreed to take 24-hour composite samples twice a week during the trial period and have the samples analyzed at MOE's Kingston laboratory.

Council has agreed to donate $50 towards the Celebration '88 fund in Iroquois-Matilda. The Celebration '88 committee will mark the passage of the Olympic Flame through Iroquois on Dec. 17, the 31st day of the flame's 88-day journey to Calgary.

Councillor Joan Saver, who is a member of the committee, said the group has asked for the same donation from Matilda Township council, the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club, the Iroquois Women's Institute and the Royal Canadian Legion.

Part of the money will be used to purchase six medals to be presented to members of the Iroquois-Matilda community who have contributed to local sports. The medals will be presented by Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner.

Bylaws 17-87 and 18-87 were passed accepting parts of Elizabeth Drive and Billings Avenue located in the Elizabeth Heights subdivision into the village road system.

But council decided to release lot 18 plan 100 in the subdivision from the subdivision agreement until developer Norvan Grant completes all provisions.

Clerk Betty Marlin said some provisions, such as security, have not been finalized. The first residents moved into the subdivision Nov. 1 and two additional lots have been sold.

Interest wanes

LONG SAULT — Interest surrounding the Ottawa Valley serial killer case has waned in recent weeks and the investigation has been scaled down.

About 20 full-time officers are presently working on the case, down from a high of 60 officers six weeks ago.

In September the Ontario Provincial Police held a press conference at District 11 headquarters in Long Sault where they announced an Ottawa Valley man in his early 40's was suspected of at least three killings, and possibly six dating back to 1975. The police said they didn't have enough information to charge the unidentified man.

Following the press conference many members of the media staked out a residence in Chesterville where they believed the suspect lived. A Chesterville area man later confirmed he was the suspect but claimed he was innocent.

The OPP have remained virtually silent about the case since newly appointed Solicitor General Joan Smith said the police force had made an "error in judgment" by suggesting members of the media try and contact the suspect.

The lack of information has led some area residents to believe a mistake has been made and a serial killer does not exist, but OPP spokesman Corporal Al Crocker said the police stand by their theory.

Villeneuve appointed

TORONTO — Noble Villeneuve, MPP Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville has been appointed critic of agriculture and food and Francophone affairs.

Villeneuve was selected by interim provincial PC leader Andy Brandt, MPP Sarnia.

"My job is a matter of trying to keep the government honest in those two particular areas and bring forth ideas to steer programs where we want to go," said Villeneuve.

Villeneuve was one of 16 Conservatives elected to Queen's Park in the September provincial election.

Misinformation on AIDS

Among the greatest dangers associated with the proliferation of AIDS disease has been the ignorance and misinformation about the syndrome which have been widely (even eagerly) accepted and spread by thoughtless or malicious sources.

Among such unsubstantiated nonsense is the allegation that this most serious social disease can be spread by casual contact (kissing, saliva, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation); or through food, water, air.

The Canadian Public Health Association, in conjunction with the Toronto Sun Publishing Company, has recently published "AIDS: What Every Responsible Canadian Should Know".

This book, written in layman's language, and available at Coles Book Stores, has the following assurance about the disease:

"There is no evidence that AIDS can be transmitted through air, water, food, or casual body contact. Although the AIDS virus has been found in very small traces in tears and saliva, there have been no cases of anyone becoming infected from contact with these body fluids".

There is no excuse for anyone today to be ignorant of the cause of this inevitably deadly disease. Its prevention is so simple and so inexpensive that it is not being accepted. Uncounted millions of research dollars are being spent to find a cure or a vaccine against a disease which can most easily be eliminated by the simple observation of age-old rules of conduct.

Writing in The Kemptville Advance, some time back, "Big John" Palmer put it this way:

"The only way to deal with anything as serious as AIDS is to meet it head on. And while the suggested advertisement of Barbara Amiel was brutal, it is the only way to have the effect to create the right approach to AIDS.

She suggested that the ad start off: 'Aids is a terrible disease which kills you in a nasty way'. She then went on to explain in absolutely explicit detail how it is spread and who spreads it.

Her final sentence says it all: 'The only way to be sure you don't get the disease is to be chaste or monogamous with a person who is certified AIDS-free'.

All this says is one thing: the age of promiscuity — for anyone with any brains — is over, caput, fini, dead".

Time to remember

Millions of people in many countries across the world will join next Wednesday, November, at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day, to pay tribute to all of their brave defenders, and to all of the innocent victims of all the cruel wars which have decimated the world's peoples, laid waste their personal properties and their countries' heritage, destroyed so much that was good and noble in their culture, and even the traditional way of life in so many lands.

And as we pause yet one more time to honor the memory of all those brave people who sacrificed their lives for their countries and their fellow-humans, many of us will also be breathing a silent prayer for their peace and happiness in an afterlife, as well as for those other millions who still suffer from oppression in many parts of the world.

But unfortunately, it is much easier to talk about and to write about freedom and equality than to ensure it. Almost all of us are quite willing to concede that all people are created equal. But there are far too many of us who are doing our very best to ensure that they don't remain equal very long. We are just every bit as prone to racial and religious discrimination as any generation in the world's history. We preach and declaim very loudly about freedom and equal rights for everyone, on each succeeding Remembrance Day. But we don't practice those virtues very much on the other days of the year.

And until we change our thinking and our attitudes towards our neighbors in every part of oue own country, and in every part of the world, our loudest declamations and our most pious resolutions, our flag-waving and our hymn singing on this one day of the year, are no more than "sounding brass and tinkling cymbals". They make only a hollow mockery of the very great sacrifices of those who have gone before us, those whom we purport to honor on this day.

The gherzillionaires

(CALGARY HERALD)

The astounding success of Edmonton's Ghermezian family pales in comparison with their ability to win concessions from politicians.

After donating a paltry $5,589.42 to the federal Progressive Conservative Party, the Ghermezians were awarded a $5 million grant for their West Edmonton Mall.

That's a 1,000 per cent return for the Ghermezians, and another patronage blot on the party name for the Tories.

As reavealed by Auditor-General Kenneth Dye, the grant to the billionaire Ghermezians was not the run-of-the-mill, bureaucratic bungle that he often documents in his annual report.

This wasn't the Department of Defence buying 12 million rounds of defective ammunition, nor was it government officials assisting the Hong Kong Bank of Canada to legally avoid paying Canadian taxes of $100 million.

No; the Ghermesian grant was a political decision. It was approved by the Tory cabinet despite the opinion of Industrial and regional Development Program (IRDP) administrators, and against department policy.

The Department of Regional and Industrial Expansion's policy is not to award IRDP grants unless the project in question would not proceed without the funding. DRIE officials said the Ghermezian project, for a Fantasyland development at the Mall, would go ahead, regardless of the grant.

It can never be proven now that the Ghermezians have built their amusement park with the assistance of public funds.

But, the cabinet's questionable decision will not amuse most taxpayers.

Morrisburg, Ontario.

Sir — I have read with interest the report by Judith O'Brien (Oct. 28th) and I would like to comment on two points.

I was present at the meeting and asked from the floor for verification that the Meech Lake Accord grants the Quebec Government the authority to nominate four out of nine Judges to the Supreme Court.

I believe the number is four and another member from the floor acquiesced.

This leaves the other nine provinces to divide up what is left of the pie, and no doubt many other concerned citizens are wondering what about Ontario's quota?

My second point is about Bill 8.

Whenever a bill comes up for third reading (and vote) in a democratic government, party whips are sent out to track down and inform all their members to be present for the vote.

However, on this all-important occasion 75 M.P.P.s absented themselves from the chamber and only 45 M.P.P.s were present to register their vote, and of this small group we are not informed how many voted Aye and how many voted otherwise.

One may scour and ransack parliamentary records in vain for a precedent to such an unusual occurrence, and one can think of no mitigating circumstances to excuse this dereliction of duty and negation of responsibility.

Surely we are entitled to an explanation for this unusual behaviour.

The silence Shrieks!

Yours truly,

L. PICKLES,
Morrisburg.

Dear Sir:

Prohibiting Tobacco Advertising

The Canadian Medical Association (CMA) believes that the health of Canadians would be improved by speedy passage by Parliament of Bill C-51, the Tobacco Products Control Act. The Bill, introduced last spring by the Hon. Jake Epp, Minister of National Health and Welfare, would eliminate advertising of tobacco products and introduce other measures to reduce smoking.

There is no doubt in the minds of physicians that smoking, that is responsible for more than 35,000 deaths every year, is the leading cause of preventable death and disease in Canada. The CMA which supports efforts to eradicate this killer, has asked Canada's 56,000 physicians to contact their MPs to voice their support for Bill C-51 as a citizen and as a health care professional.

While I believe it is the responsibility of the medical profession to show leadership on this important health issue, I think every Canadian should express their opinion on Bill C-51 to their elected representatives. I urge readers to join the doctors of Canada and make their views on prohibiting tobacco advertising known to their MP and this newspaper. Information on who your MP is, the correct address and telephone number is available by calling the toll free number 1-800-267-3800.

Yours truly,

Dr. Athol L. Roberts
President
The Canadian Medical Association

the Kitchen Garden

V.A. Hughes

We can relax for a moment, most of the gardening is done, the Antiquarian Book Fair over for another year, and Christmas preparations are still a month away. It's a treat to have a few minutes to stop and stare, watching the odd snowflake descend.

At the moment we are looking at the bird feeder — no customers yet, in fact the only birds that we've seen are the crows, ravens and a resident blue jay. We can hear the chicadees but haven't seen them yet and other birds flit in and out of the cedars but don't stay long enough for us to identify them.

Attracting birds to the feeder takes time. Just because you've invested in fifty pounds of Sunflower seeds don't expect a hoard of feathered folk to arrive on the doorstep the moment you step inside. Loading a feeder up and hanging it outside your window doesn't mean the birds will see it.

In addition to the hanging feeder, we have one mounted on a post as well as a table (a wide plank that sits on a couple of sawhorses). The plank is our best bet, because it's highly visible, like a billboard — good for advertising. We mount a display of bread crusts, sunflower seeds and millet, a little something for everyone. So far the only one to discover it is the jay, but one bird gobbling up food is going to attract others.

On a table close to the window lies a copy of Peterson's Field Guide to the Birds as this is new territory for us and many of the birds unknown. Crows, Jays and Chickadees are no problem, but we haven't seen Ravens for twenty years. They arrived one weekend and began declaring territory as they circled the lake and surrounding hills.

One night several weeks ago when we let Willie out, we were both startled to hear an Owl hoot in the darkness, a very spooky sound at this time of year.

But how to identify a bird you can hear but cannot see. We turn to an earlier guide, The Fieldbook of Wild Birds and Their Music. The author, F. Schuyler Mathews is not so certain that the Owls' hoot can be called a song, but is willing to concede that there is a difference in cadence between the Barred Owl and the Tiger of the forest, the Great Horned Owl. While we aren't certain which of the two we heard, we were surprised to learn that "The Owl's eye is fixed in its socket; as a consequence the head turns as though it were fixed upon a pivot."

Sadly this Putnam series of Fieldbooks are out of print, but still turn up from time to time. Of course other handbooks have taken their place, but the more recent editions don't offer comments like "I imagine the Owl is therefore a perfect example of what, according to current slang, is termed the rubber neck!" publishing date — 1908.

We found the same F. S. Mathews wrote the "Field Book of American Wild Flowers" and the "Field Book of American Trees and Shrubs." A later Putnam issue "Wild Flowers and Ferns" not only discusses descriptions of the plants but also how to grow them under the title "Taming the Wildings."

From the chapter on the protection of plants we learn that "The Central Young Men's Christian Association, of Washington D.C., issued a request to members owning automobiles to scour the country for dogwood, to be used for decorating their auditorium. The local Wild Flower Preservation Society learned of this request in time to have it countermanded before and damage was done." These early editions of Putnams have a lovely gold imprint of the subject matter on the front of the cover; "Trees and Shrubs" has a golden Oak, a gold Iris decorates "Wild Flowers", a later edition of "Ponds and Streams" has a Shadfly on the spine.

The latest Peterson guide came in today "A Field Guide to Mushrooms of North America". We take note of the helpful information at the front of the book. Most of the field guides include this chapter that most of us ignore in our rush to find the bird or flower that we're trying to identify. Stop and read these first few pages carefully. Of particular importance in the Mushroom Guide is the explanation of symbols: edible — marked with a saucepan, poisonous — a skull and crossbones.

A final note on Field Guides, don't overlook the little Golden guides, originally written by Zim. They are handy and a great way to introduce the younger members of the tribe to the study of natural history without being cumbersome.

Special olympics get $175 donation

WILLIAMSBURG—Williamsburg councillors agreed to donate $150 to Ontario Special Olympics at their meeting Saturday. The donation is double the $75 given last year.

After some discussion councillors decided to file a resolution drafted by Charlottenburgh Township calling for all municipalities to oppose the free trade deal with the United States and asking Prime Minister Brian Mulroney to call an election on the issue.

"Speaking as a dairy farmer I believe it has contributed to a decline in milk price quotas already," said councillor Lyle Van Allen who was in favor of the resolution.

Reeve Johnny Whitteker said if free trade was phased in over a 10 year period he believes it would be a good deal but the way it's written now he would have to vote against it.

But councillors Gord McNairn, Graham Hess and deputy reeve Glenn Cunningham support the free trade initiative and voted to file the resolution.

Council has agreed to begin maintenance work on the Whitteker drain. The work will cost approximately $3,000.

Reading and math skills taught around province

TORONTO — Basic reading and math skills are now being taught at more than 100 locations across the province, Alvin Curling, Minister of Skills Development announced.

"By the end of this year, 16,000 people will have taken part in Ontario Basic Skills programs," he said. The programs are sponsored by the Ministry of Skills Development.

Mr. Curling noted that the ministry has committed $35 million to its literacy programs which includes Ontario Basic Skills training programs as well Ontario Basic Skills in the Workplace.

"Workers today need new skills to match the new technologies, such as robotics and computer assisted design. They need analytical and interpersonal skills as well as a good grounding in technical know-how. These can only be built upon a foundation of basic reading and mathematical skills," Mr. Curling said.

Ontario Basic Skills training programs are administered through the province's 22 community colleges.

Mr. Curling noted that as well as working with the community colleges, the ministry is working with employers, unions, employer associations and employee groups to set up basic skills training in the workplace, where classes may be conducted on-site.

These literacy programs are designed to help people obtain and upgrade job entry skills, and work-related math and reading skills.

Tuition fees as well as special allowances for daycare, special accommodation or transportation are paid for by the ministry.

"The Ontario Basic Skills programs are attracting many adults who have not previously approached community colleges. As a result, we are reviewing existing courses and trying to find the best teaching methods, delivery modes and curriculum. We want to foster the co-operative arrangements that now exist among the ministry, colleges, the voluntary sector, school boards, employers and employees," Mr. Curling said.

Information about these literacy programs in any community across the province can be obtained through the Ontario Training Hotline. 1-800-387-5656.

Doctor loves working in Morrisburg area

DOUG CARSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — Dr. Ellen Power has been working her way around the area and loving it.

Power has been at the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic since Thanksgiving, and works both in Morrisburg and Iroquois.

She is working part time as a general practitioner, after having spent the summer in Winchester.

Power said she enjoyed the summer in Winchester, and has been impressed with what she has seen of the Morrisburg area so far.

The native of the east coast graduated from Dalhousie University Medical School, and said she enjoys being around the water.

After doing her residency in Montreal, she said she is also glad to get the opportunity to work in a small town setting.

"The people seem nice, not as aggressive. They also seem a lot more appreciative of the care they get," he said.

Power will be working at the clinic until Chrismas, but after that she is unsure of what she will do. She added that she might go back to a residency program.

Mere words are inadequate to express our sincere gratitude to relatives, neighbors and friends for their support, comfort, prayers, visits, cards, flowers, Masses, and charitable donations. A special thanks to all who sent food donations and helped out in our home in so many ways. We truly appreciate the generous financial support given by our neighbors. Special thanks to Father Jim for his advice, guidance and encouragement, and to you Greta, for your loving care. The many acts of kindness shown by Barry and Rob, Marg and Jean, The Belles, The Choir, the K of C, teachers and members of the R.C.S.S.B., the hockey teams, the scouts and Brian at Algonquin Travel, Ken Shaw staff at Casco, and particularly Gord Fairbairn will always be remembered. Ask for Mr. Francis. 44c

What's in a name?

The storm of protest over the proposed name change of Hess Road to Saving Street has subsided somewhat and the change is now complete. The Ministry of Transportation and Communication changed the sign on Highway 31 and the road will never be the same. The change was originally suggested by Williamsburg Township Reeve Johnny Whitteker.

Second mystery key contest is offered

MORRISBURG — For any amateur sleuths who haven't discovered the truth yet — the mystery key contest sponsored by Laurin Laurin, Freshmart and Stedman's has been won.

Ron Casselman of Morrisburg found the missing key in Duncan Park, Mariatown on Saturday morning, after picking up the first two clues.

Casselman's detective work netted him $600 in gift certificates, $200 from each participating store.

Sam Laurin, co-owner of Laurin Laurin said the participating merchants were disappointed the contest didn't run a little longer but said they are happy there was a winner.

Interest generated by the contest was tremendous and the participating merchants are eager to sponsor another. Sam said the contest won't be exactly the same but the prizes will be just as good if not better.

The next contest will begin Nov. 12. Don't forget to pick up your clues at the three participating stores.

Students enjoy lunch program

IROQUOIS — The students at Iroquois Public School probably don't know too much about the reasons behind it, but then again they probably don't care as long as they get their hot dogs every Friday.

The hot dogs are part of the hot lunch program, now in its third year at the school. Every Friday parent volunteers cook hot dogs for the students who remain at school during the lunch period.

"It started when a parent came to me and said that her child was at school from eight-thirty, didn't get home until four p.m., and it would be nice if he could have a hot lunch every once in a while," said Brook Leightizer, school principal.

The kids pay a nominal fee for the food, and Leightizer estimated that about 65 per cent of the students eat lunch at the school.

"About half our students are from out of the village, and others can't go home for lunch for reasons such as that both parents are at work," he said.

Leightizer said that funds have been allocated for improvements to the kitchen, that may lead to an expanded hot lunch program.

"The school committee is looking at expanding the program, but we won't go ahead with it until we are sure there is a demand for it," he said.

The school serves between 16 and 17 dozen hot dogs on an average Friday to the roughly 130 students who stay at the school for lunch.

File griefs

OTTAWA — The Office of the Ombudsman of Ontario has the mandate to investigate complaints from the public concerning all provincial departments and agencies.

Klaas Bylsma, District Officer for Ottawa and Eastern Ontario will be visiting the Cornwall and Morrisburg areas on Nov. 24 and 25. He will meet with a number of community groups and individuals with complaints.

Individual complaints will be received on a first come first serve basis at the Royal Canadian Legion in Morrisburg on Nov. 24 from 10:30 a.m. to noon.

At 1:30 p.m. he will meet with the staff and Board members of the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded. At 3 p.m. he will meet with senior staff of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

Euchre winners

Winners at the Eastern Star euchre party held in the Masonic Temple on October 23rd were Beatrice Hollister and Doris Hill, Ronald Jones and Helen Gillespie.

Door prize winners were Stella Grenkie and Ross Hummell.

Draw winners were Tom McMullen, Elburn Crites, Carolyn McMullen, Helen Fraser and Ed Thompson.

Government will spend money on marina repairs

CORNWALL — The federal government will spend $70,000 on construction of new floats and expansion of the electrical system at Marina 200 in Cornwall.

The Marina 200 facilities are leased by the federal government to the city of Cornwall which is responsible for their day-to-day management. Marina 200 is a popular tying-up place for recreational boaters on the St. Lawrence.

The project was announced recently by Norm Warner, MP for Stormont-Dundas, on behalf of Hon. Tom Siddon, Minister of Fisheries and Oceans.

The project calls for the building and installation of floats to provide 21 additional berths spaces, bringing the capacity of the harbor to approximately 130 vessels.

The electrical system will be expanded to service the floating dock, providing a larger number of fully serviced berths.

"Many times this season boaters were turned away because of capacity restrictions," said Warner.

"Cornwall is a very attractive destination for St. Lawrence River yachtsmen and will continue to attract more and more

Osnabruck to undertake one of their largest projects ever

DOUG CARSON
Leader staff

NEWINGTON — One of the largest projects ever to be undertaken in Osnabruck Township will begin this winter when a water and sewer line in started for 110 lots in Newington.

The total cost of the project will be around $550,000, not including approximately $1,000 it will cost the owner of each lot to have the system hooked up.

Deputy Clerk Bart Whitton said that tenders will be taken for the project in the near future, and some construction on items such as the pump house may start in the new year.

"There is a lot of equipment that has to be specially made, and could take three months to be ready, so I suppose as soon as the contract is awarded that stuff will be ordered so they can start the majority of the work early in the spring," he said.

The decision to build the communal water system was made because of problems with high levels of iron and other problems in the well water in the area, and problems with leaking sewage.

The project has been in the works for six years, and Whitton said the majority of the people in Newington are happy with the plan for the system, but six people have filed protest saying they don't want to be involved in the plan.

In letters to council, Whitton said the people had various reasons for not wanting to be part of the project, and that there are provisions which may allow them to be excluded, but that will have to be decided by a review board.

About 85 per cent of the cost of the project is paid for by a grant from the Ministry of the Environment.

If everything goes according to plan, Whitton said people should be getting hooked up to their new water systems by July of next year.

the ditch, Roach said it was because he was mad at the guy for forcing him off the road. Hunter chastised Roach for being unprofessional in his conduct.

It was later learned in court that the driver had had heart surgery eight months prior to the incident and was on several forms of medication for his heart trouble.

Defence attorney Doug Grenkie argued that any witnesses to the incident after Roach not be allowed to testify because by his treatment of the defendant, Roach had breached his rights under the Charter of Rights.

Hunter allowed the further testimony but in his final decision he said that despite his subsequent actions Roach's testimony was enough to convict the man of impaired.

Arthur Markell was sentenced to a $300 fine and suspension of driving priviledges for three months.

New contract agreement

OTTAWA — Negotiators for the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers representing 850 lock operators took less than 24 hours Friday to reach a new tentative agreement after union members narrowly rejected an earlier agreement last week.

William Kelly, associate deputy labor minister confirmed that a new agreement had been reached but declined to reveal any details until another ratification vote is completed.

Most people familiar with AIDS

A survey was carried out in July 1987 by the Public Health Unit of Eastern Ontario to determine how aware people were of AIDS.

The survey was done by telephone in the Cornwall dialing area. One hundred responses were recorded, 50 from male and 50 from females.

Everyone surveyed had heard of AIDS. Almost three quarters of the respondents indicated that they were made aware of the disease within the last year.

Most people said they were unsure about the number of known AIDS cases in Cornwall. Of the few who responded to this question without doubt, men believed that there were fewer than five known cases, whereas a few women thought there were between six and 20 known cases.

The majority of those surveyed knew there was no cure for the disease. No one claimed that a cure existed.

Both sexes agreed that AIDS was more prevalent in males than in females.

More than half of the respondents said that they would be somewhat afraid of catching the disease from blood if they were in need of a transfusion.

Fifty-five per cent of those surveyed answered that the television coverage given to AIDS was inadequate; however many felt that it was sufficient.

Nearly half of the respondents were interested in knowing more about the disease.

The accuracy levy of a survey with this sample size is plus four per cent, 19 times out of 20.

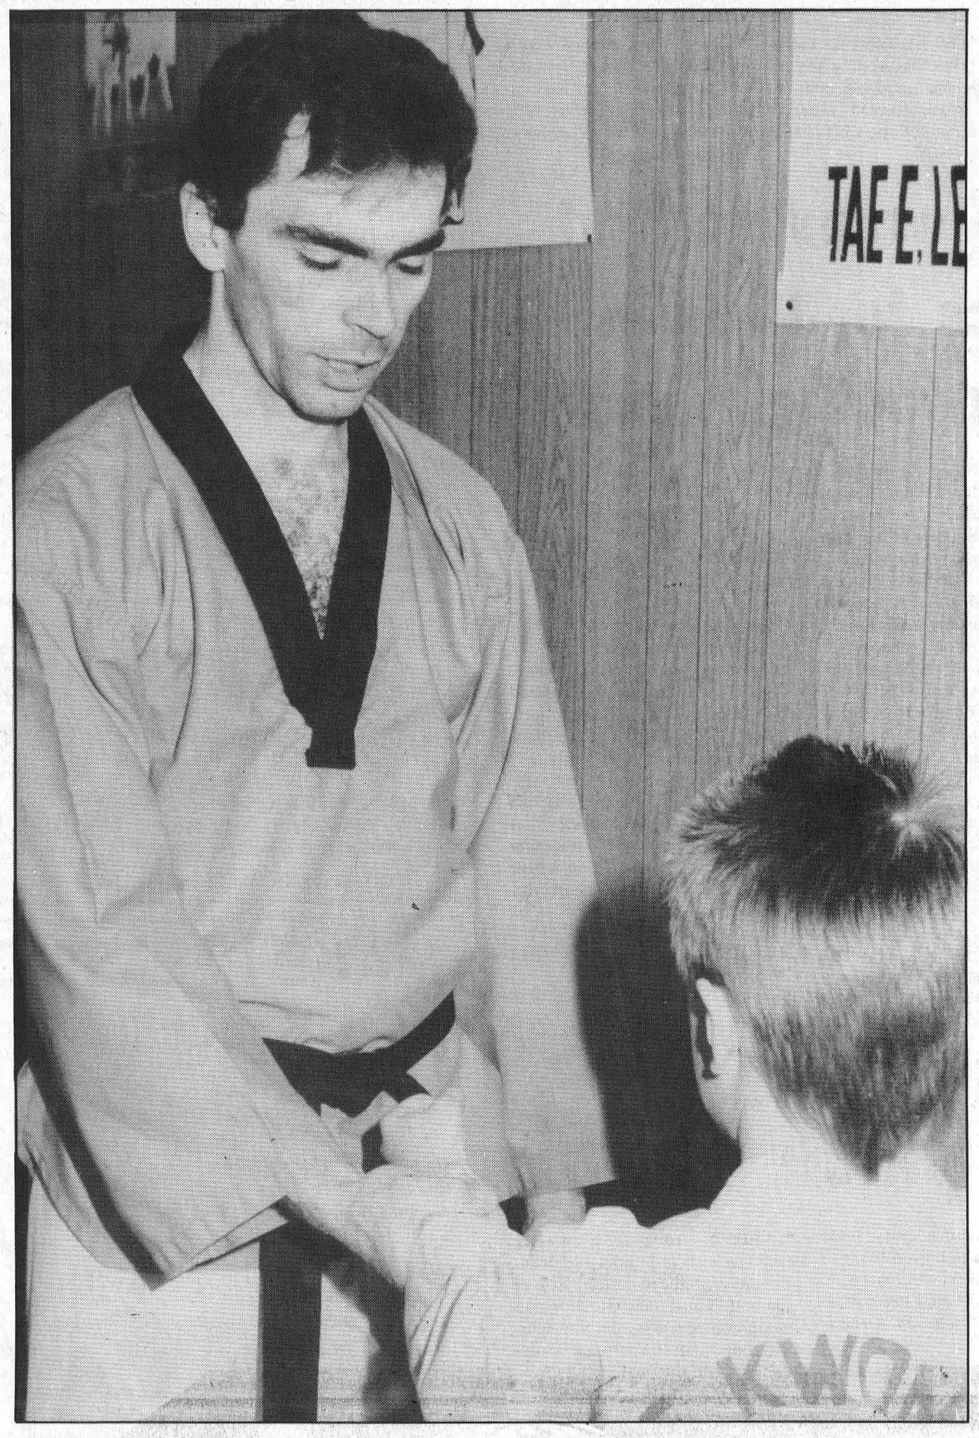
Tae Kwon Do hobby turns into fulltime job



MORRISBURG — The Tae Kwon Do school in Morrisburg has completed its first year of operation but chances are Dennis Haney, who runs the school here and is involved in six classes a week, isn't going to have time for a birthday party.

Along with two classes a week at the Morrisburg School, Haney teaches at Maple Ridge and is a student in Ottawa where he is working on his second degree black belt.

That along with the paper work, keeps the 30-year-old Berwick resident busy most of the week. On Sundays he says he sets back and relaxes, maybe playing a little guitar.

Haney took up Tae Kwon Do eight years ago when he enrolled at Maple Ridge. "I saw the ad in the paper and I always wanted to try a martial art so I enrolled," he said. Explaining he was never much for team sports, like hockey, he found he enjoyed the discipline of Tae Kwon Do as well as the benefits from the physical conditioning.

"Tae Kwon Do is technique more than power and that's what I like about it," says Haney. "Anybody can do it. From a 250 pound adult to a small child it works the same for both."

Origins in Korea

Tae Kwon Do, which is to be a trial sport in the 1988 Olympics, is a martial art which had its origins in Korea. Students are taught patterns of kicks and punches as well as fighting and blocking patterns and Korean words.

Students work their way through colored belts beginning with white and continuing through yellow, orange, green, blue, blue with red stripe, red, red with black stripe and black. The school in Morrisburg is under the direction of Grand Master Tae Eun Lee of Ottawa and a member of the World Tae Kwon Do Federation.

Presently working on his second degree black belt, Haney says he should be farther along but he was working shift work when he first started and it took him longer to get his colored belts.

"There are eight degrees after the black belt and it takes up to two years for each," he said. "Once a student earns his black belt he can then teach. A student with his fourth degree becomes a Master and the eighth degree a Grand Master.

Haney explained the training becomes more difficult for the degrees. "Essays have to be done, you do some Korean writing and there is more combat and self defence taught along with more jumping and kicks," he said.

School has done well

As for the school at Morrisburg, Haney is extremely pleased with its success. "It's much better than I expected," he said. "I just started it as a hobby and figured I'd get between 10-12 people at the most."

However, this was not the case as 74 students enrolled with the school last year and Haney went from his planned Tuesday and Thursday night classes to a Saturday time slot as well.

This fall membership has fallen off but this, explains Haney, is normal because most people stop during the summer. "We're starting to pick up now," he said during a break between classes Thursday night.

Can join now

To join, all that is required is for an individual to show up on either of the two nights. The cost is $15 a month for a child and $25 per month for an adult. Haney says it is a possibility, once things get rolling, to have a Saturday class.

There are no age restrictions. For the young ones, as long as they are able to understand instructions and pay attention they are welcome and at the other end, students can be any age as long as there are no major health problems.

Haney suggests that anyone with a health problem should check with their doctor before enrolling.

Last year's classes included four women and Haney says he has been considering self-defence classes for the ladies or possibly separate Tae Kwon Do classes.

A class of 20 is comfortable in the top-floor room at the old high school building which Haney rents from the village. He pays the rent and runs the school from the registration money.

Excellent progress

The students, who joined the school last year have made excellent progress, said Haney. "We have 8-10 green belts now, many of whom, will be trying for their blue belts this week." he said. "This is halfway to the black belt so they are doing very well."

"Students can be tested every three months or when they are ready," he said. "Along with the regular lessons and testing there are small tournaments."

Many benefits

Along with the obvious health benefits students of Tae Kwon Do become knowledgable in self defence. The values of self-control, integrity and honesty are stressed.

Welcome to the club

Instructor Dennis Haney works with a student during Tae Kwon Do Classes at the Morrisburg School Thursday night. Haney opened the school as a hobby last year with the hope of attracting a few students. The project became more successful than he had expected with some 70 enrolled for the year. At the right a student attempts to land a kick while a fellow classmate uses his blocking skill. Classes are now being held twice a week at the old high school.

Jr. B Lions put early season woes behind them

MORRISBURG – The Morrisburg Junior B Lions appear to be putting their early season woes behind them, this past weekend coming up with a 7-3 victory over Spencerville-Cardinal and losing a close one to the Gananoque Plates 5-4.

"Our power play is beginning to click and the penalty killing units are working extremely well," said coach Kevin Casselman after weekend play. "A lot of our scoring is coming from the Morrow line but we are working on the other lines. The potential is there, it's just a matter of getting it to blossom."

Lose to Gananoque

Friday night the Gananoque Platers, new to the league this year, were in town providing the Lions with some pretty stiff competition.

In a game that could have gone either way the Lions got it started with a 2-1 first period lead. But they dried up in the second while the Platers beat Andy Cummins twice to carry a one goal lead into the final.

Randy Mullin tied it at the six minute mark of the third but Gananoque, on the power play, again moved ahead on a goal by John Armstrong at 11:60. The Lions came right back on a powerplay goal less than a minute later from Johnny Morrow, again tying it, but they couldn't hold on.

With 5:52 left in the game Armstrong beat Cummins for the game-winning goal.

Scoring for the Platers were Armstrong and John Jamieson with two each and Randy Goodsell with a single. Answering for the Lions were Morrow, with two, and Bobby Jack Hart and Randy Mullin with singles.

The Lions took advantage of the 11 Platers' minor penalties for two power play goals and the Lions, with eight minors, gave up one powerplay goal.

Lions prowl

Sunday's game against Spencerville-Cardinal got off to a slow start-neither team able to count in the first period. The second, however had the Lions go ahead 4-1 as they coasted to the 7-3 victory.

Looking good in net was affiliate Kevin Eamon, called up to cover for veteran goaltender Kent Pilon who was sidelined last week with a cut on the leg. Pilon is expected to be back for action this weekend.

"Kevin played extremely well," said Casselman. "He came up with some big saves when we needed them."

No weak sisters

Casselman said both teams looked good on the weekend. "The league doesn't appear to have any weak sisters," he said. "Card-Spen looked good. It was just that our power play clicked against them and after that they just couldn't get back into the game."

The Lions struck three times on the powerplay while Card-Spen was unable to take advantage of the Lions 12 minors.

"We're going with one basic power play line of Johnny Morrow, Mike Lamarche and Bobby Jack Hart," said Casselman, "And they look good. As well, our penalty killing unit which includes Rod Lemieux, Alphie Tablum, Randy Mullin and Charlie Carbino has been very effective.

Lamarche adds strength

Casselman pointed out that the Morrow line has been strengthened with the addition of Mike Lamarche a 20-year-old left winger. "Mike fits in on the left side really well. He has added a lot of speed and a good shot."

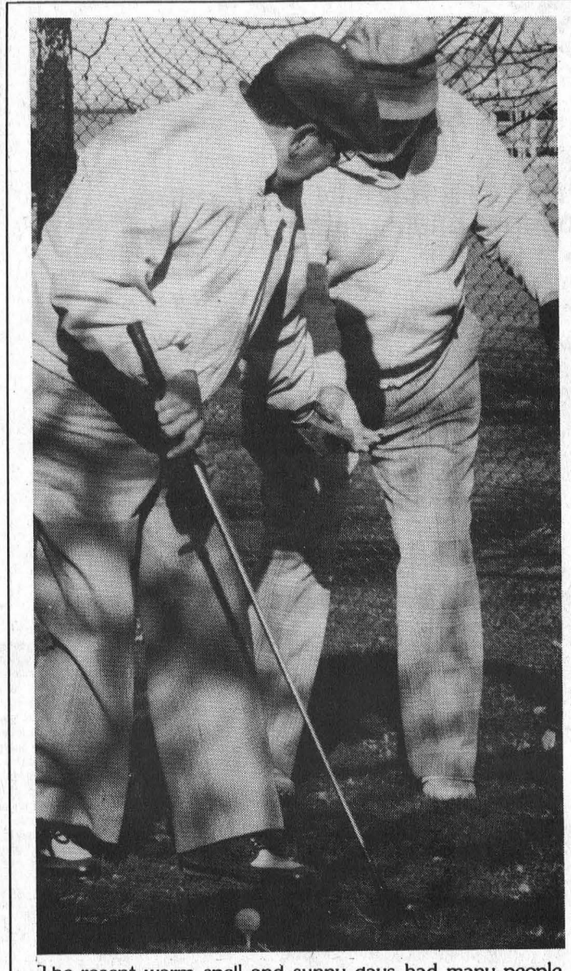
Also standing out in weekend action was the work of defenceman Sean Lapier. "Sean played really well Sunday," pointed out Casselman. "It was definitely his best game this year. In fact our entire defence played well."

Scoring Sunday for the Lions were Randy Mullin and Mike Lamarche with two goals each and Jim Bennis, Johnny Morrow and Bobby Jack Hart.

For Card-Spen Steve McLean, Dave Lapier and John Hanna had singles.

This weekend

The Lions are at Brockville tonight, Wednesday, November 4 for a 7:45 game and Friday, November 6 they travel to Metcalfe for an 8:15 start. Sunday, November 8 they host Brockville at 2:00 p.m.



The recent warm spell and sunny days had many people once again heading to local golf courses and it's now beginning to look as if only snow will force them to put away the clubs.

Town league hockey

No one able to run away with it

MORRISBURG — It doesn't look as if any one team is going to be able to run away with the town hockey league this year — Thursday night's action resulting in a pair of ties and a win for the Greens.

The Blues holding the lead with seven points, settled for a 4-4 tie against Morrisburg Music, Castles and the Black and Brown Flyers finished with a 2-2 draw and the Greens pulled away from the Veinotte's team 10-3.

Blues 4 - Music 4

The game between the Blues and Music was a battle to the end when, with 41 seconds left on the clock, Music's David Myers struck to finish it at 4-4.

Music opened the scoring early in the first on an unassisted goal by Steve Casselman and late in the frame Blues', Kevin Duvall, evened it.

Second (and final) period action saw Music go ahead with a tally from Ian Hooles but that was short lived when Duvall struck for his second of the night.

At 5:11 Music again pulled ahead on Casselman's second of the game and three minutes later Bob Deleavey, unassisted, tied it 3-3.

The Blues took the lead for the first time in the game on a goal by Don Fairweather with 2:31 showing on the clock but they couldn't hold on," Myers tying it with 41 seconds to go.

Castles 2 — B & B Flyers 2

The Flyers were unable to break away from a second place tie with Music when they settled for a 2-2 tie against Castles.

Jim Tuttle opened the scoring giving the Flyers the lead less than two minutes into the game but penalties proved costly.

Castles struck for powerplay goals from Steve Coligan at the midway mark of the first and again in the second from Mark Nesbitt to take a 2-1 lead.

The Flyers came back to tie it with 4:54 left in the game on a powerplay goal by Rob Reynolds.

Greens 10 - Veinottes 3

Final action of the night saw the Greens go to work on Veinotte's for a 10-3 victory, their second of the season. Leading 5-0 after the first they held on in the final, outscoring Veinotte's 5-3 for the win.

Kevin Brown, Randy Casselman and Donald Black had two goals each and Allen McNairn, David Cherry, Victor Dorey and Rob Tremblay had singles. Answering for Veinotte's were Bruce Wells, Mark Stevens and Brian Froats.

Fishy error corrected

MORRISBURG—Local fishermen are asked to make note of an error in Rex Weegar's Hunting and Fishing column last week which said the fishing limit on Muskellunge is one per day with a 34 inch minimum size.

In fact the minimum size limit is 40 inches, not 34, on Muskellunge taken from Lake St. Lawrence, Lake St. Francis and Lake Ontario.

The 34 inch limit applies to Muskellunge taken from certain inland waters in this area such as the Rideau River.

Mike Eckersley of the Ministry of Natural Resources pointed out the restriction is to protect the Muskellunge fishery and voiced concern that fisherman would be unknowingly harvesting under-size fish as a result of the error.

Olympic torch relay

Morrisburg seeks nominations

MORRISBURG — The Village of Morrisburg has joined most other neighboring villages and municipalities with the formation of a committee to ensure that the passage of the Olympic torch through the area, on December 17 receives the attention it deserves.

Although Village council failed to show much interest in the once-in-a-lifetime event the BIA moved to have their co-ordinator Wilf McAuley chair a committee.

Joining McAuley on the committee are Billie Donaldson, Judy Laurin and Bonnie McNairn.

The most immediate concern for the committee is the nominations for the Celebration '88 Awards Program, announced by the Government of Canada to recognize people who have made outstanding contributions to their community.

The Awards Program has two parts, Celebration '88 Medals to be awarded to people who have made outstanding contributions to Amateur Sports in the community and Celebration '88 Certificates to be awarded to people making contributions to make their community a better place to live.

Deadline for the nominations in Morrisburg is November 30 and forms are included in this week's issue of The Leader.

"The torch will pass through the village between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. on the 17th," says McAuley. "But we hope to be able to have a more definite time as the day gets closer."

McAuley says he wants to see Morrisburg give the torch a real "village welcome" and the committee will work toward other events in conjunction with its passage.

"This is our chance to put something forth about Morrisburg," said McAuley at a meeting last week. "We can let the world know that we recognize the torch coming through."

Win wraps up first place for Reds in flag football league

MORRISBURG — The writing is on the wall in town league football action, the Reds putting the wraps on first place Sunday with a 20-19 victory over the Blue Meanies.

The Reds' win gave them 14 points to the Meanies' 12 and with the final league games this Sunday the standings won't change. At best the Meanies could win and the Reds lose, to finish it with a tie for first place but the Reds would get the nod, having beat the Meanies all year.

Sunday's encounter, with the Reds fielding just five players and John Vaughan standing in for quarterback Steve Casselman, was a close one — both teams after the first place finish.

The Meanies came out strong building a 12-0 lead but the Reds crept back. The decision came at the end of the game when Meanies quarterback Tom Dawley threw a pass intercepted by Vaughan who then worked his way back for the winning TD.

Scoring for the Reds were Rick Stanczak with two and Harry Pepers. Answering for the Meanies were Phillip Dillabough, Willy Pepers and Chris Jerry.

Proving it's never to late, the Greens picked up their first win of the season over the White Ferrets 18-13. Team captain and quarterback Doug Wilson elected to have Dave Tait handle the quarterback duties and the move paid off.

Tait ran two in and threw a TD pass to Cam Dillabough enabling the Greens to take their first points of the season. Answering for the Ferrets were Doug Brunt and quarterback Russell Cameron ran one in.

Angels open with win

MORRISBURG — Charlie's Angels, senior girls hockey team, opened their season here Sunday with a 6-1 victory over Spencerville.

Led by a five-goal performance from veteran Camille McInnis, the Angels led 2-1 after the first period and 3-1 heading into the final.

The Angels got off to a shaky start this season when, due to the loss of players to overage and school, it was feared they would be unable to ice a team.

Some last minute recruitment saw them come up with 11 players and Linda Magee in net who replaces Brenda Thompson who has been between the pipes for the last several years.

McInnis was in fine form Sunday, figuring in on all six of the Angels goals. After opening the scoring at 5:09 of the first she provided an assist on goal number two scored by Tanya Mabo.

Mabo was good for four assists, Kim McInnis had five and Amanda Mabo one.

Spencerville's Michelle Moulton spoiled Magee's shutout late in the first period.

High school basketball

Spartans over first place Tagwi

CHARLAN — The Seaway District High School Senior Spartans scored an impressive 48-41 win here last Wednesday against a previously undefeated Tagwi squad in S.D.&G. A School basketball action.

Tagwi was boasting a 5 win-no loss record going into Wednesday's contest, ahead of Seaway, General Vanier and Rothwell-Osnabruck, all tied for second place with three wins.

The Spartans led throughout the game, 25-20 at the half and 34-32 heading into the final quarter.

Leading the Spartans was Kim Bucking with a 21 point effort and Lisa VanHoof added 12. For Tagwi Erica Hollingdrake dropped 21 points and Heidi Hollingdrake was good for 12.

Juniors make move

The Junior Spartans also enjoyed a successful outing against Tagwi, coming home with a 34-21 victory. The win allowed them to claim a share of second place with CharLan on a 4 win-2 loss record. First place is held by General Vanier.

After a strong first quarter, which saw them build a 12-5 lead, they moved ahead to lead 22-6 at the half. Third quarter action was again controlled by the Spartans, enabling them to carry a 27-8 advantage into the final.

Leading the Spartans was Stephanie Dodge with 10 points and Jennifer McNairn and Pam Martin had nine points each. Answering for Tagwi was Cindy Boxzormeny with 11 points.

The Spartans see action today, Wednesday, November 4 when they host General Vanier.

Curling chatter

MORRISBURG — This Saturday our curling activities really get underway with the first club mixed bonspiel of the season. Always a lot of fun we'll see who is ready for the season and who is not.

Sunday, November 8th sees the start of Little Rock curling beginning at 1 p.m. Any child who was unable to register last week can still do so by showing up on the 8th.

Something new this year for juniors (Little Rock and High School) is the Ontario Skills Awards Testing Program which will be conducted by the club on Saturday, November 21st from 9 a.m. to noon.

Juniors are advised they should have at least one year of curling under their belts before attempting the awards program which is similar to the Red Cross swim awards program where degrees of skills are rewarded by badges.

Alan Brunt, who will do the testing, says there are five levels beginning with red and running through blue, bronze, silver and gold.

For the red level a curler is expected to have a general knowledge of the game, know how to read a scoreboard, and recognize the various features on the ice surface such as the hog line and T-line. They should also be able to throw the rock and demonstrate the proper turns.

As curlers advance through the badges each level of testing becomes that much more difficult.

The program is open only to curlers 19 years and under and there is a charge of $3 each.

Citizen of the year

MATILDA TOWNSHIP — If you know somebody who is deserving of recognition, send their name to the Matilda Township clerk's office before Nov. 13.

The township is taking nominations for its annual citizen of the year award, which is presented at the winter carnival in January.

Last year's winner of the award was Allan Tysick, while previous winners include Ruth Coons, Joanna Zandbergen and the late Gerald Munroe.

The winner of the award is decided upon a representative of the senior citizens, recreation board, Women's Institute and the hall board.

NDP meeting

MONKLAND — The Stormont-Dundas Federal NDP party executive held its annual meeting Oct. 17 here.

Party president Roger Peters submitted his resignation because he has recently moved out of the riding. Arthur Carkner who unsuccessfully ran as the NDP candidate in Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville in the last provincial election was chosen as interim president.

A founding meeting for the redistributed riding of Stormont-Dundas will be held in late November.

Seaway News

by Cindy Laurin

Hello, it's me again. This week won't be too exciting as usual. I suppose I should have followed a friend's advice but I don't think the paper would approve, if I made a few things up.

Those of you whose pictures look like some foreigner from outer space are reminded to sign the sheet in the office to have them retaken.

There was a dance at the Studio 231 in the Loyalist Hotel on Sunday. There weren't too many people there but those who were had a good time. There will be another dance there November 15 with the chance of a band. I honestly don't know where they are going to put it. They might fit it on the dance floor but then everyone would have to table dance! Also this weekend there will be a video roadshow at the Morrisburg Civic Centre. So take a break from those tests and dance, dance, dance!

This week in Spartan doings, the junior boys volleyball team played Tagwi winning 15-9, 1-3 and 15-11. In their last three matches against G.V. they won the first 15-3 but fell behind in the second and third to lose 16-14 and 15-13. A good effort was made by all. On Monday the boys soccer season ended with Seaway ending on a bad note, losing to North Dundas 8-4 and the juniors losing 5-1. The boys did a fine job of representing Seaway this year.

In girls basketball Seaway swept a double header against Tagwi, the seniors winning 48-41 and the juniors 37-21. For the seniors Kim Bucking and Lisa Van Hoof led the Spartans to victory with Stephanie Dodge leading the juniors. Excellent effort by all. On Sunday the Boys curling team played in Ottawa losing to Carleton Heights and winning against City-view. The boys are now tied for first place. Good bye.

All you seniors at Seaway watch out for Mrs. Hamilton. She will be patrolling the halls looking for school committee reps. So if you see her coming, hide in a locker if you don't want to get caught. Too bad Fugly, you weren't fast enough.

That's all for this week. In closing I'd just like to say, Derek, put on a good shirt. Bye.
