Chamber To Province

Town Growth Impeded If Lagoon Not Expanded

Deeply concerned that a lack of adequate sewage lagoon facilities will hamper both immediate and future expansion of the town Winchester Chamber of Commerce this week agreed to send immediately a resolution to Municipal Council urging that body to take all necessary action to alleviate what many believe to be one of the most serious problems facing this municipality in more than a decade.

And although the resolution goes to the local level of government the message is intended for Queen's Park where the purse strings are being drawn tighter and where the final decision for lagoon expansion will be made. Chamber is aware of the financial constraints placed on all provincial departments and it also understands that municipal council is as anxious as the Chamber to have this expansion project get underway as soon as possible.

The resolution, therefore, is simply an attempt to get council to act even more vigorously on the matter and to point out that the crux of the business community at least looks upon this situation as "extremely crucial where the over-all welfare of this growing community is concerned."

What troubles the Chamber is an awareness that the growth picture of the town is exceptionally good at this particular time with no sign of a let-up if the lagoon system is expanded. If it is not expanded the situation could reverse and in the words of Chamber members, "we simply can't afford to let that happen. The town is going ahead with good, sensible growth. We want to encourage this favourable climate, not discourage it." It is also a point for decentralization indicating that not all the action takes place in the urban areas.

Word to Council from the provincial Environmental department about one year ago indicated that work would at least be started in 1978. Since that time flow charts have been made of the sewer and lagoon systems and investigations have been made into the availability of needed land adjacent to the present lagoon location. But no settlements or purchase of property for that matter have yet been made. In the meantime more flow charts. But Council as well as the department are already aware that Winchester is a higher than average per capita user of both the water and sewer systems, and that the population of the town has grown more than anticipated when the original sewer system was completed. The Department, after studies in the last two years or so, had proposed future expansion based on 120 gallons per capita rather than the original 80 and had also based its projection of future needs on a population of up to 4,000 by the year 1990. Based on present day interest in and growth of the town that study is conservative to say the least.

Clerk-administrator Raymond Annable said Monday that he would very likely have more up-to-date information on lagoon capacity and system usage at the next council meeting. He also said that test drilling had begun on more needed wells to augment the village's water system supply.

In the meantime the Chamber feels that council must take immediate and firm action in placing the lagoon system in a priority position, and in determining from the provincial government when work on the expansion of the lagoon system will start.

OTHER BUSINESS

President Basil Dawley presided at the well attended luncheon meeting held at the Country Kitchen. Members were unanimous in authorizing the public relations committee to get on with the job of producing a new and more colourful brochure promoting the town. Municipal council previously granted the Chamber $1500 to help offset costs of this project. The Chamber will pick up the balance. Don McIntosh gave a detailed report on the committee's work to this date and ideas for a new style folder were revealed by Reg Workman.

The Chamber also discussed once again the stabilization of store hours in the town ahd will ask for the input of all merchants in an attempt to come up with a more dependable schedule to facilitate customers. The matter of store hours will be further discussed at future meetings.

Williamsburg Township Taxes Jump 11.7 Mills

By Anne Patenaude
Press Staff Reporter

WILLIAMSBURG—Despite the township's success in holding the line on the municipality's share of the 1978 tax bill, increases in county and school levies will mean an 11.7 mill hike for residential public school supporters here.

Councillors at their regular meeting last Saturday were told that for the second year in a row, school levies were the major culprit in the tax increase. The public school rate rose from 59.8 in 1977 to 65.8 for residential, an increase of 6 mills. For commercial property owners, the increase is 6.7 mills, up from 66.4 last year.

Residential separate school supporters will pay 65 mills, a rise of 3.6 over last year, while commercial property owners will pay 4.1 mills more than last year's 68.1.

An increase in the county rate will mean a hike of 5.7 mills for residential property for a total of 16.1 mills. The commercial rate will go from 12.2 to 18.9 for an increase of 6.7 mills to cover the counties' share of the taxes.

The 11.7 mill hike for residential public school supporters will bring the total mills of the township to 107.7 from 96.0 last year. Commercially, the total rate increase is 13.4 mills for a total of 122.4, up from 109 last year.

The township rate will remain stable at 25.8 for residential and 30.4 mills for commercial.

Mill rates in the police villages of Williamsburg and Winchester Springs will hold the line, with Williamsburg residential ratepayers assessed at 10 mills, and 11.8 for commercial property owners. In Winchester Springs, the residential rate is 9.6 mills and the commercial is 12 mills.

The police village rates are in addition to township, county and school rates.

TOWNSHIP EYE ON EXPENSES

In an interview with the Press later, township reeve Johnny Whittaker said the municipality has had to keep a close eye on expenses to avoid an increase in its share of the tax bill.

"We've been watching things - we only gave a six percent increase to our labourers and we have tried to hold the line this year because the county and school levies are up. People can only stand so much."

Whittaker said the township may have to dip into its reserve fund because of an $8,000

Study Committee

Teacher Cuts At Metcalfe

METCALFE—A committee to study proposed cuts in teaching staff at Metcalfe Public School was formed after a parents' advisory group told Carleton Board of Education trustees last Monday the move would eliminate specialty programs at the school.

The committee, made up of parents, trustees, the school principal and the area superintendent, will meet tonight to study the effect of staffing cuts at Metcalfe. Recommendations may be presented to the board at their next regular meeting on Monday.

Parents called for more study on the teaching cuts after they were told through a newsletter the move could mean specialty programs, including home economics, industrial arts, French, library, remedial and music programs, could be eliminated entirely. The school was told in April projected September staffing figures had been reduced from the present 26 teachers to 23.

Although Metcalfe Public School principal J.R. Thomas admitted an enrolment drop to 478 pupils from 515 has been projected for next September, he said the cuts are also part of a "general belt-tightening" process.

"I don't argue cuts due to declining enrolment", he said in an interview. "I think any school with declining enrolment should lose staff - but I don't think we should lose as many as we are."

Thomas said the parents' committee is calling for a total of 24.5 teachers, which he says, would allow the school to maintain their six specialty programs. Even if the board remains adamant on the teaching cuts, not all programs would have to be phased out, he added.

"I would have to make the decision as to which programs would be cut with my staff, and we refuse to make any decision now because we want to maintain our optimism."

The principal said the parents' committee was formed quickly after the newsletter announcing the teacher cuts was received. Some parents might not have been aware of the formation of the group, but a second newsletter has been sent out "so now everyone knows", he said.

Thomas had tried to maintain an optimistic outlook on the situation because he says, "if I become pessimistic, everyone else will".

"The board wants to look over the system as a whole and then focus on the sore spots - and I submit we are one of the sore spots.

"At this point I am an incurable optimist - if a large board like that is willing to set up a committee to come out to our school and study our case - that's very good treatment."

If the board refuses to allow more teachers at MPS, Thomas said the school may have to accept their decision and work with what they are given.

"But I can't speak for other people", he added. "There may be parents who will want a petition or want to picket the board office - but that's their business."

The controversy has been beneficial because he has shown parents how to become involved, he said, and could lead to a permanent parents' advisory committee.

French Instruction Should Not Overshadow English Program Needs

By Steve Hummell
Press Staff Reporter

CHESTERVILLE—Increased French instruction proposed for grade one pupils in the North Dundas area and city of Cornwall should not be implemented at the expense of the present English program, says school trustee Lorne Thompson.

"It appears there is greater consideration given to the teaching of French as a second language than there is to bolstering up our programs like special education for those who are having difficulty learning our first language which is English," said the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry trustee.

The SDG Board is considering the implementation of increased French for first graders after a group of parents submitted a 60-name petition last month requesting additional French instruction. Within the next week the administration will meet with interested parents to show them proposals for locations of central schools where the instruction could be available. A detailed progress report will be presented at the May 23 meeting.

Flowers Of Hope

"Flowers of Hope" will help brighten up the area after distribution this week of packets of marigold seeds to over 6,000 residents of Dundas County. The seeds are part of a fund raising campaign sponsored by the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded. May 14 to 20 is Mental Retardation Week and Winchester Senior Citizens have spent long hours preparing envelopes for distribution. The Association hopes residents will show their appreciation by forwarding a generous contribution. Cards are enclosed with instructions for mailing donations.

Credit Where It's Due

Competition in the tour business is tough, and when a bus company gives a complimentary tour to help public relations along, they would like to get the credit. Ottawa district sales manager Tony Cadieux of Voyageur Tours called the Press this week to ask for a correction on a news item that appeared in the April 20 issue. Apparently, Travelway Tours were credited with a donation of a tour to Mont Ste. Marie for Russell Senior Citizens. The trip was a gift from Voyageur, not Travelway.

Male Actor — Singers Needed

Playwright George Blackburn, who wrote "A Day To Remember" - which will play summer-long at a tent theatre being constructed on Upper Canada Road - says he has enough female amateur actors and needs some "adult males with good voices." An audition - expected to be the final one - will be held soon in Cornwall.

Busy Agenda For Visiting Calgary Band

Nationview students will hold a walk-a-thon this Saturday as part of their money-raising program to help honour their pledge of money to Winchester Distric Memorial Hospital. Part of the money raised during the year helps finance the Grade 8 graduation banquet and dance and Grade 8 trips in June. The students and staff are asking for the support they have received and appreciated in the past.

Iroquois Man Killed In Car Motorcycle Crash

MORRISBURG—A 20-year old R.R. 2, Iroquois man was killed last Wednesday when the motorcycle he was driving was involved in a head on collision on County Road 2 near Dixons Corners.

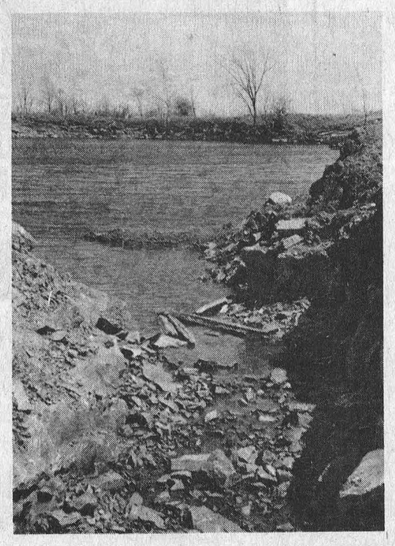
Fred William Geurkink, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hario Geurkink, died after his motorcycle collided with a car driven by Ronald Mudde of R.R. 2, Brinston. The accident occurred at about 10:20 p.m.

Mudde was treated for injuries at Winchester District Memorial Hospital and released Saturday.

Charges are pending while investigation by OPP Constable John Steele of the Morrisburg detachment continues.

Residents Protest Draining Of Quarry

A water reservoir valuable for fighting fires will be lost by the draining of the old Walker Quarry located three miles West of here along Highway 43, claims an area resident.



Ken Andrews, who lives in the South Mountain area, said Monday local residents are concerned on two fronts: for the potential loss of a water supply in case of fire and for the destruction of a favorite swimming and fishing location.

The spring-fed quarry has been known for years as a dangerous spot to swim and several drownings have taken place there over the years.

A spokesman from the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry engineering department said the ditch draining of the quarry was done to alleviate flooding of a nearby farmer's field.

Mrs. Ruby Antle said the quarry water was "running into the farmer's field" and on his request the ditching was done. However, she could not confirm the cost of the ditching or who would be responsible for paying for it. County engineer Don McDonald was unavailable for comment at press time. The United Counties owns the property where the quarry is located in Mountain township.

County foreman Jack Smith, who is in charge of the work at the quarry site, said Tuesday he got orders from Cornwall to complete the ditching "right away" but could not reveal any details.

"It will end up as a mud hole and won't be of much use to anybody", said Mr. Andrews. "Right now it provides a handy reservoir in case of fires."

He said the draining has already dropped the water level in the quarry by eight feet and natural evaporation over the summer will lower it another six to eight feet. During a hot, dry summer the quarry would be an asset for fire departments to fill tanker trucks, he said, and local residents should have been consulted before any action was undertaken.

"But they are concerned for that reason and because they like to go there to swim and for the kids to fish mudpout", said Mr. Andrews.

He, too, believes the action was taken to lower the water level in the ground to "dry up" wet areas in the surrounding farmland.

Mr. Andrews believes that the quarry has been used in the past as a water supply to fight fires in the village but could not confirm this.

Turn Sod For Tent Theatre

MORRISBURG—Work began Monday morning on the construction of a steel-framed tent theatre on Upper Canada Road east of here where the Seaway production of "A Day To Remember" will entertain the public during the summer months.

Bulldozers broke the earth for foundations of the structure which will be located on property owned by the St. Lawrence Parks Commission adjacent to the Maple Sugar Bush.

Author of the play, George Blackburn, a resident of Ottawa, recreates — through song, story and the entertaining medium of the theatre — the effect on the lives of the hundreds of residents of the seven villages that were inundated by the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The playwright said the actors' equity editions will be completed soon in Toronto and two-thirds of the non-professional cast

The president, Mrs. T.S. Armstrong, declared the convention open at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Jas Mair took charge of the devotions. She based her remarks on the importance of "Time" using Ecclesiastic 3: 1-8 as the scripture. She said it is very important that we use our time wisely as only God knows how long each of us will have and should use it to help others.

Rev. Jas. Mair, minister of the church gave an inspiring message in song which closed the devotions. Mrs. Nina Wood, president of Winchester union, spoke a few words of welcome, after which the reports were given.

Much work with the young people was reported. Six Medal contests were held with 37 contestants, 3 silver-plated, 2 silver and 1 bronze medals were presented and gifts went to each contestant taking part.

Special mention was made about the coverage we received about our work in the local papers. Fifty-seven posters were made by pupils from five schools, and a number of young people attended Youtharama at Guelph.

Donations of money and clothing were sent to Overseas Missionary fellowship and the Unitarian Services. Mrs. Mino, provincial president, was the special speaker and gave an inspiring message. She said we must carry on, try not to be discouraged as all our success depends on God so we must be faithful. We must stress that we are the only Christian group upholding total abstinence.

Rev. Marion Gilmer conducted a memorial service for one deceased member at the close of which Mrs. Margaret Robinson and Mrs. Coons sang a duet, and the afternoon session was adjourned until 7:45 p.m. when the evening session was held.

The evening session was opened with devotions conducted by Rev. T. H. Holden, minister of Inkerman Wesleyan Methodist church. He said we are fighting a crusade against the evil of our times. We should take care of our bodies as they are God's temple and should be filled with the spirit of God and not something that is harmful. We will find happiness in studying God's word that we won't find anywhere else.

Mrs. Morris presented the members of a new L. T. L. group which was formed this past year at Inkerman.

Special musical numbers were given during the evening by a young peoples group from Vernon.

A gold medal Elocution Contest was held with 3 contestants, Corrine Vanderbrook, Patty Watts and Lettie Sculten. The judges were Mrs. Stewart, Harry Anderson, Elgin Bowman. Patty Watts won the medal the others received wall plaques. A Christian Youth of the year award was also held with eight contestants, Sharon Harms, Shari Hillis and David Haig. The judges were Mrs. Mino, Marilyn Pitt and Mervin Peters. David Haig was the winner and received a cheque and the girls received silver maple-leaf pins.

Mrs. Moore gave the report of the courtesy committee and Rev. Mr. Mino spoke a few words and the session was closed with a few remarks and prayer by Rev. E. Earl Eaton.

A bountiful supper was served at 6 p.m. in the church hall by the ladies of the church. A social hour was held at the close of the evening session.

Royden Manor Legal Action In Investigative Stages

By Steve Hummell
Press Staff Reporter

CORNWALL — If the owner of a Morrisburg boarding home is found guilty of breeching a county bylaw for not purchasing a licence he will probably be facing a fine rather than closure of the 20-bed establishment, says a Cornwall lawyer representing the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Patrick Rudden said in an interview with the Press last week that his legal firm has the Health Unit's case against the owner of the Royden Manor under advisement and it is in the "investigative stages" now, which involves officially determining ownership of the home.

Rudden said the proceedings have not come close to the point where the home may be closed down. He said he would like to think any possible contravention of the bylaw was an "oversight" and from the time of any court action the owner "would see fit to comply with the bylaw without the necessity of further drastic action."

Health and Social Services authorities have said they don't want the home to close because it would be difficult to find alternative lodging for the elderly residents.

Last year Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties council passed a bylaw which requires all boarding homes with five or more residents to purchase a $5 licence and meet the other requirements of the legislation. Although the new law was effective January 1, the owner of Royden Manor has not taken out a licence. Three other boarding homes in the United Counties have purchased licences.

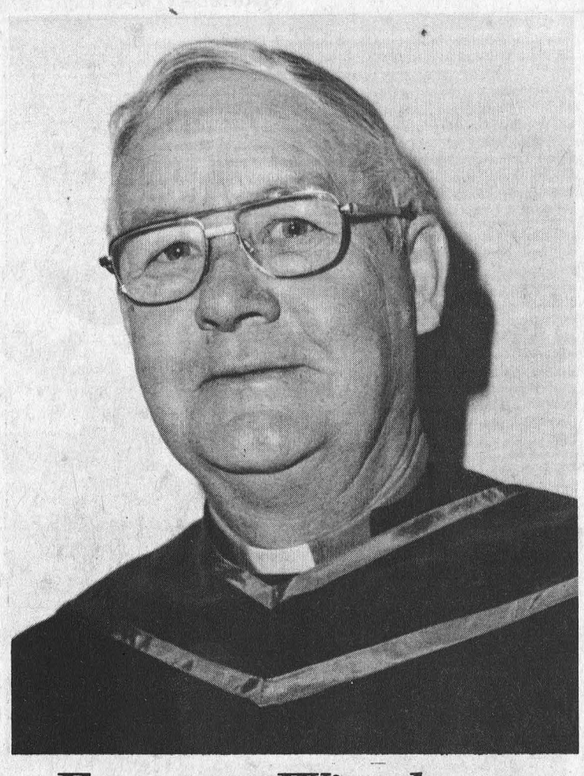
Dr. Rudolph Peters, a medical officer of health, said previously that he has not been able to contact the boarding home owner, Gary Cornwall of Ottawa. Cornwall also operated a similar establishment in the city until it was gutted by fire last fall.

"I hope within the next two weeks we will be able to come up with an answer once the technical aspect has been ironed out," said Rudden.

Several months ago the boarding home came under close scrutiny of the health unit for unsanitary conditions and infractions against fire regulations. At that time a fire exit door was found nailed shut and parts of the ceiling were falling down and leaking.

And Social Services officials are unhappy with conditions at the home. Before a new agreement could be negotiated with Social Services a licence would have to be purchased and the owner will have to meet certain conditions such as providing residents with more control of their living conditions and offering an activities program.

The boarding home is located about two miles north of Morrisburg on Highway 31, on an unattractive, sparsely-treed lot.



Former Winchester Minister Receives Honourary Degree

An honourary Doctor of Divinity degree from the Presbyterian College in Montreal was presented Wednesday to Reverend Wallace MacKinnon, minister at St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church in Ingleside.

Rev. MacKinnon, who served as minister at Winchester's St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and Knox Presbyterian Church in Winchester Springs from 1943 to 1948, received the degree from the college which is part of the Faculty of Divinity of McGill University in Montreal. Awarded for his years of service to the church, the degree is one of only four presented this year in Canada.

The ceremony was part of the Convocation Exercises at the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul in Montreal.

The 64-year old minister was born at St. Elmo, north of Maxville and later graduated from Maxville High School. He obtained his degree in Arts from McGill University in 1939 and was ordained in 1941 at Bristol, Quebec, by the Presbytery of Ottawa.

Following his service in Winchester, he was minister at Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan until 1956. He moved to St. Andrew's By The Sea in New Brunswick in 1956 and in 1964 became minister at St. Paul's Church, Glace Bay, Newfoundland. Rev. MacKinnon has been at St. Matthew's in Ingleside since 1967.

He is also clerk of the Presbytery of Glengarry.

After 37 years in the ministry, Rev. MacKinnon says the present resurgence towards the church is encouraging.

"It's a great challenge for the church to reach out into the community ... especially to involve young people," he said.

He says he will probably remain in Ingleside for some time. Rev. MacKinnon has about 100 families in his charge at St. Matthew's.

Perry G. Stewart Seriously Injured In Car Accident

An R.R. 1, Winchester man is in Ottawa Civic Hospital with major injuries after he was involved in a two-vehicle accident just northeast of Kemptville last Friday.

Perry G. Stewart, 18, was taken to Kemptville District Hospital and later transferred to Ottawa after the 1970 Pontiac he was driving collided with a car driven by Pauline A. Hill, 34, of R.R. 1, Kemptville. The accident occurred at 9:35 p.m. on South Gower Drive.

Hill was admitted to Kemptville hospital with minor injuries. Damage to both vehicles was estimated at $2,000.

Charges are pending in the accident. OPP Constable D. J. Killens of the Kemptville detachment is investigating.

Accident Near Morewood

Four people were injured slightly in a two-car crash near Morewood Saturday, which caused $9,000 damage.

Kenneth Hillis of R.R. 4, Crysler and two passengers, Heather Duckworth, Crysler and Laurie Schryer of Morewood suffered minor injuries when Hillis' 1977 Pontiac collided with a 1969 Chevrolet stationwagon driven by Richard Lavictoire of Morewood. Lavictoire was also injured slightly.

The accident occurred at approximately 2:10 p.m. at the intersection of County Roads 3 and 7 just south of Morewood.

Damage to the Hillis car was estimated at $6,000. Estimates on the Lavictoire vehicle set at $3,000.

OMB Hears Citizens' Objections

METCALFE — Last Wednesday, four years after their first objection before the Regional Planning Committee, the Metcalfe and District Citizens Association had their "day in court" before the Ontario Municipal Board, to present their brief objecting to the proposed Regional Mineral Reserve for quarrying north of Metcalfe.

Mr. John Wright, Regional Planning Commissioner, had defended the regional Mineral Reserve planning before the OMB the previous week.

The first part of the morning was taken up by the Dibblee Corporation presentation, supporting the Mineral Reserve planning for the whole Region. Their evidence was given by their chief engineer, Mr. Jim Cruikshank, who put particular emphasis on Dibblee's holdings in Lots 8 and 9, Concession 7. Paul Cooper and Bryan Walsh shared the stand in presenting the Association brief, illustrated by slides.

They were questioned by Mr. Bell, solicitor for the Township of Osgoode, and by Mr. Reid, Regional solicitor, and the content of their brief was attacked at length by Mr. Soloway, solicitor for the Dibblee Corporation.

Ontario Municipal Board Chairman, Mr. Hugh Kelly, said that of the many briefs from ratepayers' groups the Board had received in over a year of hearings on the Regional Plan, this was one of the best-presented they had heard, and he complimented the Association on what obviously represented many long hours of work.

Mr. Bell, Township solicitor, spoke on behalf of the Township Council in support of the Citizens Association brief. He questioned Mr. Cruikshank and pointed out that the Dibblee Corporation had taken a "speculative gamble" when they purchased the property knowing full well that it was not zoned for quarrying in the Osgoode Township Plan. He called Dr. Klugman, of the Ministry of Natural Resources office in Kemptville, as his expert witness.

Mr. Racine, a local resident, also addressed the Board to correct what he felt were certain false impressions given by Dibblee's solicitor.

A rough outline of the Association brief was discussed at a meeting of interested residents last fall and many of them helped by circulating a petition, which was presented to the Board with the brief showing the support of over 200 residents.

A full report of the day-long hearing will be given shortly at the Annual General Meeting of the Metcalfe and District Citizens Association.

WINCHESTER M/M

Rob Taylor (L) touches the wire first in the 100 metre event just ahead of Mark Cook (C). Dwight Symonds (behind Cook) was third, Mark Cross (far right) finished fourth and Steve Grubb was fifth.

Taylor's winning time was 12:62 seconds in the senior sprint which was part of North Dundas District High School's first Intermural Track and Field Meet in six years.

Student participation was extremely high in all events with top points going to Black House with 291. Red was a close second at 285, Gold third with 241 and Green fourth at 192.

Black House Tops North Dundas Meet

Black House compiled 291 points to win the first Intermural Track and Field meet to be held at North Dundas since 1972.

Red House finished a close second with 285 points, the Gold Squad was third at 241 and Green Machine was fourth with a 192 total.

No one was able to remember - for sure - why the annual event had been dropped back in 1972, but if it was because of a lack of interest that ill seems to have been cured.

Both school principal Don McGahan and P.E. Director Hugh Conlin felt the meet - staged last Thursday - was a great success.

"Students and staff alike turned out to take active parts in the event and everyone seemed to really enjoy it", the principal commented.

With interest in these athletic events rekindled, competition was keen resulting in several school records being rewritten.

Kevin Gowdy smashed all high jumping marks with a leap of 5'6". Kevin was competing in the midget division and his measurement surpassed the junior mark of 5'5" and the senior 5'1" posted the same afternoon.

Not only was his the best height of the day but also tops all three divisional records. Gowdy eclipsed Cornel Dobbe's Senior 1970 record of 5'2", Rae Armstrong's junior and midget marks of 5'5" and 5'0" (respectively), which were set back in '69 and '70.

Marty Little set a new senior shot put distance at 41 feet. The old mark of 39 feet was established back in 1966 by Bill Hogaboam.

Brent Thompson's jump of 18.2 feet set a new mark in the senior long jump wiping out a 1965 leap of 18'1" by Brian Holmes.

Junior Bob McRoberts also hit 18 feet in the long jump pit establishing a new record. A 17'9" leap by Peter LaRose has held-up since 1966.

Roger Cherton's time of 5:14:17 in the 1500 metres can be compared to Brian Preston's 1970 record in the mile of 5:28:9.

Although not complete, several records in the girls division can be listed.

Patsy Blair posted a height of 4'10" in the junior high jump that is better than 4'7" by Anna Verhoeven in 1970.

Anna Verhoeven's midget record of 4'5½" set in 1968 was bettered this year by Donna Faulkner's 4'6".

Midget silver medallist - Wendy Vanderlaan - broke the 1970 Chris Lowe record set in 1970 of 1:14 in the 400 metres. The new mark was lowered to 1:09:75.

When all of the points had been totalled medals were passed out to the top three athletes in each division at a school assembly the following morning.

Those winners were: Midget Girls Gold - Dawn Williams; Silver - Wendy Vanderlaan, Anne Marriner - Bronze.

Junior Girls: Pam McPhail and Shirley Chambers - tied for gold, and one point back for the silver was Marlene Zwarts.

Senior Girls Gold went to Cathy Walker and Kathy Workman and LuAnne LaSalle tying for silver along with Martha McMillan and Leona Moss.

Boys medal winners were Midget Gold - Al Donaldson; Silver Mark Levere; Neal Mathews, Bronze.

Leo Vanderlaan was tops in the junior division followed by Gord Milne in second with Ian Mathews and Dave Hutt tied in third for the bronze.

Steve Grubb and Brent Thompson duelled to a draw in the Senior section with Gerry Goulet taking the bronze.

Each student finishing in the top three in their event was asked to represent North Dundas District High School at the SD&G Meet at Glengarry District High School this week - Thursday, May 11th.

Rookie of the Year Barry Casselman.

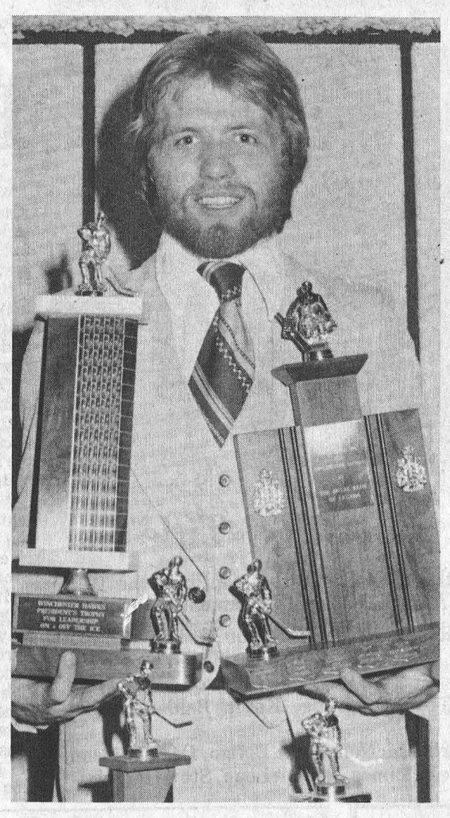
Brad Sullivan, Bill Mullin, Coaches' Trophy.



Brad Sullivan, Presidents', Coaches' Award.

Most Improved Player Al McLean.

Bill Mullin Ends Junior Career In Style

Bill Mullin ended his junior hockey career in style winning three Hawks team awards and sharing another.

Mullin closed out his final campaign with the Winchester Hawks after four successful seasons with Cardinal Broncos. His knack of scoring goals and play making around the opposing team's net made him an instant hit with Winchester Hawks fans and players.

He teamed-up with two potent scorers in captain Brad Sullivan and first-year man Barry Casselman to form one of the league's hottest combinations. Together that talented threesome lead Hawks back to respectability and a second place finish. Mullin was the leader with 76 points, followed by Sullivan's 70 and Casselman's 60. They amassed 79 goals, 127 assists, 20 scoring points in just 28 games.

They put the Winchester Hawks back in the headlines. But they couldn't have done it alone. It was the team who voted on the Hawks team awards which were presented at the annual banquet last Wednesday evening.

Last Wednesday evening Bill Mullin received thanks from team management and fellow players when he was called to the stage to accept his awards.

Bill Mullin was named by his team as their Most Valuable Player and received the Jack Dawson Memorial Trophy which has gone to such passed stars as Kevin Baldwin, Dave VanBridger, Keith McRoberts, Tom Kirkwood, Glen Taylor, Denis Delaney, and Greg Martin.

By virtue of his own abilities he took the top scorers trophy — 25 goals, 51 assists and 76 points. Captain Brad Sullivan was second with 70 points on 30 goals and 40 assists and 70 points.

Playing in all of the Hawks games Bill Mullin harassed near the season's end by hoards of fore-checkers was penalized for only 11 minutes in penalties.

His ability on the ice and spirit of sportsmanship won him the Peter Brackenbury Memorial Trophy.

Coaches Bill Hogaboam and Paul Beckstead couldn't decide on one clear cut winner of their coaches award for team involvement so asked captain Sullivan and Bill Mullin to share it as co-winners.

Brad Sullivan received the President's Trophy from President Joel Steele for his leadership both on and off the ice during the past season.

Rookie of the Year honours had to go to Barry Casselman who in his first year of Junior B Hockey finished fifth in the divisional scoring with 24 goals and 36 assists.

Most Improved Player of the season went to forward Al McLean whose "never say die" attitude has earned him the respect of his teammates and opposing players alike. Al was fourth in team scoring with 14 goals and 10 assists.

Likeable Bob Videto enjoyed a standing ovation when he was called upon to accept the Best Defenceman Award. Bob — who hails from Pembroke — finished fifth in team scoring with 23 points in as many games.

When all of the awards had been presented, speeches made every member of the team was presented with a colour team photo.

President Joel Steele thanked members of the executive for their assistance over the past season. He had particular words of praise for the teams returning players — Marty Little, Pete McLeod, Bruce Jones, Gary Forsyth, Ken Sullivan, Terry Cross, Doug Duncan, Al McLean, Brad Sullivan, Barry Casselman, Steve McIntosh, John Flannigan, Bob Videto, Mike Armstrong, Bill Gutknecht, Brian Moran, Barry Hutt saying they will be the backbone of next year's team.

The President thanked Bill Mullin for his dedication and involvement in a very successful campaign. Besides Bill Mullin Hawks will lose Mike Labadie and Gerry Smith because of over age.

"With some good recruiting to go with the exceptional young talent we have now we hope to make the Winchester Hawks even a better hockey club for next season," President Steele concluded.

The evening included a roast beef dinner, awards, social hour and disco dancing for players, guests, fans and executives.

LIQUOR LAWS COULD HAVE SERIOUS EFFECT

The life blood of all small towns and their various programs such as recreation rely heavily on contributions from the public sector and this supply could dry up if the no advertising law set down for the issuing of special occasion permits are followed to the letter. Let's take for instance the sparsly attended dance last Friday presented by the Hydro Recreation Association which dropped about fifty dollars after expenses were paid. According to the Liquor Licence Board a club such as this must apply for a SOCIAL PERMIT which states that "no advertising" shall be published or in any way disseminated and the public is not allowed to attend. Ball teams, hockey clubs, snowmobilers, receptions, and all private groups fall into this category and only service groups or associations organized for the advancement of charitable works can apply for a FUND RAISING PERMIT which allows advertising. In most small towns private groups are not large enough to support a dance without public participation as bands, hall rentals, food and other expenses must be paid before any fund raising is accomplished. Money raised from these dances is used to finance minor sports, scouts, senior citizen projects as well as building snowmobile trails, renting ice time and the dozens of community projects that make a small town tick, and the money derived from hall rentals goes a long way in offsetting everyday expenses of community centre operations. At a time of restraint when governments keep telling us to cut down on requests for funding would it not seem reasonable to let us raise our own money and at the same time provide ourselves with entertainment. Organizations should be able to prove that they do contribute to community need even if they are private groups and not service clubs then be given a reference number to be used when applying for a permit. Ours has been a community that has always counted heavily on funds raised by the public sector to finance recreation, and to supply programs and facilities to keep our kids at the arena or ball park and not on the streets. Without this money many of the programs and facilities we now enjoy and use would just not be possible. Community centres which are the hub of our social life and our only place for sports and recreation would have to curtail their activities due to lack of operating capital. It could be serious and is a matter of concern to all who have used and enjoyed our programs. We may have seen the end of an era.

MINOR BALL MEETING THIS THURSDAY

All coaches and helpers interested in getting the 1978 ball program off the ground are asked to attend a meeting at the arena this Thursday night at 7 o'clock. We have called the meeting early so as not to restrict viewing of the hockey game just in case the Leafs get lucky.

KEEP FIT JOIN THE TENNIS CLUB

Last Thursday night members of the Tennis Club held their organizational meeting and MONDAY, THURSDAY, and FRIDAYS were arranged as nights for public tennis. Rates for the year were set at $15 per player and if you are interested in playing tennis this year you can pick up a membership next week between 7 and 9 on the above mentioned nights at the arena.

Banquet And Dance End Winchester Curlers Season

Winchester Curlers climaxed a very successful season on Saturday night when their annual Banquet and Dance was held in the Community Centre Hall.

One hundred and eighty curlers, guests and friends enjoyed a delicious dinner, served by the Arena Auxiliary ladies.

President Gerald Holmes was Master of Ceremonies and gave a very encouraging and detailed account of activities at the club during the past year. He expressed thanks to the many committees and his executive for their excellent assistance and co-operation. He also noted the club had prospered financially and asked for volunteers to help with a major renovation to the club which is now in progress — the installation of new pipes in the curling area of the rink.

Mrs. Hugh Eadie, ladies' president, expressed her thanks to the ladies for their untiring efforts in the many activities of the club.

Hugh Eadie, past president, introduced the head table guests and Grace was said by Sheldon Cameron, 2nd vice president. Gordon Nelson, 1st vice president, thanked the arena ladies for the excellent meal provided. Mrs. Jessie Fetterly acted as pianist.

During the evening winners of the various bonspiels and schedules were announced by Sheldon Cameron and Sybil Curtis, and prizes were presented to the members of the winning rinks.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Tri-Lites.

Osgoode High Finished Sixth In CFRA Spirit Contest

By Gary "Toot" Ris

It has been busy at OTHS this past week with so many things going on.

In the CFRA Spirit contest, Osgoode High finished in sixth place with 140,000 entries with an estimated 50,000 still to be counted. The top school, which was Belcourt, gets a disco and the movie, The History of Rock. The next four schools get the movie.

In sports, the OTHS girls' soccer team has a record of 2-0 after the opening week of action in the Carleton Board Soccer League. OTHS shelled Colonel By in the opener by a score of 5-1. Christine Stewart scored a pair while Debbie Geroux, Wendy Holmes, and Mary-Ann Vriend got singles. Cairine Wilson Wildcats were the victims in the second game as OTHS mauled Cairine Wilson 4-1. Christine Stewart, Vera Vriend, Nancy Geroux and Shamrock Franey were in the limelight as they each scored a goal.

The OTHS rugby team lost an exhibition game and a league game during the past two weeks. Confederation scored an easy 24-0 victory in exhibition action and Bell beat the Panthers in the season opener.

This Friday, Moonies Bay hosts the Carleton Board Track and Field Meet. Next week Friday it's the Ottawa-Carleton Championships and the week after it's the Ottawa and Valley Championships. Good luck to the students from OTHS!

This Friday, May 12, the OTHS Athletic Association is pleased to present the movie THE STING. The first showing begins at 6:45 and the second at 9:10. Admission is $1.50 for elementary students and $2.00 for anyone else. Hope to see you there!

The OTHS Athletic Association is also pleased to say that the Athletic Banquet will be held on May 25 at 7:00 p.m. in the Metcalfe Community Centre. Master of Ceremonies for the fourth straight year will be Ken "The General" Grant, the morning host on CFRA. Guests include Bobby Smith of the Ottawa 67's who will be drafted by an NHL team this summer, Kim Alletson who is a figure skater out of Ottawa, Derek Holmes who is involved with the World Cup of Hockey in Prague, Jerry Campbell, formerly of the Ottawa Rough Riders and Calgary Stampeders, and Lally Lalonde who has been involved in many sports. The meal is hot beef and the cost is only $4.00. See you next week!!

SPORTSMAN'S NIGHT THIS SATURDAY

Embrun Community Centre will be the focal point this Saturday night, May 13, for a special dinner and evening of presentations. Plaques and trophies will be the order ... for the Sportsman of the year, the Citizen of the year, the Athlete of the year, and other deserving honours. Individual trophies will be presented to all players of the Embrun '72's in recognition of their great season in '78. A night to remember indeed!

MOTHER'S DAY DANCE, May 13

Mothers and Grandmothers will be in their finest this Saturday night for a dance in their honour at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Embrun. Fathers and Grandfathers will be in attendance but slightly out of the limelight for an evening arranged to honour their ladies. Make sure you don't miss this ... a whole year goes by before the repeat performance!

AND A TICKLER FOR YOUR FANCY

If it pleases your fancy, drop down during these warm days of May to see for yourself ... a new kitchen, a new vanity, some added electrical appliances, some furniture, a new carpet? Are you thinking of adding to your lawns or starting more garden and larger flower beds? A spanking new auto or nearly new but slightly used one? You should see them first at Embrun before you settle for less. They're on display!

Metcalfe Curlers Wind Up Season

Metcalfe curlers ended another highly successful season with an awards banquet in the community centre last week. Following a delicious meal prepared and served by the Porteous catering firm brief reports were submitted and Master of Ceremonies Don Gamble reviewed what he suggested was the club's "most successful season".

Both president Brock St. Denis (Men's Club) and Mrs. Pat Stachon (Ladies' Club) thanked members for their co-operation and outlined proposals for the next curling season.

During the awards segment of the program trophies were presented for all club bonspiels including 8 for the ladies' division; 6 for men's club and 6 for mixed curling.

And Then There Were Snakes

Inability to score a single point in any given game is usually humiliation enough in itself. But at the season's curtain-lowering ceremony Bruce Patterson, second from left, added insult to injury so to speak by presenting snakes to the dubious winners: Bob Reynolds, Bev Patterson and Gordon McDowell. NOTE: (There were others but they hid their faces in shame).

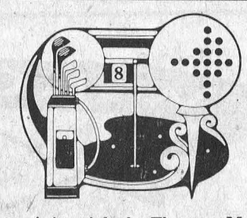
GM Offers Three Year Anti-Rust Warranty

A three-year warranty against corrosion is being offered by General Motors of Canada on all 1978 model cars sold in Canada.

The warranty will provide protection to all owners of 1978 model cars, providing full coverage for repair or replacement of any part excluding the exhaust system components, which develop metal perforation from corrosion under normal operating conditions described in the 1978 warranty information booklet. The warranty would be in effect for 36 months from the date the vehicle is delivered to the customer or first put into use, and there would be no mileage limitations.

All repairs due to defects in material or workmanship will continue to be covered by GM's 12 month or 20,000 kilometre warranty.

Cedar Glen News



It's that time of year again! Time to get out in the fresh air. Time to rid ourselves of accumulated winter feasts. Time to wipe the dust off and send that round white object screaming down the fairway. It's time for Golf!!

The course officialy opened April 29th but due to "Old Man Winter's" last attempt to take over Spring, things didn't really start to roll until last week-end.

Then the great weather brought the golfers out by the dozens.

Saturday May 13th, is set for the Members' Opening Tournament which is open to all members. Tee-off time is at 1:00 o'clock. Then on May 20th with tee-off time at 6:00 o'clock, covers one of those events when golf takes a "back-seat" to great fun in the form of a Mixed Two-Ball Tournament. Closing out the month of May is the annual Dr. Locke Tournament on May 27th. This is a Men's Tournament consisting of A, B, and C Class Tee-off time is at 1:00 o'clock. Thursday night is set for Men's Night and the first one for 1978 will be on May 18th.

Watch this column for information on the Ladies Night events which will soon be in full swing.

IN MEMORIAMS

SADDLEMIRE: In memory of our dear father, grandfather and great-grandfather, Howard who passed away May 14, 1974.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Always tender fond and true;
There's not a day Dear Father We do not think of you.
—Always remembered by daughter Audry, Grandchildren and Great-grandchildren. 3p

McMILLAN—In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Hilda E. McMillan, who passed away May 12, 1975.
Sadly missed along life's way,
Quietly remembered every day,
No longer in our life to share,
But in our hearts she's always there.
—Sadly missed by The Family 3c

STANLEY—In sad and loving remembrance of our dear Mother and Grandmother, Olive Stanley, who passed away on May 11th 1976.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach
Sweet to remember Mother who once was here
And tho' absent is just as near.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered Mae and Allan. 3c

PALMER—In loving memory of a dear sister, Margaret Palmer, who passed away May 6th, 1971.
God knew that she was suffering;
That the hills were hard to climb;
So he closed her weary eyelids;
And whispered peace be thine.
Away in the beautiful hills of God;
By the valley of rest so fair;
Sometime, someday, we know not when;
We will meet our loved one there.
—Lovingly remembered by sisters and Brother: Gertrude, Anna, Ethel and Carl. 3c

CASSELMAN—In sad and loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Gordon Charles Casselman, who passed away May 16th 1977.
One year has passed since that sad day;
When the one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will;
Within our hearts he liveth still;
The flowers we lay upon his grave, may wither and decay;
But the love for him who lies beneath;
Will never fade away.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by his wife Annabel and family. Mahlon and Betty, Ivan and Barbara, Lyle and Irene and Darryl 3p

SIMZER—In loving memory of a dear brother, brother in-law, and uncle Mr. Herbert Simzer and a dear mother, mother in-law and grandmother Mrs. Robert Simzer who departed their lives, brother May 15th 1971, mother May 28th, 1960.
Gone but not forgotten,

Osgoode Seniors Receive Citation

With the advent of spring, members of the Osgoode Drop In Centre welcomed newcomers and others who were shut-in during the winter months.

Among the activities which are enjoyed, there are lessons in oil painting on Thursday mornings and bowling in Manotick twice a month. Shopping is scheduled for the second Wednesday of each month. Plans for special events are being finalized for dates in May and June.

On Friday April 14, a Citation was presented by the Ottawa Red Cross to the Friendship Group of Osgoode for ten years of service. Included in this work are charter members, Maude Blair and Lola Flake - the latter is also supply officer. An interesting display of the useful articles which they had made, accented their fine contribution.

Mrs. Cowell again graciously presented birthday wishes and a cake for those who have birth dates in April; Isabel Ingoe, Marg. McCormick, Kay Chambers, Bill Nelms and Eddie Thompson.

Ambulance Operator Named Mid-June

By Steve Hummell
Press Staff Reporter

The successful bidder for operation of ambulance services in this area will be announced by mid-June, says a Ministry of Health official.

Ron Hicky, head of the ambulance services branch management team studying the proposals, said Friday reviewing of the submissions will begin by the middle of this week.

"I don't think I want to say how many submissions there were at this point," replied Hicky when asked about the number of proposals received by the Ministry. "That will be announced with the final decision."

Deadline for the submission of proposals for operation of the service in the Prescott-Kemptville-Morrisburg-Winchester area was April 25.

Although the Ministry isn't talking about the number of firms interested in operating the service, one source suggested as many as 10 applied.

A year ago the Ministry turned down all the proposals received including the one from Seaway Valley Ambulance Services. Ltd., which has operated the business since 1974. The ambulance firm, whcih employes 21 people, has been wedged in limbo - an interim management position as the Ministry terms it - since the company took over the area.

Individuals and organizations - including municipalities - were invited to submit proposals on the operation of the service. Seaway has been skirmishing with the Ministry over budgeting and service problems since it took over the area.

Although poor relations have been confined to the upper echelons of the ambulance firm and Ministry, service operator Claude Delorme said previously that improvements have been made in that direction.

Ambulance service owner Robert Horton, an Oakville businessman, accused the government of creating a disaster in the management of ambulance services throughout the province. Last November he called for a Royal Commission of Inquiry into the administration of the services.

He said ambulance owners are intimidated by the government's authority to arbitrarily demand service changes and institute budget reductions. The firm supplies ambulance service to a 600-square-mile area which will be considerably enlarged with the addition of Kemptville.

In the past Ministry officials have threatened that government funding to the company could be cut off at any time because it was in an interim management situation. Any company officials countered that their shakey situation prevents corporate investments. They want to operate with a provincial government licence, like the majority of other privately-owned ambulance services in the province.

There are three types of ambulance services presently operated in Ontario: those privately-owned like Seaway, services operated by hospitals and Ministry owned and operated services.

There are 10 government-owned ambulance operations in the province, including ones in Ottawa, Cornwall and Smiths Falls.

WMS Meets At South Mountain

Ladies of the Presbyterian W.M.S. and Guild held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Gordon Cumming with a good attendance.

Miss Lou Hunter, Vice-president, opened the meeting with a prayer and hymn. Interesting readings were given by Mrs. Hoeksema and Mrs. Cumming read a very appropriate poem, My Daily Prayer.

Minutes were read and the business was taken care of after which a hymn was sung. The roll call was on Faith, different verses from the Bible.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson gave a full report on the Guild activities and the meeting closed with a collection, and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mrs. Cumming served a delicious lunch and social hour was spent. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Cumming for her hospitality.

Construct Tent Theatre

have already been chosen. Auditions for amateur actors have been held in Cornwall and Morrisburg, he said, and one more audition is expected to be held soon in Cornwall.

"Actors are not easy to find," he said. "When you find acting talent sometimes they can't sing and when we find singers they can't act very well; when you get the two together then you find the husband doesn't really want the wife to give up the whole summer to the theatre."

Monday morning the ground was broken for construction of the Prince of Wales steel-framed tent theatre located on the Upper Canada Road, just east of Morrisburg.
Press Photo—Hummell

Mr. Blackburn said about six of the amateur cast have been chosen from the local area and most of the backstage help will be hired from the Seaway Valley.

"We're still looking for three or four men," said Blackburn. "We're well enough rounded out with the women, we need some mature men with good voices..."

He said there are opportunities in the project for older, retired people and for youngsters "who are willing to walk in bare feet across broken ground to make it."

Blackburn said it's obvious at this point that the production will have a good cast. Of the 27 members of the cast, seven will be professional actors.

Amateur rehearsals are slated to begin some time this month with full-time rehearsals involving the entire cast beginning around June 1. During the last week in June a preview performance will be held and the summer-long project officially begins July 1.

The play is designed to encourage a deeper understanding and appreciation of the pioneers and their descendants whose farms and villages were wiped out by the Seaway project.

The $200,000 project is being funded by grants from Wintario and the Ontario Department of Culture and Recreation and the Prince of Wales Theatre of Cornwall, a non-profit body set up by Cornwall area citizens to supervise the project.

NDDHS Band To Tour West

Some 50 North Dundas District High School senior band members left for Calgary Monday on an exchange visit which will last a week.

Music teacher Norman St. Louis, who has been organizing the trip since last February, said the Fairview High School band will make an exchange visit on May 18.

"They have already exchanged photos and written to each other", said Mr. St. Louis, "it's a government approach to break down regionalization and provide a way to get to know one another."

He said an Open House Canada Grant pays the cost of airfare and the band pays for all other expenses. The students, who are accompanied by three chaperones, will be billeted in the Calgary students' homes.

The NDDHS band is slated to play seven concerts in six days, he said, so the trip will be a hearty mixture of socialization and hard work. Included in the excursion will be a sightseeing tour of Banff.

Mr. St. Louis said this senior band is made up of probably the youngest students he's taught at the high school.

"And they're a great bunch of kids", he said, "they've got a really good attitude....."

He said concerts and trips like the exchange visit get the band members "really motivated" and pulling together as a team.

The Fairview band exchange visit includes a reception at North Dundas, a visit to the Hershey Chocolate plant at Smiths Falls, a trip to Upper Canada Village and to area dairy farms, a visit to the Museum of Science and Technology in Ottawa, a trip to the capital to see the House of Commons and a tour of Cornwall and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

On May 22 at 8 p.m. the band will perform for the public at North Dundas. The NDDHS band will also be taking part in the concert. Admission is free.

"When the other group comes back May 18 we hope all the activities the band will be involved in will be well attended by the parents and people of the community", said Mr. St. Louis.

The NDDHS band won first place in the grade five senior music class at the Ottawa Music Festival recently in Ottawa.

Nuclear Films Attract Crowds

IROQUOIS — More than 200 people turned up at the Civic Centre here last Thursday to watch two films about nuclear energy presented by the Association of Concerned Ratepayers.

Association organizers termed public participation in their first major event since forming the group several weeks ago an "overwhelming success".

"We were warned over and over again that people just weren't interested in the other side of the story," said Association director John Watts. "Obviously, that's not true; people are not only concerned, they're willing to get out and do something about it."

The Association was formed to study the effects a proposed hydro generating station would have on the area and to educate the public about the pros and cons of nuclear energy. Although Ontario Hydro claims that a decision on the fueling method will not be made for at least five years, four proposed sites along the St. Lawrence - two near here and two in the Prescott area - can be used for either method.

Although Watts said the Association was not affiliated with the anti-nuclear group called PANDA (People Against Nuclear Development Anywhere), PANDA president Bill Borger has said the Iroquois Association was formed by anti-nuclear group members.

The first film, "No Act of God," concentrated largely on the dangers presented by the radio active waste which is generated by a nuclear power plant and for which no safe, long-term storage system has been developed anywhere in the world. The film pointed out that failure of existing storage systems have occurred and gave as an example the leak of 500,000 gallons of highly radioactive liquids into the Columbia River basin from the Hanford weapons plant in Washington State.

The second film, "A Matter of Choice," was concerned mainly with the impact which the construction of the Bruce Nuclear Station has had on the surrounding area. Residents mentioned sharply increased costs of living which were particularly hard on pensioners and others on fixed incomes.

The Association is making plans for future presentations and hopes to sponsor prominent speakers on the subject.

French Instruction

A survey of kindergarten parents throughout the United Counties showed that a majority in Cornwall and North Dundas County preferred a 50-50 immersion program in grade one.

Thompson who represents Winchester, Chesterville and Winchester townships on the board, said he doesn't believe the board is putting too much emphasis on French instruction but an equal emphasis place on the students who are having difficulty learning in their own language.

"I'm certainly not out to sabotage the teaching of French to English-speaking students," said Thompson. "I have always believed there's a place for it but I'll be damned if I can see why monies are made available for one particular aspect and we can't make an equivalent effort where there is need for help."

In a previous Press interview the trustee said he was unhappy that a clause stipulating that the subject would not be considered by the board until 1979 was dropped from the French committee report to the board earlier in the year. The board subsequently decided that increased French would be tabled until parents specifically requested more instruction.

"There are a lot of people who certainly do not look with too much favour on additional monies being made available," he said. "They feel it's not so necessary to have additional French instruction..."

Thompson said when languages are being discussed "that old, underlying animosity" creeps out - "French against English, English against French."

He said there could be a lot of public opposition to the increased instruction proposals in his area but he is still undecided on that matter.

"Taxpayers are being pushed pretty well to the limit and they see any further programs as just pushing it just a little too far," said Thompson. "And I believe this could very well be the case if it were some other type of program."

Public opposition to extended French language instruction mounted here last year when the board conducted a series of public meetings designed to discuss the proposals.

Tax Hike

cut in provincial funding for road construction. Despite township requests to the province for reconsideration on the cutback, the amount of road construction money eligible for subsidization from the government has been reduced, said the reeve.

"That means that any road construction which runs over the government allotment will have to be paid for 100 percent by the taxpayer", he explained. "So we will probably have to dip into our reserves in the municipality."

Plans for two road widening projects and the township's blacktop program will go ahead regardless of the cut in funding, Whittaker said.

He agreed with other municipal officials that school administration costs could be reduced to help halt spiralling school levies. The reeve said establishment of county boards to replace the regional school boards would allow administration to stay "on top" of expenditures.

the way we see it

Hydro Should Improve Nuclear Image

Public opposition to the possibility of a nuclear-fueled generating station being built along the St. Lawrence River is building. And Ontario Hydro's questionable attitude towards selling its product to the Seaway public may be its demise.

Recently an Ontario Hydro community relations officer admitted that more should be done to educate the public about nuclear energy. Most people object to nuclear-fueled stations, he said, because they are ignorant about the safety of Canada's CANDU nuclear reactor system.

Perhaps Hydro should work at promoting its product and educating the public about nuclear energy at least as strenuously as its opponents are working against the spread of it. The most often heard from local anti-nuclear group — which is scrambling for an audience at least once a week along the St. Lawrence waterway — is PANDA (People Against Nuclear Development Anywhere).

A splinter group, calling itself the Association of Concerned Citizens, was organized in the Iroquois area by PANDA members; there are two proposed sites for a generating station in that area. Ontario Hydro has had a few public information sessions (where PANDA members passed out literature and vied for converts) at Iroquois and Prescott, the second area where sites are being considered. The crown corporation will have to do a more adequate job of selling the CANDU reactor to the local people or it may find a solid wall of opposition when it comes to announce the chosen site.

The weight of public opinion cannot be ignored.

PANDA chairman, Bill Borger, claimed recently that Hydro didn't choose a prospective generating station site in the Brockville area because of the opposition from an anti-nuclear group called TIERRA and the Brockville planning board. And, less recently, a tide of public opposition to a proposed nuclear waste storage facility at Mount Moriah near Madoc, Ontario discouraged Ontario Hydro from the use of this area for a dumping site. And while Renfrew County Council has invited Ontario Hydro to use its area for a dumping site, a group calling itself the Renfrew County Citizens for Nuclear Responsibility has formed to fight against the offer.

Despite mushrooming opposition to the use of nuclear energy, Ontario Hydro's plans are clearly mapped in its submission to the standing committee on Natural Resources and Public Works.

On new power units: Nine power reactors located at NPD, Douglas Point, Pickering A and Bruce A are now producing electricity in Ontario. Thirteen additional units have been committed for in-service during the next ten years and are in various stages of construction ranging from near completion at Bruce A to preliminary work on the Darlington project.

On future needs: In 1977 the nuclear stations in Ontario produced over 26 per cent of the electricity generated in the province. By 1988, when the Darlington station is scheduled for completion, nuclear-electric stations are expected to provide about half of the electricity consumed in the province and will for the foreseeable future be the major source of electricity. These are the facts, says Hydro.

And on public involvement: Ultimate approval will come from the public through their elected representatives at various levels of government. This can be achieved through early involvement of the public in the planning process and a continuing flow of information from the agencies responsible for the various aspects of the fuel management program.

Although a public committee is aiding in Hydro's search for a generating site, members were disgruntled at the last meeting when Hydro officials produced outdated and in some cases inaccurate figures for a community impact study. Some journalists involved with the study feel the committee and Ontario Hydro are growing further apart as the search progresses.

If this is true, Ontario Hydro's public involvement objective is backfiring and perhaps it should take a close look at improving its nuclear image.

Some Budget!

What with Chretien's budget and the hockey playoffs, it looks like a long, dull spring ahead.

That budget came sailing out with all the buoyancy of a wet sock. I can't help agreeing with the braying opposition critics, who labeled it a cynical, pre-election budget.

So the sales tax was cut. Big deal. It means that if I want to go out and buy a $6,000 car, I can save $180. Brother, if I could afford that kind of money for a car, I'm not going to let $180 worry me, one way or the other. And that $180 is sure going to go a long way in providing jobs for the more than 1 million unemployed isn't it!

There wasn't a single item in the budget that will remotely affect our sickly dollar or our sorry unemployment situation.

Something that truly amazes me is that the federal Liberals, despite their horrendous record over the past decade, have a very good chance of being re-elected. They are leading by a fat 11-or-so percent in the polls.

How do you figure that, with the whole country mad at the government for inaction, lack of leadership, a monstrous deficit, and a dollar in the doldrums? It must only mean that we think an alternative would be worse, and this is a depressing thought. How can anything be worse than dreadful?

I think perhaps the reason for the Liberal lead in the polls is that a sort of apathy and cynicism has affected the Canadian voter to the point where he just doesn't give a diddle any more.

The lack of credibility among politicians has deepened, rather than the reverse, since the CBC began telecasting House of Commons debates. Nowhere was it more evident than on budget night.

On one side of the House, as the finance minister followed cliche with platitude, one group of trained seals flapped their flippers on their desks every time he stopped for a drink of water. On the other side of the House, another group of equally well-groomed trained seals flapped their flippers on their desks when their man was cutting up the finance minister. Perhaps the name should be changed from the House of Commons to the Common Zoo.

What is developing in this country is a deep, festering sore based on a mistrust of Ottawa and everything that emanates from it.

And somebody had better start paying some attention to it, at some other time than election time, or there's going to be hell to pay in this country.

Surely the Ottawa mandarins, the "expert" economists, and the $50,000-a-year civil servants have had their innings. They have made a complete hash of things in the three decades since World War II, when Canada emerged as a vital country with everything going for it, and has slid steadily from a strong secondary power to a whining voice in the wilderness.

Surely it's time for a leader to emerge who has a gut feeling of what this nation is all about and what its people want. But where is he? Or she? John Diefenbaker had it, but his own ego blurred the mirror. Robert Stanfield had it. But in this TV age, he didn't have "charisma." He wasn't sexy enough.

Joe Clark sexy? Ed Broadbent charismatic? It is to laugh. I'll bet I'm sexier on a Sunday morning with a hangover and no shave.

Oh well, we can't solve the nation's problems here every week. Let's turn, for comic relief, to the National Hockey League. It is to laugh again, uproariously. It is not national, it is not hockey, and it is not a league, but a conglomerate of big businesses.

Despite the sports' page flacks who keep flogging us with "big stories about hockey, hockey stars, big salaries, folding franchises and such garbage (if I read one more story about Derek Sanderson' I'll puke), the hockey playoffs are becoming a big yawn.

A couple of decades ago, hockey fans in North America were that — fanatics. I knew guys who wouldn't go to the funeral parlor where their wife was laid out, if they were going to miss a playoff game.

Nowadays, when everybody makes the playoffs except Aunt Mabel and the Peewee team she coaches Saturday morning, ennui sets in early in April and continues until almost June.

Baseball is in full swing, football is gearing for summer training, and the golf tour is half over before the greedy owners will let their sweaty slaves hang up their skates.

When those sweaty slaves, most of them Grade 12 dropouts, are driving Cadillacs and the like, and play is held up for TV commercials, and fourth-rate teams make the playoffs, the game has about as much integrity as a poker game with twos, eights and all red cards wild.

I'd just as soon watch reruns of I Love Lucy as waste my time watching the NHL playoffs. At least Lucy is funny.

"Freedom Of Religion"

Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

The educational pot is boiling across Canada. What is happening in Ontario is suggestive.

The Supreme Court of this province recently said "no" to North York's plan to set up a Jewish school with compulsory religious classes. The Board of Education — in a policy switch from the sixties! — wanted to integrate a private school into the public system. About 400 junior high school students at the Associated Hebrew Schools would have been involved.

Having rendered this verdict, Judge John Holland, in a personal comment, said that "religious instruction of all denominations would appear to have merit from an educational viewpoint". However, he noted that this would require substantial changes in the legislation.

The fact of the matter is that a system, conceived by men like Rev. Egerton Ryerson, is dead. We now have a concept of public education that is neutral or agnostic. So the pot is boiling.

Ryerson travelled abroad to get ideas? We would do well to take a good look at the Netherlands.

Planes and trains (and perhaps even covered wagons) will be converging on Osgoode Township High School the weekend of June 9th and 10th, and for all passengers the excursion will be a home-coming. A return, so to speak, to memories of successes, failures, first loves, exciting parties, old friends and stern teachers. And since they're all coming back, we thought it might prove interesting to once more relax with a few good books (good year books we mean). Would you believe, for example, that the 1972 editor (Judy Howard) listed what Grade 12'ers liked best (at the time). Here's a few: LYN McDIARMID - wild women; RON URQUHART - taking things easy; APRIL BOYD - Paul; MARILYN MACKIE - David; IAN LONGSTREET - sleeping; PAT PORTEOUS - everyone; MARILYN DUNCAN - Chris; BRUCE PROPHET - parties. But glancing back still further through the mists of time, all the way to 1968, some notable quotes come to light, and we take some liberties with a few: TOM GILLILAND, "Blessed is he who sits on a tack for he shall rise to great heights"; TERRY HOLMES, "If I'm not near the girl I love, I love the girl I'm near"; ADRIAN VAN SLEUWAN, "I sits and thinks, but mostly I just sits". And there were still philosophers quoting gems of wisdom in 1970. Note: GREG HOLMES, "If you can't beat 'em, fire the coach"; COLIN ROWAN, "I came, I saw, and I hope I'm leaving"; LOLA McEVOY, "I want nothing for myself - only a handsome son-in-law for my mother"; KEVIN MULLINS, "I'm not a leader of men, I'm a follower of women"; PETER CLELAND, "I turned out to be the kind of kid my mother wouldn't let me play with"; GRAHAM HICKS, "I want teachers to be my pall bearers, they've carried me this far they might as well finish the job". And then, too, it will be interesting to learn how many achieved their early ambitions. If they did, then JUDY ACRES is a nurse; SHEILA ARMSTRONG works for an airline; SHEILA ACRES a florist; MARGARET CLELAND teaches kindergarten; ADRI COPPINS a scientist; MURRAY DONALDSON is in the field of technology; MARILYN DUNCAN is nursing; SEAN FRANEY playing Santa Claus (seasonal work); JIM NIVEN accounting; KAREN BLAIR a stewardess; DOUG WOODS is with Brenda; and HUGH DOYLE (?). Just one more note to you former students who have since travelled the highways and by-ways of the world. You may not recognize those once-familiar halls, but two faces in the crowd (although now lined and seamed) should be familiar --- for them the corridors are longer, the stairs much steeper, and the students much younger, but, yes, JOHNNY ROSS and JIMMY KERRUISH are still there.

You former students will be pleased to learn that, despite their 'advanced' age, both Johnny and Jimmy are going all-out to make your reunion a memorable one, and we expect to be collecting royalties for years to come. A few weeks ago we suggested the school gymnasium might be considered a memory lane for the occasion - and sure enough those once-honest teachers have stolen the slogan right out from under our nose. The gym will indeed be 'MEMORY LANE', and your former teachers have resurrected some ancient football movies, done a remarkable job of 'splicing', and the end result is bound to be not only educational but 'hilarious' -- and, oh yes, there'll be souvenir mugs [not photos], and pop [pop?], and fun. Sure hope you haven't grown so old you won't even recognize us.

Commercialism will once again rear its greedy head this week urging countless thousands to remember 'Mom' with cards, flowers, long-distance calls or lavish gifts. If the truth could be told most mothers, we think, would prefer only a warm embrace and assurance their 'little ones' are finding happiness in a confused world. At the risk of sounding 'corny' in this supposedly enlightened age, may we suggest accompanying your mother to church next Sunday morning. (The memory is very dear to those of us who once made it a custom but can now only stand in silent prayer by lonely grave). Twenty-five years have unfolded since our own dear mother enjoyed her last Mother's Day, but we remember as though it were only yesterday. For, you see, as H.E. Winters once wrote: "These recollections will never pass, because she's never gone, but serves in ceaseless memory. Of all the people in this world, there can never be another, whose faith and hope and love can equal those of your own mother." Why not, this Sunday, let your mother know exactly what she means to you - - - we wish we had.

We've been known to be severely critical of the Post Office Department. This time the egg is on another face — ours — and we like to think we're man enough to say something kind when the tables are turned. Last week we 'goofed' -- some labels on wrong mail bags. We're indebted to Post Masters at both South Mountain and Russell for doing the heavy lifting during the exchange, and also to an official at the Alta Vista main office for kind co-operation. Thanks fellows, your kindness is much appreciated.

Agricultural Outlook

Forecast Of Supply, Demand, Prices Affecting Canadian Farmers In 1978

Agriculture Canada economists have released the following updated 1978 outlook for the demand, supply and prices of selected farm inputs. These include seed, fertilizers, agricultural chemicals, petroleum products, farm labor and farm financing.

SEED

Cereal and oilseed seed supplies this spring are generally adequate although supplies of quality rapeseed and flaxseed are limited. Pedigreed white bean seed supplies are also tight because of the prolonged wet weather last fall in Ontario and a high incidence of blight, anthracnose and moulds. Production of forage seed in Canada last year was well below average and total supplies, both domestic and world-wide, are down.

Cereal and oilseed prices are steady this spring but prices of forage seeds are up sharply over year-earlier levels. Prices of hybrid corn seed are expected to be down from last year's, reflecting adequate supplies and weaker demand.

FERTILIZERS

Fertilizer supplies are generally good although slow deliveries, especially last fall and early this spring, will mean heavier than normal deliveries in late spring. This will put considerable pressure on the delivery system. A further problem is that the supply of rail cars for delivery of fertilizers is tighter than usual now in both Canada and the United States.

Statistics Canada's March 15 survey of planting intentions indicated that farmers in the Prairies intend to use eight percent more fertilizer than in 1977. By province the changes estimated are: Manitoba, up six percent; Saskatchewan up 12 percent; and Alberta, up seven percent. Crop planting intentions as of the same date indicate a Canada-wide increase of 2.5 percent for principal crops with the main changes being wheat up two percent, rapeseed up 65 percent, soybeans up 20 percent, flaxseed down 26 percent, grain corn down three percent, and potatoes down five percent. With the lower value of the Canadian dollar and planned cutbacks in U.S. crop plantings, price prospects for Canadian wheat have shown considerable improvement since last July. These factors, plus higher prices for oilseeds, account for the strengthened fertilizer demand in the Prairies. In the East, however, fertilizer demand may not equal last year's, particularly in view of the intentions of farmers to plant fewer acres of corn but increase soybean acreage. (Fertilizer requirements for soybeans are less than for corn.)

Fertilizer prices this spring are averaging somewhat above last spring's and are continuing to move up as the season advances. The devaluation of the Canadian dollar with respect to the U.S. dollar is exerting upward pressure on Canadian fertilizer prices, especially imported phosphatic fertilizers. In the United States, phosphatic fertilizer prices are stable but nitrogen prices, principally anhydrous ammonia, are showing some softness. The tight delivery situation this spring will also add to upward price pressures.

AGRICULTURAL CHEMICALS

Sales of pesticides to Canadian farmers in 1977 amounted to about $154 million, slightly more than in the previous year. Pesticide supplies in the United States are expected to increase about two percent this year and, because use in the United States is expected to remain stable, supplies will be adequate for both countries. Some increase in Canadian demand is likely in view of the expected overall 2.5 percent increase in crop acreage. Prices of agricultural chemicals to Canadian farmers may average slightly higher than last year due to higher transportation costs and the lower value of the Canadian dollar.

Effective April 11, 1978, a 15 percent tariff was imposed on the technical grades of 2,4-D and MCOA. They will still be allowed duty-free entry, however, if they are formulations that can be used by farmers and home gardeners.

MACHINERY

The demand for farm machinery in Canada in 1978 will continue the decline begun in 1977 and sales are expected to drop 10 to 19 percent. This slackening of demand stems largely from the drop in 1977 net farm incomes, the uncertain outlook for many crops, and the fact that many farmers do not need to build up or replace their recently expanded machinery stock.

The demand for machinery will continue to be stronger in the East than in the West this year. This means that sales of tractors with engines of greater that 100 h.p. (and associated implements) should fall more than sales of tractors with 40 to 100 h.p. engines. The demand for machinery in Quebec, which was unprecedently high last year, is expected to moderate somewhat in 1978.

The downward slide of farm machinery sales in North America has caused manufacturer and dealer inventories to grow despite stringent inventory and production controls instituted last year. Thus, no shortages are anticipated for 1978. However, this demand situation is causing financial difficulties for farm machinery producers and forcing them to cancel dividends, cut production and employment, effect economy drives, and fight harder for the shrinking market. Dealers too, have had to economize and reduce gross margins and profits in the fact of stiffer competition. The impact has been to place a downward pressure on the rate of machinery price increases. However, higher fuel, rubber, steel, plastics and labor prices are pushing wholesale prices of machinery up in the United States, the source of more than 70 percent of Canada's annual farm machinery purchases. Moreover, a weaker Canadian dollar in 1978 relative to both U.S. and European currencies will add to the upward pressure on prices of farm machinery in Canada. Therefore, even with the depressing effect of the falling demand for machinery, farmers can expect prices to climb an average of eight to 10 percent in 1978.

PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

In 1977, prices for petroleum products purchased by farmers increased almost nine percent from a year earlier, according to the petroleum products retail price index (annual averages). But the fourth quarter 1977 index increased about one percentage point less in the East than in the West over 12 months. Refinery capacity and demand are reasonably in balance in western Canada but the over-capacity situation is a major reason for the greater variation currently found in retail gasoline prices in the East than in the West.

Under the domestic crude oil pricing agreement between the federal government and the producing provinces, oil prices will rise $2.00 a barrel at the wellhead in 1978. This is roughly equivalent to a six-cent-a-gallon increase at the retail level. In March 1978, the Anti-Inflation Board allowed refiners an average increase in price of a half-a-cent-a-gallon for higher refining and marketing costs. However, in view of the refinery over-capacity situation in eastern Canada, not all of the allowable increases may be passed on to consumers. Overall, fuel prices to farmers in 1978 will likely increase at much the same rate as last year. One exception is in Alberta where the provincial government has increased the farm fuel transportation subsidy by four cents a gallon.

The federal government's Oil Compensation Program will continue to compensate refiners in eastern Canada for the difference between Canadian crude oil prices and imported crude. This policy maintains the principle of a single crude oil price for Canadian refiners, adjusted for differences in location, quality and transportation costs.

Natural gas prices in Canada Continue to be tied to domestic crude oil prices, so that similar price increases have occurred and will continue to do so.

FARM LABOR

Employment in farming in 1977 totalled 468,000 persons, one percent fewer than in 1976. Although paid workers increased by 2,000 persons, farm operators and family workers were 8,000 less. The decrease in total farm employment is continuing in 1978 with the average numbers for the year expected to be one or two percent below those of 1977.

The supply of hired farm workers in 1978 should be generally adequate. Workers from the Caribbean Islands and Mexico will be allowed into Canada temporarily to fill jobs in farming if Canadian workers are not available. The Employment and Immigration Commission has introduced an employment tax credit program for which farmers are eligible. The program commenced on March 8, 1978, and will run until March 31, 1980. It provided a tax credit for employers who increase their number of employees working 35 hours or more a week for a minimum of three months.

The rate of increase in hired farm wages in 1978 should be less than in 1977, ranging from five to 10 percent. In 1977, the average annual rate of increase in hourly wage rates was 10.4 percent. Average hourly hired farm wage rates in 1977 were $3.58 an hour without board.

FARM FINANCE

The flow of credit to farmers in 1978 is expected to be at least 10 percent greater than in 1977. This increase in credit extended will be in large part due to continued increases in farm input costs, the sharp increase in western wheat prices since last July, in large part attributale to the decline in value of the Canadian dollar on exchange markets, and the increase in the maximum size of Farm Credit Corporation loans permitted under the recent amendments to the Farm Credit Act. While the decline in the value of the Canadian dollar on exchange markets will increase the costs of imported farm inputs, its effect on wheat prices is expected to result in a stronger demand for land in the Prairie Provinces. The average land price increase for Canada was 24 percent in 1975, 16 percent in 1976 and less than eight percent in 1977. It was originally expected to be about six percent in1978. With the changes that have occurred in recent months, the national average increase is likely to be in the eight to nine percent range.

Interest rates on loans to farmers from most sources currently appear to be from 0.25 to 0.75 percent higher than one year ago. The interest rate on bank loans to farmers is presently in the 10.25 to 11.25 percent range. The rate on Farm Credit Corporation loans is 0.25 percent higher than a year ago. On March 1, the bond was discontinued and replaced by the prime rate plus one percent. This rate on loans will change as the prime rate changes. While the change will likely result in a higher average interest rate being paid than would have occurred under the bond formula interest rate, it is expected that more farmers will be able to obtain loans under the FILA. Expansion of provincial farm credit legislation is expected to occur in several provinces this year. The long-term credit programs with periodic adjustments to the interest rates which several banks have recently introduced currently appear to be most active in the Prairie Provinces.

Mineral Supplementation Required On Pasture

DENNIS R. McKNIGHT, LECTURER, K.C.A.T.

Summer pasture is still a common method of feeding cattle. Often their nutrient requirements are ignored during this period and minerals usually fall into this category. In most cases, the calcium, phosphorous, cobalt, salt and iodine requirements are the ones which require consideration. Other mineral deficiencies are usually regional in nature.

Several methods can be used to ensure there are no mineral deficiencies. Minerals can be offered free choice, in a grain supplement, or both. Free choice mineral should be offered in mineral feeders that are protected from wind and rain.

Minerals can be obtained in various ways. When choosing a mineral supplement, it becomes a matter of deciding on the one that supplies the needed mineral at the lowest cost. Phosphorous is the expensive component. You can expect that a mineral supplement containing low levels of phosphorous will be less expensive than one which contains higher levels of phosphorous. Mineral mixtures should be palatable, but some are not and others have sweeteners added to the point when the animal's voluntary intake may be excessive.

On pastures, phosphorous has been shown to be the most common mineral deficiency in this country. Gains are reduced in growing cattle and reproductive performance is impaired in the breeding herd. In most practical situations, when no grain supplement is fed, I recommend offering free choice a 1:1 mixture of calcium phosphate and trace mineralized salt for cattle on pasture.

Governments To Share Costs

Flood Damage Reduction

TORONTO — Federal Environment Minister Len Marchand and Ontario Natural Resources Minister Frank S. Miller, have signed an agreement ensuring federal-provincial cooperation for flood damage reduction measures in Ontario.

The two governments will share a $9.2 million cost of these measures, over a 10-year period, covering mapping of flood-prone lands, studying areas with special flood problems, and other measures to reduce flood damages. The program does not include flooding along the Great Lakes shoreline.

Mr. Marchand stressed that the basic intent of the federal government's flood damage reduction program is to discourage further commercial or residential development of flood-prone lands, where flood damages cost Canadians millions of dollars every year.

"Following a thorough study of Ontario's most serious flood areas, we may eventually become involved in assisting the Province of Ontario in flood damage reduction measures such as land acquisition, works to control water levels and flows, forecasting and warning systems, flood-proofing and land use planning," he said.

Mr. Miller said Ontario's Conservation Authorities have been involved in flood plain management for many years and have produced flood risk maps that may be used under the new agreement.

The two governments began pilot flood risk mapping projects in Oshawa and Sault St. Marie in 1976.

Ontario joins New Brunswick, Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan in signing a flood damage reduction program agreement, to be monitored by a federal-provincial committee.

South Mountain Calf Club Learn The Parts Of A Cow

South Mountain Calf Club met for the second time of the year last Thursday at the farm of Dale Boyd, R.R. 1 South Mountain.

The meeting was centred upon learning the 30 basic parts of a cow.

Club president Eileen Rose pointed out the parts of a cow and then the rest of the members named the parts on a piece of paper.

After the meeting was adjourned members enjoyed a lunch while watching the hockey game.

PARTICIPACTION

Off and Trotting
by Margaret Neal

Harness horses are athletes and require exercise to keep fit and trim. A regular daily regimen is required if they are to provide top performance.

Should a trotter or pacer develop a sore foot, he cannot be trained on the track in the regular way. But, if he does not get regular daily exercise, then in horsemen's language he is "let down". When this happens it may take weeks or months of exercise to bring him back into condition.

When a horse swims, his action in the water is at a normal gait. That is a trotter will trot in the water, and a pacer will pace when swimming. Swimming pools and whirlpool baths for horses are often used today to keep horses in shape without aggravating soreness.

But in 1885 no such exotic facilities were available.

Phyllis was a good race mare by Phil Sheridan and was trained by Charles Wagner, of Dickenson's Landing, Ont. She was due to take part in an important race at the Glenboro track in Cleveland, Ohio, when she came up lame.

The resourceful Canadian trainer amazed the onlookers when he proceeded to give the mare her daily exercise by swimming her behind a rowboat in Lake Erie. He was among the first, if not the first trainer to prepare his charge for racing by swimming.

Phyllis won her big race — and set her lifetime mark the next time out.

Marginal Drop In A.I. Services Not Alarming To EBI Members

Some 250 members and other interested individuals attended Eastern Breeders Inc.'s Annual Meeting on March 16th at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology. There was a 2.8 percent decline in services from 127,443 in 1976 to 123,866 in 1977. This drop was not as serious, however, as in the previous year. Dairy services in the Ayrshire, Jersey and Guernsey breeds only declined slightly while services to Holsteins increased slightly. The decline in beef services was greatest for Hereford, Charolais and Simmental, although their percentage of decline was smaller than in other beef breeds.

Semen sales outside E.B.I.'s service area, increased by $44, 164.52 or some 13.0 percent over the previous year due at least in part to establishing a semen distribution system in the U.S.A.

E.B.I. showed a new profit of $102,192.92. The profit was the first since 1973 and followed losses in 1974 of $30,233 in 1975 of $130,561 and in 1976 of $56,828. Dr. Smiley, General Manager, said in his report that there was good reason for optimism that the economy of the livestock industry was on the up-swing. It probably will not rise dramatically or overnight, but it is at least encouraging to hear for example, that beef prices have improved considerably, there has been some increase in the price for milk and that the major problem in quota shortage will soon be over, and that it would appear that the Brucellosis problem is diminishing, he said. Dr. Smiley also pointed out the importance of maintaining our present battery of proven Ayrshire and Holstein bulls at as high a calibre as possible. It is imperative that the Young Sire Proving Program be stepped up to achieve this. Over the past ten years, E.B.I. has been bringing in an average of eleven young sires but this rate just isn't good enough to keep pace with the demand. It is therefore, extremely important that E.B.I. and the cattle breeders in the area we service, co-operate in the Young Sire Testing Program, in order to ensure the future success of both parties.

1977 President, Delbert McComb (Hastings County) chaired the meeting assisted by Archie A. Robertson, Vice-President (Glengarry County). Mr. Robertson was appointed President for 1978.

Hard working, community minded and a man with a sense of humour, best describes E.B.I.'s new President, Archie A. Robertson of Glengarry County. Archie has served on E.B.I.'s Board for a number of years. He served on the local school board for many years and was Chairman of this board was well. Archie was also the Chairman of the Glengarry Crop Improvement Association and is very active in his church, serving on the Session for many years. Reading this, one would think that Archie spends all his time on the road. Not true. In addition to all his community involvements, Archie finds time to run Glenmeadow Farms, a 310 acre farm with 125 head of Holstein cattle, 50 of which are Purebred milking cows. However, Archie is not alone in this. The Robertsons, Archie and wife, Janet, have raised three children who have helped over the years. Their son, Malcom, is a partner on the farm and they have another married son, Clarence and a daughter, Diana.

Always ready to lend a helping hand, Archie definitely will be an asset to Eastern Breeders as our President for 1978.

Beef Meeting At Mountain

The second meeting of the Dundas 4-H Beef Club was held on May 3rd at the farm of Earl Cross, Chesterville.

The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge then roll call and the minutes of the last meeting were read. After the minutes Carolyn Cross gave the club members a run down on what happened at the Executive Council meeting.

The business part of the meeting was taken over by the members, as the leader didn't arrive till later. The topics discussed were mainly having to do with feeding and training. Senior members of the club then explained to other members about some of the best ways to train their calf. The club also discussed when they would like to have their weigh-in date. It was proposed that it be May 6 or a tentative date of May 13. If possible it would be held at the Winchester Sale Barn at 10:00 a.m. Douglas Palmer was to look into the matter.

The next meeting is to be held on June 7th at the farm of Neil Williams, Winchester. After hamburgs and drinks, the Cross' were thanked and members went their separate ways.

Ontario has reformed its family laws.
We think you and your family should know about them.

The purpose of the new legislation is to strengthen and encourage the role of the family by bringing outmoded and unfair laws into line with modern family life. Among the subjects covered are:
• Matrimonial property – the sharing of family assets, including the family home.
• Support – the mutual obligation of spouses to support themselves and their children.
• Domestic contracts – what they are and how to make them.
• Abolition of the status of illegitimacy – equal rights for all children.
• Marriages – age of consent and civil ceremonies.
• Succession rights – the rules for making wills and rights of surviving family members.
The new laws substantially change the rights and responsibilities of every person in Ontario.
The Ministry of the Attorney General has prepared an easy-to-understand pamphlet which summarizes the new law. For your free copy, write to:

Lumley Confronts Sportsmen Re: Mohawk Fishing Licences

CORNWALL — A meeting called by Stormont-Dundas MP Ed Lumley here Wednesday brought out threats from local Sportsmen to take the law into their own hands to deal with what some term illegal fishing licences being forced on area fishermen by the St. Regis Mohawk Band.

Lumley called the meeting in the wake of continuing complaints over the last year about hunting and fishing fees being levied on area sportsmen on open waters of the St. Lawrence River.

Since last fall the Indians have been charging fishermen $5 a day or $50 a season for fishing on the river from Valleyfield, Quebec, to Gananoque, which they claim is Indian property.

Lumley said at the meeting that the actions of the band council are illegal but RCMP or OPP protection for sportsmen is not possible because the boundaries of the Cornwall Island Reserve have not been legally defined.

More than 200 sportsmen attended the meeting and some said they will take the law into their own hands if something isn't done soon. They suggested that fishermen carry shotguns in their boats for protection.

Cornwall alderman Angelo Lebano said before anything happens there must be a legal challenge to the Indian land claims. He sponsored a resolution by Cornwall council last week urging federal action on the issue.

Lumley accepted the suggestion of an Indian woman to meet with the band council about the matter.

Freedom Of Religion

The constitution of Holland lays down that the cost of "voluntary schools" (fulfilling certain conditions imposed by law) is to be defrayed from public funds on the same scale as public schools. State primary schools are run by municipalities; voluntary schools by the organizations that set them up. State supervision is exercised by the schools' inspectorate.

Suffice it to add that in the Netherlands, although state and voluntary schools are not on the same financial footing when it comes to higher education, even at the university level voluntary institutions receive state aid varying from 70 percent to 90 percent.

Those who cherish the spiritual heritage of our own country, a heritage affirmed in the opening words of the Canadian Bill of Rights which acknowledges "the supremacy of God", should be prepared to do some very careful and vital thinking.

Those who would not hesitate to invoke this statute if they felt deprived of justice even in an area under provincial jurisdictions, should also be ready for vital and careful thinking about implications of "freedom of religion".

There may be separation of church and state in Canada. But this does not mean that there is or should be separation between God and government, between religion and the state, between people and public support to band together for education according to the dictates of conscience.

It is an historic position which is at stake in a new ecumenical climate. It is a primary position which is bound to be attacked by various individuals or groups for a variety of reasons.

Protein On Pastures

Liquid Supplement Not Always Necessary

DENNIS R. McKNIGHT, LECTURER, K.C.A.T.

Liquid protein supplements are suitable for pasture use, but they may not be fully utilized unless additional grain is supplied. Liquid supplements are usually formulated with a molasses base, urea or some other nitrogen sources, and a phosphorous source. Much of the protein is provided by non-protein nitrogen.

Conventional protein can be used directly by the animal, while that derived from a non-protein source must first be converted by the micro-organisms in the animal's rumen. The micro-organisms manufacture the non-protein into amino acids for their own growth. The animal uses these micro-organisms as a source of protein. However, there must be a readily available supply of carbohydrates (starch) before this conversion can take place efficiently. Also, if a sufficient quantity of carbohydrates is not available, the excess ammonia produced from the urea can be toxic to the animal.

Roughages, like green feed and hay, all contain some carbohydrates, but the starch and cellulose in these roughages are degraded too slowly and the sugars in the molasses ferment too rapidly for maximum protein synthesis to take place. This is the reason that the inclusion of grain in the rations results in the more efficient use of liquid protein supplements.

In addition to the urea problem, it may be necessary to feed extra calcium and-or salt with liquid protein supplements because some of the products do not contain enough of these elements.

Trials conducted on the ARDA pastures in 1974 and 1975 found no benefit of liquid protein supplements when compared with a non-supplemented group. Most of the American research has also shown that it hasn't paid to feed liquid protein supplement to cattle on pasture.

Small Communities Best Says Winchester Corporal

By Anne Patenaude
Press Staff Reporter

The promotion to sergeant is something Earl Graves has worked hard for during the quarter century he's served with the Ontario Provincial Police force, but the 52-year old career policeman is mindful that a lot of good men may never reach that rank.

"It's something you work for, but there are a lot of good men who never make it," the Winchester detachment commander said in an interview. "There are getting to be more and more constables who don't get promoted."

With more than 4,000 uniformed officers in the provincial force, the effect of regional policing has cut down on the opportunities for advancement. Graves qualified in a provincial competition in 1975, the only corporal to qualify in District 11 since 1972.

Known as "The Digger" since he served in Picton, he's received several commendations during the last 25 years, including two published in Commissioner's Orders — one for his part in the apprehension of an escapee from Collins Bay Penitentiary and the other for investigative work connected with a post office robbery at Carillon. In 1973, he was presented with the long service and good conduct medal, an honour which usually comes with 20 years service.

For Graves, his promotion and transfer to Elmvale which becomes effective May 15, will mean the first time since he joined the OPP that he'll be within visiting distance of his parents' home. He's happy about the move, but Graves says he'll miss the friends he's made here during the ten years he's served as corporal of the nine-man Winchester detachment.

"It's my longest posting here, but you tell yourself when you come on, that transfers are part of the job," he said. "If you want to get ahead a promotion almost always means a transfer."

His involvement with recreation — he was a member of the men's bowling league, the curling club, the Winchester District Minor Hockey Association, the Winchester and District Recreation Association, the men's Town League Ball Team, and he's coached a minor ball team for several seasons — has given Graves the opportunity to work with young people. Although the force encourages participation in community activities, the corporal's work in recreation stemmed from his interest in young people.

"I didn't do it for public relations but because of my interest in kids," he said. "It's something I enjoy and that's the time to start with them."

"There are young men today that I coached in Pee Wee ball teams when they were 11 or 12 years old. Now when I meet them on the street they call me "Digger" ... you go to some towns and they don't call you 'Digger' ".

With the wider range of activities open to young people today, Graves says their attidute has changed.

"They have more freedom. It's maybe not that they have less respect for the law but they have such a wide range of activities that sometimes we interfere with them — and they don't like that."

"We try to get involved with youth as much as possible. It's no good starting when they are 19 or 20, you've lost them then."

The OPP has been good to Graves, but if he had it to do over, he doesn't know if he'd make the same choice.

It's tougher now than it was 25 years ago when he started. The working conditions are better, there are more men to do the job and the annual salary of more than $21,000 for a first class constable is ten times what it was when he went into the business.

But there is less leeway now. A police officer works under the bail reform act, and the use of drugs, unknown two decades ago, has become a major law enforcement problem.

"In those days you could lock up a drunk, but now you can't," he said. "And the abolishment of capital punishment ... well, that's had an effect too."

"Policing itself is tougher due to the changes in the law. I have found it rewarding — there are times when you feel you have really helped someone. But on the other hand, there are times when I wish to hell ... well, you get fed up."

Graves sees the police officers' biggest problem is trying to convince the public to volunteer information and back it up in court. People don't understand court procedures, he says, and too often they are unwilling to support the police.

"It's not that they don't want to give us information, but they don't understand court procedure. They think just giving us information is some help — and sometimes it is — but usually it's no good unless they are willing to swear to it in court."

He feels one of the priority areas in police work is the establishment of good relations with the public. The creation within the last 15 years of community services officers in each district has "definitely been a good idea".

"The policeman's best avenue of information is through the people — good relations with the public are a must."

"But you don't have to be specialized to participate. In a community this size, each man on the beat is a community services officer."

Police work in a small community is good experience for an officer, he says. The general law enforcement of the area gives an officer a look at all aspects of crime, although it is usually minor compared to some areas.

The corporal's new posting in Elmvale, a 15-man detachment north of Barrie, Ontario will give him a chance to get back out on the road. He's missed the contact with the public he had when he came to Winchester in 1968 as head of the then four-man detachment.

"With two corporals to do the administrative work, I will be tied down less in Elmvale," he said. "I used to go out in the car a lot and I miss it."

"The first few months after a transfer are especially important. You have to get to know the area and the people."

Although his first two postings after he joined the OPP were in larger centres — Belleville and Picton — Graves says he prefers to work in a small community. But he admits it's a little tougher in a small town, where people "notice" more.

"You can live in the city of Toronto and your next door neighbour might not know you are a policeman. Here, it's nothing to be getting ready for a dance on Saturday night and get called out — that goes with it".

"But I've enjoyed my last ten years here and my involvement with the youth".

Although the corporal will begin work at Elmvale next Monday, his wife Margaret, 17-year old daughter Joanne and 16-year old Bruce won't join him until later this summer. Because Elmvale is another small town, the new sergeant is looking forward to meeting the people in District 7 and through recreation, establishing contact with the youth of the area.

"Public relations is more important today than it ever was," he says. "It's got to be the biggest factor in police work."

Communications Top Priority: Lyon

Like other police officials in the area, Corporal Bob Lyon believes communication is the top priority in community police work.

The 40-year old corporal, transferred from Rockland to replace Earl Graves as head of the nine-man Winchester detachment, says the biggest thing is to get out and meet the people. A 14-year veteran of the Ontario Provincial Police force, Lyon says he plans to spend a lot of time on the road.

"I was tied down more at Rockland with paperwork," he said. "I hope I'll be out on the road here as much as possible."

Although the 28-man Rockland detachment was expanded to cope with traffic policing on the area's "killer strip", the corporal said his main interest lies in criminal investigative work. His move to a small detachment will allow him to concentrate on this type of policing, he said.

Despite the usual transfer which normally accompanies a promotion in the provincial force, Lyon was appointed Corporal four years ago but was allowed to remain in Rockland where he's been posted since he joined the force.

His take-over at Winchester will become effective May 15 with the departure of Corporal Graves, who has been transferred to Elmvale, Ontario after ten years service here.

Corporal Lyon says he'll "play it by ear" during his first months in the area and major changes — if any — will come only after he's become more familiar with the district. Winchester OPP are responsible for law enforcement in Mountain and Winchester townships and the villages of Chesterville and Winchester.

Lyon is married with one child, a girl, 11. Although he still lives near Rockland, the corporal says he plans to move to this area as soon as he finds accommodation.

Open Appeal

Grenville Christian College Building Fund Campaign

With the objective of updating academic and living facilities, headmaster the Reverend J. Alastair Haig has announced the appeal to raise $950,000 for the college improvement program.

There are 150 students at Grenville Christian College near Brockville. The school has gained an excellent reputation in academics and in a code of living with roots in the deepest fundamentals.

"Our nine-year-old institution has a waiting list for student enrolment in grades 7 through 13," said Mr. Haig. "A comprehensive range of courses are offered in humanities and sciences," he said, "and a richly varied sports and extracurricular program gives our young people something that may be unique in contemporary secondary education."

The key to the success of Grenville Christian College is found in the high ratio of staff to students. Some 60 staff members ensure that each individual student receives the attention needed. Of the students, 95 percent go on to higher education.

With no endowment fund or extensive alumni to draw on, the public is invited to support the tradition of excellence so firmly established by mailing campaign donations to Grenville Christian College, P. O. Box 610, Brockville, Ontario K6V 5V8. Donations are tax deductible.

North Dundas School News

By Marg Wouters and Kate Workman

This week marked the beginning of what will hopefully be an annual event at North Dundas, as students and staff participated in an international track meet. The meet ran from 11:30 until 3:30 on May 4 with a schedule of events which included: 100m, 400m, 800m, 1500m, relays, highjump, long jump, triple jump, shot put, and baseball throw. The top three finishers in each event will be competing in the first interschool meet of the season, Thursday, May 11, at Glengarry High School in Alexandria. The final house league standings for our school meet were: 1) Black, 2) Red, 3) Gold, 4) Green.

On Friday, May 5, the Band held a short band concert for the enjoyment of all students and staff. The Band left Monday en route to Calgary for their annual spring tour. Also on Friday, Junior Commencement was held in the afternoon from 2 p.m. to 3:30 to present honour bars and awards to last year's students in levels 1, 2 and 3. The three counselors in "Snow White" were played by Russell Knight, Jimmy Havekes and Alice Koekkoek. Press Photos—Patenaude

The Seven Dwarfs Rock Group with leader Doc played by Eric Winter brought some new twists to the original fairy tale of Snow White.

Revamped Snow White Receives Enthusiastic Audience Response

Elizabeth Woods, as the mean old Queen, played the villain in Nationview's jazzed up version of Snow White.

By Anne Patenaude
Press Staff Reporter

Nationview Public School's "jazzed up" version of Snow White deserves top rating as one of the best — and funniest — performances to hit the area in a long while.

The fast-paced musical comedy made the most of student acting talent and left the audience wishing the production had been extended to four acts instead of two. Costumes, make-up, sets and lighting were almost professional and the facilities at the public school auditorium in South Mountain are ideal for this kind of presentation.

Elizabeth Woods as the Queen and Charlene Rose playing Snow White turned the classical fairy tale into a cool and far out comedy that never slowed down for a moment. The Seven Dwarfs "Rock Group" with Eric Winter as leader Doc added some new twists to the antics of the original crew of seven. Doc's dwarfs — Chords, Strings, Keys, Vibes, Skeptic and the inimitable, bumbling Dopey — were delightful.

Unlike many amateur productions, Snow White was never dull, the acting was animated and the play itself was well directed. The months of preparation that went into the play were evident and the important extras in the sets and the lighting made the difference between an ordinary school play and a smooth comedy that would appeal to any audience.

This year's success is nothing new at Nationview. The school has produced some excellent plays for their annual Spring Festival, including last year's Tom Sawyer and Sesame Street in 1976.

The reputation Nationview has earned as producer of some top-notch performances is well deserved. Co-directors Eleanor Drover and Kevin Cooper have obviously instilled a real enthusiasm for live theatre in their young charges, and the result was well worth seeing.

If you missed this year's play, keep the Spring Festival in mind for a treat next year. It's too bad "Snow White" can't go on the road — their opening and closing performances last Thursday and Friday proved the show a sure-fire hit.

The cast for the intermediate student and staff production of Snow White are:

Co-directors Eleanor Drover and Kevin Cooper; Production, R.E. Gilroy; Pianist, Helen Bartholomew.

Counties Council

County Planner Issue Not On May Agenda

CORNWALL — While the major item of business coming before Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry county councillors tomorrow will be the auditor's financial report, one of the most controversial topics - the hiring of a county planner - probably won't surface until the summer session.

"The planning issue won't come up at this session." said administrator Raymond Lapointe. "Now it's up to the planning committee to advertise and receive applications for a planner to be engaged by the counties."

He said the subject would likely be discussed by county council again at the July or August session.

Although council agreed to establish a county planning department at the March session, after months of toying with the proposal, it only authorized the administration to advertise for a planner, not to hire him.

While opposition to the proposal was levelled by Williamsburg Township, Reeve Johnny Whitteker and Morrisburg Reeve, Bill Dillabough, council approved the plan on a vote of 35 to 9.

But it was left to another council meeting to decide how the constituent municipalities will be billed for the services and what framework a planner would work under.

Although three of the four planning boards in the United Counties approved of the proposal in principal, the South Dundas Area Planning Board rejected the idea completely.

Supporters of the proposal argue that planning matters are taking an increasing amount of time from elected officials and township clerks and a county planner would relieve these pressures.

They believe the establishment of a county planning system would give the local government more autonomy by showing the province it is a proficient decision-making body.

Although most county councillors have agreed with the need for a county planner, few favored the proposal to have a consulting firm provide the services.

Although the planner's salary and employee benefits would come out of the consultant's pocket, county council would be responsible for re-embursing him for the costs and would have to pay a percentage of his annual salary to serve as a retainer fee.

The retainer fee would cover the firm's cost of selecting candidates for the job, providing daily assistance and direction and other planning services.

The session begins Thursday at 11 A.M.

"Run For Your Life" Runs For Children

Those Run For Your Lifers who've been jogging in and around town for the past three months will "run for their money" at the end of May, when they attempt a fund-raising run that should pull the new nursery school operation here out of the red.

The group, which began in February with short jaunts from the community centre to the BP station, have extended their jogging-fitness program until some members are now running six miles a day. Eleven of the members have organized a "Run For Your Children" day scheduled for May 27.

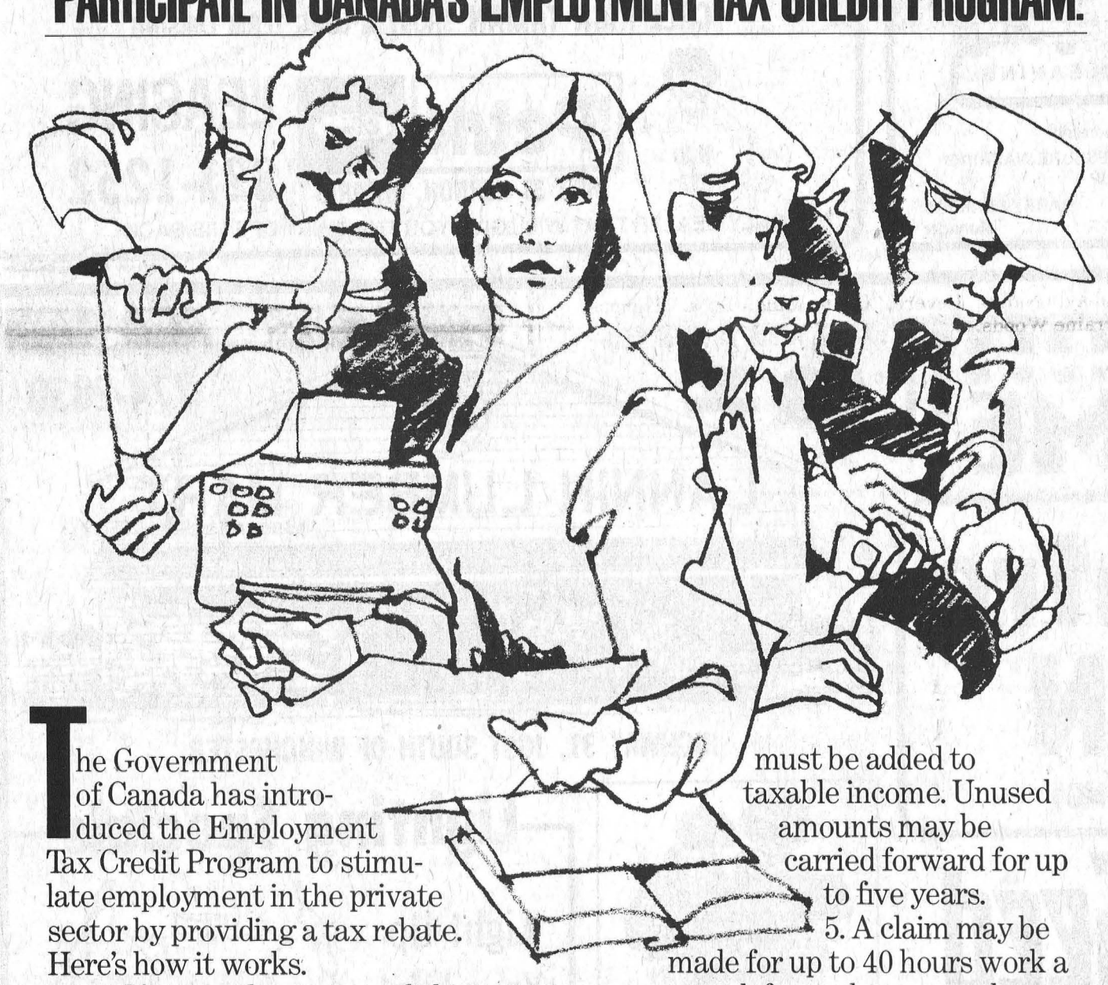
Starting at Maple Ridge School on Highway 43, the 10 Kilometre run will finish at the community centre in Winchester. Money raised from pledges, which are being sought by the Nursery School mothers, will be used to pay off a $400 deficit incurred during last year's school operation.

The idea originated with members of the Run For Your Life Group and parents are hoping enough money will be raised to allow the school to start with a clean slate in the fall.

The Chesterville and District Nursery School re-opened in February in the basement of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, after financial difficulties forced closure at their former location in the Chesterville Park. More than 20 three-and four-year olds are enrolled in the half-day program.

Anyone wishing to sponsor a runner - call 774-2844.

PARTICIPATE IN CANADA'S EMPLOYMENT TAX CREDIT PROGRAM.



The Government of Canada has introduced the Employment Tax Credit Program to stimulate employment in the private sector by providing a tax rebate. Here's how it works.

1. If an employer expands his normal work force by hiring an unemployed person through a Canada Manpower Centre/Canada Employment Centre, and the job has been created as a direct result of the Employment Tax Credit Program, the business is eligible to claim the tax rebate.

2. Almost any business that's been in operation for more than one year is eligible.

3. The rebate is calculated at $1.50, $1.75 or $2.00 per hour. This rate is determined by the geographic area of Canada in which the new employee will be working.

4. The rebate is deductible from federal income taxes payable but must be added to taxable income. Unused amounts may be carried forward for up to five years.

5. A claim may be made for up to 40 hours work a week for each new employee for a period of up to nine months.

6. Each new job must be full-time. Normally no less than 35 hours a week.

And that's it, essentially. The program has been designed to work with a minimum of red tape. All employers should by now have received a booklet that gives all the details of the program. If it has not been received, employers should contact a local Canada Manpower Centre/ Canada Employment Centre. The Employment Tax Credit Program. It's ready to go to work for Canada. And for you.

Winchester RNA's Present Cheque To Organization

Miss Linda Collins opened the first R.N.A. meeting of 1978 on April 18th assisted by Paulette Leroux as Secretary. Eleven members answered roll call. A report was given of the activities of last year and Miss Collins thanked everyone for their help and cooperation. The books were audited by Mary Clother and Edith Whittiker and found to be in order.

Mrs. Mary Ensor showed slides of her trip to India, and also had several albums of pictures which was enjoyed by everyone. A motion was moved by Jean Baldwin and seconded by Mary Ensor that we try and get a list of R.N.A.'s in our area, so they could be contacted, and invited to join our meetings and our Association "O.A.R.N.A.."

A cheque from Winchester Hospital R.N.A.'s was presented to the chapter. The annual meeting will be held at the Sheration Centre Toronto May 3-4, 1978. Miss Collins will be our representative sent by the Chapter.

The courses offered by St. Lawrence College to R.N.A.'s have proven to be very educational and helpful, and we hope in the future more programmes will be available.

The next meeting of St. Lawrence Chapter will be held Tuesday May 16, 1978 at St. Joseph Villa, Cornwall. Welcome all R. N.A's and students.

Seniors Meet

The regular meeting of Senior Citizens was held last Wednesday at the usual place I.O.O.F. hall South Mountain. A pot luck dinner was served and a real good programme was put on by the Mountain ladies. Everyone enjoyed the day.

First Increase Since 1972 To Greet Park Users

The first fee increase since 1972 will greet users of provincial parks when 13 of the 14 parks in Eastern Ontario open May 12.

The new regulations call for anyone entering a park to pay 50 cents, whether that person is walking, riding a bicycle, in a car, or whatever. Drivers will be charged $1 for their vehicle as they enter a park.

In the last few years, the charge for entering provincial parks has been $1.50 for vehicle and passengers.

The most easily measured increase is in campsite occupancy fees where campers this year will be paying $5 per day for campsites without comfort stations, $5.50 for campsites with comfort stations and $7 for campsites with hydro. Last year, campers paid $3.50 per day for campsites and an extra 50 cents for hydro.

The increase is designed to make the users of provincial parks pay about 60 per cent of the cost of operating the parks.

Fuelwood will not be free this year in any provincial park in Eastern Ontario except Murphy's Point, south of Perth on Rideau Lake, where development operations on this one-year-old park have created an abundance of firewood. Those development operations will keep Murphy's Point close until mid-June.

Fuelwood in all other parks will be $1 a bundle.

Parks Management Supervisor for Eastern Ontario, Bill Barber, explained why the fee has been levied on firewood in parks.

"When wood was free, campers would make fires so large that they would warp grills in the barbecue racks. Racks were constantly warped and in need of replacing. This should not happen when fires large enough for cooking are being burned."

"There has also been concern that much of our free firewood has been burned in home fireplaces rather than in parks."

"Supplies of fuelwood for parks is scarce in many areas. We hope that by charging $1 for a bundle we can alleviate some of these management problems," said Mr. Barber.

The ban on alcoholic beverages in four Eastern Ontario parks until June 18 has been announced along with a list of other Ontario Provincial Parks where the ban applies. Once again, that ban, which is designated to combat rowdyism in parks during this time of year, is in effect in Bon Echo on Highway 41 north of Highway 7, in Fitzroy on the Ottawa River about a half-hour drive west of Ottawa, at Outlet Beach in Prince Edward County and at Presqu'ile Park on Lake Ontario near Trenton.

Because of the new Highway 417, which bypasses South Nation Provincial Park and brings traffic close to Carillon Provincial Park near Hawkesbury, demand for camping at South Nation has been reduced while Carillon's popularity has increased. The 28 campsites at South Nation Provincial Park have been closed this year. Day use recreational opportunities at South Nation will continue.

Day use only facilities are also available at Lake-on-the-Mountain at Glenora and North Beach, both in Prince Edward Counties.

Camping and day use facilities this year are available at these provincial parks: Bon Echo, Fitzroy, Outlet Beach, Presqu'ile, Carillon, Murphy's Point, Charleston Lake in Leeds County, Rideau River near Kemptville, Silver Lake on Highway 7 west of Perth, Ferris near Highway 30 and Campbellford and Sharbot Lake on Highway 7 in Frontenac County.

Stardusters In Winchester

The Stardusters will be making an appearance at the Winchester Arena again this year, with the 20-piece band bringing the "big band" sound that proved so popular last summer at the Willard Years reunion. The band will be here June 24 and tickets will be on sale well in advance for the gala evening.

Chesterville Weekend Break-Ins Under Winchester OPP Investigation

Two break-ins in Chesterville on the weekend netted thieves $55.00 in cash and $150 in merchandise after they forced their way into the Janmart Store on King Street and Lannin's Garage on Victoria Street.

The thefts, which occurred late Saturday or early Sunday morning, were reported by the owners Sunday.

A forced entry was made through the front door of the Janmart Store and the thieves made off with an assortment of costume jewellery, disposable shavers and collector's spoons valued at $150.

Change from the cash register at Lannin's was stolen after the thieves removed a window at the rear of the building to enter the premises.

No charges have been laid in either incident. The break-ins are under investigation by OPP Constable Bill Holmes of the Winchester detachment.

Dundas Council Elects '78 Executive Slate

Ellen Blaine will head up the '78 Dundas Executive council as President. A full slate of officers was filled at the Council's initial meeting May 2nd in the OMAF's Winchester boardroom.

Working with the President are Eileen Blaine as Vice President, Howard Giles Secretary and Press Reporter Douglas Palmer.

Following the election of officers Ellen Blaine chaired the session which centered on the establishing of a calender of activities including the following.

Jamboree this year is to be held on Aug. 16 at Morrison Island. Judging night was decided to be held on August 3 but no tentative place was set yet. Demonstration night is again compulsory, just as judging night is and is going to be held at NDDHS on July 27. Fund raising activities were also set up, they are a car wash, taking place on June 24, in Winchester and Chesterville, A Bike Walk-athon to be held June 10 and there's also a raffle for a portable black and white television.

With the money that the Council received it was mentioned that there be a bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, but nothing was decided.

The meeting opened with the 4-H pledge and then members enjoyed a game of "This N' That". This is a game of getting to know the other members of the council. It is done by going up to the member and telling the member your name and asking him or her a question. Example: "Do you have a dairy Calf?" and if the member does have, then have the member sign his or her name.

Next regular meeting will be held on May 24, in the Winchester boardroom.

Provincial And County Honours Presented At 4-H Achievement Day

MAPLE RIDGE — Provincial and County Honour certificates and pins were presented at North Dundas High School here last Saturday to 14 girls who have completed the required number of 4-H Homemaking projects.

Five Provincial Honours were awarded for successful completion of twelve 4-H Homemaking clubs to Ellen Blaine from the Hallville-Mountain club, Wilma VanderLaan from the Ormond Club, Laura Lee Kennedy from the South Mountain Club, Mary Beauman from the Winchester No. 2 Club and Nancy Scott of the Winchester No. 2 Club.

County Honours went to Annette Dentz of Matilda No. 2, Trudy Irven of Morewood, Brenda VanderPoel of Matilda No. 3, Mary Pepers of Matilda No. 4, Susan Zyp of Matilda No. 4, Sandra Seiling of South Mountain, Debbie Hornsby and Jo-Anne Scott of Winchester No. 2 and Corrine VandenBroek of Winchester No. 3. The nine winners have successfully completed six 4-H Homemaking clubs.

More than 100 members were in attendance for the presentations and the conclusions of the current project "Focus On Living".

The members exhibited their completed record books. They also displayed their various completed articles. The members completed such things as quilted pin cushions, crocheted afghans, and a variety of knitted scarves, shawls, slippers and mitts. All of these articles were beautifully done, and certainly stimulated the interest in crafts for many of the visitors.

The afternoon program had many highlights. First of all, there was the presentation of five skits, one demonstration, and eight exhibits. The exhibits were presented by the following clubs — Matilda No. 1, with Lois Barkley commenting; Morewood with Shari Hillis, commentating; Winchester No. 2 with Debbie Hornsby, commenting; Williamsburg with Kathi Pemberton acting as commentator; Matilda No. 4 with Debra Alguire, commentating; Gwen Gibson, commenting for Hallville-Mountain; Sandra Seiling, commentating for South Mountain, and Leona Moss, commentating for Chesterville. The single demonstration was performed by the Riverside Heights club, with Monica Henophy, Alice DeJong, and Rebecca Stafford, doing the demonstration. The five skits were presented by the following clubs — Ormond, Matilda No. 3, Winchester Springs, Matilda No. 2, and Winchester No. 3. The audience appreciated and enjoyed all the work done by the 4-H members. These presentations showed us all the hard work that the members had been doing for the past three months.

Two very capable women assisted with the morning and afternoon programs. Mrs. Frances McSwiggan, from Ottawa, commented on the skits and demonstration, while Mrs. Bette Miller, from Cornwall, commented on the exhibits.

Miss Mary Michels, County Home Economist, acted as Chairman for the day's program. Upon conclusion of the day, she told all those in attendance about the new project for the fall of 1978. The project is entitled "Accessories — The Final Touch". This project deals with those accessories that add colour and excitement to a wardrobe. By carefully co-ordinating accessories, you can team them up with different outfits to make a few clothes seem like a lot. The project stresses the importance of accessories in the wardrobe, how to select and care for them, and how to build a wardrobe around a basic colour. The girls will be learning how to make such goodies, as scarves, hats and simple hand bags often using small amounts of left over materials, remnants or by recycling used clothing. Miss Michels mentioned that everyone should find this a fun and interesting project. She encouraged all young people who have turned twelve by September 1, 1978 to come and join the project, and see what 4-H is all about. The course is scheduled to open in mid-September.

The 4-H pledge closed the day's proceedings.

Bill 70, A New Safety Act

NORMAN STERLING REPORTS

There seems to be a great deal of misunderstanding about the political process relating to the new Safety Act (Bill 70) which is now under consideration by the Ontario Legislature. As a member of the Resources Development Committee which considered the clause by clause approval of the Bill, I witnessed the butchering of a most important piece of legislation by the opposition parties which will probably result in its death.

The Government's position was to exclude the agriculture industry from this Bill with the intent of bringing farmers in by regulation after consultations with them. These regulations would take into account the special circumstances related to that industry.

A minority Government means not only minority in the Legislature but minority at the committee stage. As a member of this committee I voted along with all the other members of the Government Party to keep the agricultural industry out of the legislation. The N.D.P. supported a Liberal amendment to include all workers in all types of work situations under the general provisions of the Act.

We argued that it was impractical to include people working as Policemen, Firemen, Agriculturalists, and Orderlies in Mental Hospitals. Some jobs include situations where, by the very nature of the work, there are hazardous conditions. The Government lost at the committee stage to maintain its position and if the Bill is carried forth in its present form, Agricultural Workers would be included by December 31, 1978.

Minority Government has resulted in 52 amendments to Bill 70 at the committee stage. In my opinion, many of these amendments are impractical and put forth without proper research as to their impact.

The Legislature now has a Bill before it that no longer represents the Government position. It is unfortunate that the Government may have to let this Bill die on the order paper because it has many important improvements for worker protection.

Perhaps this example does show that minority Governments certainly have their drawbacks. The Ontario Federation of Agriculture and other concerned groups do not have to convince the Government on this issue but they must convince the Opposition parties.

Presentation At Morrisburg

Youth Writers Win Awards

Two Winchester area girls were winners in a county library-sponsored "write a book" contest recently.

Heather Cameron, in the nine to eleven age group, will receive first prize for her entry "The Jones Twins and The Mystery of Nelson Ranch". A book of poems written by Cindy Suzanne Ault will win top prize in the 12 to 15 age group.

A total of 23 books were written, illustrated and put together by young people from 6 to 15 years old. Judges were Miss Francoise Laflamme, librarian at Osnabruck High School, and H. Keith Graham, former publisher of the Chesterville Record.

For the purpose of the contest, the counties were divided into three library areas — Alexandria, Winchester and Morrisburg. In each area, three age categories were established with entries in the eight and under class, the 9 to 11 group and entries for 12 to 15 year olds.

Claude Aubry, author of children's books and the director of Ottawa Public Library, will present the prizes for the Winchester and Morrisburg areas at the Morrisburg Library at 4 p.m. on May 20th.

Winners in the Morrisburg area were: eight and under Glenn Serviss, with the book "ichthyology"; 9 to 11, Daniel Andre Roy of Long Sault with a comic book "The Poisoning Beer"; and 12 to 15, Lynda Thompson, with a picture story "Stardust".

No entries were made in the eight and under group in Winchester.

Judging was based on originality and imagination, presentation, illustrations and story content. According to a report from the Seaway Valley Libraries, spelling and grammar in a few of the books was "weird and wonderful", but the library board decided that improvements in this field should be left to the schools, so no great weight was attached to this factor.

At the ceremonies May 20, Mr. Aubry will present some honourable mentions and all participants will receive a certificate. Anyone interested in the library production of the counties' young people is invited to attend the ceremonies.

Bullshot Crummond Cast

Osgoods Township High School Drama Club members delighted large audiences on two occasions recently with their delightful presentation of "BULLSHOT CRUMMOND", a parody of the 1930's detective movies. After playing to a full house at the high school the performers were requested to repeat the comedy at St. Catherine's Separate School where another capacity audience loudly applauded the talented group. Requests for yet more presentations are being considered and it is expected the next performance may be at Rideau Valley Middle School, Kars.

Greely Recreation Committee Plans Softball Season

By Mel Tomkins

The hockey season is now officially ended in Greely for the season but the local Recreation Committee is already making plans for next year. Last meeting there was a full discussion of a proposed merger with the Metcalfe teams.

Much work has to be done to the softball field as yet. A great deal of planning has to be done if this year's ball season is to be a success. It is hoped that the committee will discuss this matter and repairs to the playground equipment at their next meeting. The next regular meeting should be the first Tuesday in June.

The sponsor sheets for the next Metcalfe Lions Walkathon have been handed out at the local schools. School pupils and others are going from door to door looking for sponsors. It is rumoured that one Greely Senior Citizen is again talking of walking. Some think that he should be asking for pledges in metres instead of kilometers. Maybe he will make it to the first check point or at least down to the main street corner.

The May meeting of the Greely Friendship Club is scheduled for May 9 and should be over by the time this week's Press gets to its readers.
