Three new Councillors were elected at the polls in Chesterville on Monday, one, Chas. McMillan, was returned to his seat, and with Reeve Geo. H. Barkley given an acclamation, the 1946 Municipal Council is complete as follows:

Reeve: Geo. H. Barkley; Councillors: P. S. Boyd, Geo. A. Gillard, Chas. McMillan and J. A. Morris.

Voting was higher than last year, with a total of 362 electors casting their ballot; 212 at Poll No. 1, and 150 at Poll No. 2. There was little or no excitement to mark election day but interest was keen as testified by the increased number of voter taking advantage of the poll to choose the new council.

The new council will take office at the first of the new year, with the 1945 council carrying on the municipal government for the completion of the term.

54 Public School Students Attend Vocational Classes

The classes for shop and home economics for Grades VII and VIII (Public School) were attended by 54 students at Chesterville High School on Friday afternoon. Keen interest was shown in the work and the manner in which the students conducted themselves reflects the highest credit on the teachers.

Practically every school, including the two local ones, sent students. A list of the schools will be published later. Inspector W. J. Stewart paid a special visit to see the classes organized and commented favorably on the work. R. C. Dillabough, Principal of Chesterville Public School, also attended to see the work in progress.

This Friday afternoon only the students from out-of-town schools will attend, with the classes from the Public and St. Mary's schools coming the following Friday.

Veterans Guard Proved Best Army Unit Within Canada

From a humble beginning, the Veterans Guards of Canada became the most valuable active unit in the Canadian Army in Canada during the war, Major L. H. Doering told his fellow Rotarians when he related some of his experiences at the Monday evening meeting. Major Doering who was introduced by Leon Marcellus, signed for overseas service with the S. D. & G. Highlanders on August 1, 1940, and was instrumental in forming the Chesterville platoon of the 2nd Battalion, 75 percent of whom volunteered for active service and saw action overseas. When he could not get overseas with the Glengarrians, he transferred to the Veterans Guard with the rank of Lieutenant and had been promoted to the rank of Major before his retirement last month.

Major Doering related experiences while Officer Commanding the guard at Valcartier when the largest arsenal in Canada was located there. He was with the detachment sent to Arvida when the aluminum workers went on strike, and from there went to the Prisoner of War Camp at Fredericton as Captain and Adjutant. From there he went to Petawawa where 1100 Japs were interned as well as 1700 civilians. Ordered to proceed overseas, he found to his disappointment this meant service in Newfoundland. Posting to the POW camp at Gravenhurst, and another larger camp near Port Arthur.

At Petawawa the Japs gave considerable trouble. As their country was not a signatory to the Geneva Convention, these internees decided they would not work as required by the camp authorities, but when the camp leaders were placed in solitary confinement the rest of the prisoners soon changed their mind.

He experienced considerable activity in Newfoundland, said the speaker, as German subs were laying off the coast. The U-boat commanders knew the lay-out well, he said, from the considerable interest the Germans had taken in the small iron-ore island of Belle Island. Three subs raided the docks there but all were sunk by the R.C.A.F., and survivors were the first prisoners of war handled by Major Doering.

The officer POWs at Gravenhurst offered the most trouble, he declared, and the guard had to be on its toes constantly. Three escape tries were frustrated, two of which were tunnelling. The first occurred when guards became suspicious of a table set in the enclosure for what appeared an innocent afternoon tea party. But the German officers were slowly completing a tunnel as one of them would slip under the table and continue the burrowing, carrying the refuse away in their pockets and tea cups. Later a guard saw a fine thread stretching from an upstairs window to a tree, which would later be used to haul a rope over which the POWs planned to escape.

The second case of tunnelling was discovered in a flower bed and 14 feet had been completed leading to the main fence when the plan was upset.

In September, 1944, the first prisoners of war from the Caen battle started to arrive just one month after they had been captured in Normandy.

Gordon Wragg thanked Major Doering on behalf of the club for his very fine talk.

Sgt Frank Casselman, M.M., Returned Home on Friday

Sgt. Frank Casselman, M.M., is visiting with his brother Eric Casselman, and Mrs. Casselman, on his landing leave after arriving home Friday from four years service overseas with the 11th Canadian Armoured Regiment (Ontario Tank).

Asked about the battle near Arnhem, Holland, where he won his Military Medal, Sgt. Casselman said it was nothing compared to his nervousness at the investiture in Buckingham Palace on November 20th, where he was presented with his medal by the King.

Sgt. Casselman complained that The Record had let him down badly last summer and when asked for an explanation made this statement: He had been boasting to members of his tank crew of the beauties of the Nation River through his home town and had a number of snaps of the river and dam to back up his statements. Then during the drought this country experienced in 1944 The Record came along with the statement the river was practically dry, and he couldn't mention The Nation again for fear of the gibes of his fellow tankmen, after they had read that item of local news.

GRANTLEY FARM 100 YEARS IN SAME FAMILY

Not to be outdone by the western part of this province with farms in one family for a century or more, in talking with Mason Robinson the other day we found the Robinsons have had the same farm at Grantley for one hundred years and it had been their intention this year to have brought all the members of the family home for a reunion, which was not thought feasible on account of the tire and gasoline shortage, several of the Robinsons being domiciled in the western provinces.

Zachariah Robinson was the first settler on Lot 5, Concession 8, Williamsburg township which he purchased from the Canada Company in 1845. The purchaser had come from Ireland, having sailed from Belfast. The property passed from the original settler to his son Hugh Robinson, and from him to Mason Robinson, who with his son Wilburn now occupy

Inspectors' Report Considered At H. S. Board Meeting

The inspectors' annual report was read and considered by the Chesterville High School Board at the meeting held in the school Tuesday evening. Some of the comments of the report worthy of mention are: "The members of the staff are giving sound instruction and are generally employing effective methods. On the whole, the pupils' oral answers were characterized by audibility and good form. The general tone of the school is wholesome and co-operative."

Regarding noon lunches, the report said, "The provision of hot lunches for pupils remaining in school has been well organized and is efficiently conducted by pupil committees."

On caretaking, the report said, "The present caretaker is giving good service in keeping the school in good condition. It is gratifying to note a distinct improvement in this respect."

NEW APPROACH IN GOLD MINES

Among the beautifully printed gold mines that pass on our desk momentarily before being consigned to the large waste paper basket when the daily mail is sorted, came a new style the other day that made us take a few minutes over it. This was a nicely lithographed "Reservation Certificate" that looked like a million dollars. The publicity chap who dreamed up this new approach (at least, it was new to us) did a good job. To induce subscriptions, the certificate stated that "only 200,000" shares would be reserved for this special offering.

Thus one of the peculiar twists of human nature was being capitalized upon. Everyone knows that when an article becomes scarce or is placed on the rationed list, the desire for the commodity increases many times. It shouldn't be too long before the public has licked up that mine—tailings and all.

Mark Twain once defined a mine as "a hole in the ground, with a liar on top."

WHY NOT LEND TO OURSELVES

In very recent weeks we have all been urged to lend our dollars to the government for the definite purpose of bringing our fighting forces home from overseas. This was so well done that a very heavy oversubscription resulted.

The announcement is now made that our government is prepared to lend three quarters of a billion dollars divided to serve the purposes of trade with other countries. It is just possible that this is a far sighted policy of Mr. Illsley, which at some future time may work to our advantage.

However, a great area of this home land is short of coal for heating purposes during the cold winter months. It is said homes in our own village have not sufficient coal to keep them warm.

It has been brought prominently to our notice through advertising in the daily press, that there is enough first quality anthracite coal easily available in Alberta which could not be used up in a hundred years.

The average small user of coal for heating does not fully realize what this saving would mean to him. The average coal burner uses one ton of coal for each room of his dwelling, if kept comfortably warm during the heating season. He would get more than four tons for what he has to pay for three at the present time.

Of course the great difficulty is the distance between producer and consumer and with the trend of empty cars west on both lines of the transcontinental systems, there is no supply of rolling stock in the west waiting for loads to be brought east, which might be used profitably to bring us Alberta coal.

The coal mines in Alberta are approximately two thousand miles from Montreal. The head of the lakes at Fort William is just about half the distance, which requires rail transportation for one thousand miles. From Fort William the coal can be given water transportation to distributing points, such as Prescott, to reach all points where coal is required. The Canadian Pacific railway distributes its requirements of steam coal throughout Eastern Ontario from Prescott, where both lines of our railways have facilities.

We have our own coal and our own railways. Would it not be good business for our govenment to do something for our own people?

Good Reason.

I hear that you and Maggie have been reconciled and are to be married after all, said McPherson.

Quite right, replied McIntosh. You see, Maggie has put on weight and we couldn't get the engagement ring off her finger.

GOLD IS WHERE YOU FIND IT

During the past year there has been a renewed interest in prospecting and mining. There is an age-old desire deep in the hearts of most men to find gold and it is still the most tempting of all metals. The prospector in planning the work for the season usually looks over a geological map to see where there is favourable ground with greenstones, schists or sediments intruded by such rocks as granite, syenite or porphyry, because the metals come from the same source deep in the earth as these igneous rocks. Or he may have heard of a "good area" from a friend who has been out in the bush. He will probably pitch his camp near a pleasant lake—not difficult to find in northern Canada, and proceed to travel over the area. He looks for veins of white quartz or patches of rock containing minerals such as pyrite (fool's gold) or other sulphides. In some places, the iron in the sulphides turns rusty by weathering and a red or brown outcrop attracts attention as it is easily seen. He may find a great ore deposit or he may not have any luck, but he goes back again year after year. It is this gambling spirit in our prospectors that has given us most of our mines. The time is coming, however, when all the ore deposits that can be seen on the surface will have been found and we will have to adopt scientific methods of finding them such as working out the geology in great detail with the aid of geophysical instruments, and then drilling in the hope of finding ore where none can be seen on the surface. The prospector and mining man will find much interest in the galleries of the Royal Ontario Museum.

CANST THOU BEAT IT?

Maybe this bit, which appeared in "Rural Canada" a number of years ago will make you laugh too, though in truth, it's a sad, sad story:

"A child is born unto the wife of a merchant in the bazaar. The physician getteth ten golden plunks. The editor writeth a stick-and-a-half and telleth the multitude that the child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. And the proud father giveth him a Cremo.

"Behold the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his own paper a swell notice—yes, a peach of a notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comliness. Like unto the roses of Sharon is she, and her gown is played up to beat the band. And the dressmaker getteth two score and four iron men and the editor getteth a note of thanks from the sweet girl graduate.

"The daughter goeth on a journey. And the editor throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column solid. And the far one remembereth him from afar with a picture post card that costeth six for a jitney.

"Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the town fall down and worship. She picketh one, and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our most promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto him a bid to the wedding feast, and, behold, the bids are printed by Montgomery Hawbuck in a far city.

"Flowering and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth the editor off with a twelve-month subscription.

All flesh is grass, and in time the wife is gathered unto the soil. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, three lodge notices, a cubit of poetry, and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the heading, and the darn thing cometh out, "Gone to her last roasting place".

"And all that are kin to the deceased jump on the editor with exceeding great jumps. And they pull out their ads and cancel their subscriptions, and they swing the hammer unto the third and fourth generations.

"Canst thou beat it?"

ELECTRIC FENCERS

The use of electric fences for pastures is becoming more widely adopted on the farms of Canada. Live stock, as a rule, need little training to keep away from them. Observations show that the animals learn very quickly and do not approach a fence even when it is not charged. At the Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current, Saswatchewan, a 13-plate wet battery was used on an electric fence that was used throughout the summer months last year for pasturing cattle. The cattle were still well controlled, no harm was done to the cattle or the attendant, and the battery was still charged at the end of the season.

These fences have many advantages but care is necessary in establishing the equipment. Among the advantages are reduction in cost in erecting temporary fences, reduction in expenditure for wire, posts, and gates, reduction of injury to live stock; the adaption in the West to winding coulees or temporary pasture areas otherwire impractical to fence, and the enclosure in the fields of untillable lands that otherwise might be wasted.

As a rule, one or two wires are sufficient to carry the electric current.. One wire is sufficient for horses and cattle. Two wires are considered preferable for pigs and sheep. The wire can be supported by porcelain insulators on two-inch square stakes set in the ground 30 to 40 feet apart.

Figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics definitely indicate quite an expansion in demand for these electric fencers during the past few years. In 1939, for instance they were produced to the value of $60,000; by the end of 1943 the value had risen to $340,000, or nearly six times the 1939 valuation.

THANKS FOR THE NICE PRESENT

With Christmas close at hand the young man is likely to solve the "gift problem" in an orthodox way by visiting the florist or candy shop. Exhibits in the Royal Ontario Museum, however, show that in the 18th century his lady love likely would have received a far more varied selection of presents. For instance, she might have been given a stay busk, which was a long flat piece of wood that women wore at that time tucked down inside the front of their bodices to add to the rigidity of the prison-like corsets. There is a stay busk in the costume gallery of the Museum that is carved with two sets of initials and the date 1793.

An even more significant gift was a wooden spoon. There are some of these love spoons in the Museum that are beautifully carved and seem to suggest that in days gone by you had to be quite handy with a pocket knife before you could be a successful lover. The expression "spooning" comes from the way spoons fit closely together and this curious custom of giving a spoon grew out of that use of the word.

The Forester's Column

THE MUNICIPAL REFORESTATION ACT

The Counties Reforestation Act, which was amended in 1945 to be the Municipal Reforestation Act, is the authority for setting up municipal forests. This act gives powers to county councils to pass by-laws for six purposes.

(1) To acquire land suitable for reforestation purposes.

(2) To plant such land and preserve and protect the timber thereon.

(3) To manage such land, and sell or dispose of timber grown thereon.

(4) To issue debentures from time to time for the purpose of providing for the purchase of such land, to an amount not exceeding $25,000 to be owing at any one time.

(5) To enter into agreements for developing, protecting, caring for, and managing such lands or any portion thereof.

(6) To lease, sell, or otherwise dispose of such lands or any portion thereof.

Such by-laws must be approved by the Minister of Lands and Forests before being finally passed.

Townships have the power to pass by-laws for the same purpose as outlined in (1) (2) and (3) above. and have power to levy by a special rate a sum not exceeding $200 in any one year for the purpose of buying such lands.

The basis of the agreement, which counties have made with the provincial government, is outlined below.

(a) The county will purchase and hold the title to the land. In practice, it has not been considered wise to set up county forests of less than 1,000 acres.

(b) The Ontario Government will assume all responsibility for establishing the forest and maintaining it for thirty years, with provincial funds. This will include the supplying and planting of trees best suited, furnishing equipment, securing a competent foreman, and carrying on the work in accordance with approved scientific forestry methods.

(c) At the end of the thirty year period when it is presumed that the forest will be well established and first returns will be available from cutting timber the county will have three options:

(1) To share equally with the province the net costs and net earnings of the forest.

(2) To assure control of the forest and return to the province without interest all money expended on establishing and maintaining the forest.

(3) To relinquish all claim to the forest upon the payment by the province of the purchase price of the land without interest.

OWLS ARE INDEX TO FUR CROP

Snowy owls are down from the arctic again, according to ornithologists of the Royal Ontario Museum. The appearances of these large white or brown and white, birds in southern latitudes in late autumn or winter indicates a meat shortage in the far north. In their tundra home snowy owls subsist on lemmings (mice). About every four years lemmings die off from causes not known. The Arctic foxes which also feed principally on lemmings will suffer in numbers. This, in turn, affects the welfare of the native hunter and the trade of the fur buyer. The presence of owls in the south is a predictable event and an index to the economy of the north.

Eric Casselman is Re-Elected President Fed. of Agriculture

The 3rd Annual Meeting of the Dundas County Federation of Agriculture was held in Winchester, Thursday last. The president, Eric Casselman, opened the meeting with a review of the year's work. This included the sponsoring of a survey of the South Nation watershed, a county picnic, farm forums, young people's organizations and the organizing of the County Hog Producers. Allison Graham, secretary-treasurer, in his report, showed a balance of $450.00 on hand.

W. E. Steele, Provincial Forester, explained the value of the farm woodlot. By proper management the financial returns for labour expended are just as high as from any other crop, he stated. He also stressed the great value of starting a county forest. Mr. Steele answered many questions at the close of his talk.

R. S. Scott of Belgrave, a director of the Ontario Federation gave a very inspiring address. The purpose of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture is to provide maximum security to Canadian farmers, he explained.

He discussed the floor price policy for agriculture and stressed how difficult it will be to maintain. England has an excellent system of stabilizing farm prices, but they are an importing nation, whereas Canada is an exporting nation. Prices are dependant on world markets.

Only one price is sufficient for farm products and that is the price which enables the farmer to maintain the farm and land, and educate his children and live with a reasonable amount of prosperity, he claimed.

The speakers were thanked by Allison Graham.

Resolutions were passed on the following subjects:

1. Endorsing work of zone 5 in Reforestation and South Nation Control Scheme;
2. Favoring an immediate establishment of a Bangs disease free area in this county;
3. Return to activity of the Dundas Ploughman's Association;
4. That farming practice and prices be reorganized to enable the farmer and farm laborer to work a 48-hour week as a maximum and at the same time guarantee a high net financial return to farmers and farm laborers.
5. Sponsoring an educational program to have farmers take advantage of the free chest X-ray available at the St. Lawrence Sanatorium.
6. That building material be made available to farmers as well as to city contractors.

The Board of Directors: Allan Farlinger, Wm. Lane, Harold Durant, Fred Hutt, Chas. Marselis, Howard Biccum, Cephus Smythe, John Barrett, John Eichner, Wm. Servage, Bernice Froats, Howard Kittle, J. E. Sullivan, Sheldon Ball, Gordon Monteith, Maurice Beckstead, Angus Smith, Wm. Graham, P. O. Berkley, Orval Seeley, Wm. Brown, Lyle Thom, Landon McInnis, Morris Laughlin, Frank Casselman, Harold McMenomy, Gord. Mulholland, Harvey McLaughlin.

At a Director's meeting the following executive was elected: President, Eric Casselman; Vice-President, Byron Martin; Sec.-Treas. to be named; Executive committee: Chas. Harkness, Chas. McInnis, Hume Grisdale, Edwin McIntosh.

Williamsburg

Capt. Parker A. Locke, only son of Mrs. M. W. Locke and the late Dr. Locke, returned to his home in Williamsburg from overseas, Friday last. A member of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, Capt. Locke spent three years in military service with one year overseas where he saw service in Germany and Holland. He was glad to reach home again and Williamsburg relatives and friends accorded him a warm welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Millar of Toye's Hill were guests on Thursday evening last with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Beckstead, the occasion being in honor of the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead. The couple have a host of friends who join in best wishes for many happy returns of this important day.

Mrs. M. W. Locke had as her guests over last week-end, her children, Capt. Parker A. Locke, Mrs. J. S. Sutherland and Capt. Sutherland, Ottawa; Mrs. W. L. Rowe and Flt. Lt. Rowe of Toronto and Miss Jean Locke of Montreal.

Flt. Sgt. and Mrs. Keith Saddlemire and baby of Ottawa were guests during last week at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Saddlemire.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, November 24th, when Norma Ella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Merkley of Williamsburg was united in marriage to Emerson Herriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Herriman, also of Williamsburg. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. Wm. Nolting, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church officiating and the wedding music was rendered by Miss Jean McIntosh. The bride who was given in marriage by her father looked charming in a street-length dress of light fuschia, with seguin trim and a shoulder-length veil with a coronet of gardenias. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss D. Joyce Merkley of Ottawa. Mr. Dalton Herriman was best man.

At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to about 25 guests. Rev. Nolting proposed a toast to the bride and the groom responded. Later the couple left for Montreal by train on their honeymoon trip, the bride travelling in a green wool dress, brown camel hair coat and matching accessories.

Miss Ruth Merkley was a guest on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Mason Casselman at Winchester Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Barkley entertained a few friends at their home Friday evening at a euchre party. The occasion was in honor of Mr. Ross Wingard, whose birthday was on Saturday.

CHESTERVILLE H. S. CREST

This week the High School students are wearing the school crest, the design of which appears above.

Ontario secondary schools can claim some beautiful crests, and ours designed some years ago, is one of them. Usually there is a Latin motto referring to the particular aim of the school. Various insignia have certain symbolic interpretation.

Our crest has the motto: "Scientia nunc et semper", meaning "learning now and always". A shield is flanked by maple leaves, in honour of our country. The lower part of the shield shows a book and this refers to the source of learning for the individual. Above it is a lamp of the ancient Aladdin type. Just as this light depended on oil and its light spread around, so learning does not remain in a school, but is diffused beyond it. The spread of learning has always meant service to mankind.

Students can be proud of such a crest, and seek, as individuals, to make and keep the school all that its crest represents.

TEACH ME
By Henry Van Dyke

By the faith that the flowers show
when they bloom unbidden,
By the calm of the river's flow to a goal that is hidden,
By the trust of the tree that clings to its deep foundation
By the courage of wild birds' wings on the long migration
(Wonderful secret of peace that abides in Nature's breast!)
Teach me how to confide and live
my life and rest."

To The Electors of The Village of Chesterville

Having, on request, qualified as a candidate for the office of Councillor for the coming year, I first wish to thank those who nominated me. As it would be impossible personally to attempt to contact the electors of this village, I wish to take this opportunity of assuring all those who will accord me the confidence of their support that I shall, if elected, spare no effort towards giving this village the clean, progressive and economical municipal administration that its citizens so justly deserve. The sacrifices of those who have given us the victory over the forces of evil demand not only that we strive for the best, but that, as electors, we exercise fully the franchise that will make it possible. Vote wisely, vote as you wish, but VOTE.

I Re-Visit The Glimpses of The Moon

By R. J. Deachman

A few days ago at the O.A.C., Guelph, I spoke to the second year class in economics. Time brings strange changes. I graduated from the O.A.C. in 1905. These boys will graduate in 1948. Forty years from that date they too may look back from my vantage point. It will then be close to the end of another century. Will the view be clearer, the prospects brighter, or will they again be living in the shadow of war? History alone can tell and history is always written by the survivors. All we can do is wish them well and give them all the help we can while we linger along the way.

What are these boys thinking about? Few, I imagine have followed the somewhat common cult that man will soon abolish toil, that the state will do everything, feed the cattle, milk the cows, take care of the milk, market it and guarantee prices far beyond the dreams of avarice.

In agriculture, there is a close relationship between effort and result. The cows must be milked before the milk is sold. The young men and women entering upon careers in agriculture have their feet on the ground. The position of the farmer will not be improved by shortening hours. If the farmer would rise to the point at which demand would be reduced—the change would mean depression, not prosperity. The world needs more efficient production — not higher prices.

So farm boys, in studying economics at the O.A.C. are cold, calm realists. The things they want to discuss in regard to the future bear directly upon costs of production, markets, more efficient ways of doing things. Here are some of the questions they brought forward for discussion:

(1) What will be the major changes in farm machinery in the next few years?

(2) What about markets?

(3) When may we expect world conditions to settle down?

(4) How can we achieve more efficient use of farm lands?

(5) What of labor relations in the future?

Their interest in farm machinery is not surprising. The changes of a century have been great. Industry seeks markets for its products. Agriculture contributes the first essentials of industrial progress—an effective demand.

During the latter half of the 19th century labor on this continent was scarce, new farming areas were opening up. Machines had to be provided to cultivate an expanding area of farm lands. Capital, seeking a market for its products, provided new instruments of production. So we had a long program of changes—from the cradle to the reaper, from the reaper to the binder, from the binder to the combine—changes are still taking place. We may expect new machines, new methods. In a competitive economy we scrap the old, introduce the new, no man, no groups can afford to stand still. If we cease to go forward we begin to go back.

Now another factor has entered the situation. There is a tendency towards larger farms. Modern machinery makes this possible. The old 100 acre farm is out-moded, it will give way to the larger fram of two and three hundred acres and more. This does not mean that the small farm will disappear. There will always be room for the man who understands intensive cultivation Industry will be more helpful to the man with 15 acres and the man with 500. Then hydro power will be extended over wider and wider rural areas and this will bring new lines of equipment for the farm and for the farm home. Refrigerators of different types, larger, capable of storing substantial quantities of farm products are on the way. The farms of the future, thirty or forty years hence, will be far ahead of the farms of today in the things which add to the amenities of life.

The big problem before agriculture is markets and this is tied up with the present unsettled condition of the world. This is a condition which normally follows war. In the recent war the destruction has been greater than in all the wars of the past 200 years. National passions have been aroused, they will pass slowly. Never in modern history has the world been so hungry as it is today. Normal methods of exchange have been destroyed by the inability of some nations to produce. These things hamper recovery.

On the other hand if wars can be avoided recovery may be quite rapid. There are, however, obvious restrictions. Men are unwilling to go back to their old jobs. They search for easier tasks—more pay. There is less self reliance—a greater tendency to lean than there was in the days of our fathers. There is plenty of employment but this does not mean that the average man is likely to find, at once, the type of task he desires. This may hamper temporarily the prospects of recovery.

We fight against progress. Science tends to reduce the amount of work necessary to accomplish a purpose. In other words it should be easier for a man to secure a motor-car now than it has been at any other period of the past, but the price of cars is likely to go higher. With modern equipment we ought to be able to build homes with less effort, that is, less cost, than ever before, but the price of homes has risen so that the people begin to doubt their ability to own one. There is a reason. For six years the minds of our citizens have been concentrated on war. Think of the marvels which have been accomplished to bring us victory. Doubt not that greater miracles in peacetime problems will yet be wrought. In these agriculture will have a share—there, is the hope of life.

Agriculture in Canada has fought a hard fight—much remains to be done. The terrain is now more favorable for victory. Agriculture is receiving more consideration. There is a growing consciousness of the fact that agriculture soundly based is, in a country like Canada, the foundation of national progress. Our agricultural colleges have had a share in establishing this point of view. All honor to them.

Soon the class of '48 at the O.A.C. will occupy the front line—the boys of other years will pass to the reserves. There will be plenty of work to do. Work, hard work, is the basis of a happy life. Courage will be needed. Back in 1922, J. M. Barrie, that brilliant and whimsical Scot, delivered an address at St. Andrew's—it was entitled "Courage". It was printed in book form. Pick up a copy if you can find one. Slip it in your pocket. Read it when the going gets tough. It will give you courage, fresh courage for the tasks of tomorrow.

Mrs. Davis: I heard you talking to yourself while you were taking your bath, John. That's a bad habit.

Mr. Davis: I wasn't talking to myself; I was talking to the soap. I slipped on it.

MUSIC BY CABLE

It's music arranged and conducted by cable that makes up the musical setting for "Canadian Cavalcade", Mondays, at 8:00 p.m. EST, over the CBC Trans-Canada network. A graduate of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, the young Mr. Cable arranged for and led dance orchestras before making his 1942 debut in broadcasting—a field in which he is now a leader.

Help

A burglar broke into a millionaire's mansion in the early morning and found himself in the music room. Hearing footsteps, he took refuge behind a screen, where he was forced to remain for a considerable time.

From 8 to 9 o'clock the eldest daughter had a singing lesson. From 9 to 10 o'clock the second daughter took her piano lesson. From 10 to 11 the eldest son had a violin lesson. From 11 to 12 another son received a lesson on the flute. At a quarter past twelve all the brothers and sisters assembled together and studied an ear-splitting peace for voice, piano, violin and flute.

The burglar staggered from behind the screen at a quarter to one, and falling at their feet, cried: "For Heaven's sake, send for the police!"

YULE LOG FOR THE MUSEUM.

A log of wood, representing part of the trunk of an extinct form of elm or honey locust, has recently been placed on exhibit in the Royal Ontario Museum. The fossil was found in sandy layers of rock at the Don Valley Brickyard in Toronto. These sands were laid down in the bed of an ancient lake which covered the region about a quarter of a million years ago, between the retreat of one great ice sheet and the advance of another. From the general character of the fossil plants and associated shell-fish remains, found in these layers of sand it is believed that the climate was somewhat milder than at the present time,—possibly similar to that of Ohio or Pennsylvania today.

Funeral of Stephen Kinnaird Held at Vernon Pres. Church

Stephen Alden Kinnaird, who took over the Belmeade cheese factory near Vernon in 1917, was buried at Vernon Sunday under auspices of Black Perceptory 937, of Russell. Funeral services in Vernon Presbyterian Church were conducted by Rev. A. Hilliard Jones of the Baptist Church in the absence of a resident minister.

Born at Morewood, 54 years ago, Mr. Kinnaird was a son of the late George Kinnaird and Margaret Carruthers. He operated cheese factories at Cannamore, Edwards and Osgoode Centre before taking over the Belmeade factory.

He was an elder of Vernon Presbyterian Church, a former member of the Russell Orange Lodge, and a member of L.O.L. No. 1095, Vernon.

Surviving are his widow, the former Ida MacDonald, of Metcalfe; two sons overseas, Orval Francis, stationed at Nejmegan, Holland, and Ellis MacDonald, stationed at a clearing depot in England; one sister, Mrs. Milton Casselman of Kars; three brothers, Frank of Hargrave, Man.; Thomas of Smiths Falls, and Willis of Chesterville and a grandson.

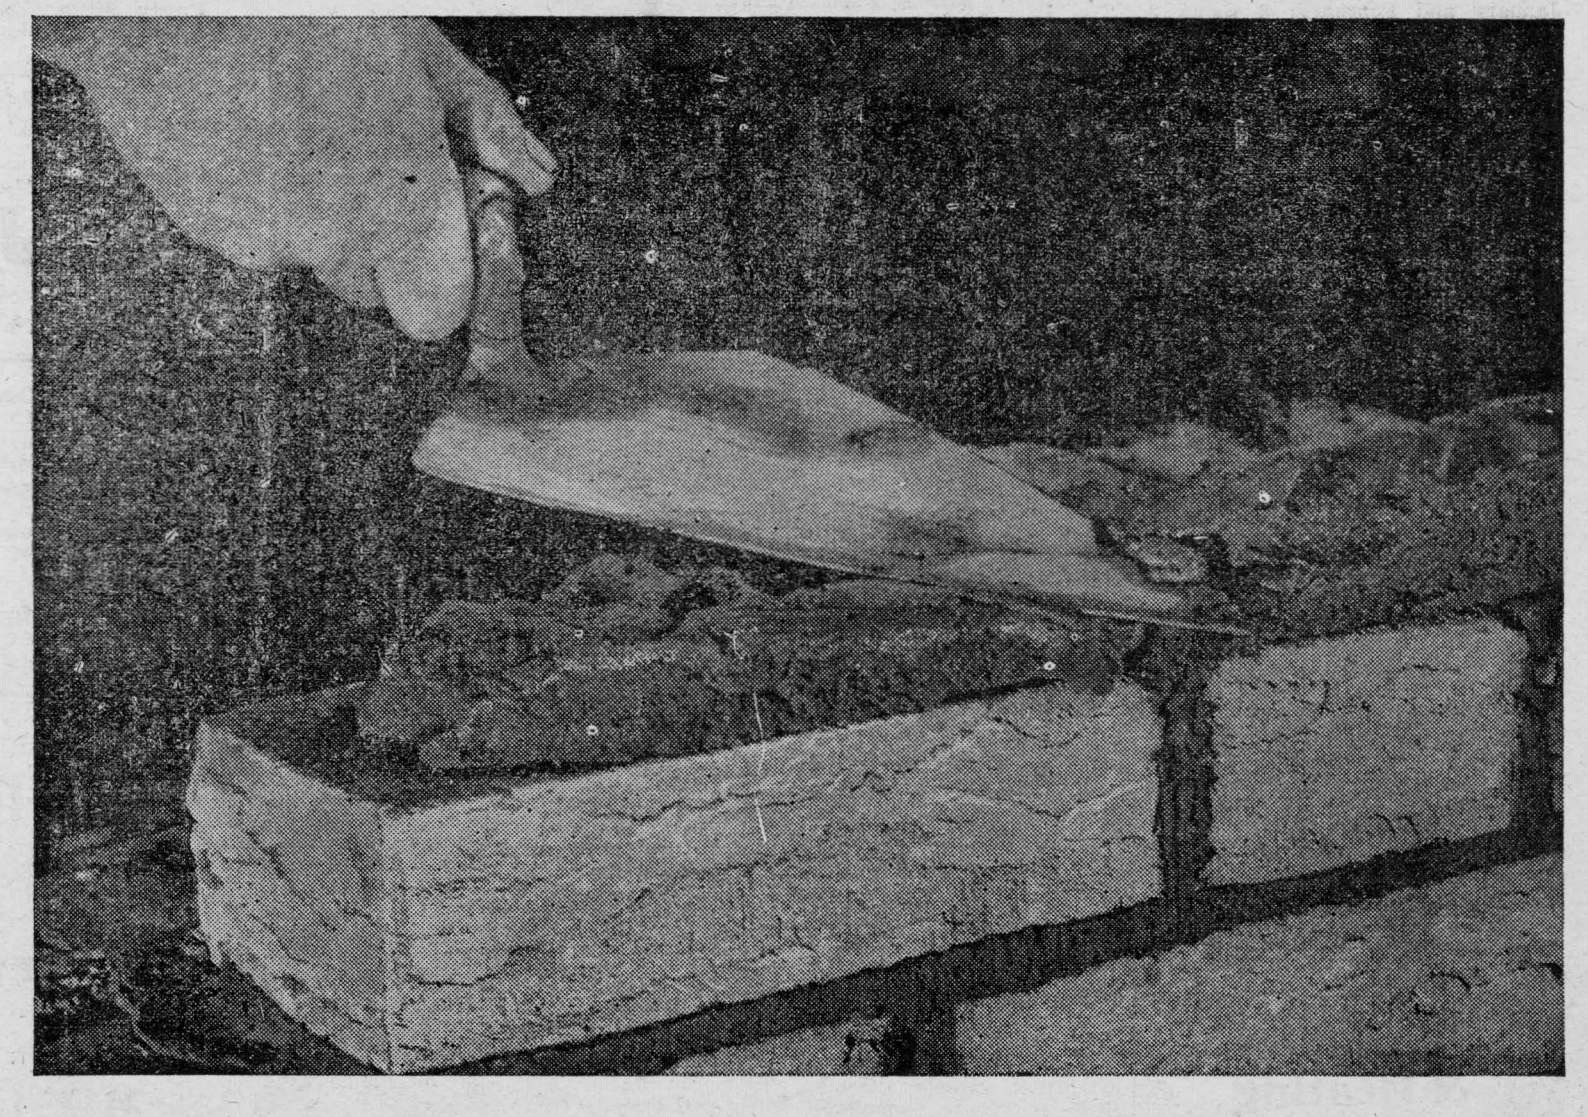
Picobac
THE PICK OF TOBACCO
It DOES taste good in a pipe



It takes more than bricks!

SOMEDAY THAT DREAM home will be yours—if you are willing to fight for it today! Bricks may build a house, but to build a home you need more than bricks! You need security—a job—a future! And these depend on a Canadian dollar that will always buy a full dollar's worth of goods—a steady, sound dollar that's not pulled down to half its value by inflation! That's why it's necessary NOW—more than ever now—for all of us to fight and work to keep that dollar worth a dollar!

Why is it so important NOW? Because now is the time civilian goods are scarce, and money is plentiful. NOW is the time we must guard against paying MORE than things are worth . . . or buying things we don't really need. We must support rationing, observe price ceilings, and avoid black markets. If we do this, we can keep prices from shooting sky high. If we don't, some day we'll be paying a dollar for fifty cents' worth of goods. This means your dollars—those dollars you've saved to buy your home—will only be worth fifty cents! This is inflation!

And after inflation comes depression! We know what happened after the last war! It mustn't be allowed to happen again. That's why, for our own sakes, and for the sake of the returned men to whom we owe a job, a future, a home of their own—we must make sure Canada's dollar remains steady. We must keep up a constant fight against our country's enemy—inflation!

Make this Pledge Today!

I pledge myself to do my part in fighting inflation:

By observing rationing and avoiding black markets in any shape or form.

By respecting price controls and other anti-inflation measures, and refraining from careless and unnecessary buying. I will not buy two where one will do, nor will I buy a "new" where an "old" will do.

By buying Victory Bonds, supporting taxation and abiding by all such measures which will lower the cost of living and help keep prices at a normal level.

Mrs. Selim Shaver

The Grim Reaper, death, again visited this community, Wednesday morning, November 21st and called home a very old and highly respected resident in the person of Effie Campbell, wife of the late Selim Shaver, who died in 1941. Although confined to her home for the last few years due to her advanced age, the deceased was sick only a short time.

Being of a kindly, retiring and patient disposition, the late Mrs. Shaver won for herself a host of friends, both young and old, always ready to help the needy, minister to the sick, and cheer those in sorrow. The community indeed feels a great loss has been sustained in her passing.

Mrs. Shaver was born on December 20th, 1860, daughter of Nelson Campbell and his wife Annie Baker. On June 23rd, 1886, she married Selim Shaver and moved to the farm where she lived her entire married life. To this union were born five children, two sons, S. Percy of Kenville, Manitoba; Roy at home; three daughters, Mrs. Ellison Dennison (Lillian), Archer; Mrs. Anna Runions (Annie) Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. C. MacMillan (Agnes), Ottawa, all of whom are still living to mourn her loss. There are also 22 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Two brothers and two sisters also survive, Ernest Campbell, Woodlands; Nathaniel, Mrs. Edith Soulier, and Mrs. Wm. Huff, all of Rochester.

In 1936 Mr. and Mrs. Shaver celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary and at that time both were very well and active.

The funeral was held from her home on Friday at 1:30 p.m. to St. Matthew's Presbyterian church at Woodlands. Rev. Mr. Miller, Finch, officiated and spoke words of comfort to the sorrowing family taking as his text 15th chap. John, 13th verse. Burial took place at West Woodlands cemetery.

Friends attending from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Stillson, Newington; Lloyd and Ross Whittaker, Williamsburg; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McMillan, Ottawa; Mrs. Anna Runions and daughter, Doreen, of Detroit.

The pallbearers were neighbours of Mrs. Shaver: Jack Dunbar, Ross Dafoe, Fred Jarvis, Elburn Crites, Harvey Dillabough and Garnet Dennison.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received from relatives and friends, showing the esteem in which the late Mrs. Shaver was held.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Just as tea biscuit dough lends itself to all sorts of good hot breads by simple variations, so muffin batter may be used as a foundation for a wide variety of not-too-sweat cup cakes.

Muffins are made from a softer mixture than tea biscuits. Muffin dough is not stiff enough to stand alone, so it is baked in individual muffin pans. You can also cook muffins in glass baking cups.

The important point in making muffins is not to stir them too much. Mix the liquids into the dry ingredients just enough to moisten them. If you mix muffins too much they will be tough and coarse-grained and have tunnels inside and peaks or knobs on the outside. Excessive stirring overdevelops the elastic quality of the gluten in flour.

With the standard recipe as a foundation you can make many different kinds of muffins raisin or currant, peach, spice and so on. When you have a bit of jelly or jam left, make jam muffins.

As soon as the muffins are partly cooked, put a teaspoon of jam or jelly in the centre of each. Do not remove pan from oven and work quickly.

Standard Muffins

2 cups pastry flour, 4 tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tsps. sugar, 1 cup milk, 3 tbsps. melted lard, 1 egg.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat egg until light, add milk and melted fat, and add to flour mixture all at once. Stir only enough to dampen flour. Drop by spoonfuls into greased muffin pans until two-thirds full. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in electric oven 400 degrees. Makes 12 muffins.

Oatmeal Muffins

1½ cups flour, 8 tbsps. sugar, 4 tsps baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, ½ cup milk, 1 cup cooked oatmeal, 1 egg, well beaten, 2 tbsps. melted butter or shortening.

Add oatmeal to the milk. Mix and bake as for standard muffins.

Orange Bran Muffins

3 tbsps. butter, shortening or lard, ¼ cup sugar, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 tbsp. molasses, grated rind of 1 orange, 1 cup milk, 1 cup cereal bran, 1 cup pastry flour, 3 tsps. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt.

Work butter with spoon until soft and creamy. Add sugar gradually, then beaten egg and molasses. Add orange rind, milk and then bran. Let mixture stand for 15 mins. Sift and measure flour and add to it baking powder and salt. Sift again and add to bran mixture. Fill well-greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake 25 mins. in moderately hot electric oven (400 degs.). Yield: 12 muffins.

SUGGESTED RECIPES

YULETIDE FRUIT BARS
(Mrs. S. T. B. and Mrs. J. C.

1 cup flour, all-purpose, 1 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup light brown sugar, ¼ cup melted shortening, 1 tbsp. grated orange rind, 2 eggs, 4 cups cranberries, 1¼ cups citron peel, cut fine.

Sift flour, measure, sift again with baking powder and salt; combine with sugar. Add melted shortening and orange rind to well-beaten eggs; combine with dry ingredients. Put cranberries through coarse grinder, add with peel to first mixture; mix well. Pour into shallow well-greased pan 11 by 7 inches, bake in electric oven (350 deg.) 50-60 mins. Cut in bars while warm. Makes 24 bars.

SNOWBALLS
(Mrs. C. T.)

1 cup pastry flour or ⅞ cup bread flour, pinch of salt, 8 tbsps butter, 1 tbsp. fine granulated sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup coarsely chopped nutmeats.

Measure sifted flour and add salt. Cream butter and blend in the sugar; mix in vanilla and the nutmeats. Sift in flour mixture half at a time and combine after each addition. Work in a little additional flour if necessary to make a dough which can be handled between the palms of the hands. Roll in balls about the size of a very small walnut—or if preferred shape as fingers. Place on an ungreased cookie pan and bake in a slow oven, 300 degs., about 20 to 25 mins.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. J. M. asks: What makes a lemon filling taste bitter?"

Answer: Too much of the white membrance of the lemon may have been grated off or long cooking may have caused the bitterness. Add the rind after mixture is cooked.

Mrs. T. C. says: Dry some stewed pumpkin and squash to make pies during the spring. The vegetable may be spread on shallow pie plates and dried in a slow oven. Store in a small air-tight jar. To use, soak the quantity required overnight in scalded milk and proceed as usual to make pie filling.

Radio Forum News

There appear to be very few Farm Forum nights when the members are all free to attend. Church meetings, parties, lodges, often compete with the Monday night meetings. As the broadcast night meetings cannot be changed it would be complimentary to farm organizations if these other meetings, when possible, could be held on other nights.

Owing to other attractions there were only 10 members at S. S. No. 10 Forum last Monday. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A .E. Smith and after a short but instructive discussion on the topic "Are Farm People Healthy"; the discussion moved to the results of the day's municipal elections.

The Forum members declared themselves in favour of free dental and T.B. clinic and would assist in sponsoring such clinics in the county.

Meeting next Monday night at Angus Smith's under the leadership of Mrs. Hulbert Cross.
