Sighters seek out flying friends

Kim Robinson

INGLESIDE — Strong winds blew away any chance of seeing many birds, but there were plenty of tips available on how to sight them during the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary's Easter bird count.

Guide Madeline Vander Zweep has been a birder for many years, doing counts for the Long Point Observatory and the Ontario Bird Breeding Atlas. If there had been any birds to see Sunday, she wouldn't have missed them.

Vander Zweep led the group of 15 sighters which included all ages, from children to senior citizens. As the tour followed the shoreline at the Sanctuary, she taught them how to find birds by looking in trees and water for odd shapes.

"Of course a lot of the lumpy things in the St. Lawrence like leaves and roots look like birds," she noted. "But check them out anyway."

This vigilance helped her spot ducks far across the water and a porcupine high up in a tree, without the aid of binoculars.

As the group headed across a field toward a pine forest, Vander Zweep said this was a good spot to sight owls, where there was a wood next to a field that would have mice and "lots of good pickin's."

Once in the woods, part of the group went ahead of the rest to fool the birds into thinking everyone had left.

"Birds can't count," said Vander Zweep, "So this is a good trick if you're out looking with a partner." She stressed the importance of being quiet, but said sometimes the right kind of noise will draw the birds out. A "psssh" sound is what she finds most effective.

Vankleek Hill bird enthusiast Defrid Theoret said he has used bird sound recordings to lure shy birds like Virginia Rails out of hiding. Like Vander Zweep, he is very familiar with a variety of bird calls. Both birders were able to identify species by sound alone.

Theoret heard the chirp of the less-reclusive kinglet several times during the two-hour walk.

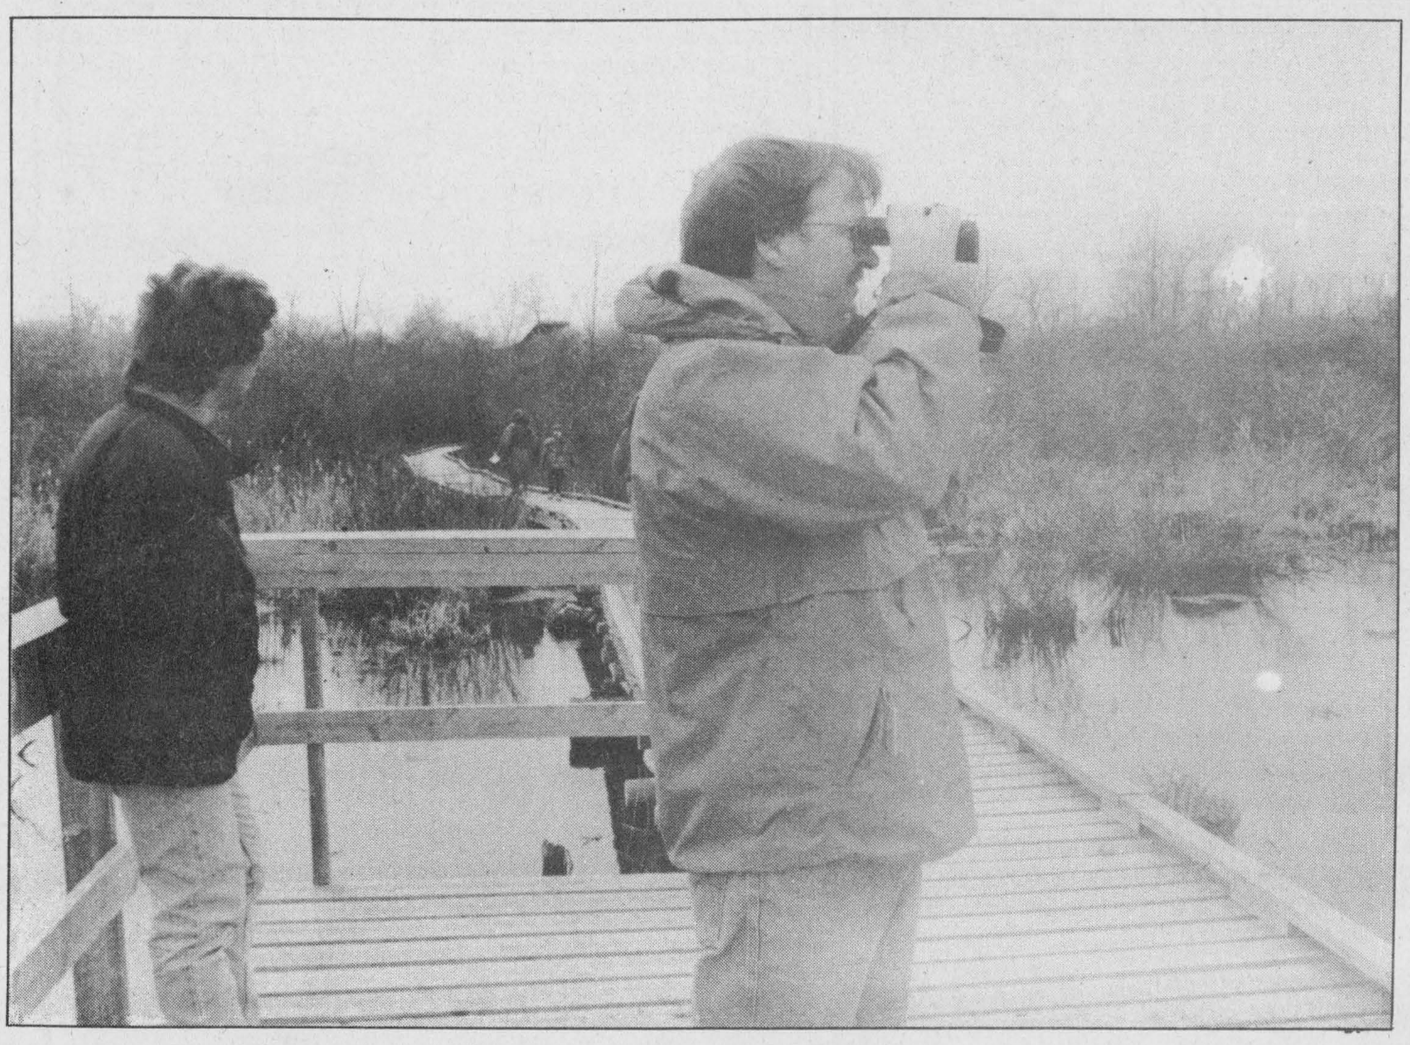
"They're very curious, like chickadees. They'll follow you," he said.

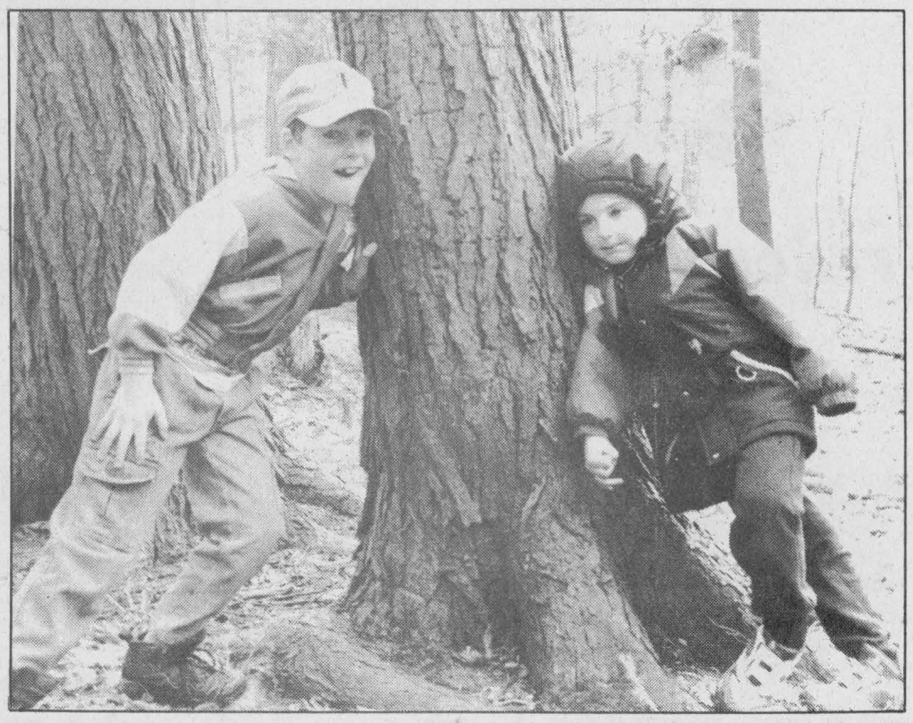
In addition to good listening skills, good eyesight helps as well. Theoret was proud of his son Mathieu's ability to spot a brown creeper, a furtive little bird that creeps up the sides of trees.

"Oh, a brown creeper!" exclaimed Vander Zweep in a hushed tone. She told the group how sometimes in spring this bird will sing a beautiful song from the top of a tree. This was the most interesting find of the day for her.

Vander Zweep said that although there weren't many species to look at on that particular day, she was pleased with the accuracy of their bird identification and count.

The count was as follows: 20 American robins, 1 black-backed gull, 10 blackbirds, 1 brown creeper, 20 Canada geese, 20 chickadees, 20 common mergansers, 3 crows, 5 goldfinches, 1 grackle, 2 mallards, 10 ring-billed gulls, 1 song sparrow, 2 white nuthatches.





Bird search

A group of 15 people participated in the bird count for The Friends of the Sanctuary Sunday. Clockwise from above: the group passes through a wet area using one of the many boardwalks at the Upper Canada Migratory Bird Sanctuary; brothers Aaron and Adam Bogle take a break along the trail; Robert Hastie came from Ottawa to help with the search.

DIXONS CORNERS — A new award recognizing Dundas County dairy producers for outstanding herd management was introduced at the county DHI awards banquet April 7

The award, sponsored by Dundas Veterinary Clinic, was developed by Ontario DHI in response to producers' requests for an award that focuses on herd management and economics.

Criteria for the award is based on a number of factors. Value for each area is as follows: milk value per cow, 500; herd udder health, 150; age at first calving, 50; calving interval, 50; longevity, 100; and herd efficiency (percentage of herd in milk), 150. The maximum score is 1,000 points.

Every eligible herd enrolled on DHI received a Herd Management Summary in the mail. To be eligible for the award, herds must have received a test by March 1, 1994; and have continued to be enrolled in the Ontario DHI program as of Dec. 31.

This year's recipient of the award was Martin and Robert Byvelds of Williamsburg with 900 points. Rounding out the top ten for Dundas County were; Henry and Rita Velthuis, Mountain (895), Tom and Janet MacGregor, Morewood (885), Gerry, John, Pat and Gary Brugmans, Chesterville (875), John and Archie Mellan, Brinston (865), Steven and Debbie Byvelds, Williamsburg (860), William Meerakker, Inkerman (855), Jerry and Peter Byvelds, Brinston (830), Wilmer and Linda Porteous, Winchester (830), Bill and Donald DeJong, Morrisburg (825).

Cattle options

OTTAWA — A pilot program to help producers protect themselves against market downturns in the cattle industry was announced recently by Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister Ralph Goodale.

The Cattle Options Pilot Program (COPP) was developed by the cattle industry and Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada as a means of establishing a minimum rate of return through methods not currently available from the private sector.

The goal of COPP is to test new market-based instruments for reducing risk through options contracts, which will be based on cattle futures traded on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The new options will combine protection against both market swings in cattle prices and fluctuation of the Canadian dollar.

Currently, producers in Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia who complete a training seminar will be eligible to register for the program. Training programs for farmers have already started in Ontario and Alberta and training will start in the other provinces in early April. Options trading is scheduled to start by the end of April.

CARD OF THANKS — Here I am home from the Civic Hospital with a note for my new knee. We would like to say "thanks" to my husband, family, relatives, friends, neighbors, Will Walker for being so thoughtful with visits and for flowers, gifts, cards, food brought to our home, phone calls and prayers. All these kindnesses were greatly appreciated and hurried our recovery. I don't think we'll be in the Easter Parade this year but we'll be out soon to see you all. God bless you all.

Notice of the Passing of a Zoning Bylaw by the Township of Osgoode

MILLS/FIELDS

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Township of Osgoode passed Bylaw No. 23-1995 on the 4th day of April, 1995 under Section 34 of The Planning Act RSO 1990.

AND TAKE NOTICE that any person or agency may appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board in respect of the bylaw by filing with the clerk of the Township of Osgoode not later than the 2nd day of May, 1995, a notice of appeal setting out the objection to the bylaw and the reasons in support of the objection.

AN EXPLANATORY NOTE of the purpose and effect of the bylaw, describing the lands to which the bylaw applies (or, alternatively, an explanation as to why a key map is not provided) are below. The complete bylaw is available for inspection in my office during regular office hours.

DATED AT THE TOWNSHIP OF OSGOODE THIS 12TH DAY OF APRIL, 1995.

Wayne Robinson
Clerk,
Township of Osgoode

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Purpose and Effect of the Bylaw
Lands Rezoned from RU-RURAL to Rh-RESIDENTIAL HOLDING
The applicant has recently had a 60-lot residential plan of subdivision draft approval for this site. One of the conditions of final approval is that the site be rezoned to accommodate this use. The effect of this rezoning will be to permit the development of 60 single family dwellings on 60 lots. Staff have recommended the addition of an "h" holding symbol which will ensure that no development proceed until all township concerns are satisfied. The "h" will then be lifted with no further public consultation. In addition, the village boundary line on the zoning schedule will be amended to include this land. The site was recently approved as a portion of the village.

Crime Stoppers

CORNWALL —This week Crime Stoppers is asking the public to help the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources investigate poaching.

Illegal fishing activity usually increases when game fish such as walleye and northern pike migrate to their spawning grounds in the spring. These fish become susceptible when they congregate in large numbers at spawning sites. Disturbance of their eggs or removal of these fish can harm the future of our fish resources.

It is unlawful to take or attempt to take a fish from a fish sanctuary, to take these fish by any means other than angling, or when the season is closed.

If you have any information on this or any other crime you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $1,000. Remember, we don't want your name but please give us your information. Call Crime Stoppers at 937-8477, or 1-800-265-8477.

ITR rehearses for May production

Garnet Quail
Press Staff Reporter

Osgoode—ITR, the Isle in The River theater group based in Osgoode, is presently in rehearsal for their spring production.

'Play On', a comedy by Rick Abbot, will be staged in the upstairs hall of the Osgoode Centennial Community Centre during the first two weekends in May.

The play, typical of all of ITR's offerings, is a comedy with a bit of a difference. This one features a cast of ten and tells of the trials and tribulations of a community theatre group attempting to ready a play for opening night. It is a play within a play and may give some insight into what goes on as a group rehearses and rehearses and rehearses...

The closer it gets to the opening curtain, the more lines are forgotten and the more edgy nerves become.

At times the audience will feel close to the actors. In fact, some of the actors may actually be sitting at your table with you during the performance.

ITR productions are always presented cabaret style. All performances are licensed so that you may enjoy some of your favorite beverages if you so desire. Light snacks and soft drinks are also available.

Show dates are May 5, 6, and 7 and May 11, 12 and 13. The May 7 performance is a Sunday matinee with a 2 p.m. start. All other dates are evening shows with an 8 p.m. curtain call.

Tickets, priced at $6 for adults and $3 for children, are available by calling 821-3158. Please leave a message if no one answers. Ticket pick-up points will be established in Metcalfe, Osgoode and Manotick.

Playhouse winter series concludes

MORRISBURG — Ethereal sounds will grace the final performance of the 1994-95 winter series at the Upper Canada Playhouse when the Vankleek Hill quartet Imaginary Heaven takes the stage.

The ensemble, which has released its first CD "...distant is my weather," has been featured on MUCHMUSIC, CBC's Radio Noon and CJOH-TV's Regional Contact.

The vocal talents of Keri Steele and Nina Loretto are complemented by the string performances of Troy Young on guitar, mandolin and e-bow, as well as Ian Hepburn on the harp and piano. Steele also plays cello and French horn, while Loretto rounds out the ensemble with flute and percussion.

An extra set of drums will add to the band's sound in the Playhouse performance April 22. Special guest percussionist Shiv Naimpally will lend East Indian spice with his playing of the tabla.

The concert begins at 8 pm, and tickets are available at the door.
