Community bids good luck to provincial champions

MORRISBURG — In a send-off befitting champions, members of the Morrisburg Curling Club bid good luck and farewell to the Ontario Pepsi Junior Men's Champions Sunday night.

The rink of Daryl Morrell, skip, Scott Lane, third, Gord Johnston, second, Chris Lane, lead and coach Sid Morrell won the provincial championship in London with a perfect 7-0 record two weeks ago.

Several dignitaries were on hand to wish the team well before they depart for the national championship in Vancouver later this week.

Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner said celebrating such a great victory is unique for any community.

After presenting team members with Canadian flags and pins Warner said the significance may be that the team will be representing Canada in the future.

"Canada has just come through a great Olympics with a very special focus on curling," he said. "Our young athletes are striving for excellence and perhaps in the future they will be representing Canada at the Olympics."

Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve said he was fortunate to be in London during the provincial championships and had a chance to watch the team in action.

"They were relaxed although Sid was a little nervous," he said. "But they were gentlemen all the way."

Ontario Curling Association

Tributes poured in for the team from many organizations. Two representatives of the Ontario Curling Association were on hand to congratulate the curlers and wish them well.

"One of our major programs is junior development and your victory is a big boost for this curling club," said Ottawa Valley Curling Association President Denis Charlebois. "The association is pleased to see its efforts paying off in this manner."

In addition to gifts of flags and pins from Warner and Villeneuve, the team received literally hundreds of pins from organizations including the Morrisburg Curling Club, the Dundas Dairy Producers, the village of Morrisburg, the United Counties of S.D.&G., the village of Iroquois, the Townships of Williamsburg and Matilda, the St. Lawrence Parks Commission and the S.D.&G. County Board of Education.

"It is really great for you fellows to put Morrisburg in the limelight in such a positive way," said deputy-reeve Bill Shearing, representing the village. "We thank you for helping with the village and putting us on the map. Hopefully someday we can say Morrisburg is not only close to Upper Canada Village but home to the national champions."

All four curlers are students at Seaway District High School and Vice-Principal Don Fairweather said the school is very proud of their efforts.

"All the boys are athletes outside of the curling rink," he said. "In grade 9 Daryl could have been quite a basketball player but he had to make a choice between it and curling. Not all young people can do that. I think they have what it takes to be champions and first class citizens."

The team was presented with a $600 cheque from the Morrisburg and District Lions Club and each team member received $50 from the village of Morrisburg.

The Ottawa Valley Curling Association presented the team with a $600 cheque to help defray expenses. The Morrisburg Little Rock Curlers also got into the act, presenting the team with a cheque.

Wearing clown faces was part of a fund-raising effort last Thursday by Timothy Christian School which netted the school $8,625. WILL PASS BUDGET MARCH 24

SD&G residents face 4.7% tax increase

CORNWALL — Residents of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry will pay 4.7 per cent more taxes in 1988 if a proposed budget is passed by councillors on March 24.

The $16.4 million budget was scaled down considerably to keep the tax increase to a minimum.

The library board budget was reduced by $16,000. The Eastern Ontario Health Unit will receive $331,631 this year, $8,000 less than what was requested.

The original request of $339,631 was a 10 per cent increase over the 1987 budget.

EOHU's total budget for the year is $12.5 million, a 33 per cent increase over last year.

Children's Aid

A request from the Children's Aid Society for a 21 per cent funding increase was also turned down by counties council last week.

The agency had submitted a budget request of $251,610 but will receive $218,553, a five per cent increase over 1987.

The Seaway Valley Tourist Council also didn't receive the full amount of its request.

The tourist council will receive $21,315 to promote tourism in the Seaway Valley in 1988. The amount is $7,700 below the original request.

Councillors could not accept the 39 per cent increase requested by SVTC and held the increase to five per cent. The tourist council's total budget for 1988 is $85,500.

Donations

The Ottawa Heart Institute will receive a $10,000 allocation from the United Counties this year.

Council has agreed to pledge $50,000 to the heart institute. The remaining money will likely come from the defunct St. Lawrence Estate.

The Town of Alexandria and the Township of Williamsburg will also receive $14,000 for extrication equipment purchased for the County Rescue System.

The bulk of revenues, over $13 million, will come from the provincial government through grants. The remaining $3 million-plus portion will have to be raised from the 20 municipalities in S.D.&G.

Information required to calculate each municipality's share will be compiled once the budget is approved.

Council will also draw $344,000 from its accumulated surplus fund this year to help reduce the county levy. The withdrawal will leave $186,000 remaining in the surplus fund.

BIA deadline nears

MORRISBURG — It's do or die time for the BIA.

The deadline to submit the canopy project plans to the Ministry of Municipal Affairs is one week away and there is no word whether all outstanding canopy leases have been signed over to the village.

In order to obtain the $250,000 grant approved by MMA for work on the shopping centre canopy, all canopy leases must be signed over by individual store owners into the public domain.

Government money cannot be spent on private property. If 100 per cent of the leases have not been turned over by March 31 the BIA may decide to work on another project or lose the grant.

"If they don't get all the leases signed over they may want to do something else," said MMA representative Grace Strachan. "I think if one person in the middle hasn't signed the lease then you can't go ahead with the construction."

The BIA could decide to landscape and repave the parking lot but have only set aside $125,000 for that project.

The government will match each dollar spent but the group could still lose half of its original grant.

While Strachan said there is some flexibility with the March 31 deadline she added it wasn't that much and it would benefit the BIA to have their plan submitted on time.

Strachan preferred not to comment on the possible outcome of the grant should some leases remain unsigned until she spoke with BIA President Peter Remillard.

"I don't want to make any statements until I know the situation," she said. "I might be working under a false assumption."

Remillard could not be reached for comment.

Seaway to open soon

IROQUOIS—The St. Lawrence Seaway is due to open March 29, at 8:00 a.m. according to Jean-Paul Bernier, spokesman for the Authority. The "Montmorency," an icebreaker originating from St. Louis, went through the locks last Thursday and is due back again next week.

Water levels under study

The low level of water noticed in the St. Lawrence River last summer may be attributed to a general warming trend. Water levels in the Great Lakes could drop by as much as two metres in the next 100 years, according to a U.S. federal hydrologist quoted in the Ottawa Citizen, March 19.

Frank Quinn of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said that precipitation over the past 20 years has pushed the lakes to record high levels.

"However, this could be offset in the future by climate warming which could have the opposite effect on lake levels." Temperatures could be increased by an average of 3.9 degrees Celsius over the Great Lakes and water levels lower as much as two metres in the next 100 years, hence the water level of the St. Lawrence River.

Garage fire

MORRISBURG — A Monday night fire on Beckstead Road has left one garage gutted and caused about $6,000 damage.

The Morrisburg Fire Department was called to the scene at approximately 7:15 p.m. The fire was contained to the garage and it took firemen about 15 minutes to douse the blaze.

Fire Chief Les Bilmer said he isn't sure what caused the fire but he suspects it may have resulted from faulty wiring.

"It was a serious fire for a garage because it gutted it and it's no more good," said Bilmer. "We had a slight problem because there was a snowmobile inside which had gas in it."

Bilmer estimates the fire destroyed the garage worth $2,000 and its contents, including bicycles, snowmobile and lawnmower worth approximately $3,000 to $4,000.

Income tax act changes

WINCHESTER — Everytime there are changes to the Income Tax Act, people experience difficulty in understanding what the changes are, how the changes will affect them and when the changes take place.

The Tax Reform that was tabled in December 1987 and is to be implemented in 1988 has left many unanswered questions in the farm community.

Because of these changes the Ministry of Agriculture and Food will be sponsoring two seminars to be held in Eastern Ontario. The first seminar will be at the Kemptville College of Agriculture Technology on March 28. The second seminar will be at the Maxville & District Sports Complex on March 29th.

The program will open with a review of the Ontario Farm Start Program. The remainder of the program will concentrate on changes that will affect those filing 1987 tax returns. In addition the changes that have arisen from The White Paper on Tax Reform will also be reviewed.

Some of the items to be reviewed will be the personal tax rate reduction, taxation of capital gains and the conversion of personal exemptions to credits. Also to be reviewed are items that affect business income such as automobile expenses, office in-home expenses, meals and entertainment expenses as well as eligible capital property.

Plan to attend as the purpose of the seminar is to examine strategies that will generate future income tax saving for the farm business.

Registration for the two seminars will take place at 9:30 a.m. with the program beginning at 10 a.m. Lunch will be provided at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology. Those attending the seminar at Maxville should bring their own lunch.

Show will benefit Grimes Lodge

JUDITH O'BRIEN
Leader staff

MORRISBURG — Non-profit organizations work hard to raise money for their cause but donors often wonder what good their contribution does and where it goes.

Such is the case with the Morrisburg branch of The Canadian Cancer Society.

Branch members are sponsoring a fashion show in conjunction with Laurin Laurin and The Village Stylists on March 30 at Allan Hall. Proceeds from the show will be donated to the Maurice J. Grimes Lodge.

The question on many people's minds, however, is what exactly is the Maurice J. Grimes Lodge.

Located adjacent to the Ottawa Civic Hospital, the Grimes Lodge is a "home away from home" for people in the Eastern Ontario counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Carleton, Lanark, Leeds, Prescott, Grenville, Renfrew and Russell undergoing cancer treatment.

Built in 1973, the 38-bed Grimes Lodge has housed cancer patients in an informal, home-like setting. But the lodge no longer meets the ever-growing demand and needs to be expanded to 60 beds.

The Canadian Cancer Society has launched a $2.7 million fund-raising drive to pay for the expansion of the Grimes Lodge and the newly completed Alta Vista lodge, a 30-bed facility located in one wing on the seventh floor of the Ottawa General Hospital.

"The Carleton and Eastern Ontario district have to raise $2 million," said Marie Hicks, co-ordinator of the Grimes lodge. "This is a one time effort and the money raised will go strictly to building costs. It is a different campaign from the yearly campaign. That money is divided amongst research, patient services and education."

The lodge is open Monday to Friday and patients can stay for the duration of their treatment whether it be overnight or six weeks.

"We have patients that go there quite a bit and this is why we are trying to raise money," said Morrisburg branch Treasurer Shirley Mattice. "It helps our town too."

Dr. S. Chande of the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic agrees. He says he has referred 50 patients to the Grimes lodge over the past five years.

"We have a lot of people in this area who use this facility," he said. "It really is a worthwhile cause, much more than the usual cancer fund-raising because it provides direct benefit to people already afflicted. That's what I like about the lodge. It is used exclusively by out of town people."

CANADIAN CANCER SOCIETY / SOCIÉTÉ CANADIENNE DU CANCER

While Dr. Chande said the lodge is not the same as home he says many people are very weak following cancer treatments and do not want to spend 90 minutes a day travelling to Ottawa and back.

"It beats having to pay $50 to $60 per night for a hotel room and it beats having to stay in a hospital setting," said Dr. Chande.

While he said there may not be direct psychological benefits to residents of the lodge, by eliminating travel time cancer patients are well rested and in that respect the lodge is very beneficial.

Volunteer visitors

Volunteers from the cancer society make daily trips to the lodge to entertain residents, offer support groups or just visit.

Hicks said a dietician prepares all the meals for patients and the staff create as "homey" an atmosphere as possible.

Patients have access to a library, TV room, activity room and hairdressers are available for appointments.

Municipalities have been asked to contribute to the building fund. The Canadian Cancer Society hopes to complete the fundraising project in four years. The Ontario Cancer Treatment Research Foundation will assume operating costs of both lodges once the fund-raising is complete.

While Mattice says the Morrisburg branch hasn't set a specific fund-raising goal for the lodge, she said branch members will organize another future event.

"It's a real worthwhile thing," she said. "Anyone that has used the lodge really praises it. If someone from here has to take treatment for six weeks they can travel up on Monday and come back on the weekend. It saves a lot of time for them. And it's not like going to the hospital and being stuck there."

"Our occupancy rate is much higher than we expected," said Hicks. "During a seven month period in 1986 and 1987 100 people were turned away because we had no room."

Ticket price

Tickets to the fashion show cost $2.50 and can be purchased at The Village Stylists and Laurin Laurin or from Wendy Casselman and Kelley Stanczak.

Association sponsors restaurant competition during tourism week

MORRISBURG — If you're a waiter or waitress or a chef in one of the dozens of restaurants located in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, get ready to compete against your peers.

As part of Tourism Awareness Week May 16-22, the S.D.&G. Community Food Services Association is sponsoring a number of events to promote the food services industry and local restaurants.

Members approached the Seaway Valley Tourist Council at their meeting Wednesday to outline their plans.

Rita Lavac, representing the Priest's Mill in Alexandria told SVTC members the association plans to hold unusual relay races throughout the United Counties for wait staff, with finals scheduled in Cornwall.

Restaurant chefs will also be invited to participate in a culinary competition showcasing their best dishes.

"This is one way of getting everyone to know what's available in our community," she said. "We want to get together to do something for tourism awareness week."

Information has been sent to restaurants in S.D.G. and further details will be provided at a later date.

SVTC Executive Manager Terri Lalonde notified members the council's French language brochure has been sent to the printer's and will be ready to distribute this week.

She also said the text for a French language video highlighting summer activities in S.D.&G. is currently in progress.

The council is producing a driving tour of the Seaway Valley for groups and conventions interested in visiting the area. Lalonde said the tour should be completed by next week. She is also designing a one day senior citizens' bus tour.

Interest in the bus tour is a direct result of SVTC's participation in Marketplace '87 held in Cornwall said Lalonde.

Paula Nichols, Manager of the Renfrew County Travel Association discussed her group's recently completed organizational study.

The Renfrew association took 18 months to complete its updated study with the help of the Ministry of Tourism. Nichols said the study was invaluable and she intends to act upon the recommendations.

"We are in the process of updating our constitution and bylaws," said Lalonde. "They are obsolete. They date back to the early 1970's.

Lalonde said an organizational study for the Seaway Valley Tourist Council similar to Renfrew County's would help modernize the structure of SVTC and help develop new marketing plans.

She intends to meet with representatives from the provincial Ministry of Tourism and Recreation this week to get the plan started.

Investigate theft

Thieves entered the building sometime between 5:30 p.m. on March 16 and 7:30 a.m. March 17. Access was gained through a door located at the northwest corner of the building.

Approximately $585 worth of small power tools including sanders, power drills and saws were stolen.

Police have no leads or suspects at this time.

Canadians and history

For many, many years, Canadians in every quarter of this country have been restlessly searching for a national identity. In earlier times, the main focus of their attention was Great Britain, but since our British connection has somewhat "loosened", younger Canadians have been turning more and more towards the mass media of the United States for popular heroes and history. Most of our kids know more about the Alamo than they do about Batoche, or even Crysler's Farm; more about Davey Crockett than about Louis Riel. It is even more alarming that so many young Canadians know more about Abraham Lincoln than about John A. Macdonald and Champlain. And that is regrettable. Beacuse there is very much drama in Canadian history. True, there was violence, and plenty of it, in the early years of the settlement. But there has been very little strife on Canadian soil since the War of 1812, probably because in one of the world's biggest, coldest and most rugged countries, nature has presented such a formidable challenge. Struggling against the elements, wresting a living from the inhospitable land, Canada's pioneers had little time or energy to spare for hatreds. Traditional animosities from the old countries of Europe were buried in an atmosphere of common hardship.

The historian, A.M.R. Lower has written that Canadians must seek their collective soul in the land, for Canada has none of the social common denominators which normally unite a nation. Certainly the land, in all its vastness and harshness, has left its imprint on the way Canadians have traditionally behaved.

From its very earliest days, Canada has always been a place where people have countered adversity by sharing things in the common interest; and this inborn generosity — along with the vastness of our spaces — has made it possible to offer a home here to millions of people from all over the world.

Like history in general, the history of Canada seems like a matter of taking three steps backward for every one forward. Canada has never been without difficulty and dissension. Yet, in the long run, Canadians have always managed to find the way forward.

In recent years, there has been a long overdue public awakening to Canadian history, as a spate of popular books on historical themes have been published, often being adapted for film and/or television. They are most worthy of study, as is our history as a whole.

It tells the story of divergent political interests restlessly moving, not without a struggle, towards common ground; and of diverse people somehow finding a way to live together peacefully, in spite of the differences among them. If Canadian history has a lesson to teach, it is that great things can come of gradualism, conciliation, tolerance and moderation. In these portentious times for Canada, all Canadians should know and appreciate their history.

Think spring check-up

With the imminent arrival of springtime, most people will begin to feel and enjoy the freedom to travel which comes with it — a freedom which will intensify as warmer weather moves into Canada.

It is an unfortunate fact of life in Canadian motoring, that while our driving conditions improve in the summer, our accident statistics most certainly do not. Children on foot and on bicycles are more numerous on the streets. Roads may be free of ice and snow, but they become more congested with traffic. Such conditions tax the driving skills of even the best drivers, but they also demand that at least the safety features on all vehicles be in first class condition at all times. For the best driver in the world can be helpless at the wheel of a malfunctioning vehicle.

Each year, the Canada Safety Council conducts a Car Check Campaign to remind drivers of their personal obligation to make absolutely certain that their vehicles are in safe operating condition. And they ask the media to remind drivers of this obligation. The dates of this campaign are set during April, but any day of the year is a good day to start your own safety check.

The most experienced drivers have always realized that the safest vehicle is also the most economical vehicle for them to operate. For drivers of lesser experience, inflation and rising prices may tend to encourage putting off routine checks. The Canada Safety Council asks motorists to turn around that old saw: "Can't afford to have it done now", into the more sensible "can't afford not to have it done now".

Sportsmen work for all of us.

Thanks to sportsmen who build and set out nesting boxes, the rare Eastern Bluebird is making a comeback in Ontario. Though threatened by loss of habitat, and competition from starlings, their recovery is starting.

Whether building nesting boxes, improving fish spawning areas, or preserving valuable wildlife habitat, sportsmen work to give nature a future. And that's good for everyone.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles by Bonnie McNairn

1978

Pictured on the front page of the March 22nd, 1978 issue of The Leader was Leo Lafortune who had surprised local hockey fans with 15 goals and seven assists in just seven play-off games. Leo, in his rookie year with the Morrisburg Junior B Lions, had only 12 goals during the regular season.

Water rates were up 15 per cent in Morrisburg, the village hoping to pick up a $4,700 loss incurred in the year past. The average home in Morrisburg was paying about $32 a year for water.

One of the latest residential developments around Morrisburg was the planned subdivision along the Flagg Creek organized by Gabemi Developments.

The Village of Morrisburg was experiencing a growth rate second to none in the three United Counties. In the past two years Chesterville had grown by about 70 residents, Iroquois by 40, and Winchester 150.

Junior B playoff action, between the Morrisburg Lions and Prescott Saints, was continuing with the Lions leading 3-0 in their bid for their third straight Gill Cup championship. The Lions had defeated the Saints by 6-5, 6-2, and 8-2 scores in eight playoff games and had lost only one to the Cardinal Broncos in the first round.

Workers at the Crysler Park Sugar Bush were prepared for the season. The trees were tapped but the sap was not yet running.

1968

The March 29th, 1968 issue of The Leader reported the Combines had left for Newfoundland for the first round of Allan Cup playoffs. Coach Ralph Hurley was a bit troubled about the opposition they would meet there. "I have a feeling that Newfoundland will have a tough team," he said. "I know that old pros Alex and George Faulkner, Howie Meeker and Fleming MacKell are playing there."

John F. Casselman of Williamsburg celebrated his 92nd birthday. Born at Strader's Hill, just west of Williamsburg on March 28th, he was a son of Levi J. Casselman, and his wife Agnes Alisha Casselman.

Introduced in the Meet Your OPP column was Constable J.F. (Frank) Albert, who was born in Ottawa. Appointed to the force in 1963, he was very popular with the youngsters in Morrisburg where he coached minor hockey and softball.

At the Dominion turnips were seven cents a pound and Eversweet breakfast bacon was 59 cents a one-pound package.

The March 21st, 1958 issue of The Leader reported donations for the new Morrisburg Arena were coming in at a steady clip, with the total raised through donations now at $1,361.

A new navigation opening record was set when the government ship, Grenville, left port two days earlier than usual on March 20th.

The Morrisburg Feed and Produce Company had moved to its new site on Industrial Road just off the new No. 2 Highway directly north of Kingston-Dunbrik.

It was election time again and an advertisement sponsored by the Grenville-Dundas Progressive Conservative Association, was urging voters to give Diefenbaker a majority, by voting for A. Clair Casselman, a Prescott lawyer. Running for the Liberals in Grenville-Dundas was Arthur C. Casselman.

It was reported in the March 26th, 1948 issue of The Leader that Halifax St. Mary's had turned back the Inkerman Rockets 9-1 to take a one game lead in the best-of-five series for the Memorial Cup. The Rockets threw everything they had at Ernie Yeader, but managed only one goal against the first year junior.

Inkerman's first line of the Duncan twins, Erwin and Edwin and Percy Armstrong turned in the best work for the locals.

A 30-piece set of Corex dinnerware was selling for $4.70 at McGillis Hardware.

Rooms at the Lord Elgin in Ottawa were $4 per night single.

Edward A (Ted) Weir, technical engineer in the National Research Council had been appointed factory manager of the prosthetic centre in Toronto. The position carried a salary ranging from $3,600 to $4,200. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. D.H. Weir of Morrisburg. A Morrisburg Collegiate Institute student, he graduated from the University of Toronto in 1941 and in January of that year he enlisted with the RCOC. He served in England and France and was severely wounded in the battle of Caen.

The March 25th, 1938 issue of The Leader reported traffic on the Ottawa-Morrisburg highway at Cass Bridge, was almost at a standstill as flood waters from the Nation River covered the road to a depth of a foot. This was the first time since the new road was constructed four years earlier that water had covered it. Three bridges in the South Mountain area, where the river was extremely high, were carried away by ice. Malcolm Rae, a teacher at Nation Valley, and several pupils were forced to return to school in row boats, roads in this area covered with three to five feet of water.

A number of farmers had tapped their trees and were reporting a fairly good run of sap.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Strader of Brinston celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

The March 23rd, 1928 issue of The Leader reported navigation on the St. Lawrence River west of the canals would open on April 15. The St. Lawrence canals were expected to be open a week later.

The spacious premises on the south side of Main Street, formerly occupied by S.B. Fell as an art gallery, were being renovated as a show room for Morrisburg Motors Limited, which handled the famous Nash cars.

the Kitchen Garden

V.A. Hughes

The question of what seed do we order from the catalogues is at the top of our must-do list. Already some things should be started, with a shortened growing season we must advance the planting days inside to get required flowers or fruits in the garden. Being in the "hill country" has moved us into a cooler zone with a shorter growing season, we start 10 days to two weeks later than Ottawa. This forces us to look at short season vegetables, fortunately most of the seed companies state the numer of days required to maturity. These dates usually mean from the time of seeding outdoors or if you start plants inside from the time they are "set out".

We draw up a list of seeds, 15 different items, of which nine require indoor seeding, this gives us pause, we have three light fixtures that accomodate three trays each, and one window sill. We have room for one more, except that the cat likes the window sill and any seeds planted there are likely to be smothered. The economics of raising your plants from seed have to be examined carefully, if you are starting them inside soil, light, heat, and water requirements all must be met, by you. Being very practical we must limit ourselves to those plants that we want to grow and aren't available in the local nurseries.

Tomatoes are out, enough varieties are offered by growers to satisfy most of our needs, the root crops will all be started outdoors, and we grow so few of the cabbage family that it makes more sense to buy those that we need. Beans and peas are happy enough outside. We might grow peppers but fear of the cool night air makes them a risk, blossoms will flower but the plant will abort any fruit if the temperature drops below 60. Best to get these directly from the greenhouse and grow them inside until the very warm weather. With their glossy leaves and little flowers they make an attractive house plant but when it comes to space we'll pass, on the peppers, the people in our family do not regard them with the same enthusiasm as brussel sprouts or turnip.

Most of the herbs that are available at the nurseries and garden centres are only sold in small packets, and usually very limited in the varieties sold. We use herbs as a background, a border, fillers in the perennial bed, need far more than we could buy, therefore we must grow our own.

We must have Parsley, we need enough for a border in the herb garden and the little boxes at the garden centres are prohibitive for the amount we need. Since it can be a slow starter we will give it some help: if you have had trouble starting Parsley here are a few ideas we've tried that have worked — soaking the seed overnight, using bottom heat (achieved by placing the seed flat over a radiator, on top of the television if you're an addict, on top of the refrigerator). In times past people used to start their early plants in a frame that was placed over a heap of fresh manure — the term "hot bed" today usually refers to a frame with an electric heating cable, strung out in a grid across the bottom of the frame. We have also seeded Parsley successfully in the garden using a technique where you pour a kettle of boiling water along the row of seed.

Three flats of Parsley seedling should fill one tray, eight more to go. Basil is another favorite, we start our own inside because it is one of the very tender herbs and would be very late if we waited for the last frost free day to start it. We also grow several varieties that aren't always available and the spicy scent of the young plants in the kitchen is another happy reason to start it indoors. Savory to use as another border plant, we find it makes a fragrant little hedge and the tiny blue flowers are attractive enough for the flower garden. A few more herbs and the top tray of our stand is full, will have to leave some room for flowers—more on that next week.

IN MEMORIAM

CASSELMAN — In memory of a dear wife Lillian Casselman who passed away March 20, 1982.
Her smile is gone forever
And her hands we cannot touch
Though we have so many memories
Of the one we loved so much.
Always remembered by husband, Fred and sister-in-law Fern
12pd

CASSELMAN — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Mary Casselman, who passed away March 18, 1985.
We'll always remember the way she looked
The way she spoke and smiled
The little things she did and said
Are with us all the while
She meant so very much to us
But nothing we can say
Can tell the sadness in our hearts
As we think of her today
So you who have a mother
Love her with tender care
For you never know the feeling
Til you need her and she's not there.
Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Fern, son Fred, grandsons Wayne and Eldon

IROQUOIS COUNCIL

1988 budget requests presented

IROQUOIS — It was a night of financial maneuvering for village councillors Tuesday.

Several groups made presentations requesting funding from the village for their 1988 budget.

The Business Improvement Area has asked council to increase its budget by approximately $6,000 this year in order to complete work on the shopping centre.

The BIA already has $24,000 allocated for its project which includes placing interlocking brick in front of shopping centre stores, tree planting and installing bicycle racks.

However the group would like to complete the project in one stage and the total cost is approximately $32,000.

The BIA executive feels if the project can be done at one time it will save costs in the long run because work completed this year will not have to be dug up or disturbed by subsequent construction.

Councillors agreed the approach made economic sense but have yet to strike a final budget. They agreed to take the BIA's concerns into consideration during budget preparation.

Library board representatives Jane McAllister and Frank Rooney appealed to council for an $18,000 budget this year.

In 1987 the library board spent $17,407.

The library currently has two employees who receive $5.10 per hour. They have not received a wage increase for two years and are already paid below the county level of $6.80 per hour.

"The girls are putting in six to seven hours extra per week at home typing up cards," said Rooney. "I didn't realize this."

He said without the two volunteers who work at the library on Saturdays, the library board would have to pay another $1,000 in wages.

"With the elementary school children coming over once a week it makes extra work for the girls," said McAllister. "We are fortunate to have them. We're not paying them what they're worth and the library is a service of which everyone in town can take advantage."

Currently the two librarians work 11 hours per week.

The library board wants to raise wages by 40 cents per hour and is seeking a $13,500 commitment from the village.

Last year the village contributed $12,000 to the library. Funding will be discussed during budget deliberations.

Doug Grenkie appealed to council to reduce the lot levy in his subdivision north of Hwy. 2 because he has run into unforeseen expenses.

He said a hydrogeological study on the land cost approximately $3,000 and the original estimate to bring services across Hwy. 2 to his subdivision was $25,000 but has since escalated to $41,000.

In addition, he said his assessment for the Duouma drain is close to $7,000.

"We've run into basically $10,000 of unknown expenses which we have to pay," he said. "We're running into too many extra charges to effectively develop it."

Grenkie said the developed lots would increase the village's tax base, but because he has run into so many delays, the development has been postponed.

Councillors were hesitant to change the lot levy since the money is used for recreation purposes. However Grenkie has agreed to pay $1,000 in lieu of allocating five per cent of the land as parkland in his subdivision. In addition he will pay a lot levy adjusted to cover the expense of bringing services across Hwy. No. 2.

Council supported a motion by the Ministry of the Solicitor General to proclaim March 30 as Tornado Awareness Day. The notice will be posted in the library.

A motion by the City of Ottawa requesting the Minister of Revenue to introduce legislation amending Section 57 of the Assessment Act to allow disclosure of the assessor's working papers to any property owner wishing to appeal his assessment was supported by council.

Clerk Betty Marlin was authorized to send him the necessary information.

RESPITE CARE

Program ready to go ahead

MORRISBURG — Four respite care workers and three co-ordinators are ready to start working for the Respite Care Program here. "We have insurance and we're just patiently waiting for clients," said co-ordinator Don Smith in a telephone conversation Friday.

A grant of $8,346 was awarded the Morrisburg "We Care" organization, a division of Meals on Wheels, in November, 1987. The money from the Ministry of Community and Social Services is to provide care for frail, elderly or dependent persons in their homes. The area covered is bordered at the north by Highway 401, south by the St. Lawrence River, east by Upper Canada Road and west by Carman Road.

If respite care is given frail or dependent individuals in the home, primary caregivers may have a short period of relief from constant care. The program is meant to fill the gap in services provided by other organizations.

Agencies such as Meals on Wheels, Homemakers, and the Victorian Order of Nurses which operate on a 9 to 5 basis would still be required, but the primary caregiver would be enabled to go away for a short period, a few hours or days at a time.

Those who do not qualify for the Integrated Homemaking Program but who are under 65 and eligible may still apply for the program.

Caregivers are paid at the rate of $4.55 an hour for three to 12 hours of service. The government will pick up 70 per cent of the cost, and the primary caregiver is to pick up 30 per cent, or $1.52 an hour.

If 24 hour service is provided, the user fee is $21.28, or $300 for a two week vacation.

To apply for respite care, telephone, Monday to Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. 543-3398. A program co-ordinator will arrange an appointment to discuss this service.

Appellants await chairman's word on assessments of Fling drain

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

BRINSTON — Drainage Tribunal Chairman Delebert O'Brien will be mailing a decision on the appeals heard here last Friday on the Fling Drain assessment, in a few weeks.

Fred Deeks wanted his assessment adjourned until after a regional landfill site was chosen, because parcels of his land which would be crossed by the drain lie in a candidate area for landfill. If this area were chosen for a dump, other drainage routes might be taken for run off.

Also, his farm land was no problem as far as drainage was concerned. It was his opinion he was being assessed for a drain which would be of no agricultural benefit.

Wilfred Zeron appealed his assessment because he thought he might lose a lot on Lakeshore Drive if a municipal drain were placed on his property. A natural watercourse already present here which empties into the St. Lawrence River requires some cleaning, and the Fling Drain would be placed here in place of the natural gully.

Legally, Zeron might be in a different position if he wished to sell lots on the property since building is not permitted on a municipal drain. He might have to apply to council to have the drain moved a number of feet.

The work engineer Phil McNeely proposed for drainage of land in Concession 1, of Lot 1, Township of Matilda, is the relocation of the main drain from the Township Road to the property to the east from Highway No. 2, northerly for approximately 396 meters.

"This main drain is to intercept the flow from the drainage area to the east, and convey water by a large culvert under the Township Road and a new lower culvert under Highway No. 2 to the existing drain which shall be deepened downstream of Highway No. 2 for approximately 250 meters," according to the report.

The existing drain shall be rerouted to eliminate a culvert on Albert Claxton's property. The culvert under Old Highway No. 2, should be replaced by a larger culvert to double the capacity and take care of spring run-off.

Reasons the engineer cited for the work were improved drainage east of Hanes Road, improved residential drainage through lowering a culvert across Highway No. 2 for two homes at the intersection of Hanes Road and Highway No. 2. By enlarging the culvert at Lakeshore Drive, four residences on Muttonville Drive would benefit. Also, road drainage would be improved.

Culverts belonging to the township, the Ministry of Transportation and Communications, and the United Counties are to be replaced by these parties at their own cost, and were not appealed.

"Still the remaining costs of $33,382 were to be shared by the people in the drainage basin," said McNeely.

Two parties who appealed their assessment to the Court of Revisions had their benefit assessments reduced — Ernest Fling's by $1,500, and Calvin Elliott's by $1,000.

McNeely had assessed the properties according to weighted hectarage. Outlet assessment based on the hectarage of the land using the drain, makes up 25 per cent of the cost of the drain. Land at the top of the drain, using all the drain, is assessed higher than land at the bottom of the drain which uses less.

The benefit assessment for properties who benefit from the drainage makes up 75 per cent of the cost of the drain.

Chairman O'Brien was to hold an on site meeting, after which decisions on the assessments would be mailed to Deeks and Zeron.

Sid Morrell honored by curlers, community for volunteer efforts

MORRISBURG — For Morrisburg and area curlers, the name Sid Morrell means many things.

Morrell was honored by the Morrisburg Curling Club Sunday night for 25 years of volunteer work, helping young curlers acquire a passion for the game. Several of his friends and former curlers were on hand to share their favorite memory from Sid's career.

Nikil Chande gave one of the most entertaining speeches of the evening, describing his curling career under the coaching of Sid.

"Friendly, dedicated, warm, kind, humorous, generous and likeable could describe Mr. Morrell when you think about him for awhile," said Chande. "I thought curling was a boring game invented by those Scots but now I appreciate the true meaning of the game."

"For 25 years Sizzling Sid has been teaching and inspiring knowledge of the game."

Chande said he enjoyed curling not only for the fun of going to bonspiels but for the cultural aspect.

"We got to experience many musical rides as Mr. Morrell sang in the car," he said. "He always stressed the importance of sportsmanship and proper behavior on and off the ice."

Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner said he remembered curling at the Morrisburg Club during his high school days and once he won half a bushel of apples, so curling in Morrisburg has fond memories for him.

"The impression you make on this community and curlers will be appreciated for many years to come," he said.

Volunteer

A teacher for the past 25 years and currently head of the science department at Seaway District High School, Morrell said he first became interested in curling while working in Northern Ontario 30 years ago.

"I was working for a mining company and the small town had a curling rink," said Morrell. "I started curling because it was the natural winter recreation."

Morrell said he has enjoyed many thrills during his 25-year coaching career, but the best was winning the Pepsi Junior Men's Curling Championship in London two weeks ago.

This week the team departs for Vancouver to play in the national championship.

Throughout his distinguished career curling teams coached by Morrell have qualified for five provincial championships. Their first win was this year.

It's great to have a fantastic tribute for something you love doing," said Sid. "I hope I have deserved it. People often wonder why I do this year after year but I enjoy it."

"This tribute is one of the highlights of my life. Morrisburg, Williamsburg and all around the area there are a fine group of people to say the least."

Susan Adams, a trustee with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education told the audience she was fortunate to have grown up in this area and able to be in Sid's classes.

"So many of us want to do things and we have the best of intentions but we don't get out and do it," she said. "Sid's family has sacrificed the time and I don't think people realize the extra effort it takes to spend the day at school and go out and do volunteer work after hours."

She added the success of the Morrisburg Club was partly due to Sid's continuing effort to involve young people in curling.

Not just content with coaching after school, Sid is one of the few coaches to attain a Level 2 certification in Ontario and one of even a fewer number to attain a Level 3 technical course.

In addition, he has attended several coaching clinics, the latest in 1985.

Parents' view

Many parents have also benefitted from Sid's time and patience in teaching their children to curl.

One such parent, Bruce MacDonald, said Sid's coaching has given his three sons a lifelong pastime to enjoy.

He admits, however, when he started curling 22 years ago he didn't like Sid.

"I never liked Sid on Monday and Thursday nights which were Men's Night because we usually got hammered," said MacDonald. "But parents don't realize the real time and effort it takes to do scheduling, driving, ordering meals at McDonald's and keeping curlers in line with schooling and curling."

A trophy was presented to Sid by Gord and Robin Lane for his many contributions to the sport of curling.

The trophy will bear his name and remain part of the Morrisburg Curling Club. It will be presented in recognition of excellence in junior curling.

"Many people have a gift both social and recreational in nature for the rest of their life," said SDHS vice-principal Don Fairweather. "I think that's the real gift Sid has given."

The final game of the series will be played in Cardinal.

Trumpeter Swans returning to Ontario

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is working on a program to reintroduce the largest member of the swan family to Ontario. The trumpeter swan is pure white and a very large and majestic bird noted for its beautiful call which is very full and impressive like the music of a trumpet.

These birds were native to eastern Ontario but by the year 1880 most of them had been hunted and trapped to near extinction. Some of the swans migrated west to Alberta and British Columbia where a few hundred remain.

Because of the great beauty of the feathers, both Indians and European settlers hunted the birds for their skins which were dried and tanned with the feathers attached. The flesh of the bird was eaten for food.

Now after an absence from Ontario of 100 years the Ministry hopes to hatch and releave trumpeter swans in the Wye Marsh near Midland, Ontario. During the past two years five young swans have been raised by hatching trumpeter eggs in the nests of other swans.

To further increase the population four adult swans from the west have been released near Long Point on Lake Erie. It is hoped that because of the warmer weather at this location that the swans there will not migrate south for the winter but stay on Lake Erie year round.

Let us hope that the program meets with success and once again Ontario will ring with the call of the Trumpeter Swan.

The program to reintroduce the Wild Turkey to Ontario has been most successful to date and there will be a second Ontario turkey hunt in May.

Remember the F.A.C.

Canadian law reads that in order to acquire any firearm, whether by purchase, loan, as a gift, importation or in any other manner the person obtaining the gun or firearm must first posesss a Firearms Acquisition Certificate or F.A.C.

This means that you may not legally, buy, borrow or get any firearm if you do not have a valid certificate.

To obtain a F.A.C. one must go to any office of the R.C.M.P. or O.P.P. and fill in an application form. This form will be promptly processed and, in a short time for a fee of $10.00, the Firearms Acquisition Certificate will be issued in your name.

The new F.A.C. is valid for five years and any number of acquisitions. Remember, that to obtain a handgun additional permits as well as the F.C.A. are required and are also available at the local O.P.P. or R.C.M.P. office.

People selling, loaning or giving away firearms should make sure that the recipient produces an original and up-to-date F.A.C. made out in the name of that person.

Toronto Sportsmen's Show

The largest and best outdoor show in Canada ended Sunday, March 20 at Toronto's Exhibition Place. It was sponsored by a non-profit Corporation dedicated to supporting and improving Canada's outdoor heritage.

This super show included arena shows, wildlife arts and crafts, fishing and boating equipment, boats, motors and RV's plus many live demonstrations and seminars.

Spring Fishing

Now that the days are getting longer, the sun stronger and the afternoon temperatures above freezing, anglers are feeling the urge to enjoy some long awaiting casting or trolling.

Two species that can be caught at this time of year and provide fishermen with some good sport and a wall-hanging trophy are Brown and Rainbow Trout.

Brown Trout like warm water and during March and April move into locations where the warmest temperatures are to be found. Rainbow Trout or Steelhead spawn in March and April and these fish can be located in the small streams, rivers and creeks that run into Lake Ontario.

Browns and Rainbows are in season all year on Lake Ontario and Lake St. Lawrence but can only be taken on the inland streams after opening day, usually the last Saturday in April.

Local Brown Trout Hot Spot

Each year, during March and April, many Brown Trout are caught by casting from shore below the Power Dam in Cornwall. Fishermen can park on the Hydro lot and walk down to the shore a short distance below the dam.

Fish of over 10 lbs. are caught here each spring. They have gathered in the fast water because it is slightly warmer below the dam. They have been stocked in other locations by Ontario, Quebec and New York State and migrated to this location.

Standard Brown Trout lures include small silver and gold spoons, Rebel and Rapala plugs in various colours and small salmon spoons such as the Alpena Diamond and Sutton West River. Sometimes using thicker spoons is better because they can be casted out a longer distance, covering more water.

Lake Fishing for Browns and Rainbows

Lake Ontario, west of Kingston and south of Watertown, provides the action for small boat trollers and shore casters. Browns, Rainbows and Lake Trout are attracted by the warmer water found close to shore and running from small creeks and streams. This is when the small boat angler has the advantage over the larger charter boats.

Planer boards are used to separate lines when trolling and to help move the lures away from the noise of the motor. Use the same lures previously mentioned for the Brown Trout. This type of fishing is done close to shore, often in less than six feet of water.

Good catches can also be taken casting from shore at a creek mouth or from a dock or sea-wall.

When shore fishing be sure to try a worm and spinner or a spawn bag fished close to the bottom as well as the previously mentioned spoons and plugs.

Each Spring Browns and Rainbows in the 20 lb. class are taken in Lake Ontario using these methods. Limit catches of 5 trout per person are very common during April.

Ducks Unlimited announce date for annual banquet

MORRISBURG — The Dundas County Committee of Ducks Unlimited Canada has announced that its second annual banquet will be held at Matilda Township Community Hall, Dixons Corners on June 3 at 6 p.m.

Committee Chairman Owen Alguire of Morrisburg feels the fund-raising function should be marked on the calendar by anyone who is interested in the future of North America's waterfowl and wetlands.

"Ducks Unlimited has been preserving and restoring wetland habitat in Canada for half a century," said Alguire.

During that time, Canadian landowners, governments, corporations and individuals have made more than four million acres available free of charge to almost 4,000 individuals DU projects scattered throughout the nation.

"Now there's growing interest from Canadians to contribute financially to the future of waterfowl and wetlands conservation," said Alguire. "These banquets are one way for sportsmen and other conservationists to make solid contributions to Ducks Unlimited's time-proven habitat program."

Alguire said that natural wetlands throughout Canada are under continuing and intensive pressure from a variety of developers.

"Ducks Unlimited is the only private non-profit organization in North America doing something to offset these habitat losses," he said.

Tickets for the Dundas County banquet are available at $60 per couple and include a one year susbscription to the Ducks Unlimited magazine.

For tickets and more information call ticket chairman Mike Paradis at 543-3522.

St. Lawrence division semi-final

Junior B's lose to Alexandria in playoffs

ALEXANDRIA — The Morrisburg Junior B Lions season came to a disappointing end Friday with an 8-7 loss to the Alexandria Glens in the St. Lawrence Division semi-final.

The Glens wrapped up game five of the best-of-seven series on their home turf.

The Lions lost the first two games of the series last week but caught fire during game three Tuesday at Alexandria with a 9-3 win.

Overpowering offence

The Glens were first on the scoreboard only 35 seconds into the game. Ross Kraft scored on a pass from John Dullaghan.

Bobby Jack Hart tied the game at 6:08 assisted by Mike Lamarche and Johnny Morrow. The Glens regained the lead at the 13 minute mark of the first on a goal by Glen Campbell, assisted by Dullaghan.

The Lions' Randy Jodoin tied the score at 2-2 two minutes later unassisted, and Lamarche gave the Lions the lead for the first time in the game at 18:33, assisted by Jodoin.

The Morrisburg team took over in the second shutting out the Glens while adding three goals to their tally.

Lamarche scored his second of the night at the eight minute point of the second period with Jodoin again picking up the assist.

Randy Mullin made it 5-2 for the Lions at 16:28 of the second assisted by Andy Lee.

Rod Lemieux scored the Lions third goal of the period with two minutes left to play, assisted by Jodoin and Lamarche.

Add three more

The Lions continued to dominate during the third period adding three more goals and holding the Glens to one.

Lemieux notched his second goal of the night 45 seconds into the third period to make the score 7-2.

The Glens scored their only goal of the third period at 2:47 on a shot by Campbell, his second goal of the game.

Jodoin completed a hat trick in the third period, scoring the Lions eighth goal at 14:54 and the ninth with 33 seconds remaining in the game. Both goals were unassisted.

Game four

Trailing the series two games to one the Lions came home for game four Thursday.

Alexandria's Campbell scored the only goal of the first period at the six minute mark, assisted by Andre Lapensee.

Jason Smith tied the game for the Lions early in the second assisted by Mullin and Lee. The Glens moved ahead 2-1 on Campbell's second goal at 13:52.

Glens move ahead

But the Glens came on strong in the third to put the game away. Leonard Seguin scored at 3:50 of the third to put the Glens ahead 3-2.

Smith scored his second of the game 20 seconds later assisted by Mullin and Lee to tie it once again but the Glens scored at12:44 and 17:32 to take the win.

The Glens fourth goal was scored by Dullaghan, assisted by Campbell and the final goal of the game was credited to Seguin assisted by Andrew McCormick and Denis Lavac.

Played well

Lions coach Kevin Casselman said he was disappointed with the outcome of the series but says his team played well enough to win.

"We just didn't get any breaks," he said. "We're not too happy but they deserved it. They played well."

The Glens will meet the CharLan Rebels tonight in the first game of the St. Lawrence Championships.

Ontario Hydro seeks power source

CORNWALL — Ontario Hydro is looking at alternative future sources of energy, considering both renewable and non-renewable options. Linda Halliday, spokesperson for Hydro, explained some alternatives during a visit to the Robert H. Saunders St. Lawrence generating station last Thursday.

With existing generating capacity, the corporation will probably be able to handle the demand for electricity until 1996. But decisions will have to be made concerning the needs for the remainder of the century and the first few decades of the twenty-first century.

Earth's fossil fuels such as tar sands, coal, oil, uranium, and nuclear power which have heated our homes and fuelled our industries for years are non-renewable. Renewable sources of energy include hydrogen in the sea, wave power, crops, biomass, timber, tidal power, wind power, solar power, hydro-electric power, and geothermal power.

Hydro requires fifteen years "lead time" to analyze the options from a technical, economic and environmental point of view. A booklet called Demand / Supply Planning strategy outlines the strategy for the next few decades.

Conservation and Rehabilitation of existing plants

If customers use energy more efficiently, the demand will decrease by 1,000 to 4,000 Megawatts (MW) by the year 2000. The savings of 4,000 to 7,000 MW would represent the output of two large power stations. Hydro will be offering customers financial inventives to reduce electricity demand. In other words, conservation is in, and wasteful gadgets such as electric flyswatters are definitely out.

Rehabilitating existing power plants and equipment will save the cost of replacement. This is true especially with regard to hydro-electric plants, because water is a renewable resource. Improvements to coal-fired plants not only renew the aging station but can help reduce acid gas emissions, to meet Ministry of Environment requirements.

Hydro-electricity as an option

The corporation is looking at hydro-electricity with an eye to expansion. Until 20 years ago, water resources were used to produce more than 83 per cent of the province's electricity. The R.H. Saunders dam generates a maximum of 960,000 kilowatts, sufficient to provide electricity for 600,000 homes.

Presently, hydro-electricity provides less than 30 per cent of the province's electric power, or 6.5 million kilowatts daily. Three new projects in Ontario are under consideration.

Independent power producers such as a station in Galetta in the Ottawa Valley make a small but important contribution to the system. Ontario Hydro sold a generating station to a family in Galetta which generates power and sells it back to the corporation. A dentist in Casselman owns a small generator that sells power to the village.

Hydro intends to maintain the controversial nuclear option. Lower cost, expertise in nuclear technology, and plentiful uranium are cited as reasons for continuing the option.

Coal is an abundant energy resource but acid gas emissions are a drawback. The emissions may be controlled by technology. Hydro has been ordered to reduce its emissions by 50 per cent by 1992. When coal-fired plants are built, they are easier to turn on and off than nuclear plants, therefore more flexible.

Hydro has also looked at wind and solar power but has decided that there is insufficient supply in this country for reliable power source, although they may be used to reduce individual demand for electricity.

The corporation has been trying for several years to negotiate power purchase agreements with hydro-electric generators in Manitoba and Quebec, thus deferring some of the costs of building new power stations in Ontario.

Tours of the Saunders Generating Station, held daily in March break, featured films of the history of the dam and the St. Lawrence Seaway, a working model of the dam, and some safety tips on electricity. The location of the Saunders Generating Station is shared by the Robert Moses Power Dam operated by the Power Authority of New York State, a unique instance of two powerhouses located in the same structure, spanning an international boundary.

During the summer, the station will be open for tours in July and August. "We may be adding a video on Nuclear Power, and an acid rain demonstration," said Halliday.

The station is under going a major rehabilitation of its generators and turbines according to Cornwall District Manager of Ontario Hydro, Doug Urban. The multi-year program of refurbishment started two years ago, and each of the sixteen generators is out of service for half a year while it is overhauled.

Creation in crisis: plight of farmer, fisherman seen

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

ELMA — Will the future farmer be a kind of serf working for a feudal system of banks and corporations? This question and others were asked a group of United Church women here last Tuesday, after viewing a film "Creation in Crisis".

The film addressed some economic problems of small Canadian farmers and fishermen, and drew comparisons with African farmers being squeezed by multinational corporations.

One-third of Canadian farm families are in moderate financial difficulty according to the film, while one-third are in serious difficulty. One difficulty of the farmer, due to a lack of comprehensive farm policy, is the inability to make a profit on his investment.

With higher prices for equipment and fertilizer, the farmer is putting more into his business than he did 10 years ago, without the same return.

The average income for a farm family is $14,000 which often requires the labour of all its members to produce. One farmer reported not experiencing a raise since 1971. Financial casualties are high: in 10 years, 25,000 Canadian families have left the farm.

Yet Canadians are privileged with relatively low food prices, ranking third lowest in the world. A loaf of bread which might cost the eonsuemr $1.09, nets the farmer only $.15, a kilo of pork costing $4.50 will net the farmer $1.87.

Most of the women here agreed that they would be willing to pay a little more for food if the profits went to the farmer and not to the middle man.

Farmers have one of the highest injury, death and accident rate of any group in the country. From 1981 to 1984, there were over 100 fatalities in Ontario alone says the Ontario Task Force on Health and Safety.

Loss of limb or life can often be traced to short cuts taken to save time and money because farmers cannot afford to pay suitable hired help.

Many farmers have to enlist their children's help to operate highly complicated and dangerous machinery. One-third of all farm accidents happen to children. "We're killing our kids on the farm," according to the video.

Education and understanding are two ways the church and urban population can help. Instead of condemning the farmer for problems, we could be supportive in concrete ways.

We could buy products at the farmers' market, and more Canadian products. We could also pressure the government not to allow the dumping of European beef.

Most farmers work because they love the land, and they feel it is a privilege to farm. Only by giving them our support can we ensure the future of farming.

OPP report one accident on March 13 at 7 a.m. at the Texaco Service Station on Hwy. 401.

John Patterson, 20, of Dollard Des Ormeaux, Quebec, was driving a 1987 Chevrolet van westbound on the ramp leading to the service station parking lot when he slid off the icy roadway and struck a guardrail.

There were no injuries. Damage to the van was moderate.

Chang Lee Ok-Hong, 49, of Cote St. Luc, Quebec, was involved in an accident on Hwy. 401 east of the Flagg Road on March 15 at 2 p.m.

She was driving eastbound when she hit an icy area and slid into a guardrail.

She was not injured but her 1985 Pontiac was demolished.

A third accident was reported on March 20 on Hwy. 401 west of Flagg Road.

Patrick Golding, 44, of Gloucester was heading eastbound when due to poor visibility he slid off the roadway and collided with a culvert.

He received minor injuries but was not taken to hospital. His 1981 Toyota was demolished.

Window destroyed

MORRISBURG — Fire destroyed the exercise room window of the old high school last Thursday evening. Morrisburg resident Bill Sheldrick noticed flames from the high school window, and notified the fire department.

The Morrisburg fire department arrived at the scene about midnight and extinguished the fire in about a half an hour. Fire Chief Les Bilmer says the fire may have been caused by a cigarette left on the wooden window sill of the exercise room. The exercise equipment, which was made of steel, was not-inflammable.

There was very little smoke and fire damage in the room, but the window itself will have to be replaced. Estimates of damage are under assessment by the insurance company.

OPP enforce RIDE

The Ontario Provincial Police, in an effort to prevent needless tragedy and to make our highways safe from impaired drivers, will implement a stop check program in connection with its R.I.D.E. (Reduce Impaired Drivers Everywhere) program. The spot check will be conducted the week of March 20 to March 26, 1988 and located in the municipalities within the townships of Williamsburg and Matilda.

Drivers are asked to consider the consequences before drinking and driving and to seek alternative methods of transportation.

Impaired driving is everyone's responsibility.

"Prove you care."

Williamsburg Seniors

Following a delightful noon meal, with 54 members and two visitors attending, Vice-president, Harold Pemberton opened the meeting with everyone singing O Canada.

Following the report of the previous meeting and the various committees, "Happy Birthday" was sung to those having recent March birthdays.

Beatrice Saddlemire reported that she had sent five get-well cards. Dwain Hess reported that he has tickets to sell on a draw, for the recreation committee.

Ruth Casselman discussed the use of the "Van", noting that it is available for the use of all seniors in the township, and encouraged people to use it.

It was decided that bridge will be played, starting on Tues., March 22nd, to start.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Iris Derue, and Mrs. Anna Merkley. Anna gave a St. Patrick's reading entitled, "Ireland". Graham Barkley presented a number with a marionette, "Bimbo", doing a dance to that tune. Sandra Barkley sang, "Galway Bay", and "By Killarney Lakes and Fells", and Graham and Sandra sang some Irish tunes, and members joined in with them.

Malcolm Scharfe and Thelma Bradford entertained with violin and piano, and some toe-tapping music.

The program concluded with Iris reading an Irish poem, "The Bells of Ireland", ending an enjoyable afternoon.

Speak Up . . . Join In . . . Be Proud

From April 17 to 23, 1988, Canadians will participate in National Citizenship Week — a celebration of our citizenship and what it means to be Canadian.

Although in law Canadian citizenship has existed only since 1947, the spirit that gives Canadians their special identity has lived since the earliest days of Confederation.

Equality, diversity and community are the essential ingredients of that spirit, and basic principles of Canadian society.

During National Citizenship Week, people in every corner of the nation, of all ages, will be showing what being Canadian means to them. In schools, in community centres, offices and neighbourhood businesses across the country, Canadians will be doing something special for Canada.

So speak up! Join in! Be proud — to be Canadian!

Wit and wisdom of Aesop's Fables lives again in puppeteer's tour

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

IROQUOIS — The timeless truths of Aesop's Fables were brought home here last Friday as Tom Vanderberg's puppets captivated adults and children alike. The Mississauga puppeteer is touring the Rideau Libraries, sponsored by the Ontario Library Service, the Ontario Arts Council, and Outreach Ontario, a program of the Ministry of Culture and Communications.

The content of the three thousand year old tales rang true to the original, without undue editing. The idle grasshopper of "The Ant and the Grasshopper" came to a bad end. An archetype of miserliness was portrayed by an old buzzard in "The Miser and his Gold," and the cowardliness of politicians presented in "Belling the Cat." Aesop's Fables are of great antiquity, originating in Hindu tales and resurfacing in La Fontaine's Fables of the seventeenth century.

Rapport between puppeteer and children was evidenced by the free exchange of comments. "Have a little nap," cried the children to the hare in The Tortoise and the Hare, just as the tortoise was overtaking him.

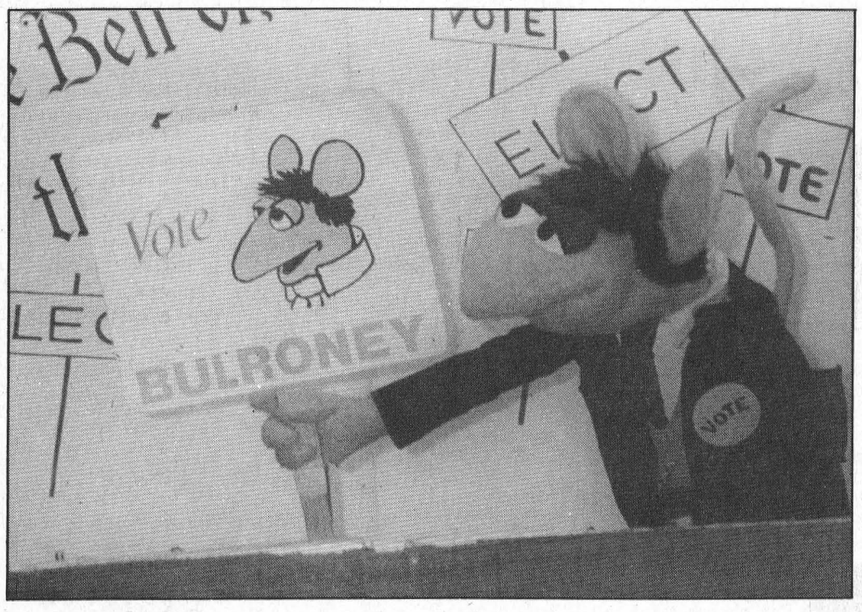
A puppeteer of sixteen years' experience, Vanderberg has toured many of the 3500 schools and 200 libraries in the Mississauga area. His puppets have appeared in "Follow that Bird," a Sesame Street movie, and will be seen in May in "Commander Crumbcake" on Global Television.

At one time, Vanderberg did all the work on props and puppets for his show, but now hires help to make puppets. However, he still has a hand in the sewing and paperwork which he oversees.

Tom learned the art of puppetry by apprenticeship, and experience. "Some theatre courses have relevance to the art of puppetry, such as voice projection, but others do not," he said.

Method acting in particular, where the actor practically assumes a role, prevents the puppeteer from slipping in and out of character easily. This facility of changing from role to role is essential to puppetry.

"Puppets present the archetype of character rather than the individual, similar to painting with bold brush strokes rather than with water colour," he said.



Political advice

"Put a cat alarm on her miserable neck," advised Brian Bulroney in "Belling the Cat."

Turning green for the occasion

Auxiliary reports a busy month

WINCHESTER — The March meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary took place March 10 in the conference room with 26 members present. All phases of the volunteer service have been quite busy, the seniors reporting a total of 308 hours, the teens 64 hours and the Sunshine Circle 52 hours.

The Gift Shoppe people have also had a good year having surpassed their yearly objective of $1000. A cheque from the gift shoppe was presented by Mrs. Barton.

The various units also have been quite successful during the year. The Chesterville Unit presented a cheque for $1900. The Golden Valley Unit promised $1000 and the Winchester Unit $500. Most of these units are planning spring events.

Morrisburg are planning a rummage sale and a luncheon. The Morewood unit are sponsoring their annual spring dance at Morewood on April 23 and the Winchester Unit a Spring fashion show on April 26 at Maple Ridge Public School.

A motion was passed granting approval for the purchase of new blinds for the Intensive Care Unit. The fate of the fall bazaar is very much undecided at this time. A meeting to discuss the course to be taken concerning the bazaar will be held April 14 at 11 a.m. at the hospital. If you wish to volunteer help or advice please feel free to attend.

The annual Dessert and Card party however is still alive and well. In the age of disposables this event has managed to stay alive for 25 years. The auxiliary will make it a special celebration with a cake and a special prize.

The party will take place April 11 from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the hospital with cards and desserts for everyone.

Admission is $2 and this enables you to a chance at some nice door prizes. Tickts for the separate raffle are on sale now at the Gift Shoppe or from most auxiliary members.

Tickets of admission will be sold at the door. Come out and start spring right.
