The owners have been notified to remove their unauthorized structures and contents from crown land near Williamstown by April 1. Warrants to seize the structures may be used if necessary, according to a ministry source. To date about 200 boathouses have already been removed, most of them within the city of Cornwall. Some of them have been permitted to rent a space within a boatowners' co-op on land leased from the city for $1 a year.

Scheduled for 8pm at the Nelson LaPrade Centre, several representatives of WUSC will be on hand with a 15-minute presentation followed by a question and answer session. Board delighted by court decision CORNWALL (Staff) - A three to two ruling of the Ontario Supreme Court last week gave legality to the extension of Roman Catholic school funding at the high school level.

For the separate board of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry it meant "all system go" education director Gilles Metivier told The Record just before press time.

Before the ruling the board, like all other separate boards in Ontario, was depending on interim funding received last December from the Ministry of Education while the court case was being heard.

A second decision was handed down last Friday afternoon when the Divisional Court ruled the interim funding was constitutional also. This had been challenged by both the Metro School Board of Toronto and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

The local separate board had received $73,000 to cover the cost of providing grade 11 education at St. Jospeh's in Cornwall, a school shared jointly with General Vanier on the county side. Mr. Metivier said the board could now proceed with that funding knowing the money would not be withdrawn. The board will receive additional funds in September of this year to cover the costs of extending high school education through the grade 12 level.

The local separate board has 182 students in the grade nine, 10 and 11 classes. In September, 1986 there will be an additional 70 students enrolling in the grade nine classes mainly. "We predicted these numbers three years ago before the Davis announcement," said Mr. Metivier.

He explained his board was committed to providing high school education to Catholic youngsters although prior to June 1984 there was no provision for this in the province. On June 12 then premier Bill Davis announced the extension of funding to separate schools releasing a furor of controversy throughout the province.

Last week's court ruling may be appealed to the level of the Supreme Court of Canada but Ontario education minister Sean Conway has said he will press on with funding the Catholic high schools regardless of any contemplated future action by opponents of the plan.

Currently the education ministry has put into effect a three-year $150 million funding plan to support the extension of Catholic education. The controversy that ensued after this plan was revealed contributed in part to the 1985 fall of the Progressive Conservative government as argument raged in many corners of Ontario.

In deciding in favor of funding the three justices admitted that "educational rights, granted specifically to the Protestants in Quebec and the Roman Catholics in Ontario make it impossible to treat all Canadian equally."

But the two dissenting judges said the Charter of Rights, implemented in the era, is now the supreme law of the land and "establishes a new relationship between the individual and the state."

The ruling was decided on the basis of section 93 of the British North America Act which gave educational privileges to religion groups as they were during the time of Confederation in 1867.

The dissenting judges said before the implementation of the Charter there was no doubt the funding would have been legal but that now the situation has been changed in Canada.

Mr. Conway said he wants Bill 30, an act to extend full funding to Catholic schools, enacted by September for the new school year. This means it may be passed into law by the end of June when the legislature traditionally recesses for the summer months.

It's all uphill

With a little help from friend Matthew Vestervelt, Jeff Boyer, 8, begins his descent down a steep slope across from St. Mary's School in Chesterville Sunday afternoon. Waiting his turn on the sled is three-year-old Terry Boyer. Although a recent snowfall ruled out skating on the South Nation rink, village children found sledding, skiing and picnicing good ways to enjoy the mild weather. Record Photo - Johnston

Opposition is voiced to proposed Finch Twp. bicycle path

MONKLAND (Staff) - A proposal to convert an abandoned rail line into a bicycle path has sparked concern among some Stormont residents.

On Monday evening, members of the Stormont Federtion of Agriculture criticized the proposal by the Ingleside-Osnabruck and Cornwall Rotary clubs to buy the approximately 30-kilometre stretch of the former New York Central line from Bell Canada and convert it to a bicycle and hiking path.

"There are enough infringements on agriculture today," said federation president David Whetter, who proposed that the land be made available to farmers. "It's not very often the opportunity arises to reclaim land."

But Bill VanLoo, the Ingleside-Osnabruck Rotarian who first proposed the project after seeing successful bike paths in the state of Wisconsin, told federation members the project's economic benefits would outweigh any negative impact.

He cited a 1974 study of a 32-mile trail in Wisconsin constructed on an abandoned railbed. Seventy-two businesses in five communities along the route derived 6.4 per cent of their gross annual income from cyclists. In 1986 dollars, he said the business would be valued at $1.3 million for the $30,000 annual maintenance costs.

"I thought we had a resource sitting in our backyards that wasn't really being used that would pay for itself and enhance the livelihod of any rural people living along it," he explained.

But he has since withdrawn his involvement in the project because of criticism from landowners.

Although the majority of population may support the idea, federation member Barry Armstrong said the farmers through whose land the path would run would pay for others' enjoyment.

"But it's the same thing as always. It's the minority that it's affecting."

The use of the path by motorized vehicles, trespass on private property, farmers' access to their fields, open gates, and tourists' rowdiness were among the fears the federation raised.

They doubted any body that took over the operation of the attraction could adequately police the stretch through farmlands.

Mr. Whetter said the governments' current emphasis on economic restraint in the parks system might discourage them from adopting a new project.

Mr. VanLoo assured them the Rotary Clubs are planning only to place an option to buy the land, which would give the clubs three years to conduct a feasibility study. If the study showed the landowners abutting the property were opposed to the project, he said the idea could be dropped.

Bell Canada's district real estate manager Paul Fortin could see few obstacles to approving the sale of the land to the Rotary clubs.

"From our point of view, it seems a pretty good idea," he said, adding the area would benefit from the additional revenue.

He said the corporation is now investigating to ensure the property sale would not injure its own interests. If not, he said the next move would be the Rotary clubs', to present a definite proposal for the bike trail.

He doubted farmers would suffer any great loss of land because the railway land-holding is small.

But Sean Fleming, Bell Canada's manager of real estate leases, said the property averages 30 metres in width along its route from Anderson Road in Gloucester Township to Ottawa.

Mr. VanLoo said five sections along the tract, including portions running through Finch Village and Russell Township, have been sold and a path would have to bypass those areas if the owners don't want it on their property.

"For some reaon, someone construed the fact we're putting a bike path through," Mr. Fleming said. "What we'd like to do is sell it (the land). We've had a request come in and it's all dependent on the fact that we get authorization within Bell."

In any case, Bell Canada would retain a right-of-way over the property for existing and future underground cables.

But public opposition could scuttle the project. Neither the Rotary clubs nor Bell Canada want to push an idea that meets with great opposition.

"We've heard rumors that there are some people who are unhappy," Mr. Fortin said.

At its last regular meeting, Finch Township council decided to request Bell Canada for more information about the proposed sale and expressed its concern for landowners' interests.

Local dinosaur exhibit to be world's biggest MORRISBURG (Staff) - Paul Dupuis of Prehistoric World says quality sometimes takes a back seat to quantity in the eyes of the government.

But he is committed to improving the quality of the outdoor dinosaur exhibits on a site north of Highway 2 on Upper Canada Road even if a plea for directional signage on Hwy. 401 fails.

Although he described the response of the Seaway Valley Tourist Council at a recent meeting to increased signage as "very supportive," he said government officials have been less enthusiastic.

He said the government considers only the financial success of an attraction and the number visiting the site annually as criteria for assistance such as signing.

He declined to say how many tourists visit the site each year but said he found his catch-22 situation "frustrating."

To get signage, he must prove a certain number visit the attraction -- but signage is needed to attract the requisite number of visitors.

But he remains philosophical. "We don't worry about that any more. We do things our way and people seem to enjoy it."

By the end of the year, he hopes the enterprise he runs with his brother will be the largest of its kind in the world.

Prehistoric World now has 30 concrete replicas of dinosaurs and there are plans to construct up to 20 smaller models of wood this year.

A similar attraction in Calgary now being moved and updated with government assistance, he noted, has only 56 exhibits.

But he cautioned the number of exhibits can be "misleading".

Most attractions of this type have only 20 some exhibits. Prehistoric World, he said, continues to expand its show with new and sometimes large and expensive additions.

If he were a businessman, he said he would invest money in advertising rather than new exhibits.

But he sees himself as an artist. "How many artists out there are making a living," he asks. "They do it because they love what they're doing."

Visitors seem to appreciate Prehistoric World's efforts. He said the site counts on its repeat visitors.

Crysler farm show is first sign of spring

CRYSLER (Staff) - The popular annual early spring event, the Crysler Feed and Seed Show, promises to be crammed full of exhibits. Organizer Marcel Masse said just before press time "there are 10 people on the waiting list."

With 41 exhibitors, one more than last year's bumper show, the local farm show should be the place to be on March 5 and 6.

Mr. Masse said exhibitors have until 10am on Tuesday, March 4 to bring in their samples. These will be judged in the afternoon and the show will be open to the public on Wednesday and Thursday. As well as prizes being offered by the individual dealers and exhibitors there are two great door prizes -- a hydraulic jack and a three quarter inch socket set.

Winners of the different seed categories will be announced at about 3pm and presentations made. The door prizes will follow. Two trophies will be presented, one for the best indoor display and the other for the best outdoor display.

The doors open for the show at 10am Wednesday and close that day at 10pm. Thursday's hours are from 10am until 6pm. Admission to the show is free.

Exhibitors and spectators traditionally visit the show from all over the Counties.

Gas bargains available as prices drop (Staff) - Drivers are getting a break at the pumps locally. Since last Friday when gasoline prices were announced officially by the major oil suppliers the figures have been falling at the pumps.

Some local service centre owners are dropping their prices by as much as two cents a litre with the average at about 1.7 cents a litre. Based on those figures the cost for a fill-up for a car with a 50 litre gas tank capacity would cost as much as a dollar less than a few days ago.

Many area garage owners reduced their prices last Thursday with others following on Monday of this week.

In Chesterville Jack Lannin, an independent Esso dealer, said his prices came down on Monday. "I just got a load of fuel today and it was down to me so I dropped my price although I own the dealership. I didn't have to." Mr. Lannin's gas prices are 49.2 cents for regular and 51.3 for unleaded, down 1.7 cents a litre.

Another Chesterville dealer, C and M Texaco is posting a price of 48.9 for regular and 51.9 for unleaded. Nationview, a Petro-Can dealer, started down the slope last Thursday. Judy Heefkens said "if I could put it down lower I would." On Thursday she lowered the price and again on Monday to about 2 cents a litre less.

Bob Darrach, proprietor of Williamsburg Garage is showing the lowest prices in the area with regular selling for 47.1 cents a litre and unleaded pegged at 50.1.

Susan Duncan, manager of Beckers in Ingleside, said her store was waiting word at any minute. "We're waiting for a call," she said. "We're managers, and we won't do it without authorization from PetroCan and from Beckers." Before being lowered their prices were 49.6 for regular and 52.6 for unleaded.

Mike's Sunoco Service in Crysler lowered prices on Friday to 49.6 for regular and 52.6 for unleaded. Smith's Gas Bar in Finch is charging 49.6 for regular and 53.4 for unleaded.

In Morewood Germain Baker of Morewood Tire and Towing said "we've had to come down because Chesterville and other places are down to 48 cents." Mr. Baker's prices are now 49 cents for regular and 51.6 for unleaded fuel.

New budget on even keel

BERWICK (Staff) - The South Nation Conservation Authority's level of spending is expected to remain at about the same level as 1985's budget, the members of the authority were told at Thursday night's annual meeting here.

With expenditures expected at about $837,435, the authority has already been guaranteed funding from the provincial and federal governments for $634,435. This compares with last year's $849,995.

The over all picture of the budget means that provincial grants will provide for some 48.5 per cent of the authority's revenues. Reserves will account for 11.7 per cent and municipal levies amount to 39.7 per cent.

Chesterville village will kick in a net levy of $5,423.91 up from last year's $5,379. One hundred per cent of Chesterville village is located in the South Nation River watershed as are Finch village, Finch township, Winchester village and Winchester township. Finch township has been levied for $6,968 whil Finch village will contribute $923.

Osnabruck township, of which 16 per cent is located within the watershed, will kick in $2,039. Roxborough township has a net levy of $5089 with 76 per cent of its area in the watershed. Williamsburg township will contribute $4,074 while Winchester township has been levied $10,633. The village of Winchester will contribute $6,477.

On the revenue side one item of the budget which will not change for this fiscal year is the amount of $332,790 to be paid by the municipalities in the watershed of the South Nation River towards SNRCA. However, the operating reserve amount of $98,204 may decrease if grants are received, enabling the authority to spend less of its own operating reserve. Another source of financing, government grants, earmarked at $406,441, could change if surplus grant money is available from the government.

On the expenditure side some of the items budgeted for this year are the flood plain mapping project at Bear Brook, estimated to cost $70,000 and erosion control, flood forecasting and major flood control projects at $154,365. The South Branch of the Nation River merits study, said authority representatives, and $10,000 has been budgeted for a preliminary study of the river bed contours and banks.

The Groveton Bog near Spencerville has been pinpointed for a study of the water characteristics of bogs in general and will cost $7000. Ice management will also be studied this year at the rate of $7000.

The Chesterville dam maintenance cost will be $15,710 with Crysler village being alotted $400, Casselman $4000 and Russell a further $1000. Bank erosion conservation services will use $12,000 while various community relations projects are budgeted for $9,500. Taxes and insurance will cost $37,350, versus last year's $24,200.

SNRCA plans to acquire 80 acres of land near Monkland to the tune of $35,000. Also in the area of conservation and recreation land management the authority has earmarked $13,000 for the South Nation Park near the Ottawa River and other recreation areas, Casselman Park, Tweed Park, Cass Park and Russell Park. Maintenance costs for the conservation areas will amount to $15,000.

In the area of special government employment programs the authority is expected to benefit from four projects: the Forestry Program, the Parks Program, Environment 2000 and Canada Youth. The Forestry Program is expected to bring in employment grants of $235,000; Parks Program $29,000; Environment 2000 $123,000; and Canada Youth $500,000. This totals $887,000 worth of government funding for work programs within the jurisdiction of the authority. Should this money not be available from government sources the authority would have to pay whatever could be allowed from the annual budget for labor in general forestry and other maintenance projects.

As far as expenditures are concerned the authority has located 33.5 per cent of its funds for Water and Related Land Management -- Capital Surveys and Studies. Administration will account for 28.9 per cent of the budget and Water and Related Land Management programs will use 24.5 per cent. Special Employment Programs will account for 2.7 per cent and Conservation and Recreation Land Management Administration will use 2.1 per cent. Authority reserves will account for .8 per cent of the budget.

A new slate of officers will administer the authority in 1986. Lorne Strader will be past chairman as Gaston Patenaude takes over the top job. Johnny Whitteker becomes vice chairman. Chairman of the Water Management Advisory Board will be John McIntyre while Robert Graham is chairman of the Conservation and Recreation Advisory Board. Heading the Land Use Advisory Board is Albert McKeown. Ewart Simms is chairman of the Information and Education Advisory Board. Elected as members at large were David Sloan, Eldon Ray Reid, Gerald Holmes, Larry Gray and Lucien Groulx.

The 1986 executive for the South Nation River Conservation Authority was elected last Thursday night. Spectacular sweetheart skate successful CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The South Nation River Conservation Authority's sweetheart skate Valentine's Day on the river was a success.

Suzanne DeRochie, the authority's coordinator of information and education, said the event was well attended and refreshments and music combined to provide "a nostalgic skating atmosphere".

"Interest in recreation has become an important issue in today's lifestyle," she said. "The skate was designed to promote safe winter recreation on the river."

She said the authority hopes to sponsor events throughout the river's watershed during the year.

Foodland preservation policy will affect rural municipalities

TORONTO (Staff) - If approved by the Ontario cabinet, proposals to strengthen the protection of agricultural land could be binding on municipalities.

The foodland preservation policy statement, recently issued jointly by the ministries of agriculture and food and municipal affairs, would replace guideline issues in 1978.

But in 1983, the province passed a new planning act which states municipalities, government agencies and review boards must have regard for such policies.

"The status of the provincial policy will be a lot clearer," said Don Dunn, director of the ministry's foodland preservation branch.

He said the stricter guidelines indicate the government is placing a higher priority on the conservation of Ontario farmland.

But some of the recommmendations could meet resistance from municipalities, developers and farm groups.

Among other proposals, the policy recommends that no more severances for farm-related residential lots be granted. Municipal official plans, it suggests, should provide for second residences on the farm, life leases, on retirement in nearby villages and hamlets as alternatives to residential lot severances to meet farm housing needs.

The policy states: "In order to prevent fragmentation of the agricultural land base, and to avoid conflicts with normal farm activity, it is provincial policy to restrict the creation of residential lots, including farm related residential lots, within designations for prime agricultural land. Non-farmers purchase such lots and may create problems for surrounding farm operations."

At a meeting of the Stormont Federation of Agriculture Monday night, president David Whetter noted farmers wouldn't be prevented from building homes, but they could not be severed from the rest of the property as a separate lot.

Recognizing that pressure to use farmland for non-agricultural purposes will increase, the policy says that some land uses are compatible with agriculture.

Woodlots and wildlife management areas, land uses directly related to agriculture which must be located nearby, and non-farm uses that won't affect farm practices and leave the land and soils intact could operate near farmland.

But most rural residential development, mobile home parks, institutions, industrial or commercial uses unrelated to agriculture, and recreational facilities such as trailer parks or golf courses are deemed incompatible with agriculture.

Mr. Whetter said the greater protection offered specialty crop lands in southern and western parts of the province from pit and quarry development were not extended to soil classes most prevalent in Stormont.

"Pits and quarries and things like that are quite permissible in rural areas but churches, schools and graveyards are not," he said.

Mr. Dunn said provincial policy regarding the construction of public facilities such as hydro corridors, pipelines and highways has also been "clarified".

The need to use prime agricultural land for such purposes must be justified and any impact on agricultural land minimized.

In a third change, municipalities would be allowed to set aside prime agricultural land for urban development for no more than ten years. Present guidelines include no time limit for development on land removed from production.

But Mr. Whetter was also critical of this provision. "Speculators don't like tying their money up for longer than that anyway."

The minimum separation distances between existing types of non-farm development and new or expanding farm operations have also been revised.

Mr. Dunn said the distances for smaller livestock operations have changed little but new or expanded barns for larger number of livestock would have to be located father from existing development than at present.

Mr. Dunn said interested groups and individuals have until April 30 to comment on the policy proposals.

The Dundas Federation of Agriculture is discussing the proposals today (Wednesday).

Crysler Optimist Club has heavy program

CRYSLER (Special) - On Jan. 11, 1986 the Crysler Optimist Club had its official charter night.

A banquet was held followed by the presentation of the club's charter and banners by Governor Paul Labelle. The federal and provincial flags were presented by Norman Warner MP and Noble Villeneuve, MPP.

So far the club has been very busy following its formation in September 1985. They organized a successful Christmas dance as well as sponsoring a Santa Claus parade in Crysler. They were very active during Youth Appreciation week and presented certificates of honor to the recipients at l'Ecole Notre Dame du Rosaire.

Recently members and wives cooked and served a brunch as part of the Crysler Carnival.

An active future is ahead of the club with a variety of events being planned. A bus trip for teenagers to Winterlude was held Feb. 14 along with a trip on Feb. 16 for the families with younger children. A day of ice fishing has also been planned.

The club has 35 members whose president is P. Lapensee. Germaine Lafleche and Raymond Landry are the club vice-presidents.

"UNITED TO SAVE YOU MONEY"

THE CHESTERVILLE Record Editorial / Opinion

Getting off the track

Imagine a modern industrialized country lacking a passenger train service between the capital and the second largest city. While it sounds like a banana republic this is what the federal transport department is considering.

With the future of the Ottawa-Montreal passenger line in the balance this country may well lack a railway link convenient for politicians, civil servants, businessmen and other passengers travelling the two-hour journey.

Granted, fares from the short trip cover only 68 per cent of the costs.

However, a civilized country should strive to increase its infrastructure not reduce important services to the travelling public. There isn't a postal system in the world that makes money but without services like the post office and the railway society would not be adequately served by its government.

Trimming some of the fat off VIA Rail probably wouldn't hurt although attempting to read just the status quo where strong unions prevail is like attempting to swim against a very strong current.

Nowhere in the world does a government-run railway earn profits either but services which the public needs should not be abandoned for political gain.

Plane and simple

Auditor General Ken Dye is a man who sets an honest example to others on the public payroll. He economizes when it comes to spending money.

Although his rank in the public service entitles him to first class air travel he always travels economy and last week the lesson was spread a little further.

Mr. Dye showed seven members of Parliament how to look after public money. The eight travelled to London economy, thereby saving $17,000.

The group said they were the first parliamentary committee in the history of Canada to save the public money by travelling on the cheap. Not only did they travel economy they booked in advance saving a further bundle for the taxpayer.

Mr. Dye, it seems, always travels that way. More over when the seven MPs discovered their leader was hunched into a cheap seat in the back of the plane while they enjoyed a better position up front they insisted on switching their tickets to join him.

From small beginnings great strides can be made. The MPs, seven MPs, at least, are learning.

by Wyn Thompson

A north-west wind is whistling over the hill, and although the sun is shining brightly, it does little to dispel the cold. It is certainly cold this February morning, and the warmth radiating from the spanking clean wood stove in the family room is very welcome indeed.

Any groundhog still out looking around for his shadow had better bundle up. I imagine a ground hog in a brown fur coat and yellow muffler. Such silly thoughts are pardonable in February, I think, for although it is the shortest month, it can drag its heels disgustingly during its final days.

And, as I promised last week, I am now returned to my cheery optimistic self so on such a day it is still good to put on warm ski clothes and head for the bush trail to feel the weather. A blast of February air, although it may be one of its last, alerts our senses and reminds us that we are alive and well.

It also reminds me that it is time to carry wood from the woodpile and refill the mammoth woodbox. Couple this with the exertion of skiing and I feel weary in a comfortable sort of way, so that I know I will sleep well tonight. And a cup of hot chocolate never tastes better than when you've just come in from the cold.

A new day dawns.

The sun has disappeared, the wind has swung into the east, and snow sweeps ahead of that bone-chilling east wind. It is a February day when one should imitate the groundhog, and 'hole-up.' It is just such a day for me, a day of comfortable old clothes, of puttering about, of reading a bit, and simply enjoying the pleasures of hearth and home.

When it's cold and stormy outside, even people who are not fond of cooking are inclined to make a pot of beef stew or barley soup. A man of our acquaintance says he always bakes beans on bad days.

On just such a day, I usually bake muffins as I like to have bags of them ahead of me - blueberry, cranberry nut, bran, you name it and I like to have that kind on hand, for it is a rare person, indeed, that does not like to have a warmed muffin to accompany their afternoon cup of coffee or tea.

When our regular days are filled to overflowing, it is a pleasure to slow our pace and simply putter at this and that, with no activities so pressing that they can't be put off for one day. Such a time of puttering renews our spirit and refreshes our mind.

Although February is the month that is brightened by St. Valentine, I'd like to say that any day can be Valentine's Day. Some of my favourite tokens of caring have come to me on days other than Valentine's. For example, there was an unexpected bouquet of pink carnations and white baby's breath that arrived on a day when I was having some trouble in my life. The surprise and pleasure of receiving this bouquet made it unforgettable.

I met a friend at the market today who, although retired a year, complained that recently he had not had an hour to call his own. "I intend to right this situation immediately," he emphasized.

He also pointed to things we miss in our continuous busyness the sight of moonlight on water, the sound of the winds. If this was a cause for concern in Wordsworth's quiet English lake country, what may it mean for us here and now?

Consciously or unconsciously, most of us seem to need spells of aloneness, especially those who work among people. Some of these people make an escape to the most secluded places they can find for vacations. Others take less obvious ways. Why did great grandmother, when there was someone to tend her home, like to go berry-picking in the woods? Of course, she needed the berries, but probably she needed more a few hours by herself with no sound but that of the wind in the trees or a bird's call.

Why did a man like to slip away to the young cattle's pasture lands to "salt the cattle" on a Sunday morning? No doubt the children trailed after him, talking a mile a minute; but their talk would be far removed from mortgages and markets - he was still taking an hour to call his own.

I am one of the fortunate few who still have a country lane on which to walk and a woodland ski trail over which to glide. Some women after a full day in the home or office have found it a rest to "go for the cows" in the evening; but I now know of cows that never travel a country lane to pasture.

Robert Burns used to do some serious thinking behind the plow; but you can't do this driving the tractor. Country kids, left to their own devices, can have a wonderful time. So can town and city kids, although a child found enjoying himself alone is often herded into a ball game so he supposedly won't become anti-social. I feel this happens too often, or so it seems to me.

There are experiences, that seem to be necessary to make up a lifetime, that most of us will have to go through alone and few have had any preparation for solitude, for the "world is too much with us."

It seems to me that we should find ways to be alone without going away. I look to the limitless resource of reading illuminating, stimulating books that takes me away from my environment and sends me back a revitalized, better individual, and better company for the people I come in contact with, knowing that the world is with me and being terribly glad of it.

Heritage Society says thanks

The Editor:

On behalf of the Chesterville and District Historical Society, I would like to thank the Record staff for their coverage of our recent fundraising activities.

Your excellent coverage of Illusion '86, the Heritage Day potluck supper and the heritage art contest helped to make the community aware of our organization and our aim to restore the front of the old fire hall building to its original 1867 style.

The large ad advertising the magic show was greatly appreciated.

Special thanks are due to the many Chesterville and district businesses and private citizens who donated tickets or passes.

These tickets and passes enabled area underprivileged children and handicapped adults and children to attend the show.

"Chesterville is a good place to live" with great community spirit.

The Life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

I can't recall now what television show it was but in it one of the male characters was trying to give credibility to the theory that boys are composed of snips and snails. In other words, he was acting like slime.

In particular, he was being slug-like towards his girlfriend, toying with her emotions and generally rejecting the notion of romance. She said she loved him. "I don't need your love," he said.

"How like a man," my wife said from the other side of the television screen. I looked at her, waiting to hear a long condemnation of the male species. But that one line was it. A capsule of disgust. This TV character was not a beast or a loser or a leech or an unthinking, uncaring blob of flesh and bone. He was all of these things. He was a man.

As a man myself, this generalization bothered me. Did I not, after all, buy my wife roses in 1979 for no reason at all? Did I not buy her an electric dryer? Did I not, as a deep and true expression of my tender and caring side, ask her to be my wife?

I am a modern man. I have grown up in an era that has allowed men to cry, confidently wear yellow shirts and lime pants in public and make coffee in the office lunchroom.

Of all the men I know, none act like Sylvester Stallone or Chuck Norris. They do not consider the St. Valentine's Day Massacre an occasion of the heart. They don't even carry ammo belts across their chests.

No, as a modern man it hurts to be thought of as one who is thick as bricks when it comes to emotion. Especially when it it is so untrue.

To help get the real message across, the following quiz is presented. All that is needed is a sharpened pencil and, for the men, a Kleenex because some of the questions deal with the misty subjects of love and marriage.

1. Love is an acceptable topic for men to talk about...
   a. When it's a question in Trivial Pursuit
   b. When it involves a score in tennis
   c. When sports scores aren't available
   d. Anytime

2. When my wife ends a phone call to the office with "I love you" my usual reply is...
   a. A cough
   b. "Me, too"
   c. "Ditto"
   d. "I love you, too"

3. Diamonds remind me...
   a. How easily it would be to fool people with chips of cheap glass
   b. Of the Toronto Blue Jays
   c. Of the money I lost playing poker
   d. Of eternal love

4. My wallet feels empty if I'm not carrying...
   a. Money
   b. A picture of my wife

5. I can remember arriving for the first date with my wife right down to the last...
   a. Decade
   b. Year
   c. Day
   e. Hour
   f. Minute

6. The last great movie I saw was...
   a. Alien
   b. Dawn of the Living Dead
   c. Scarface
   d. Love Story

7. I think it is okay for a man and woman to kiss in public...
   a. Whenever the mood strikes them
   b. At their wedding

8. The thing I most dislike about the macho image is...
   a. That I don't fit it
   b. It doesn't do justice to male sensitivities

9. Complete the phrase. Love means never having to say...
   a. Anything intelligent
   b. That you have more money than you know what to do with
   c. You're sorry

10. I appreciate just how much love has added to my life when...
   a. I do my income tax
   b. The baby bonus cheque arrives
   c. My wife has to go away for a few days

11. If presented with the choice of going out on a date or watching what could be the final game of the Stanley Cup finals I would...
   a. Call off the date
   b. Pick a restaurant with a TV
   c. Hope she is related to one of the players
   d. Go out on the date because she is more important than a stupid game and because I own a VCR

12. If I hadn't met my wife I would...
   a. Probably have gone into the hotel business and now own a string of multi-unit buildings
   b. Still live at home
   c. Feel for the rest of my life that something very important was missing from my existence

13. I cried at my wedding...
   a. When my wife said "I do"
   b. When I placed the ring on my wife's finger
   c. When I saw the bill

14. Sometimes I just like to cuddle with my wife...
   a. When I don't want to turn up the furnace
   b. When I'm very tired
   c. Because I'm just that kind of romantic guy

15. I feel modern man is best represented by...
   a. Rambo
   b. Peewee Herman
   c. Julio Iglesias

Scoring for this quiz is irrelevent since the majority of men who take it end up buying a dozen roses for their sweethearts before they are half-way through.

Let's face facts. Men are just crazy romantic lugs who deserve a better deal from the viewing public.

Wheeler to attend national meet

Norma Wheeler

AVONMORE (Staff) - Grade 12 Tagwi student Norma Wheeler will represent Eastern Ontario at a national youth conference to learn what it means to be a Canadian.

The St. Andrews West student will attend a week-long forum beginning March 10 in Ottawa as one of 100 students representing Canada's different regions and ethnic groups.

Knowledge of government processes and the responsibility of citizenship is the goal of the Forum for Young Canadians program.

In Ottawa, Miss Wheeler will attend a theoretical overview of government's role with instruction from cabinet ministers, senators, MPs, and members of the judiciary, media, business and labor.

She will also participate in simulations of a cabinet committee on priorities and a federal-provincial conference.

The costs of her participation are being paid by the S.D. and G. County Board of Education, the Tagwi students' council, the teachers' federation and the school's administration.

Tagwi has a habit of sending students to the annual forums, which are organized by the non-profit, charitable Foundation for the Study of Processes of Government in Canada.

Each year, 400 students from across Canada participate in four week-long sessions.

Bad weather causes accidents

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Bad weather is blamed for three accidents last week resulting in major injuries.

Shortly before 5pm last Tuesday, a single vehicle accident involving a Chesterville man occurred on County Road 7.

Mark McMillan, 28, of Chesterville was northbound on the county road south of county road 3 when his car slid on the icy road, struck the east ditch and rolled over. He received major injuries.

At 5pm, Rev. John Appelman, 51, of Chesterville was southbound on county road 7 when his car skidded, striking a parked truck. He also received major injuries and was hospitalized.

His car, a 1984 Toyota, received an estimated $5,300 damage. Damage to the parked vehicle, a 1979 Ford pick-up owned by George Martel of Russell, was estimated at $1,300.

Constable Kevin Tait of the Winchester OPP detachment investigated both accidents. No charges were laid in either case.

No one was injured Friday night when a Gloucester man struck a parked car.

Shortly before 8pm, Martin Hagedorn of Gloucester was driving east on county road 13 when his car slid on slush, striking an unattended car parked on the south shoulder.

Damage to the Gloucester vehicle, a 1980 Pontiac, was estimated at $2,000. The parked car was owned by Margaret Grimes of Russell and sustained an estimated $1,200 damage.

No charges were laid. The investigating officer was Constable John Ralko of the Winchester OPP detachment.

Long Sault police report only one accident, which occurred Saturday on Highway 401 at Wales Road.

Elizabeth Peterson, 41, of RR2, Ingleside was following Edwin Montgomery, 64, of Finch east on Highway 401.

In an attempt to pass, the right front of the Peterson truck struck the left rear portion of the Montgomery vehicle.

Mr. Montgomery was charged with travelling at a speed too slow for the highway.

His car, a 1979 Ford LTD, sustained an estimated $800 damage. Damage to the Peterson vehicle, a 1984 GMC pick-up, was estimated at $1,500.

No one was injured. Constable Robert Taplay investigated.

Attend to personal finances says minister

BERWICK (Special) - Have you got an RRSP yet? Rev. Judith Hart of Cornwall told the Stormont Women's Institute at a dinner held Feb. 12 in Berwick Community Hall.

Miss Hart told the members the Bible says in several places that we should look after the widowed and the orphaned. She said that 70 per cent of our population retires in poverty and 99 per cent are women. She stressed that each woman should be able to look after her own financial needs.

Rev. Hart discussed the role of women through the centuries from goddesses to our present day T.V. shows like the Golden Girls. She stated that God did create us for a purpose - to take care of each other and to take care of creation. She asked what kind of job we were doing. She concluded with the blessing from the book of Numbers in the Bible "May God bless you and keep you and may the face of God shine upon you."

Joan Poapst presented Rev. Hart with a gift.

After a short business meeting conducted by our district president Myrtle McDermid, the Newington WI provided the entertainment. Ruby Presley's motto was Give someone a hug for Valentine's instead of chocolate; love is free, chocolate is fattening. Elva Nugent and Inez Simpson performed a short skit, written by Mrs. Nugent, on a sweetheart's letter.

Avonmore pool exec.

AVONMORE (Staff) - Avonmore will be in the swim this coming summer. A newly elected committee will oversee the running of the community swimming pool.

Heading the group is Perry Tinkess. Assisting Mr. Tinkess are Jack Brown, publicity director; Doris Brown, hall rentals manager; Pete Giesbrecht, vice-president; Marcel Chenier second vice-president; Dean McIntyre and Danny St. Pierre sports directors; Ron Bennett bar manager; Herb Schwartz community centre director; Nicole McIntyre captain of catering committee; Debbie Whitwood, Wally Hare and Terry McElroy, township board; secretary Mavis Robertson and treasurer Nan Worrall.

The executive was formed at a recent community meeting called to discuss the future of the facility. The next regular ACAA meeting is scheduled for March 11, a pot luck supper to meet with the pool executive.

Enforce liquor rules

CORNWALL (Staff) - The county board of education has called on the province to decrease the availability of alcohol to anyone under the age of 19.

At last week's school meeting the board voted 12-4 to ask the provincial solicitor-general to decrease the availability of liquor but refused to vote in favor of hiking the legal drinking age to 21.

Board members were voting on the recommendations of their program committee report. The committee had asked that current provincial laws be strictly enforced.

Some board members felt it was not their role to police the public and encourage the return of a Prohibition-era mentality. Trustee Sarsfield O'Connor said the board had an obligation to discuss such matters. "I believe we should be concerned about the health and welfare of our students," he said. "There's every reason the committee should discuss this."

Middleton appointed to committee

CRYSLER (Staff) - Women for the Survival of Agriculture president Dorothy Middleton has been appointed to a provincial advisory committee assessing the need to protect farmers' right to farm.

"It's a very wide scope," Mrs. Middleton said of the committee's mandate, "because when our committee sits down and thinks about what influences the right to farm, it's tremendous."

But by the end of May, the six-member committee will recommend measures to protect Ontario farms from incompatible use of neighboring lands and complaints against normal farm practices.

"So the scope is anything that has to do with a farmer's right to farm," she said, "the right that they can continue in the agriculture industry."

She said economic pressure on farmers to sell out is leaving land vacant for urban dwellers wishing to move to rural areas. "It's like a vacuum being produced there," she said.

Former urban residents sometimes complain about noise and odor caused by normal farm operations. "I think that in the east here we have not seen it to the same extent as it has been in other parts of the province."

But, she added, "In eastern Ontario we haven't seen a very great exodus of farmers yet."

Pessimistic farm outlooks and high levels of debt do not point to a bright future for the area's farmers, she said.

"The writing is on the wall that we are going to lose a lot of farmers in our area."

Another factor prompting the province to consider right-to-farm protections, she said, is the need to preserve prime agricultural land.

She cited Embrun as a local example of an expanding rural community. "Where is it going to go, rather than onto good agricultural land," she asked.

Included in the committee's mandate is a review of proposed new foodland preservation policies and a revised agricultural code of practice.

The effectiveness of the Ontario Farm Pollution Advisory Committee in resolving complaints against farm operations will also be examined.

Current legislation, policies and programs relating to farm practices will also be studied.

She said land use and the rights and obligations of farmers are covered under a wealth of provincial legislation and municipal official plans and bylaws.

Don Dunn, director of the ministry's foodland preservation branch, will chair the committee. Other committee members are former federal agriculture minister Ralph Ferguson, Niagara-on-the-Lake fruit grower Earl Muir, Hagersville pork and cash crop farmer Otto Crone, and Embro cattle breeder Barnie Evans.

Windbreaks becoming popular

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - It's a crop that can reduce home energy requirements, lower livestock feed costs and increase yields of neighbouring crops.

Since its first major promotion by the Ministry of Natural Resources in 1980, windbreaks have solidly taken root in Eastern Ontario.

The Glengarry Federation of Agriculture agreed earlier this year to make wind breaks a major project in 1986 and in Dundas County six cash croppers have planted or in the process of planting windbreaks.

"That's a relatively high number when you consider that for the last 15 to 20 years the trend has been to take out fence rows," says windbreak fieldman Eber Dobson.

Dobson, who is spending the winter months actively promoting upcoming seminars on the subject, says there is a growing awareness among farmers that windbreaks can more than pay for themselves.

But despite test results that have shown home energy consumption reduced by as much as 30 per cent and crop yields increased substantially, windbreaks have not generated overwhelming interest from farmers in SD&G.

Part of the problem may be that windbreaks are a long-term investment that don't usually produce dividends for at least 10 years.

Another reason, says Dobson, is that the three counties are an area of established farming techniques and that changes are sometimes difficult to introduce.

In a bid to generate more interest, the Ministry of Natural Resources will be holding three general information meetings. The 8pm meetings, being held March 25 at North Dundas District High School, March 27 at Tagwi Secondary School and April 1 at Glengarry District High School, are free and open to the general public.

Emphasizing that windbreaks will respond more quickly if they are treated like a crop rather than simply stuck in the ground, the meetings will provice a wide range of information to help those establishing a wind - break and those thinking about one.

Trees for windbreaks are available to farmers at 2½ cents a tree.

Finnish student at WI

INGLESIDE (Special) - Wednesday, February 19 Ingleside WI was very fortunate to have as guest speaker Nina Koshinen, an exchange student from Finland.

Nina showed vivid colored slides of Finland which is about one-third the size of Ontario with a population of 5 million. The land is covered with marshes, lakes and forests. Finland exports wood products, ice-breakers, oil rigs and fish. It has the world famous auction of furs. General health care is free for all; hospital care costs $20 per day. English and Swedish are the chief languages taught in schools and attendance is compulsory from Grades 1 to 9. 90 per cent of the people are Lutherans. The tourist industry thrives in Finalnd. Skiing is the most popular sport especially in the Lapland area.

Nine was introduced and thanked by Sandra Crites.

Margaret Markel welcomed all present and the meeting opened with the Ode and Collect followed by the roll call. Those attending the Berwick meeting reported a very enjoyable program.

A home-decorating course will be held Tues. March 4 at Martintown and we are requested to send members to become leaders.

Our cheerleader read a letter from a very dear friend expressing much love. She also gave a real definition of success.

The Stormont District annual meeting will be held May 22 at Ingleside Trinity church.

Our next meeting will be at 1:30pm in the library March 19. All officers and convenors will submit their reports.

MORTGAGE TERM
Several years ago, it was common for lenders to make mortgage loans for 25 years at fixed rates of interest. With the shrinking value of the dollar, this stopped making economical sense. Lenders locked into a 25-year mortgage loan at 7% shuddered when they thought of what was happening to interest rates in general.

So, the rules were changed to allow a variety of basic mortgage terms, or time periods, at the end of which the mortgage could be renewed at the current interest rate, paid off or renegotiated with a different lender. Terms vary from six months to five years with the occasinal 10-year term written. One benefit of this system has been to keep money flowing into mortgages.

What it means is this: A 25-year mortgage with a five-year term, has 25 years to be repaid. However, at the end of each five-year period, the lending institution can renew the mortgage for another five years at the current interest rate. The borrower can pay it off in full or obtain a new mortgage elsewhere, or accept the new interest rate.

Chesterville and District Rotary

By C.A. Graham

The speaker was Al Lummiss of the Ontario Provincial Police who explained the block parent program in Chesterville. It is designed as a help and protection for children on the streets. Certain residents of each street are chosen and when they are available they put the block parent sign in their window. This indicates to the children that they can go to the door and ask for help. The program is explained to the school pupils so that they know how to use the program.

Plans were made for a Monte Carlo night on April 4 and the co-sponsoring of the Rogers and Hammerstein play "Once Upon a Mattress" on April 26. The Chesterville Sesquicentennial Committee is the other co-sponsor of the play.

Charter member Leon Marcellus inducted Allan Johnson as a new club member. Leon pointed out that "Service Above Self" was an important theme of Rotary and also that attendance is very important. He told us that there is a Rotarian who has 60 years perfect attendance.

Meals on Wheels were assisted financially and help for the poor of the African country Mali was discussed.

The person holding the winning ticket for the Nestle gift box has not appeared. The winning ticket number of 302640 and if nobody has claimed the gift pack by the end of this week the holder of ticket number 302197 will be declared the winner.

Citizenship topic of Avonmore meeting

AVONMORE (Special) - The January WI for Avonmore was held at the home of Mrs. Meldrum. The motto for the evening was, "The time to make friends is before you need them". Members answered to the roll call, "A resolution I would sincerely like to follow in 1986".

The important items arising from the business part of the meeting are as follows: (1) Mrs. Laura Gaudine and Iva Bush will attend a leadership workshop on home decorating. (2) On February 12, at 11:30 Berwick WI will be hosting all the branches. Rev. Judith Hart will be the guest speaker. (3) Mrs. Joyce Dingwall will be attending the leadership course. (4) On February 10, at 8:30, Avonmore WI will be sponsoring a Valentine Euchre Party at the community centre.

Our guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. E.E. Bennett who gave a very interesting and informative talk on 'What is was like to become a Canadian citizen."

North Dundas Legion winners

Local high school students took top honors in the Royal Canadian Legion sponsored poetry and poster contests for the G3 zone, stretching across portions of Dundas, Grenville, Ottawa-Carleton and Russell. Receiving their awards Thursday were North Dundas grade 11 students Holly Plumb, left, of R.R.1 Williamsburg and Cheryl Curran of Chesterville, whose poem "Blue Sky Blues" placed first in the zone. Jim Behan, Chesterville Legion 434 second vice-president and chairman of youth education, was also on hand to present Grade 12 student Wendy Hoople with a certificate for her poster, "They fought for peace," which placed second in the zone. Seniors hear of Holy Land INGLESIDE (Special) - Due to the prevalence of influenza and several members enjoying the sunny south, only about fifty members attended the February meeting of the Ingleside Senior Citizens Club, No. 283 in St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church Hall.

First vice president, John McFarlane presided. O' Canada was sung, members welcomed and Happy Birthday sung to two members.

Minutes and treasurer's reports were given. Nine had bowled the previous week, four get-well cards and one sympathy card were sent out.

Mr. McFarlane mentioned the bazaar and tea scheduled for June 7 but no convener was appointed. Amy Pollock reported on the next month's program and introduced Anna Tittel who showed slides of her trip to the Holy Land and Egypt in 1985.

The social convener reported on the dinner for next month on March 17. Mr. McFarlane said Grace and a lunch of soup and sandwiches was enjoyed by all.

KCAT to host judging competition

KEMPTVILLE (Special) - University and college judging teams, as well as teams from Eastern Ontario 4-H and Junior Farmers clubs, will converge on Kemptville College to test their knowledge and skill at farming.

Added last year to the list of events at Kemptville College Royal, the judging competition has doubled the number of entries. This year, twenty teams will be judging the quality of crops and selecting the best animals, based on their records and body conformation.

The Royal will take place on Friday and Saturday, February 28 and March 1.

"It's a quality show," said Eileen Rose, an organizer at the College. Four of the Clydesdale horses from the Experimental Farm at Ottawa will be brought out.

Open only to Kemptville College students, the traditional showmanship competition is expected to attract close to one hundred contestants. In the largest show of its type in Eastern Ontario, competitors are judged on their ability to handle animals.

As in past years, the Royal will have something for the whole family. A petting zoo has been organized for the tots and babysitting is free. Four fashion shows, two on Friday, February 28, and two on Saturday, March 1, will be staged in the Food Service and Technology Section. The theme will be "Clothes for the Working Woman." As well, there will be food and clothing demonstrations between the shows.

In many ways the Royal will be like an old fashioned country fair, complete with agricultural home produce exhibition and an emphasis on fun for the family. In a new event, students will compete against moms and dads in a hand milking competition.

The Royal is a student organized event. Says co-president Doug Petersen of Kemptville: "We'd like to reach out to the public," to show them what kind of school we have here. Petersen is a senior student in the Food Service Supervision program.

His counterpart in the agricultural program, Russell Sutherland of Renfrew County, says the Royal gives the 300 students taking part a chance to be in a big show and learn new skills. Since last September, Sutherland and Petersen have been hard at work organizing more than twenty committees.

The slogan for the Royal is 'Together as One.'

The final for the showmanship competition will be held on Saturday, March 1, in the afternoon at the A.M. Barr Arena. Admission is free. Refreshments are available. Many of the College facilities will be open.

Sutherland says farmers will be able to view a student manned computer. One program, Grass Roots, will provide almost instant weather reports and commodity prices around the world.

Christine's Cuisine

Get ready! Here comes the potato with a new appeal. The potato is being promoted as a sophisticated, versatile and "now" food. With Cordon Bleu Stuffed Potatoes, the potato is a meal in itself with an added touch of class. It's fast and easy and can be prepared ahead of time for a quick dinner. Try it and you'll see how fancy a potato can really be.

CORDON BLEU STUFFED POTATOES

4 large baking potatoes, cooked
3 green onions, minced
1 clove garlic, minced
3 tbsp. butter (30 mL)
¼ cup sour cream (50 mL)
1-1¼ cups Swiss Cheese, grated (300ml)
1 egg, lightly beaten
1-1¼ cups ham, cut in thin strips (250-375ml)
1¼ cups Swiss Cheese, grated (300 ml)
salt and pepper
Dash of paprika

Saute onion and garlic in butter until onion is transparent. Cut the top off the baked potatoes and scoop out pulp. Reserve shells. Mash the potato with sour cream, egg and onion. Mix in ham and 1 cup (250ml) Swiss Cheese. Salt and pepper to taste. Mound potato mixture into shells. Sprinkle with remaining ¼ cup (50ml) cheese and garnish with paprika. (Wrap and refrigerate at this point for up to 2 days if desired). Bake at 425F (220C) for 30 minutes if cold or 15 minutes if freshly made. To cook in microwave oven, cook for 3 minutes on full power or until potatoes are heated through and chees melted. Makes 4 main course servings.

Local school boards choose to cooperate

CORNWALL (Staff) - In the spirit of co-operation the local county and separate school boards have announced a joint new venture. A delivery system to be shared by both is evidence, say board officials, of the "evolutionary" not confrontational approach to the expansion of the separate system in Ontario.

The two boards say their philosophy from the first announcement of the extension, of separate school funding has been to work together. At a joint press conference on Friday the boards also announced continued co-operation in the sharing of educational facilities at St. Joseph's Secondary School and General Vanier Secondary School for the next school year, 1986-87.

The delivery system to be shared also involves use of warehouse space to be shared between the two boards. Both board directors, Gilles Metivier of the separate board and Rosaire Leger, representing the county board, said the combined delivery system and the central warehouse will save taxpayers money while still allowing each unit its own identity. There were no jobs lost as a result of consolidating two systems, said Mr. Leger.

The boards are also currently examining the possibility of other shared services including the transportation of students.

UCW hears of Yukon river race

(Special) - Mr. Robert Gilroy was the guest speaker at the February meeting of the evening unit of the UCW.

Trinity dining hall was decorated with a Valentine decor and Evelyn Gillard opened the meeting with a reading of thoughts of faith, hope and love in the coming year. 'Take my life' was sung accompanied by pianist, Elsie Graham.

Evelyn and Lois Smith conducted the business period and Ruby Miltimore gave the treasurer's report. Events to remember are the annual testimonial dinner, Feb. 23, and the World Day of Prayer, March 7.

A worship service with the theme 'Little things mean a lot' was presented by Virginia Ferguson, Isabel Conley and Evelyn Gillard. Mary Durant received the offering.

Bob Gilroy gave a short description of his trip last August to the Yukon. He then presented slides with an informative commentary on his experience in the Great Centennial Yukon river race.

The race is not a race as such but a 460 mile canoe race with the river from White Horse to Dawson City. Bob described amazing currents of the Yukon, his slides showed how they formed a train of canoes through Lake Leberge; abandoned cabins and mine shafts; the Indian people in Port Selkirk and finally a tour of Dawson City.

In appreciation of sharing his experience Bob was presented with a gift and he and Rev. Ferguson shared lunch and a social hour with the members.

86s defeat Flyers twice to put season championship in doubt

(Staff) - After a long list of undefeated matches the Chesterville Junior "C" Flyers have worked hard for their first place standing in the league.

One match will determine whether the Flyers will hold that spot. By losing back-to-back matches with the North Stormont 86s on Tuesday at home and then away in Finch on Thursday the Flyers let a sure-fire first place standing slip through their hockey gloves.

If the Flyers would not have lost their two past matches to the 86s the Embrun 72s wouldn't have been able to touch Chesterville's first place spot at the end of the season.

Everything rests on Chesterville match in Casselman on Saturday at 3pm against the Casselman-Cambridge Stars.

If the Flyers win then they have first place if they lose they leave it up the 72s because the 72s have goals for and less goals against than the Flyers.

The Flyers had accumulated 12 consecutive wins and the North Stormont 86s broke the streak.

Mike Armstrong felt the loss coming on and said, "I was hoping someone would beat us, as long as it doesn't last any longer than this it's okay."

"I've got to give full marks to Finch," said Armstrong. "They played two super games and we didn't have the incentive to come back. Our goaltending put us behind the 8-ball on Thursday (referring to Greg Van Dellan) and Brad Droppo didn't play well in the first two periods of Tuesday's game either.

"The 86s kept on dumping the puck in our end and their forechecking was the best I've seen all season," said Armstrong.

The Flyers lost the first match at home 5-3 and the second game in Finch they lost 7-5.

The 86s scored two in the first and two in the second plus a single in the third while Chesterville scored only one per period for their loss in Chesterville.

The 86s scored two-goals before the 10-minute mark in the first.

Ellery Lafave and Denis Landry powered for the goals with the first goal on a powerplay.

The Flyers John Guy capitalized on a powerplay at 2:32 in the first to narrow the 86s lead to 2-1 as Vince Cousineau and Terry Barkley collected on the assists.

By the seven-minute mark in the second period the 86s bumped their lead to 4-1 over the Flyers as Mike Van Delst and Eric Lamonthe answered for the goals and George Michels set up one on of the goals.

Chesterville's Barkley managed to scored a goal with 43 seconds left in the frame on a powerplay goal set up by Kevin Moore and Mark Guy to cut the 86s lead in half to 4-2.

Darren Kelly scored the first goal in the third period for the Flyers to narrow the 86s lead to as Cousineau and Barkley made the assists at 13:59.

But the 86s Frank Landry scored for an insurance goal and to tally the 86s 5-3 win on Tuesday.

On Thursday the 86s Steve Tait scored three goals and Mike Grady scored twice and assisted on two to power the team to their 7-5 win over the Flyers.

Barkley was the Flyers lead point-maker with two goals and two assists.

North Stormont's Mike Grady scored an unassisted goal and a goal assisted by Lafave and Paul Beehler added a last minute first period goal to give the 86s a early game lead of 3-0.

Then at 14:23 in the second Rene Boulanger narrowed the 86s lead to 3-1 as he scored on a pass from Barkley.

Barkley added to the Flyers score with a goal at 8:24 as Cousineau and John Guy combined for the assists to trail the 86s 3-2.

Tait answered for two goals for the 86s to increase the team's lead to 5-2 over the Flyers with the first goal going in unassisted at 7:43 in the second and the second at 4:24 on a pass from Lamonthe.

The Flyers squeezed in two more goals before the second period ended to close in the 86s 5-4 as Mark Guy and Barkley replied for the goals and Barkley and Boulanger each picked up on the assists.

The 86s Mike Grady set up Lafave and Tait's goals at 7:53 and 8:30 to increase their lead to 7-4 late in the third.

The Flyers scored once more before the match ended as Cousineau made a pass to Jerrold Boulanger for the goal but fell short of the 86s effort to lose 7-5.

The 86s also played what could be their quarter-final opposition, Embrun on Friday and lost a narrow 5-4 match as Embrun scored a last minute third period powerplay goal for the win.

The 86s were behind at the end of the first period 2-1 and at the end of the second 3-2 but came ahead at 5:55 in the third 4-3 for the 72s scored seconds later and gain at 2:14 to take a narrow win over the 86s 5-4.

The 86s Raymond Grady and Dennis Sullivan scored a goal and an assist each to lead the team while Tait and Frank Landry scored once

The Flyers are starting the quarter-finals in Chesterville on Tuesday at 8pm.

Tagwi volleyball teams take tri-county titles

CORNWALL (Staff) - The Tagwi Senior and Junior girls volleyball teams proved to be SD&G's finest.

After winning a hard-fought best-of-five series in the fifth match to the St. Lawrence Saints, a Cornwall team here on Thursday, the Tagwi Jr. Warriors earned a berth into EOSSA (Eastern Ontario Secondary School Assoc.) to be held on Friday in Kingston. The Tagwi Seniors on the other hand easily swept the best-of-five matches in three to also advance to EOSSA on Thursday in Carleton Place.

The Jr. Warriors regular season play record was nearly flawless except for a pair of games split with the Saints.

The Sr. Warriors story was the same also, they lost only one match to the Saints.

The Tagwi Jrs. lost the first match by a wide margin of 15-5 but in the second match they tied the series one match each, winning a close 16-14 match and turned around and lost a 16-14 match to give the Saints a 2-1 lead in the series. The Warriors played a strong fourth match winning 15-5 to tie the series. And the tie-breaker went to Tagwi winning a slim 15-13 match for the SD&G championship.

Coach Joseph Stelmach credited Tagwi's first loss to bad nerves and technical errors. "We lost in the playoffs to St. Lawrence even though we played well but we lacked momentum and self-esteem" said Stelmach.

"But going into the SD&G finals Stelmach told his team to play to the best of their ability and if we win or lose we could leave feeling good because we tried our best."

"We only have two veterans on our team Patti (Scott) and Cheryl (Dupuis) and they provided the team with leadership," said Stelmach.

Cindy McNicol, Karen Benoit, Scott and Dupuis proved the team with a strong offensive attack and defensive play.

"The Saints lost because they were playing to cautiously, they were nervous and they weren't attacking," said Stelmach.

The Tagwi Srs. first match was their toughest match as it stretched to a 18-16 win for Tagwi. The next two wins were both won 15-7.

Kelly Conroy provided Tagwi with a strong offensive attack at the net spiking and blocking anything that came her way. While Tracey and Heidi Hollingdrake provided good set ups for Conroy and also did their share of spiking and blocking.

Tagwi had the Sr. Saints running from one corner of the net to the other recovering whatever the Warriors dished out.

Although the Warriors had lost just two days before the SD&G final to the Saints, "we were pretty confident," said coach Dianne Law. "St. Lawrence changed their tactics in the playoffs tournament and it caught our girls off guard. We didn't have spirit Tuesday and we were slow to come on."

"We like playing against St. Lawrence because many of the other teams were low calibre but St. Lawrence woke us up," said Law.

Shutouts open WDMBL playoffs

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Morewood, Finch, Ormond and Toyes Hill were the winners of the opening match of the playoffs here on Sunday.

All the games were close matches except for the first match of the night when Toyes Hill battered Winchester, the league's last place team, 11-0.

Ormond edged a 3-2 win over Dunbar with a strong second period effort of three goals for the win.

Finch's win over Newington was an easy win as they blanked Newington 5-0. And Morewood scrapped by with a last minute goal to win 3-2 over Crysler.

Toyes Hills Dave Holmes scored the team's most goals with four, Dean Hansma scored three and so did Al Dumoulin plus an assist. Glen Petterson collected the most points of all with one goal and four assists.

Toyes Hills' goalie, Wayne Hunter collected the shutout while Winchester's goalie, Roger Levere was kept busy by Toyes Hills' strong offence.

Dunbar blew a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period and allowed Ormond's Bob Acres and Dan McDermid to score to take the lead by 8:25 in the second.

Frank Heerkens scored his second goal of the game at 1:30 to tie the match for Dunbar but Ormond's goalie scored the winning goal for the team with nine seconds left in the match for Ormond's 3-2 win.

Noel Lalonde collected Finch's top points in their 5-0 win over Newington with two goals and an assist while Mike Pynenburg, Rob Carkner and Perry Dewan also scored singles.

Berwick finds handle to avoid series sweep

FINCH (Staff) - Newington's partner for the final series in the Stormont Ladies broomball league has not been decided as the Berwick-Finch series is tied at one game each in the best-of-three series.

Newington defeated Crysler two consecutive games to win the playoff series and advance to the final but after Berwick won a 2-1 squeaker over Finch here on Monday it will take a third match to decide the finalist team.

Newington's second win was powered by Barb Johnson, the league's top scorer, with three of the team's five goals as they won 5-0 over Crysler.

Berwick's win was credited to two sisters Kathleen Wheeler (nee Vanier) and Joyce Vanier as Wheeler scored the team's first goal early in the game on a pass from Karen Ouderkirk that was later matched by Finch's Lisa Rombough. But it was Vanier's unassisted goal late in the second period that gave Berwick their 2-1 victory. They then backed up their offence with a strong defence for the remainder of the game.

The third match is on Monday in Finch at 8pm between Finch and Berwick to decide the second finalist team.
