Signs of Spring - Floodin' Muddin' Half Loadin'

Although the first day of Spring was officially on Sunday, March 20, it is commonly accepted as arriving on March 21. And looking around the countryside on either day indications of the season of newness were everywhere at hand.

Always a sure sign of Spring the rising waters of the Nation, although they did not top their banks in great abundance, there were many places where the water flowed freely across field and meadow. Along Highway 31 there was no problem, but east and west in sections where the banks were lower there was water spread over field after field. Evidence of the high water levels was especially prevalent in the Inkerman-South Mountain area and further to the east of Dixon's and Brinston where the fields were afloat in many cases.

The St. Lawrence is at a higher than usual level too and in many of the western sections of the big lake from Iroquois east the ice has cleared. Already the Coast Guard ships Simcoe and Grenville are preparing for navigation that is now scheduled for its earliest opening ever on April 4th.

Around the countryside reports of robins are coming in every few minutes and the first buds of flowers have even started to peek through in some locations that have been blessed with an abundance of sunlight.

In the village there are the usual indications of the changing of the seasons. The mud, of course, is prevalent, just about everywhere. Side streets are having their problems with the departing frost as big blemishes appear on hard skinned surfaces and motorists curse the expanding potholes and pedestrians curse the motorists who accidentally spray some of the muddy water to within reach of clothes. Town crews are optimistic that the winter has come and passed as they can be seen now sweeping up winter's dust and dirt, sand and refuse from the now bare main streets.

The water in Henderson Creek has apparently risen to its peak and passed it as the sidewalk on Clarence Street was closed by water for a few days. Up in the community park the town fathers didn't tender for water for the new pool, but they find themselves with lots delivered. Over in the parking lot the mud situation is deep as Douglas Duncan and Michael Christie so aptly illustrate in sinking and stuck rubber boots. Mothers just love muddy little boys in the spring, however. Council has tried to remedy the situation on the roadway somewhat by ordering many yards of gravel in, and a little more work may turn the trick.

Truckers know well the signs that are depicted above. All side roads and even Highway 43 west of Winchester have the half load order posted, and that means extra trips and extra work for the local truckers.

But soon with the warming April and May sun and the greening of the grass and the fields, summer will come. But there is still lots of time for snow as everyone knows.—Press Staff Photos.

Clarke H. Smith Deputy Reeve Dies

Deputy Reeve of Winchester Township, a man prominent in agriculture, municipal and church activities, Clarke Harold Smith died of a heart ailment on March 15th. The respected township citizen was in his 69th year.

A lifelong resident of the farming community of Morewood, he was born there August 10, 1897, the son of James Thomas Smith and his beloved wife, Maggie Barrington. In Chesterville on June 11, 1925, he married the former Ethelwyn Irene Cross, who survives with three sons.

A graduate of the Morewood High School and a member of the United Church there, he was a veteran of the First World War. He was a member of various local lodges including the Morewood I.O.O.F., Winchester Royal Black Chapter No. 509, Chesterville Lodge No. 320 A. F. and A. M., and Winchester Orange Lodge. A member of the Morewood United Church, he served on various church boards.

In addition to his deputy-reeveship of the Township, he was for many years a director and was a past president of the Concentrated Milk Producers. His association with agriculture was close and he was a past president of the Dundas Holstein Breeders Association. He served for many years as a director of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

Mourning are his wife and three sons, Carman of Dalhousie, N. B., and Mancel and Newman of Ottawa.

Funeral service was conducted by Rev. D. L. Gordon from the Vice and Craig Funeral Home, Winchester, to Morewool United Church last Friday at 2.30 p.m. Members of the Counties' Council formed an honour guard at the church entrance.

New Street Lights

Mercury vapour street lights will cast a new glow on Metcalfe streets soon. At a joint meeting of village trustees and Ontario Hydro the present system was termed obsolete and recommendations for a new system heard.

Council will ask Osgoode Township to approve extension of the lights south of the village proper to the Osgoode Township High School.

Big Dundas Gains In Cheese Production

Dundas County produced more than 4,000,000 pounds of cheese in 1965 than it did in the year previous. Majority of the increased poundage is contributed to the Ault Cheese Plant in Winchester which began the manufacture of cheese last year.

Chief Cheese Instructor at Kemptville Agricultural School Frank Robinson pointed the production figure out to the annual Eastern Ontario Cheesemakers Spring Conference in Kemptville last week. As a result of a concentrated effort to bring up the quality of Dundas cheese, which was the lowest in Ontario in 1964 with 81 per cent. first grade, the county had the enviable record of increasing its first grade production to 94 per cent., an increase of more than 12 per cent.

The changing trend in cheese making can be well illustrated by the number of cheese factories still in existence in Eastern Ontario. Only 20 years ago 341 factories were operational, now 64 factories produce the dairy product. Carleton County used to have over 40 factories, now it has three.

Of the 49,000,000 pounds of cheese produced last year 67 per cent. he said was made in 51 factories. This averages at about 1,000,000 pounds per factory. But 20 years ago the yearly average of all the cheese factories was less than 150,000 pounds.

Stormont is the top producer in Ontario with almost 11,000,000 pounds in 1965. The percentage of first grade cheese was 93.9 and the average score 92.86.

LICENCE RELIEF

As of April 1, the cheese industry will get relief from a one cent a pound licence fee, Orme Coon, of Elgin, Ontario Milk Marketing Board representative, told the cheesemakers. All milk producers will contribute this 9/10 of a cent. It will not be changed until the end of the year when it will be handed over from cheese producers to all milk producers.

He added that the board is trying to establish uniform prices throughout Ontario on fluid milk, to bring the secondary milk, a by-product of bottled milk, in line with manufactured milk.

Newest development in cheese making expected to be announced in the near future is for the use of standardized milk for manufacturing. Standardizing will be permitted by removing the cream, and adding skim milk powder or skim milk. The resultant cheese must contain 50 pr cent. fat on a dry basis, higher than the current 48 per cent.

Ready To Organize Six County 4-H Clubs

Once again it is the time for the Dundas County 4-H Agricultural Organizational meetings. One new club will be started this year, the Engineering Club, and this brings to six the total variety of clubs available in the county.

The 4-H Club movement in Canada is a nationwide educational programme for young people associated with farming, homemaking and community activities.

The name 4-H is derived from the first letter of the four words, Head, Heart, Hands and Health.

Chief objective of the 4-H Agricultural Club work in Canada is the development of the Club member through training in Agriculture and Citizenship. More specific objectives of the 4-H programme are to help the 4-H Club member:

(a) Acquire knowledge and skill in modern agriculture;

(b) Adopt a scientific attitude towards agriculture;

(c) Realize the need for continuing their education;

(d) Develop a sense of responsibility;

(e) Develop qualities of leadership;

(f) Acquire the habits and attitudes necessary for a satisfying home and community life.

Membership in a 4-H Club is a rewarding experience. The 4-H Agricultural Club program places a personal responsibility upon each boy and girl taking part, since each is required to complete at least one project during the Club year. All projects are of a practical nature with the emphasis placed on "learning to do by doing." In each Club the members are required to keep accurate records on the cost or production. Attention is also paid to safety in the handling of livestock and in the operation of farm machinery and equipment.

While 4-H Clubs in Ontario are organized by the Extension Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, under the direction of the County Agricultural Representative, each Club must have at least one local Club Leader. The local Club Leaders work closely with the young people providing instruction and guidance and encouraging them to complete their project.

Membership in 4-H Agricultural Clubs is open to farm boys and girls who are 12 years old as of January 1st, 1966, except in the case of the Engineering Club, where members must be 16 as of January 1st, 1966. Tractor Club members must be 14 years old as of January 1st, 1966.

This year in Dundas County the following clubs will be organized, providing there is sufficient interest: 4-H Dairy Calf Clubs (using Junior heifer calves), 4-H Corn Club, 4-H Swine Club, 4-H Tractor Club, 4-H Forestry Club, 4-H Engineering Club.

The 4-H Engineeing Club is a new Club for 1966. Members must be farm boys or girls who are 16 years of age. At the monthly meetings, instructions will be given on design and economics of buildings and machinery. Members are expected to keep cost records on some machine at home (e.g. a combine, tractor or baler) to see how much it actually costs to run these machines. Other projects such as drawing a plan of the 4-H Club members' buildings on their home farm and the building of wooden or plastic models of farmsteads will also be part of their project. This type of 4-H Club is most challenging and can also be very rewarding to a 4-H Club member.

Boys and girls wishing to join a 4-H Club should make a point to attend the organizational meeting of the Club or Clubs they are interested in. Further information may be obtained from your County Agricultural Representative, W. D. Keys, or Gary Buck, P.O. Box 48, Winchester.

W. I. International Night

It was International Night at Winchester Women's Institute meeting held Monday night in the Legion Hall. Three guests, Mrs. Mervyn Allen from Switzerland, Mrs. Alex MacGregor from Scotland and Rev. George Cawfield of Ireland were interviewed by committee members. Mrs. Roy Fawcett, Mrs. Gerald Holmes and Mrs. Hugh Coons. All guests brought items of interest, among them a Swiss cow bell, an oil painting picture, a 93-year-old Kelt, a music box, Irish linen and currency. Mrs. Allen wore her native Swiss costume and Mrs. MacGregor the Gordon Kilt.

Business session was conducted by President Mrs. Bower Potter, assisted by secretary Mrs. Mac Carkner. Institute appointments to the Town Centennial Planning Committee were Mrs. Bower Potter, Mrs. Robert Holmes, with Mrs. Ralph Johnstone as alternate. Short Courses requested for the year were "Add A Touch Of You" and "Tricks With A Mix."

Winchester Institute will assist with a District Institute Tea and Bake Sale to be held in April at Iroquois.

Members were reminded of three important dates in May: the District Annual to be held May 11th in Chesterville United Church; the Victoria Day Breakfast on May 20th, and the C. N. I. Blind Banquet on May 25.

An invitation was read from George Suffel inviting members to the special Ladies' Day program of the Ottawa Valley Seed Fair on March 24th at the Coliseum. Of special interest will be the speaker on the Centennial Farmstead Improvement Competition — this is an Institute Project.

All conveners of standing committees were asked to prepare reports for April's annual meeting.

Program convener Mrs. Roy Fawcett replied to the "Motto" and Mrs. Herbert Robinson, assisted by other committee members served lunch. Mrs. Wilfred McKercher thanked the committee.

Finch Man Chairs Nation Authority

Kenzie MacGillivray, representative from Finch Township, has been elected Chairman of the South Nation River Conservation Authority, succeeding A. G. Sloan of Fournier. William Burchell, Reeve of Edwardsburg Township, was elected vice chairman of the Authority at its annual meeting in Chesterville.

Named to the executive committee were W. E. Burton, Vars; Roger Prevost, Plantagenet; Nelson Charlebois, Navan; Carl Merkley, Chesterville; James Zeran, Newington; Cecil MacNabb, Morewood; C. E. Blair, Moose Creek; A. G. Sloan, Fournier; Eric Casselman, Chesterville.

A brief requesting an overall water control program for the South Nation was approved at the meeting and forwarded to ARDA Branch for consideration.

A. W. Chalk, Authority Field Officer, presented his activity report for the year and reported on progress on Russell and Chesterville reservoirs. A. Latourell of the Department of Energy and Resources Management, addressed the meeting, as did Department of Lands and Forests representative, A. Campbell.

An increase to $14,000 will be spent on property purchases for reforestation this year. Forestry committee is comprised of Nelson Charlebois, Roger Prevost, Gerard Chartrand, D. H. Kyle and Mahlon Zeron.

Junior Farmer President Resigns

To date, Dundas Junior Farmers have information that 30 county farms have qualified for Centennial signs. These signs to mark Canada's 100th birthday also indicate 100 years of family ownership of a farm. Other applications for this recognition will be welcomed by the Junior Farmers. Information may be gained by contacting Charles Farlinger.

A committee of Don Johnston, Connie Byers and Don Riddell has been appointed to bring in a new slate of officers for the club. In an unwelcome revelation members were disheartened to learn that president George Holmes was resigning his position and the present secretary was following suit. The committee appointed will endeavour to bring in a new slate of officers. All members were urged to contact young farmers ages 16-30 and to instill in them an interest in the Junior Farmers' cause.

Separate sessions for men and women saw the girls given a lecture on "Design" by County Home Economist Alison Murray. Her discussion and demonstration was on tie dyeing. The gentlemen meanwhile adjourned to the bowling alley for some recreation.

Delegates to the Guelph Conference earlier in March were Connie Byers, Joan and Charles Farlinger. Coming up for the Junior Farmers is a leadership training school in the Long Sault Public School April 16.

Brockville Presbyterial WMS Executive Meeting

The executive of the Brockville Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society, Western Division of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, met recently in Knox Presbyterian Church, Morrisburg. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. T. R. Gates, Brockville, assisted by the recording secretary, Mrs. A. Mearns, of Cardinal; the corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. W. Torrance of Brockville, and pianist, Mrs. L. Arthur, Morrisburg.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. L. Kinkaid of Morrisburg who presented an Easter message to the 22 members present.

Following the constitution of the meeting by the president, Mrs. Gates challenged the members to consider the motto of the Women's Missionary Society, "All the World for Christ" as they study this year's theme "Mission—The Christian's Calling."

Discussion followed concerning the meetings of the Montreal-Ottawa synodical to be held in Brockville April 19 and 20 and the Training Centre to be held in Albert College, College, Belleville, July 18-22.

As the W. M. S., W. D. is not conducting a separate appeal for India Famine Relief, the auxiliaries will be supporting the campaign in the local churches and were urged to attend the rally in Prescott on April 6th at 8 p.m. when Rev. Roger Talbot, a former missionary in Japan, will be the guest speaker, and Mr. Bev. Fraser of Galt, the soloist. At this rally, monies contributed to the Relief Fund by the churches in Brockville Presbytery will be dedicated.

In the treasurer's report, the members learned that the allocation for the Brockville Presbyterial for 1966 is $9,662.00 which amounts to $17.13 per capita. This allocation is an increase of $3,000 over the previous year.

Mrs. Chester Bass of Kemptville, literature secretary, displayed a variety of books and other materials which are available for purchases by groups and members of the churches.

The 52nd annual May meeting of the Brockville Presbyterial will be held in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Winchester, on Wdnesday, May 18th. Miss Mary Whale, B.A., Director of Overseas Missions for the W. M. S., will be the speaker on this occasion.

It was also resolved that a request be made for a regional secretary for the Montreal-Ottawa synodical.

Mrs. Carman Brown of Cardinal reported on the Canadian Girls in Training Workshop held in Lakeshore Drive United Church, Morrisburg, by the Seaway Valley Committee.

Mrs. E. W. Torrance closed the meeting with prayer. Following the meeting, a buffet luncheon was served by the Morrisburg Auxiliary.

Vasey Rink Wins Saturday Mixed Bonspiel

Glen Vasey had the two game high wrapped up early in the day in the Club Bonspiel at the Winchester Curling Club Saturday. Glen, in the first round chalked up a total of 16 points by knocking off Clark Curtis' foursome and sewed the top prizes up in the first game of the second round by totalling 16 again against Bill Lloyd. Curling with Glen were Ruby Lannin, Jim Sullivan and Shirley Carruthers.

Mac MacGregor took no chances when he won the one game high. Picking up only four points in his first game, Mac with wife Stella and Orman and Reta Savage came back to wallop Dr. Byers for the entrance to the prize circle.

Ed. Boyd had good things going for him too as he won his first game and scored 15 and came back again to take 15 in the second game to place himself as two game runner-up. Wife Marg and sister-in-law Sunny took turns at third in a winning effort with Bob and Donna Sawyer throwing second and lead rocks.

In the one game event the finish was decided on one-half a point as Reg. Workman just about made the grade, as did Jack Rennison finishing the same half point off the two game pace.

Ice conditions in the rink were average to excellent depending on what sheet you chose. But outside the mud was excellent everywhere. More than a few of the curlers when, having survived the portage into the club once, decided to make a day of it and stayed to the wrap-up much, much later but the mud was still there when they left.

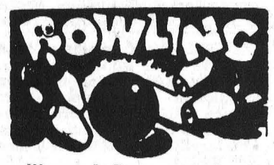
Clay - Chuvalo Fight On Radio



Ringside, Tuesday, March 29, Don Dunphy will describe the 15 round heavyweight clash between Cassius Clay and Canadian George Chuvalo. Dunphy's live coverage of the fight that nobody wanted will begin on the CBC radio network at 10.15 p.m. E.S.T. Don Chevrier, a voice well known in this particular area, will assist with the pre-fight and between rounds interviews.

Dispute of his title can rage over Cassius Clay but the fact remains his record as a pro fighter consists solely of victories. He has tasted the adversity of bad publicity outside the ring, but within the ropes he is the greatest, at least so far. Chuvalo, a boxer with a history of ups and downs, has 37 victories in 48 fights but could return the title to Canada and be the first heavyweight champ since Tommy Burns in 1906.

Wayne LaPorte was the top bowler of the week at Symonds Lanes with the high single and cross. Wayne lead the Fireside Group with a 269 single and a cross of 710. Grant Schultz had 613, Steve Corry 595, Reg. Harper 562, Jack Hatcher 550, Stan Black 558, and Frank Bailey 520.

Lloyd Guy paced the Community League with 251-657. Grant Schultz was in second spot again with 621. Bob Summers rolled 620. Marg. Levere was top lady with 243-573, Allen McRoberts had 582, Orville Weiland 596, and Bea Kerr 536.

Daisy Robinson paced the Gay Twenties with 263-639. The Robinson girl was still in form as she came right back and topped the Happy Gang with 218-514. Joyce Acres had the best single of the night, a 216.

Doug. Allen was the leader for the Hallville Jets as he singled 218 and crossed 620 in three games. Keith MacNair had 221-544. Lansen Hyndman 545, and Jean Christie 513.

Glamour Girls were lead by Helen Coons with 238-543. Cora Stel crossed 523 and Joyce Levere 512.

South Mountain . . .

In the South Mountain Mixed Bowling League Denzil Allen bowled three strings of 257, 252 and 217 to cross 726 and lead the group. Other scores were: Gerald Simzer 274-691; Lyle Simzer 634, Keith Beamish 593, Gord Richardson 592, Dale Boyd 577, Jud Imrie 576, Arnold Graham 566, Lyal Render 552, Don Watson 541, Ann Fowler 509 Jean Bamish 502.

N. D. D. H. S.

(By Brian Docksteader)

This week students and teachers are really suffering, from illness that is. For a week now, many have been forced to remain at home because of the 'flu which is making the rounds. However, the lucky (?) ones at school are still working hard.

Despite the absences, many new events are taking place. The boys' badminton tournaments are about to begin, and while the girls' intramural basketball games are just beginning, the boys' championship game is next on the list. Last Friday, a Spring Fashion Show took place in the gym and the girls enjoyed it very much. All in all, these events just prove the old adage which says "the show must go on."

City of Ottawa Bonspiel

(By Joe Rowan)

In the recent City of Ottawa Bonspiel, which sees all the top competitors in Eastern Canada and many top rinks from across the border in action, four rinks from little old Metcalfe proved that the only difference between the local clubs and the truly great curlers is "ice time."

From our vantage point we were particularly impressed by the play of three farmers and a high school teacher. We refer, of course, to the Anderson rink. Skip Bill with his brother Robert playing second, own and operate a large dairy farm in the Ramsayville area; the other Anderson is vice skip Russ who owns and operates a big 'spread' north of Winchester. At lead, a North Dundas High School teacher Malcolm Waddell. (Malcolm is the son of Archie Waddell, whose skill with the "old irons" brought many curling honours to Metcalfe).

It is safe to say that very few of the 1024 curlers taking part in this great bonspiel were not enjoying a few holidays conveniently calculated to coincide with the curling dates. This was not the case with the "farmers." (Dairy cows refuse to take three days off).

In spite of this hardship these boys, who won their first game on Wednesday night, were still in there fighting on Monday morning, after having won six games and only losing one, and even in the loss that closed the book for another year, it was to a powerful rink from Kingston skipped by Harold Attfield.

Another Metcalfe four skipped by Willis Carson fared even better. This young rink with Garnet Robertson at third, Garry Cooper playing second and Bill Bishop throwing lead stones stayed in the running right down to th proverbial wire, and were downed in the final for the beautiful Lord Elgin Trophy.

These two fine rinks proved, we think, that it is only a matter of time till Metcalfe, or Russell or Winchster will have a rink in the famous Brier.

Oh yes, two old-timers found th going a little too rough, and came home early. There'll be better prizes next year anyhow, Howard.

Special Note— Two names appearing in the winners' circle have a close affiliation with Metcalfe. Bud Davies, playing second for Harry Lewis (winners of the Allied Paper Trophy); and the Glebe rink that won the Journal Trophy had Tommy Miller leading. Tommy is the grandson of one of the founders of our club, Dr. J. C. Byers, and possibly learned much of his curling from his "Uncle Bill."

THE MEMBERS REPORT

From Ottawa by Mrs. Jean Wadds

The Spencer Case has gone a long way. As the Spencer Case rolls into the Munsinger Case, political careers are ruined and the dignity of Parliament takes a severe beating.

Long standing, thirty-year-old bitterness has culminated in one of the most unhappy weeks in Canadian history. It is a sorry spectacle to see vindictiveness overruling all other considerations.

Coming to the fore even sooner than his political upbringing and natural attributes would have warranted, young Pat Nowlan, successor to his father as Member of Parliament for Digby-Annapolis-Kings, Nova Scotia, walked out of the House of Commons in despair and sorrow.

Like many new Members of Parliament he had arrived with hope and faith in the Parliamentary system. Liking people, he had enjoyed campaigning both in the November last Federal Election and in the British Columbia Provincial Election when he ran as a candidate under Davie Fulton's temporary leadership. He is considered a natural in politics, but fortunatly he has a stern fibre mixed with his charm and quick mind.

There was absolutely no excuse whatsoever for the late George Nowlan's name to have been brought into the overly prolonged discussions. The girl involved, herself denied having known him, and she is a European whose concern for Canada's dignity is probably not great, and who stands to increase the thousands of dollars she is making out of this by adding new angles.

It angered almost everyone because almost everyone had liked this former Minister of Finance and National Revenue. His going lessened the camaraderie, the sportsmanship, the goodwill which makes human relations worthwhile. How much it lessened them became sickenly apparent last week. Pat Nowlan is to be commended for his immediate efforts to restore these qualities, to insist that fair play and decency be practised. If they are not restored he will not remain in politics.

There are many Members who feel the same, in all political parties. There is a growing awareness amongst the newer younger Members that all parties need revitalizing and reorganizing. This has been the lowest kind of politics. If it has been entertaining to some I would hope that in future entertainment could be had in more savoury ways.

From Toronto by Fred M. Cass

New legislation has begun to flow into the Legislature and the Members have been busy examining and debating the new Bills. Some of them deserve notice by all of us. The Minister of Labour introduced amendments to The Labour Relations Act which are complex and many of which will be far-reaching in their ultimate effect. The Bill includes the repeal of Section 89 which authorizes Municipalities to determine that they shall not be subject to the provisions of the Act in dealing with their public employees. As repeal of this section has been for years a target of all Unions, this Act repealing it is a significant victory for them. Now, of course, either union and management must agree upon, or the Government must impose, some workable procedure for prevention of strikes in essential public services which work stoppages could only, as they have done in the past, cause great public harm. It would seem that since such procedures have been devised and work very well for fire and police services, it should not be beyond reason to expect something as effective for other essential public services.

Bills also were introduced to split and re-name the Attorney-General's Department. Apparently following Quebec's lead, our Attorney-General is to be known as Minister of Justice but he will also retain the historic title of Attorney-General. The regulating and licensing branches of the Department are to be grouped together in a new Department to be known as the Department of Financial and Commercial Affairs, with its own Minister. There will now be two additional Ministers in the Ontario Executive Council—Minister of University Affairs and Minister of Financial and Commercial Affairs. This, perhaps will spur Premier Robarts soon to make his long awaited and much overdue "Cabinet shuffle." With the wealth of eager and very competent backbenchers on the government side of the House, the Premier should have little difficulty in producing an array of really new, young and energetic Cabinet Ministers.

The Speaker of the House, The Honourable Donald H. Morrow, who though Member for Ottawa West is a Winchester Springs boy, held his annual Speaker's Dinner during the week for Members, the Press and senior civil servants. It was a most excellent affair graced by the attendance of our Lieutenant Governor. The highlight was a presentation to Farquhar Oliver, Member for Grey South, to mark his 40 years of service in the Legislature, and on this occasion, as usual, Mr. Oliver gave a most delightful and excellent little address reviewing all the Premiers under or with whom he had served during these two score years.

And perhaps this would be the place to note the very excellent job Don Morrow is doing as Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario. He has the respect and confidence of all parties and of all Members; he is firm but pleasant in his decisions; he does his homework and keeps the business of the House moving smoothly. All in all he is proving to be one of the best Speakers in our history and all of us from Eastern Ontario can be proud of him.

Estimates of the Department of Tourism and Information were passed and debate is well under way on those of the Department of Lands and Forests so that it would appear that by Easter at least one-third of the incoming year's spending estimates will have been debated and cleared in the House.

An interesting debate arose on a private Member's resolution on Federal-Provincial powers and relations. The Conservative and New Democratic Party speakers felt that Ontario, as traditional English leader in Canada, should give leadership to English Canada to balance the leadership given by Quebec to French Canada. The Liberal Party Leader, who spoke on the resolution, just couldn't seem to crystalize his thoughts and his Party's position and left all in doubt as to the views of his party on what is today for our nation as well as our own Province, an urgent and vital problem.

New School Helps Retarded

Members of Parliament and the Board of Education for mentally retarded were special guests of the teachers and children at the Dundas County School for the retarded in the sixth concession schoolhouse, Williamsburg. M.P. Mrs. Jean Wadds and Hon. F. M. Cass headed the list of guests with Authority members, Chairman Gordon Thom, Secretary-treasurer Bruce Tuttle, both of Morrisburg; Dr. G. E. Rosenquist, Williamsburg, and Eric Casselman of Chesterville. Other visitors were Williamsburg Township Reeve Donald Kyle, United Counties' Warden; and Elementary School Inspector H. O. Knapper.

Mrs. Wadds is honorary president of the county association for retarded children.

School principal, Miss Carol Ivens and assistant, Mrs. Dorothy Morgan, with their twelve pupils greeted the guests. Miss Ivens has spent four years at retarded children's summer camp and has worked as a student teacher at the Cornwall Kinsmen School for the Retarded. Her assistant, Mrs. Morgan is a veteran of 35 years of teaching, 20 in Osnabruck Township. Asked why she chose work with the retarded, Mrs. Morgan replied: "I was bored with retirement. There is chalk dust in my blood and when I heard fo the need for a teacher here, I decided to help."

THE TEACHING PROCESS

Pupils enjoy a great deal of individual attention and are taught according to their mental capacity. Drawing and craft work are used extensively with the purpose of improving muscular coordination. Oral discussion is conducted and fifteen minutes each day is devoted to academic work.

Enjoyment of the curriculum is of prime importance and the pupils are given careful and affectionate attention. Some are inclined to be over active, self-willed, and unpredictable, but punishment is restricted to isolation from the class. Mrs. Morgan said "It can be pretty lonely sitting all by yourself at the back of the room when the teacher won't even look at you—except out of the corner of her eye."

Twelve students attend the school that opened February 1. This number is expected to be doubled by September. The children arrive at the school each day in cars labelled "School Bus." Ron Whitteker and Art Folkard are the chauffeurs. After a half day of school the children return home. During the afternoon the teachers prepare for the following day's program and discuss any problems that might have arisen.

LEARNING

Already the children are being taught to recognize their names in print. One project constitutes a plate of pictured kittens with a name printed on each. One of the first duties of each morning sees each child selecting his kitten and placing it on a board with adhesive tape. Before school is dismissed the process is repeated in reverse. The rate of progress is varied but all are learning.

A health chart on the blackboard where the pupils place stars after completing inspection is another project. A pictorial calendar drawn on the board is added to each day with an illustration and a board outlining simple duties of a child each day are other illlustrations of the education method.

HELPS HERSELF

An amusing incident related by Miss Ivens tells of a 12-year-old who needed help from the teacher to descend from the bus each morning. A tip from the driver explained to Miss Ivens that as the bus neared the school the girl would smile and move as far as possible from the door so it would take a great deal of effort to get her on her feet. She was given no further assistance and after two days she was managing by herself quite capably.

Truly In Need

The Easter Seals that are being received in every home in Ontario illustrate the part that crippled childrn take in treatment and recreation, in helping each other, in learning and in all experiences that will be helpful in a programme of complete rehabilitation.

More progress in the care and treatment of the crippled child has been made in the past 25 years than during the whole of previous history. This progress has happened because people have been made aware of the needs of crippled children and have been given an opportunity to help by contributing to the Easter Seal campaign right in their own community.

The 1966 Easter Seal campaign must raise $1,000,000 in Ontario to guarantee that no crippled child in our province will go without treatment and assistance that he or she must have. Easter Seals have paved the way for expansion, progress and advancement, enabling every crippled child in the province to reach his or her full potential. Easter Seal contributions have a lifelong effect. It is good business, and good common sense, to support the Easter Seal campaign.

Free, Maybe?

Congratulations are probably due to the income tax department for the effort of the various local offices across the country helping people to fill out their forms correctly. The Vancouver office, it is reported, had more than 2,700 calls in one day and has had to remain open two nights a week as a result. Taxpayers errors last year ran to millions of dollars.

Not so commendable is a spot advertisement that has come our way on radio and television that says the department has personnel ready and able to help for free. No cash may change hands, but it would certainly be something new if something done by government was "free."

Different Things To Different People

Spring is different things to different people. To the golfer it's that first long drive; to the gardener, it's that first bud alive. To the hockey player, it's that playoff money; to the curler, it's the final eighth end, and to the sweepers it's streets that are muddy.

Spring is different things to different people. To the walker, it's the newborn air; to the cottager, it's time to prepare. To the mother, it's the house to clean; to the contractor, it's the first big deal; and to the birds, it's time to wing. To the ship, it's the first long run; to the students, it's final exams, and to the women, it's a new Easter dress.

Spring is different things to different people. To the Nation, it's time to rise; to the streets, it's time to wither and die; to the council, it's time to swim in the potholes and the park in the west end. For the young man, it's down with the car top, and to the kids, it's mud to slop. To the home owner, it's basement water; and for the windows, it's soap and polish by daughter.

Spring is different things to different people. To the school teacher it's the final stretch; to the engineer, it's the plugged up ditch. To the trucker, it's the half load sign, and to the salesman, it's brand new designs. To the farmer, it's the urge to go and start the seed to grow. To the poor rich, it's a late vacation, and to Parliament, it's a black occasion.

Spring is different things to different people.

Pity For A Principal

This is a time of year — one of a very few — when I feel deeply sorry for high school principals. It's the time when they have to start bidding on livestock, in the form of teachers, for next fall.

Let's put you, gentle reader, into the boots of one of these sterling chaps for a few minutes. And let's say you have a staff of 60 at the moment. And let's say you don't know whether you're going to have 1,200 or 1,400 students next September.

Oh, well, so far, only two people have officially resigned. Any clod could hire two teachers. Unless, of course, those extra 200 kids show up, which means two or three more. Even so, nothing to it.

Ah, but tarry a moment. You know perfectly well that one, possibly two of your teachers, preferably from among the married ladies on the staff, will become pregnant.

You are fully aware that Mademoiselle Tartuffe, of the French department, had an unfortunate affair with young Jablonski, the basketball coach, and that one of them will be leaving.

The grapevine has informed you that Mrs. Billings, the old faithful in the History department, has been hitting the grape pretty regularly since her husband ran off with the waitress.

Everyone knows the English department is rife with strife. Since the unfortunate demise of Mr. Wiley, the department head, in February, of cirrhosis of the liver, four of the English teachers, all equally qualified, have been gunning for the position. No matter which gets it, all the others will quit in dudgeon.

You have just heard that your Home Economics teacher, the one in charge of teaching girls to cook, planned the menu for the monthly meeting of the Unfulfilled Wives Club. And everybody came down with food poisoning.

One of your junior science teachers has just blown up $850 worth of equipment and two students, during an experiment which completely justified your opinion of his knowledge of the subject.

Little Miss Muffett, the geography teacher just out of college, is having discipline problems. You discovered this when you walked past her room and saw two boys hanging out the window. Investigation revealed Miss Muffett hanging upside down, a boy holding each leg. They were testing the wind velocity, they explained, using her hair as a weather-vane.

Monday morning, you heard that the director of your Technical department was in hospital, with third-degree burns, after trying to change a fuse at home.

The head of your Maths department, old Gwillimbury, refuses to teach the New Mathematics, or have anything to do with it, because "It's a lot of nonsense."

And on top of this, there are four teachers you'd dearly love to fire because of incompetence, emotionalism, idealism, being too fat or plain laziness.

So you have two resignations, but you might wind up with 42. What to do? If you leave it too late, all the other principals, like so many dogs after a bone, are in there first, and you wind up with a collection of clots.

If you jump in too early, and start hiring teachers right and left, nobody will resign and you'll wind up with 12 more teachers than the Board will pay for. And no job yourself.

As a result, quite a few principals these days are treading the thin line of lunacy. They start at shadows. They quail when they see a teacher looking surly.

They stare with unconcealed horror at Mrs. McGillicuddy's swelling waist-line. They flinch when a teacher knocks at their door. They pour oil on troubled waters, turn their backs and find that somebody has tossed a match into the mixture.

Hard luck, chaps; and good hunting.

Meditations...

BY REV. CECIL W. TUININGA

I Peter 4:18 — "And if the righteous scarcely be saved where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear?"

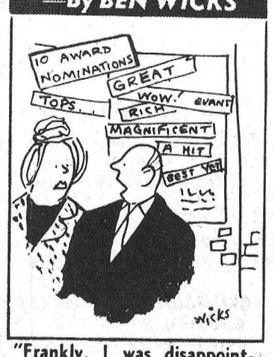
These words were written to new converts being severely persecuted. That persecution seemed to them strange. Their faith, instead of bringing happiness and joy in all of life, brought pain and afflictions. This experience confused and frightened the early Christians That is why the apostle writes to them, "Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you; but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad with exceeding joy." In these words the apostle teaches that believers must expect persecutions. He is concerned to spell this out to the new converts, that this is part of the new life they have chosen to live.

Our Lord teaches us the same truth in the Sermon on the Mount in which He says, "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you."—Matt. 5:10-12. Our Saviour teaches us therefore the same truth. All who truly believe in Him must expect persecution, and this experience is cause for joy, not for despair or sorrow. Soldiers of the Cross must expect battle when they take sides with the Son of God. When that battle comes they must not find that strange at all.

Let no one suppose that this has changed in our modern time. True believers are being persecuted every day. The man or woman who still dares to follow the Lamb of God, to obey Christ the King in every sphere of life, is ridiculed and mocked, if not openly certainly in such a way that hurts, often the more deeply. And it is known that more martyrs have fallen in the last 50 years in concentration camps than in the entire history of the world preceding. This spiritual war will continue until Christ comes in great glory to judge the living and the dead.

Persecutions are also trials sent by God to purge the Church from sin and prepare it for the perfect bliss that awaits it in the life hereafter. Believers are not free from sin, even though they possess life eternal, belong to the Lord, and have the Holy Spirit. They still have the pollution of sin within to which they must die, as Christ commands them, to deny themselves. Every believer has that conflict within, that battle against indwelling sin. Persecutions are sent to help believers, to strengthen their faith, to draw them nearer to God. For that reason the apostle asks: If believers need this in order to be saved, so that they are saved through the fiery path of persecutions, what do you suppose will happen to unbelieving ungodly sinners? The answer: They perish eternally.

WICKS' WEEK —By BEN WICKS



"Frankly, I was disappointed!"

The Seventh Column

The mercury stick climbed to a record shattering high of 62 degrees last Friday and for a few hours most everyone forgot the usual and not so usual problems of living. Even the Munsinger Affair got second billing to the welcome weather. Although there are no doubt a few cool days in store for us yet, maybe even the odd snow squall, a day like last Friday is a great way to usher in the Spring season. Officially it arrived on Monday of this week and thoughts are now ranging between the golf course and the best place to drop an early line. Spring is a sloppy month. It can't be any other way as Mother Nature starts to clean up the mess created through the winter months. But aside from the mud and the water it is also a wonderful season that brings with it anticipation of more enjoyable days, a great prelude to summer, vacations, days at the cottage, week-ends away and more leisurely times.

Traditional April showers could change the situation. But right now it looks as though the mighty Nation flood isn't going to amount to much. We've been crossed up before in other years. One day the river is running off smoothly and the next day the waters have inundated miles and miles of farm land, not to mention a few roads. It's hard to figure out. The waters from the creeks which flow into the Nation are running off but the river waters have as yet to come up too high. A few downpours of rain could bring the flood back again. Right now, though, Nation flood waters are barely a trickle compared to ather years we can remember.

If you are wondering whether or not the 'pouts are biting — they are! Story comes out of Williamsburg over the week-end of one or two more enthusiastic anglers who dropped the hook and worm in or near the St. Lawrence last week and came home with 15 or so. Story didn't say if they were fishing through the ice. But, in another week or so the banks will be lined and the boats will be rented by the hundreds and hundreds who enjoy this kind of fishing. And then the game little trout, most temperamental of all fish. That trip comes a little later on when the ice is out of the lakes.

And, of course, with Spring comes mother's annual chore of housecleaning. But Spring cleaning should not be afforded the home interior only. Each of us can do a lot to smarten up our premises, business and residential. It's not too soon to be thinking of how we can do this best. And, as usual, the cue will come from the town crews who will be on the village streets in another few days giving them their first sweeping since last Fall.

Spring, too, brings the countless reports to this and other offices of seeing the "first" robin. Already we have about a dozen people who have seen this "first" robin, and there will be more next week. Whether it's the first or the tenth, it makes no difference. We haven't seen our first robin yet this year and we're looking forward to this rewarding experience. Sooner or later all the old birds will be back from the south and conditions will be back to normal.

And finally that "Mudslinger" affair in Parliament is really appropo at this time of year, isn't it? For what better time of the year than to sling a little mud. Just ask Junior or the little gal around your house who comes in plastered from head to toe after a session of making "mudpies." Cheer up, mother.

CANADA'S CENTURY

The Giants Of Canada's Early Years

(Sixth Of A Series)
By WALT McDAYTER

History has repeatedly proven that a nation can only be as great as its leaders, and the giant strides Canada has made in less than 100 years reflects the fact that we have had more than our share of strong leadership.

Of Canada's 14 prime ministers, the first, John A. Macdonald, is probably the most fondly remembered. Macdonald may have been a notorious opportunist, a procrastinator, and sometimes utterly unscrupulous in his political dealings, yet posterity has mercifully forgiven him all this.

Why? Because he was also the most delightfully colorful character our history has produced.

More significantly, however, John A. was the right man for the times. A compromiser and a conciliator, his fatherly coaxing and wheedling were needed to guide the infant nation's first few faltering steps taken on her own two feet.

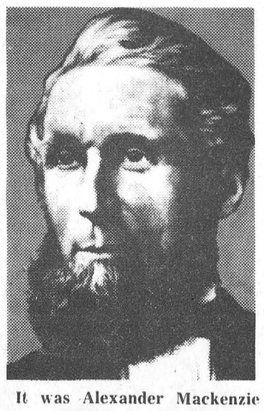
It is highly unlikely, for example, that the Canadian Pacific Railway would have reached the Pacific coast by 1885 had it not been for his prompting. Without this railway, British Columbia would have withdrawn from Canada, and settlement in the prairies would have been drastically delayed.

But it must be remembered it was Macdonald who was embroiled in the scandal that almost ended in the shelving of our first transcontinental railway! In 1873 the Liberals proved that he and his Quebec colleague. George E. Cartier, had accepted campaign funds from Hugh Allan as a bribe for the western railway contract. But voters have short memories, and though Macdonald had been forced to resign in 1873, in 1878 he was re-elected prime minister. Railway construction, halted in his absence, was resumed.

In the period of Macdonald's disgrace, Liberal Alexander Mackenzie became Canada's second prime minister. Faced with a depression, he attempted to perk up the economy with a lower tariff policy.

After Macdonald and Mackenzie came a series of four Conservative prime ministers, within a five year period. They were: J. J. C. Abbott, first Canadian-born to hold that office; John Sparrow Thompson, first Roman Catholic PM; Mackenzie Bowell; and Charles Tupper, who won the dubious distinction of holding office the shortest time in Canadian history, a total of four months.

Wilfrid Laurier and his Liberals won the 1896 election, bringing stable government back to Canada. This political giant remained in power until 1911.



It was Alexander Mackenzie who established the Supreme Court of Canada in 1875, and who introduced secret ballots in elections.

John A. Macdonald became Canada's first prime minister before the nation actually existed. Governor General Monck formally appointed him prime minister on May 24, 1867. Canada did not become a nation officially until July 1.

Silver-tongued and with a razor-keen intellect, it was he who led the revolt of the Dominions at the 1897 colonial conference, when Britain tried to establish a central government to directly rule over the whole Empire. Laurier knew full well that Britain would dominate the proposed central government, and that the Empire nations would be deprived of their hard-won autonomy.

Similarly, Laurier had no patience with French-Canadian parochialism. He ably checked the growing Quebec separatism fanned in that province by Henri Bourassa.

Laurier's faith in our nation was immense and unlimited, expressed in the oft-quoted phrase, "The nineteenth century belonged to the United States, but the twentieth century belongs to Canada."

His prediction may have been proven a bit exaggerated, but it does reflect accurately the tremendous pride he had for Canada.

Of Many Things

by AMBROSE HILLS

LAVENDER AND OLD RAILROADS

When the Commons study committee on Transportation and Communication met to consider adequacy of the present program future plans for passenger service on the lines of the CPR to meet the effective demand of the public for such service, they opened a sachet redolent of lavender, livery stables and the lovely, lonely sound of a locomotive whistle.

The locomotive whistle no longer disturbs the poker players in the livery stable; the livery stable has disappeared or been converted into a broiler hatchery or machine shed.

Times, it seems, have changed. No one sounded sadder about the change than "Buck" Crump, one-time grease monkey who came up through the ranks to head Canada's largest railway. Proudly he outlined the steps his line had taken to meet changing needs, stressing the four vital elements: convenience, comfort, speed and cost to passengers.

When Joe Blow wants to go from point A to point B he has all these four things in mind; and, unfortunately for the railway, usually decides to drive his own car or take a bus. The CPR did everything it could to change the mind of Joe Blow by offering his streamlined, stainless steel trains and scenic domes. Joe still preferred his chrome-trimmed jalopy.

The passengers, Crump sadly admitted, had abandoned the railroad, in spite of all its costly improvements.

What's to do about it?

Joe Blow, naturally, would like to order the railway to keep operating just in case he takes a notion to use it some day. Joe, however, also wants low freight rates, and his own common sense tells him he can't expect the railways to lose money on passenger traffic unless they make up the difference elsewhere. Mr. Crump, who has railroading in his blood, assured the Joe Blows of Canada that the crack CPR transcontinental train, The Canadian, would continue "for years to come."

Could be, but in Winnipeg central heat has had to throw in the towel because of gas. The blacksmith at Manitou finally laid down his sledge. The old gas lighter of long ago put out his taper. Roman Catholics dropped Latin. When did you last see a pair of spats?

Time, as somebody keeps saying, marches on. Canadians, like it or not, must march with it.

"Rear back and let go with your fast ball . . . then duck!"

Well Known Metcalfe Man John C. MacDonald Dies

Metcalfe lost a kind and valued citizen in the death of John C. MacDonald. Mr. MacDonald, although not a native of the village, had taken an active interest in all community life since he moved there from his farm at Kenmore in 1940.

Born at Ormond in 1887, he was the son of the late Thomas MacDonald and Annie McVey. In 1912 he married Nina Pearl Hall, and only two weeks ago they celebrated their 54th Wedding Anniversary at the home of their daughter in Smiths Falls.

Mr. MacDonald was a well known farmer of the Kenmore and Marvelville district, and in 1940 he sold his farm and moved to Metcalfe. He became associated with the Dominion Experimental Farm and in later years with the Ontario Dept. of Highways until his retirement 12 years ago.

Funeral services were conducted at St. Andrew's United Church in Metcalfe by Rev. C. H. Dawes. The choir sang two of Mr. MacDonald's favourite hymns, "Beneath The Cross Of Jesus" and "Jesus Keep Me Near The Cross."

Pall-bearers were Lloyd Graham, James Miller, James Rowan, Bob Urquhart, Bill Woods and Ken Johnston.

Mr. MacDonald leaves one son, Carson, of Ottawa, and six daughters: Mrs. Gordon Boland (Dorothy), Mrs. Ernest Whiteside (Muriel), and Mrs. Willis Carson (Bessie) all of Metcalfe; Mrs. Edwin Munro (Mildred), Chesterville; Mrs. Arthur Eastman (Lois), Smiths Falls; Mrs. Burt Miller (Freida), of North Bay. Also surviving are two brothers, Robert of Winchester and George of Kenmore, and two sisters, Mrs. Dan Campbell (Lillie), of Ottawa, and Mrs. Edgar Craig (Jessie), of Winchester, as well as 12 grandchildren.

Vernon

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Porteous left by plane on Sunday for a week's vacation in Jamaica.

We are sorry to hear that Miss Judith Bath is a patient in the hospital at Winchester, recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Her brother, Derek, is also a patient there. All will join in wishing the Baths better health soon.

ERNEST SCOTT

Well Known Mountain District Farmer Dies In WDM Hospital

The death of Ernest Scott, well known district farmer, of South Mountain, came as a shock to his many relatives, friends and neighbours. Mr. Scott had been a patient in the Winchester District Memorial Hospital for a short time, but had been in ill health for over a year.

Born in Rawdon Township, north of Sterling, on November 19, 1884, he was the son of the late Edward Scott and his wife, Annie Lott, he moved here with his parents and other members of his family to a farm near South Mountain where he had since resided. Mr. Scott received his education in the local schools and later took up farming, an occupation he held until illness prevented.

He was married to the former Miss Bertha Fox of Sterling, and to this union was born three sons, Edward Scott on the homestead, Eugene Scott, of Mountain R. R. 3, and Delbert Scott of Smiths Falls. Seven grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Scott died in 1938. Mr. Scott was married again in 1939 to the former Miss Pearl McIntyre of South Mountain, who is left to mourn.

The body rested at the Armstrong Funeral Home, South Mountain, where the funeral service was held on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. with Rev. W E. Black, pastor of South Mountain. Mountain and Heckston United Church of which Mr. Scott was a member, conducting the service. Rev. Black took for his sermon a request of the deceased, Romans 8:35. During the service Mrs. Lyall Hess and Mrs. Melvin Black of Heckston sang by special request, "Good Night Here But Good Morning Up There." Mrs. Black accompanied at the piano.

Mr. Scott was predeceased by one brother, Byron Scott, and two sisters, Mrs. Samuel Hyndman (Edith Mae) and Mrs. Stanley Henderson (Lepha), all of this district.

Rev. Mr. Black conducted the committal service at the Memorial Chapel at South Gower Cemetery, where burial will be made in the Spring. Pall-bearers were James Baker, Albert Baker, Richard de Vries, William Grant and Jams Hall.

The large number of floral tributes received showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Turn Back Pages At Mountain WI March Meeting

Mrs. Eva Simms held everyone's attention at the March meeting of the Mountain Women's Institute when she presented the history of three buildings in this locality.

First, the North Mountain (Hallville) United Church, "St. Andrew's." Mrs. Phyllis Simms compiled and read this page out of history with the first services held in 1826. The present church was dedicated July 2, 1880. Events were read through the years to 1966. Second, the history of the Consolidated School, North Mountain, was read by Mrs. Eva Simms. A meeting was held in October 1921 to begin the plans, and the school was officially opened on April 23, 1923. The first school buses were mule and horse drawn.

Third, history of the Odd Fellows Hall in Mountain, built in 1903, goes back to the first charter dated October 1, 1895. Before 1903 meetings were held in Hyslop's Hall. Many unusual and fascinating activities have taken place in the hall during its span in history — how about a Medicine Show to raise some money!

All three of these stories plus some very old photos and notations will be added to the Tweedsmuir History Book being compiled by Mrs. Simms.

Mrs. May Cameron was hostess for this very interesting meeting.

U. C. W. Group Makes Plans For Presbyterial

The March meeting of Mountain U.C.W. was held in the church hall Tuesday night of last week with a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. Ewart Simms, opened the meeting with a reading entitled "Daffodils," after which roll call was answered with a parcel for the Touch and Take Table.

Business was conducted as usual and plans made for the Presbyterial at Morrisburg.

The program committee, Mrs. T. Maxwell and Mrs. Lyle Coughler took charge. The worship service was conducted with splendid readings on Lent and the Resurrection.

At the close of the program a contest on flowers was enjoyed by all.

Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Carelessness Hurts Cheese

Eastern Ontario cheesemakers have been informed that carelessness is costing them business. Canada's excellent market in Great Britain is being damaged by examples of foreign objects and faulty packaging. 85 cheesemakers met in annual conference last Thursday in Kemptville.

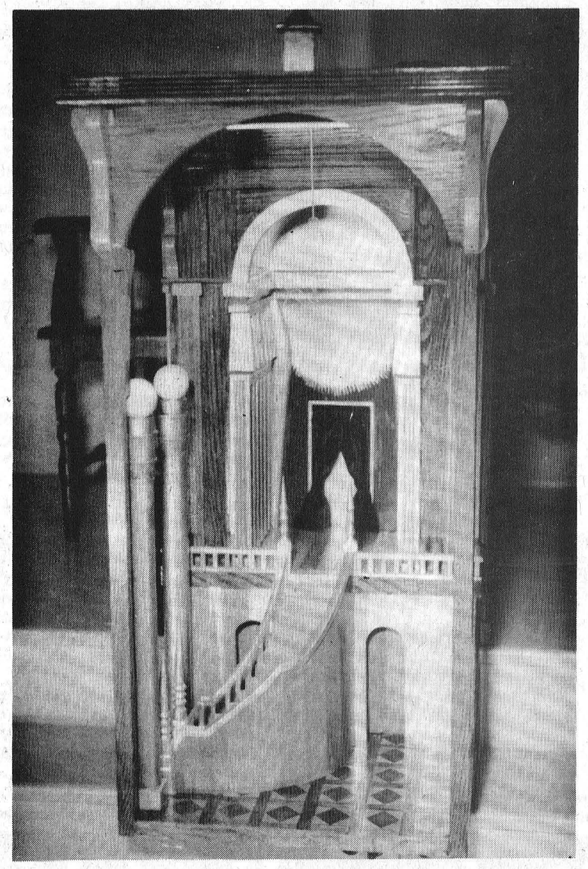
R. H. Gillan, federal chief of grading and inspection, said although Britons pay a premium price for Canada's top quality cheese, they complain about foreign objects such as "nuts and bolts, hairs, needles and band aids" in it. "For your sake and for the sake of those directly connected with the sale of cheddar cheese in foreign markets, I suggest you use extreme care and every precaution to prevent the inclusion of any type of extraneous matter in cheese manufactured by your factory."

Orme Coon, member of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, backed the warning and said that a good overseas market was on hand but it should be better taken care of. He continued to say that the Milk Board has received many complaints about the unavailability of aged cheese.

J. M. Bain of the Milk Marketing division, said some problems had been noticed since the introduction of the forty pound cheese blocks. In Scotland he said the greatest complaint was the lack of cheese, and suggested this was an open market.

Kemptville cheese instructor Frank Robinson blasted cheese milk producers for inadequacy of milk delivered for manufacture. He said 12.5 per cent. of producers last year had Grade 4 milk, the lowest possible for production use. "Of 1,610 farms scored, 45 per cent. were found to have no milk house of any kind; 43% lacked adequate cooling, and 36 per cent. had unclean utensils.

K.A.S. Principal A. M. Barr said cheese producers and the dairyman can look forward with considerable confidence at the immediate future.



Masterpiece

At a regular meeting on March 2nd of Excelsior Lodge, No. 142 in the Masonic Temple, Morrisburg, Right Wor. Bro. Fred M. Cass, D.D.G.M. of Winchester, dedicated a pedestal made by Wor. Bro. Wilfred Foss of Morrisburg.

Wor. Bro. Foss, a master carpenter, had made several pieces of furniture for the Temple, and about six months ago decided on something more difficult to build. This piece is a replica of a Temple entrance of many years ago. Bro. Foss had considered the work for some time before he made the decision to start the complicated construction. He finally informed his lodge that he would attempt to build the pedestal, which is shown in the accompanying picture.

He began work on it late last November and working after hours and on Saturdays in his basement shop, he finished the work shortly before the Lodge meeting.

This pedestal took hours of planning as well as work and some imagination. He plans on doing other pieces of furniture for the Temple in the future. Masons may see the masterpiece sitting in the West of the Morrisburg Lodge.

Plant More Trees

With spring approaching Department of Lands and Forests officers are preparing for many tree planting projects to be carried out in Eastern Ontario during May. In the Kemptville District approximately 1,800,000 trees will be planted by the Department on Crown, County and Conservation Authority forest lands.

Equally important, but less well known aspect of the reforestation program is that done by private landowners. Trees for such projects are available from the Department at $10 per thousand trees for all species except Scotch Pine which is $14 per thousand.

Spring planting is continuing to increase over previous years and applications for trees already approved include: County of Russell, 219,025; Prescott, 162,475; Grenville, 84,350; Carleton, 69,675; Lanark, 63,100; Glengarry, 30,625; Stormont, 26,825; Leeds, 19,900; Dundas, 9,075.

It is anticipated that this total will be higher when all applications are received. Any landowner who owns a minimum of two acres, exclusive of area covered by buildings, is eligible for nursery stock.

Exciting motion picture newcomer Linda Evans plays a romantic role opposite Bradon De Wilde in the technicolor feature at The Winchester Theatre this week-end, "Those Calloways." Also in the nature film are screen veterans Walter Brennan and Ed Wynn. Playing at The Winchester this week-end, March 24-26.
