$3.00 Milk For This Winter Possible Says Re-Elected President of Farm Assoc.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Chesterville Concentrated Milk Producers was held in the Community Theatre, Monday evening, with about seventy-five members present in spite of a stormy night and almost impassible roads. The meeting was late in starting as the car of the president, J. Frank Casselman, was a victim of the slippery driving conditions.

The speakers for evening were stranded at Port Hope and the meeting was without representatives of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers Association except for the local secretary-treasurer, who is vice-president of the provincial association.

J. Frank Casselman, in his presidential address, paid tribute to the late Harry Scott, former president of the provincial association, and the late Carmen McIntosh, auditor for many years of the local association. He reviewed the work of the past year and said that he felt that $3.00 milk was a possibility this winter. Striking for a higher price was useless, he felt. as our product does not affect the domestic market and consumer as does a product such as bottled milk.

The recent campaign to combat oleomargarine was explained by Mr. Casselman and he stressed that the price of butter affects all dairy products.

The treasurer's report showed that there was an increase in assets to $1.619.36.

R. C. Dillabough, local director, said that agriculture is our basic industry and he felt that farmers had good reason to grumble. He observed that the present sellers' market would not always exist and that we would face more competition in the future.

Allison Graham reviewed the work of the provincial organization and explained what a loss it is to the milk organizations to have no Milk Control Act to operate under. The new procedure to negotiate a price promises to be long and subject to many delays.

After much discussion, in which almost everyone in the hall took part, a resolution was passed recommending to the provincial association that an additional ½ cent per cwt. collection be deducted for association purposes. It was pointed out that when milk was one dollar per cwt., the present collection was adequate and paid for many services. Now, with milk at $2.65 and costs up still higher in proportion, the present collection was proving too small to maintain past services.

With W. O. Dixon in the chair, the election of officers was quite spirited and resulted as follows:

President—J. Frank Casselman; Vice-president—Howard Kittle; Secretary-Treasurer—C. Allison Graham; Executive—Sheldon Ball, Harold Durant, Angus Smith and R. C. Dillabough; Auditors—Mac Curran and John Sutherland.

The lucky ticket holders in the drawing of the door prizes were:

Basil Dawley Heads Winchester Milk Producers

Basil Dawley, of Winchester, was re-elected president of the Concentrated Milk Producers' Association at the annual meeting which was held in the town hall, Winchester, Monday night.

William McRoberts and Hubert Riddell sponsored a motion protesting importation or sale of oleomargarine in Canada to be frwraded to R. A. Stewart, of Almonte, for presentation to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

The delegates of the branch were instructed to vote against the increase of one-half cent per 100 lbs., of milk to defray association expenses at the annual meeting of the parent body.

The meeting went on record as being 100% in favor of doing all in their power to assist the Federation of Agriculture in the proposed plan to take 25,000 farmers to Ottawa on December 5 to try to obtain parity prices for farm products. The secretary was instructed to write the provincial executive of the Milk Producers asking for a further raise in the price of milk to compensate for the continued rise in the price of coarse grains.

The following other officers were elected: Vice-president, George Cinnamon; secretary-treasurer, Roy S. Docksteader: directors. William McRoberts, William J. McVey. James C. MacGregor and Hubert Riddell.

FAWCETT HOLSTEIN WINS AT ROYAL

Willola Supreme Bellringer, owned by W. J. Fawcett, Winchester, was third prize in an exceptionally strong class of Junior Yearling Bulls in the Holstein class at the Royal Winter Fair. This class was headed by the Junior Champion Bull. Bellringer was also a member of the Eastern Ontario Herd that stood first in the Inter-Provincial Herd competition.

W. J. Fawcett, who is a Director of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada accepted the Trophy won by the Eastern Ontario Herd from W. H. Hicks, President of the Holstein-Friesian Association.

NEXT FARM FORUM DRAMA ON HEALTH

Recent developments in rural health schemes will be described in dramatized form on the next broadcast of National Farm Radio Forum, Monday, December 1st, under the title "What's New in Health?" On the air every week at 8.30 p.m. EST, over Trnas-Canada network, the program is a series of discussions and dramas on topics of special interest to farmers, presented in co-operation of Agriculture and the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

Listeners to National Farm Radio Forum are invited to organize their own discussion groups, debate the week's topic, and send their conclusions to their provincial Farm Forum secretary. Brief reports on these conclusions are then included in following broadcasts.

Newington Woman Leaves $1,200 In Ottawa Taxi

Mrs. A. F. Stratton, Newington, Ont., left her purse in a taxicab Saturday afternoon. It contained $1,200.

Driver William Williams, 197 Arlington avenue, noticed the purse on the back seat after taking Mrs. Stratton from the Queen street stand of Blue Line Cabs to an Ivy street destination. He placed it in his glove compartment and turned it into the office when he returned after making several other calls.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Stratton had noticed her loss, and called in at the office. There she was given the purse.

Mr. Williams was given a reward of $10 by Mrs. Stratton and she gave an additional $5 to be shared among other members of the staff.

PORTER—OUDERKIRK

Cushman Memorial Church was the scene of a wedding on Saturday evening at seven o'clock, when Miss Doris Jean Ouderkirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ouderkirk of Camrose, Alta., was united in marriage with Mr Robert Douglas Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Porter of Hull. Rev. A. B. Casselman officiated at the ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Mr. William Lodge.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. B. C. McIntosh, and attended by her sister, Miss Sybil Ouderkirk, as bridesmaid. Mr. Alex Kufta of Verdun, Que., was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Clifton Ouderkirk, uncle of the bride, and Mr. Raymond Cole.

For her wedding the bride wore an afternoon dress of poppy red crepe. with brown accessories. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Following a reception held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Porter left on a wedding trip to the United States. For travelling the bride wore a brown wool suit under a Winter white coat, trimmed with mouton fur, and brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter will reside in Hull.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. Ivan Bunston of St. Catharines, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold McIntosh, Miss Joan McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McIntosh of Berwick, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Strader of Williamsburg, Mr. and Mrs John Hartwell of Toronto.

Funeral of Mrs. John Price

There occurred on Monday, November 24th, the death of Mrs. John Price, beloved wife of John Price of Chesterville, in the Ottawa General Hospital. Mrs. Price had been ill only a short time.

Born fifty-three years ago in the town of Maxville, in Stormont County, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Loughlin, the deceased married John Price, a son of the late Angus and Mrs. Price, in 1916. To their union were born a son and daughter, Willis of Carleton Place and Madeline of Richmond, who with their father survive together with one grandchild, a son of Willis.

Held in high esteem by her neighbours and many friends, the floral tributes and cards of condolence made a vivid reminder of that respect in which Mrs. Price was hed.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon from the family home to Trinity United chrurch, where the funeral service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Wright. Interment was made in Maple Ridge cemetery.

The pallbearers were as follows: Derling Simpson, Wm. Taylor, Mancell Brownlee, Francis Moriarty, Milton Shay and J. Howard Fulton.

STREETS AND HIGHWAY FILLED WITH SNOW

Monday afternoon the first big snow storm of the season hit this section and made travel on streets and highways a precarious operation. After a little travel on the roads they became very slippery and cars and trucks were soon in the ditches instead of on the paved portions of the highways. The storm continued from early afternoon until about eight o'clock with comparatively little wind, the snow piling up on trees, shrubs and wires until it was just about all they could stand. While the power went off at the supper hour, it was restored within a comparatively short time. Shrubs were bent to the ground and possibly many had more snow than strength to hold it up and will lose many branches.

Tuesday morning there was from four to seven inches of soggy snow to be shovelled off walks. The sidewalks were in a deplorable condition for pedestrians which was not improved when the county or provincial plows came along and added to the accumulation.

Officers Elected By St John's W.A., Crysler

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles Brydges. The President was in the chair, and the meeting was opened with the Missionary Litany said by the Rector, the eRv. Percy E. Clark. The treasurer reported that all financial obligations for the year had been met, and the Dorcas Secretary reported that a bale had been sent last spring, as well as a cash donation this fall to the Christmas bale. The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Honorary President, Mrs. Thomas Fleming; President, Mrs. Thomas Armstrong; Secretary, Mrs. William Servage; Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. John Fleming; Educational Secretary, the Rector; Living Message Secretary, Mrs. William Armstrong; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry Armstrong; U.T.O. Secretary, Mrs. Henry Armstrong; E.C.D. Secretary. Mrs. Borden Armstrong. Little Helpers Secretary, Mrs. Robert Armstrong; Praver Partner Secretary, Mrs. Ray Miller.

The Ladies' Guild held their annual meeting immediately afterwards, the treasurer reported that the bazaar and chicken supper held earlier in fall, had been very successful. The The election of officers resulted as follows: President. the Rector; Vice-President, Mrs. Borden Armstrong. Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Jack Armstrong.

Barn, Stock and Crop Total Loss In $8,000 Blaze

Saturday evening, shortly after nine o'clock, J. Wesley Moke, a short distance west of Dunbar, suffered the loss by fire of his barn, stock and crops, estimated at approximately $8,000 with but small insurance.

The Moke family was in Morrisburg at the time the fire was discovered by a neighbor, Floyd Young. Neighbors made frantic efforts to save some of the animals but were driven away by the intense heat.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss included sixteen cows and three horses.

HUNTERS HOME LUCK VARIED

With the return of the deer hunters, it is a common thing to see deer on our streets, usually tied to a car, though, or going in to the butcher. The tales of the hunt make as good listening and telling as ever and the different clubs had a variety of luck. The Chalk River hunters reported lots of deer but they were running wild and hard to corner. Ralph McMillan decided that if he coudn't get a buck at twenty feet, he would add a fine fat bear to the bag, and Sir Bruin made a nice picture hung up in front of his place of business.

The Lavant men came in on Sunday with their count and told of more hunters and would-be hunters in their area than ever before. So many in fact that it wasn't until the second week that things became comfortable in the bush. They couldn't find any bear, so they settled for a fox.

Legal Thought

A young banker attended the funeral of a banker.

A friend arrived, a little late, took a seat beside the lawyer, and whispered: "How far has the service gone?"

The lawyer nodded towards the clergyman and whispered back, tersely: "Just opened for the defense."

"Where Do We Go From Here"

Taking as his topic, "Where do We Go From Here?", Rev. W. E. Wright pastor of Trinity United church of Chesterville, addressed the Rotary Club at their regular meeting on Monday night. Present to hear the speaker as guest of the club was Wm. Lyon of Ottawa.

Introduced by Howard Fulton, the speaker opened his subject with a review of world conditions as they appeared to-day. Mr. Wright noted that there must be disturbances as countries strove to better their lot and cast off the bad habits of generations. But during these times it was up to the elements of Christian democratic thought to guard and protect their heritage against the inroads of the "isms" of Communism and Fascism.

"When we become lax and allow ourselves to be governed from the top down", said the speaker, "we are in imminent danger of falling into the trap of bureaucratic control." That always ends, the speaker pointed out, in the gradual loss of personal freedom until we are regimented and ordered as all police states are.

The speaker believed that the barriers to a world brotherhood are getting less and less, and if we by-pass the broad easy road of evil, and take the narrow sharpply defined path of Christian democracy. a union of the good elements of world society is only a matter of time, personal example and good statesmanship.

Summing up, Mr. Wright said: "We must have Christians to have a Christian democracy. We need men with faith in God, for high character of sobriety, and men of vision; men of lovalty to duty and prepared to pay the price of progress."

The speaker was thanked on behalf of the club by Carl McMillan.

ACCIDENTS ON FARMS CAUSE ANNUAL LOSS MILLION MAN-DAYS

It is often forgotten that farming is a hazardous occupation, and that the danger of accidents and fires is greater than in most other industries. Until recently, no accurate figures were available on the number of accidents and fires on Canadian farms, but at the request of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, recently made a survey covering the period June, 1946 to June, 1947. Naturally not all the farmers throughout Canada could be interviewed to obtain the information, but a sampling method was used which, from past statistical experience is known to give accurate results. Although the investigation covered a definite period, it is considered to be representative of any 12-month period. Because of certain practical difficulties in enumeration, fatal accidents are not included.

It is somewhat surprising to find that the loss of time from productive work, due to accidents to heads of farm households and all other persons employed fully or partially around farms, is probably in excess of one million man-days each year. The heads of households, who normally would be the farm operators, lose 600,000 man-days. During the 12 months under review 37,200 persons suffered from accidents and a number of these were far from trivial. Over one-third of the accidents were severe enough to cause lay-offs from work of from one to three weeks, and 45 per cent necessitated absences of from three to ten weeks. Eight hundred heads of households, and 1,300 others were partially disabled for life, and 400 heads of house-holds were permanently incapacitated.

As might be expected, the period of the year has a decided bearing on the occurrence of farm accidents: they were fewer in the three winter months of November, December and January. May was the highest month with 14 per cent of the annual accidents, October had 10 per cent, February 9 per cent and the remaining six months averaged 8 per cent each.

The accidental injury of persons of working age has more adverse effect on agricultural production than accidents which happen either to young or old persons. From the survey it is estimated that 31.5 per cent of the accidents were to persons between the ages of 25 and 44, and 25.3 per cent to persons from 45 to 64 years of age. The three age groups, under 14 years, 14 to 19 years, and 20 to 24 years, suffered 12.6 per cent of the accidents in each group, and persons of 65 and over, had 5.4 per cent of the accidents.

HORN BLOWING OVERDONE

Use your head not your horn, is advice of a chief official of the Ontario Department of Highways to impatient and unthinking motorists who misuse their automobile horns.

"At least seventy-five per cent of this horn blowing is unnecessary," he claims, explaining that the horn is meant as a warning signal to be used in cases of emergency at the driver's discretion. It is not meant as a substitute for good manners or common sense.

He emphasizes that relying on the horn to clear a path is a dangerous and selfish practice and in particular he scores the motorist who, without checking speed, expects children at play to scatter out of the way at the sound of the horn. This type of driving is a menace to public safety, he believes, and should be dealt with harshly.

The automobile horn is being subjected to many uses for which manufacturer never intended it, he says: (a) letting your date know you are waiting outside; (b) showing your annoyance when blocked in traffic; (c) tooting at someone whose actions irk you; (d) applauding a ball game; (e) providing raucous accompaniment for a bridal party and (f) "blasting" a path through traffic.

Horns are required on all motor vehicles, but the highways officials feel that they are being misused to the detriment of safe driving. Too many motorists, he points out, use their horns too much and their heads too little.

48-HOUR WEEK EQUALS 300,000 IMMIGRANTS

An average pay increase of ten per cent could go into effect immediately and automatically;

Six hundred million hours of production could be gained per year with an improvement in the health of workers and without loss of vacation;

Canada's effective working force could be increased by the equivalent of three hundred thousand immigrants, without any increase in demand for food, clothing, housing, equipment, plant or transportation.

All these benefits could be gained by the simple expedient of a forty-eight hour work week which would, increase the real wealth of every worker,

relieve shortages of necessities,
lower the cost of production,
restore Canada's customers, succor the needy, and halt inflation.

Every Candaian, with rare exception, owes it to himself, for the sake of his own physical and mental health, and his self-respect, to work at least forty-eight hours a week at a constructive occupation.

Every Canadian owes it to his family, to his community, to his country, and to humanity, to contribute at least forty-eight hours a week of his best effort in supplying the needs of mankind.

An honest work week would solve every major Canadian economic problem and enable Canadians to play their part in preserving peace.

Without prejudice to any existing agreements, the government of Canada should give leadership to a Save Mankind movement in which every Canadian employee would be given an opportunity to agree to work forty-eight hours a week at basic rates of pay and every employer would agree to reduce prices to the extent of the savings effected.

Let us give ourselves a lift by being honest with ourselves, with our fellow-Canadians, and with a despairing world.

PROPOSE UK LOTTERY TO RAISE $4 BILLION IN FOREIGN CURRENCY

The London Sunday newspaper, the People, features details of a scheme "to be put before the British Government" to float the biggest lottery in history to raise nearly £1,000,000,000 ($4.000,000,000) in foreign currancy.

The paper said that the scheme proposed the sale all over the world of 2,000,000,000 tickets, at $1 each, and the giving away of just over half the amount collected in prizes. This, after sellers had deducted one percent., would result in a profit to the British treasury of £950,000,000 ($3,800,000,000), the newspaper said.

Dennis Smith, chairman of the Commercial Bank of the near East, who was said to have worked out the plan, was quoted as saying that it had the support of many of the biggest banks, insurance companies and finance houses. Lord Catto, chairman of the Bank of England, had also expressed an interest in the plan, which would be put before the treasury on Tuesday. Smith was quoted as saying.

First prize in the lottery would be the "staggering sum of £100,000,000 ($400,000,000)", distributed among the holders of tickets in the winning book of 1,000 tickets.

HANG CLOTHING

Parents who have difficulty teaching children to be tidy and to hang up their discarded clothing, now have the support of the Department of National Health and Welfare. In a bulletin, the health authorities say that it is necessary to hang clothing which has been worn, so that it will air thoroughly. Due to the perspiration and body odor worn clothing absorbs. this is a matter of health concern. The department also approves of frequent washing, pressing and brushing of clothing.

About three-fourths of all pedestrians killed in traffic accidents last year were either violating a traffic law or committing an unsafe act. according to safety surveys. Walk watchfully and with reasonable caution, to keep walking longer.

Why Do Meat Prices Rise ?

By R. J. DEACHMAN

I have a stenographic report of a labor broadcast made over CKEY in Toronto on October 27th last..

It's interesting, it shows what the workers want and how they intend to get it. The speakers were members of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America. They wanted higher wages, less work and a five day week so that they might rest from their labors on Saturday and thus be abe to enjoy a happier Sabbath Day.

The main protest was against the high cost of meat and, of course, the lack of controls. In one paragraph they make this statement:

"Our fellow union members in Packinghouse (that is the United Packinghouse Workers' Union) just had to go through a 6-week strike to win 10-13c an hour increase—that cost the meat producers less than one-tenth of a cent a pound—then our government turns around and lifts the controls on meat—and up goes prices by 2-3c a pound immediately—you would think that after the huge profits shown in that industry—our government in the interests of the people, of you and me, of the thousands of citizens who buy meat—would have stood firm and retained the controls."

Facts are stubborn things. I am not going to name this particular firm of meat packers. It's one of the largest in Canada. Its net sales in 1939 were $77,225,000—in 1947, $204,-068,650. Its profits in 1939 amounted to less than two cents per dollar of sales, the exact figure was 1.6 cents. Profits, from operations, rose in the first full year of the war—I mean in 1940, to 1.9 cents per dollar of sales. They have not since passed the 1939 level. In 1944, '45 and '46 they averaged .83 of a cent. Slightly more than half the 1939 level. Is there a living man or woman in Canada who can tell me how higher profits could have increased the prices of the products produced by this company while actually lowering the profits per pound of product produced?

But were total profits greater? They were, sales were greater—more than two and a half times greater. Total profits in 1939 were $1,238,736. in 1947 they were $2,059,644 up 66% over 1939. A business grows because it is efficiently operated, because it treats decently those who purchase its products and those who supply its raw materials. Remember the aphorism of Elbert Hubbard: "A crook can run a peanut stand but a great business must be bound together with intregrity."

We have not yet considered the root of the question, we haven't even sought for it. All we have done is to show that as profits per dollar of sales declined the increase in prices could not have been due to the processers who changed lives hogs into bacon and hams—beef on the hoof to steak on the plate.

What then was the cause. There are two main causes :Live stock prices moved up between 1939 and July 1947—they are still going strong. Prices of steers rose from $6.78 per hundredweight in 1939 to $14.47 in 1947, an increase of more than 100%. Hog prices for the same dates moved up from $12.25 to $22.01, an increase of almost 80%. The price of lambs rose from $9.10 to $17.31—a 90% rise. Live stock constitutes about 80% of the raw materials of the packing industry. Labor knows quite well that when raw materials have almost doubled in price, the cost of the finished products must also rise.

Were the farmers to blame for these price increases? No. They hold no monopoly control over prices. Despite the fact that we were in the midst of a world war they accepted a bulk sale of wheat to Great Britain at a price far below the world level. This meant low prices for wheat in the domestic markets. Labor should remember that gift from agriculture.

The farmers accepted without much protest an arrangement between the United States and Canada by which we stopped shipping cattle to the United States during the war. This was arranged to keep food prices high in the United States for the benefit of American farmers and to hold prices of farm products low in Canada for the benefit of labor. Cattle prices in the United States have been double the Canadian level.

Prices are determined by the law of supply and demand. We always write "supply and demand" instead of "demand and supply". Price is determined, in wartime, by an excess of demand over available supply. Labor is busy producing war materials instead of consumer goods. The result is an increased volume of purchasing power and a scarcity of goods. This leads to higher prices. Prices can be controlled during wartime but it is difficult in time of peace. It would call for wage controls—this, labor would not, for a moment, consent to consider.

What a wealth of creative thought would be turned loose in the world if everyone searched for the real cause of our troubles instead of seeking for goats on which to unload our sins but the rousing antagonism comes naturally, to most people, and we continue to move stumblingly along the meaner way.

COMPULSION

By St. Clair Adams

SERENITY'S fine if not born of sloth;
Cheer's good if not cheer and complacency both.
Give us the peace of those who strive,
The tranquility that's tense and alive.

You may doubt if you will, and you may scoff,
But the man hard pushed is the man well off,
If you've almost been fired, if you're harried by debt,
You'll take interest in life—you'll get up and get!

What man has most joy? He who shakes the dust
Of idleness from him because he must.
He's chased in a field by a masculine cow
And gasps: "Good Lord! I am happy now."

With thundering hoof, with outstretched tail,
Hot breath, horns ready to impale,
The bull comes on. And the man he goes,
And whether he'll make it nobody knows,
But the thing I'm trying to get expressed
Is this: That man will do his best.
The fence is two long miles away,
And he runs like hell—but his heart is gay.

The patriot's boast: Where'er we roam, his first, best country ever is at home.—Goldsmith.

Motorists are reminded by the Ontario Department of Highways that the winter is "a little more" season. A little more watchfulness for the surface condition of roads and streets. A little more following distance between your car and the one ahead. A little more promptness in beginning to apply brakes when it's slippery. And a little more attention to the condition of brakes, lights, windshield and your car in general. These little extras may mean a lot more safety.

Avonmore Minister Accepts Call to Ailsa Craig

At a meeting of the Presbytery of Glengarry of the Presbyterian Church, in St. John's Church, Cornwall, a call was presented from the congregation of Ailsa Craig, Ont., in the Presbytery of London, to Rev. M. N. McDonald, of Avonmore.

Rev. G. S. Lloyd, of Cornwall, spoke on behalf of the congregation and presbytery in support of the call, and members of the Avonmore congregation expressed regret if Mr. McDonald left them.

When the call was placed in his hands, Mr. McDonald said he felt it his duty to accept and expressed a desire to be released after November 30.

Presbytery appointed Rev. H. A. Doig, of Maxville, as interim moderator during the vacancy.

Due to the recent death of Rev. R. B. Nelles, minister of St. Andrew's Church, Lancaster, a vacancy occurred in that charge and Rev. Norman F. Sharkey, of Kirkhill, was appointed interim moderator.

Rev. Robertson Millar, of Martintown, clerk of presbytery, submitted a resolution in connection with the death of Mr. Nelles. It was approved and will be sent to Mrs. Nelles.

Presbytery will meet again in St. John's Church, Cornwall, on the first Tuesday in March.

Brinston Newly-Weds Honoured At Reception

Between 50 to 60 guests, friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bell to honor their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Bell, recently married.

The couple received congratulations and best wishes from friends from Ottawa, Kingston, Kars, Winchester Springs, Williamsburg, Iroquois, Prescott, Brinston and Niagara Falls.

A program was presented consisting of piano selections and solo, "I Love a Lassie", by Mrs. Charles Strader; humorous readings, by Mrs. John Adams, of Prescott, and some timely advice by Rev. G. D. Empey, of Brinston.

After a social half-hour a buffet lunch was served, and the many beautiful and useful wedding gifts received by the bridal couple were admired. The bride, formerly Miss Maxine Alguire, of Williamsburg, and bridegroom will conduct a modern dairy farm on RR 2, Brinston.

EXHIBIT URGES FARMERS TO GROW MORE FEED GRAIN

The opening gun in the Ontario Department of Agriculture's campaign to secure an increase of 50,000,000 bushels of feed grain in 1948 over the ten year average, is being fired at the Royal Winter Fair, where the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Department, of which John D. MacLeod, is Director, has a graphic exhibit showing the need for greater food production to meet a serious world shortage. The exhibit is devoted entirely to showing the need for feed grains over and above the 1947 production figures, and asks that every farmer plan to increase his grain production by one-third. Pictorially and by slogans, it is suggested that this increase be secured first, by planning for higher yields per acre, and secondly, by putting a larger acreage under feed grain crops in 1948. The exhibit was planned and erected under the direction of W. D. Tolton, Director of Public Relations at the O.A.C., and is located in the upstairs hall over the flower show at the Royal Winter Fair.

BRUSHING IS BETTER

When washing clothes by hand, brushing is better than rubbing to remove soil, say the experts. Collars, cuffs, shoulder straps and other parts hat get the most soil, also get the most wear. Rubbing during laundering adds to that wear, especially on fabrics such as rayon.

Brushing with a medium-stiff brush is easier on the material and often removes dirt more quickly and effectively.

Junior Farmers Training School Will Be At Cornwall

Under the auspices of the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario, a series of seven training schools for executive officers of local clubs has been arranged, to be held at seven different points in the Province. To each school have been invited the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of each local club and county Junior Farmer Association in the district covered. The schools will be of one day's duration, and the programme will include instruction on the duties of officers and the conduct of club activities with sessions for presentation of county activity reports and discussion of boys' and girls' projects. The programme will largely be carried out by the following staff: Norman Lindsay, Assistant Director, Community Programmes Branch, Ontario Department of Education; Miss Jean Scott, Home Economist, Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service; Ross Beattie, Stayner, Vice-President, Junior Farmers Association of Ontario; and Miss Mary Carmichael, an outstanding Junior Institute leader from Middlesex County.

IT IS INTERESTING TO KNOW

That part of the human body formed the first units of measurement, the inch having developed from the length of the thumb joint. The old measurement called the "hand" was four inches across the human hand and the span, nine inches, came from the space from the end of the thumb to the end of the extended little finger

As its name implies, the foot came from the length of a man's foot. The distance from the elbow to the tip of the middle finger is about eighteen inches and from this came the cubit, an old measure of about that length.

Other measurements included the yard, originally meaning an arm's length from the chest, or a stride; and the fathom, six feet, being gauged by a man's height or by his reach with both arms. The verb, "fathom," is still used meaning to reach or to get the depth of a body of water, etc.

At first a "league" meant an hour's actual walk. Now it means about three miles.

MILK BY-PRODUCTS UP

Milk by-products continue to show increased production, says the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. Skim milk powder was up nine million pounds, or 25 per cent, for the first nine months of 1947. Condensed skim, evaporated skim, and powdered butter-milk showed increases for the same period. Stocks of all milk by-products are substantially higher than a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Merkley, who were recently married, were honored at a reception held in the I.O.O.F. Hall last Tuesday night. During the evening an address of congratulations and best wishes of all was read by Mr. George Hill and at the same time presentation of a substantial purse was made by Mr. Emerson Carr on behalf of their friends. Mr. Merkley on behalf of himself and his wife, made a suitable reply thanking all for the gift and the good wishes. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening with music furnished by the Serenader's Orchestra. The serving of lunch brought the evening to a close.

Says Ontario-Quebec Faces Biggest Slowdown Strike

The "biggest slowdown strike in history" is going on in Ontario and Quebec, J. A. Ballantyne, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers, told a directors' meeting.

"The strikers are not to blame", said Mr. Ballantyne. "They're all milk cows. They have begun no picketing, peaceful or otherwise. The farmer's can't feed them so they can't produce the milk—they're drying up, that's all."

He said that "because the cost of feed has gone up from 50 to 100 percent, the cows must go without oil cake and grains—they must exist on hay".

"You may be sure that if this keeps up every cow will give 1,000 pounds of milk less this year. That means about 2.35 billion pounds less milk for Ontario and Quebec and 2.35 million pounds less cheese.

"The cheese production of Canada will not be more than 140,000,000 pounds this year. Back in 1945 it was around 186,000,000 pounds."

The meeting passed a resolution asking Agricultural Minister Gardiner to grant cheese producers a share in the Federal Government's $200,000,000 farm prices stabilization fund.

WILD ANIMALS FROM THE NATIONAL PARKS GOING TO ENGLAND

An indication that Britain is rapidly returning to normal peacetime interests is contained in a request from the Dudley Zoological Society in Worcestershire, England, to the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, for a shipment of wild animals from Canada's National Parks. The letter explains that with the end of the war the Society is anxious to re-stock the Dudley Zoo with all speed and needs, among other specimens, three buffaloes, three bears, four beavers and four racoons.

A charming picture of Her Royal Highness, Princess Elizabeth, the Duchess of Edinburgh and her husband His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh.

The buffalo are being taken from Elk Island National Park, Alberta, the bears and beaver from Jasper National Park, and the racoons are being captured in Georgian Bay Islands National Park, Ontario.

Canada's national parks are great reservoirs of wildlife, and donations to public zoos can be made without in any way diminishing the attraction which these wild animals afford to park visitors. To most people in England all of these animals will be novel and interesting as they are not indigenous to the Old Country. Elk Island National Park has more than 1,000 head of buffalo—one of the finest herds on the North American continent. Jasper Park can spare a few bears and beavers without their absence being noticed. They are a common sight during the summer, even close to the park townsite. Racoons have become very plentiful in Georgian Bay Islands National Park since this area was set apart as a wildlife sanctuary.

Arrangements to ship these animals to England during November have now been completed.

PREVENT DISEASE TO FARM ANIMALS

Diseases which attack Canadian farm animals arise from three main causes: Many diseases, such as tuberculosis and contagious abortion, are caued by invisible microbes or germs which may be transmitted from one animal to another. Some diseases are due to animal parasites, such as round worms, tapeworms, lice, fleas and coccidia. The third deficiency diseases, which develop when some of the essential substances such as minerals, or vitamins, are absent in the ration. Even though no actual deficiency disease may arise, an animal lacking these substances may become so poor in health that it will be susceptible to other types of disease.

Prevention is better than cure. Among the preventive measures, suitable buildings, good ventilation, and sanitary surroundings are important in maintaining health. In districts where mineral or vitamin deficiencies are known to exist, special rations should be provided to avoid or overcome nutritional disease. If an infectious disease occurs, the suggested methods of control should be followed to limit and guard against the spread of infection through the herd or flock. Perhaps the most important preventive measure is to avoid the introduction from infected sources, or from herds or flocks whose health is unknown or uncertain.

U.S. Town Gives Sheets To Replace 500 Donated By Belgians to Save GI's

Church bells of Winchester, Mass., rang out yesterday just as they did on Christmas Day, 1944, in the Belgian village of Hemroulle—and for the same reason.

The story starts on that white, but not pleasant Christmas Day:

Von Rundstedt's German forces were advancing toward the village of Hemroulle.

The job of a battalion commanded by Lt.-Col. John Hanlon of Winchester was to defend a hill north of Bastogne near Hemroulle.

"Our dark uniforms against the white background would have made us perfect targets," Hanlon said, adding: "We needed camouflage—lots of it and fast. Bed sheets were an obvious answer.

"I went to the mayor of Hemroulle ... I promised that if he would collect the sheets from his people I would make every effort to return them...

"As I walked back to my command post, I heard the church bell ring.

"The villagers streamed to the church and when they arrived the mayor, waiting at the door, told them simply: 'Bring here as many sheets as you have; the Americans need them'.

"Within an hour, every sheet in Hemroulle was ours."

Hanlon said the clash lasted 20 minutes and the final count was six German tanks destroyed, 67 enemy dead and 35 captured. American casualties were three wounded.

Hanlon continued:

"The sheets paid off for us. You can't hit, as the saying goes, what you can't see.

"A few days later we moved on to other fields. The sheets went with us.

"Recently came the jolt. A group of American reporters returned to Europe to view the battlefields three years later.

"The villagers told one reporter that all was now well with them, 'but', they said cautiously, 'we do wish that the American who promised to return our sheets would do so now.'"

Yesterday church bells pealed in Winchester, Mass., summoning the townspeople to the high school auditorium.

Word had gone around earlier that 500 sheets were needed for the people of Hermoulle, Belgium.

The townspeople brought with them 711 sheets and pledges of at least 300 more.

The sheets will be sent to Hemroulle through Baron Robert Silvercruys, Belgian Ambassador at Washington.

Churchill Recalls School Days

When Mr. Churchill went to Brighton to receive the freedom of the borough, he recalled that it was there in his early school days that he learned by heart the passages of poetry which adorned his brilliant war speeches.

"I was nearly three years at school here," he said.

"It was at 29 and 30 Brunswick Place, under two charming and gifted ladies, the Misses Thompson, that I began to take some of those early steps in knowledge, which, if not always, the most agreeable, could hardly be dispensed with.

"I began to learn by heart many of those passages of poetry which have been a great treasure and comfort to me during my life.

"The committing of passages to heart, and the recording of them is the most valuable part of education and sink more deeply into the composition of the child than a lot of chatter-patter that is hurriedly spread over him in order to pass some examination.

"I had some adventures here and rested here longer than expected. I remember well going at the end of one of those little streams, two by two, for school, and walking along across, I think, the King's Head, I was left at the end cut off on the pavement.

'I ran to join up with the others and a great brewer's dray with two great horses came rushing along.

"I ran for my life, and I felt two blows from the horses' leads in the middle of my back before, by a supreme effort, I managed to get to the side."

Mr. Churchill then recalled his last visit to Brighton—in July, 1940, when he had dinner with a party of five, including the then, Gen. Montgomery, in an almost deserted hotel.

He recalled seeing Grenadier Guards, sand-bagging a kiosk which, he remembered, had been devoted to performing fleas. But the fleas the Guards were expecting did not perform. —London Daily Graphic

HEALTHY WEIGHTS

Declaring that there is direct relationship between health and weight, the Department of National Health and Welfare advises everyone to find out how they "stand on the scales of life". Depending upon one's type of body structure—height, build, etc.,—there are ideal weights. The department states, further, that it is better for a young person to be overweight than underweight, but that putting on weight is a more serious matter for older people.

Most people won't bet except on a good thing. Yet thousands of motorists and perdestrians take foolhardy chances to save a minute, and wager all the millions of minutes they might otherwise expect to live through. It's a suicidal gamble.

FAREWELL PRESENTATION

On Friday evening, November 21st, friends and neighbours of Hyndman community gathered at the school house to bid farewell to Mrs. Laurel Beach, Dennis and Mr. Ernie Colbourne who moved a few days ago to their new home near Prescott.

The evening was spent in dancing. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. St. John and son.

About midnight they were called to the front of the room and presented Mrs. Beach with an Aladdin lamp, Dennis a smoker's stand. Ernie a fine shirt. The following address was read by Mrs. Howard Robinson:

Dear Laurel, Dennis and Ernie,

We your friends and neighbours, have taken this opportunity to gather here this evening and bid you a fond farewell.

It would be our wish that you could remain with us but since your work, Dennis, has taken you farther afield we can only console ourselves in the fact that your new home is near enough for you to visit us often.

In you Laurel, we have ever found a ready and willing helper in all the activities of our community and your cheerful smile will long be remembered.

While we are losing kind friends we are quite confident that in your new home you may win many more warm friends.

As an expression of our friendship and the esteem in which you are held we ask you to accept these gifts and as you use them may they recall to you many pleasant memories of your life in Hyndman.

We wish you all the best of success and health in your new home.

Signed on behalf of your Hyndman friends and neighbours.

Mrs. Beach and Dennis in a few well chosen words. expressed their thanks for the gifts and invited everyone to come and visit them. All joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

Lunch was then served and dancing continued till a later hour.

HOW TO KEEP APPLES GOOD IN THE HOME

Many householders may be discouraged from buying apples in large quantities because the fruit becomes withered and tasteless if kept for any length of time. This is caused chiefly by loss of moisture from the apple. The air in most houses is usually too dry for good storage, and because of this dry condition, the moisture in the apple escapes through these small pores in the skin. As this moisture contains most of the fresh aromatic flavour of the apple, its loss causes the fruit to become wrinkled and tasteless.

Through the efforts of the Horticultural Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and other research organizations, commercial cold storage plants are improving their methods for retaining the fresh quality of apples. If consumers wish to benefit from these modern storage improvements, they too must give attention to how the fruit can be kept best in the home, says W. R. Phillips, who specializes in a study of fruit storage for the Division of Horticulture.

There are two ways to prevent moisture and flavour loss in apples, he says. One, low temperature and high humidity, the method used in commercial storage is helpful, but is difficult and frequently impracticable in the home. The second method, more suited to the home, is to use a container which will hold the moisture in the apple. Cellophane bags or glass jars can be used for this purpose. If glass jars are used, the tops should be left loose so that the apples do not suffocate. If apples are stored in this way and the containers are kept in the refrigerator, the fruit will retain its fresh flavour and appearance for a reasonable time.

If it is desired to store larger quantities of apples in the home some helpful suggestions will be found in the publication, "The Construction and Operation of Home Storage for Fruits and Vegetables", available from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It is Publication 743.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Christmas plans are being discussed now. Many hope to travel great distances to their homes, while others are looking forward to entertaining the family at home. For the hostess, fruit cake is an essential all during the holiday week. To have a mellow flavour, the Christmas cake and pudding should be baked now and stored carefully. After the cake and pudding have been cooled, wrap in two thicknesses of wax paper and store in a tin or wooden box that has a tight cover. Place an orange or apple in the box, but replace it every four or five days. This prevents the contents of the box from drying out.

PLAIN LIGHT FRUIT CAKE

1 lb. butter, 1 lb. granulated sugar, 9 eggs, separated, 1 lb. sultana raisins, ½ lb. citron peel, ½ lb. blanched almonds, 1 lemon, juice and rind, 5 cups sifted flour, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. baking powder.

Cream the butter, add sugar and cream thoroughly. Add the beaten egg yolks. Wash the raisins, shred the peel and flour them with part of the measured flour. Add the sifted dry ingredients. Fold in the floured fruit together with the lemon rind and juice. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Line 2 tins with brown paper, then waxed paper. Grease thoroughly. Pour in the batter and bake in a preheated electric oven of 275 degrees for 4 hours, or until a steel needle inserted into centre comes out quite clean.

VIRGINIA FRUIT CAKE

¾ lb. butter, ¾ lb. brown sugar, ¾ lb. mixed peel, 1 lb. sultana raisins, 1 lb. currants, 8 eggs, 1|3 cup cherry juice, ½ lb. almonds, 1 lb. flour (i.e., 2¾ cups), ¾ tsp. cream of tartar, ½ lb. cherries, ½ tsp. rose water, ½ tsp. orange extract, ¼ cup grape juice.

Cream the butter, add sugar and beaten eggs. Cream very thoroughly. Shred the peel, cut cherries, wash raisins and currants, blanch and brown the almonds. Add the floured fruit, and fold in the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the liquids. Prepare the greased, lined tins. Pour in batter. Bake in a preheated electric oven for about 4½ hours at 275 degrees (no higher temperature).

CARROT PUDDING

1 cup grated raw carrots, 1 cup grated raw potato, 1 cup chopped suet, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup raisins, 1 cup currants, 1½ cups flour, 1 tsp. baking soda, ½ tsp. salt.

Mix and sift dry ingredients, then mix all together. Place in greased mould having mould 2|3 full. Cover loosely with parchment paper. Place in steamer and steam 3 hours. You may add 1 tsp. cloves if you like it spiced, or add 1 tsp. almond flavouring, ½ cup chopped, blanched almonds and ½ cup mixed peel. For a still richer pudding, add ½ cup glazed cherries, ½ cup chopped candied peel, ½ cup chopped dates. In either case add an extra tablespoon of flour to the mixture. It's a sort of foolproof pudding, so develop your own special brand.

TAKE A TIP

Rules for Successful Cake Baking

1. Have all necessary utensils and ingredients ready before beginning to mix cake, and make sure that the oven is at proper temperature when cake is ready to be baked.
2. A round bottom bowl and a wooden spoon are two suitable utensils.
3. All ingredients should be fresh and of good quality.
4. Fine granulated sugar or soft brown sugar makes a fine textured cake. Sift coarse white sugar.
5. Fruits and nuts should be thoroughly cleaned and allowed to dry, then dredge with one-quarter of the flour before adding to other ingredients.
6. Fruit cakes take a lot of stirring to distribute the materials and should be poured into tins lined with 2 or 3 thicknesses of oiled paper
7. Place cakes on rack one-third to one-half of the distance from bottom element. Do not use top element during baking and do not open door.
8. A small tin containing ½ cup of water on the oven rack keeps cakes moist.
9. When baked, cake shrinks from the pan, or if bone knitting needle is inserted into the middle of cake and comes out perfectly clean, it is certain that cake is baked.
10. Do not turn fruit cake out of pan.

THE QUESTION BOX

Mrs. D. P. asks: What causes soggy fruit cakes?

Answer: Fruit and nuts were not dry or too much sugar or fat.

Mrs. W. C. asks: Why does cake rise unevenly?

Answer: Overbeating, too much flour or uneven heat of oven may cause this.

W. M. J. asks: What would you substitute for cassia?

Answer: Use requested quantity of cinnamon.

Morrisburg Legion Discusses Housing

An alternative building proposition to the one presented to Morrisburg council recently by Central Mortgage and Housing Association, to solve the towns housing problem, was discussed at a meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Legion in the Legion Hall Monday evening.

It was announced that Morrisburg Block and Tile was ready to build a house with four rooms and bath to cost $4,000. and to rent for $24 a month, a cheaper proposition than the one offered by Central Mortgage and Housing.

This house to be built by W. Guarould have a six-foot cellar, cement block walls, a living room, two bedrooms, kitchen and bathroom.

The town would supply building lots and service them from water and sewer mains. After occupying the house for three years, the veteran may have the option of purchasing.

The homes would be inspected regularly both during the construction and following completion.

Among those taking part in the meeting was Councillor Parker. War Veteran Wesley Merv. Rev. F. L. Howald, a chaplain in the last war. Roy Geach. President Smith. Reeve F. Broder, Lieutenant Cornell.

OTHER WAYS

The Canadian dollar shortage could have been met in more satisfactory ways if we'd exercised foresight and forthrightedness.

Long ago we should have insisted that some of the money we and the International bank loaned to Europe should be spent in Canada. Furthermore, we could have arranged for Canadian industry to manufacture some of the export goods ordered from American plants, which are unable to keep up with demand.

Canada then would have been supplying some of the goods to Europe which we have had to supply at the expense of our own domestic consumption. As long as we agree to spend money helping Europe anyway, spending the dollar through Canada would be no added burden on the American taxpayer. In fact, to the extent that it helped reduce the pressure of inflation here its effect would be quite the opposite.

Canada's contribution toward rebuilding Europe depends upon its ability to get American dollars. We need Canada's help, and we need a strong friend on our northern border as much as in Europe. But we might relieve Canada's dollar troubles in a more mutually advantageous manner than by resorting to loans.

Pedestrian deaths rise in the winter because of the longer period of darkness, warns the Ontario Department of Highways. When driving, watch out for the walker who may not be watching out for himself. And when walking, watch out for the driver who may not be watching out for you!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the kind thoughts and deeds of kindness to us during our recent stay in Ottawa hospitals.

NEW VARIETIES OF 'MUMS FOR GARDENS

In Ottawa in recent years, there has been noted with considerable interest that chrysanthemums along the public driveways around the Houses of Parliament and at the Central Experimental Farm have not only had added variations in colour but have continued to bloom much longer into the Fall than formerly. In fact, they bloom right up to the arrival of severe frost. The reason is that chrysanthemum breeders have evolved varieties of the plant capable of withstanding Canadian fall weather.

The work has been long and arduous, but, as pointed out by R. W. Oliver, in charge of ornamental horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, varieties have been evolved, all of which have been wintered successfully for at least three years and have bloomed early enough to provide a show from September 1 until severe frost. This year has constituted a record for blooming because outdoor chrysanthemums still flowered while the "Mum" show was being staged in the greenhouses of the Central Experimental Farm.

Now that early flowering bulbs can once more be obtained from Holland and England, says Mr. Oliver, it is possible to plant in the garden chrysanthemums grown from divisions of old plants carried over the winter in the garden or from cuttings carried over in a greenhouse, and put out in spring among the tulips. By doing so, the garden will start and end the season with a blaze of colour.

Dunbar P.Y.P.S. Entertained At Morewood Manse

The Dunbar P.Y.P.S. fellowship meeting was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Heustin of Morewood, November 20th. The meeting was well attended.

Meeting opened with a short devotional service followed by contests and community singing, and during the short business discussion, plans were made for the Loyalty meeting which will be held in the church Sunday evening, November 30th at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Mr. Morrison as guest speaker.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by members of the Y.P.S. Meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. Heustin. A hearty vote of thanks was given Rev. and Mrs. Heustin and the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

I hope I shall never be such a coward as to mistake oppression for peace.—Kossuth.
