Like bubble gum, people are apt to explode when being chewed at.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

The loafing has been wonderful; crumbs have been littering every corner and CPR hospitality has been as lavish as usual. This tired scribe has been living far beyond his means and belts and girdles are starting to stretch to the breaking point.

The train is whipping steadily westward as this is being written. Everywhere we look, the prairie stretches out to the horizon. For a dairy farmer who could always throw a corn cob into his neighbour's yard this is quite a change. Wheat in swaths is everywhere and there is a combine or three always in sight. Spotted all over the huge farms are small silo-like granaries. We have a sneaking feeling there won't be any shortage of wheat again this year.

We belong to a frustrated clan of would-be duck hunters that includes Lannin, Cumming, etc. Out here, we doubt if one would be frustrated for long. From the train we see thousands of lovely, fat mallards, blacks, pintails, and once a stray pair of Canada Geese. To these watering eyes, the slough country looks like duck heaven. If we could only persuade someone to stay at home and look after our debts, we would love to stay out here for a spell and engage in a little duck hunting.

Along with ducks, wheat and land, the farmers seem to have oil wells too. Near the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border it is a common sight to see the walking arm of an oil pump working in the middle of a wheat field. Maybe we could dig an oil well in our back yard in Chesterville to supplement our already phenomenal income.

By the time this is being read by our faithful following, we will have enjoyed the sights of Vancouver for three days and will be over on Vancouver Island. Then back east and into harness for the rest of the year. There's no rest for the wicked and even less for wandering newspaper people.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all those who sent me cards, flowers and treats while I was a patient in Cornwall General Hospital.

Joan Casselman, Finch wins W. I. scholarship

Joan Casselman, of Finch, daughter of Mr and Mrs Donald Casselman, is the winner of the Eastern Ontario Women's Institute scholarship awarded to one candidate chosen from nine Eastern Ontario counties.

Awarding of the scholarship is decided by a committee of area W.I. officials and Department of Agriculture home economists and is based on 4-H achievements, school studies and proposed career of the applicant.

Miss Casselman, who has been active in 4-H work for six years, has won her Provincial Honours by completing 12 4-H Homemaking Club projects. She also completed a 13th club and last year acted as leader of Finch Club, "Cottons May Be Smart."

For the third time this year she represented Stormont County at Central Canada Exhibition 4-H Homemaking Club three-day camp and in June she also represented her county at a provincial 4-H conference in Guelph.

She is a graduate of Finch High School and Goldfield Public School and intends to continue her studies in Ottawa this fall with the aim of becoming a secretary.

Vote down outlet at Finch

The question of establishing a government store for the sale of liquor was decided at Finch last week.

The required 60 per cent majority was not obtained as there were only 13 more persons voting in favour of the sale of liquor than the number against it. Final ballot tabulation placed the number at 128 voting "wet" and 115 voters of Finch village voted "dry."

Therefore, the status of Finch village as a dry municipality remains unchanged. As a result of a by-law passed by the municipal council in 1916, the village has been "dry" for more than 44 years.

A record vote was recorded, with more than 90 per cent of the eligible voters going to the polls.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

They-manship and we-manship

The people who make the smaller news of the world are often quite supercilious toward those who make the bigger news, says the Christian Science Monitor. "That man Khrushchev," or Castro, or "That United Nations," or politicians —these make up the perpetual "they" of whom "we" disapprove.

For example, the provincial Frenchman turns his face toward Paris, but unlike the Mohammedan turning reverently toward Mecca, the Frenchman shrugs disdainfully. "They" are in Paris, which accounts for the sad state of France.

But the lesser news also has its ludicrous sides. Dad may have his reasons for refusing to let Junior take the car out over the holiday but finds it impossible to state them in what Junior can recognize as logical terms. Even the executive authority that is vested in a baby-sitter must be repeatedly challenged from "the floor."

Once upon a time a family in which the sense of humour was more evenly distributed than usual made a game of writing down the happenings, the sayings, the debates, which occurred in this little community as if they were being reported and headlined in a newspaper.

"Cold war tensions strain parent-child relations" — Sister Jane Threatens to Secede" — "Dad in Diplomatic Isolation" — Resort to Force Provoked by Talk of Violence."

When the "edition" came off the family press, the group voted to change the title of the leading editorial from "What a World!" to "What a Family!"

Work for safety

There is no immunity from danger; the thing to know is how to meet it. They are unfortunate people who imagine that life can be wholly secure and certain.

The Ontario Safety League quotes this excerpt from the Royal Bank of Canada's Monthly Letter for July, 1960. Under the heading "Safety is a Personal Thing," the letter stresses the point that it is not enough to hope for freedom from accident; it is up to the individual to work for it.

Self-preservation is an instinct in all animals, including man. But instinct alone will not always save us, although it does wonders. Instinct should be our last defence. All that we can do to meet danger should be planned in advance. This is a personal responsibility from which we cannot escape.

It is not enough to put a guard around the physical hazards. We must put a guard around our thinking, and our emotions. Our best guards are between our ears.

He is a silly person who raises his feeling of courage by the ill-considered acceptance of any and every risk. Most of us have to guard against this temptation. A feeling of inferiority may break out in a determination not to let another driver pass us on the road. The dread of humiliation is a strong force propelling us to do unwise and dangerous things. We are subject to a constant conflict between self-realization and self-preservation.

The time to be afraid is before the thing happens. A wholesome fear will make us attentive to safety measures, and when we have taken these precautions our minds will be clear to cope with the situation. But we cannot allow carefulness to paralyze us. If we wait always until the outcome of our movements is certain, we will never move. Fear, while being a healthy safety device when kept within bounds, can in itself become a menace to self-preservation if allowed to run wild. We must know how to face risks intelligently.

In the midst of our machines, our household appliances, our poisons, our fires, and all the natural forces which we have brought under partial control, we risk our lives every hour of the day. It is only good sense, in this environment, to become not accident fearing but safety conscious, remembering that our safety is up to us—a personal thing.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

At a Bible Society conference in Singapore a discussion took place on the relevency of the Scriptures to the situation in the far East. Such phrases as "the uniqueness of Christ" and "the superiority of Christianity" recurred again and again in the remarks of these Asian Bible Society leaders.

When the chairman of the meeting, the Ven. H. M. Arrowsmith, General Secretary of the Australian Bible Society and Chairman of the General Council of the United Bible Societies, asked why it was thought that Christ was unique, the Rev J. S. Weerasinghe, Secretary of the Bible Society in Columbo, replied, "Christ is unique because He alone aswers life's ultimate questions. The obvious extension to this reply was to ask the question "But what are life's ultimate questions?" Mr Weerasinge, after careful thought, gave the answer, "Life's ultimate questions are 'Whence have we come? Why do we persist? Where are we going'?"

A profound silence followed this answer until a remark was passed that in the story of Christ as told in the Scriptures we find the explanation as to why Christ has the answers.

Mr Weerasinghe has recently been released from his Bible Society duties in Columbo to promote the use and understanding of the Bible in the whole of the East.

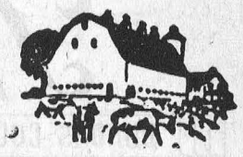
FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



by Lillian Allison

It's just 20 years now since Canada entered the Second World War. In many ways it seems much longer ago than that. In other ways it seems impossible that twenty years have elapsed. If you're over 35 you should remember the war very vividly. How could we ever forget it? Yet if your son or grandson said, "Tell me about the war," what could you reply?

Of course you could describe Hitler and his desire to rule the world. You could tell of the terrible atrocities that were committed against the Jewish people of Europe and anyone else who dared oppose Germany's heartless dictator. You could name some of the famous battles of the war years and tell of the bombing of Britain, the fires and destruction there.

But the part of the war that you remember best is the way the war affected you personally. If you were in one of the services you can remember the war well. You can recall the day you enlisted or the day you were called up. Medical examinations, basic training and your departure for overseas are still most vivid in your mind. And if you were the parent, wife or sweetheart of one of the servicemen your recollection of those events is almost as clear.

I remember the day my husband of less than a year received a notice to report for his medical examination. After the doctor tested his eyes he said, "Well, they won't call you until the Germans are up the St. Lawrence as far as Morrisburg." And I was so relieved.

But I daresay that many of us can recall best the little things that happened during those five awful years. I remember the tenseness with which we listened each morning to the news as the steady, clear voice of the CBC announcer told of the events of the past night. I recall listening to the voice of Sir Winston Churchill as he spoke to the world on many occasions. How he left us with a buoyancy that made us certain we could lick the Germans and anyone else who stepped up.

You probably remember too the things we had to do without. New cars, for instance, were virtually non-existent except to doctors and a very few others who the government considered had to have them. Tires were almost as scarce and even recaps could be had only with permission of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Metals were scarce as hens' teeth and could be had only with permission of the Board. There's a dandy story about the farmer who applied for 24 stanchions and 12 drinking buckets for his stable. The Board gave him permission to purchase 12 of each, stating that if the cows could get along with 12 buckets they could get along with 12 stanchions.

New radios, refrigerators, washers—anything made of metal could not be bought. Stores and manufacturers carried their ads in the papers promising bigger and better appliances when the war was over and ending with, "We beg your indulgence."

And of course there was rationing. Books of coupons were distributed and coupons had to be surrendered in order to buy such scarce commodities as gasoline, butter, sugar, meat, tea and coffee. We thought carefully before we drove the car an extra mile. And cooking with one half pound of sugar per person per week was quite a feat.

Some people used saccharin in cooking. I tried a liquid sweetener called Paula. Even yet I can taste the puddings and apple sauce I attempted to sweeten with it.

Canned salmon was not to be had at any price. That seems a small item now but I was never more hungry for salmon sandwiches. I remember when we were taking short courses at the high school one winter Mrs Basil Rowe bought fresh salmon, boiled it and made sandwiches for us. Nothing ever tasted better.

We had no church suppers and no lunches at meetings. At a restaurant we were asked if we took sugar in our coffee. If so we were served two cubes. It was unpatriotic to take it unnecessarily.

Somehow we managed. Some managed very well. There was black-market gasoline, sugar, butter, etc. available without coupons if one knew the right people, had enough money and didn't mind breaking the law. There were farmers who used their tractor gas in the car. Tractor gas was not rationed but it was coloured purple and heaven help the man who was caught using it in his car.

The labour situation was desperate. Women, old people, anyone, could work any hours in the war plants. Farm labour could SOEST, West Germany — Wives of Canadian soldiers with the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade in this West German area find a little bit of Canada when they go shopping. In each of the three communities of Hemer, Werl and Soest are Maple Leaf Services stores, resembling our supermarkets and offering the type of food and other products with which Canadian housewives are familiar.

But, due to the purchasing pattern of the British NAAFI and the American Quartermaster, few Canadian items find their way to the shopping buggies.

Very few German products are available either, but a trip through the store is like a geography lesson—dairy products come from Denmark and Holland, bread arrives daily from The Hague, Holland; juices from the U.S., Australia, Jamaica and Israel; soft drinks—Coke, Pepsi-Cola, Seven-Up and Canada Dry are bottled locally; Lynn Valley, Aylmer and Globe canned foods from Canada, and salmon which is a "must" for Canadian families; milk, guaranteed 3.25 per cent, pasteurized, comes from TB-tested herds in Denmark; pasteurized ice cream is a Danish product; Denmark also sends eggs; cheese from Holland and Denmark, in a wide variety—cheddar, Camembert, Danish blue, Kraft and Buko.

Meat presented a problem for the MLS people, for German butchers do not know Canadian cuts—they remove every bit of bone, regardless of the cut. Si MLS sent their head butcher to Canada and now he is teaching his men how Johnny Canuck's better half wants her meat prepared. Most of the fresh meat comes from Holland, but the paper trays on which it is sold come from Canada.

Watching the shoppers, one might easily believe he was in a small Canadian chain store, except at the checking-out counters where German marks are paid out instead of dollars. There are many trademarks Canadians know from back home—in the soap section, for instance—Tide, Cheer, Rinso, Lux, Palmolive and Sunlight. At the cereal department there is Shredded Wheat, Shreddies, Corn Flakes, Rice Krispies, and so on.

But groceries are not the only item offered in these Army-sponsored stores. There is a clothing section where the family can be outfitted. A gift shop and record bar stock good supply including cameras—the latter at bargain prices for Canadians; cards for all occasions are displayed in racks like back home.

Plans are underway, however, to amalgamate the three gift shops into a central "Holiday Shop" at Werl. Here there will be cameras and equipment, tape recorders, gifts, record bar, toys and sporting equipment.

The book section finds travel books the biggest sellers, for Canadians are inveterate travellers. The Beaver, the weekly paper for the Brigade, goes to every household free of charge; the US Forces daily, The Stars and Stripes, is on sale, and delivery boys have regular routes; there is also the weekly edition of The Globe and Mail; and the comic book, of course, is the biggest seller among the small fry.

One of the most popular features is the bulletin board in the lobby. Here are pinned notices for the "Old Red Patch Club" in Soest and the "Club Castor" in Werl; church and social notices, and we counted 23 "For Sale" items.

Right after fair day a group of men from the district volunteered to do a tremendous job for the society board. Fifteen tractors and more men turned up during the course of the day; when night fell the whole 12 acres had been cleared of old posts, fences and debris, the sod had been turned and a lot of levelling done. Driving club president Wm. "Billy" Servage along with Mel Baker Angus Smith and other society members lent a helping hand This Fall the men plan to sow wheat for a top crop and next Spring develop at least two ball diamonds. At the same time the big grader in the picture cleaned and graded the ditches and the race track. Members of the driving club, softball club and fair board deserve much credit for the fine work done.—Record Photo.

Mr and Mrs Charles McKenna Killen were married in Elma United Church on Saturday, September 3. The bride is the former Helen Lenore McPherson, daughter of Mr and Mrs Graham McPherson, of Elma. The bridegroom is the son of Mr and Mrs James Killen, of Kingston.—Photo by Daykin.

Killen–McPherson

Miss Helen Lenore McPherson, Reg.N., daughter of Mr and Mrs Graham McPherson, Elma, and Charles McKenna Killen, son of Mr and Mrs Vincent Killen, Kingston, were united in marriage in Elma United Church on Saturday, September 3, at 2.30 p.m.

Rev J. Maxwell Allan, Morrisburg, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs Edward Herriman sang "My Happy Day" and "The Wedding Prayer" and the organist was Mrs Bert Loucks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lois McPherson, as maid of honour. The best man was James Killen, twin brother of the groom, and the usher was Ralph McPherson, brother of the bride.

For her wedding the bride chose a white floor-length gown of peau de soie with a lace bodice, scalloped neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. A coronet of lace and iridescent sequins held her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honour wore a street-length dress of melon peau de soie similar in design to that of the bride. She wore white accessories and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy.

Following a reception in the church hall, Mr and Mrs Killen left for a week at Lakeland Lodge, Picton. For travelling the bride wore a sheath dress of beige linen and lace with matching jacket, brown and green accessories and a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Mr and Mrs Killen will make their home in Kingston.

Mr, Mrs B. Casselman mark 50th anniversary

Mr and Mrs Bernice Casselman, Cass Bridge, celebrated their Golden Wedding at their home on Sunday, September 4.

Mrs Casselman was the former Gertrude Baker, only daughter of the late Mr and Mrs John Baker. Mr Casselman is the son of the late Mr and Mrs Charles Casselman. Mr and Mrs Casselman were married at Nation Valley by the Rev J. Webster. The best man was the late Mr Ellis Casselman, brother of the groom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Tillie Baker, cousin of the bride, of North Carolina, who was unable to attend.

Mr and Mrs Casselman journeyed to Winchester Station by team of horses and buggy, then by train to Toronto Fair for their honeymoon. They returned to their farm at Cass Bridge where they have resided ever since.

The many guests were received by Mr Doug Casselman and Mrs James Bowman. Standards of summer blooms were arranged throughout the house and the attractive tea table was centred with a beautiful three-tier wedding cake, flanked by bouquets of yellow 'mums.

For the occasion, Mrs Casselman chose a floor-length blue lace over taffeta gown, with a corsage of yellow 'mums. She wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom 50 years ago.

Tea was poured by Mrs Flora Casselman, Cornwall, and Mrs Melvin Dillabough, of Elma. In the evening, Mrs William Clarke, Mrs Lorne Cooke and Mrs Lloyd Cooke were in charge. Those who assisted in serving were Sandra Johnston, Phyllis Carkner, Joan Gibson, Shirley and Doreen Casselman.

At five o'clock a turkey supper was served to about 40 guests.

Many messages of congratulations were received, including a provincial scroll, and letters from F. M. Cass, Minister of Highways, and Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P. Among the many gifts was a pair of beautiful upholstered rockers from the community.

Music was supplied by Elgin Bowman, Mr and Mrs Frank Carruthers and Mrs Bill Ouderkirk, of Crysler.

Mr and Mrs Casselman have one son, Lloyd, who, with his family, resides at home.

Duncan–Holmes

Gladioli and ferns decorated the home of the bride's parents on Saturday, September 3, when Rev N. Holmes, uncle of the bride, united Helen Louise Holmes and George Stanley Duncan in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Leslie Holmes and the groom is the son of Mr George Duncan, Osgoode, and the late Mrs Duncan.

The bride looked charming in a white ruffled tulle dress with panels of Chantilly lace. The Sabrina neckline was outlined with seed pearls and sequins. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a shell cap of mohair net trimmed with scrolls and sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Mrs Bob Gorman (nee Betty Holmes) was matron of honour and wore a cocktail-length dress in amethyst with hat to match and white accessories. Her nosegay bouquet was of pale yellow 'mums.

Mrs Holmes, the bride's mother, wore a sapphire blue mate jersey, matching hat and black accessories.

The wedding reception was held in Winchester Springs United Church Hall and afterwards the happy couple left on a motor trip to the Maritimes. Mrs Duncan wore a royal purple sheath dress with matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was mauve 'mums.

On their return, Mr and Mrs Duncan will reside in Blossom Park, Ottawa.

LANNIN'S "Home Centre"

Seasonal Reminders:

You can save DOLLARS and add much to your comfort during the colder months by following these suggestions:

Install a storm sash on every window in the heated area of your home.

Install a storm or combination door on every door opening exposed to the elements. These doors should include a bottom sweep to prevent cold, snow and rain from coming in and also prevent the bottom of the door from collecting ice and sticking.

Weatherstrip all outside doors at top and sides and install a flexible threshold under the door.

Install a door canopy over exterior door openings to shed snow, rain and ice from doors and stoops.

Caulk with grey caulking compound around door and window frames.

If your attic is now insulated check to ensure that you have adequate ventilation. Inadequate ventilation above the insulation robs efficiency, and added louvres will correct this.

If your attic is not insulated you should consider this a must. More heat is lost through uninsulated attics than all outside walls.

A kitchen ventilating fan dispels unpleasant cooking odours and helps freshen air throughout the whole building without opening outside doors during cold weather.

Come in today and discuss your WINTER PROBLEMS. WE CAN HELP YOU.

PLUMS

DURING THE COURSE of the summer quite a wide variety of plums are offered for sale, varying in colour from yellow and green through blue and red ones. You may even have a plum tree in your back yard.

Hot Plum Roll

2 cups biscuit mix
2 cups pitted plums
½ cup sugar

Prepare biscuit mix according to directions on package for fruit roll. Roll in rectangle ½ inch thick. Spread with plums which have been mixed with sugar. Roll as for jelly roll; cut in 2-inch slices. Arrange in buttered baking dish with cut edges up and down. Bake in hot oven 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot with pour cream or hard sauce.

Fresh Plum Pie

½ cup sugar
¼ cup orange juice
¼ tsp. orange peel
¼ cup flour
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
3 cups pitted red or blue plums

Combine above ingredients. Arrange on unbaked pie crust. Add slitted top crust or criss cross crust. Bake in 400-degree oven until filling is bubbly.

Plum Gumbo

Good with baked ham.
2 quarts blue plums
1 orange
3 cups sugar
½ cup seeded raisins
¼ cup walnuts (if desired)

Cut plums in pieces, removing pits. Slice orange very thinly. Combine and cook slowly, uncovered, 15 minutes. Add sugar and raisins, bring to boil and boil uncovered about 10 minutes. Add nuts and cook to jam stage—three or four minutes. Pour into hot sterilized jars. Cool and seal with paraffin. This recipe makes about seven cups.

Canning Plums

Can plums in a moderately thin syrup.

Cold Pack Method: Wash. Leave whole or halve and pit. Pack in jars. Cover with boiling syrup, leaving ½-inch headspace. Process in boiling water bath 20 minutes for quarts and 15 minutes for pints.

He and Harry were working in the field by the machine shed on VE Day—May 8, 1945. I heard the news on the radio about 10 a.m. that morning. The Germans had surrendered. I ran as fast as I could to tell Harry and Bill the good news. I forget if we worked any more that day. I rather doubt it.

INTERESTING THEORY

Samuel Shenton has an interesting theory about all those people who are missing from home and seem to disappear.

He thinks they've walked off the edge of the world.

Shenton, a 56-year-old sign writer in London, is secretary of the International Flat Earth Society.

He says that if you keep walking in a straight line you will come to the edge of the world. Beyond this is a solid ice barrier. And behind the barrier may be thousands of people who every year are reported missing.

Members of the International Flat Earth Society, who pay five shillings a year dues, are very serious about their beliefs.

Right now they are hopping mad at the British Broadcasting Corporation. They say the BBC deliberately set out to ridicule their society when Shenton appeared on a program recently to explain their beliefs to millions of viewers.

He said his flat-earth theory was not just a crazy idea.

"When you travel around the world back to the point where you started from, it is just like walking around the edge of the plate," he explained. "Beyond the edge is a vast ice barrier—from beyond which no man has ever returned."

Shenton believes the sun is only 32 miles across. It is a flat, luminous disc. And so is the moon.

And, he claims, the world has a roof over it. But it's too high to keep the rain off.

Over the years, Shenton claims, he has found hundreds of people who share his beliefs.

The group of ostriches heard the loud noise of someone approaching and quickly hid their heads in the sand.

But it was only a venturesome young ostrich returning from a cross-country jaunt.

He pounded up to a sudden stop and demanded: "Well, where is everybody?"

International Bridge to be dedicated Sept. 27 Canadian and U.S. dignitaries to attend

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and a host of Rotarians from the United States and Canada will play leading roles in the dedication of the new Seaway Skyway International Bridge at Ogdensburg on September 27.

Together with Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario, the New York Governor will officiate at the dedication of the scenic mile-and-one-half long span at 4 p.m. The site of the $22,000,000 bridge is on Route 37, near the St. Lawrence State Hospital, on the eastern outskirts of Ogdensburg. From Canada, it can be reached on Highways 2, 401 and 16.

At 6.30 that evening, Gov. Rockefeller will be guest of honour at a Rotary International Night dinner, sponsored by the Ogdensburg Rotary Club. The dinner will be held in the State Armory. Premier Frost, United States Ambassador to Canada Richard B. Wigglesworth, and Ontario Minister of Highways Fred M. Cass will be among the other dignitaries present.

Attendance at the dinner has been limited to 800 persons. Invitations have been issued to all of the 50 other Rotary Clubs in Rotary District 704, which extends from Adams to Plattsburgh in the United States and from Kingston to Ottawa and Montreal in Canada.

Invitations also are being issued to the Chambers of Commerce who are members of the St. Lawrence Valley Association.

As the seating space is limited, tickets will be placed on an allocation basis for each of the Rotary Clubs in the District and Chambers of Commerce in the Seaway Valley.

Rotarians who wish to attend should contact their local club secretary and Chamber of Commerce members should make arrangements with the executive secretaries of their respective organizations, so that the size of the group attending from each community may be determined.

Gov. Rockefeller expects to arrive in Massena at noon of the 27th. He will fly to Ogdensubrg, arriving about 3.30 p.m. for the bridge dedication ceremonies at 4.

The Governor and other Canadian and United States officials will then proceed to the State Armory for the Rotary International Night dinner, at which Gov. Rockefeller will deliver the principal address.

At a recent meeting of Ogdensburg Rotary Club, president Jack Adams stressed the fact that the dedication of the new International Bridge across the St. Lawrence River provides an excellent opportunity to demonstrate the effectiveness of Rotary International in promoting good will and understanding among the nations of the world. This is especially significant for this Rotary District, whose membership is divided between the United States and Canada. Approximately two-thirds of its 51 clubs are located in Eastern Ontario and Southern Quebec, with the remainder in Northern New York.

Persons wishing more details or to make reservations direct should write to Franklin R. Little, c/o Ogdensburg Journal, or to Ogdensburg Club president E. C. Jack Adams.

Latourell–Merkley

Miss Marion Loretta Merkley, daughter of Mr and Mrs Glen Merkley, Chesterville, and William Latourell, son of Mr and Mrs Frank Latourell, Mountain, were united in marriage at the United Church parsonage on Saturday, September 3, at 2.30 p.m. Rev E. B. Bugden, of Chesterville, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was attended by Miss Reba Bugden. The best man was Ralph Latourell, brother of the groom.

For her wedding the bride chose a white floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin. The lace bodice was styled with high neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls and long lace sleeves that ended in points over her hands. Her waist-length veil of tulle illusion was gathered to a crown with dropped pearls and she carried a cascade of red roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Her attendant wore a street-length gown of pale green taffeta and matching headdress and white gloves and shoes. She carried a fan of Shasta daisies.

The mother of the bride wore a brown flowered Bengaline dress trimmed with lace and pink accessories. Her corsage was pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a navy blue sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls and Western Ontario. Going away, Mrs Latourell wore a dress of brown flowered sheer over taffeta and green accessories. Her corsage was a bronze orchid.

Mr and Mrs Latourell will reside in Mountain.
