Chesterville High School Field Day On Friday Marked By Keen Rivalry and Enthusiasm

CHAMPIONS
Senior Boys - Tom Moran
Senior Girls - Ronona Boyle
Junior Boys - Glendon Froats
Junior Girls - Shirley Munro

The annual Field Day of the Chesterville High School was held on Friday last at the Fair grounds. Interest was keen in all events and nearly 85 percent of the pupils took part in one event or another. All competitors were members of teams with such descriptive names as Beetle Bombs, Green Hornets, Hell Divers, to name but a few. There were two teams each for the Junior and and Senior boys and four each for the Junior and Senior girls. A novel feature this year was the system that told how the team standing was at the end of each event. Each team had its own distinctive colours and flag. The flag was placed on the scoreboard and was shifted to represent the positions of the teams as the events took place.

Top honours for the day went to Shirley Munro who tallied 50 hard won points out of a possible 56 in the junior girls events. Keeping the juniors in the top brackets, Glendon Froats for the boys piled up a nice 39. Tommy Moran took the laurel for the Senior boys with a 36 and the Senior girls champ was Ronona Boyle who chalked up 31 points.

The teams piled up some good aggregates, and Tommy Moran's Blue Devils brought home the bacon with 108 points out of a possible 160. Close on their heels were the Hell Divers of Glendon Froats and they zoomed in with 103 in the book. The junior girls, sparked by Shirley Munro, made 100 even for their efforts and the Seniors' Flashes did all right with 99.

The events were scored the same for both boys and girls. Mr. J. R. Potvin was in charge of the boys and Miss McDiarmid and Miss Burris coached the girls. To help in the judging were Mr. Gillies, Mr. Kinchular, Mr. Clarke, Mr. Sutherland.

Those in charge are grateful to the Agricultural Society and Mr. Kittle in particular for the use of the Fair Grounds.

Venture Croft Farms Acquire New Champion Bull

Major James R. Popham owner of Venture Croft Farms south of Chesterville, has announced the purchase of a new champion Jersey bull to add to his fine herd. Major Popham has been informed by the Chamber of Commerce of Austin, Texas, that this bull is the first dairy animal ever to be shipped from the state of Texas to the Dominion of Canada. Texas hereto-fore has always specialized in beef cattle and the raising of herds of dairy cattle is a comparatively new thing down there. The 9 months old bull was purchased from Mr. Herman Heep of Buda, Texas, he was shipped by passenger express, leaving Buda Monday, cleared customs at Smiths Falls and arrived in Chesterville on Saturday night of the same week.

"Gem's Sparkling Dreamer," the young fellow's name, has several gems in his own right and more than a few in his family. He has been awarded a 4-star certificate with 22 credits; his sire Draconis Royal Gem, was grand champion of the All-American Show of Stars, 1946-47. His full sister was the Junior Champion of the same show in 1947. His four immediate grandsires are all Excellent Senior Superior Sires with gold and silver medals. His dam and two immediate grand-dams are gold and silver medal cows. He traces twice to the First Century Superior Sire of the breed.

The purchase price was well up in the four figures.

Power Cut-Off Starts Fifteen Minute Black Out Each Hour

In line with the rest of the municipalities that have been unable to stay within the quota set by the H.E.P.-C. Chesterville has been suffering power shut-offs every hour on the hour for fifteen minutes starting at ten in the morning and ending at six in the evening. The Nestlé's plant does not shut down in the daytime but goes off from four till seven every evening.

Some difficulties are sure to arise because of the shut-offs but there just isn't enough water to go around and we have to make the best of it. Perhaps the long delayed fall rains will bring some relief if and when they arrive. Ben, our machine operator, has just about finished his scanty crop of hair in only two days of shut-offs. The typesetting machine that is his special province is a tempermental lady and demands a steady flow of heat to her elements. When the power goes off, the pot cools and then no setting till she warms up, again. Means about 35 minutes work in the hour and that means concentrated effort. Ask Ben.

The saving effected on Wednesday by the power cut-offs made the meters read 5400 kilowatt hours, just 400 from our quota. Keep saving to keep the lights burning.

MISS DORIS KIRKWOOD HONOURED AT TOYES HILL

A large number of friends and neighbours gathered at Toyes Hill Orange Hall on Wednesday evening, Septembr 29th, to honour one of October's brides, Miss Doris Kirkwood.

Dancing was enjoyed during the evening to the music of Elma's Serenaders. About eleven o'clock Mrs. Joe Steele presented the guest of honour with a corsage and read an appropriate address expressing regret that Doris' new home will be so far awaye. Miss Patricia Steele presented Miss Kirkwood with a dainty Bride's Book. Mr. Dalton Coons and Mr. John Wylie presented Doris with a pressure cooker and a trilight lamp, the gifts of the community.

Miss Kirkwood replied in her charming manner thanking one and all for the gifts and best wishes.

Lunch was served by several ladies and dancing brought a happy evening to a close.

FIRE CHIEF MOORE, CORNWALL, ADDRESSES ROTARY MONDAY

In observance of Fire Prevention Week the Rotary Club of Chesterville had Fire Chief Cory Moore of Cornwall as speaker at their regular meeting last Monday night. Members of the Volunteer Brigade of Chesterville were presnt to hear the speaker as guests of the club. They included Fire Chief Sydney Morris, Firemen John Hehir, Douglas Hough and Stanley Harper. Also present as guests were Burnis Wood and County Clerk-Treasurer P. S. Boyd.

Introduced by P. S. Boyd, the visiting Fire Chief explained the reasons for having Fire Prevention Week. He told how the week was always in October to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire of October 9th, 1871, when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lantern and started a blaze that caused hundreds of millions of dollars damage and cost a great number of lives.

Mr. Moore outlined some of the precautions that we can take to help prevent fires in our homes and on our premises Remove rubbish promptly, avoid amateur wiring, watch fuses and do not overload them, be more careful with smoking materials, and be ready for any fire that may occur. The speaker then went on at some length to outline the types of fire-extinguishers that are on the market and the particular fires they are adapted for.

The speaker was thanked by H. K. Graham on behalf of the club.

COUNCIL HOLDS OCT. MEETING

A motion to that effect was moved by Councillor Hamilton and seconded by Councillor Carl McMillan. Mr. Phillips voted in favour of the motion and Mr. Turner went on record as contrary.

It was decided to clean up the streets when all the leaves are down.

EUCHRE A SUCCESS

The euchre held in Community Hall Monday night, was a great success and as a result the sum of about sixty dollars will be added to the Chesterville Women's Institute Hospital Room fund.

First Corn Field Day Most Successful Event

The rapidly increasing interest throughout Eastern Ontario in the growing of hybrid corn for husking purposes was fully evident Friday when upwards of 750 persons gathered at the farm of Allison Graham, Chesterville, for Eastern Ontario's first Corn Field Day.

Sponsored jointly by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Dundas Crop Improvement Association, of which John Wells, Williamsburg, is president, the program was arranged to give the audience an opportunity both to hear more on husking corn growing and also see harvesting and shelling machinery in action.

Main speaker of the day was F. Dimmock, CEF, Ottawa, who said proof that the pioneering spirit is not yet dead, as is so often intimated, is shown by the fact that up to this year there had been only 100 to 200 acres of grain corn grown in the area but that this year there were over 3,-500 acres.

Dr. Dimmock said that the most important factor in growing corn of this type is to pick a hybrid of the correct maturity. Those recommended for Eastern Ontario, after 18 years' experimental work at Ottawa, are the Canada bred 150, 240, 250 and 255. While some of the other hybrids may give good results they will not be as consistently good as the four mentioned.

Dr. Dimmock spoke also on various other factors such as harvesting, cribbing, cultivation, chemical weed control and plowing under the stalks. In this latter respect he said that in those areas where husking corn had been grown for some time little trouble had been encountered. It was actually done, he said, with a high mounted plow fitted with an 18 inch notched coulter and trailing wire.

Bruce Cummings, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Turnerville, gave a demonstration, followed very closely by the audience, of hand picking and husking. Both these operations were performed at the same time with the aid of one of two types of husking pegs.

Included in the demontration of the machinery in the field were a two row picker and husker and two one row pickers and huskers. It was noted that the corn should have a moisture content of about 30 percent, for picking. Also on display were two power shellers, a hand sheller, a temporary crib and a semipermanent crib.

Other speakers on the program included Mr. Cummings, J. M. Armstrong, CEF, Ottawa, who emphasized the need for safety around power-take-off machines, and Allison Graham who spoke briefly on the construction of cribs. He said that the crib must be raised from the ground, some type of roof provided and ample allowance made for ventilation.

J. R. Annett, Canada Starch Co., Cardinal, said his company now has four pickers available and ready to go into operation in Eastern Ontario. Farmers wishing these machines may obtain them either through their agricultural representative or their local co-operative.

Chairman for the day was H. W. Graham, agricultural representative, Dundas county, who gave special thanks to Mr. Graham for the use of his farm, and also to J. W. MacRae, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Kemptville, for his help; the Mountain Junior Farmers who looked after parking and the various companies who provided equipment.

POLICE PROBLEMS IN CHESTERVILLE

As will be noted elsewhere on these pages, Village Council decided to ask for the resignation of Police Chief Arthur Baker, the police force of this village. A closer look at the record of the past year is in order. We will not hope to be unbiased, as our sympathies are too well-known.

Councillor Hamilton and Councillor Carl McMillan constitute the Police Commission of the village. On the motion of Mr. Hamilton and seconded by Mr. McMillan, Police Chief Baker was to be asked for his resignation because "Constable Baker is not fulfilling his duties." In the vote that followed Councillor Phillips was in favour of the motion with Councillor Turner going on record as being opposed to it. Reeve McMillan wishes to retain Mr. Baker till the end of the council year, and expressed himself to the Record to that effect.

The opinion of the man on the street seems to be that Chesterville has had one of the best years where police protection is concerned since council appointed a fulltime officer. Whether the incidence of law infractions is less or not is very difficult to say, but the number of court convictions would indicate that Constable Baker has been on the job. In open council last Monday night, Commissioner Carl McMillan was of the opinion that Constable Baker showed a measure of inefficiency because he had lost, and we quote, "seven out of ten cases that appeared before the magistrates." According to the record of court cases, Constable Baker has had fifty-eight cases appear in court, and out of the fifty-eight he has won fifty-three and lost five. Several other cases have been settled out of court. Convictions have been secured for misdemeanors that include thieving, infractions of the Highways Act, breaking the Liquor Control Act, and some others. If in the opinion of the Police Commissioners, our policeman has been lax in some of his duties, then the book shows that he has been on his toes in some other respects.

At a council meeting early in the spring attention of council was called to the traffic hazards that were evident at the corner of Victoria and Main Streets during certain hours of the day. When school children were passing to and from school the corner in question was in need of some sort of patrol control. Constable Bakker was instructed to take up point duty there at nine, in the morning, at noon hour and again at four in the afternoon. Mr. Baker was on point duty there for two or three days and not again. Com. Hamilton pointed out that Chief Baker had not fulfilled his verbal orders, as given by the Commission and was thus lax in his duties. A Police Commission is certainly within its rights to discipline any officer who is considered negligent in his duties. But a resignation should be based on something more than one infraction of an officer's duty, especially when his record is uniformly good.

The Police Officer of the Municipality of Chesterville is hired on a yearly basis with the hiring being done at the beginning of each new year. Mr. Baker has told this paper that he will not resign. It is his intention to endeavour to fulfill his year's work here according to his contract. If, however, the Commission feels compelled to dismiss the constable, Mr. Baker has signified his intention to invoke the right of a constable and ask for an investigation of his dismissal by an inspector of the Attorney-General's office. This course is fraught by hazard for both sides. If the inspector finds that Constable Baker has been careless in his duties he will have a black mark on his record as a police officer. Heretofore, his slate has been clean. If, on the other hand, it is found that Constable Baker has not been lax in his duties, council may find that the Attorney-General's office feels that Chesterville needs a full-time Provincial policeman stationed in Chesterville and that will cost the taxpayers considerably more than the $1500. that is paid to the present officer.

If Constable Baker were left in his present position for the completion of the year, that is for the month of December, none of these questions need be considered, as it would be up to the incoming council to decide on the merits of his year's work.

"MY WEEK"

by R. J. Deachman

Does the world owe you a living? The last word I have on that question is very clear, definite and explicit—it doesn't. If you want to get a living you have to go out and hunt for it and the best of good luck to you.

It happened this way: I offered a small prize for the best answers to seven definite assertions, were they true or were they false? I give you now some of the answers received. If you can think of better answers drop me a line and I'll send you a copy of the prize winning answers to the whole seven.

"The world owes everybody a living," so ran the statement, and one of the neatest answers received to this statement came from Walter Dale of Montreal:

(1)—True, but to collect you must present your chit for services rendered.

Good wasn't it. He gave a definite answer, it took only twelve words. It means that you and I and the rest of the people must give something for what we get.

Another reply was:

(2)—False, even birds and beasts must work for a living.

This answer came from F. H. Avery, Wetaskiwin, Alberta. It too is quite convincing. If the birds and beasts can't get away with it how can men and women get what they want without working for it.

Here's another answer to the same statement:

(3)—False, the world is everybody and everybody is the world. Rather absurd.

It is absurd when you put it that way, isn't it? If it were true that the world owes everybody a living it would mean that all the people of the world owe all the people of the world a living. We say many things lightly - how little there is in them when we come to think of it.

Here is a man who had a solid concept of reality. His reply was:

(4)—False, all must meet their obligations, make a living and leave the world better for our sojourn.

I like his statement. If that thought could be buried deep in the hearts of men and women the world might be a great deal happier in another hundred years.

Here is the next assertion, "This is an age of plenty".

Think over that for a minute. Then read what the experts say.

This came from Gilbert Jackson of Toronto:

(1)—"True for those fortunate enough to live in North America, for the remaining eighteen hundred millions on this planet, no."

Here's another answer from an entirely different point of view:

(2)—"Comparatively speaking more people have more material possessions than ever before but there is still a terrific demand."

(3)—"False", says John Atkins of Bracebridge, "the most plentiful thing we think we have in this world is the illusion that planners can stretch scarce commodities to supply everyone."

Now take this question: "Is it possible to increase production so as to give every Canadian a much higher standard of living?" From Wilfrid Eggleston, well known broadcaster and writer came this answer:

"Yes, but it means harder work or better utilization of existing resources."

From a western banker came this reply to a very different statement:

"The size of the national debt is wholly unimportant."

His reply was brief and to the point:

"The size of the national debt should be in line with ability to produce and capacity to repay."

To the statement: "If we have good times in war we can have goodtimes in peace", a B. C. banker gave this reply:

"In war we increase the debt thereby the interest burdens. In peace we pay off that debt or go bankrupt."

There were no foolish replies. By reading them I have increased my faith in the people of Canada. We may make mistakes but we are not stupid - we are not swept off our feet by catch-words.

What is the greatest single problem before the world today?

It may sound startling but if we take the world as a whole the real question is: "Where is the next meal coming from?"

I have just written a review of a book entitled: "Road To Survival". The fact is that the resources of the world are not unlimited. This book should be read by every thoughtful Canadian. I will be glad to send a copy of my review of this book to anyone who may be interested My address is 53, Queen Street, Ottawa.

SLOW UP AT TWILIGHT ADIVSE HIGHWAY OFFICIALS

Contending that early darkness contributes to October's usually high toll of child traffic casualties in Ontario, officials of the Department of Highways urge drivers to take account of this factor and reduce speed at twilight.

October, they point out, is the worst month of the year for traffic fatalities among school age children. Darkness is beginning to settle when they start for home; and in the dusk they are less preceptible to the motorist. Less light requires less speed if accidents are to be avoided.

Children themselves, say the officials, should be taught to understand that early darkness makes them less visible to the motorist; that they themselves can see an approaching car seconds before its driver can spot them. Parents, teachers and other influential persons should impress on children the need for crossing streets only at intersections and only when there is plenty of time to reach the other side before traffic reaches them.

Another good safety habit at night is to wear or carry something white, says the highway spokesmen.

The provincial drive on child traffic accidents, launched before school opening, is being continued throughout October. Press, radio, schools, service clubs and many other public and private agencies are giving strong support to this enterprise and its slogan, "Ontario cannot afford to lose one child."

Reason Enough

She had insisted on taking along every garment she owned. They arrived at the station loaded with baggage.

"I wish," said the husband, thoughtfully, "that we'd brought your piano."

"Now, let's not try to be funny," came the frigid reply.

"I'm not trying to be funny," he sadly explained. "I left the tickets on it."

Service for the Late Mrs. George H. Beattie

Trinity United church, Chesterville, was filled to capacity last Friday afternoon with sorrowing relatives and friends to pay their last tribute of respect to one whom they have known and loved, in the person of Mrs. Geo. H. Beattie whose sudden passing in a Cornwall Hospital on Wednesday morning after only four day's illness came as a great shock to everyone.

A brief service was held in the home by Rev. G. S. Lloyd of Cornwall, after which a lengthy cortege proceeded to the church where the members of the W.M.S. formed a guard of honor. Rev. G. S. Lloyd of Cornwall officiated, assisted by Rev. F. J. Vowles of Elma. The combined choirs of Chesterville and Elma led in the singing of favourite hymns of the departed. "The Old Rugged Cross' was effectively rendered by Mrs. Allison Graham with Mr. P. G. Hewitt at the organ. Rev. Lloyd gave a very comforting message from the text "Her sun has gone down while it is yet day."

Interment was made in the family plot in Maple Ridge Cemetery, the pallbearers being Messrs. Lorne Feeley, Harry Edgerton, Hudson Johnston, George Edgerton, Wm. Dillabough and Bernice Froats.

CROWDER—HOLMES

The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Holmes was the scene of an interesting Fall wedding on Saturday at 2.30 p.m., when their youngest daughter, Irene Beatrice Holmes, was married to Donald Garfield Crowder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lytelle Crowder of Mountain. Rev. Norman J. Thomas, pastor of the Winchester United Church, performed the ceremony.

The house was decorated for the occasion with white wedding bells and streamers, while evergreens and Autumn flowers were used for the archway under which the ceremony took place. The wedding music was played by Mrs. N. J. Thomas, and during the signing of the register Miss Murla Holmes sang "I'll Walk Beside You".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white brocaded satin, with a fitted bodice which was buttoned down the back. The tiered net skirt over nylon was of floor length. Her finger tip veil was held in place with a matching halo, adorned with tiny white satin bows, and she carried a mixed bouquet of roses and ferns.

Mrs. Donald Francis of South Mountain was matron of honor for her sister, and the best man was Donald Francis of South Mountain.

For the reception which followed the wedding, the bride's table was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake adorned with white streamers and lit by tall pink tapers.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Crowder left on a trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and points in the United States, and upon their return will reside at Mountain. For travelling the bride wore a cocoabrown gaberdine suit, with dark brown accessories.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Lapland, Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, North Grover; Miss Marguerite Crowder, Prescott; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Scott, Miss Freda Scott, Miss Ann Clemens, all of Fournier, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Lytelle Crowder, Misses Laura and Marilena Crowder, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Crowder, all of South Mountain.

Bear-Stallion Fight In Color Is Filmed For First Time

A desperate and vicious fight between a powerful stallion and an enraged wild bear, said to be one of the most unusual and most exciting sequences ever filmed, is a highlight sequence of Eagle-Lion's Cinecolor production of "Red Stallion," the poignant and heartwarming story of a boy's devotion to a horse, scheduled to begin a three-day engagement on October 14th, at the Community Theatre.

Photographed entirely on location in the magnificent Mount Shasta country in northern California, "The Red Stallion's" story involves a 13-year-old lad's determination to prove that his affection and loyalty to a horse he has trained since it was a colt is justified.

Wants to Sell Stallion

When his grandmother's ranch is in danger of being sold, the lad decides to sell the stallion to a nearby racing stable owner, convinced that his horse can outrun any other racehorse. The first time the boy races the big red stallion, he is beaten by the stable owner's champion and the youngster realizes that his horse needs more training.

The night before the day of the second competition, Big Red is attacked by a bear. Battered and bruised from the fight, Big Red races the champion and proves the youngster's faith in him.

Excellent Casting

Jane Darwell, Academy Award-winning actress, is cast as Ted's grandmother.

His Reason

"I haven't seen you at church lately, William," said the preacher. "What's the matter?"

"My daughter's learning to play the harp," replied William.

"But what's that got to do with it?"

"Well, I'm not so keen on going to Heaven as I was!"

IN MEMORIAM

IRVING—In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Gwendolyne Irving, who was accidently killed October 6th, 1945.

The face we loved is now laid low,
Her loving voice is still,
The hands so often clasped in ours,
Lies now in death's cold chill.
We often sit and think of her,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing,
That grief can call its own.

—Sadly missed and always remembered by mother and sister, Beulah and Phyllis, brother Arnold.

IN MEMORIAM

IRVING—In loving memory of my dear husband and father, Herbie Irving, who was accidently killed October 6th, 1945.

Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone,
No one knows the depths of our deep regret,
But we remember when others forget,
We like to think of him when life is done,
Wherever Heaven may be
Up there to welcome us.

—Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Mabel, daughters Beulah, Phyllis and son Arnold.

IN MEMORIAM

IRVING—In loving memory of my dear father, Herbie Irving, who was accidently killed October 6th, 1945.

Those words have proved too true,
I lost my best, my dearest friend,
Dear father when I lost you.

—Sadly missed by daughter Lila and son-in-law, Raymond Droppo.

IN MEMORIAM

IRVING—In loving memory of my dear sister, Gwendolyne Irving, who was accidently killed October 6th, 1945.

In a home that is lonesome today.

George Drew Elected Leader of Prog. Conservatives

Moments after Ontario Premier Drew early Saturday afternoon was elected new leader of the Progressive Conservatives, he had opened their fight to win the coming Dominion general election.

He told the 1,242 cheering delegates who had given him 827 of their votes on a decisive first ballot that Progressive Conservative triumphs in Ontario could be duplicated across Canada because it had been shown "people believe our party stands for the things best for our country."

As the delegates and galleries alike wildly demonstrated their approval of his thumping victory, the party closed ranks with the two contenders moving election of the leader be unanimous.

John Diefenbaker, fighting and fiery MP for Lake Centre, who won 311 votes, was shaking Premier Drew's hand even as the result was being announced.

Donald Fleming, the young and hard-working MP for Toronto-Eglinton, whose count was 104, was at Premier Drew's other side with his congratulations.

Undoubtedly disappointed, but still the good sportsman, Mr. Diefenbaker wasted no time.

Makes It Unanimous

While the delegates on the floor still were shredding their unused balelots and tossing them in the air, he was at the lectern:

"Leadership cannot succeed without unity in the party. Only if united can Progressive - Conservatives serve Canada and do the job Canada asks of the party.

"In that spirit of unity I move the election of George Alexander Drew be unanimous."

While the Premier was the star of the afternoon—it was apparent the delegates saw in him an electrifying victory vigor—Mrs. Drew was the one to steal the convention's heart.

Her thanks were quiet and sincere, then she said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I know my husband. I know his heart. I know his thoughts. I know his wishes for this great and wonderful country and all its people, and I believe he will be very worthy of your faith."

The crowd loved it, and cheered to an echo when she said it again in French.

BRITISH FRIESIAN COW'S FOURTH 3,000-GALLON MILK YIELD

Manningford Faith Jan Graceful, 10 years old and owned by Mr. R. H. Jenkinson, of Elmwood, Canterton, Oxfordshire, has just completed her fourth 3,000 gallon milk yield in successive lactations. This British Friesian cow has calved six times and, in her milking lifetime, has averaged 6½ gallons daily for 7½ years – over 80 tons of milk. She has never been dry. The British Friesian cow quickly gained recognition as a heavy milker and one that could be relied upon to transmit exceptional dairying qualities to its progeny.

AERIAL ANGLERS

Wealthy anglers these modern days sometimes use their own or hired hydroplanes to carry them to the remoter lakes of northern Ontario where the fishing is sure to bring thrills. There's really nothing new, though, in the idea. Ospreys, or fish-hawks, have been aerial anglers all down the centuries. These great birds, too, have always been dressed for the sport with another so-called "modern" accessory—oilskins. Or at least, with something just as efficient; plumage thoroughly waterproofed with oil. Vacationists who have watched the osprey fishing in some shining lake of the Northland; who have admired the careful, preliminary patrol of the lake shore, the sudden dive with talons poised for the kill, and the adjustment of the prey head foremost for transportation to the bird's enormous nest, develop a keen interest in this bird. They single it out for special study at the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology from among thousands of birds there exhibited. They want a close-up examination of the equipment of that aerial angler of uncanny skill.

DRAMA OF THE DINOSAURS

A figure grotesque and absurd
Is a Dinosaur, disintered,
But Old Stick-in-the-Mud
Tells of Time at its bud,
And the curious events that occurred.

In lilting limerick form, a visitor to the Royal Ontario Museum so expressed his opinion of the Dinosaur skeletons he saw in the division of Palaeonthology there. And the rhyme tells the feeling of many other visitors. For the re-assembled, petrified bones of the Dinosaurs and other giant reptiles of millions of years ago, do teach many fascinating things about that remote period when reptiles ruled the earth. From these remains not only the appearance of the long-extinct creatures can be ascertained as they lived in the flesh; but they are of the first importance in the graphic reproduction of the hot and swampy landscape they inhabited. Some of the monsters whose fossilized bones have been retrieved from their rocky burial in Western Canada and elsewhere, weighed as much as 40 tons—the approximate weight of eight elephants—and the length of some specimens reached 90 feet. At the Royal Ontario Museum, the famous collection of Dinosaur and other skeletal remains of equal antiquity, attracts a constantly increasing number of visitors who find the Drama of the Dinosaurs fascinating.

WHAT IS SOUR LAND?

(Experimental Farms News)

The term "Sour Land" is often misunderstood and misused, says P. C. Stobbe, Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. By sour land is meant land which is acid in reaction and which requires a certain amount of lime or other alkaline substances to make the soil sweet or neutral in reaction. Very frequently farmers and others use the term "Sour Land" for poorly or imperfectly drained soils, which do not produce satisfactory crops and which generally favour the growth of moisture loving plants, such as, horse tail, sedges and moss. Such land may or may not be sour or acid in reaction.

In areas where some limestone rock fragments are found in the sub soils and in the underlying geological materials, the poorly drained, dark coloured soils in gentle depressions are generally less acid than the surrounding well-drained soils. In many instances such poorly drained soils are neutral or alkaline in reaction and therefore require no lime, whereas the adjacent well-drained soils may be acid to various degrees. Such poorly drained soils which have often been wrongly referred to as sour land, do not need lime, but improved drainage. The application of additional lime without improving the drainage of such soils would in many cases lower the productive capacity of such land.

In areas where limestone rock fragments are absent from the sub-soil and the underlying geological materials, the poorly drained, as well as the well-drained soils, are generally sour or acid in reaction. Under such conditions the poorly and imperfectly drained soils are often somewhat more acid than the associated well-drained soils. The cultivated surface soils of such sour, poorly drained soils are generally more greyish in colour than the well-drained soils. Applications of lime to the land in such areas are generally more beneficial on the well-drained soils than on the more acid, poorly drained land, unless the drainage conditions of the latters are improved at the same time.

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The services at Morewood United Church were conducted on Sunday by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey. World Wide Communion Sunday was observed at the morning service. The text being 2. Peter 3,1. "Stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance." The Lord's Supper is a sweet and simple memorial in which the communicant's love for God is rekindled by recalling the atoning work of Christ on Calvary; his words of life and love spoken to his disciples and through them to all who believe in him and the experience of his presence in life's trials. The consciousness of what Christ is, what he has done and has promised to do should bring assurance of divine aid in the present and confidence for the future.

At the reception service eight new members were received, four by certificate and four on profession of faith. Elders assisting at the service were Hector Carruthers, Ford Steinberg, Archie Carruthers and Wr. Irven. The anthem was "From Calvary to Glory". Miss Ellice Smith was at the organ.

The theme at the evening service was the Parable of the wise and foolish builders, Matt. 7:24-27. Stressing that the heedless hearers of the Gospel of Christ are building their hopes for the future on shifting sands that will prove a useless foundation when the days of testing come. That those who hear the Gospel and accept it in faith are building upon the rock that will stand all the tests of time and eternity. The Morewood Public school children under the direction of their teachers. Mr. Bowman and Miss Forster rendered a number of hymns and Gospel songs. Mr. Bowman presided at the piano. A large number of parents and friends were in attendance.

Feminine Prerogative

Five-year-old Sue was "helping" her daddy at his work bench in the basement. Finally he tired of her incessant chatter and questions, and he asked her to be quiet for a little while.

"I don't have to be quiet," Sue stated importantly. "I'M a woman."

Put Waste to Work as Compost

In October the air in both town and country appears hazy, because most people, anxious to keep their yards and gardens clean, are burning up plant waste that has accumulated during the summer. Leaves, weeds, small twigs, grass cuttings and bits of sod have been raked into piles and are quickly converted into fire and smoke—fire that burns out the soil or asphalt beneath, and smoke that offends the nostril and blinds the eye of the unfortunate passer-by.

This valuable collection of plant debris, extremely rich in mineral matter, ought not to be destroyed in this manner, but should be returned to the soil, where it will play an important role in producing better food and flower crops.

Every gardener should build a compost heap.

In an inconspicuous spot to the rear of the barn, garage, or at the back of the lot, all plant waste should be piled as it is collected. When enough has been gathered to make a deposit about one foot deep, soak thoroughly with water, then sprinkle generously with an artificial fertilizer that is rich in superphosphate and potash. By making similar layers one on top of the other, the heap is built up, waste so abundant at this time of year is salvaged and an ideal fertilizer for the garden is prepared.

This combination of natural and artificial manure has many advantages. The chemical product supplies an abundance of those elements frequently lacking in soils, while the plant material besides, contributing a wide range of minerals, increases the organic content that improves soil texture.

Moreover, the artificial fertilizer keeps the temperature of the compost at a high level, thus promoting decay and the destruction of seeds of undesirable weeds.

When compost is being made largely from leaves, it is well to use soft leaves, such as those of the maple. Leaves of oaks and similar plants do not decay rapidly and are better reserved for mulching plants that require winter protection.

The question is often asked: "What proportion of dry and green material should be used?"

The ideal mixture contains two parts of dry material to one part of green. Normally, it is not possible to collect waste in exactly this ratio. The important thing is to use what is at hand, rather than permit it to be destroyed.

Another query that has been offered is, "What special care must be given the compost heap?"

In actual practice little attention is required, although the following treatments are strongly recommended: (a) In summer, wet down the pile heavily at four to five-week intervals, or oftener during prolonged dry spells (b) Spade or fork the compost heap several times each year in order to promote decay throughout the whole mass.

It is interesting to note that estimates of the value of natural fertilizers lost or destroyed in Canada range up to $70 million each year. If everyone with a garden made a practice of building a compost heap, this figure would be reduced considerably.

FARMERS-ATTENTION

GROWERS WANTED: A long established Wholesale Fruit Company in Ottawa is anxious to build up a source of supply for fresh Raspberries within a 75-mile radius from Ottawa. Truck shipment.

To encourage a limited planting of new high yielding patches, a well known nursery is sending a special representative of many years experience in commercial production to personally interview and educate interested farmers in raspberry culture. This should result in higher unit yields, longer patch life, less hand labor and when translated into dollars at normal prices a relatively high ratio of profit is assured.

Because of present shortage of good planting material, bookings can only be made for SPRING PLANTING 1949, limited to one acre.

If genuinely interested in berry growing as a sideline to farming, write Box 457, Campbellford, Ontario, on or before October 18th, giving location of your farm. Our specialist will call later and completely analyze the business, soil requirements and preparation, up-to-date cultural practices, cost of planting, estimated yields and profits per acre. Late replies cannot be covered.

The Adventures of Billy Topsail

This story will be broadcast 9.45 to 10.15 a.m. Friday, October 15th

This book describes a series of more or less unrelated adventures that came to Billy Topsail, a Newfoundland boy, and his friends. They are stories of the sea and of the tough, fearless, honest, fisherfolk.

Billy is a typical Newfoundland youth, and his adventures include being dumped out of his boat into the sea, a fight with a giant squid, whale fishing, seal hunting, getting lost in a blizzard, and experiencing storms at sea.

The dramatized portions of the book will be chapters 24 and 25, wherein Billy and his two companions go searching for buried treasure and make an unexpected discovery.

The author of Billy Topsail, Norman Duncan, had his first close association with the sea when he went to Newfoundland to get material for these stories. Duncan came to love the sea, and developed a great affection and admiration for the hardy fishermen of Newfoundland. He came to believe, as he himself says, that "in the waste is sounded the great keynote of life."

Duncan was a Canadian, born in the city of Brantford in Western Ontario on July 2, 1871. He was a man of frail physique but vigorous character, and had a great love of travel and adventure. In this respect, he has been compared to Robert Louis Stevenson. Although he spent most of his life living and writing in the United States, he remained a Canadian citizen until his early death at the age of 45. He is buried in Brantford, the town of his birth.

LOVE

By Robert G. Ingersoll

LOVE is the only bow on life's dark cloud. It is the morning and the evening star.

It shines upon the babe, and sheds its radiance on the quiet tomb.

It is the Mother of Art, the inspirer of poet, patriot and philosopher.

It is the air and light to tired souls—builder of every home, kindler of every fire on every hearth.

It was the first to dream of immortality.

It fills the world with melody—enchanter that changes worthless things to joy, and makes right-royal kings and queens of common clay.

It is the perfume of that wondrous flower, the heart, and without that sacred passion, that divine swoon, we are less than beasts; but with it, earth is heaven, and we are gods.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Homes wired for electricity have an average of 66 outlets and switches. When we asked the manager of a local Public Utilities Commission about conservation, we were amazed to discover that the amount of electricity used in homes in this particular community, is comparable to the amount used by industries. As a matter of fact, our homemakers exercise control over about 35% of the electricity used in Ontario. So we can say that the homemaker "engineers" the management of much electricity.

Unfortunately, however, there are no check charts to indicate the number of times she turns on the hot water tap and makes the water heater switch on. In the rural area this also forces the pump to operate and therefore two electric switches are operated by turning a tap—sometimes unnecessarily.

There are women who own a modern electric range but do not operate it wisely. For instance, they roast a piece of meat in the oven, boil potatoes on one surface element, carrots on another, make a sauce on the third and a pudding on the fourth. With forethought and the use of ovenware dishes, all the above foods may be cooked in the electric oven using one element only.

Like many other household duties, we should plan the management of electric switches Women who prevent waste of electricity will be rewarded, for this will mean there will be sufficient power to operate industrial and farm machinery — such equipment provides the husband's earnings, and the necessities for the home.

Water Heating

1. Do not use running hot water. When bathing, doing dishes or laundry, use it sparingly.
2. Do not leave hot water taps dripping; replace worn-out washers on taps.

Washing Machine

1. Soak soiled clothes in cold water.
2. Fill washing machine with hot water only to the water line.
3. Use warm water for only one rinse; a second or third rinse can be made in cold water.
4. Apply soft soap to very soiled areas of goods and time laundry operation: 8 minutes for bed linens 12 minutes for soiled clothes. Rinsing in machine requires 5 minutes per load.

Home Lighting

1. Invite the family to group around an adequate lamp for good vision—for reading studying and mending.
2. Do not burn lamps in unused rooms; do not forget to turn out lamps as soon as you leave the room.
3. Keep lamp shades and fixtures clean; dirty fixtures absorb as much as one-quarter of the light.

Electric Range

1. When you roast or braise meat, plan an oven meal which can be cooked at the same time.
2. Cook all vegetables in a small amount of rapidly boiling salted water. When the vegetable is added, cover with a tight fitting lid and turn the element from High to Medium or Low.
3. Use kettle which fits the electric element so that the entire cooking surface is heated quickly.
4. Use your pressure cooker whenever you can.
5. Make a time chart for the amounts of foods cooked for your family and abide by the chart you compose.

Refrigerator

1. Defrost refrigerator regularly every week or 10 days.
2. When storing food, or preparing meals, make one "loading" or "unloading" do.
3. Do not use the refrigerator to store foods which should be in the pantry. Take out jams, pickles and canned goods.
4. Be sure and cool hot foods before putting them in the refrigerator.

Other Appliances

1. Do not leave the radio on when no one is listening.
2. Turn iron off before the ironing is completed — it will retain enough heat to finish several articles.
