Reeve Rooney presents inaugural address

Iroquois Council lays groundwork for 1977

Iroquois village council had their first regular meeting of the new year last Tuesday evening, but it was old hat to the new members who have already been pressed into service for several special meetings.

Newly-elected Reeve, Frank Rooney gave a short address in which he outlined his hopes and aspirations for the coming two year term of office. One of the changes he plans to intitiate is the practise of having the minutes of each meeting circulated prior to the meeting rather than being read aloud at the beginning of the meeting. This time saving procedure has already been adopted by all other municipal councils in the area. Mr. Rooney also plans to follow the procedure established by his pre-decessor, Lloyd Davis in regard to delegations at council meetings.

Any person or group wishing to speak at a council meeting on a particular issue will be required to write to the clerk and give notice of their intentions so that they can be included on the agenda.

Mr. Rooney stated that this year for the first time, he is going to ask for a budget breakdown from both the Iroquois Volunteer Fire Department and from the Carman House Museum Board. Budgets are already submitted annually from the Library Board and from the Iroquois Recreation Committee.

Also new this year will be the inclusion of citizens on several committees of council. These include the library board, industry and tourism board, and others. Details of this program and an invitation for applications are contained in an advertisement in this week's Post.

Mr. Rooney told council that he hoped to be able to give some serious thought during this term to the hiring of a by-law enforcement officer. This would tie in, he said, with stricter control over dogs and dog licenses, as well as with other problems within the village.

He also told councillors that he wanted to see a good effort put towards the establishement of Eastern Ontario Packers and Processors, Limited, the firm of meat packers which will be setting up in the former cold storage plant. In addition, he said more industry should be actively sought.

Development of the property in the east end of Iroquois was listed as a definite priority for 1977, with expansion to the north side of Highway 2 seen for 1978.

Improvements to the mall at the shopping plaza are also on Mr. Rooney's list of projects.

Establishment of a board of education for Dundas County was also seen as a priority for the next couple of years. Mr. Rooney acting on an idea conceived by councillor Jim Styles, will try to generate more support from other Dundas municipalities for the idea of a school board that would serve only Dundas County. He feels that there is far too much money spent by the board in Cornwall and believes that a county operation could provide just as good a service at a lower cost. Mr. Rooney expressed particular concern with the fact that a Cornwall oil firm was supplying both Iroquois schools while two dealers in Iroquois were not given the business.

There will be other changes in procedure this term as well. Councillor John McAllister requested that council consider the publication in the Post of an agenda for each meeting. This, he said, would enable people to know what would be discussed so that they might go and hear what was said. Other councillors were in favour but it was noted that people who came, would be just there as spectators and would have no involvement.

Mr. McAllister also suggested that special meetings of council be publicized and be open to both the press and the public. He felt that no meetings should be closed but that council could meet in what is known as "Committee of the Whole" to discuss matters that should not be public knowledge.

Councillor Jim Styles brought up the matter of obtaining competitive prices for most expenditures by the village. He felt that it was of prime importance to get prices from a number of firms for most things that are bought with public money. Noting that this had not always been the case in the past, he asked that the matter be put on the agenda soon to formulate a policy on buying by competition.

Seniors moving in to Morrisburg apartments

Tenants are moving in daily to the Morrisburg senior citizens apartments. The building was virtually complete just prior to the Christmas holidays and tenants began moving in shortly thereafter.

According to Bill Thorpe of Ontario Housing Corporation all of the 30 units in the building have been spoken for and about 22 are occupied. The units were originally allocated with 25 to residents of Morrisburg and 5 to residents of Williamsburg Township.

Morrisburg village council gave their approval for occupancy of the building in December although OHC will not be officially accepting the building from the builders until February 1st.

No date has yet been established for the official opening but according to Mr. Thorpe, it will be sometime toward Spring. He said that he expects that similar units in Winchester, and Chesterville will be opened at the same time.

Construction on the building has been underway for the past year with only a little exterior painting and landscaping left to do.

Matilda Carnival Queen

Robin Whitteker was chosen as Queen of the 1977 Matilda Township Winter Carnival on Friday night at a competition in Brinston. She was one of nine girls entered in the event which was held to kick off the three day carnival. The events included a snowmobile rally hockey and broomball games, dance, skating races, snowmobile obstacle course and public skating. Full story and picture appear on page 3 of the Post.

Students at St. Cecilia's Separate School in Iroquois had a chance for a first hand look at what life was like for soldiers in the British army in the early 1800's on Friday. Bob Fern an employee of Parks Canada, working out of Fort Wellington in Prescott came to the school to present a slide show and illustrated talk. His visit included some authentic costumes for the boys to try on while their fellow students imagined taking part in the War of 1812.

Iroquois Council asks. . . .

Got an idea for a summer job?

It may be the dead of Winter, but Iroquois village council is thinking towards Summer Jobs for local young people. At their regular meeting last Tuesday, councillors wrestled with the idea of obtaining a grant under the Young Canada Works program but were unable to come up with any ideas. It's not that they didn't have suggestions, but the framework for the program specifies that the jobs that are generated for the young people should be able to offer an enriching experience.

While there is always grass to mow, buildings to paint and weeds to kill, it is hardly an enriching experience. Council is looking for anyone with ideas of worthwhile projects and to that end an advertisement will be placed in the Post to elicit suggestions.

In other council business building permits were issued to two parties. Arie Geurkink received approval for construction of a three unit rental home at the corner of Brouse Drive and Beach Avenue. The Iroquois Lawn Bowling Club was given approval to construct a 10 by 14 foot storage building at the west side of the bowling green.

Clerk Fred Lloyd noted that the village has received word from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications that the subsidy allowance for roads for 1977 will be $9,400. for construction and $30,000. for maintenance for a total of nearly forty thousand dollars. Since this money is matched by the village, up to $80,000. worth of work can be done this summer Reeve Rooney said that he was hopeful that work could be started early enough to get it out of the way in the good weather.

In his report to council village works superintendent, Ray Delegarde stated that he had been offered a good price on an electric rodding machine for clearing blocked sewers and asked permission to buy it for $1,000. Since such a machine must be rented many times in the course of a year council felt purchase of one would be a good investment.

It was noted that the outdoor rink is now operational and that the ice surface is excellent. Councillor John McAllister brought up the fact that a sign posted at the rink states that the ice is reserved for minor hockey every evening and asked if something could be worked out to allow for an hour of public recreational skating every day. It was decided to approach the executive of the minor hockey

Hydro hearings to help determine site for new plant

Ontario Hydro is attempting to attract public input into its decisions of where best to locate a nuclear power station in the St. Lawrence Valley and where to run transmission lines across the area.

Iroquois Reeve Frank Rooney was among those present at a special meeting hosted by the Provincial Utility in Brockville's Skyline Hotel last Wednesday. Also present were representatives from farm organizations, educators, and other government bodies such as the Ministry of Agriculture and Food and Ministry of the Environment.

Groups discussed the two separate aspects of the project, the installation of transmission lines which will be required to serve Ottawa by 1983 and the power plant itself, which will not likely produce any power until the year 1990.

The new transmission lines will have to be built before the station and will run from either the Saunders plant at Cornwall or the new plant at Bath.

Hydro officials were reluctant to give any information on the location of the lines or the plant, saying that the meeting was primarily to assess the impact on the environment.

The generating stations to be built will be located somewhere along the St. Lawrence and also along the Ottawa River. There has been considerable speculation among area politicians that a site either just east or west of Iroquois is being favoured by Hydro, but nothing has been confirmed.

The meetings at present are primarily designed to help rule out areas where the generating stations should not be located for either agricultural or enyironmental reasons. Reports at the meeting stated that Ontario Hydro would carry out thorough investigations of at least 2 or 3 sites, involving from 1,500 to 3,000 acres each.

It was also noted at the meeting that such a plant can be located as far as 10 miles away from the river, whether it be the St. Lawrence or the Ottawa River. The plant will need 6,000 cubic feet of water per second for cooling purposes. This has been estimated to be equal to one tenth the total flow of the Ottawa River at certain seasons of the year. The water would be supplied by a pipe 21 feet in diameter into and out of the site. The temperature of the water will be raised only slightly, according to estimates. The warm water that is discharged is expected to prevent ice from forming in an area of 2,000 square feet. The water temperature in the area of the discharge is estimated to be about 20 degrees Fahrenheit above the ordinary water temperature.

Another meeting is scheduled in Brockville on February 2nd to continue the talks and review progress that has been made.

Smokers, repent

Recent research regarding smoking and health both strengthens and extends the strong scientific foundation which supports the view that tobacco use is public health enemy number one in industrialized nations.

Despite all the knowledge about the harmfulness of smoking, many youngsters start and many adults continue to smoke.

But society does not heed the warnings. Is there any other disease which has a forty million dollar advertising budget in Canada alone?

But 32 million North Americans have quit smoking. The average tar and nicotine levels of cigarettes are over 50 percent and 40 percent less than a decade ago.

The campaign for the right of non-smokers to breathe pure air has upset the tobacco companies. If smoking is an unacceptable social behaviour relegated to the bathroom, pool room, or bar room, cigarettes will follow the spittoon into oblivion.

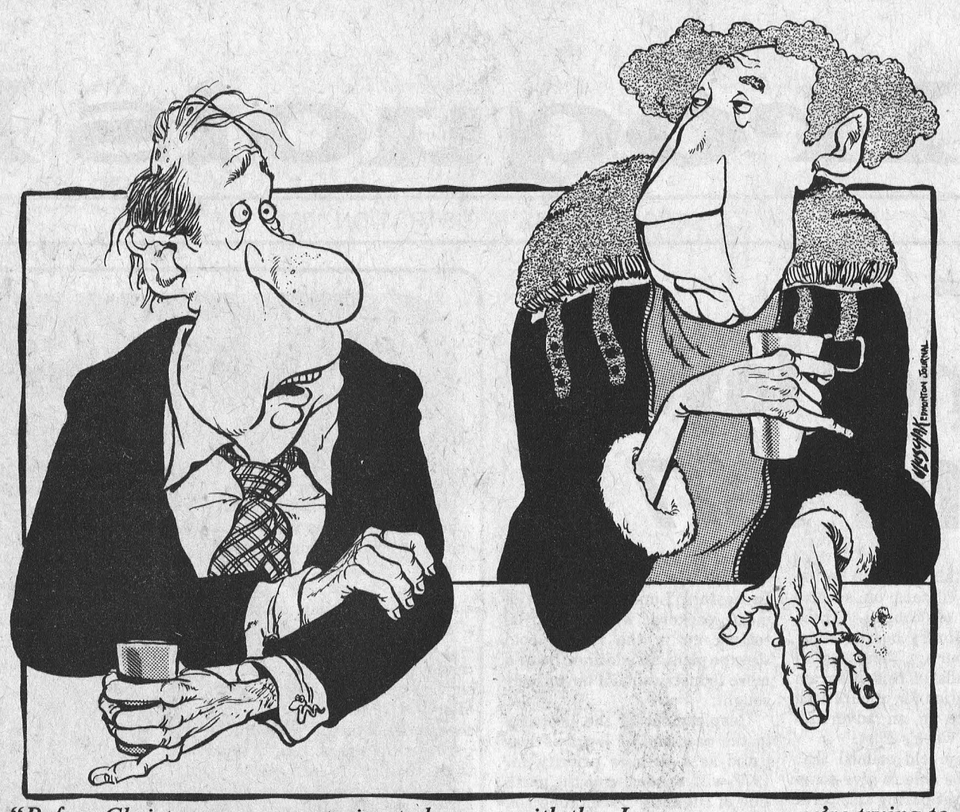
For all smokers the risk of developing lung cancer is 7.6 to 14.2 times as great as compared to non-smokers.

Heart disease accounts for greater than 50 percent of Canadian deaths. (Approximately 80,000 coronary deaths occur each year.) Male cigarette smokers incur twice the risk of contracting cardio-vascular disease as compared to non-smokers.

Chronic bronchitis and emphysema are about 18 times as common in smokers as in non-smokers. Death rates from these diseases are four to 25 times as great as those of non-smokers.

Smoking during pregnancy leads to an increase in infant mortality, both in numbers of still births and neonatal deaths. Overwhelming evidence indicates that smoking is harmful to the non-smokers who are involuntarily exposed to products of tobacco smoke.

Let us think about these facts before lighting up the next cigarette.



"Before Christmas, we were trying to keep up with the Joneses — now we're trying to keep ahead of the creditors."

Bill Smiley Civil War

By BILL SMILEY

I WAS glad to hear, in his end-of-year news conference, that Prime Minister Trudeau had no plans for keeping Quebec within the Dominion of Canada by force, should separation of that province be approved by its people in a referendum.

I'm sure many another old sweat of my vintage who is still on the reserve list also breathed a sigh of relief. One of the many things we old vets don't need is a civil war. One war in one lifetime is enough for any man.

Most of us would have trouble completing the deshabille of a stripper in a burlesque show, let along stripping a machine gun.

And I think we might have a little trouble completing a route march from, say, Kingston to Cornwall, to repell an invasion strike from La Belle Province. Personally, I am puffing like a grampus after scraping a bit of ice off my windshield. I have to lie down for five minutes after carrying out the garbage.

Can any of you guys of my vintage imagine being sent out on a night patrol, probably on skis, to take a few prisoners? What we'd probably have to do is dump the skis, hail a cab, head for a bilingual bar across the border, and bring back a couple of go-go girls. Might be fun at that, if they'd let us use some common sense, which, of course, the military will never allow.

If the feds re-enlisted a brigade or two of old kriegies (prisoners-of-war) they'd have their hands full. First of all, the kriegies would steal, just out of habit, everything that was not nailed or bolted down. Secondly, kriegies are trained to escape and head west. Stick two brigades of them on the Quebec border and in a couple of weeks, after stealing a train or two, they'd wind up in Alberta.

Ancient naval persons might be better off in a civil war. They don't have to walk to work. They could charge up and down the Ottawa River, firing broadsides of bilingual propaganda into the streets of Hull.

Ex-airmen wouldn't be of much use. Most of them are so portly they wouldn't be able to get through the escape hatch if their aircraft were hit. Perhaps they could be reorganized as a special low-flying force, equipped with snowmobiles, and sent out to harass the enemy by driving all over his farmers' fields on the snow, thus ruining his crops for the next season.

Former paratroopers wouldn't be of much use, either. Most of them have grown so heavy that they'd plummet like bricks, and the screams of arthritic agony when they hit the ground would destroy any element of surprise.

Thinking it over, we must conclude that a civil war in Canada, using nothing but reservists, would certainly be comical, but not too dangerous. Most of the casualties would be in the Legion halls, each night after the "fighting" was over.

And speaking of the Legion halls, a civil war would certainly add a little spice to the rather dreary dialogue that is the norm. Instead of monotonous mutterings about the last bingo game or the next shuffleboard tournament, you'd hear stuff like this:

"Ja hear what Quebec Cora said on the TV tonight?"

"Ya. She said the frogs captured a whole battalion of the Canadian Army today an there wuzzen a man in it below the rank of sergeant. Eighty-five colonels, 150 majors an so on."

"Right. And 50 per cent of the officers was French-Canadian."

"It figures. But she's a good lookin broad, right?"

If it does come to civil war, you can include me out. And that goes for all my old friends, including a few Germans who fought on the other side in WW II and are now happy Canadians.

But that doesn't mean we wouldn't make our contribution, our sacrifices, if needs must.

My contribution would be to over-all strategy, which has always been my strong point. You should see me plotting to get someone else to mow my lawn, put on my storm windows, shovel my walk.

Hereby some suggestions. First, if the feds want a short, swift victory. Muster every aircraft in the country, load them with every scrap of paper in Ottawa, man them with civil servants under the command of Otto Lang, and bomb. Not only the separatists, but the entire province of Quebec, would be obliterated for a generation.

An alternative to this would be to build a fence right around the province, constructed of all the red tape in Ottawa. It would take the Quebecois 10 years to cut their way out, and they'd have forgotten referendums and such.

If these methods of an easy solution are not dramatic enough for you, here's my final offer.

Muster all the politicians, lawyers and Women's Libbers in the rest of Canada. Fly them to a remote section of Newfoundland. Muster all the politicians, lawyers and Anglophobes in Quebec. Fly them to the same place. No conventional weapons for either side.

Then let them beat each other to death with unveiled innuendoes, deliberate misinformation, absolute ambiguities, legal torts, trial balloons, and shrill cries of "French male chauvinist pigs," and "Maudites Anglais abortionistes."

It would be lovely and peaceful in the rest of the country. And the bleeding, battered winners could have Newfy, where the locals would hunt them down for sport, as they did the Beothuk Indians.

by J.M.

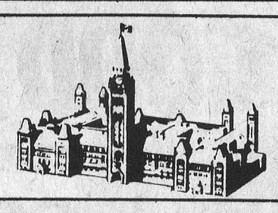
We had a lesson in history recently as we sat in on a grade 7 and 8 class at St. Cecilia's Separate School to hear a talk by a Parks Canada representative Bob Fern from Fort Wellington. Bob's stories of life in the early 1800's had the class spell-bound and had a pretty good hold on the teacher and photographer as well. We learned that armies encamped at the fort travelled regularly by boat over to Ogdensburg for meals and a good time. We also learned that at one time Prescott boasted 24 legal bars and a couple that weren't so legal. The students in the class who modelled the vintage dress uniforms weren't long in deciding that they wouldn't jump at the chance to sign up for a 25 year hitch carrying around nearly 100 pounds of paraphenalia. We were forced to admit to Bob recently that having lived here almost all our years, we have never managed to get to Fort Wellington. However, statistics prove that most people in Ottawa have never been inside the Parliament Buildings either. It's on our list of places to go next summer, Bob. Right next to the boat tour through the 1,000 islands that we've been meaning to take for about 10 years.

Last week's blizzard didn't slow down snowplow crews in Iroquois, as village streets were cleared as fast as the snow fell. But all that snow has made for some dandy snowbanks which make it difficult to see around corners unless you're driving a Mack truck. We've also heard some comments that snowbanks are creating a dangerous situation near the crossing at the senior citizens apartments. We'll pass along this advice to drivers and pedestrians alike. Be extra careful when pulling out from behind a high bank and if you're walking, don't assume that the drivers can see you, if you're under ten feet tall. And remind the youngsters that there's nothing that can give a driver a case of the creeps faster than seeing a small person sliding down a snowbank toward a moving car.

The Iroquois-Matilda Citizens Association, an offshoot of Community Forum was formed last week, with a crowd of only about 15 people in attendance. The turnout from Matilda Township was particularly low. Let's hope that all the community spirit that was evident at Forum has not gone into hibernation for the winter. There is another meeting of the association this Thursday evening at the Iroquois Public School and there's nothing that would be more welcome than some new faces.

Local councils have all had their first meeting of the new year and with the formalities out of the way, can get down to business. It's obvious that in Iroquois for one there'll be some changes. Quite likely the most noticeable one will be the inclusion of citizens on some of the committees of council. Anyone who attends council meetings at all regularly will know how much of the time is spent just thrashing out details of finance. It leaves little enough time to work out any ideas or plans for new development, tourism etc. For those people who complain that nothing is being done, here is your chance to become involved in the running of your town and its affairs. All you have to do is drop a note in the mail stating which committee you'd be interested in working on.

OTTAWA and Small Business



Curing the consumer binge

By KENNETH McDONALD

Governments, like people, learn as they grow older. During the last eight years, the present one has learned a number of things the hard way – for us.

In 1969 it recognized the dangers of inflation. It then applied corrective measures, by holding wage gains to productivity increases, by trimming the money supply to the rate of real production, and by putting a lid on civil service growth.

The measures were right, for the long term. In the short run, however, they caused unemployment. The government was severely criticized by Opposition members and by the press. It retreated. The pressure was relaxed. The money tap was turned on again.

Deficit spending – living on borrowed money – created an artificial feeling of affluence. Everyone wanted more. The country went on a consumption binge.

But the country was consuming more than it produced. Imports ballooned. So did trade deficits. So did borrowing abroad to cover them. Canada's costs moved out of line. Exports suffered.

The period was characterized by the process known as "fine tuning" – short term changes in fiscal policy (tax adjustments, "incentive" programs, etc.) and in monetary policy (speeding up or slowing down the supply of money in circulation).

The paradox is that fine tuning, which is a prime example of central government "planning", destroys business confidence, because businessmen and investors don't know what to expect from one year to the next.

In its response to the debate on future public policies, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business has recommended a dual approach: sound, long-term, fiscal and monetary policy to control inflation; and a flexible small firms policy to create the necessary employment and regional development.

The hardest task the government faces is the short-term political problem of returning to fiscal and monetary responsibility, which is fundamental to long-term recovery. It will be accused again of heartlessness, of throwing people out of work, of cutting back on "essential" programs.

But that's the point. Many programs are not essential. They were spawned during the national binge and Canadians can't afford them any more. Already, with excessive social spending and too many imports, we're a long way down the British road. We must produce more of what we consume and export more goods and services to pay for imports.

It's not easy, as the British have discovered, but there's no other way.

association and try to re-schedule their practice times to allow for one hour each evening for family skating.

Garbage in the shopping plaza also came in for some discussion with councillors noting that storage of gargage outdoors in a random method was both unsightly and a fire hazard. In an effort to have a uniform and acceptable system of outdoor garbage storage, it was decided to ask the clerk to send a letter to each store in the plaza detailing the problem and asking for co-operation. In addition a letter will be sent to the Iroquois Business Association asking them to discuss the problem among themselves and try to work out a solution.

A letter will also be going to Osie Villeneuve MPP for the three United Counties asking him to put more pressure on Canadian National Railways to have one eastbound and one westbound train stop daily at Morrisburg. This idea was conceived last year and was supported by all area municipalities, but has not been adopted by the railway.

TV snow won't melt away

Not all the snow in Iroquois is on the ground. There's a good deal of it showing up on local television screens and it prompted one resident to complain to Iroquois Hydro. A letter was read at the first meeting of the year of the commission, stating that electrical interference was making itself visible to the point of annoyance. The problem is particularly prevalent on Channel 4 from Ottawa.

The letter noted that at least two people within the village have been in contact with the federal Department of Communications in Ottawa concerning the problem. The DOC has sent inspectors to Iroquois and they have stated that the problem is coming from the hydro lines. In each case, the residents were told that Iroquois Hydro would be made aware of the inspection, but according to Superintendent Ray Delegarde, no letters have been received from the DOC for over 5 years.

Council members (who are also the hydro commissioners) reported that they were aware of the problem and that it was occuring in several areas of the village, including Beach Avenue, the Broadway apartments and all along the Carman Road and along Dundas Street.

Mr. Delegarde felt that the best way to get to the cause of the problem was to ask the inspectors from the Department of Communications to return to Iroquois and do another check of the lines. Clerk Fred Lloyd was instructed to contact the Department to set up an appointment.

Vandals damage cars

Morrisburg detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report that vandals did damage estimated at $1500. to four vehicles parked in the yard of a private home west of Williamsburg on Sunday night.

The force also made seven liquor seizures from motor vehicles over the past week.

There have been no motor vehicle accidents of a major nature handled by the detachment since a fatality during last Monday's storm in which a Montreal woman Mrs. M. E. Taylor was killed on Highway 401.

The Reader for the month, Mrs. Marny McLean gave a report on the book "The Stone Angel", by the contemporary internationally known Canadian author, Margaret Lawrence.

It is the study of the personality of a 90 year old woman who has lived all her life in Western Canada.

This book is a great contrast to her latest best seller "The Diviners" which is being discussed widely at the present time.

Iroquois United Church Women meet

The Iroquois United Church Women held their monthly meeting on Thursday January 13th. Mrs. Grant Cougler presided. The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Edith Norton who took as her topic "Strength from the Backward Look". She emphasized that although Life must be lived forwards it can only be understood backwards.

The office of Secretary for 1977 was filled by Mrs. Brian Gee, stewardship by Mrs. E. Norton and Publicity by Mrs. W. Whyte.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Ambert Brown, reported a very successful year for 1976. A bale had been packed and shipped to Sioux Lookout and twenty cheer boxes made up and delivered at Christmas time.

Mrs. M. Fetterly presented the study program, the subject for this year being "Canadian Concerns and the Christian Response" with monthly topics to be based on the Book "Justice Not Charity" by Douglas Roche, M.P. This was a worthwhile study which gave one much food for thought. It brought out the great disparity in the lifestyles of the First World, to which Canada belongs, having an average income of $3720. and that of the Fourth World where the average annual income is $149. per person.

Refreshments, served by the social committee, brought, the meeting to a close.

Lions join Snowerama

Members of the Iroquois Lions Club will again be involved in the operation of Whipper Billy Watson's Snowerama for Timmy, to be held this year on Sunday February 6th.

The local service club will be working hand in hand with members of the Prescott and Brockville Rotary Clubs and snowmobile clubs along the route from Prescott to Kemptville. The snowerama, which is staged much like a walkathon involves snowmobilers covering a route of approximately 100 miles on a roundabout trip from Prescott to Kemptville and back. Sponsors pledge an amount per mile for their favourite rider with all funds going to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Iroquois Lion Jacques Asselin told the Post that local riders are urged to get involved in the rally and can pick up pledge sheets at Tibben Equipment in Brinston and at C & L Feeds in Dixons and at Lee Shaver's in Stampville. Forms are available at Johnny's Spot and the Royal Bank in Iroquois and at Hooke Motors and Cowan's Dairy Store in Cardinal.

Participating riders will get a coupon for a free gas fill-up along the route and a hot meal will be available at a nominal fee at the end of the route. The event gets underway early on Sunday morning, February 6th and riders can leave from either starting point in Prescott or Kemptville. Just follow the signs for Snowerama. Riders will be leaving from the Prescott golf club and returning there that afternoon.

Iroquois Lions Club members are taking care of registration in the Iroquois area and will be on hand at the registration desk the morning of Snowerama.

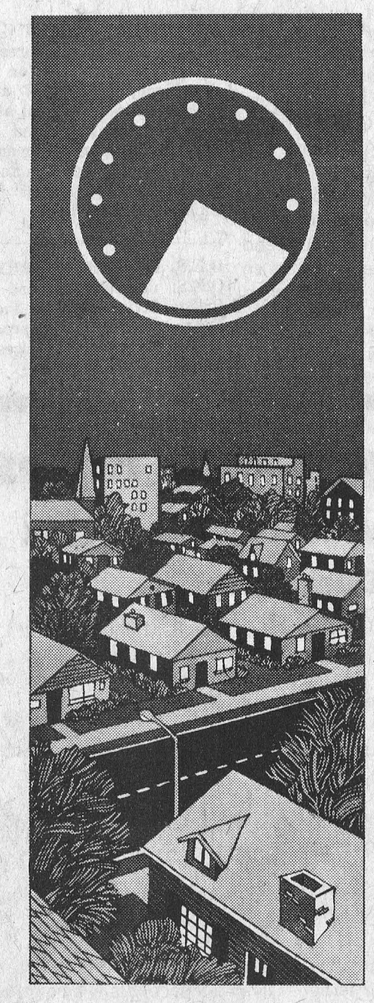
The most important time of all to save electricity.



The demand for electricity in Ontario reaches its peak early in the evening on cold winter weekdays.

Between 4 and 7, everyone's asking for electricity. Many factories, stores and offices are still open. Street lights are on. The kids are home from school, parents home from work, evening meals are being prepared. And the heating system has to work harder. It all adds up.

Demands for electricity have been increasing at a pace that can no longer be met. The rate of growth must be reduced.

You can help by avoiding the big jobs like baking, washing and drying between 4 and 7. Make sure that unused lights, TVs and appliances are off. Take it easy on the hot water.

Please do all you can to save electricity.

IN MEMORIAM

KELLY - In loving memory of a dear Husband and Father Charles J. Kelly who passed away January 21st, 1974.
To one we loved so well
Our hearts still aches with sadness
And secret tears still flow
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
When days are long and lonely
And everything goes wrong
We seem to hear you whisper
Cheer up and carry on.
When we see your picture
You seem to smile and say
Don't cry, I'm only sleeping
We'll meet again some day.
Sadly missed by wife Marie, Son Wilfred, Daughter Darlene Gore and family. 31-1p

MONPETIT - In loving memory of my husband Wilfred Montpetit who passed away suddenly January 22, 1973.
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
Wife Mary. 31-1p

MERKLEY - In loving memory of a dear grandmother Eliza Merkley who passed away January 22, 1975.
This month comes with sad regret
Recalling a date we will never forget
In our hearts she will always stay
Love and remembered every day
With tender love and deep regret
We who loved her will never forget.
Always remembered by grandchildren Laurel Merkley, Betty Ann and Eric Hamilton, Graham and Pam Reddick.
31-1p

CARKNER - In loving memory of my husband, father and grandfather Reuben Carkner who passed away January 5, 1972.
God took him home it was His will.
But in our hearts He liveth still.
Wife and Family. 31-1p

MONTPETIT - In fond remembrance of a brother-in-law and Uncle Wilfred Montpetit who passed away on his birthday January 22, 1973.
Time takes away the edge of grief
But memory turns back every leaf.
Sam and Phyl Leckie and Girls.
31-1p

MERKLEY - In loving memory of a dear mother Eliza Merkley. The golden gates were opened January 22, 1975 and you were taken from us mom
This month comes back with sad regret
It brings back a day we won't ever forget
You fell asleep without goodbye
But our memories of you will never die
We miss you more than anyone knows
As each day passes our emptiness grows
The tears we shed will wipe away
But the ache in our hearts will always stay
No one knows the grief we bear
When our family meets and you're not there
You left us suddenly your thoughts unknown
But left us memories we are proud to own.
Loving remembered and sadly missed by Daughter Dorothy and Son Gerald, Daughter-in-law Lois. 31-1p

Ministerial elect executive

Members of the Dundas County Ministerial Association have chosen their executive for 1977. President for the year will be Rev. Henry Bowkett of Winchester. Vice-President is Gerald Orr of Winchester. Frank Stone of Vernon is the new programme chairman with W.A. Adam of Morrisburg serving as secretary.

Business Association chooses executive

Members of the Iroquois Business Association met last Wednesday evening to choose a new executive and to hear reports on the work of the group since its inception in October of 1976.

Interim chairman Joyce Fader reported that the association had been involved in the organization of the Santa Claus Parade, had started the Bonus Buck promotion, had helped establish and promote Christmas Store hours, had sponsored an all candidates meeting, and had hosted a meeting with Len Bellam of the Future Board (regarding the housing policy statement for Iroquois).

There was discussion on several topics concerning the business life of the village. It was decided that some form of event would be held later this year in May or June to mark the 20th anniversary of the opening of the shopping plaza and the construction of the new village.

Membership fees were also discussed with a decision made to establish a fee of approximately $10. to join the association. It was proposed that there be a fee for participation in the Bonus Buck scheme, thus allowing the bucks to be sold at a cheaper rate to merchants.

Housing and industry were also touched upon with the agreement that housing was a pre-requisite to trying to attract industry and that mobile homes should be given a priority as a means of housing for young couples and working families.

All members felt that the association should take a larger interest in the affairs of council and should make an attempt to assist council wherever possible. It was felt that association members could work with council at the committee stage on such concerns as industry, housing, tourism and police protection.

The practice of parking in off-limits areas in the shopping plaza came in for discussion and it was agreed to send a letter to village council to ask them to publicize the fact that parking was allowed for 15 minutes only in the area on the east side of the plaza, near the Bank of Montreal and near the office of the Iroquois Post. Also discussed was the practise of parking in front of stores such as S & F, Savers and Johnny's Spot. While pulling up to load parcels is permissible, parking is forbidden, as is noted on signs around the plaza. It poses a particular problem in the area of Johnny's Spot when the Voyageur bus is unable to pull in because of the cars parked improperly near the pool room. Reeve Frank Rooney who was in attendance pointed out that a by-law enforcement officer would be a valuable asset in a situation such as this.

Elections were held for a new executive to serve for the year 1977. A total of seven people were chosen and from this group, a chairman will be selected at an executive meeting on February 9th.

Roland Johnson was elected to represent industry, Jim Millard represents service outlets, John Haldane and Joyce Fader represent retail stores, and there are three members at large: John Ross, Peter Michielsen and Henry Zandbergen. This group will meet on the 9th to choose committees and plan strategy. The executive hopes to involve all members in projects throughout the course of the year. The next general meeting will be on February 23rd in the council chambers in the civic centre.

Seaway curlers to compete at Utica

January 7, 8 and 9 four of Seaway's girl curlers participated in the Winter Games at Arnprior. They were Leslie Brais, skip; Karen Shearing, third; Rita Baelde, second; and Laurie Cruickshank, first. The girls won two of their four games enabling them to place third and win a bronze medal. January 28 two teams will be travelling to Utica, New York, to curl in the annual mixed high school bonspiel. Those going are Tom MacDonald, Leslie Brais, Doug Tupper, Jo-Anne Christensen, Gary McDonald, Lori Boyd, Doug Brunt and Karen Shearing.

A Photography Club has been started at Seaway. The students have been learning how to use a 35 mm camera and develop their own film. We will soon be making black and white prints in the school's darkroom. There are ten students in the club and more are welcome.

TV RADIO NEWS

by Ross Mutton

CBC television has not been renowned for producing much in the way of comedy series in the last few years. I'm referring to strict comedy, not the situation comedy format as exhibited by King of Kensington. Some of Canada's best humour lies in political satire. Radio is currently taking up the ball with Royal Canadian Air Farce & Dr. Bundolo. Unfortunately, Inside from the Outside has been dropped from the airwaves. Television came out with Up Canada, a program that couldn't quite decide whether it should take itself seriously or not. However, rather than make a decision on that, the CBC gave the program the axe. The corporation has now introduced a new six-week series Krazy House. Its first episode unfortunately did not contain much in the way of original or truly funny material. I managed to retain my composure through most of the half-hour. At times, it seemed to be a poor re-make of a Monty Python show. If it had not been for Dave Broadfoot, the show would have been a flop. I found myslef patiently sitting through skits with Billy Van, hoping for another Dave Broadfoot skit. So, if you're a Broadfoot fan, tune in Krazy House at 10:30 on Wednesdays. If not, you'll probably get as many laughs out of Global's news.

CFVO has reversed its decision to start up the blue movie series on Fridays at midnight. They have decided to await the outcome of their upcoming trail before making a decision on the future of Cine-Vendredi. In the meantime, the odd X-rated film may appear from time to time in the regular movie schedule.

CBS will be featuring Evel Knievel's Death Defiers on January 31st. The show will be broadcast live from various locations across the States featuring various daredevil acts. The piece de resistance will be Evel's leap over the World's largest indoor salt-water pool in Chicago. Incidentally, the pool will be stocked with man-eating killer sharks.

WHAT'S COMING -- A new variety show debuts on CBC on Wednesday night at 8:30. Bob Ruzicka stars in a show featuring folk and country music. That's on Ch. 4 at 9 p.m., Musicamera investigates the variety of Canadian musical performers, including Maureen Forrester, the Huggett Family and Beau Dommage.

On Thursday at 8 p.m., Ch. 5 carries a specials on monsters, with particular reference to the Abominable Snowman, Nessie and Bigfoot. At 9 p.m., James Whitfore stars in Give 'Em Hell, Harry! a stage performance of Whitmore as Harry Turman. Thats also on Ch. 5. At 9:30, Ch. 4 carries the debut of Classics Dark and Dangerous. The opener stars Christoper Plummer as Sherlock Holmes in Silver Blaze.

On Friday night at 8 p.m., Code R debuts on Ch. 7. The series dramatizes the work of an island rescue team. Sounds like a combination of Hawaii Five-O and Emergency. Bob Hope has a special at 8:30 spoofing the big films of '76. Guests include Ann-Margaret, Sammy davis Jr. and Dean Martin. Donald Sutherland and Patsy Gallant are among the guests on 90 Minutes Live at 11:35 on Ch. 4.

On Sunday night at 8:30, Ch. 4 presents You Won't Starve Here, a documentary on farmers in Southwestern Ontario. At 9 p.m. Global presents Collision Course, chronicling the confrontation of Harry Truman and Douglas Mac Arthur. Henry Fonda and Edward G. Marshall star.

On Monday at 10 p.m., Ch. 18 presents the Bee Gees and Yvonne Elliman on Soundstage.

Forum group becomes Citizens Association

The Iroquois-Matilda Citizens Association (IMCA) was formed last Thursday evening, an offshoot of the November 21st Community Forum. A meeting was held in the Iroquois Public School auditorium for the purpose of dissolving the steering committee for Community Forum and forming a new organization for the express purpose of carrying out some of the proposals generated at Forum.

There was a period of general discussion revolving around how best to organize to work toward the goals. Original plans had called for the establishment of several committees to handle such things as recreation, housing, heritage etc. This idea was seen to be in conflict with the recently announced plans by Iroquois village council to ask for citizen representation on several committees. There was also some amount of overlap with the goals of the Iroquois Business Association.

Because of the group's mandate to serve both Iroquois and Matilda and to draw the two municipalities closer together, it was felt that becoming involved in Iroquois committees would not allow them to completely carry out their obligation. It was decided that rather than form committees within the group, members of the group would become involved in Iroquois council committees and would seek to do the same in Matilda, to the limit that was desired by that council. With only two people present from Matilda, the group found it difficult to make plans for involvement in that area, but hopes were high that more township residents would be present at succeeding meetings.

Although no committees were named, a new executive was chosen to lead the association for its first year. Bruce Faul was chosen as chairman with the position of vice chairman left vacant for the time being. It was hoped that a Matilda resident will step forward and offer to assume the role. Secretary of the group is Laura Burgess and Henry Prins becomes the new treasurer.

Mike Laframboise, outgoing chairman of the Community Forum steering committee turned the proceedings over to Bruce Faul who conducted the remainder of the meeting.

The first priority of the association is to initiate a project that will stand as a permanent reminder of Community Forum. It was decided to make application for a grant under the federal Young Canada Works program for the summer. If successful the grant will provide money to hire a number of high school and college students for the summer and will enable the operation of a summer activity program to run concurrently in Iroquois and Brinston.

Plans and proposals are yet to be finalized for this project, but another meeting of the group is scheduled for this Thursday evening (Jan. 20th) at 8 p.m. in the Iroquois Public School. Once the application for the grant is completed, the association plans to meet no less than once a month in addition to committee meetings that the various members will be attending.

Iroquois Council names committee

Reeve Frank Rooney has named the committees of village council for the next two years. Recreation committee chairman will be Clare Brown with co-chairman Peter Swank. Water and Sewage chairman will be Jim Styles with Peter Swank as co-chairman. Industry and Tourism committee chairman will be John McAllister with Clare Borwn as co-chairman.
