DCAMR members call for additional meeting

[MORRISBURG] - Opponents of the financial workings of the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded are not satisfied with provincial plans to audit the organization and have called for a meeting March 27 to table their questions.

Bill Haggart, one of the leading voices of dissent against the association's board of directors, said the ministry audit will focus on some financial aspects but won't answer all the questions.

He said such items as fund-raising and unfunded workshop programs must be examined in more detail by the board and members themselves.

However, on the board side, directors feel the audit will clear the air and end the turmoil they feel has discredited the organization.

Board president George Davidson said the audit will show the directors have nothing to hide and haven't misused funds. He added the ministry hopes to have the audit started this week and completed in the middle of next month.

One thing both sides do agree on is that the two most recent meetings have resulted in failure.

"Last week's meeting (March 6) fell apart," Mr. Haggart said. "It was something of a disorganized meeting."

Mr. Davidson, however, laid the blame for the failure squarely on the shoulders of the dissenting membership. He pointed out they weren't satisfied with the agenda drawn up by the board and almost two hours was taken up trying to settle on the final agenda.

In fact, the only motion brought to the floor that night was one to accept the revised agenda.

Another motion, by April Dietrich, to dissolve the present board was withdrawn after she stumbled over the proper wording anf failed to get any support.

Two questions raised at the previous meeting on Feb. 21 were answered.

The first dealt with a question from Mr. Haggart about the figure on the original mortgage document which reads $252,750 rather than $210,000 which is listed on association books. Mr. Davidson produced a Royal Bank statement indicating the higher figure was based on a percentage of the predicted cost but was lowered after the estimate came down.

Mr. Haggart, though, said he is still skeptical. He asked why the mortgage document still contains the higher figure if it was changed.

He also took issue with an explanation by provincial representative AHarry Beattie over a second question. Mr. Beattie said association bylaws are ambigous and executive director Al Gates has signing power as the organization's secretary.

Mr. Haggart said Mr. Beattie failed to read the bylaws far enough and they indicate the executive director does not have power of secretary unless there is no elected secretary or treasurer. "I still question his signing authority," Mr. Haggart said.

He said he has garnered the minimum ten names required to call a further meeting and plans to have only two items on the March 27 agenda(financial statements for fund-raising events; and examination of unfunded workshop expansions.

SNRCA may get stuck with dyke

[BERWICK] - Unless an extension is given on the Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement, the South Nation River Conservation Authority and provincial government may be stuck with the full cost of construction of a dyke at Crysler.

Authority chairman Lorne Strader said the $300,000 project is slated to be done this year but the federal government is dragging its heels on giving the work its blessing.

The present EOSA agreement was extended to March 31 from December 31 last year but even if approval came today, Mr. Strader said there isn't time to go to tender.

"I don't think there's time to tender," Mr. Strader told The Chieftain Monday. "This is a big job. You can't just post it for a week, you need at least three weeks."

Mr. Strader said the authority has been waiting on word from Stormont-Dundas Ed Lumley for some time now and the only way the work can proceed under the agreement is if another extension is allowed.

Under the agreement, the province and federal government each fund 45 percent of the project with the authority picking up the remaining 10 per cent. If federal funding doesn't come through then the authority and province will attempt to work out another method of financing, Mr. Strader added.

"Here we are at March 12 already and everything is just hanging in the balance while we wait on Mr. Lumley," he said.

Support sought for Legion project

(IROQUOIS)-The Royal Canadian Legion branch 370 is seeking support from the public for its campaign to update the Iroquois cenotaph and erect a cenotaph in Matilda Township.

A total of 58 names will be inscribed on both cenotaphs in addition to a plan to erect bronze plaques in both comunities to honor all those who served Canada's armed forces in the two World Wars and Korean Conflict.

Total cost of the project is about $20,000 and donations can be made by cheque or money order to Doreen Bailey, 228 Victoria Street, Box 8, Iroquois, Ont. Receipts will be issued.

Those wishing to donate for a single name on one of the bronze plaques should send a cheque for $25.

Lions Easter appeal

[IROQUOIS] - The Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club is in charge of the local Easter Seal appeal and is hoping to raise $2,500, campaign chairman Charles Marsden said.

Mr. Marsden said a mailing campaign is being used to raise funds from Iroquois, Matilda Township and Cardinal. Half the funds donated will stay in the immediate area for local use and the balance will be sent to head office in Toronto, Mr. Marsden added.

Local children have benefitted directly from the area campaign, he pointed out. Donations have been used to send disable children to camps, pay for transportation to and from hosital and in individual cases to provide special footwear and an artificial arm, Mr. Marsden said.

Beware of atrazine residues

[Kemptville] - Every year around this time, farmers across the province are making decisions about their cropping program for the forthcoming year.

Condsideration must be given in a crop rotation which includes corn for the presence of atrazine residues in your soil. Atrazine residues can, if concentration levels are high enough, lead to serious crop damage to succeeding crops.

Using rates from 1.2-1.8 kg. /. ha (active) on corn generally has not caused injury to succeeding crops of oats, barley or soybeans except in years where there was very little rain the previous fall which would schools in all parts of the soil. New forage seedings are even more susceptible to damage at these rates, so care must be taken to avoid damage to your forage seeding.

The persistence of atrazine residues in your soil is dependent on many factors including soil pH, texture, organic matter content, soil temperature, soil moisture, sunlight and even the microbiological acitivity. The soil texture has a greater influence on the persistence of atrazine residues in the soil than do the climatic factors.

Various management decisions by the farmer can hasten the breakdown of atrazine residues. By fall moldboard plowing, triazines will be spread to a greater soil depth than with other tillage programs thereby reducing the concentration of herbicide in the upper soil area. Post-emergent treatments of atrazine tend to persist longer in the soil than pre-emergent applications. Fall plowing will help to speed up triazine breakdown more than spring plowing.

Atrazine residues can persist in the soil for varying lengths of time especially in dry cool weather conditions accompanied with sandy soils where serious damage has occured in previous years. Farmers should be alerted of the presence of atrazine in their soils this spring especially if rates applied last year were on the high side. The extremely dry year in 1983 will probably leave more residues in the soil than in previous years. This fact shou ld be kept in mind especially where a long history of atrazine use is common to a field considered for crops other than corn.

If you are in doubt about the levels of atrazine in your soil for the forthcoming year, your safest bet is to go back in corn for 1984 and substitute another effective herbicide for atrazine.

Rehearsals begin for Haunted House

[IROQUOS] - A haunted house, an usolved murder and a cast of characters that will keep you on the edge of your seat with laughter, if not with fear: those are the main ingredients of a three-act comedy to be presented by the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club.

The play, appropriately titled A Haunted House will be performed on Friday and Saturday evening, May 4 and 5 in the auditorium at Seaway District High School. The cast of 11 is made up completely of Lions Club members with the exception of the three female characters who are portrayed by wives of Lions. Seaway High drama teacher, Wendy Gibb is directing th eplay.

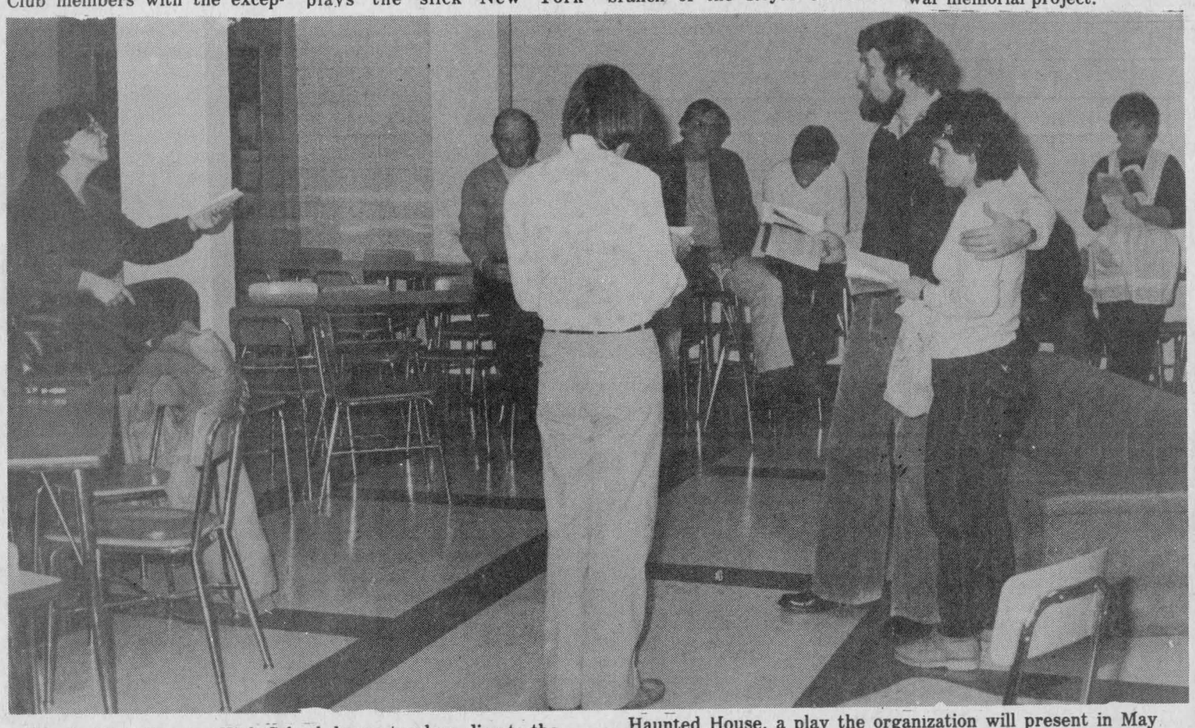
Many of the performers will be well-known to most area people. In the role of Duncan, a successful novelist and would-be private eye is Don Fairweather, a teacher at Seaway. His wife Helen is played by Margaret Swerdfeger.

The constable is played by Jim Locke and Garry Barkey plays the slick New York detective who is called in to help solve the mystery. Other actors include Charles Marsden, Glenn Swerdfeger, Bill Rumble, Dan Hffman, Nellie Leightizer, Reina DeJong and Ross Dulmage. Added to this cast will be a backstage crew of almost every remaining member of the Lions Club.

The play has been designated as the bicentennial project of the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club. All profits from the production will be presented to the local branch of the Royal Canadian Legion for use in their project to upgrade the Iroquois cenotaph and to build a new one in Matilda.

Ticket prices have been set at $3 in advance or $4 at the door. The club will have a booth at the Iroquois Trade Fair in late April and tickets will be sold there. They will also be available in various other locations to be announced shortly.

Plan now to attend this evening of hilarious entertainment and at the same time to support the Lions Club and the Legion's war memorial project.



Wendy Gibb, Seaway High School drama teacher, directs the first rehearsal of Iroquois-Matilda Lions and spouses for A Haunted House, a play the organization will present in May to audiences in the high school auditorium. There are 11 cast members in the play.

Fair family budgets for the dual-income household

By Isabel Wegg

Now that so many husbands and wives are bringing home the bacon, family budgeting has taken a new twist.

In a recent conversation, Monica Townson, author of "The Canadian Woman's Guide to Money", pointed out that the average earnings of a working woman in Canada are only about 58 per cent of the average earnings of a working man. She mentioned that in 1931, at the height of the depression, women were earning 61 per cent of what men earned. So much for progress.

Because the wife usually will be bringing in less than the husband, she cannot contribute as much to their budget.

Monica pointed out that many books on budgeting suggest the man should pay for major items such as the mortgage, furniture, appliances and other big purchases, and the woman should pay for the everyday expenses such as food, transportation and, of course, the babysitter.

Monica disagrees with this.

First, many women believe that raising a child should be a joint responsibility, not just the mother's. They feel the financial contribution for the children's expenses should be shared by the parents. But she points out that our tax laws are not based on this assumption, because only a working mother can claim an income tax deduction for chid care expenses.

Monica also noted that until recently, a more serious problem arose. Matrimonial property laws in most provinces said that on divorce, the property was to be divided up according to who paid for it. This meant that the husband got everything if the wife had used her earnings to pay for groceries and day-to-day living costs.

Although these laws have changed now, it's still worth giving some thought to the way expenses are divided between the two earners, she advised.

One possibility, Monica suggested, would be for both spouses to contribute to expenses in proportion to their incomes. Suppose that the wife earns $1,000 a month and the husband earns $2,000. The wife would pay one-third of all expenses and the husband would pay two-thirds, she said.

If that does not seem fair, Monica recommended pooling both incomes, paying all the expenses, and then dividing the balance equally.

Whatever system is chosen, make sure that each partner has personal money to spend as she or he wishes. It's important for women to maintain their own, separate bank account, as it may affect their credit standing, she added.

The strange animals of Australia

By Dr. William H. Nault, Publisher, The World Book Encyclopedia

At one time, according to scientific theory, all the continents were part of one huge land mass. Australia became separated from this land mass about 200 million years ago. As a result, its animals developed differently from those on other continents.

Australia's most famous native animals include kangaroos, koalas, wallabies, wombats, and other marsupials. Marsupials are mammals that give birth to tiny, poorly developed offspring. In most species, the babies mature in a pouch on the mother's stomach. Australia has about 150 species of marsupials, all of which have pouches. The only marsupial native to North America is the opossum.

The platypus and the echidna are among the strangest Australian animals. They are the only mammals that hatch their young from eggs. Platypuses live only in Australia. Echidnas live in Australia and on the neighboring island of New Guinea.

There's a lot going on for young people in Ontario.

Find out

Young people in Ontario can take advantage of a number of excellent programs and services offered by the Government of Canada. If you're interested in any of the ones described here or in knowing more about others that are available, just use the coupon below to find out.

Youth Opportunity Fund

The continuing strength and vitality of our nation rests with its young people. That's why the Government of Canada has attached such great importance to creating jobs for Canadian youth.

In the last federal budget, $150 million was added to the $1 billion Youth Opportunity Fund. The purpose of this fund is to help young people, including students, to learn new skills and find jobs in private industry and the voluntary and public sectors.

Training for Youth

Haven't found the right job yet? On-the-job training is one of the most practical ways to gain valuable work experience. The Government of Canada's General Industrial Training program allows you to earn while you learn. Many employers have already used this program to help give young people a start in life.

Your employer may be reimbursed for nearly all of the training costs. As well, the Government of Canada will, in most cases, pay the employer half of your wages during the training period. Training may last from a few weeks to a year. To learn more, use the coupon below.

Career-Access could open doors for you

A lot of young people know what kind of career they want and may even have prepared for it by studying at high school, university or training at vocational schools or community colleges. Even so, once they start looking for jobs in those fields, they may not be able to find what they want. That's when the Career-Access Program can help. It was designed to encourage employers to hire these people so they can gain valuable experience in their chosen careers. The encouragement for employers is that the Government of Canada pays part of the wages while the person is gaining needed experience.

Specialized Services

Because they have no job training or trade, lots of young people find it difficult to get jobs. So there are special programs designed just for them. For example, Specialized Youth Units (SYUS) are staffed with people who cooperate with community agencies and Outreach projects to place these young people in suitable and rewarding jobs where they can increase their skills. There's a SYU branch in Scarborough where Ontario young people can apply for help.

Planning now for future job security

Modern technology keeps changing the ways we work and the jobs we do. Canada's National Training Program includes a plan that will make sure people are trained now for the kinds of skills that will be very much in demand in the eighties and after. The Skills Growth Fund encourages public training institutions and private non-profit organizations to teach modern technical and related skills and to develop the facilities for this work. The easiest way to find out more about training is to ask at your local Canada Employment Centre.

Get involved in Katimavik

Katimavik is a popular and successful national youth program for single people from 17 to 21. If you participate, you will be involved for nine months, travelling in groups to different regions in Canada and working on community projects. The work is rewarding and varied, from the restoration of cultural artifacts to the clearing of trails and waterways in municipal parks. While you don't get paid as you work, there is a $1,000 honorarium at the end of the nine months.

Some Katimavik projects here in Ontario have involved a companionship and home care program for seniors, establishing day care centres for single mothers and a drop-in centre for teens.

Or, you could find yourself building a fishermen's wharf on Cape Breton Island or staffing a community cablevision station in British Columbia.

This year, 5,184 participants will be needed for over 400 projects in cities and communities across Canada. It could be a great way for you to develop new skills, meet new people and learn a lot about yourself and your country. Interested? Find out!

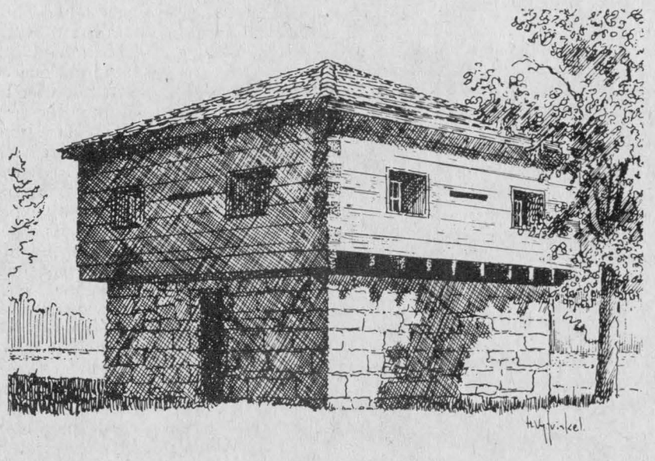
RIDEAU CANAL

Ontario



Although it was built to defend the summit of the Rideau Canal at Upper Rideau Lake, the Narrows blockhouse was never attacked. It was used, instead, as a residence for the lockmaster and laborers.

Today, the blockhouse serves to remind us of the initial purpose of the canal - military defence.

Parish hall opening a milestone for church

[CARDINAL] - The new Sacred Heart Parish Centre was packed on Sunday for the official opening.

Reeve Jim McLaughlin, a member of Sacred Heart Church, welcomed everyone to the opening.

"You have been dreaming of this for many years, now we have the reality here, today, my sincere congratulations," said Archibishop Francis spence, who blessed the new centre. "Your challenge now is to put it to good use."

Father Edward Keyes thanked Archbishop Spence for coming, his blessing on the building and the encouragement he gave the parishioners towards the building of the hall.

The previous pastors of the parish investigated the possibil ity of a new hall for years and without the charity of the late Tom Serviss, the late Ruth English and everyone who contributed time and money, this building would not be a reality today, Father Keyes said.

In honour and memory of Mr. Serviss the Sunday School will be called the Tom Serviss Sunday School.

The building was started in September 1983. "It has been a rich experience and I thank God for it," said Father Keyes. "In conclusion I would like to say we did it the old fashioned way, we earned it."

Father Thomas Raby, former Dean of the Brockville Deanery and now Vicar General of the Archdiocese of Kingston, reminisced of the years he has known Father Keyes.

This is the second parish hall Father Keyes has opened, the first was in Lanark, he noted.

"I feel a parish hall is a great community builder, a place where the needs of body and soul can be met," said Father Raby. "I congratulate Father Keyes and the parishers on this beautiful hall."

Margaret Patterson, a lifelong resident of Cardinal and the oldest member of Sacred Heart Church cut the green ribbon to officially open the hall.

An Irish concert by Desmond McCann and Group of the Irish Club of Ottawa entertained following the luncheon. Mr. McCann, his wife Ann, son Desmond and The Voyageurs sang such familiar Irish songs as My Wild Irish Rose, Black Velvet Band and McNamara's Band to name a few.

KEEP GARLIC

To keep garlic fresh, first peel the cloves then place in a small container filled with cooking oil, says Monica Beaumont, a food and nutrition specialist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food's rural organizations and services branch. Cover and refrigerate. The garlic will not only stay fresh but will also flavor the oil. The oil can be used for cooking or salad dressings.

Phantom delegation has union concerns

[BRINSTON] - It was the delegation that wasn't.

An irate anonymous caller expressed his concern about the township employee's union to Matilda Township Reeve Loren Strader prior to last Thursday night's council meeting ans asked that he and a delegation be placed on the agenda.

Mr. Strader subsequently had this done over some objections that delegations shouldn't be accepted unless the request is made by persons identifying themselves.

However, all was for naught as the delegation never appeared. Only a regular visitor to council, Harry Fawcett, was on hand for the meeting and he, too, was expecting to hear the delegation.

New bylaw in the works

[BRINSTON] - Clerk-treasurer Bill Horner reported to last Thursday's regular session of Matilda council that he hopes to have a new draft bylaw for township buildings prepared for April.

Mr. Horner pointed out the present bylaw was drafted in 1949 when Orville Seeley was township reeve. "Our old bylaw is terribly outdated," he said. "Its not sophisticated enough to deal with today's standards."

Even so, Mr. Horner noted he was impressed with the quality and scope of the 1949 bylaw. "Its really not too bad," he said.

THE HONOURABLE NORMAN STERLING, M.P.P.
CARLETON-GRENVILLE
Provincial Secretary for Justice
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

Ontario

In the not-too-distant past, many people supported the idea that a woman's place was in the home, and that the only career available to her was as a housekeeper and mother. Today, fortunately, a woman's place is where she wants to be.

To assist the women of Ontario in attaining their career goals, the Ontario government recently announced the new Open Doors program, a pilot program designed to bring career information to boys and girls in grades 7 and 8. The innovative aspect of th project is that the students will receive this information first-hand from women who have been successful in non-traditional fields.

Across our province, women are making their makr in business, science, law, the arts and public life. The number of women working outside the home has grown steadily, to th epoint where women constitute 43 percent of the work force, and by the year 2000, that figure is expected to be almost 50 per cent. Inequality, however, is still very much with us, as Ontario's women earn on the average, 63 per cent of what men earn.

To some extent, this wage gap is the result of occupational segregation in the work force. Although men work in a wide variety of areas, 61 percent of women are employed as waitresses, secretaries or sales clerks - positions which have traditionally been filled by women, and which are low-paying.

A 1983 study showed 99 percent of Canada's elementary school children have fixed ideas about which sex does what task, what girls and boys should be and what their aspirations, expectations or limitations should be. When not challenged, these early attitudes become rigid.

The Open Doors program will provide young girls with valuable career guidance, and has four main objectives: it will stress the importance of sound career preparationa nd present a broad range of possibilities; it will impress young girls in particular with the need to relate course selection to career choices; it will show how women successfully combine careers, especially in non-traditional areas, with the roles of wife and mother as well as a single person; and finally, it will encourage links in the community between students and professional groups or individual role models.

The Ontario Women's Directorate will invite provincial and local women's groups to nominate women from non-traditional fields who will speak to students about their careers. The directorate will maintain an inventory of names, and will train the speakers and provide a consultant to link speakers with students and the community.

The pilot project will be carried out in the regions of Thunder Bay, Sault Ste. Marie, North Bay, London, Peterborough and Kingston. After the first year, the project may be expanded to other centres and may include grades nine and ten.

In facing the challenges of the future, it is important to realize that human potential is too precious a resource to waste, and that our young people should be encouraged to develop their abilities to the fullest. By opening career doors for them, we are in fact making an investment in the future.

By J.M.

It's been almost 30 years since parents cringed in fear at the thought of their teenager wanting to dress in Elvis Presley look-alike outfits or shape their hair into a ducktail. It's twenty years since another group of parents expressed the same emotions at the prospect of their sons growing hair as long as the Beatles. Now a third generation of parents is wondering what would possess their offspring to want to look like Boy George. You may or may not like his music but hardly anyone is unaware of Boy George's girlish good looks. Girls who want to dress to look like Boy could be considered to have little good taste. If the boys want to look like that, the problem could run a little deeper. There's even a woman in Edmonton who for $10 will fix up your teenager with all he or she needs to look like Boy George. Bodyguards are extra.

For those who don't want to go all the way, another current clothing trend can be personalized by buying just a pair of gloves. The beauty of this one is that you can go halves with a friend because only one glove is needed. If you prefer the Michael Jackson look, try and find a sequined glove for one hand. Another rock star whose name escapes me, chooses to wear a glove with all the fingers cut out of it. A trip to Toronto last week showed that this latter one is proving popular.

All of these fashion trends and a dozen more are coming out of music videos. If you want to see what young people will be wearing in a few weeks, check out any of the many late-night rock video programs on TV. With today's hit music accompanied by visuals of the performers in various locations, these mini-extravaganzas are among the hottest thing on TV. No expense is spared to make the video as exciting and attention-grabbing as the music. Most are good fun; some are a little provocative, and a few are downright depraved. It's this last category that will give the censors a workout. If the parents who winced when Elvis gyrated could get a look at a few of the fringe-element videos they'd faint dead away. There's plenty of material to keep Maude Barlow and her merry troupe on the picket lines until they reach retirement age.

As this issue of the Chieftain goes to press, we're smack in the middle of spring break. For those who can swing a trip to either the ski hills or the sunny south it's a great diversion in the middle of a long and dreary season. For those who aren't going anywhere, the prospect of a whole week with a houseful of bored youngsters trapped indoors by miserable weather is enough to send most parents heading for the cooking sherry.

The bottom line: If you think looks aren't deceiving consider the dollar bill. It looks the same now as it did ten years ago.

Postal "experiment" should be stamped out

By W. Roger Worth

The Canadian Federation of Independent Business is upset about a decision by the government-owned Canada Post to get into the retail business. With 64,000 members operating small and medium-sized enterprises, more than a third of them retail outlets, there's little wonder the organization is complaining.

"In a vote on the issue, almost 90 per cent of our members were opposed to such a plan," says the CFIB's Executive Director, Legislative Affairs, Jim Bennett.

In its latest move, Canada Post has set up catalogue kiosks for consumer goods, in co-operation with retailer Consumers Distributing, at eight postal stations, although the plan may eventually include all 8,000 postal offices.

Canada Post expects to earn extra revenue from the retail system, in addition to the fees it charges for delivering the product.

On the surface it may seem a reasonable plan. The problem, of course, is that it creates unfair competition for retailers and particularly smaller merchants who have invested heavily to service a local market.

• Canadian taxpayers, including small retailers, subsidize Canada Post to the tune of $300-million per year for what is, many times, lacklustre service. In layman's terms, that's an average $30 per year direct cost for every worker in the country.

• That means taxpayers will directly subsidize the new retail operation through the $25,000 per year salaries paid to the posties, as well as time spent by executives such as Warren, who earns an estimated $119 per hour.

• The subsidized postal premises were paid for by the Canadian public. Now these buildings are being used by Consumers Distributing, at cut-rate costs, to compete with private sector firms that built retail businesses with no public support. In fact, unlike Canada Post, these retail firms are heavily taxed on their investments.

For Consumers Distributing, of course, all this is one sweet deal. That company wins the advantage of using taxpayer financed buildings and employees to compete with ordinary retailers.

This is not the first time Canada Post has intruded into the private sector. In an earlier move, the giant Crown corporation incorporated a system designed to create advertising competition for the media, including weekly newspapers, again using subsidized postal workers to handle the job.

Yet, while Warren is directing these unfair and questionable forays into the private sector, Canada Post is losing $300-million per year with a single letter rate of 32 cents, while the United States system is profitable with a 25-cent (Canadian) rate.

Canada Post says its eight-location retail operation is a 90-day experiment. That's good news. It means the posties can, and should, quietly close up retail shop at the end of the period and go back to running the basic delivery service. Then taxpayers won't be unfairly subsidizing one retailer at the expense of another.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir or Madam:

I am writing to you in regards to the controversary raised by some members in the community regarding the affairs of the Dundas County Association for the Mentally Retarded (DCAMR).

In this country, so far a person has a right to express his or her opinion and is normally judged by a court of law, not a group of so called interested people. During a court session, both sides of the action is heard by a judge and jury. It is also customary for both parties to have equal opportunity to present their case. However, in this instance, some reporters have only reported the negative aspects of the points raised by the concerned group. Individuals who have the knowledge of the facts to respond to their questions have been told to be quiet so that the truth will remain hidden from the public. The only method to advise the public of the actual happenings surrounding the new building (Seaway Enterprises) on Allison Avenue in Morrisburg is by corresponding with you.

At the last meeting, the agenda proposed by the board in order to bring the points of concern to the public was denied by the concerned group and consequently spent a large part of the night trying to present their agenda to cover their side of the issues.

In 1982 it became evident that the old dairy building was not satisfactory to meet the needs of the ever increasing enrollment of the workshop and lifeskills programs. We were advised by the ministry that by March 31, 1983 which is the end of the association's fiscal year, that an additional 10 spaces would be approved by Ministry which would bring the total enrollment to 40 spaces in the old dairy building in Morrisburg. According to ministry requirements, each workshop client and instructor is to have a total of 150 sq. ft. of space, therefore since 20 spaces are approved plus three staff, total space required for that program is 23 x 150 sq. ft equals 3,450 sq.ft. Ministry requirements for lifeskills programs are that each client and instructor requires 100 sq. ft. of space, therefore with the then approved 10 spaces plus two staff plus the 10 new spaces plus two more staff meant that the lifeskills program required 24 x 100 sq. ft. equals 2,400 sq. ft. A total of 5,850 sq. ft. was required to operate the existing programs as of March 31, 1983. The old dairy building provided us with 4,500 sq. ft. which was cut up in many small rooms. We also did not have approval of the Industrial Safety Inspection Branch of the ministry nor did we have washrooms to meet the requirement of ministry under The Vocational Rehabilitation Act or Developmental Services Act.

In July of 1982 some members of the concerned group passed a motion in committee recommending to the board that an expansion of 15 workskills spaces was required to meet the needs of the association. This has now grown to a requirement of 26 spaces. At the same time, 1982, the ministry announced that the Tri Ministry Project would be providing funding for programs for all mentally retarded people in nursing homes and homes for special care and from their initial study a further need of 15 spaces was identified. In order to provide services for all identified persons a further requirement of 5,400 sq. ft. would be required, which meant a total of 11,250 sq. ft. of space for services in Dundas County.

It would seem very obvious that the rental expense would have to increase if we were going to comply with the ministry's space requirments and provide the necessary programs to meet the individual needs of the handicapped.

A building committee was established to investigate an alternative to our space shortage. The committee spent many hours searching for properties that could provide the space required. Many prices were obtained with a view of renovating the old dairy building. As well as this, other properties were looked at in Morrisburg through which it became apparent that approximately $175,000 or more would be spent in renovating buildings which would not be owned by the association. The building committee, after considering that their best solution to our problem was to build an building designed to meet the needs of the association.

The Board, at it's meeting of September 20, 1982 discussed the alternative ways of financing such a project and decided that they would proceed to build the building in a manner that was legal and in line with ministry requirements, as they were advised that it would be some time before capital funding would be received. The matter was discussed at length according to the minutes and the motion to buy land and build was passed by the board then in office, namely M. Haggart, Rev. Theijsmeijer, A. Sharkey, L. Dietrich, B. Wouters, O. Beaudoin, G. Davidson, I. Casselman and J. Whittam. Absent - E. Carkner and R. Doesburg. Since then, there has been several changes in the membership of the board and only a few have remained to carry out the committed project which was a major undertaking. The criticism levelled at the present board members by the concerned group is truely unjust. The board has spent many hours of deliberation with much effort and sincerity being put forth to make this association and this major building project a reality so as to provide dignified programs for the handicapped.

The board has always had an open door policy and no member to this date has been denied information or asked to leave a meeting. The by-laws under general membership, clearly states, "It is the responsibility of the general membership to be informed." The concerned group could have requested an in-camera meeting to raise their questions, but chose to go public, thus damaging the image and reputation of the association and unfortunately, as always, the clients of the programs will suffer from this adverse publicity in the long run.

The question of financing the building has been erroneously reported with different figures in each publication of papers. The building to date has cost $437,603.14 for 11,520 sq. ft. in the new structure. encumbered not some but a first mortgage of $210,000 held by the Royal Bank of Canada and some $144,500 invested by the holding company principles and leasehold improvements of approximately $83,980.48. Please note that the above amounts cover both buildings on the property and provides a total of approximately 15,000 sq. ft. of total space, i.e. 11,520 sq. ft. program space, 800 sq. ft. administration office and 2,680 sq. ft. warehouse / storage space. The cost of the new locations on Allison Avenue is $3.76 per sq. ft. while the cost of the old dairy building was $4.10 per sq. ft. and provided for 30 clients and staff.

In regards to the temporary use of program monies, I would ask you if any person has never used monies from his savings account to make a major purchase and then put it back into his savings account rather than borrow from an outside source?

I ask, how do municipalities operate their budgets when tax dollars are collected? Is each percentage of the tax dollar placed in a special account to be spent only on that budgeted item? I do not believe that there is an accounting system in this country or a corporation that operates any differently than we have during the past year.

The ministry's process for capital funding has been explained many times to the building committee and to the board prior to their motion to build. I would draw your attention to an article published on May 25, 1983, Iroquois Chieftain front page, third column, second last paragraph and I quote, "Mr. Gates said there is a three and a half year waiting list for capital funding." He noted the Association can't wait for government approval of all its projects, that is why the board and committees have to raise funds in the community or seek other alternatives to finance the project.

The ministry, to date, has not established a policy that allows associations to purchase buildings outright for their operations. The Ministry has chosen over the years to provide operational dollars for rent only, they will not consider debt retirement, i.e. principle and interest payments within operational budgets. The members who are concerned about holding companies being the landlord for the purpose of having suitable program space should be advised that this same procedure is perfectly legal and accepted in South-western Ontario, but because it is Eastern Ontario and not recommended by the party of four, it is not acceptable. It is time to wakeup, otherwise we will all be standing in the rain without any raincoats.

The decision to move to the Allison Avenue location in October 1983 was made by the board of directors fully aware that ministry had not approved the building. The reason this decision was made was a result of the verbal report of the comprehensive audit team with area office Ministry personnel who attended the board meeting of October 20, 1983. Senior Consultant of Touche Ross & Partners, Management Consultants, indicated that under the acts (Vocational Rehabilitation and Developmental Services) the Board was responsible for providing program space for clients that met the requirements of ministry and for their safety. It was known that the Local bantams west division champs

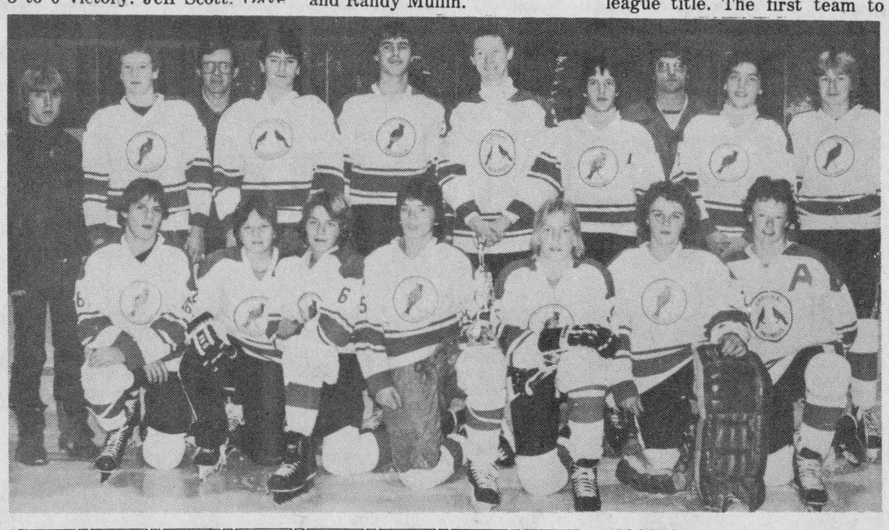
[CARDINAL] - After winning a best-of-three series against Athens, the Cardinal-Iroquois Bantams were crowned west division champions of the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League.

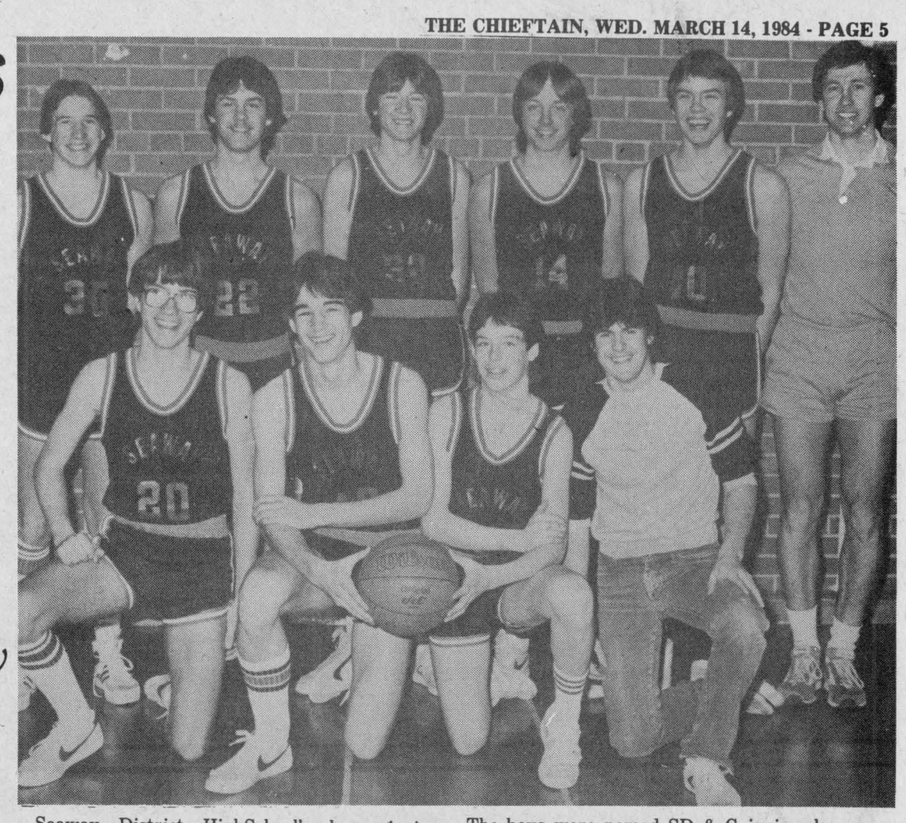
The three-game set began last Tuesday, March 6 at Cardinal as the local players hammered their opponents 7 to 1 led by Dave Orzel who scored three goals and Jeff Scott who added two goals and one assist. Randy Mullin and Jamie Whitteker each added a goal and assist while Glen Blok earned two assists and Bill Murphy and Larry McCurdy each had an assist.

Athens turned the tables at home on Friday as they won 3 to 1 in a close match. The lone Cardinal-Iroquois goal came off the stick of Jeff Scott with Bill Murphy and Jeff Burgess assisting.

In the sudden-death final game at Cardinal, Sunday, the local Bantams hung tough for a 3 to 0 victory. Jeff Scott, Dave Orzel and Larry McCurdy scored goals with assists going to Orzel, Mike Dishaw with two and Randy Mullin.

The Bantams now wait to take on east division winners Morrisburg for the overall league title. The first team to attain four points in the three-game set will be declared champions of the league. Dates for the series haven't been determined.





Seaway District HighSchool's boys junior basketball team ended a highly successful season ona losing note at the Eastern Ontario Secondary School Association championship held at Carleton Place March 2. Seaway lost games to Kingston and Carleton Place but coach Don Fairweather said he was pleased with the team's performance on the season. The boys were named SD & G junior champs after knocking off St. Lawrence High School in the school board final. Team members are, front from left, Steven Dumm, Martin Noakes, Mike Casselman and manager Mike VanAllen. In back are Bill Hutt, David Sabourin, Dan Dodge, Jim Bennis, Brian McAdam and coach Fairweather. Absent is Dan Noakes.

Sugar bush opens Saturday

[MORRISBURG] - Those who wish to celebrate the end of a long, cold Ontario winter, soon will be able to enjoy a traditional spring outing as the Crysler Park Maple Sugar Bush is set to open Saturday, March 17.

Operated by The St. Lawrence Parks Commission, the sugar bush is located off the Upper Canada Road, 9 km east of Morrisburg, Exit 758 off Highway 401. It will be open to the public daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. until Sunday, April 8. Admission is free.

Children and adults will enjoy sampling the freshly made maple products, as well as learning about one of North America's oldest industries.

A series of displays at the sugar camp depicts the original methods of collecting sap used by the Indians and the changes made in the gathering and production by European settlers. The shanty and bush show the industry in the early 1900s.

An audio-visual presentation, The Story of Maple Syrup will be shown weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Upper Canada Restaurant, 2 km east of the sugar bush, off Highway No. 2 at Upper Canada Village.

This also is the site of pancake brunches featuring maple syrup weekends from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Visitors to the sugar bush wishing to take a tasty reminder of spring home may purchase maple products both at the bush and at the village store, which is open weekdays 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and weekends 8 a.m. to 5 p.m

Letter To The Editor

old building did not meet requirements and was not safe for the clients. The new building met the requirements for safety and the acts and the decision to move was unanimous.

It was obvious that the underlying attack on the present board of directors is to raise doubt in the minds of members regarding the administration of the association. The previous board husband and wife teams have in the past dictated to the membership and carried out their hatchet job on senior staff, i.e. executive director, group home manager, workshop manager and are now attacking the current executive director. Many influential people of the community refuse to return to the membership to work for the good of the handicapped because of the tactics used and their history of past actions which still shroud this association.

It should also be pointed out that some concerned members have challenged the right of some community people to sit as members of this association because of a conflict of interest while in their own numbers they feel that it is quite right for the transportation chairman to enjoy all the gasoline purchases and servicing of the vehicles at his place of business. The concerned group has recruited members from North Bay and Weston, Ontario. Now I ask you where does justice lie?

The positive side of the publicity to date is that membership has increased from 34 to 117 at last count, which has made history for this association and the best fund raising event in 1984, perhaps with this spirit we will be able to take up the option to purchase the building before the end of 1985.

At the meeting concerns were raised regarding the personal needs of the clients and the amount of dollars spent to date on their behalf. I would like to point out that we only have dollars to spend on residential clients and that certain procedures are followed in the administration of the budgets. I would venture to say that their personal wardrobes are as up-to-date and complete as any concerned members. We have in the past and will continue until advised to the contrary, proceed with our present policy of spring buying so that the clients have up-to-date styles and fashions for their spring, summer and fall requirements.

The executive director's responsibility is to operate the day to day functions of the association and is subject to an annual audit each year by a very reputable firm of accountants. The ministry also does various checks and balances monthly as well as times selected by the treasury department without our prior knowledge. It would therefore be very foolish and difficult for myself or the board to allow any discrepancies or disappearance of funds from the programs. I would remind you that our fiscal year end is March 31, 1984.

I would also like to advise you that I have been bonded since 1956 and to date no bonding company has lost a cent on my account. It is not my intention to ruin the reputation and financial trust that I have enjoyed in my many years of administration duties.

The executive director's position is that of a master / servant relationship which is as follows: "A servant acts under the direct control and supervision of his master and is bound to conform to all reasonable orders given to him in the course of his work."

As executive director of your association, I operate with certain principles in mind that I have learned and abided by for many years in an effort to carry out my duties for the handicapped.

These are: 1. Is it the truth?;

2. Is it fair to all concerned?;

3. Will it build goodwill and better friendship?;

4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

The board or myself does not deserve the cirticism that has been raised by those concerned because we have and I believe, will continue to operate for the goal of the association, namely: "That retarded people live in a state of dignity, share in all elements of living in the community and have the opportunity to participate effectively."

Thousands of children like Timmy & Tammy get the help they need from Easter Seals to carry on their fight for an independent life.

Your help is needed, too.

Back a Fighter with Easter Seals

THE FUTURE IS WHERE WE ALL SPEND THE REST OF OUR LIVES.

This campaign is run locally on behalf of the Easter Seal Society. The area covered in Iroquois, Brinston, and Cardinal.

*This years goal for this area is $2500.00

*The other half is kept here by their organization to be used at their discretion for the local children.

*In the past the money has been used to purchase back braces, a device for a child with a deformed arm, shoes for children with club feet, wheel chairs, a motorized scooter for a high school student. They also provide transportation for parents to hospitals, transportation for the children to doctors, dentists, etc. and every year children are sent to summer camp.

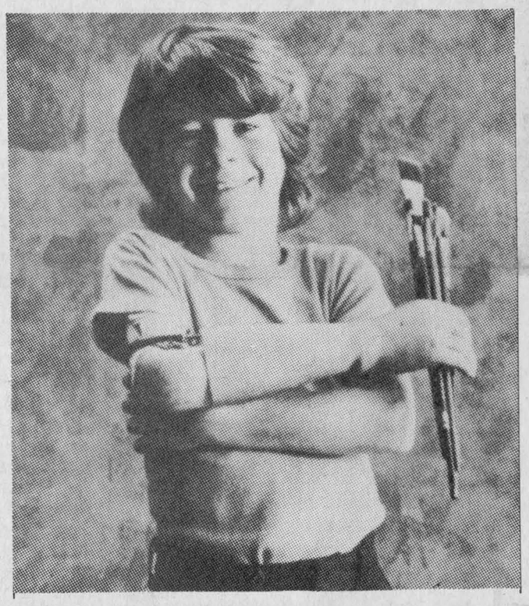
FUTURE #1

JACK is 10 years old. Although he's been paralyzed from the waist down since birth, his bright conversation and fascination with wheelchair basketball tell you a lot about the future he's fighting for.

That future means that Jack is going to have to work hard to fight his disability, and it's a fight he's going to win. Easter Seals helps, but we can only do that with your help. So please. Back a fighter.

FUTURE #2



JASON is 9 years old. He has only one arm, but he's learning to make the arm that was made for him work very well. Right now he wears out 3 bicycles a year. In his future, he wants to work with his hands, and he tackles everything he does like a true fighter.

Easter Seals helps, but again we can only do it with your help to

FUTURE #3

CHARMAINE is 9 years old. She's paralyzed from the waist down and has been since birth.

Charmaine has learned to walk with canes, a task she fights for with the spirit of a champion. Ask her what she wants to do when she grows up and she says, "Maybe be a writer."

With your help, Easter Seals can help keep up the fight for this bright girl's future.

Give support to Tammy and Timmy

In 1947, when The Easter Seal Society (then known as the Ontario Society for Crippled Children) introduced the Easter Seal Campaign in the Province of Ontario, a young physically disabled boy was chosen to represent all physically disabled children in the province.

This young boy was known as Timmy (an in some years, Tammy) the spirit of the name being adopted from Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. Every year since 1947, the society has chosen a young boy or girl to serve as Timmy or Tammy.

Following in this tradition, The Easter Seal Society is pleased to introduce Tammy, 12-year-old Susan Moffatt from Watford, and Timmy, 11-year-old Roddy Cornwell from Callander. For the first time, in 1984 both a Timmy and a Tammy will represent all physically disabled children in the province who are assisted by Easter Seals.

Tammy was born with a spinal defect called spina bifida. She wears below-knee braces and can walk short distances unaided, but for longer distances uses crutches or a wheelchair. Tammy had her first surgery when she was ten-hours-old and has had further surgery 22 times. Tammy is in grade 7 at Watford Public School and enjoys history, French andliterature. She is an avid football spectator and loves to go horseback riding.

Susan is the daughter of Keith and Marion Moffatt and has a sister and a brother. Her greatest attribute is her attitude towards life, and she emphasized this in a speech given at a service club dinner meeting.

"When I was born, the doctors told my parents that maybe, I would die and that maybe it would be best if I did. Well, I didn't, and I'm really glad because I really love life."

Timmy has birth abnormalities of arms and legs, and has had both arms amputated below the elbow. Timmy developed Legg Perthes when he was quite young but through proper treatment and therapy his condition has been cured. At the present time he wears below-elbow artificial arms. He is in grade 6 at M.T. Davidson Public School in Callander and enjoys cross-country skiing, soccer, hockey and golf. Roddy is the son of Doug and Nancy Cornwell and has two sisters and two brothers. He explained his outlook on life when he demonstrated his artificial arms to his classmates.

"Hey", Roddy said to the students, "Don't feel sorry for us. We can do lots of things that you guys do."

As Timmy and Tammy, Roddy and Susan represent the thousands of physically disabled children and young adults who receive Easter Seal rehabilitation services. During the 1984 Easter Seal Campaign, they will make personal appearances around the province and will be special guests on the 1984 Easter Seal Telethon, March 31 and April 1. You can help all the Timmys and Tammys in th eprovince by Backing a Fighter - Use Easter Seals.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Zoning By-law No. 6-84 changes the zone category of approximately 8.6 ha. of land from "General Industrial (GM) zone" to "Highway Commercial - Special Exception (HC-2) zone." The lands are located on the east side of Carman Road (County Road No. 1) immediately north of Highway No. 401 (as shown below). The zoning By-law will implement the provisions of Amendment No. 1-2 to the South Dundas Official Plan. The "HC-2" zone will permit development of a "car and truck service centre" subject to certain requirements. The amendment also alters the existing definition of "vehicle" as it pertains to a "commercial vehicle."

Heat pump system can save cash

When condsidering home improvements this year, don't forget the savings in money and energy that you could reap by modernizing your home's heating and cooling system.

For example, if you are thinking of replacing your old central air conditioning system, consider replacing it with a heat pump.

The concept

The heat pump concept, may be new to many customers. But, it is not new in the heating and air conditioning industry. Basically, a heat pump is a central air conditioner than can both heat and cool your home. In summer it takes heat from inside the home and transfers it to the outside air. In winter, the cycle reverses, and heat from the outdoor air is transferred inside the home.

Because heat pumps only move heat from place to place without burning fuel to produce the heat, these systems are highly efficient. With fuel costs rising yearly, this makes heat pumps especially attractive.

If your existing oil or gas furnace is still in good condition, but you still want to take advantage of the savings from heat pump efficiency, consider an add-on heat pump.

Don't throw away wast heat

For economical operation, it doesn't make sense in the summer to have a central air conditioner or heat pump take heat from inside the home and just "throw it away". One residential heat recovery unit that turns this wast heat from a heat pump into a source for heating household water.

With a one-to five-ton heat pump system, the Hot Water Bank can produce more than 9 gallons of hot water per ton of rated cooling capacity. For example, a heat pump rated at five tons of cooling capacity can provide 46 gallons of hot water for each hour the unit's compressor operates.

Part of the heat moved by the heat pump is reclaimed with to concentric pipes. The inner one circulates water from the home water heater, while the outer circulates a refrigerant gas heated to about 200 degrees by the waste heat.

This action heats water from the water heater to 140 to 160 degrees. The water is then stored in the water heater, as ususal, until it is needed.

Do some planning

There are many factors you need to consider before you make improvements to your home heating and cooling system. The region of the country you live in, the size of house you own, other improvements you have made in the past and even your family life-style all have to be factored into home energy decisions.

A qualified dealer is your best source of information for the options available to you. Many dealers, have portable computers that they can bring to your home. Using these terminals, they can factor in all the data about your home and life-style to help you make the best home heating and cooling decisions.

East Company will perform at the St. Patrick's Day Dance this Saturday at the Matilda Township community hall at Dixon's Corners. Cost to attend is $4 per person and tickets are available from Lions members as well as The Chieftain and Beaupre Jewellers.

Marsh World

HOARY BAT (Lasiurus cinereus) — This large bat, measuring up to 12 cm in length, is most frequently found in wooded areas. However, when resting, hoary bats have been found hanging head down in thickets of low trees or shrubs along the damp edges of marshes, streams and ponds. The name "hoary" refers to the grey or frosty appearance of the long guard hairs on the body. Nocturnal feeders with poor eyesight, they secure their insect prey by echo location, Nature's radar. These bats flutter about at altitudes ranging from treetop levels to inches from the ground in erratic flight.
