WDMH cuts six acute care beds

by Chris Zabel
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Plans to eliminate the operating deficit at Winchester District Memorial Hospital will not reduce service levels. It's estimated that the hospital would generate $1.5 million of debt by March next year if new efficiencies aren't discovered. A plan approved by the hospital board on Jan. 25 will reduce the time patients stay in the hospital.

"The key to our recovery plan is to reduce the average length of stay for patients so that it is in line with the expected length of stay for facilities of like size," said board chair Bill Smirle. "Our hospital currently has one of the highest patient lengths of stay.

"If we are successful in achieving this objective we will be able to provide care to the same number of patients while significantly reducing costs," said Smirle.

The goal is to ensure that only patients requiring acute care will be admitted to hospital beds. Acute care is needed when a patient would be in danger without the immediate availability of hospital services. Acute care is needed, for example, following general surgery, in the case of severe pneumonia, or for a patient with a burst appendix.

New efficiencies at the hospital will cut the operational costs of six beds. When the plan is completely implemented, it will also result in the reduction of 16.62 full-time jobs. Spokesperson Lynne Wilson stressed that these will not be layoffs. The reductions will be made through attrition; when jobs are vacated they won't be filled. Cuts will come from all departments including administration.

"A significant factor contributing to our deficit situation is the shortage of nursing home beds in the Winchester area," said CEO Trudy Reid. It's sometimes the case that an elderly patient will no longer require acute care, but there is no facility available to provide the alternate support required. Dundas Manor in Winchester, for example, has a considerable waiting list.

South Mountain man dies in crash

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — William McInnes, 18, of South Mountain died Sun., Jan. 30 after his snowmobile struck a tree.

Just after 11 am, McInnes was passing other snow vehicles on an Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs trail near County Road 1 when he lost control of his machine.

He was taken to Winchester District Memorial Hospital but later succumbed to his injuries.

An OPP Technical Traffic Collision Investigator is assisting SD&G OPP with the investigation.

There have been three snowmobile accidents in Dundas County since Jan. 11, two of which have been fatal.

Mardi Gras Ball a success

WINCHESTER — Stepping into the upstairs hall at the Winchester Arena was like strolling down a street in New Orleans during Mardi Gras.

Party-goers were overwhelmed by the transformation the hall had undergone to present the first ever Mardi Gras Masquerade Ball, a fundraiser that generated $10,500 in support of the Dundas County Hospice.

"We had a great response," said Larry Michaud, organizer of Saturday's (Jan. 29) event. "It was a great community effort."

Floor-to-ceiling lamp posts, part of the decorations donated by Ottawa Bluesfest, authenticated the atmosphere. The sounds of the Mumbo Jumbo Voodoo Combo had the crowd dancing — almost all night long.

The hall was at full capacity, and more seating was in demand.

"We have already done the floor plan for next year to include 90 more seats," said Michaud.

Patrons had the chance to experience a whole range of Mardi Gras festivities: tarot card readers, crown and anchor game, belly dancers and of course, Cajun cuisine.

The Whalesbone Oyster Catering and Company set up an oyster bar — made from an old boat that was called the Whalesbone — full of oysters and crawfish, and were glad to show people how to eat the crawfish for those who had never enjoyed the delicacy.

"We had a tremendous time," said Josh Bishop of the Whalesbone, who served over 500 Malpeque Oysters and over 25 pounds of crawfish.

The company is based out of Greely, and caters a wide variety of events, but this was the company's first ever Mardi Gras.

"Mardi Gras is something that we're not generally associated with," said Bishop. "But it was a tremendous reception."

Though Mardi Gras and snow aren't usually paired together either, the event seemed to be a big hit. The parking lot at the arena filled up quickly and the coat racks were jammed full.

"It was an extreme success," said Michaud. "We'll do it again."

Elementary teachers vote for strike action

by Bonnie James

CORNWALL — The Upper Canada local of the Elementary Teachers Federation of Ontario (ETFO) has voted to take strike action. A vote on Monday night (Jan. 31) in Cornwall and one last week in Lombardy have moved the union into a position to take collective action.

The local has been without a collective agreement since Sept. 1. Negotiations have taken place, but the union is not satisfied with the progress, according to local president Louise Lanctot.

"Monetary issues have not yet been discussed," she said. One of the big issues is preparation time, which is considered a monetary issue. Teachers in the local would like to see prep time increased from 150 to 200 minutes per week. That prep time could be gained by bringing in specialists to teach each week. Physical education or music specialists could be brought in, freeing up more prep time for regular teachers. "We think it would benefit children," said Lanctot. Teachers are also looking for a cap on supervisory time.

Jamboree to raise tsunami funds

DIXONS CORNERS — The Iroquois Matilda Lions Club and Morrisburg Lions Club have come together to host a Tsunami Relief Bluegrass and Country Jamboree on Sat., Feb. 5. The event will take place at Matilda Hall in Dixons Corners. It kicks off at 12 noon, and the music won't stop until 1 am.

Four country bands and four bluegrass bands are scheduled to perform. The acts include local favorites Nation Valley Bluegrass, Mountain Weasels, Concession 23, and North Wind. The country music bands will take the stage starting at 7 pm and include Easy Pickin's, Matt Hayes and Old Friends, Mary Perry and Country Classics, and Doug Sinclair's WRD.

Along with the musical entertainment, there will be a silent auction. Over 35 items have been donated for auction including a half side of beef, a half side of pork, hockey sticks, handmade afghans, golf green fees, and Adirondack chairs.

There will be a raffle for some amazing prizes including an acoustic guitar, two tickets to see Charlie Pride in June, and two weekend passes to the Sand Road Sugarcamp Bluegrass Festival in August.

Tickets to the jamboree can be purchased at Rick's Gas Bar in South Mountain, Pier 31 in Morrisburg, Mustard's Variety in Iroquois, or Anderson's Strings and Things in Iroquois. Admission is $10 and children under 12 get in free. There will be a spaghetti supper served for $5 a head. All proceeds from the event will be donated to the Red Cross.

NDDHS needs at least $3 million in renovations

MAPLE RIDGE — Dundas County school board trustee Greg Pietersma opened the January meeting of the North Dundas District High School Council describing how the Ministry of Education continues to study the effects of future declining enrolment. To that end, the ministry has commissioned an engineering firm to review all physical assets.

Those schools that are more expensive to bring back to their original standards may be candidates for closure, but that is not an option for Dundas County, where each serves such a wide area. The list of required improvements for NDDHS includes many cosmetic items, such as painting, refinishing floors, and replacing millwork, but also replacing terminal heating units and all the windows.

The estimated cost of $3,087,315 for NDDHS could be two or three times greater when conforming to new building codes is considered. The lower estimate for the Upper Canada District School Board as a whole is $170 million. The board is already carrying $70 million in debt, however, and cannot borrow any more. In this time of provincial spending restraint, there is no indication of where funds might come from.

So it is with the new Russell High School. The blueprints are ready for expansion for an anticipated 370 students, at a price-tag of $10 million. All is set to go but funding is uncertain. Russell is a growing community, and the school will draw students from neighboring Ottawa-Carleton. There is incentive to expand because the provincial formula gives the board $8,000 for every student enrolled.

Treasurer Darlene Simms reported there is $1,554 in the council's account. This does not include the $800 earned from the Homes for the Holidays event.

Principal Brenda Ramsay was in Toronto for a forum of the Ontario Physical and Health Education Association. They recommend 20 minutes of exercise per day for students in Kindergarten through Grade 8. Are 75-minute classes too long? Perhaps the school day should be divided into five periods.

The Canadian Public Health Association has produced a 10-page survey to quiz students on bullying. Ramsay, while wanting to be proactive, discussed whether this is the right approach. The school will be getting a second vice-principal to share the executive workload.

The Small School Summit held in Cornwall at the end of November was attended by 700 people. Eight NDDHS staff members took in the whole three days. Crown attorney Murray Macdonald's presentation on date rape included a graphic video, which was maturely received by the student body.

NDDHS is again hosting a volunteer fair, this year on Tues., April 12. This is to help students make contacts to get the 40 volunteer hours they must have to graduate. Service organizations set up tables in the gym, and radio celebrity Stuntman Stu will give a keynote address. If you have any questions, or know of organizations willing to attend, please contact vice-chair Sue Groves at 448-3154.

The school's parent-teacher evening is scheduled for Feb. 17. The next school council meeting, open to all, is at 7 pm on Tues., Feb. 15.

New RO honors St. Catherine's parent council

METCALFE — St. Catherine School in Metcalfe is singled out for special attention this week by The New RO. The school's parent council has collectively been awarded volunteer of the week honors. Images of the parent volunteers are being used this week during the community calendar portion of New RO programming.

It was principal Anna Yates who nominated the school's parent council for special attention. Specifically she nominated volunteer Laurie McKenny. "She is always willing to go the extra mile to help and to lead many school events. As a result, our community is a better place to be," wrote Yates in her nomination letter.

The New RO decided, however, to honor all of the school's volunteers. A camera crew was at the school on Jan. 26, the school's hot lunch day. Every Wednesday parent volunteers prepare and serve lunch to the students. It's not a fundraiser, just a way of adding to the school environment.

The parent council is also increasingly active on an ongoing basis with the school's reading and French programs. Parents provide one-on-one coaching in these subjects to students who require the help. A French reading club has been started where students earn stickers for each book they read.

Yates expresses a huge amount of confidence in her parent volunteers. "Most of them are mothers, and because they're mothers, to my mind that means they already know how to teach," she said.

The parent council is responsible for much of the fundraising that goes on at the school. Yates said that without this money, field trips would be fewer. Parents are involved with special activities around Halloween and Christmas. The yearbook, school dances, and an annual spring barbecue all depend on the work of school volunteers.

WDMH

"Patients who should be in a nursing home setting remain in acute care beds in our hospital," said Reid. WDMH received $255,600 in transition funds from the Ministry of Health earlier in January to develop its deficit recovery plan. The first step that has been taken is to develop closer co-operation with the Community Care Access Centre for Eastern Ontario.

Elderly patients will be assessed before being admitted to WDMH, to determine the most appropriate level of care that can be provided. "When you can get home, we want you to be home," said Wilson.

Unnecessary acute care service is expensive, and Wilson stressed most people don't want to be in the hospital longer than needed.

Under the hospital's approved recovery plan, the complex continuing care unit will operate 17 beds. Wilson said there will be no reduction to complex continuing care services.

Wilson said staffing cuts could begin in September. Or, if jobs have recently been vacated, the hospital will take a close look at whether they need to be restaffed. WDMH is eligible to apply for severance and labor adjustment costs from a $91-million pool set aside by the Ministry of Health.

The Winchester community has raised close to $15 million for the hospital's Renewing the Vision capital development project. Wilson said that the master plan for the expansion is taking into consideration the fact that the general population in the province is aging. The six beds to be eliminated by next March will be replaced in the expansion.

Teachers

"We wouldn't be looking at any type of action until March," said Lanctot. She explained that the local will now proceed to determine what type of collective action it will take. Collective action generally begins with small choices that do not interfere with the education of children and escalates as time passes. "We could all decide to stop sharpening pencils and that would be considered a collective strike action," she explained.

"Negotiations are continuing," said Ann Hysert, head of human resources for the Upper Canada District School Board. She noted that 31 of 33 boards in the province are in a similar situation. "We have a conciliator assigned and we will look for a solution that will benefit children," she added.

Hysert pointed out that the school board is only funded for 137 minutes of teacher preparation time per week by the Ministry of Education, yet teachers receive 150 minutes. "That shortfall would need to be made up by the ministry," she said about the union's desire for 200 minutes.

Fast cash now available at WDMH

WINCHESTER — Patients and visitors at Winchester District Memorial Hospital now have the convenience of an automated teller machine (ATM) on the premises. The ATM is located in the hallway outside the emergency waiting room, right beside the phone and coffee machine.

Having the ATM installed was the work of the WDMH Auxiliary. The volunteer group is hoping that hospital visitors with more cash in their pockets might spend a little extra in the gift shop. Money is also often needed for patients to cover hospital administration fees.

"It took us over a year to find a company we could comfortably deal with," said Marj Phillips, gift shop co-ordinator. The ATM was set up at no charge to the hospital. Users will pay a service charge of $1.50 for each withdrawal. The fee will be split between the auxiliary and the company that owns that machine.

The ATM at Winchester District Memorial Hospital is located in the hallway beyond the emergency admitting and waiting room. Auxiliary gift shop co-ordinator Marj Phillips, and Joyce Francis (left) tested the machine. Press Photo — Zabel

There's no cost for having the ATM there as long as enough people are using it.

It was decided to put the machine near the emergency room entrance because that's the area the public uses most. The emergency department never closes, so staff will always be nearby to ensure the machine is secure. The gift shop is located a short distance away in the hospital lobby.

The WDMH Auxiliary generates over $10,000 each year which is invested back into the facility through equipment purchases. Operating the gift shop is the group's main means of fundraising. About 40 people volunteer their time to staff the shop. It's open weekdays from 10 am to 12 noon, and 2 to 4 pm. On weekends it's open 2 to 4 pm.

"We're always looking for more people," said Phillips. Although there has never been a male gift shop volunteer, there's no rule saying it's only a job for women. Most volunteers contribute two hours per week. Phillips stressed, however, that any time anyone can commit is welcome.

Besides candy, magazines and toiletries, the gift shop specializes in unusual gift and craft items. Phillips said the gift items usually sell quickly, so there's always something new to see in the shop. And a dedicated local community of knitters keeps the shop supplied with afghans and a supply of warm apparel.

Everyone's reading about family literacy

WINCHESTER — The seventh annual Family Literacy Day celebrations got children and families of all ages in North Dundas involved on Jan. 29.

At the Early Years Centre, children made "tickleopes", and attached a message to a friend to put in the mail. These crafts are made with pliable fun-foam, and are similar to the ones sold by Canada Post.

"They promote child literacy, reading and writing," said Tobey Giles, co-ordinator of the Early Years Centre.

Then the Tri-County Literacy Volunteers' J'aime Lire program introduced children to French in a circle-time story activity.

Throughout the day, groups of students from Winchester Public School had their chance to explore the Winchester Library.

"It's going to get the children in touch with reading, we hope, and have them bring it back to their family," said Gail Storring, the Winchester branch librarian.

Elizabeth Porter, the supervisor for the seven Dundas County library branches, was also on hand to welcome the students.

"If they don't get the support at home, they won't think reading is fun," Porter said.

As a Grade 2 and 3 class filed through the doors of the library, some children seemed surprised as to where they were.

A crowd at the Early Years Centre celebrated Family Literacy Day on Jan. 29 by making tickleopes. The Tri-County Literacy Volunteers also stopped by for the J'aime Lire program, to introduce the children to French.

"I haven't been here in awhile," remarked one student.

"Me neither," responded another.

Porter welcomed them to the library.

"The word public means it's free for everybody," she explained. "Everybody can come and borrow books."

Storring then read the group Alligator Baby, a story by Robert Munsch, the best-selling children's author and honorary celebrity chair of Family Literacy Day.

Before they left, each student received their very own library card.

Created by ABC Canada Literacy Foundation in 1999, Family Literacy Day is a national initiative that promotes the importance of reading and learning together as a family. Every year, on January 27, families and communities across Canada celebrate this special day at literacy-themed events co-ordinated by literacy organizations, schools and libraries.

Rebecca Doucette listens intently to a story being read at the Winchester Public Library. Her Grade 2 and 3 class from Winchester Public School visited the branch on Family Literacy Day.

Librarian Gail Storring reads Alligator Baby, a story by Robert Munsch, the honorary chair of Family Literacy Day. Students from Winchester Public visited the Winchester Public Library throughout the day, Jan. 29, to learn about what the library has to offer.

18-year-old takes Costa Rican vacation with a purpose

Meghan Duncan
Press staff

WINCHESTER — It was in the summer that Tracey Noort, 18, of Winchester applied as a volunteer with Youth Beyond Borders and Samaritan's Purse. She wanted to distribute Operation Christmas Child shoe boxes — boxes filled with toys and needed items for children around the world who would ordinarily not have a Christmas. Almost six months later, she boarded a plane to Costa Rica for 10 days.

"For about the past six years I've been making the boxes," said Noort. "You always wonder what the reactions would be of the children actually receiving them."

She thought about the opportunity a lot before sending in the application. The idea was in the back of her mind for a while before the actual application landed in her hands.

"The application came through quite a few hands to get to me," she said. She received the information through the youth group at Williamsburg Christian Reformed Church.

"What an opportunity," said Noort's mom, Janet. "We were really excited for her, of course."

Tracey Noort, 18, of Winchester travelled to Costa Rica to deliver operation Christmas Child shoe boxes. The graduate of Redeemer Christian High School in Ottawa said the trip was an unforgettable experience.

Janet said that later on in the application process she had a little more apprehension.

"It kind of hit you," she explained. "The reality of her going to a place where, well, it wasn't a resort."

Janet said she worried while her daughter was away.

"We didn't hear from her while she was in Costa Rica because there wasn't a means of communication," Janet said. "We were apprehensive about her well-being, but overall, we were very excited."

After graduating from Redeemer Christian High School in Ottawa, Noort worked full-time at Tim Hortons in Morrisburg to pay for the trip to Costa Rica herself. "She works hard," said her mom. "She's very ambitious. She sees something she wants and goes for it."

While in Costa Rica, Noort and the others had to travel almost three hours one day to get to a remote town.

"This one lady, a volunteer, she spent the whole day with us just showing us around," explained Noort. "It was nice to see her generosity."

Noort said the trip changed her own personality. "I'm more open to people now," she explained. "I knew no one on the trip, so I had to make friends fast."

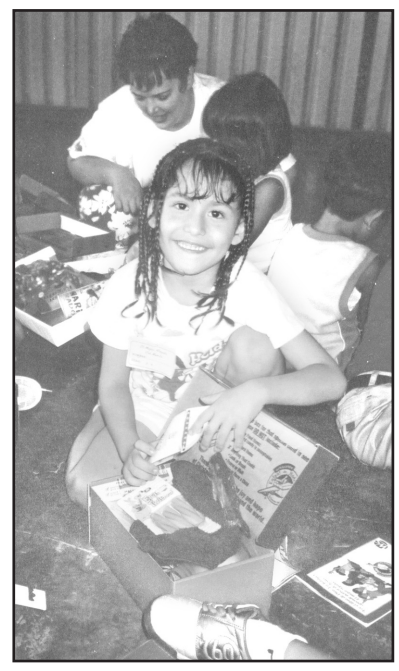
Each day of the 10-day trip, the volunteers went to different towns to distribute the shoe boxes or hold clinics to ensure residents were healthy. Noort had the chance to assist a dentist in one of the clinics, making sure the instruments the doctor was using were clean.

"Everyone enjoyed that we came out," said Noort. "They could see where the boxes were coming from."

Janet explained that in the last year her daughter has travelled quite a bit. "We've travelled out east, but that's as far as we've gone," said Janet. "But within the last year, Tracey's already been to France [on a class trip] and to Costa Rica, and now she's in B.C."

Noort is spending time with her sister Sharon in British Columbia, and may decide to pursue schooling there.

"She had lots of stories to tell," said Janet about her arrival back in Winchester. "She's just a girl who loves to experience the world."



A child in Costa Rica opens her Operation Christmas Child shoe box. Tracey Noort of Winchester, as a volunteer with Samaritan's Purse, was able to hand deliver the boxes to children who would normally not receive Christmas gifts.

Police blotter

Separate assault charges laid

CHESTERVILLE — An investigation by police into a disturbance at a Chesterville residence on Jan. 31 has resulted in charges of assault (two counts involving a young girl and an adult in the home) against a 14-year-old Chesterville girl. A date will be set for family court in Cornwall.

Following an investigation into a family-related incident, which had occurred in the village of Morrisburg on the evening of Jan. 30, criminal charges have been laid and one person was taken into custody. A 37-year old Morrisburg woman has been charged with assaulting a peace officer, obstructing/resisting a peace officer, and two counts of failing to comply with the conditions of an undertaking. A show cause hearing was held in the City of Cornwall.

Batting practice

WINCHESTER — Police received a report on Jan. 31 of vandalism that had occurred in the village of Winchester on Jan. 26. A 1997 Intrepid sustained damage from being struck with a baseball bat, while it had been parked at the Winchester Community Centre.

Canine team tracks accused

IROQUOIS — One person was taken into custody as a result of an incident that occurred on the evening of Jan. 29 in the former Matilda Township. A 21-year old Haddo Road man has been charged with a number of Criminal and Highway Traffic Act charges including dangerous driving, impaired driving, driving over .08, flight from police, failing to remain at the scene of a collision, driving a motor vehicle without a licence, and failing to stop at a stop sign. The charges are a result of an investigation that was initiated due to a traffic violation, and led to a collision and the apprehension of the accused following a track by the SD&G canine team.

Credit card cad caught on camera

KEMPTVILLE — The Kemptville Office of Grenville County OPP is investigating the fraudulent use of a credit card at a local business and is seeking help from the public.

Do you recognize this man?

On Oct. 21, 2004 a male entered Box Office Entertainment in the Kemptville Mall and attempted to purchase merchandise using a counterfeit Visa credit card. The store employee recognized the male from a similar incident on Sept. 24 when approximately $800 in merchandise was illegally purchased. When the employee advised the male that she would have to do a check on the credit card, the suspect grabbed the card and fled the scene.

Investigating officer Larry Kemp has obtained photo images of the suspect from the store surveillance camera and is asking the public's assistance in identifying the male.

Anyone with any information on the above occurrences is asked to call Grenville County OPP at (613) 258-3441 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-233-TIPS.

Carnival participants work up a sweat

by Sean Meagher

MOREWOOOD — Push! Pull! Push! Pull! The log sawing competition at the Morewood Winter Carnival on Saturday (Jan. 29) was one of the more strenuous but exciting events at this year's celebration.

People of all ages were encouraged to step up to the log with a partner to try cutting off a piece with a double handled saw blade. "Should we keep this for the scrapbook?" asked Colleen Read of Morewood jokingly after she and her partner sawed off a piece of wood in about 40 seconds. Each pair of competitors was timed for their performance.

"We do this each year," said Tony Van Gurp who played timekeeper for the majority of the cutting, but decided to get involved after seeing how much fun it was.

Van Gurp of Morewood said there's no real strategy to cutting a piece off the log, just to push and pull hard and fast while working in sync with your partner. "There's not much to it," he said. Surprisingly, more kids than adults were eager to give it a try while the strenuous activity proved to be a little tiring for others.

"You're going to make me do this again?" said an out of breath Jim Carty when his son John, 12, pleaded for him to give it another try. The annual Morewood Winter Carnival hosted by the Morewood Recreation Association had events that appealed to every member of the family and aimed to get the whole community involved.

The carnival also included a pre-teen dance on Jan. 21 and a family bingo on Jan. 27

by Sean Meagher

MOREWOOD — The community of North Dundas took full advantage of the weather last weekend and gathered at this year's Morewood Winter Carnival. Free bucket rides from Hydro One, outdoor hockey games, a log sawing contest and a Kids' Fear Factor competition all helped to bring local residents together in celebration of the winter season.

One of the highly anticipated events was the Fear Factor contest which took place on Sat., Jan. 29. Dozens of kids set out to prove they were fearless by manoeuvring an obstacle course while carrying eggs on plastic spoons, eating a range of gross tasting foods, and rope climbing. They all had their eyes on the portable DVD player prize. In the end it was 12-year old Taylor Adams of Chesterville who won.

"It's good community involvement," said Danielle Byers, a member of the Morewood Recreation Association. Although Fear Factor has only been part of the carnival for two years, it has become a favorite event. Some of the food prepared for the kids to eat included Spam, feta cheese, tarter sauce, cranberries and a variety of other odd dishes.

Members of the recreation association helped to make the weekend run smoothly by aiding in organizing all the events. "It's fun," said Byers.

Outdoor hockey games also drew large crowds as three different age groups played shinny throughout the day. A silent auction, scavenger hunt, fireworks and a karaoke dance all added to the fun and excitement on Saturday, the busiest day of the carnival. On Sunday, a brunch was followed by broomball games and family skating. All proceeds from the carnival will go towards recreational programs.

UCW greets 2005 with installation of officers

by Norma Wylie

WINCHESTER — Janice Hyndman welcomed everyone to the January meeting of the United Church Women by having members repeat the group's purpose and vision.

Donella McIntosh used the theme "prayer" for the worship service.

Bea Warren read the minutes of the December meeting and reported sending 29 good cheer baskets to the sick and shut-ins. Also, a large box of fruit and cookies was sent to Dundas Manor.

A prayer was said in memory of UCW ladies who passed away in 2004 — Leila Robinson, Marilyn Cinnamon, Mathel Sharpley, Ruth McConnell, Gladys Clarke, Gertrude Willard and Wilma Sheldrick.

The annual reports were read, showing a very successful 2004.

Doris Ennis installed the officers for 2005 and plans for the new year were suggested.

The meeting was closed with a social hour.

The presbyterial meeting will be held on Feb. 8 at Winchester Springs United Church. Registration is at 10 am that day. Please bring a bag lunch. The program will include a play by Isobel Eastman, If Men Played Cards as Women Do.

Scott Patterson (left) and Jeff Hyndman of the Mountain Fire Department were at Nationview Public School on Jan. 21 to give out prizes for this year's fire prevention poster and coloring contest. Second place winner in the poster contest was Grade 7 student Darby Ace (left), first place winner was Grade 8 Dara Bowie, third place winner was Grade 8 student Katie Leclair. In the coloring contest, the Grade 3 and 4 division winner was Brittany Barber (right).

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Members of the North Dundas Fire Prevention Committee (NDFPC) have chosen thewinners of the annual poster and coloring contest. Five out of seven winners are students at Nationview Public School.

Each year, the NDFPC receives entries from across North Dundas from junior kindergarten students through to Grade 6 for the coloring contest. The Grade 7s and 8s draw fire prevention posters — this years theme was smoke detectors.

Nationview had the highest number of entrants, and won all three prizes in the poster contest.

Third place, a webcam, went to Grade 8 student Katie Leclair.

Second place, a portable discman, went to Darby Ace, a Grade 7 student.

First prize, a stereo system she had to get her mom to pick up from the school, went to Dara Bowie in Grade 8. Her poster will be the cover art for this year's fire prevention calendar.

Junior kindergarten student Payton Halpenny won in her division for the coloring contest, while in the Grade 3 and 4 category, Brittany Barber took home the trophy.

Melissa Pare of Morewood Public School won in the Grade 1 and 2 division and Scott Jones of Chesterville Public School took home the Grade 5 and 6 division trophy.

Mountain Fire Department volunteers Scott Patterson and Jeff Hyndman were at Nationview Public School Jan. 21 to distribute the prizes to winners in the school. About 150 students in North Dundas entered the contest this year.

Change is good, when you're ready for it

A friend once explained to me her theory on life — that big things happen in five year divisions. It's quite true if you think about it. By the time you turn five, you've started school. By 10, you're definitely not the same person as you were when you were five, and even more changes happen before your 15th birthday. You may think the changes slow down as you get older, but they don't. They're just different kinds of changes.

Having already passed the five, 10 and 15-year marks, I was fast approaching my 20th birthday and waiting for something big to happen.

It was only two weeks after that landmark birthday that things changed.

I got my driver's liscence, bought a car and started a new job at the Winchester Press in the span of one week. It's been quite an adjustment, but I have to say, there was no better place to experience this change than Winchester. It may sound corny, but it's truly a welcoming, close-knit community that has, so far, taken me under its wing.

My new car and I were getting along just fine — it got me to lots of events in the area until the night before Christmas Eve when the transmission decided to die. Kerplunk. That was it. What's a reporter to do without a car? A long wait and few thousand dollars later I was back on the road — with a cracked windshield. So I dropped my car off at R&S Glass on Main Street. They offered me a ride back to the Press office, and had my windshield replaced in no time. They were courteous and less expensive than if I'd taken my car into Ottawa.

Then my engine light decided to flash. The guys at RT Auto were also a great help — they too gave me a ride back to the office, though it wouldn't even have been that long of a walk. They reset the light, and were nice enough not to replace an unneeded part, but told me that if my light came on again, that they'd help me out.

Hopefully I won't have any more car trouble, but at least I know that I can turn to local businesses with confidence.

Having already experienced the community spirit during the parade of lights and the Curling Club's wing night afterwards, I was excited for another community event — the Mardi Gras at the arena in support of the Dundas County Hospice.

I decided to bring my sister and show her what Winchester was all about. After pointing out all the gorgeous century homes that line the streets, we pulled into the arena parking lot, where there weren't many parking spots left. It was only 9:15. The arena hall was packed, and people were still arriving.

The decorations were amazing and the band was awesome — but the cause was even better.

My sister remarked the number of people that came out to the event. A turn out like that would have never happen in our home town of Manotick, just a half an hour down the road. The number of people in costume was also noteworthy — no one was too good to put on a mask and join the party.

After a few crawfish and oysters, we headed back to Manotick. The town seemed dead and the arena parking lot was not nearly full — even though there was a dance going on for Shiverfest, Manotick's winter carnival.

Was it the Mardi Gras theme that attracted so many guests to the Winchester Arena? I think it was more than just the theme.

Winter carnivals and dances take place all around the area, some have bigger turn-outs than others. But to make a community event successful it has to take place in a community — not just a town. I think that's the difference between Winchester and Manotick, and I think that's why I like it here so much.

The next step for me is to find somewhere in Winchester to live. And I have to say, if my landlord turns out to be anything like most of the population of this town — I welcome the change.

And if this five year plan really works, I can't even guess where I'll be on my 25th birthday.

M.D.

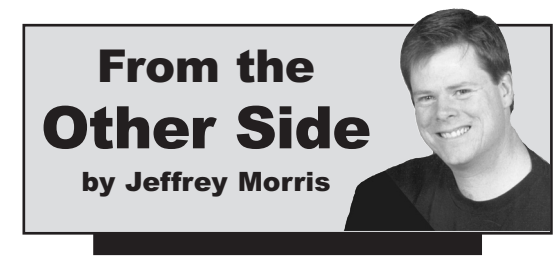
2003 BLUE RIBBON

Hockey history replay?

One of the largest historical ties between Seattle and Ottawa — and one of the only ties for that matter — involves hockey. Last week the children were told the story of the Dawson City Nuggets coming through Seattle 100 years ago on their way to Ottawa to face One-Eyed Frank McGee and the Silver Seven.

This week, as we said good-bye to the mountains and the space needle, and the over-caffeinated Starbucks-aholics that live there, we talked of the NHL lockout that ended up forcing us out of our adopted city and country.



"Will there be a Stanley Cup this year, Dad?"

"No."

"Is this the first time there has never been a Stanley Cup?"

"Funny you should ask, son. One year the Cup was never won, and it happened right here in Seattle."

Seattle is not the first city that comes to mind when one thinks of hockey in the U.S., but the Seattle Metropolitans helped pioneer pro hockey in the U.S. In fact, Seattle was the first U.S. team to ever win a Stanley Cup.

Seattle played in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, which was founded in 1912 by Frank and Lester Patrick. In the pre-NHL days, the PCHA would eventually challenge the winner of the NHA for the Stanley Cup. The Cup series would be played in one city, with the leagues alternating hosting the Cup final. The PCHA played seven-man hockey and allowed forward passing at that time.

The Seattle team entered the PCHA in 1915, and filled their roster with players they had raided from the NHA – particularly Toronto. Among those who joined the Metropolitans were future Hall of Famers Jack Walker and Frank Foyston. The Mets played in Seattle's new state-of-the-art 2,500 seat Ice Arena.

Seattle was competitive right away, and Bernie Morris established himself as one of west coast hockey's premier scorers.

In their second year, the Metropolitans won the PCHA championship and hosted the Montreal Canadiens for the 1917 Stanley Cup.

Seattle won the Stanley Cup -- the first American team to do so. In 1919, Seattle would again host the Montreal Canadiens for the Stanley Cup.

Montreal won the first game 4-2 behind four goals by Newsy Lalonde, but the Metropolitans came back and won the next two. Game four, which could have been the clincher for Seattle, ended a 0-0 tie after five overtime periods.

It was during this game that several players fell ill. Montreal tough guy Bad Joe Hall was rushed to the hospital with a temperature of 105 degrees, and Seattle's Cully Wilson collapsed on the ice due to fatigue. The outbreak of Spanish influenza, or the "black flu" which was gripping the west coast, had hit the Stanley Cup finals.

With one game left to play, the Canadiens could not field a team. It was suggested that Seattle be given the Cup by default, but the Metropolitans refused. It was decided that there would be no Stanley Cup champion.

Seattle would get one more shot at the Stanley Cup, as they would win the 1919-20 PCHA title and earn the right to head east to face the NHA winner. The Metropolitans visited, where else, Ottawa. They lost thee games to two to the Senators.

Although Seattle was a dominant team in western pro hockey over the next few seasons, they would never be able to get past the Vancouver Millionaires. The PCHA folded in 1925, and Seattle's Ice Arena soon became a parking garage.

The 1919 Spanish Flu outbreak marked the only time since the Stanley Cup was first awarded in 1893 that there has been no winner.

Until this year.

If only Bob Goodenow and Gary Bettman knew of the tradition and history they are out to destroy.

1935

Two Winchester Rinks captured the much-coveted Christie Cups from Russell in the annual tournament. The rink of H. Graham, L. Goodfellow, W.J. Stewart and J.D. Stewart won their game 14-10, while the rink of G. Johnston, T. Van Bridger, G.E. Payne and L. Kincaid won 14-13.

Also, first prize in the Ottawa Winter Fair essay contest went to Wilfred O. Durant, son of Ross Durant.

1945

At a special council meeting, Gilbert Raistrick was appointed a full-time civil servant of the municipality. His duties were as caretaker of town hall, police constable, caretaker of the firefighting equipment, fire chief, weed inspector, and supervisor of all municipal works. A faithful employee of the M.F. Beach Company for 15 years, Raistrick was excited to take on his new position the following Monday.

1955

Prescott Juniors deadlocked the lead in the St. Lawrence Hockey League, defeating The Winchester Juniors 10-8. Scoring for Winchester were Ross McMillan with a hat trick, Bill Sherwood (2), Gord Kerr, Bruce Steinberg and Bill Lunny with one each.

1965

Winning the Metcalfe Curling Club's Mens' bonspiel was a Winchester rink of Lorne Acres, Bill Crummy and Charles Ault, skipped by Hugh Wilson.

Also, to commemorate the passing of Sir Winston Churchill, who passed away a few days before, several organizations and Legion branches in the area planned memorial services.

1975

Three North Dundas District High School athletes, Julie Holmes, Rose Hauch and Kathy Workman, performed brilliantly at the Ottawa Kinsmen Harrier Track Meet, Jan. 18. Julie Holmes was first in the 50-metre dash, Kathy Workman was second in the 50-metre hurdles and dash, and Rose Hauch won first place, while establishing a personal best in the shotput with a toss of 37 feet, nine inches.

1985

The Press added two more awards to its long list of honors when it was announced by the Ontario Community Newspaper Association that the Winchester paper was third place in the general excellence competition in the 4,501 to 6,000 circulation category, and first place for sports.

Letters To The Editor

Attention residents and merchants: The onus is on you

The Editor:
Update on Letter to the Editor in Jan. 19, 2005, Winchester Press.

I attended a Township of North Dundas council meeting on Mon., Jan. 24, 2005. I had been told that the "Parking Bylaw" was to be discussed. During the discussion, it was reported that the bylaw officers were out enforcing the parking bylaw because of complaints received.

I find it hard to believe that there had been any complaints about parking around the Press office. Even Mr. Dorey, according to his letter, was able to park in front of the Press office when the Mac's parking lot was full. Where is the problem? Who complained? Certainly not any Press customers. No one has ever complained to me that they could not get a parking spot in front of the Press. Does Mr. Dorey really think anyone would park in front of the Press and walk to his store? I don't think so. There is no parking problem at our end of St. Lawrence Street. So why the signs in the first place?

Also during the discussion, the councillors said they had very few complaints from the merchants. That's not what I was hearing from the few merchants I talked to. One councillor commented that when a funeral was taking place, then a reception afterwards, it was very possible to be parked longer than two to three hours. It was suggested that on the day of a funeral, perhaps the funeral home could call the bylaw officer and the parking infractions would be ignored. I have nothing against people parking for a funeral, but why should their business get special treatment? There are several businesses in Winchester and Chesterville where a customer could spend four or five hours.

The overnight parking bylaw was discussed as well. Be aware, you can get a ticket for parking overnight, whether there is snow removal or not. Could the clause "when snow removal is necessary" not be added to that bylaw, so overnight parking would be permitted, if there is no snow? The people of this township are not stupid. They know that if it snows, they must get their vehicles off the street.

I asked for a copy of the bylaw, so I could be aware of where I could park. I was expecting perhaps two 8 x 11 sheets. Instead I got 36 sheets. How could anyone ever know where you can and cannot park and for how long? I did read some of it. I came across a part that said I could not park within 300 meters (984.2 feet) of where I was before. If I started out in front of the Press office at 8:30 am, and moved my car every 2 hours, 300 meters, I would be at the arena by the end of the day. Does this make sense to anyone? I was told by one councillor that someone's comment was that employers should provide parking for their employees. My response to that is: "Come live in the real world instead of your fantasy one." Where do you think parking lots could be put in Winchester or Chesterville? Do we start tearing down houses and buildings so employees can park?

Merchants of Winchester and Chesterville: Find out what the majority of merchants want. Put petitions in your stores to find out what your customers want. You have a Chamber of Commerce. Use it to let your council know your feelings.

Residents of Winchester and Chesterville: These bylaws affect you. Write to your councillors. Let them know what you think. I can do no more. It's up to you. I appreciate all the support I have been given, but telling me will do no good. Your councillors must hear from you. It is time to put your pen where your mouth is.

Your council works for you. They made the bylaws, they can change them.

The next step is yours. Take it.
Connie Hart

Parking not a serious problem

The Editor:
Over the years I have owned and helped at many businesses in Winchester. In my current position I put several hundred kilometres daily on my car, mostly in and around the village. My routine brings me to the village many times during the course of a day, in and out of homes and businesses. Our core two main business strips are each only about 1000 feet long, yet I have always found a parking space.

To spend two hours parked at the same spot is not difficult. A person spends 20 minutes in the bank, 30 to 40 minutes in the clothing store, 20 minutes in the variety store, 20 minutes in the drug store, 30 minutes in the grocery store, 30 to 40 minutes in the restaurant for lunch and possibly more time in other stores — not at all out of line for the average shopper. Should they move their vehicle every time they change stores? Today I park in front of your store and visit others; tomorrow I park in front of theirs and visit yours. Most visits are short, but shopping sometimes requires longer stays.

Small towns are all about not being like Ottawa and big city rules that do not work here. Downtown Kemptville tried parking restrictions and lost to the big mall. Businesses need all the people they can get in our town. Ottawa and Kemptville plazas are too easy to drive to with no worries of parking tickets.

Our large senior population should not be made to move their cars or worry about parking tickets. Do we ticket trades peoples' vehicles who spend hours repairing our problems? Should the handicapped also have a limited time to park? The public park and shop, that's what it's all about for this town's businesses. The few who may abuse it are just that — a few!

The only people concerned should be the business people who rely on customers. They should have the say on punitive parking penalties. Let them say yay or nay to restrictions. In my 30 years in this town I have not seen parking as a serious problem and I doubt it is.

Dogs running at large

The Editor:
The goat that survived a rottweiler attack in August 2003 was ripped apart and killed by a husky on Dec. 20, 2004. In that attack two bucks were killed and one survived. I have been raising Angora goats for 22 years and it is only in the past two that I have had dog problems.

When people move to the country, they should realize that this is not an opportunity to let their dogs run free. Dogs are to be confined to your own property and otherwise kept on a leash. The Livestock Protection Act states in section one, "Any person may kill a dog a) that is found killing or injuring livestock, c) that is found straying at any time, and not under proper control, upon premises where livestock are habitually kept. Section 8:1 states, "The owner of a dog who has knowledge that the dog has killed or injured livestock shall destroy the dog or cause the dog to be destroyed within 48 hours after acquiring such knowledge."

A dog that has attacked livestock will do so again at its very next opportunity, which means that the livestock owner remains in fear of losing more animals. The municipality compensates for loss, but never enough to recover the genetics lost and the time due us in nursing a survivor back to health, which took six weeks of daily attention in 2003. The municipality then recovers its fees from the owner of the dog.

The loss is more than in deaths and injuries. It can cause a farmer to lose his income for the year from abortions due to the terrorizing of the herd. It causes constant worry anticipating another attack. You would be incensed if a dog came into your own fenced-in yard and maimed your pet, or more seriously, your child. Dogs should not be running at large and should be reported to Kevin Casselman at 543-2980. Any dog doing damage on your property should be reported to the OPP as well.

Even if the dog is not a threat to you personally, you should call and have it picked up. It would save livestock owners like me a lot of grief and send the message to dog owners to, "Take responsibility for your dog."

Achieving the designation

Bruce R. Kerr Insurance and Investments would like to congratulate

Joanna Helmer, Hon. B.A., CFP

on achieving the internationally recognized CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ (CFP™) designation granted by Financial Planners Standards Council (FPSC). Joanna Helmer completed the designation's rigorous educational examination and experience requirements and joins Canadian CFP™ colleagues in abiding by the Code of Ethics and continuing education requirements as set out by FPSC.

"The CFP Examination is a rigorous measure of the candidates' professional competence, testing their judgment and analytical skills as well as their knowledge," said Cary List, Executive Vice President and COO, FPSC. "Congratulations to all the successful candidates for taking this critical step."

The six-hour CFP Examination is administered in both official languages twice a year. The November examination was held in 55 centres across Canada. Topics covered reflect the knowledge, skills and professional competence required in the current practice of financial planning as established by CFP professionals and academics from across the country.

Restaurant owners bid Winchester adieu

WINCHESTER — After 12 years, Ryan's Restaurant in Winchester is closed. During that time owners Lule Bajraktari, Patricia Bajraktari and Leza Brown attracted extremely loyal clients. Many of the locals who they've fed over the years turned out on Jan. 28 to wish them well.

"They've become very dear friends. They've been wonderful, wonderful girls," said Doris Cross of Winchester, describing the three sisters. "They always made you feel glad you came."

The restaurant was packed to capacity for several hours for a free open house buffet and goodbye party. The owners and two long-time waitresses had short speeches prepared and thanked those in attendance. Cross presented the sisters with roses and had gifts for the staff.

The former owners of Ryan's Restaurant are moving their business to Wellington Street in Ottawa. Over the years, they developed a sideline in baking, which will be their new focus at Three Bakers and a Bike. They'll sell baked goods and operate a small cafe.

NPS holds first annual science fair

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Grade 7 students at Nationview Public School held their first annual science fair on Jan. 19. Intermediate teachers Robert Brooks and Karen Hill organized the event for their students.

There were 38 entries and over 70 students participating in the fair. For most students this was their first science fair.

The three judges were Nationview's principal Stephen Elliotte, teacher Charylene Gilmer, and councillor Glenn Brooks from the City of Ottawa who is a retired science teacher. The judges were impressed with all the hard work the students put into their projects and presentations.

The finalists were Rowan Morkis in first place; Greg VandeSande, Curtis Basdindale and Michael Petit in second; and Thomas Giles and Jonathon Corkery in third.

Next year the school plans to expand the science fair to include Grade 6 through Grade 8 students.

Seniors review 2004

by Huguette Shaver

MOUNTAIN — President Muriel Milne opened the Jan. 26 meeting of the Mountain Seniors with 34 members present. O Canada was sung followed by the Lord's Prayer. The minutes of the Nov. 24 meeting were read by secretary Evelyn Francis and approved by our president. The annual reports for 2004 were reviewed, including reports for Kitchen, Treasury and the cards mailed during that time period. Treasurer Mavis Graham presented her report for expenses incurred during this past year.

The group now has a total of 52 members and 10 honorary members for the year 2005. The nostalgia moments will resume at the Feb. 23 meeting. There were three birthdays during January and those individuals received best wishes. The next euchre dates are Feb. 7 and 21 at 1 pm sharp.

The meeting was followed by a soup and sandwich potluck luncheon followed by a few games of euchre. Thanks to Roger Shaver who gladly made the soup and to all those who contributed the lovely sandwiches and desserts.

The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 23 at 11:15 am. Everyone is welcome to share in the good times.

Shepherd Talk

by Rev. Anita Goulet

Jesus added a commandment

The past month has been a painful time for many people around the world. The tsunami in South Asia didn't only affect the residents and tourists who had the misfortune of finding themselves in the area at the time of the disaster.

The pain was felt around the world as people's hearts melted and prejudices were laid aside, as if with one mind and with one purpose we sought ways to come to the aid of the surviving victims of this tragedy, opening wide not only our hearts but also our wallets.

Being Muslim, Catholic, Protestant or Evangelical Christians matters not when it comes to helping our fellow humans. We do not stop to ask their religious persuasion. That is when our hearts are lifted to the higher level of unconditional love that Jesus came to demonstrate and which we are asked to practice. "Love one another as I have loved you," said Jesus in John 13:34. He called it a new commandment.

I don't know about you, but it warmed my heart to see the love and concern for these victims coming from people of all walks of life, from people of all ages. I hope this love and concern will continue for years to come, for it will take years for countries to rebuild. Let us keep them in prayer as well, as we continue to love them unconditionally as Jesus commanded us.

May God bless your generosity and fill your heart with the joy of giving.

"Keeping Health in Mind" is a monthly newspaper column made possible with the help of the Lannin Business Centre, The Winchester Press and the clinical staff of Tri-County Mental Health Services, a community program of the Cornwall Community Hospital/Hôpital Communautaire de Cornwall.

Building Self-esteem

In my everyday life and at work, I meet a lot of people who admit to having low self-esteem. Low self-esteem often makes a person feel unhappy, keeps them from doing what they want to do and be the person they want to be. Not to mention that low self-esteem may also bring about or worsen bouts of depression and anxiety. Building self-esteem is a working process. The following will explain some of the things you can do to build up your self-esteem:

Practice proper self-care; take the time to do the things you need to do to stay healthy. Some of those things may include eating three meals daily for proper nutrition, avoid meals with large amounts of sugar, make sure to do something you enjoy everyday, spend time with people that make you feel good, go outside, exercise and don't forget to see your doctor for regular check-ups.

No more negative self-talk; when a person speaks negatively about himself/herself, it worsens their self-esteem. Start changing those negative self-talks into positive self-talks. Make a list of those negative statements (i.e.: I'm ugly), and then write a positive statement (i.e.: I look fine). Once your list is complete, read it many times during the day, read it out loud, post it on your fridge, in your bathroom and read it each time you see it.

Get up and do something; when a person has low self-esteem, it may be difficult to get up and do something. Keep a To Do list for those days where your motivation is nowhere to be found. This list may include such things like; organizing your closet, reading, writing a letter to a relative or a friend, put some pictures in a photo album, going out for a walk… You may also make a list of all the things you have accomplished in life so far. This list may include; learning to walk/talk, giving birth, learning to drive, raising your child/children, making your bed… Give yourself credit for all that you have accomplished in life so far.

Do a good deed for someone else; there's a good feeling about doing something nice for someone else. Being nice or doing something for someone else will help building your self-esteem. Look for opportunities every day: hold a door open for someone, smile to someone, play with a child/children, offer to do some volunteer work… and your self-esteem will improve.

Other things to do to improve your self-esteem; to raise your self-esteem, you may write these suggestions down and post your list where you'll see it every day: surround yourself with positive people, do something that makes you laugh, wear something that makes you feel good, repeat positive statements over and over again. Refer to this list everyday.

Remember that the things you do to improve your self-esteem will also improve the quality of your life. So don't delay and start building your self-esteem today!

Rolling and bonding

Dundas rolled up its sleeves

WINCHESTER — Canadian Blood Services surpassed its goal at the blood donor clinic at Winchester Public School on Jan. 20 when 173 local residents showed up to donate.

"It's perfect, it's wonderful," said Claude Laperriere of CBS, of the 103 per cent success rate of the clinic.

At around 3 pm, 40 donors had already come and gone from the busy gymnasium, and more were filing through the door. The students were finished for the day, but the clinic was just getting started.

"We're really hopping," said Laperriere. She said that a man had just left who had donated over 400 times in his life.

Angie Bartnett of Winchester donates whenever she has a chance.

"The first time I gave blood was when my son had surgery," she explained, as her son Hunter, 7, waited patiently. This was about her 10th time donating.

Angie Barnett (left) said her first time donating was when her son Hunter, 7, had to have surgery. She rolled up her sleeve once more at the Jan. 20 blood donor clinic at Winchester Public School, where Bev MacKinnon (background), was the Phlebotomist. Press Photos—Duncan

It was only the third time donating for Vivian Coughler of Winchester.

"If something was wrong with my kids I'd certainly want there to be enough blood for them," she said as she watched what the phlebotomist, or person who is trained to draw blood, was doing to her arm.

"It's very relaxing," said Debbie Butzer of Morrisburg, who had the prime location to listen to the music that was playing in the background of the crowded gymnasium. "I can lay here and listen to the music."

Butzer donates every time there is a clinic close by.

"I think this is my 19th time," she said.

A single donation — 450 millilitres — can save three lives. The process of giving blood takes less than an hour, even less if you make an appointment.

"It's very important [to donate] in the winter," said Laperriere. "Many donors cancel because of the weather."

Generally speaking, winter clinics don't collect as many units as those held in warmer months.

"What we're really trying to do is offer the winter clinics as much as possible," said Laperriere. She explained that in agriculture-based areas like North Dundas, people tend to be more available to donate in winter months. "People who can donate in the winter — it is always appreciated," she said.

Because blood donor clinics in the Winchester area have done consistently well, new clinics will be set up in Morrisburg and Iroquois later in the year.

Winchester resident Vivian Coughlar has donated blood three times. She said at the Jan. 20 clinic that her kids are her reason for donating; she wants there to be enough blood if they ever need it.

Recent blood donor clinics in North Dundas collected enough blood to potentially help 852 people.

In early September, a blood donor clinic held at the Chesterville Royal Canadian Legion garnered 146 units of blood, surpassing the goal for the clinic set at 144 units.

In October, a blood donor clinic held at Winchester Public School managed to collect 138 units.

About 460,000 Canadians currently donate blood, but to reach its goal of one million units by December 2005, about 600,000 Canadians will have to donate to CBS.

Auxiliary learns signs of Alzheimer's

by Marjorie Phillips

WINCHESTER — The Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary held a special meeting on Jan. 13 so that Craig Smith from the Cornwall Alzheimer's Society could address members. Over 20 people took advantage of the session.

A dynamic speaker with a wonderful sense of humor and a zest for life, Smith spoke for an hour. He outlined the 10 warning signs of the disease and stressed that depression and deficiency in vitamin B12 can often exhibited the same symptoms. The need for early diagnosing is essential.

There are drugs available that can impede the progress of brain deterioration. A healthy brain shrinks about two to three per cent in a normal life span. An Alzheimer's brain mass may be reduced to 30 to 50 per cent. Hence, there is urgency for proper diagnoses and proper medication.

As we age, it is normal to forget things. Many people who lead busy lives often can't remember little things like where their car keys have been left. It's when one does not know what the car keys are for that we should be more concerned.

Smith described 10 warning signs which indicate there could be a problem. These symptoms may be difficulty in answering simple questions involving who, what, where and when; memory loss of day-to-day activities; difficulty in performing simple tasks; problem in finding words; poor judgment in making simple decisions; misplacing things consistently; changes in personality; and an apparent loss of initiative. A combination of many of the above behaviors may indicate a problem.

Smith also spoke about how to help Alzheimer patients. In the early stages of the disease there are many ways to help. Body language seems to have more impact than verbal language. Consequently, when interacting with an Alzheimer's patient, hand gestures, facial expressions, and body movements help decrease the anxiety of trying to rely solely on the verbal.

Accepting the patient's own view of reality and where they perceive themselves to be in time and space is also easier on everybody. Smith told of a lady who became frantic every afternoon about 3:30 as she claimed she had to pick up the children from the bus. Rather than tell her that her children are now grandparents and retired from school does not change her view. Easing the situation by telling her that someone else will pick them up calms her and eases her concern.

Other means of getting messages across are the need to speak slower, give messages one at a time, and repeat information often. Talking about the distant past is a safe and reassuring pastime.

Elinor Jordan thanked Smith for his visit and his insight. It was a very informative and rewarding meeting.

The next regular meeting of the auxiliary will take place on Feb. 10 at 1:30 pm in the lower conference room of the hospital. Newcomers are always welcome. Come and see how you can be of service to the auxiliary and to the hospital.

Semester comes to a close

NDDHS Notes
by Ashley MacNaughton

MAPLE RIDGE — Well, it's official! First semester has (finally) come to an end. As you read this, a sigh of relief has carried itself throughout the quiet hallways of North Dundas, in the few days of rest it gets between first and second semesters. When students arrive back, they will find different courses, teachers, and schedules awaiting them.

Some students may have an easier semester, or harder. One thing's for certain: this semester has overstayed its welcome and we're glad to see the second-half of the year come about! A fresh, new semester — you know, the one where you "turn it all around" by keeping organized notes, doing your homework every night, and conducting weekly reviews about the material you've learnt. Riiiight. About that! Well, kids, enjoy your freedom for this weekend! Next time we get an extended holiday is March Break so live it up!

Of course, not all students are rejoining us next semester. Some returning Grade 12s signed up only to be in high school another semester and this marks the end of their high school experience. While they go out into the world — finding full-time jobs, or taking a half a year off until college — we wish them all the best. I'll miss you guys so much!

Also, this week, feeder schools came to visit the NDDHS facilities for their eventual arrival here next year. Thank you very much to all the Peer Helpers who helped out! Hopefully, the eighth graders who visited look forward to their arrival here. It's definitely an interesting ride, that's for sure! Don't forget, iFlurtz will be coming in soon, so save up your spare change and be sure to pick your profile up! You never know if that hottie in math class will be your perfect counterpart! Oscars are coming up soon, too, everyone! Nominations have been announced. Listen to the announcements for further details. Have a great week!!!

February is Heart & Stroke Awareness Month

Learn to recognize the warning signs of a stroke:

Weakness - Sudden weakness, numbness or tingling in the face, arm or leg.

Trouble Speaking - Sudden temporary loss of speech or trouble understanding speech.

Vision Problems - Sudden loss of vision, particularly in one eye, or double vision.

Headache - Sudden severe and unusual headache.

Dizziness - Sudden loss of balance, especially with any of the above signs.

Call 911 immediately

Maintain a Healthy Weight - Get out of the danger zone!

It's a big problem and getting bigger. Excess weight has grown into a full-fledged major health threat that rivals smoking. In fact, says the Heart and Stroke Foundation, fat is the new tobacco. Almost 50% of adult Canadians are either overweight or obese – a hefty two-fold increase in the last 20 to 30 years.

In fact, being overweight has become so commonplace that retail and service industries are rushing to make us feel more comfortable in our new bodies by installing larger movie and airplane seats and manufacturing super-sized furniture.

Sadly, our children are also under threat. One-third of Canadian children 7 to 13 are either overweight or obese. The health implications of this are sobering, with some experts predicting that if we don't lighten up, and soon, our children could be the first generation to have a shorter life expectancy than their parents. Find out how to steer you and your family clear of the danger.

RISK FACTORS

Smog is a serious heart disease risk: New research shows air pollution is a serious heart disease risk.

Cholesterol is a soft waxy substance manufactured by human and animal bodies.

Diabetes is when the body can't process sugar properly.

Obesity: People who are overweight or obese are at risk of developing high blood pressure, high blood lipids and diabetes - all of which put them at high risk of cardiovascular or heart disease.

Smoking is a dangerous health hazard for teenagers. It is the single most important cause of preventable illness and premature death for Canadians.

Blood Pressure: Your blood pressure is the measure of the pressure or force of circulating blood against the walls of your blood vessels.

Physical Activity: Regular aerobic physical activity is a great asset to keeping your heart healthy and leading a healthy lifestyle.

Retired racehorses await adoption

ORMOND — Rocky and Wally, two retired standardbred race horses are looking for new homes. Through the Ontario Standardbred Adoption Society (OSAS), these two horses are temporarily staying in their foster home, Harmony Stable, on Ormond Road just north of Winchester.

Rocky is five years old and has only been at Harmony for three months.

"He was placed in a home a year ago," explained Joanne Ladouceur-Cummings, Rocky's foster-mom and owner of Harmony Stables. "They couldn't keep him, it was just too much commitment. He'll stay here until we can find him a home."

Rocky resided at Harmony Stable when he was a yearling.

"Rocky raced for two years," said Ladouceur-Cummings. "But he never really wanted to be a race horse."

Rocky is frisky because he's still young, but he's well-mannered and greenbroke.

In another stall at Harmony Stable is eight-year-old Wally, who isn't sadle-broken.

"He'd make a really nice pleasure driving horse," said Ladouceur-Cummings. "He's been here for over a year. He couldn't race because he had chronic bruised heels."

Ladouceur-Cummings said it was a long time ago that she thought about an adoption program like this.

"Growing up in the business, I often worried about what would happen when horses couldn't race anymore," she explained. "When the program began in Toronto, I was instantly involved."

It was about eight years ago that Ladouceur-Cummings first began as a volunteer with the adoption society. She inspects new homes for the animals and as guardian of the horses, answers any questions and offers help to the new owners, as well as providing foster care while the animals wait to be adopted.

Rocky and Wally are just two of 26 horses waiting for adoption across Ontario. The OSAS is a not-for-profit organization that was founded in 1996. For more information on the program, visit www.digitalwave.ca/osas.

Seed Growers streamline OVFS awards ceremony

OTTAWA — The Ottawa Valley Seed Growers Association (OSVGA) has revised its traditional format for presenting annual awards to the region's top pedigreed seed producers. More than 300 exhibitors will showcase the latest in agricultural equipment and services this year from March 15 to 17 at Ottawa's Lansdowne Park.

In the past, the awards have been handed out at a banquet on the second evening of the OVSGA's annual Ottawa Valley Farm Show. The banquet has routinely attracted up to 150 seed growers and family members. It features speeches, entertainment and a sit-down dinner. The highlight of the evening has been the presentation of some 25 awards and citations to annual competition winners.

OVSGA directors agreed with a proposal put forward by Seed Committee chair Kathy Hardy and committee member Bob Dick at its regular meeting in Kemptville on Jan. 17. The proposal was that the banquet be retired in favor of a more streamlined format.

This year, the awards will be handed out at a special reception following the annual Prestigious Pedigreed Seed Sale. Proceeds from the sale go to the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario. The sale will be held on the Civic Centre Concourse at 12 noon on the final day of the farm show (March 17).

"It's very convenient," Hardy said. "During the show, the awards are on display at the OVSGA booth on the concourse, providing a great backdrop for the ceremony."

Winners will be invited in advance to be on hand for the presentation. Along with sponsors and judges, they'll also be invited to the OVSGA summer banquet held in conjunction with the OVSGA annual meeting.

Several directors expressed support for the plan, underlining that eliminating the expensive banquet will save money. The escalating costs of the dinner event were covered by the association, including free tickets for invited guests.

Executive hard at work on 2005 Metcalfe Fair

by Sean Meagher

METCALFE — Members of the Metcalfe Agricultural Society (MAS) met last weekend (Jan.29) to discuss last year's Metcalfe Fair and to elect new executive members.

Three new directors were elected. They are Barry Payne, Cheryl Bunda and Doug Anderson. As well, director Ron Stanley was elected second vice-president, and Cheryl Sullivan became homecraft second vice-president.

"We talk about what went well, what didn't work and what did work," said Meredith Brophy, of District 1 of the Ontario Agriculture Association Society, who added that this annual meeting helps to bring issues into an open forum. Agricultural Society members also meet once a month in order to be prepared and organized for the upcoming fair.

"There are 232 fairs in Ontario," noted Brophy. A great amount of planning and organization goes into their presentation. "It's a good way to get people together and there are a lot of ideas there," said Brophy, who is also a Metcalfe Fair director.

Osgoode Ward councillor Doug Thompson, honorary vice-president of the Metcalfe Agricultural Society, brought greetings and updated the membership on several matters pending between MAS and the City of Ottawa. Several reports were given, including a speech delivered by incoming president John Lackey. After the annual general meeting, the first directors' meeting of 2005 took place.

Junior Farmers elect executive

by Jason Garlough

CHESTERVILLE — The annual general meeting for the Dundas Junior Farmer Club was held on Jan. 23 to elect a new executive responsible for leading the club through 2005. Brenda Velthuis was elected as the 25th president of the Dundas club. She hopes to continue the community work the club has done in the past.

In 2004, the club's 25 members combined their talents to raise over $16,000 with generous support from businesses and community members across SD&G. More than $15,700 of that money went toward charities in Dundas County.

In its 25th year, the Junior Farmer Club in Dundas County will continue helping to build future rural leaders through self-help and community betterment.

Everyone from 15 to 30 years of age is encouraged to attend meetings. Membership is open to students, farmers and to anyone else who would like to meet new people and have a good time.

The next meeting is at 7:30 pm on Jan. 31 at the Nelson Laprade Centre in Chesterville. For more information, call Brenda Velthius at 613-989-2779 or e-mail Jason Garlough at dundasjf@jfao.on.ca.

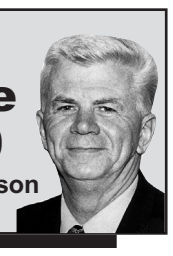
Greely loses a gentleman

In & around Osgoode Ward 20 by Doug Thompson



GREELY — A patient, modest, unassuming man, Gord Kelly, during his lifetime, probably made a greater impact on more people than anyone else I have known. He was a teacher by profession, and a professional he was. Dedicated and loved by his students, "Mr. Kelly," performed his duties above and beyond what was expected. Following retirement, he drove a school bus, likely to be close to students he admired!

During those early years, Gord met Myra Quinn and their lives took off. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly of Greely were the cornerstone of our community. They were actively involved in their church, the Metcalfe Fair, the Ploughing Matches, as well as raising a pair of absolutely beautiful daughters, Allison and Andrea, who brought great joy and pride to Gord and Myra. Throughout the years this debonair couple, always immaculately dressed, attended almost every community event, often wowing people with their Fred Astaire-like dancing.

I think what most endeared Gord to his family, friends and his community was his manner, his quiet mischievous sense of humor and his intense modesty. Gord served his church, and various community interests including serving as director of the Osgoode Non-Profit Housing Board. As a director of this board, he was keenly interested in viewing the buildings as part of his role on the property committee.

Much love and caring was shown for Gord by hundreds and hundreds of mourners all last week, but his many, many friends can only imagine how great the love and caring was for him in the Kelly household. A loving wife, Myra, adoring daughters Allison and Andrea will cherish the memory of him as one of our finest, Gord Kelly.

GREELY CARNIVAL

Monique Vandewint, chair; Steve McDonell, vice chair; Wayne Murphy, and over 40 volunteers put together one of Greely's best winter carnivals. Great organization and great weather helped bring out record crowds to every event. The seniors lunch doubled its numbers; the pancake breakfast had 100 more guests than last year; Ambush brought out a huge crowd; the car rally was another outstanding success; and the Lions Brunch on Sunday had its largest turnout ever. It was heartwarming to see so many new faces from our community coming out to enjoy our Greely Winter Carnival.

WAVE OF SUPPORT; A WAVE OF SUCCESS

Meredith Brophy, after seeing the destruction that South East Asia suffered from the tsunami, decided to do something. She invited some of our finest local talent to perform last Sunday night at the Anglican Church in Metcalfe. A large crowd came out to see Cheryl Cooper, Gary Cooper, Caileigh Gallagher, the "Scene Around Players," and Diamond Heart perform a variety of professional-like performances. In total nearly $1,000 was raised to assist the people devastated by the tsunami.

GREELY GARDENERS GROUP

The monthly meeting is scheduled for 7:15 pm on Thurs., Feb. 3 at the Greely Community Centre. The speaker will be Nadija Paznar of The Pond Centre. Her topic will be "Ponds and Water Features — how to build and fit ponds into the landscaping." For information call 821-1847. Everyone is welcome.

SKATE-A-THON IN OSGOODE FOR TSUNAMI RELIEF

Osgoode Rideau Minor Hockey Association players will participate in a skate-a-thon on Sun., Feb. 6 from 6 to 9 pm at the Osgoode Arena. Over 500 Hockey players from Osgoode and Manotick could participate to raise funds for the tsunami relief efforts. Funds raised will go to the Canadian Red Cross relief fund. What a great idea!

ONE PRODUCTION YOU MUST NOT MISS!

ITR will again be performing Caught in the Net in February as an entrant in the Eastern Ontario Drama League Festival. Performances will take place at Stanley's Olde Maple Lane Farm in Edwards on Feb. 10, 11, 12, and 13. The Saturday performance will be judged by special adjudicators of the Eastern Ontario Drama League Travelling Festival. For reserved seating, call 860-1291.

PANCAKE SUPPER ON SHROVE TUESDAY

The Holy Trinity Anglican Church is holding its Annual Pancake Supper on Tues., Feb. 8 at the Anglican Church in Metcalfe from 5 to 7 pm. Adult admission is $5, children 5-10 cost $2.50 and children under 5 are free.

QUOTABLE

Don't be too timid and squeamish about your actions. All life is an experiment. The more experiments you make the better.

Planning under way for next fair

by Sean Meagher

CHESTERVILLE — Members of the Chesterville District Agricultural Society met on Saturday (Jan. 29) to discuss last year's Chesterville Fair and to come up with more ideas in order to make sure this year's fair is an even bigger success. New executives and directors were also elected.

"Even though we're a small fair, it takes a lot of work to bring these things together," said Shaun Funk, a director of the Chesterville District Agricultural Society.

Funk added that the meetings discuss a variety of issues and help to promote agriculture within the community, but the main topic is the fair. The Chesterville Fair of 2004 was a success, but unfortunately had a few problems including the midway being shut down due to licensing problems, which affected revenue.

"The midway is what people bring their kids for and it's where we get a lot of our revenue," said Funk, who also owns Redhead Catering and catered the meal at the meeting.

The annual meeting lasted about two hours and went over in detail the fair's revenue and budget. Marilyn Johnston, the secretary of the CDAS agrees that last year's fair had its problems, but it didn't seem to faze the local community.

"I don't think attendance was down that much considering we lost our midway," she said. "We're hoping to have a really good fair this year," she added, optimistically. The members at last weekend's gathering will meet each month to ensure everything stays organized and that no surprises come up prior to the Chesterville Fair which is typically held the last weekend in August.

According to Johnston, every fair has small problems, and that's what these meetings help to avoid. "We had problems, but we didn't go in the hole," she said.

Seniors enjoy bluegrass tunes

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Golden Years Society held its January meeting and potluck lunch at the Lions Hall recently. There were 67 members and three guests present. President Betty Cooke welcomed everyone during a very cold day.

A minute of silence was held for four members who sadly passed away during the previous two months: Eric Ball; Pat Dupperon; and Ian and Ellen Reid.

Guests at the meeting were Joyce Billings, Lois Palmer and Christina Cummings. Rev. Thurland Brown was present for the installation of the officers and for grace before the potluck lunch. Members enjoyed the entertainment provided by the Nation Valley Bluegrass Band.

The Winchester Golden Years Society welcomes new members. For more information contact Roberta Giberson at 774-4273.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND ORAL HEARING

Ontario
RP-2004-0203
EB-2005-0198

APPLICATION BY HYDRO ONE NETWORKS INC. AND HYDRO ONE BRAMPTON NETWORKS INC. FOR A FINAL ORDER PRE-APPROVING THEIR CONSERVATION AND DEMAND MANAGEMENT PLAN

Hydro One Networks Inc. (Networks) and Hydro One Brampton Networks Inc. (Brampton) (the Applicants) have filed an Application dated January 11, 2005 with the Ontario Energy Board for a Final Order pre-approving their Conservation and Demand Management Plans (CDM Plans). The Board assigned File No. RP-2004-2003/EB-2005-0198 to this Application.

On May 31, 2004, the Minister of Energy granted approval to all distributors in Ontario to apply to the Board for an increase in their 2005 rates by the third installment of their incremental market adjusted revenue requirement (MARR). This approval is contingent on a commitment to reinvest an equivalent amount in CDM initiatives.

The elements of Networks' CDM Plan for residential customers are smart metering, residential load control, real-time energy use monitoring, efficient lighting and audits and a low income program. The elements of Networks' CDM plan for business, institutional and farm customers are smart metering, time of use rates, commercial and industrial load control, energy efficiency audits and lighting.

The elements of Brampton's plan for residential customers are compact fluorescent lights, LED holiday light exchange, residential load control, real-time energy use monitoring, and smart metering. The elements of Brampton's CDM plan for business and institutional customers are power factor correction, commercial and industrial load control, technology demonstration and smart metering. In addition, Brampton proposes an initiative focused on improving the internal efficiency of its office facilities.

Both Networks and Brampton also propose communications and education initiatives and a distribution loss energy reduction program.

The total budget for Networks' plan is approximately $39.5 million.

The total budget for Brampton's plan is $3.2 million, this amount is consistent with the amount of the third installment of its incremental MARR.

The Board intends to proceed with the Application by way of an oral hearing which is scheduled to be held on February 17, 2005 commencing at 9:30 am at the Board's Offices in Toronto, and, if necessary, continuing on Friday, February 18, 2005.

Copies of the Application and the pre-filed evidence in support of the Application are available for public inspection at the Board's offices, at the Applicants' head offices, and on the Applicants' web sites at addresses below.

If you wish to participate in this proceeding you must make a submission to the Board Secretary within 7 calendar days of the publication of this Notice stating your interest in this proceeding and how you intend to participate. Information on how to participate may be obtained by calling the Board's Customer Service Centre toll-free at 1-877-632-2727, or e-mail to Boardsec@oeb.gov.on.ca.

IMPORTANT

IF YOU DO NOT REQUEST TO PARTICIPATE IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS NOTICE, THE BOARD MAY PROCEED IN YOUR ABSENCE AND YOU WILL NOT BE ENTITLED TO ANY FURTHER NOTICE OF THIS PROCEEDING.

REQUÊTE DÉPOSÉE PAR HYDRO ONE NETWORKS INC. ET HYDRO ONE BRAMPTON NETWORKS INC. EN VUE D'OBTENIR UNE ORDONNANCE FINALE ACCORDANT L'APPROBATION PRÉALABLE DE LEUR PLAN DE CONSERVATION ET DE GESTION DE LA DEMANDE

Hydro One Networks Inc. (Networks) et Hydro One Brampton Networks Inc. (Brampton) (ci-après, les « Requérants ») ont déposé une requête datée du 11 janvier 2005 auprès de la Commission de l'énergie de l'Ontario en vue d'obtenir une ordonnance finale accordant l'approbation préalable de leurs plans de conservation et de gestion de la demande (ci-après, les « plans CGD »). La Commission a assigné à cette requête le numéro RP-2004-2003/EB-2005-0198.

Le 31 mai 2004, le ministre de l'Énergie a autorisé tous les distributeurs de l'Ontario à présenter auprès de la Commission une demande d'augmentation de leurs tarifs de 2005 dans le cadre du troisième versement de leur revenu différentiel rajusté en fonction du marché. Cette approbation est conditionnelle à un engagement de réinvestir une somme équivalente dans des projets de CGD.

Le Plan CGD de Networks comporte les éléments suivants à l'intention des clients résidentiels : les compteurs intelligents, le contrôle de la charge résidentielle, la surveillance en temps réel de la consommation d'énergie, l'efficacité énergétique de l'éclairage, les vérifications d'efficacité énergétique et un programme pour les consommateurs à faible revenu. Le Plan CGD de Networks comporte les éléments suivants à l'intention des clients des secteurs commercial, institutionnel et agricole : les compteurs intelligents, les tarifs variables selon l'heure de la consommation, le contrôle de la charge dans les établissements commerciaux et industriels ainsi que l'efficacité énergétique de l'éclairage et les vérifications d'efficacité énergétique.

Le Plan CGD de Brampton comporte les éléments suivants à l'intention des clients résidentiels : les ampoules fluorescentes compactes, le remplacement des ampoules de Noël par des DEL, le contrôle de la charge résidentielle, la surveillance en temps réel de la consommation d'énergie et les compteurs intelligents. Le Plan CGD de Brampton comporte les éléments suivants à l'intention des clients des secteurs commercial et institutionnel : le rajustement du facteur de puissance, le contrôle de la charge dans les établissements commerciaux et industriels, les démonstrations de technologie et les compteurs intelligents. De plus, Brampton propose une initiative d'amélioration de l'efficacité interne des installations de ses bureaux.

Networks et Brampton proposent également des initiatives de communication et de sensibilisation ainsi qu'un programme de réduction de la perte d'énergie durant la distribution.

Le budget total alloué au Plan CGD de Networks est d'environ 39,5 millions de dollars.

Le budget total alloué au Plan CGD de Brampton est d'environ 3,2 millions de dollars, ce qui correspond au montant du troisième niveau de son revenu différentiel rajusté en fonction du marché.

La Commission entend procéder par voie d'audience orale, laquelle se tiendra le mardi 17 février 2005, à 9 h 30, dans les bureaux de la Commission, à Toronto. Si nécessaire, elle se poursuivra le vendredi 18 février 2005.

Des exemplaires de la requête et des documents à l'appui présentés à l'avance sont disponibles pour consultation dans les bureaux de la Commission, ainsi qu'au siège social des Requérants et dans leurs sites Web, aux adresses indiquées ci-dessous.

Si vous désirez participer à cette instance, vous devez, dans les 7 jours civils suivant la publication du présent avis, faire parvenir une demande écrite au secrétaire de la Commission lui indiquant votre intérêt et la manière dont vous entendez participer. Des renseignements sur la façon de participer peuvent être obtenus auprès du Service à la clientèle de la Commission en composant le 1 877 632-2727 ou par courriel à l'adresse suivante : Boardsec@oeb.gov.on.ca.

IMPORTANT

SI VOUS NE DEMANDEZ PAS DE PARTICIPER CONFORMÉMENT AUX TERMES DU PRÉSENT AVIS, LA COMMISSION PEUT PROCÉDER EN VOTRE ABSENCE ET VOUS NE RECEVREZ AUCUN AUTRE AVIS CONCERNANT CETTE INSTANCE.

Alexandria's Nick Adam (#17) celebrates his first-period goal in Sunday's (Jan. 30) 4-1 victory over the Winchester Junior "B" Hawks. The Adam goal, scored with 1:41 left in the first period, stood up as the winner. Hawks skid stretches to five consecutive losses

WINCHESTER — Tempers flared following the Winchester Hawks' fifth consecutive loss.

Apparently heated words between the Winchester coaching staff and several players were exchanged minutes following Sunday's (Jan. 30) 4-1 loss to the Alexandria Glens.

"Frustration set in and voices were raised," explained Hawks head coach Dale Murdoch. "It (five game losing streak) has been frustrating for both coaches and players. As young men the players want to win but it isn't happening. Everything just boiled over."

Prior to their late-season swoon, Winchester's St. Lawrence Junior "B" Hockey League record had risen to 20-12-2-2, which had put the Hawks within striking distance of first place. But time is running out and with just four regular season games left on the schedule making the post-season is now in jeopardy. The Hawks currently share third place, at 44 points, with the Char-Lan Rebels. But they are also feeling the pressure being applied by the Akwesasne Wolves. The Wolves have closed the gap to two points, and with two games in hand, could easily knock the Hawks right out of the play offs.

Murdoch said that when his club was on a 7-1-0 streak everyone showed up for each game happy and in a good frame of mind. That isn't the case any more. "Nothing is going right and fingers are being pointed in the dressing room. The added pressure has people making unusual mistakes and gripping their sticks a little too tight," added the coach.

Last Tuesday (Jan. 25) the Hawks went to Williamstown to complete that postponed game from Nov. 30. They were trailing 3-0 after 20 minutes when it was suspended and wound up losing it 8-4 in the final 40 minutes. Friday (Jan. 28) they were in Kemptville and absorbed a 6-2 beating. Sunday's 4-1 loss to Alexandria stretched the losing string to five games and amplified the team's struggles.

FOUR LEFT

Saturday (Feb. 5) the first-place Kemptville 73s (25-10-1-1) come to Winchester for an 8:15 pm game. Sunday (Feb. 6) the Hawks go to Cornwall Island to play the Wolves at 2 pm. The final weekend of the season sees the Alexandria Glens come to town on Fri., Feb. 11 and the Hawks visiting Kemptville on Sun., Feb. 13.

Baker cracks in three, Hutten posts shutout in 7-0 Bantam victory

MORRISBURG — Erik Hutten was unbeatable in the cage as the North Dundas Bantam House Demons whitewashed the South Dundas Lions 7-0. Brett Baker supplied three goals in the Demons' 17th Upper Canada Minor Hockey League victory in 22 games.

Saturday's (Jan. 29) win in Morrisburg improved North Dundas' record to 17-3-2 and followed an 8-1 decision over the South Stormont Selects Friday (Jan. 28) in Long Sault. A 1-1 tie with the Kemptville Panthers on home ice in Chesterville on Jan. 25 opened the Demons' three-game week.

With Hutten providing a solid final line of protection, the North Dundas defensive crew allowed Gary Embury's squad to compose a 16-2 goal differential in those three outings.

Luc Cayer's first of two goals was set up by Brandon Buma and Baker at 13:29 of the opening period and proved to be the winner. Baker's first of three, scored with 6:17 left in the same frame, opened up a 2-0 lead. Rodney Monteith and Cayer found the mark in the second stanza while Baker (2) and Nolan Winter finalized the deal with third-period goals. Assists went to Buma (4), Cayer (3), Baker (2), and Sheldon Myers.

Hutten was within 5:07 of a shutout in Long Sault when Select Mike Helmer slipped a shot in behind him. That was the only puck to elude him in the 8-1 win. Luc Cayer powered the offence with three goals. Buma and Embury potted two each and Monteith the single. Steve Johnson (2), Embury (2), Buma (2), Baker and Monteith all collected assists. North Dundas led 1-0 after a period and 4-0 after two. Buma (unassisted) pegged the winning marker at 12:30 of period two.

Kemptville scored in the first period of the Demons' home game on Jan. 25 and held the 1-0 lead until Buma tied it up 3:51 before the final buzzer. Nolan Winter and Mitch Shay engineered the tying goal.

Midget "B" House

Demons' string snapped at eight wins

MASSENA, NEW YORK — A red-hot goaltender halted the eight-game winning run the North Dundas Midget "B" House Demons had been on.

Canton's Ben Hammond was solid in the nets as mates posted a 3-1 Upper Canada Minor Hockey League win in New York on Sunday (Jan. 30). Brandon Young was the only Demon to put a puck in Hammond's cage and his unassisted shot struck string with 2:09 left in the first period. The New Yorkers tied it up before the first frame was over and added a goal in each of the remaining two periods to secure the 3-1 win. Cliff Young was a two-goal shooter for the winners.

With the win Canton, improved to 13-6-0 and moved into a share of second place with North Dundas (12-4-2). Louisville No. Two Lightning leads the Eastern Division standings with 27 points. The Demons, Canton and Louisville No. One Lightning all have 26 points. North Dundas has six games, four at home, left in the regular season.

"We out shot Canton 26-17 but their goaltender made some big stops," explained North Dundas coach Gary Johnson. "We played well enough to win and I think we deserved better, but we also made some mistakes and gave up some three-on-ones which resulted in a couple of their goals."

Goaltender Tyler Johnson played every single game for the North Dundas Midget House Demons last season as they captured the UCMHL championship. Once again he is his team's only backstop after teammate Donnie Vollrath lost his life in a recent snowmobile accident. Press Photo — Van Bridger

Johnson's team started the season going 4-4-2 and then went on an 8-0-0 run before dropping Sunday's decision to Canton.

"Tomorrow (Thurs., Feb. 3) night we have a big game here (in Winchester) against Canton. If we can beat them we will be in the hunt for first place," he said.

6-2 VICTORY

Powered by Spencer Derue's two-goal effort the Demons defeated the Louisville No. One Lightning 6-2 on home ice on Jan. 27.

North Dundas led 2-1 after a period and 3-2 after two. The Lightning's J. Lanning accounted for both of the New Yorkers' goals but Demon goaltender Tyler Johnson shut the door in the third and posted the win.

John Sloane and Justin Marion bagged their team's first-period goals. Captain Matt Holmes clicked in period two, while Derue connected at 9:38 and 5:40 of the final frame. Brandon Young's unassisted shot finished the scoring with 3:40 left on the clock.

Holmes (2) and Carl Tuck earned assists in the Demons' 12th win of the season.

Baldwin nets tying goal in battle against Canterbury

OTTAWA — Aaron Kelly provided the pass and Scott Baldwin fired it home to lift the North Dundas Juvenile Demons into a 4-4 tie with the Canterbury No. One Crusaders.

Baldwin's marker stopped the third-period clock at the 8:34 mark and enabled the Demons to gain a point in the 417 Midget - Juvenile Hockey league standings and improve their record to 10-1-1. Their goal differential after the Jan. 25 tie stood at 87-29.

The Crusaders jumped into a 2-0 lead in the opening stanza but the Demons were able to scramble back and knot the count at 2-2 before the session was over. Brett Bird sliced one goal off of the deficit, scoring from Bill McRoberts with 5:05 left in the frame. Kyle Dearing then teamed up with Justin Morozuk and tied the count at 2-2 at the 4:11 mark.

Canterbury skated into a 4-3 lead in the second with McRoberts counting the North Dundas goal after taking a feed from Devin Kelly and Ian Tait. That set the stage for Baldwin's tying shot with 8:34 left to play in the game.

Munro takes Dairy Bonspiel title

WINCHESTER — For 26 of the 39 years the Dairy Bonspiel has part of the Winchester Curling Club schedule Gary Munro has organized the event. Finally after two and a half decades the chairman is the champion.

Munro, curling with third Alison Levere, second Leslie Levere and lead Dave Summers, finished on top of the 24-team field on Saturday (Jan. 29) collecting 32 points on the strength of a 10-4 win over Nick Zrymiak's rink in the 9 pm draw on Friday night and a 14-4 decision against Bert Doornwaard and his team on Saturday afternoon.

This year's 24-team roster matched the all-time high established in 1988.

Harry Thompson skipped Janet Thompson, Rock Benoit and Jonathan Thompson into second place at 30 1/2 points posting a 9-7 win over Norm Sliter and a 12-3 verdict over Percy Armstrong.

The Dave Levere rink of Janet Levere, Erwin Skuce and Aaron Levere also collected 30 1/2 points but lost the tie-breaker. Levere defeated Norm Tinkler (10-3) and George Hill (9-3).

Glen Vasey (skip), Cheryl Lowe, John Phillips and Doreen Lamarche knocked off Greg Chamberlain (11-6) and Brian Clement (13-8) to finish just off the pace with 30 points.

George Ennis and his team of Judy Somerville, Brad Mayhew and Helen Hyndman dropped their opener 12-8 to Brian Clement but bounced back with a 9-2 victory over Nick Zrymiak to claim the one-game high prize.

Consolation honors went to Nick Zrymiak, Jeannine Stevenson, Frank Meevis and Anne Sinclair.

Munro termed the event another success and thanked Parmalat for its sponsorship, and his wife Eunice and their three daughters for their tremendous support in presenting the 39th annual Dairy Bonspiel.

Klein-Swormink rink advances to provincials

WINCHESTER — With high school exams being their top priority, skip Phil Klein-Swormink and his teammates had little time to fine-tune their strategy for this week's Ontario Curling Association's 2005 Bantam Boys Curling Championships in Sarnia.

Coached by Alison Levere, Klein-Swormink, third Dave Lillico, second Geoff Spruit and lead Kurtis Byrd claimed the Zone 1 championship on their home Winchester Curling Club ice (Jan 14 - 16). Going undefeated at the Zones qualified Klein-Swormink for the regionals at the Cataraqui Curling Club in Kingston (Jan. 22 -23). There they composed a 3-1 record and advanced to the Ontario playdowns as the "B" side winners.

The Winchester rink is now challenging the other regional bantam champions in Sarnia this week (Feb. 2 - 6).

An impressive 10-5 win over Quinte's Chris Barager gave the Winchester foursome a solid start at the Regionals. They took two in the first end and jumped into a 6-1 lead in the third before allowing Barager to close the gap to 6-5 in the fifth. A three-point sixth and another point in the seventh put an early end to the game.

Manotick's Scott Sagle provided the opposition in game two which produced three blank ends and an eventual 3-2 victory for Winchester.

The Jeff Attfield rink out of Ottawa's Carleton Heights Curling Club claimed the championship silverware defeating Winchester 6-3 in the "A" final. Attfield grabbed three in the sixth end and opened up a 6-1 lead. Klein-Swormink got two back in the seventh but 6-3 was as close as he would get.

The loss to Attfield dropped Winchester into the "B" event in a rematch with Sagle of Manotick. Klein-Swormink put two up on the board in the eighth to tie it up 5-5 and force and extra end which he won with his final shot. The 6-5 thriller qualified the Winchester rink for the Ontario championship event.

Winchester tied the final 3-3 with one in the fourth end. Ends five and six were blanked. Sagle jumped into a 5-3 lead in the seventh forcing Klein-Swormink to take two in the eighth to extend the match.

"The final was very stressful. It took an extra end and then the last rock to finally win it," reported coach Levere. "The boys all curled very well. Really, the "A" final was just one of those games where the breaks all went their (Attfield) way."

The Winchester team will travel to Sarnia in style thanks to Mel Johnston Chev Olds of Kemptville who donated a new Chevy Venture van for the trip.

ELIMINATED

Winchester's entry in the OCA's Bantam Girls Regional playdown was eliminated in three games. Skip Amber Moulton, Kara Ruiter, Drea Yerdon and Kelsey Erwin won their opening draw game but dropped their next two in Kingston. Along with coach Kevin Payne, the Moulton rink won the "B" side of the Zones in Winchester for the right to play in the Regionals.

Russell's Bryan Cochrane qualifies for KIA Cup

GANANOQUE — Russell's Bryan Cochrane and his RCMP Curling Club teammates Bill Gamble, Ian MacAulay and John Steski are going to Whitby to compete in the 2005 KIA Cup Men's Provincial Curling Championships.

The Cochrane rink wasn't able to secure a berth in the provincial during the regional playdowns but did qualify by defeating Howard Rajala in a three game playdown at the Gananoque Curling Club last month (Jan. 14-17). Points earned in Ontario Curling Association competition as well as cash bonspiels also factored into Cochrane's eligibility to enter the KIA Cup challenge round.

Whitby will host the 2005 Ontario men's championship Feb. 7 - 11.

DeSerres WCC rink claims 57th Broder "B" side title

RUSSELL — Skip Sharon Courneyea, third Mary Inglis, second Mary Chartrand and lead Michele Serano defeated Russell clubmate Raja Wysocki and her team of Mary Cox, Martha Stolk and Hazel McDougall to become the 57th winner in the Broder Cup Bonspiel.

Courneyea's victory marked the 17th time a Russell Curling Club team captured the coveted cup.

The annual competition brings two ladies teams from each of the Morrisburg, Russell, Metcalfe and Winchester clubs together for a friendly competition which is hosted alternately by the four clubs. Fred and Maude Broder of Morrisburg introduced the trophy to promote ladies curling in 1948.

Skip Liz Deserres defeated clubmate Janet LaPierre in an all-Winchester final to captured the "B" side title at the 2005 Broder Cup bonspiel in Russell. This year's "B" champions are: lead Tracey MacDonald, second Tammy Duke, third Danielle Lodge and skip Liz DeSerres. Tanner Photo

"B" SIDE

A pair of Winchester teams wound up facing each other in the "B" side final. Junior skip Liz DeSerres combined with Danielle Lodge, Tammy Duke and Tracy MacDonald and defeated Janet LaPierre, Janine Stevenson, Judy Somerville and Susan Rawson.

Hornets sting Banshees 7-3, take top spot

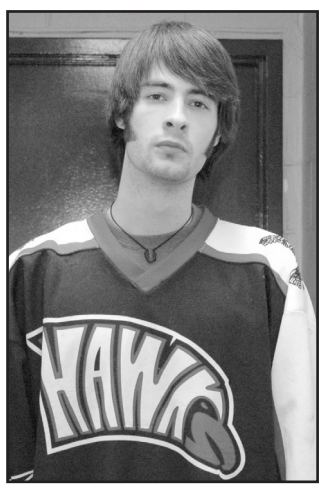
OTTAWA — Paced by Lindsay Donoghue's two-goal effort, the Metcalfe Tween "C" Hornets blasted the Gloucester-Cumberland Banshees 7-3 and used the win to take over top spot in the National Capital Region Ringette League standings.

Metcalfe skated out to a quick 2-0 lead in Sunday's (Jan. 30) contest on goals provided by Brianna Sullivan (unassisted) and Donoghue (assisted by Taylor Cholette). Nicole Kettles got in on the next two goals, first setting up Tabitha Smith and then scoring on a pass provided by Vanessa Rodrique.

The Banshees screamed back into contention cracking in the next three goals and cutting their deficit to 4-3. That was as close as they would get to the Hornets who pumped in three more markers to make it a 7-3 final. Goals by Kelly Ross, Lindsay Gilmore and Donoghue completed the scoring.

Sarah Granville and Ross picked up assists on the final two scoring plays.

Meet the Hawks



No. 30 John Thorton

John Thorton joined the Winchester Hawks after playing in Arnprior with the Junior "B" Packers in 2003-04 and starting the current EOJBHL campaign in Kemptville with the 73s. The 20-year-old North Gower resident can boast a win and a tie against the Rideau Division-leading South Grenville Rangers since coming to Winchester. Thorton, who wears Hawks jersey No. 30, attends Ottawa University.

Hawks

Murdoch said a win at home against Kemptville on Saturday is paramount because it would give the team the confidence boost it desperately needs.

"I want to have a good practice this week. We aren't going to reinvent the wheel, just work on the basics and get things rolling the right way. The players still want to make the playoffs. Until we are out of it no one is going to throw in the towel," stated the coach.

The coach reported defenceman Steve Owens returned to the line-up for the weekend games and expects centre Bruce Hamelin to finally suit up for Saturday's tilt against Kemptville. He also expects to add another player.

GLENS 4 - HAWKS 1

First-period goals by Jamie Jean Louis and Nick Adam put the Glens up 2-0 in Sunday's matinee. The Hawks drew to within a goal at 19:08 of the third period when Nik Paas' point shot struck string. Stephen Swan and Travis Rowe assisted on the power play marker which made it a 2-1 game.

Mathieu Desnoyers tip-in at 16:47 and an empty net goal by Chris Mifflen iced the 4-1 win.

Charles Lavigne posted the win and Tyler Bond suffered the loss.

Shawn Smail and Alain Michaud scored third-period goals in Winchester's 6-2 loss in Kemptville. Brett Brady (2), Marty Brayman, Tommy Black, Travis Vandentillaardt and Tyler Rasa replied for the 73s who outshot the Hawks 30-27.

Smail (PPG), Darren Trenholm, Michaud (PPG) and Paas (PPG) scored in the final two periods of the replayed game in Williamstown on Tues., Jan. 25. Winchester was down 3-0 when the game was called after 20 minutes on Nov. 30 and never recovered. Smail (2), Trenholm (2), Michaud (2), Paas and Robyn Sadler picked up assists.

Atom Kings split games with Blazers

SPENCERVILLE — The Rideau St. Lawrence "AA" Atom Kings split a pair of ODMHA games with the Kanata Blazers last week.

Kanata registered a 3-0 victory in a meeting on Jan. 24 but fell 4-2 in the rematch on Sunday (Jan. 30).

Cal Laforty fired in the first King marker finishing off a play involving Taylor Henry and Joey Sargeant. Slater Koekkoek netted the second on an unassisted play. Warren Steele then used a Marc Beckstead feed to crack in the winning goal. Spencer Lee added the insurance marker scoring from Payton Marriner and Slater Koekkoek.

4-1 victory over Blues

Gold Diggers clinch first place

WINCHESTER — Christina Rombough scored twice and Nancy Beavers collected three assists leading the CountryGirl Gold Diggers to a 4-1 victory over the Annable's Jewellery Blues.

Laura McDonell also earned three points as the Diggers (10-1-4) clinched first place in the Winchester District Ladies Hockey League's regular-season standings. The best the number-two ranked Ryan's Reds (9-4-2) can do with just two games left before the playoffs is tie the Diggers for top spot, providing they Diggers) lose their last two matches.

Blues (2-9-4) forward Jennifer Manley used a pass provided by Heather Erwin to crack Roxanne Backes' goose egg at 19:03 of the second half of Sunday's (Jan. 30) contest.

Rombough (from McDonell and Beavers at 18:40), McDonell (from Rombough and Natalie Levasseur at 11:45) and Kathy Kerr-Moore (from McDonell and Beavers at 6:35) counted the Diggers' first-half goals. Rombough finished it off scoring from Beavers 59 seconds before the final buzzer.

The Reds stayed within four points of the Diggers, skating to a 4-2 win over the Stewart Classics (1-9-5) in the 10 am contest. The Classics led the game 2-1 at the half thanks to goals by Maggie Stewart (from Kim McDiarmid at 18:17) and McDiarmid (from Stewart and Nancy Lowe at 8:09). Cheryl Hamilton responded for the Reds when she finished off a play started by Kelly Francis and Julie Cyr at 6:56.

It was all Reds in the second half as Francis tied it up with help provided by Cyr and Stacy Van-Boxtel at 18:50. Hamilton's 18th of the season was engineered by Cyr and proved to be the winning goal. Cyr then iced the win, scoring (unassisted) into the empty net with 24 seconds left on the clock.

Four different shooters hit the target as the Double Beauty Stylists improved their third-place record to 7-5-3 with a 4-1 win over Andy's Foodland Maroons (5-6-4).

Amy Fraser, Cheryl Cooper and Judy Littau each came up with a goal and one assist while Jenny Van Gurp snapped in the other marker. Christina Carruthers and Nancy Pothier drew assists.

Karla Marshall ruined Carrie Nolan's shutout bid, netting the lone Maroon goal after taking a pass from Dawn Wright-Carriere 4:03 before the final buzzer.

Top stopper

Double Beauty goalie Carrie Nolan just missed registering her seventh shutout of the WDLHL season in Sunday's (Jan. 30) 4-1 victory over Andy's Foodland Maroons. Nolan and her defensive crew lead the league in the fewest goals allowed, having given up just 11 in 15 games. There are only two games left in the regular season.

Snowmobilers ride for Easter Seals

MORRISBURG — This year will mark the 30th anniversary of Snowarama — a fundraiser that not only encourages community spirit, but raises money for Easter Seals Kids. Last year, more than 50 Snowarama events took place across Ontario.

"We made almost $4,800 last year [in Morrisburg]," said Margaret Reynolds, the chair of special events for the Dundas District Council of Easter Seals. "We're hoping to do a bit better this year, but we're thankful for all we get."

Festivities kick off with a pancake breakfast at the Morrisburg Fire Hall on Sat., Feb. 5. The cost is $5 for adults, $2.50 for children 12 and under, and the cakes will be served from 8 to 11 am.

After breakfast there will be snowmobile rides and fun on the fire engines.

"It's certainly important as a fundraiser for our Easter Seals Kids in Dundas County, there are 26 of them," said Reynolds. "We like to have money available for mobility if they need it or for renovations to their home, or anything else."

This year's Snowarama ambassador is eight-year-old Jason Eden of Williamsburg. A student at St. Mary-St. Cecilia Separate School in Morrisburg, he likes spending time with other children and enjoys riding at Touch A Rainbow Riding Stables for the disabled.

"I think it's nice," said Katrina Eden, Jason's mom. "Easter Seals has asked him [Jason] a few times to participate in things like this."

The Eden's know first-hand that fundraisers like Snowarama are important.

"They [Easter Seals] bought Jason a stroller," said Katrina.

Snowarama is organized by the Girls On Snow, made up of female members of the Nation Valley Snowmobile Association.

"This is probably our fourth year," said Jean MacDougall, one of the organizers. The "girls" used to organize fundraising events for the Rotary Club in Chesterville before taking on Easter Seals for the last four years.

"Doing it for the kids, it's giving something back to the community," said MacDougall.

She said that once this year's Snowarama is finished the group will start to plan next year's events.

"We're always thinking a year ahead," she said.

Easter Seals assists thousands of children and young adults, and their families, living with physical disabilities by helping them purchase equipment, offering camp and recreation programs, and providing access to information and research that will improve their quality of life.

Two for Derue

North Dundas shooter Spencer Derue (#15) victimized the Louisville Lightning goaltender for a pair of third-period goals as the Midget "B" House Demons registered a 6-2 victory over the visitors from New York. Matt Holmes, Justin Marion, John Sloane and Brandon Young counted the other markers.

Hat tricks for Nadobny, Spirk

Rams break out for fourth win, shoot down Winchester Flyers 9-4

WINCHESTER — Powered by the three-goal efforts of John Nadobny and Adam Spirk the Boyd Chrysler Rams slammed the brakes on a seven-week losing skid they had been in.

The fourth-place Rams (4-12-1) picked up their fourth win of the season clobbering the first-place Winchester Flyers (11-5-1) 10-4 in the opening game of the Tuesday (Jan. 25) twin bill. It was the first loss for the Flyers since Nov. 30.

The second half of the card saw the third-place C.K. Cyclones (8-8-1) wreck the number-two ranked Ben's Pioneer Rangers (9-7-1) 8-4.

Spirk cashed in two of his goals helping the Rams open up a 3-1 lead on the Flyers. Al Christophersen counted the other marker while Dereck "Wendel" Holmes replied for the Flyers. Troy McNaughton (from Holmes and Adrian Price at 26:47) and Holmes (from Paul Pilotte and Jeff Holmes at 16:52) cracked in goals early in the second half to pull the Flyers into a 3-3 tie.

Mike Buller handed the Rams a 4-3 lead scoring on a Trevor Morozuk feed at the 16:15 mark but the Flyers were able to respond and knot the count at 4-4 when McNaughton converted a pass provided by Chris Van Bridger and Dereck Holmes into his team's final goal of the game.

With just seven skaters on duty the Flyers weren't able to prevent the Rams from ripping in six unanswered goals and securing their 10-4 win.

Nadobny and Spirk each collected three goals and one assist for the winners. Al Christophersen (1-3-4), Chad Brownlee (0-4-4), Mike Buller (1-2-3), Bill Henderson (1-0-1), Travis McGahey (0-1-1), Morozuk (0-1-1) and Jeff Hennessey (0-1-1) all picked up points. Former Kemptville 73s goaltender Jay Bullied posted the win.

Dereck Holmes (2-2-4), McNaughton (2-0-2), Price (0-2-2), Jay Holmes (0-1-1), Jeff Holmes (0-1-1), Van Bridger (0-1-1) and Pilotte (0-1-1) figured in the Flyers scoring. Gregg Griffith suffered his fifth loss.

CYCLONES 8 - RANGERS 4

Dave Summers was the chief architect on the Cyclones' winning project engineering five scoring plays in the 8-4 victory over the Rangers.

First-half markers by Chad Valcour, Craig "Bud" Holmes, Derek Rintoul and Gary McInnis opened up a comfortable 4-0 lead for the Cyclones. The Rangers rallied in the second half and managed to close the gap to 5-3 and 6-4 but couldn't get any closer.

Valcour (4-1-5), Summers (0-5-5), Holmes (2-2-4), Rintoul (1-2-3), McInnis (1-1-2), Jamie McIntosh (0-2-2), Chris Hart (0-1-1) and goaltender Terry Barkley (0-1-1) provided the Cyclone offence.

Chris Williams, Josh McLean and Scott Baldwin each had a goal and an assist for the Rangers. Andrew Barrie scored once. Kelly "Rubber" Beckstead (2) and Scott Barkley picked up assists. Chris Currie worked the nets in place of Craig "JB" Smith.

Penguins share first place in MMTHL

METCALFE — Jamie Reimer's unassisted goal came with 13:03 left in the game and proved to the deciding shot as the second-place Penguins hand the Metcalfe Men's Town Hockey League-leading Canadians a 4-1 loss.

Sunday's (Jan. 30) setback was the second consecutive for the Canadians (8-5-5) while the victory was the Penguins' (7-4-7) seventh. Both teams have now collected 21 points.

Dennis Dalgleish, Dale Poirier, Reimer and Mike McClelland cracked in the Pens' goals. Bob Dumelie (2), Reimer (2), and Poirier picked up assists. Dave Vandergt (from Bob Kemp and Peter Bishop) supplied the Canadian goal.

The fifth-place Leafs (6-8-4) overpowered the sixth-place Stars (4-8-6) in the 10 am contest. Mark Docksteader potted a pair of goals, including the winner while Peter Holmes, Derek Burleigh, Reg Fisher, Chris Kelly and Chris Reaney snapped in singles. Burleigh (3), Kelly (2), Greg McLaren, Rob Stanley, Rich Corlyon, Holmes and Fisher collected assists. Joe Scott converted a play started by Darrell Warren and Scott Soule into the lone Stars' goal.

Paul Devertevil fired in the game-winning goal and Bill Jamieson posted the shutout as the fourth-place Senators (7-8-3) nipped the third-place Blues (8-7-3) 1-0 in the opening game at 9 am.

Thank You!

Dundas County Hospice would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the businesses and individuals who sponsored tables and bought tickets to the Mardi Gras Masquerade Ball. Your support for our organization is greatly appreciated. Thanks to the many volunteers for their time and talents, and to everyone who donated to this event. This community is truly amazing. To Liam McGuire for his terrific job as emcee, the Mumbo Jumbo Voodoo Combo band for the great music, and to Barb Buchanan for the dancing entertainment. A very special thank you goes to Larry Michaud, of Lola's Emporium in Winchester, for his enthusiasm, energy and drive to make this fundraiser a huge success. The tireless efforts he put into the planning of the party will always be remembered.

We thank you for your generosity.

UPPER CANADA PLAYHOUSE

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Upper Canada Playhouse is a not for profit professional theatre company located in Morrisburg. It has been a significant contributor to the cultural fabric of the United Counties of S.D.&G. for 22 years, and has an audience base that is derived from all points throughout the Seaway Valley and extending to such areas as Brockville, Ottawa, Montreal, New York State and points throughout Ontario. Its volunteer Board of Directors provides stewardship to The Playhouse by:

- focusing on The Playhouse's future and vision
- being responsible for excellence in governance
- ensuring quality of product and services and prudent use of resources

As a Board member you must be 18 years of age, agree to become a voting Member in good standing of The Playhouse and be a resident of the area served by The Playhouse. Ideally candidates will bring prior experience in one or several of the following: prior experience in governance as a board member, managerial knowledge & strategic planning experience, business or group dynamic experience, experience and appreciation for the arts and/or specific experience and skill sets that will assist a thriving cultural organization. Applicants should have an understanding of the community served by The Playhouse.

Upper Canada Playhouse is accepting applications from the community for vacancies on the Board. If you would like to be considered for one of these positions, please forward your resume by February 18th to:

Board Search Committee, Upper Canada Playhouse
P.O. Box 852, Morrisburg, ON K0C 1X0
For further information call: 613-543-0665.

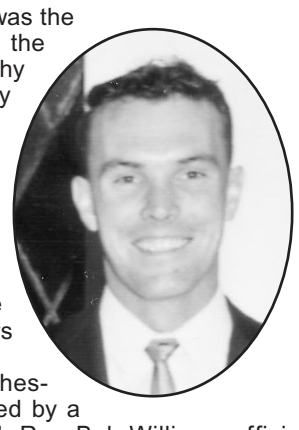
He was born on Jan. 17, 1941 in Finch. He was the former husband of Shirley Storring. He was the cherished father of Steven John, Shawn Timothy (Cathy Morrow) and Matthew Allen (Kiley McLennan). He will be sadly missed by granddaughter MacKayla Clark. He was predeceased by father William Clark and brother Robert Clark. He is survived by his mother Bessie Clark; sister Joan Ellis; sister-in-law Carol Clark; nieces Barbara (Lynden) Holmes, Kathryn (Shawn) Borgford; grandniece Autumn Homes; and grandnephew Dane Borgford. He will be sadly missed by many relatives, neighbors and friends.



A memorial visitation was held at the Winchester Funeral Home on Jan. 30 and was followed by a service in the chapel of the funeral home with Rev. Bob Williams officiating. An inurnment will take place in the spring.

In lieu of flowers, donations to the Bob Meldrum Fund or the Winchester District Memorial Hospital would be gratefully acknowledged by the family.

Donald Angus McGillivary

Donald Angus McGillivary passed away peacefully at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Jan. 24, 2005. He was 83.

He was predeceased by wife Elsie (nee Reid). He was the cherished father of Violet (Stephen) Reid-Garsky of Calgary, and Bonnie and Janet McGillivary, both of Winchester. He will be sadly missed by grandchildren Jason and Shawn Garsky of Calgary, and great-grandchildren Ethan, Joseph and Brie. He was predeceased by sisters Myrtle Price, Florence Helmer, Dymple Coughlar, Eva Antoine, and brother Gladstone "Mike." He was born in Apple Hill on March 5, 1921, to the late Donald McGillivary and the late Emily McGillivary (nee Warner).

The visitation was held at the Winchester Funeral Home on Jan. 28 and was followed by a service in the chapel of the funeral home with Rev. Bob Williams officiating. Burial followed at Maple Ridge Cemetery in Chesterville.

For those wishing, donations to either the Winchester District Memorial Hospital or the Crysler Residence would be gratefully acknowledged by the family.

Christena Minshull

Christena (Pat) Minshull (nee Wylie) (formerly Boyd) passed away on Jan. 26, 2005 at Niagara Arms in St. Catharines. She was 95.

She was predeceased by her husbands Carman Boyd and Stanley Minshull. She was also predeceased by parents Joe and Libby Wylie; brothers Cecil, Clifford and Glen; and sisters Stella Carkner and Jessie Atchison. Left to mourn are her son Bill and his wife Anne, grandson Kevin Boyd, granddaughter Kelly and her husband Charlie Bungard and their daughter Sydney.

She taught school at Goulbourne Township, at Montapica, Que. for the RCAF. And at St. Catharines until her retirement in 1974. During the next 19 years she co-ordinated travel and formed a large travel club at the Dunlop Drive Seniors in St. Catharines.

Family received friends at the Hulse & English Funeral Home & Chapel in St. Catharines on Jan. 28. The funeral service was held in the chapel of the funeral home on Jan. 29, followed by cremation. The ashes will be inurned in Metcalfe Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, donations to a charity of your choice would be appreciated. Memorial tributes may be made at www.mem.com.

Ice drags competition heats up track

WINCHESTER — As if on cue the icy-cold temperatures which had gripped the area for several weeks, moderated just in time for race day. By Saturday (Jan. 29) the conditions were almost perfect as the Winchester Township Snowmobile Club presented its fifth annual Ice Drags.
The competition included stock, improved stock, pro stock and open classes for machines from all around eastern Ontario. The times clocked over the 660-foot ice track were reported to be very quick. In 2004, the event attracted 50 machines and raised $600 for the Winchester District Memorial Hospital's Renewing the Vision Fund.
Race fans were able to warm up and enjoy food and refreshments in the club house.

Door prizes, much more at trade show in Kemptville

KEMPTVILLE — After an absence of some years, Kemptville and area merchants are once again organizing a trade show. The Kemptville Home Town Expo runs Friday evening and all day Saturday (Feb. 4-5). The show will feature over 40 local businesses in the W.B. George Centre at Kemptville College.

"There was a trade show organized ages and ages ago," explained organizer Tom Taylor of The Mortgage Centre. "This is almost like a trial run at doing it again." The Business Network International (BNI) group which meets every Tuesday morning came up with the idea.

A number of BNI members felt that Kemptville was a large enough community that it should have its own trade show. "It's somewhere local people can go to see what diversity and services are available right on their doorstep. North Grenville and Kemptville are thriving, growing communities and in a lot of cases, many people might not be aware of exactly what is on offer locally," said Taylor.

The show promises lots and lots of door prizes. A $2 entrance fee will be charged, to be divided between tsunami relief efforts in South Asia and the Lean on Me campaign at Kemptville District Hospital. Children under 12 get in for free.

At the door collecting money will be Cody Clarke. The Kemptville youth has drawn notice for his volunteer work, preparing comfort kits for hospitalized young people in Ottawa.

Business people participating in the show will have the chance to hold mini seminars with visitors. There are small conference rooms at the front of the W.B. George Centre where business owners will describe their services. A schedule of these sessions will be provided during the show.

The Kemptville Home Town Expo will run Friday from 5 to 9 pm. Hours on Saturday will be 9 am to 4 pm. For more information, contact Taylor at 613-258-0216. A list of the exhibitors taking part is provided at www.hometownexpo.com.
