Third annual seed fair for SDG here at Legion Hall

The third annual seed fair for Stormont. Dundas and Glengarry will be held this year in the Legion Hall, Chesterville, on March 28 and 29. An excellent program has been planned.

Exhibits will be judged Monday afternoon, March 28, and the hall will be open to the public that evening.

"Labour Saving in the Dairy Barn" will be the main program topic on Monday evening, commencing at 8 p.m. H. E. Wright, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph is to be principal speaker on this timely subject and his talk will be followed by a panel discussion. Jim Humphries, Glengarry Agricultural Representative, will chair the panel, with George Suffel, Millard Grant, Wilfred Vallance, Larry Donohue, Kemptville Agricultural School, and Sam McLeod, V.L.A., as members. The aim of the program is to consider ways of getting chores done with less time, less work and at low cost.

The Tuesday program starts at 9.30 a.m. with the junior seed judging competition open to boys and girls under 23 years of age.

Featuring the Tuesday afternoon programme will be an outstanding speaker, Dr Bill Tossell, of the Field Husbandry Department, O.A.C., Guelph. His subject will be "Making the Most of Forage Crops." Also on the program will be Neil Stoskopf, of Kemptville Agricultural School, on "Crop Recommendations for 1969," and William Ewing, Vankleek Hill, on "The Seed Supply and Outlook."

John Russell, Canada Department of Agriculture, will judge and discuss seed classes, while J. W. MacRae, Kemptville, will judge the hay and silage entries.

The final event of the program is the auction sale of ten-bushel lots of prize seed. This will be an excellent opportunity to buy first class seed.

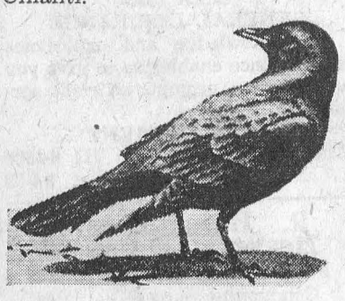
The seed fair is sponsored by the Soil and Crop Improvement Associations of the three counties with E. K. Pearson, Agricultural Representative for Dundas, as secretary-manager.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

Charlie Marcell is measuring the flow of water in the old station at last. The current is whipping downstream at a great pace and surely Spring can't be far behind. Each year Lands and Forests department men arrange to have the river levels measured several times a day from the beginning of the flood until the water recedes. Now the familiar figure of Charlie is seen each morning, noon and evening leaning over the bridge rail, holding a plumb-bob and measure to get the water height.

Of course this year, he is measuring the water height through a hole in the condemned ice. It still isn't showing any signs of moving and finally the department men cut a hole through with a chain saw so the water flow could be measured. Even that didn't bring any water to the surface to amount to anything. The only thing that floated up was an empty brown bottle, floated in no doubt from Killoran Valley.

We made like a connoisseur the other day and ate the character you see just below. He was loud, positive and sure of many things. It fell his lot to prove a point, and with very poor grace we ate the scrawny bird. From now until next Spring, we will not breathe when the river will be free of ice. Crow is not even improved with garlic and Chianti.



We added a new head of hair to the "Record" staff this week. This one is a good lively red and joins the range we have on view now. Starting from the retreating front, we have grey, retreating brown, clipped mouse and now "Woody" red.

Orlin J Barkley, 55

Orlin J. Barkley, of Morrisburg, passed away at Tampa, Florida, on Tuesday, March 22, early in the morning at his trailer home.

He is survived by his wife, son Paul and daughter, Eleanor, Mrs Pat Keys.

Tom Foley popular sportscaster killed in accident

Tom Foley, popular sportscaster and manager of radio station CFRA, Ottawa, was killed last weekend in an auto accident in Toronto. He leaves to mourn his father and mother, Mr and Mrs J. Foley, Milk River, Alta., and four daughters, Kathy 13, Jill, 12, Theresa, 10, and Sheila, 5. His wife died just a year ago.

Tom Foley

Funeral services were held Monday of this week at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church. Interment was made in Notre Dame Cemetery.

Mr Foley was only 38 years old and at the time of the accident was a passenger riding in an airline limousine. Three other passengers of the car were also injured.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to all those who helped us during and after the fire which destroyed our home. Your many acts of kindness, contributions and thoughtfulness will always be remembered. Special thanks to the canvassers, the boys of Finch and Chesterville Hockey Clubs and Finch Legion.

Mr and Mrs Reg. Darling and Family.

Thanks . . .

Members of Chesterville Community Centre Board were highly pleased over the weekend to receive a fine contribution towards upkeep of the park for the new season. Chesterville Legion turned over a handsome sum from proceeds of the benefit bingo, and Teen Town staged a Friday night dance and netted a neat $35 for the pot. It all helps a lot and about $200 more will see the season covered nicely.

Mrs M. Cook guest speaker at cancer society meeting

Chesterville district branch of the Canadian Cancer Society held an interesting meeting last week in Legion Hall. Speaker for the event was Mrs Mary Cook, Carleton Place, organizer for the society.

President Cecil Carr was in charge assisted by secretary Mrs T. D. Ross, campaign chairman Frank Cox and other chairmen.

Reports were given concerning work in progress and planned by various chairmen. The president reported on the rather uncertain situation that had arisen over magazine salesmen taking the name of the society in vain, but reported the matter finally settled to nearly everyone's satisfaction.

Mrs Jack Fulton outlined the state of the treasury, Mrs G. W. Gilbert reported on the extent of hand work being done and Mrs Mancel Brownlee reviewed the Women's Service division.

Frank Cox expressed special thanks to members of United Church C.G.I.T. girls who worked so faithfully in packing canvassers' kits. He also outlined the latest plans for the Chesterville blitz campaign to take place April 21. Mr Cox had attended the campaign conference in Toronto and was brimming with plans.

Mrs Wallace Cook is chairman of extension for Lanark county and District No. 1. She spoke on "My Sword of Hope" and her seven years experience in the field of extension gave her a firm basis for her remarks.

She mentioned that in Ontario there are 20 research centres supported by the Canadian Cancer Society. Seventy percent of all donations, she noted, is used for research. Different phases in Women's Services were explained and education was stressed as a preventive measure.

Hugh Banfill, president of Cornwall Unit, gave a short address and answered questions about the coming campaign.

For best flavour, frozen fish should be cooked quickly at high temperature.

In Canada, 900,000 Canadians on the fisheries for their livelihood.

Wm. Kendrick at Rotary speaks on education

"Children are our greatest asset," said William Kendrick, "they hide death from our eyes." He was speaking at the regular meeting of Chesterville Rotary Monday night. As principal of Ottawa Normal School, his words were listened to with intense interest by the large gathering.

Education and the Rotary club formed the heart of the speaker's address and it was his opinion the actual practice of Rotary service ideas were the most important part of the program. Mr Kendrick believed the years spent in school were of tremendous importance to students, but of even greater importance was the use of the time left after school was over. He noted that in five years of secondary education, only 5% of the time was spent at school.

The speaker stressed the need to educate the students to keep them in the communities. Thus the education should be for the environment, not for outside the environment.

The speaker was introduced by Leon Marcellus and thanked by Keith Graham.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all those who remembered me with cards, treats and calls while I was a patient in Winchester Hospital. Special thanks to Dr H. Justus and the nursing staff.

Mrs Dorothy Irven.

Mr and Mrs Will Johnstone, Finch, celebrated their Golden Anniversary last Wednesday evening. They were feted at Chalmer's United Church, Finch, and received many lovely gifts and congratulations. They were married fifty years ago at Dunbar. Mrs Johnstone is the former Zella Marcellus.—Record Photo.

50 years married

Mr and Mrs William C. Johnstone recently celebrated their Golden Anniversary of their wedding day.

A reception was held in the evening in Chalmer's United Church hall where more than 150 members of the congregation honoured the couple. Rev James Hamilton, on behalf of the session and congregation, welcomed Mr and Mrs Johnstone and gifts were presented by members of the session, W.M.S., 3 M's and by the officals of Grantley United Church, as well as several individual gifts.

Mr Johnstone replied on behalf of himself and his wife in his usual jovial manner.

A three-tiered wedding cake and tall ivory tapers centred the head table. The floral decorations were spring blooms and yellow roses.

A short program consisted of a sing-song, violin and accordian music by Rev James Hamilton and Mrs Hamilton and a reading of a paper depicting the humourous highlights of Mr and Mrs Johnstone's fifty years of wedded life. They were married at the Presbyterian Manse at Dunbar by Rev George Mason. The attendants were Jake Marcellus and Margaret Johnstone (Mrs Lester Cass). Mrs Johnstone was the former Zella Marcellus.

Among the many congratulatory messages received were those from the Hon. Lester B. Pearson, M.P., the Hon. John Wintermeyer, M.P.P., Peter Manley, M.P.P., a telegram from the Hon. Lionel Chevrier, M.P., and a scroll from the Liberal party, Toronto.

Aid crippled children—buy Easter Seals

It wasn't too many years ago when boys or girls, who because of some defect in figure or speech, were hidden away from sight when visitors came.

Today we have no known instance of this practice in Ontario and this is due largely to the influence and 37 years of hard work done by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children—an organization backed by 222 Easter Seal Service Clubs including Chesterville Rotary Club and financed by the Easter Seal Campaign.

One of the many handicapped conditions is cerebral palsy, a condition which means control over muscles is impaired or lost due to brain lesions. These, doctors say, can occur during pregnancy, at birth or afterwards from a variety of causes. The incidence of cerebral palsy is estimated to be about one in 568 live births.

Consider then the problem confronting the parents of a spastic child. In the typical cerebral palsied child there is drooling, poor speech, if any, and movements of the hands are slow and awkward. When supported in a standing position the legs are held in a scissor-like way. In their walk their gate is stiff, clumsy and up on their toes.

But they can be trained. At treatment centres throughout Ontario there are teams of physiotherapists, occupational therapists, speech therapists, nurses and doctors who have often "dragged" the very first word out of lips that have never spoken. They have taken the formerly thought helpless cerebral palsy child and taught him to ride a tricycle, feed and dress himself or even walk. From this brief glance at cerebral palsy it is apparent that mothers and fathers of these children require professional guidance in accepting the role they must play in the life of their child.

This was the very first fact which led the Society in their initial care of cerebral palsy youngsters—their bringing together of parents in the various communities. The realization of the benefit that can be derived from such meetings has resulted in the formation of the Ontario Federation for Cerebral Palsy.

All the work for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children—whether it be cerebral palsy, camping, nursing, equipment or many other phases is financed by the annual Easter Seal Campaign.

Unemployment Insurance

In the Commons, one night last week, Labour Minister Starr told of a seasonally unemployed Canadian who earns $7,000 a year and yet who is drawing unemployment insurance throughout the winter months because his work lasts only throughout the summer, according to the Glengarry News. The minister told of this instance when replying to a complaint by a CCF Member that winter employment amounts to 22 to 25 percent of the labour force in his riding, adjoining Fort William, according to Mr Starr, that he commiserated with this bush worker because he was unemployed all winter.

The news report of this interplay between the Labour Minister and a CCF Member makes no mention of any Commons reaction to the picture of a $7,000 a year seasonal worker drawing unemployment insurance throughout the winter. Members of Parliament took it as a matter of course. And well they might, for this is common practice in Unemployment Insurance circles.

Almost every category of seasonal worker may now count on winter-long weekly payment from the fund. Women take it as a matter of course that when they marry they will receive this nest egg to help furnish their new nest. Men are calculating the number of days or weeks they must work in order to be eligible to return to the Unemployment Insurance trough.

In the eyes of year-round contributors to the fund, the Unemployment Insurance Commission constitutes the biggest waste of public funds reaching the largest number of voters the politicians could possibly hope to keep happy. The fund was instituted with the laudable purpose of forever ending the need of any citizen applying for relief.

We still have relief; but no bread lines. The line now forms at the Unemployment Insurance offices and it is made up, as far as we can see, of more people seeking a dole that has become respectable, than ever applied for relief in the depth of the depression.

There are no doubt deserving cases being tided over bad times by the fund. But they seem far out-weighed by the many who have figured to the exact day how long they must labour before the Unemployment Insurance cheque, and the kick-back from Income Tax, will take care of their needs through a winter of idleness.

No man earning $5,000 a year should require aid from the public service. Yet we have the picture of a complacent Commons hearing of such a one who takes in $7,000 in the summer months and has the government buy his beer through a winter of idleness. There are thousands just like him and it is the year-round worker who last year was called on to pay a larger weekly contribution to prime this free-flowing political pump.

Party lines have been dropped while Members of Parliament freely debate the question of abolition of the death penalty. That is a subject made to order for the politician.

We could measure him better if such a non-party debate permitted the politician with principles to sound off on all the things that are wrong with the present policies of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

It stinks.

Your Member Reports . . .

By Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P.

It is always satisfying to read one's own opinion in print. The automatic reaction is to feel this is very clever and very true. Of course this may or may not be so, as a great many worthless ideas get into print.

When the writer is none other than the Governor of the Bank of Canada, then admittedly there is room for close consideration whether one agrees with him or not.

This week the Hon. Donald Fleming, Minister of Finance, tabled the report of James Coyne who has been Governor of the Bank of Canada for five years, but who had never before been quite so clear and outspoken with his opinions. He told Canada that she has been spending too much in an attempt to expand too fast, and raise standards of living too high. He suggested that "We must in the end learn as a nation to live within our means and exhibit the strength and will to do so."

These are words all Canadians should observe and ponder. A country cannot go on borrowing forever without facing results, any more than an individual. There is no magic about it. The money must come from somewhere.

If the Government must, or wishes to spend, vast amounts on defence, pensions, subsidies, development of roads and resources and transportation facilities, then they must get the money either from taxes, from Canadian savings, or from other countries.

It is generally accepted that taxes are high enough so we look to Canadian savings. It is generally accepted that Canadians should have their own homes, cars, televisions, washing machines, telephones, so how can most families have savings? This means the only choice is to borrow and we have a rich neighbour who is friendly to us and willing to loan to us.

Many speeches are made against our dependence on the United States and some bitterness expressed against this great nation. We can hardly blame the U.S. for accommodating us when we ask them to. We should take steps against further dependence rather than weakly complain about it.

I have been thinking, talking and reading about this problem for many months. It seems to me that many other problems such as unemployment are secondary in that they stem from this.

It would be unlikely that a farmer could continue to buy more land, build bigger barns, buy more modern machinery and at the same time work fewer and fewer hours and sell less produce off his farm without having to borrow. There will come a time when he must decide whether to make do with the old barns, produce more off the land he already owns or work longer and harder, or a combination of all these solutions. But obviously he must stop borrowing sometime or he will be unable to pay even the interest charges.

Last year Canada's deficit in non-merchandise such as administrative charges, foreign debt charges, advertising, insurance, etc., was one billion dollars. At the same time the results of our production of foreign sales left us 400 million in debt in trade. This trend began several years ago.

To me there is nothing more important than our trade situ-

Your Ontario Legislature Report

Hon. F. M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

The Ontario Parliament has now been in session two full months and the debate and committee work seem never-ending. It appears that this First Session of the 26th Legislature will exceed by some weeks the length of the last session of the previous parliament. During the past week the Speaker entertained to dinner as is the annual custom, the members and senior public servants and his dinner was graced by the presence of Lieutenant-Governor Mackay.

Agriculture and Labour had the predominant place on last week's Committee and House agendas. The Committee on Agriculture received delegations (as did the Cabinet) from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and Ontario Farmers' Union with respect to farm marketing, and the estimates of the Department of Agriculture had a stormy passing in the House. The new Labour Bill received very careful attention from the Committee on Labour and appears to be a well thought out and reasonable law. The estimates of the Minister of Health, Minister of Reform Institutions and Provincial Secretary also were passed.

The latter provided one of the longest sessions this year (2 p.m. to 1 a.m., Thursday) and one of the most acrimonious debates as the members of all parties engaged in a spirited exchange of views, epithets and solutions with respect to Ontario's present liquor laws. While everyone thought many things might be done to improve some aspects of our liquor laws, no one seems sure either how to begin or whether the "cure" would be worse than the "disease." Once again Premier Frost displayed his sagacity and leadership by having this rather bitter debate proceed to a reasonable conclusion with everyone happily holding on to his own view, and government policy, which really works very well in practice, firmly restated.

The budget debate has continued with more lengthy speeches by opposition members who seem disposed to talk in unending succession. Both the Mini-

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

by Lillian Allison

When I read the classified ads in the newspapers I'm always curious to know what the story behind them would be. A lady wants to sell a fur coat, for instance. Why? Did she outgrow it; Did someone buy her a mink? Or is she simply sick of the thing?

Why is someone selling his farm or car? Could he not make the payments? I wonder how it happened that a man lost his watch or somebody found a woman's purse?

Perhaps you were curious when you read our ad a couple of weeks ago stating that we had found a big, brown dog. Maybe you wondered how one finds a dog and if there is a story behind that notice. There is.

We were having dinner one day about three weeks ago when a red tractor and wagon went up the highway followed by a big, brown dog. Now that isn't news. Tractors and wagons and dogs pass our place quite regularly. But when we saw a dog across the road in the ditch an hour later we became curious. Harry went out to investigate.

The dog, he reported, must have been hit with a car. His hip seemed broken so he couldn't walk. He just lay there on the snow. The dog looked like the one which had followed the tractor. No doubt the driver would notice him when he returned and take him home. Night came however and the injured dog still lay in the ditch.

It didn't seem right to Harry to leave the poor brute there in the snow all night but how could he get him to the barn? He wouldn't attempt to walk. Finally on inspiration Harry took a horse-blanket out, lifted the dog onto it and dragged him across the road and all the way to the barn. It was a long haul. When he arrived he stopped to open the door. At that point the dog climbed onto his three good legs, walked in and lay down on the straw.

In a day or so the dog was quite mobile again even if he couldn't step on the broken leg. He wandered around outside but never attempted to go home. No one inquired about him either. We tried to find out who owned the red tractor and wagon but had no luck.

Because of his long, floppy ears the convalescing dog became known as "The Hound." Several days passed and no one came looking for him so we inserted the advertisement in our favourite weekly. There were two inquiries but the Hound wasn't the dog the folks were looking for. One lady said she would take him if we didn't find the owner. We waited a couple of days and phoned her that the Hound was hers. But at that point she had gone to get a pup someone had given her.

The Hound stayed. Despite the fact that the board isn't too good he seems to like us. In fact he likes us much better than we like him.

He's improving now, thank you. In fact he's well enough that he feels like a little fight now and again. The only available sparring partner, of course, is Buster. Buster isn't as young as he used to be and he can walk underneath the Hound but that doesn't mean he's a coward. If fact I wouldn't be surprised if, sometimes, Buster starts the fight.

Yesterday I set some food out for Buster when the Hound wasn't looking. He arrived, however, as fast as his three good legs would carry him and there was a battle on the spot. It ended only when I grabbed the food and let Buster into the kitchen.

The thing we dislike most about the Hound is his voice. At 12.30 in the night it sounds like the voice of doom. Last night he rendered an aria on the front veranda. Soon Buster joined in from the basement. The Hound's deep baritone and Buster's sharp soprano nearly drove me crazy. When I could stand it no longer I went downstairs and threw the broom at the Hound. Th quieted him momentarily bu failed to discourage a couple of encores before daylight. Believe me there was little applause from me or from Harry who is the victim of pneumonia right now.

It appears we're stuck with the

Mr and Mrs Harry Ing--

Prize-winning home built at Morrisburg

Th New-Home Design Award created by the Star Weekly, and awarded for the home plan suitable to most Canadians, has been reproduced in Morrisburg. It is the new home of Mr and Mrs Harry Ing located on Park Avenue, and is being opened for public inspection this weekend, March 25 and 26.

In addition to winning the design award, Mr Ing's new home has also been awarded a Gold Medallion — the Hallmark of Electrical Excellence, and the Triple Seal of Quality Award. The house introduces the newest and most modern form of heating, electrical heat. The big job of installing the electrical wiring and special work for the heating system was done by Arthur Thom, electrical contractor of Williamsburg.

Built by Robert Geggie, a Winchester building contractor, the ranch-style home will be finished in yellow mottled brick. The attached garage will permit direct entry from the garage to the living area.

The home will be equipped with a number of modern features. The kitchen is designed for the utmost in convenience, a built-in electric wall oven, electric surface cooking elements, and an exhaust fan that will carry cooking odours away from the living area.

Modern lighting fixtures throughout the home will provide a pathway of light, and all switches will be silent operation. To add convenience, an electric washer and dryer is installed in the basement utility room. Next to the utility room is a beautiful basement recreation room which will be finished in mahogany panels.

Highlights of the home, however, is electric heating. The home is equipped with two 100-ampere services to carry the electrical current used for normal day-to-day electrical use, and a second service devoted to the operation of the electric heating units.

Throughout the house, in each of the spacious rooms, visitors will notice the heating units along the baseboard. Styled to blend with any decor, each unit provides the heat for the specific room. For the utmost in convenience, each room is equipped with a thermostat which controls individual room temperature. This feature offers the advantage of permitting seldom-used rooms during the daytime to be kept cool, while other parts of the house are set at comfortable temperatures. During the night, living rooms and kitchens may be allowed to stay cool, while bedroms are set at sleeping temperatures.

Use of electric heat provides much additional space in the basement for recreation and utility rooms. There is no furnace to occupy floor space, and no ductwork to use up ceiling area. The electrical units are the individual heat producers. Electric heating is certainly one of the highlights of this well-planned home.

Mr Ing's new home will be open for inspection Friday and Saturday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. An official opening will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Electric heat new feature for Ontario homes

"Turn on the heat" is a local saying which is acquiring a very literal meaning these days, especially in homes, schools, motels and churches which are heated electrically.

For example, the pleasant warmth provided by various types of electric units in these living areas can be controlled in each room by simply turning small, unobtrusive thermostats. In other words, the temperature can be maintained at 50 degrees or lower in one room, and at 70 or higher in another, as desired, enabling both the "Eskimos" and the "hot-house plant" to be happy under the same roof.

Automatic electric heating, however, is but one of a number of "dream" features which are being built into most of the all-electric homes now under construction throughout Ontario. The latest of these being the home of Mr Harry Ing, Park Avenue, Morrisburg.

Fireless and Smokeless

Explaining the principles of electric heating, engineers point out that electricity flows through metal fins, tape or wire. The metals resist the passage of electrical energy. As a result, a fireless, smokeless, clean heat is created. Engineers also emphasize that this is an even heat, which warms directly and that it is highly efficient as every unit of electricity is converted into heat.

While there is a wide variety of electric heaters, the more popular types include baseboards, heating cable, glass panels, and fan-type units; and soon to be added to this list of forms is the heat pump which cools as well as heats.

Baseboard type units have been used throughout Mr Ing's new home in Morrisburg. These have heating elements inside the hollow metal baseboard. Through openings at the top and the bottom, cool room air flows in and warm air flows out. Because they blend in with the decorative scheme of each room in which they are used, baseboards are inconspicuous and save space, making it possible to have any desired arrangement of furniture, These electrical heating units range in length from two to eight feet, depending upon the area to be heated. Installation is simple, involving only a few screws and connection to electric wiring. It does not involve any major adjustments in the wood framework of a home, for only small holes have to be made to permit passage of the wiring.

Increased Interest

A third factor is the increasing public interest in electric heating, reflected in the mounting number of inquiries received by Ontario Hydro and local municipal hydro systems. These inquiries come not only from private citizens, but from companies, school boards, and various organizations seeking information about heating of homes, schools, farms, and other types of structures.

Since the early years of the century, Ontario Hydro has made an increasingly significant contribution to the march of industrial and economic progress and to the high standard of living in this province. The Commission's active identification with the growing trend towards electric heating is in keeping with its continuing policy to bring to the people increasing benefits and conveniences that will enable them to Live Better Electrically.

A PLEASURE!

Homemaking Club girls complete fall project

Dundas County 4-H Homemaking Club girls completed their fall project, "Cottons May Be Smart," on Saturday, March 12, at Winchester Town Hall. The hall looked like Spring itself with all the members' fresh and gaily coloured dresses on display.

During the morning the girls took part in judging classes of dress materials and dresses. At noon Winchester W.I. served a tasty meal for the girls and their leaders.

The afternoon program was turned over to the girls. They commented on exhibits and performed in skits and demonstrations on the subject "Cottons May Be Smart." The many interested guests learned the processing and many different uses for the versatile cotton fibre. The program was brought to a climax by a fashion show in which the members modelled the dresses they had made.

Each girl and leader was presented with a sterling silver spoon for having completed the project successfully. Mrs Donald Runions, Morewood, was presented with a leader's certificate for having led clubs for five years.

This is the 25th anniversary of 4-H Homemaking Clubs, and Mrs Matthew Aitchison, Winchester, who was an early club member, commented on the progress of these clubs.

Mrs John Sutherland, district president of Dundas County Women's Institutes, brought greetings from the Institutes and presented nine girls with County Honour Pins. They were Lois Bouck, Gertrude McGinn, Jean McGinn, Eleanor McCaslin and Lorraine Robertson, of the Matilda Club, Kaye Smirle and Jeannine Lalonde, of the Morewood Club, and Sandra Johnstone and Mary Link of the Winchester Club.

The success of this program was due largely to the good work of the local leaders and their assistants. Special thanks was extended to Mrs H. D. Allison and Mrs Wm. Markell, of Matilda; Mrs Donald Runions and Mrs D. Moran, Morewood, Club 1; Mrs A. Thompson and Mrs D. Babcock, Morewood, Club 2, and Mrs Ralph Johnstone and Mrs Carolyn Dawson, Winchester.

The spring project, "Being Well Dressed and Well Groomed," will start with a training school for local leaders and assistants to be held on March 22 and 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Ontario Department of Agriculture office, Morrisburg. It is hoped that the membership will be even greater for this club unit.

Mrs Wm. J. Stewart

A former school teacher, Mrs William J. Stewart, 379 Hinton Ave., Ottawa, died in hospital following a lengthy illness. She was 68.

Born in Martintown, she received her education at Alexandria High School and Ottawa Teachers' College.

Daughter of the late Alexander Lamabe and Elizabeth McVean, she married William J. Stewart, retired Inspector of Public Schools for Dundas County, in 1924.

Mrs Stewart was a member of the Woman's Association of the United Church, the Women's Institute, the Order of the Eastern Star, the British and Foreign Bible Society and a life member of the Women's Missionary Society. For 27 years she was a director of Winchester Public Library while living there.

She had resided in Ottawa since 1957.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters, Mrs G. A. Gross (Betty), Ottawa; Mrs R. E. Magera (Christine), New York City; three brothers, Clair Lamabe, Fred Lamabe, both of Dundurn, Sask., and George M. Lamabe, Muncie, Indiana.

The funeral was held in the chapel of Radmore-Stewart Funeral Home, Ottawa, on Friday afternoon, with Rev Herbert W. Reid officiating. Interment was in Pinecrest Cemetery.

STANDARD TIME 76 YEARS OLD

It was 76 years ago — November 18, 1883 — that the United States went on standard time. Before that, it operated on conflicting times known as "sun time."

The term "high noon" was much used in those days. An area, a town, would agree to observe time calculated on the basis of the instant the sun reached its highest point above some local landmark. That was high noon.

The Association of American Railroads recalls that the adoption of standard time culminated years of effort by railroads, which strove to eliminate conflicting times between towns.

Actually, a Canadian probably had more to do with the introduction of standard time around the world than any other one man. He was Scottish-born Sir Sanford Fleming, a civil engineer, railway builder and a surveyor who moved to Canada in 1845.

Knighted for his work on standard time, Sir Sanford first publicly proposed a universal time system in a speech to the Canadian Institute at Toronto in 1870.

The Institute printed 500 pamphlet copies of his speech and one reached the Marquis of Lorne, then Governor-General, who reprinted it and sent thousands of the copies around the world.

That aroused the interest of the Russian czar who called a world time conference, held in Rome in 1880. General adoption of the plan came at the second world time conference in Washington in 1884.

France was the only civilized country to hold out then, not coming into the plan until years later.

Before the introduction of standard time in the U.S., Wisconsin alone had 38 different times, Michigan and Illinois 27. In Pittsburgh there were six different time standards governing arrivals and departures of trains.

4-H Homemaking Clubs eligible for new award

Members of 4-H Homemaking Clubs in each of 10 counties of Eastern Ontario will be eligible for a new award this year.

The award, announced this week by the Ottawa Citizen, will provide funds for the girl who receives it to further her education at a university, teachers' college, in nurses' training or courses in music, drama or art.

The sum of the award is $125, similar to the amount of the Ottawa Citizen 4-H Calf Club Award also given annually.

Individual awards will be given each year in the counties of Carleton, Russell, Lanark, Renfrew, Prescott, Glengarry, Dundas, Grenville, Sormont and Leeds.

The Ottawa Citizen 4-H Homemaking Club Award will be open to girls in each county who are at least 15 years of age, who have completed successfully six or more Homemaking Club units and who, preferably, have completed Grade 12.

The girl should also have shown steady improvement and definite personal growth during her club work, have given leadership and carried on work of high quality.

The award will only be made to an active 4-H Homemaking Club member, that is one who has carried on club work in the year in which she has been selected. The awards will not be applicable to courses in high schools.

Selection of the 10 annual winners will be made by the county Home Economist in consultation with the local Department of Agriculture staff members.

It is hoped to make the presentation of the awards at the time of the Homemaking Club program at the Central Canada Exhibition in Ottawa during August.

Poultry Producers to hold annual meeting in Toronto

Everett M. Biggs, newly-appointed deputy minister of Marketing, will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Ontario Poultry Producers March 29 in Toronto. It is expected that he will talk on the proposed marketing plans of the egg producers of Ontario. Directors of the Ontario Poultry Producers were instructed to devise suitable marketing plans at the last annual meeting.

President Tom Robson, of Leamington, will report on the activities of the board of directors in the past year, particularly in relation to the stand taken by the organization re deficiency payments.

As many delegates as possible are urged to attend to decide on future plans of action. There is no restriction in the number who may attend except in the election of zone director. Only two delegates from each county may vote in the zone elections.

Delegates from Eastern Ontario will hold a zone meeting at an "early-bird" breakfast at 7.30 in a restaurant across from Union Station in Toronto. Mrs E. L. Macartney, Ramsayville, zone chairman, is in charge of the arrangements for this event. A special invitation has been extended to the French-speaking producers of Eastern Ontario. Alexis Groulx, Hawthorne, one of the official delegates from Carleton County, has agreed to act as translator at the annual convention and at the breakfast. This is the first time any arrangemetns have been made for the French-speaking producers of Eastern Ontario.

CANADA AND CHINA . . .

Canada has been a nation for not quite a hundred years. In that time Canadians have earned a way of life unequalled outside North America and not even approached by countries whose histories go back thousands of years . . . countries such as China.

Part of Canada's success comes from her ability to produce steel. Canada, with a population under 18,000,000, produced 660 pounds of steel per person last year. China, with a population of 600,000,000, turned out 25 pounds per person.

This higher productivity comes from the factories Canadians have built. For example, The Steel Company of Canada, Limited has invested more than $300,000,000 in its plants and equipment since 1940.

Canadians produce more mainly because Canadian companies are continually improving their plants and equipment.

Hog Producers meet at Winchester

A meeting of the directors of Dundas County Hog Producers Association was held in Winchester library on Monday afternoon. Merrill Allen, Mountain, president, was chairman for the meeting and Willis Riddell was secretary, with 85% of the directors being present.

A resolution was passed asking Ontario Hog Producers Marketing Board to make an assembly point in Winchester.

Directors went on record as opposed to Bill 86. They feel this bill, if passed in the Provincial Legislature, can take away from farm people the right of their elected directors to work in their best interests. Bill 86, an amendment to the Farm Products Marketing Act, would to all intents and purposes, if enforced, stop farmers from cooperatively selling any product through their own elected board.

Malcolm Graham, of South Mountain, was elected press secretary for Dundas County.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

There are eight Colporteurs at work in Iran of whom five are Armenians, one an Assyrian, and two are converts from Islam. At a small village one of the Colporteurs met a young man who said "I am a Christian." He was previously a Muslim who, while he was in hospital, was given a Gospel which he read with interest. Then he bought a Bible and now he says "I am happy to have this book, it has been the means of my getting well and also the means of my salvation."

On meeting an old man in another village, who claimed to be the oldest man in the district, the Colporteur told him of Christ and His claims as told in the Scripture. The old man replied, "Christ is not only our Saviour, He is our God." This was a great testimony in a Muslim village.

Hound. It doesn't always pay to be kind to dumb animals. In fact I'm thinking now of offering him for target practice. Anyone interested?

LEGISLATURE REPORT—

ster of Highways and the Minister of Education seem to be receiving an unceasing flow of delegations—the former from those seeking development road aid, and the latter from those seeking explanation and increase of school grants. It would appear that the restricted budgets of these, as well as other Departments, will cause some heart searching and re-calculations by municipal bodies as they set their 1960 tax rate. And to add insult to injury, just as everyone thought winter was over and the Highways estimates were about to be brought down indicating less maintenance money in 1960-61, Ontario had another bad snow storm. Truly all snow removal budgets this winter must have reached a new high and municipal officials, as well as provincial highway authorities, have a rather difficult financial problem to face.

Last week also brought the dealine for use of 1959 motor vehicle licence plates and all over the province the tardy ones were finding that the price had gone up by the amount of a fine and costs. It always seems peculiar that so many of our people are willing to take the chance of this extra cost by ignoring the many, many warnings issued each year by the Department of Transport from January on. Of course, I am sure no one in Grenville-Dundas found themselves this year in such an awkward and expensive situation.

ation. If we cannot sell our goods at the prices we ask, then we will have to offer them cheaper, either by longer hours, more efficiency, lower wages, but somehow this trend must be checked.

The Government cannot do the impossible. With industries and resources being developed in formerly non-productive countries, the competition for world markets is much more severe and will increase in difficulties. The size of our national debt has been growing for many years. To cope with this inherited problem, the present Government is attempting to hold the line, to aim towards balancing the budget. These are no idle political promises, but a necessity for our survival. I pray that Canadians will recognize these dangers and by senisble individual buying and selling, by fewer demands for government assistance, make an improvement at least possible. We may better take wise steps voluntarily because already Mr Coyne warns "It must be recognized that in a capital-hungry world we cannot in fact count on having ready access to foreign capital year after year on a large scale."

VARIETY WITH VEGETABLES

IT IS TRUE that we have a much, much greater variety of fresh vegetables to choose from at this time of year than we did fifteen or twenty years ago. Also there are frozen vegetables which are the equal of fresh ones in the matter of flavour and food value. Even so we do need to remember there are new ways to serve vegetables that will pep up our meals in these early spring days.

Vegetable Shortcake

½ lb. processed cheese
1/3 cup milk
1½ cups cooked vegetables (carrots, peas, corn, green beans)

1. Melt cheese in top of double boiler.
2. Gradually add milk; stir until smooth.
3. Add vegetables.
4. Split hot tea biscuits and put together with filling of hot cheese and vegetable mixture.

Sauerkraut and Apple Bake

2 cups sauerkraut
2 tbsps. melted dripping
¼ cup water
3 tart apples, quartered and cored
1 onion, sliced
1 tbsp. sugar

Combine all ingredients. Bake in a covered casserole in a moderate oven 1 hour.

Tomato-Corn Scallop

1 can corn
1 can tomatoes
Soda biscuits, rolled fine
Butter
Salt and pepper
Bacon

Into a baking dish put one-half can corn, sprinkle liberally with cracker crumbs, dot with butter, add salt and pepper. Add a layer of tomato and repeat with cracker crumbs, butter and seasonings. Repeat until corn and tomatoes are used. Place strips of bacon over this and bake in oven about one-half hour.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes and Cheese

6 large baked potatoes
2 cups grated cheese
1/3 cup hot milk
2 tsps. salt
Paprika

Cut baked potatoes in half, lengthwise, and scoop out the centres and mash thoroughly. Add grated cheese to hot milk and beat until smooth. Mix with hot mashed potatoes; add salt; beat until light and creamy. Refill potato shells; dust lightly with paprika; return to a hot oven to brown on top.

GROUNHOG STUDIES MAY AID THE HEART

One of the world's strangest farms produces a product that no one yet knows how to use—the extract from a mysterious gland in the groundhog's front leg.

A groundhog farm, located near Port Colborne, Ont., has been set up as the supply centre for experiments by Dr William Bigelow, a Toronto heart specialist, who thinks the hibernating groundhog may hold a clue to a new aid to heart surgery.

Dr Bigelow is trying to determine how the groundhog, the largest true hibernator in Canada, stays alive during the winter. His eventual aim is to find a technique which would artificially "hibernate" humans to allow delicate heart surgery.

At present major heart surgery is done either while the patient's heart function is handled by an artifcial heart and lung machine or while the patient's body is put in a "deep freeze"—slowing the heart's action.

Both these techniques allow only a limited time for surgical procedure. Dr Bigelow believes a sustained low body temperature such as the groundhog achieves in his hibernated state would open an almost unlimited field for such surgery.

His research is chiefly directed at a small gland found in a tiny recess where the groundhog's front legs join its body. The gland is unknown in other animal types and Dr Bigelow thinks it may hold the secret to the animal's hibernating abilities.

Other Canadian animals sleep deeply during the winter but only the groundhog, ground squirrel and kangaroo mouse are true hibernators. Once a groundhog begins his winter snooze he can be picked up and studied without so much as a blink in response.

The groundhog farm is operated by Earl Terreberry, a former hunter for the United States Wildlife Service in New York State and one-time Northern Ontario trapper. He catches groundhogs in the summer and installs them inside a two-acre wire enclosure where they are fed and allowed to roam freely.

When the animals settle down in their tunnels to hibernate, Mr Terreberry digs them up for study. They're usually found in nests of hay or shavings about six feet under the surface.

The first steam-operated fire engine appeared in 1853 at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Liberal Women hear talk on South America

The March meeting of Grenville-Dundas Liberal Women's Association was held at Chesterville in the library on Wednesday, March 16, at 8 p.m. The president, Mrs Harry Allison, conducted the meeting, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. Mack Curran.

Among the many interesting discussions was the forthcoming dinner on April 27 to be held at Morrisburg, with Hon. Paul Martin as guest speaker. It was decided that a committee be set up to complete all arrangements for this dinner.

The president reminded the ladies of the Ontario Women's Liberal convention in Toronto, and expressed her intentions of attending, as well as the Eastern Ontario Liberal Women's convention in May to be held in Cornwall.

After the business of the meeting was completed, Geo. Beavers, of Morrisburg, showed some very interesting slides of South American countries he had visited recently in a business tour. Mr Beavers' comments were very instructive, and in no small way helped the ladies to see the advantages and disadvantages of life in South America. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr Beavers by Mrs Alfred Jarvis.

Following adjournment of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by a committee of Chesterville ladies, Mrs Howard Kittle, Mrs Harold Merkley and Mrs Edward J. Brady.

Mrs Beavers expressed thanks to the Chesterville ladies for their hospitality.

H. S. McMurray, 80

Chesterville lost one of its respected citizens last Friday night. H. S. McMurray passed away at his home on Main St. South. Ailing for the past six months, his sudden seizure was completely unexpected and his death came as a shock to his many friends.

Mr McMurray was born at Johnstown, Ont., on December 12, 1879. He was the son of the late Thomas McMurray and the late Elizabeth Smith.

A well-known tinsmith by trade, Henry "Harry" S. McMurray lived in this community for the last 53 years. In 1917 he married the former Bertha McLean and two children were born to the couple. With their mother, they survive, and are son Stewart and daughter Violet, now Mrs Chas. Fenton, Long Sault. One brother, Jack McMurray, Hamilton, also remains of Mr McMurray's family.

Mr McMurray always took a part in community affairs as long as he was able. He was a long-time member of Chesterville Public School board, served on village council for a number of terms, was a respected brother in the local Masonic lodge.

Funeral services were held at his residence. On Sunday evening fraternal brothers offered their condolences and a short service was held. Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. final service was conducted by Rev E. B. Bugden. Mrs Harry Allison was soloist with Mrs Allison Graham as accompanist. Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Lyle Marcellus, Harry Gore, Carl Merkley and James Fyke.
