President's Message

It is my privilege on behalf of the Board of Directors to extend greetings and a warm welcome to attend our 135th annual fair. Spencerville Fair is the show window of Agriculture of this area not only for the farmer but also for the town and city folk who come to see our exhibits. This fair is trying to provide attractions for young and old, rural and city folk alike and this is a very important task.

The new exhibit hall helps in displaying the crafts, school entries, flowers and vegetables. We try to improve each year. We hope the many features that have been arranged are encouraging enough for you to come and enjoy the fair.

Eight young women seek Fair Queen crown

SPENCERVILLE — Whose foot will fit the glass slipper?

The answer to this question will be revealed at the Edwardsburgh Community Centre on Fri., Sept. 7 during the Spencerville Fair's queen pageant. Eight ladies from across Grenville County have already entered the competition for the sash and tiara.

This year's queen will preside over the 135th annual edition of the fair, which runs from Fri., Sept. 7 through Sat., Sept. 8.

Longtime pageant organizer Kathryn Connell said officials will continue to accept entries up until the day of the event. The contest is open to any resident of Grenville County between the ages of 17 and 23.

There is no limit on the number of contestants pageant organizers will accept.

Those already in the running for the 1990 title are:

- Tammy Blaedow, 17, the daughter of Donald and Elma of Spencerville. She is a Grade 12 student at South Grenville District High School (SGDHS) and her interests include skiing, swimming, skating and horseback riding. Her sponsor in the pageant is the Edwardsburgh Lions Club.
- Nicole Craig, 18, the daughter of Laurie and Cheryl of RR4 Spencerville. She is a recent graduate of SGDHS and is continuing her studies in the registered nursing program at St. Lawrence College in Brockville. She enjoys walking, reading and playing baseball, and she is a volunteer worker with United Way and Big Sisters. Her sponsor is the Spencerville Nation Masonic Lodge.
- Amy Halladay, 18, the daughter of Donald and Lorence of RR3 North Augusta. Grade 13 studies at SGDHS will keep her occupied during the coming school year and her spare time will be filled with volunteer work with children and sewing. Her bid for the title is being sponsored by the South Grenville Rangers Junior B hockey club.
- Lisa Halladay, 17, the sister of Amy. She

New events and old favorites at 135th Fall Fair

SPENCERVILLE - Organizers of the Spencerville Fair are predicting great things for their 135th annual exhibition, with a number of new events having been added to the schedule.

Longtime fair secretary-treasurer Miriam Woodland says the upcoming fair, set to take place Fri., Sept. 7 and Sat., Sept. 8, will once again be something for the whole family to enjoy.

"Just about everything is all set to go," she says. "Most of the events will be the same as they were last year, but we've added a few things and we have made the one big change of having the Holstein show on Friday and the beef show on Saturday instead of the other way around."

A number of special attractions have been brought to the village for the fall festival, which will feature everything from acrobatic displays to some hot rock n' roll to a little of the best country and western music in Canada.

Admission to the fair grounds on the opening day will be $3 for adults, while children will be admitted free of charge. On Saturday the price will be $5 for adults and $2 for elementary school children.

Parking on the fairgrounds will cost $1 per vehicle.

The midway rides and attractions will be open throughout the weekend, starting on Friday evening and continuing until Sun., Sept. 9.

The weekend of fun gets under way bright and early on Fri., Sept. 7, with the always exciting pet show at the Edwardsburgh Community Centre. School children from across Edwardsburgh Township will bring a virtual menagerie of furry friends into the arena at 10am for judging.

More than 100 local youngsters are expected to take part in the contest, which is being sponsored by the Prescott Animal Hospital.

Members of the 4-H Clubs will be exhibiting their animals and crafts in the community centre on the same morning, beginning with the placement of their calves at 11am. The actual judging of the show will not begin until 1pm.

In a change from years past, the Holstein show will be held on Friday instead of Saturday, switching places with the beef exhibition. The cows will be brought in for judging beginning at noon.

The grandstand will be playing host to the annual horse and pony competition on Friday, with the animals taking over the limelight at 12:30pm.

Afternoon entertainment comes to a close at 6:30pm in front of the grandstand with a display of acrobatics courtesy of the Robertsons. The group, which is based in Quebec, will be displaying their fantastic talents in an impressive array of aerial manoeuvres and juggling stunts.

At the community centre at 8pm that evening the day's activities wind up with the annual Family Show, where the Queen of the Fair will be chosen. A total of eight young women from across Grenville County will be in the running for the sash and tiara.

This year's contestants are: Tammy Blaedow, 17; Nicole Craig, 18; Amy Halladay, 18; Lisa Halladay, 17; Bonnie Page, 17; Kirsty Rutter, 18; Judy Vanstralen, 17 and Janet Davidson, 19.

Entertainment at the show will be provided by The Walters Family, a five-member act from central Ontario that is proving to be one of the best new country and western music talents in Canada. They will take to the stage to perform during an hour-long intermission in the queen pageant.

The band will be performing a number of tunes culled from their four recorded albums.

Sat., Sept. 8

The second day of this year's fair will start off with the judging of the heavy horse show in front of the grandstand at 10am.

Following this event a series of livestock shows will take place at the community centre, with the exhibition of Ayrshire and Jersey dairy cattle, sheep and goats. Judging for these shows will take place at noon.

Judging of the beef show will follow immediately after, with the grading of top Aberdeen Angus, Shorthorn, Simmental and Limousine animals taking place in the arena at 1pm.

Hundreds of fairgoers will line the streets of Spencerville at 10:30am that morning to watch the procession of the annual fair parade. Organizers are counting on good participation to make the event another excellent one, with a number of local service clubs having already confirmed their float entries.

The parade route will be the same as in past years, beginning at Centennial '67 Public School and proceeding through the village to conclude in front of the grandstand.

The always-popular baby show will take place in its usual location upstairs at the township hall at 1pm. Local youngsters under one year of age will be eligible to participate and they will once again be separated into individual categories for judging according to their age and sex.

Registered nurses will be handling the judging of the infants, examining them behind screens.

The grandstand will again be serving as the site of the official opening ceremonies of the 1990 fair, with CJOH-TV news anchor Max Keeping on hand as the guest of honour. The opening will take place at 1:30pm.

Other special guests at the ceremony will be Jim Jordan, MP for Leeds-Grenville, David Sloan, reeve of Edwardsburgh, Ed Coons, reeve of Augusta and Leeds-Grenville County Warden Archie Ostrom.

Following the dignitaries will be an afternoon of harness racing at the racetrack, an event that always seems to bring out the high rollers. A total of six races will be held starting at 2pm, and there will be full parimutuel betting.

Hungry fairgoers can take lunch and dinner breaks from the action at the United Church. Lunch will be served there from 11am until 1pm and the Spencerville Legion will be serving dinner there starting at 4pm.

Running throughout the afternoon schedule of events at the fairgrounds will be a chicken barbecue in front of the arena and an antique and craft show at the fire hall.

The evening begins with the conclusion of the horse show in the arena at 7:30pm. All the show winners will be featured in the parade and adults will be charged $3 to enter and children $2.

A teen dance featuring the hard rock music of Ideal Toy will begin at the township hall at 9pm and continue until midnight. Admission to the dance will be $5 per person.

Although the fair itself officially ends on Sat., Sept. 8, organizers have lined up an additional event for the next day. A series of chuckwagon races featuring prominent Canadian riders will be held at the racetrack starting at 1:30pm.

Admission to the event will be $5 for adults and $3 for children.

is a graduate of SGDHS who enjoys writing letters, shopping and skating in her free time. The Augusta Township Fire Department is her pageant sponsor.

• Bonnie Page, 17, the daughter of Raymond and Brenda of RR2 Spencerville. She will be entering Grade 13 at SGDHS this fall and she spends her spare time biking and working with children. Her sponsor is Branch 604 of the Royal Canadian Legion in Spencerville.

• Kirsty Rutter, 18, the daughter of David and Arlene of RR2 Oxford Station. She will be attending North Grenville District High School in Kemptville for Grade 13 studies this fall. Her interests have always been a great deal of volunteer work, her past activities including roles as a candystriper at the Kemptville General Hospital, a canvasser for the Heart and Stroke Foundation, a fundraiser for Jump Rope for Heart and Push-Ups for the Canadian Cancer Society. She also enjoys swimming, reading and sketching portraits. Her sponsor is the Bishops Mills Women's Institute.

• Judy Vanstralen, 17, the daughter of Jan and Trudy of RR4 Prescott. She will be in Grade 12 at SGDHS this autumn. Her interests include cross-country running and work with Ontario Students Against Impaired Driving and the Brownie pack that she leads.

• Janet Davidson, 19, the daughter of John and Bonnie Davidson of RR3 Spencerville. She is a graduate of SGDHS and is currently employed at the Canadian Coast Guard base in Prescott. While attending South Grenville she was active in the KEY Club and UNICEF and her interests include 4-H, biking and reading. She plans to attend college in January. Miss Davidson is sponsored by the Grenville County Milk Producers.

This year's winner will be chosen by a panel of three judges. The presiding officials are Robin Morris, managing editor of the Prescott Journal, Jean Somerville, mayor of Kemptville and David Sloan, reeve of Edwardsburgh Township.

Master of ceremonies for the show will once again be CFJR radio personality Bruce Wylie.

In addition to her role as queen of the Spencerville Fair, this year's reigning monarch will be attending the Agricultural Societies Convention in Toronto in February, 1991 and will be competing in the Miss Canadian National Exhibition Pageant in Toronto in August of 1991.

SPENCERVILLE - Although children are always an important part of the crowd at any event at the Spencerville Fair, at least one exhibition gives kids of a different sort the chance to take centre stage.

The goat show, scheduled to take place in the Edwardsburgh Community Centre at noon on Sat., Sept. 8, will feature different breeds of both kids and does. More than $2,000 in prize money will again be awarded to the top finishers, a powerful incentive to prospective exhibitors.

More than 100 examples of top Alpine, Nubian, Toggenburg, Saanen and Grade breeds of goats are expected to be on hand for the competition, which attracted a record number of 129 animals in 1988.

Each breed is divided into separate sections for show judge Linda Grant of Crysler, who marks the animals differently according to their age and sex.

Two sections of kids will be judged in each breed, including those aged three months to nine months and those between nine and 24 months of age, never freshened.

Does will also be marked in two separate sections, with categories for those over 12 months and under 24 months of age in milk and over 36 months old in milk.

Mrs. Grant will also be assessing the entries in a class for milking yearlings, which is open to does over 12 months and under 24 months of age.

Breeders' herd, a group of four animals bred and owned by the exhibitor featuring at least three milking does, and best udder will also be judged.

In the best udder class Mrs. Grant will be designating the best two udders in each of the milking classes.

The top exhibitor in one of these sections will be awarded a cash prize of $50, while second-place is worth $45 and third $35. Fourth is worth $30, fifth is $25, sixth is $20 and seventh is $15.

Eighth place in a section will take home $12, ninth $10 and tenth $8.

Cash prizes will also be awarded to the top ten finishers in each breed class, with the blue ribbon winners pocketing $25 each and the runners- up taking home $20. Those exhibiting third-place entries will be the receivers of $18 and a fourth place finish will be worth $15.

Fifth place earns $12, sixth $10, seventh through ninth $8 and tenth $6.

Special categories for younger exhibitors will also be judged at the show, with separate classes for showmanship for senior children over the age of 12 and juniors under 12 years. First place in either class is valued at $5, while second is worth $3 and third $2.

Blue ribbons will be awarded to the show's overall champions, with additional honors being conferred on the junior and senior champions. The ribbons will also be presented to the best in breed winner from the junior and senior classes and to the best doe in show.

If there are less than three exhibitors in any breed the fair reserves the right to pay only 50 per cent of the announced prize money. When less than three exhibitors take part in a livestock show the fair loses the monetary contribution of Agriculture Canada.

All goats must be owned by the exhibitor and registered or recorded in his or her name. Ages of the animals are computed from the date of birth to the first day of the month in which the fair opens.

Goats have to be on the fairgrounds by 10am the morning of the exhibition for their veterinarian check. They cannot be removed until after 4:30pm that afternoon.

Once again this year thousands of people will flock to the Spencerville Exhibit Building to see some top-notch work in scores of different classes.

Max Keeping will join officials at opening

SPENCERVILLE - The Spencerville Fair has abandoned its connection with the federal government.

In a break from past years, fair board directors will not be prominently featuring an Ottawa politician in the official opening of the 135th annual event.

This time around CJOH-TV news anchor Max Keeping will be the featured guest of honour during the ceremonies, which will take place at 1:30pm on Sat., Sept. 8. The event will once again be taking place at the grandstand.

Last year Leeds-Grenville MP Jim Jordan was the featured speaker at the opening and in 1988 Maureen McTeer, wife of External Affairs Minister Joe Clark, and at that time a PC candidate in the November federal election, did the honours.

Although Mr. Jordan will not be back as the featured guest, he will be amongst the dignitaries who have been invited to the opening ceremonies.

Bob Runciman, MPP for Leeds-Grenville, has also been asked to attend, although the provincial election on Sept. 6 could change his plans.

A number of local officials have also been invited, including Edwardsburgh reeve David Sloan, Augusta reeve Ed Coons, Matilda reeve Lorne Mellan, South Gower reeve Pat McGahey and Oxford- on-Rideau reeve John Foster.

Leeds-Grenville County Warden Archie Ostram is also expected to be on hand.

This September the fair celebrates its 135th year of operation with a line-up as strong as any seen in the past 134 years. Although the fall festival may be one of the oldest fairs in the province, its advanced age has certainly not lessened its appeal to spectators and exhibitors.

Founded in 1855, it is the 8th oldest Class A fair in Ontario and it also stands as the 12th oldest overall. The oldest fair in the province is the St. Lawrence Valley Fair in Williamstown, which predates the Spencerville Fair by 43 years.

The local fair is even older than the acclaimed Canadian National Exhibition held in Toronto. That event did not begin until the 1860s when it first began operation as a travelling show.

The 12 oldest fairs in Ontario are:

- St. Lawrence Valley Fair, Williamstown, Glengarry County. Class A - est. 1812.
- Quinte Exhibition, Belleville, Prince Edward County. Class A - est. 1821.
- Delta Fair, Delta, Leeds County. Class A - est. 1830.
- Port Hope Fair, Port Hope, Durham-Northumberland Counties. Class C - est. 1831.
- Prince Edward County Fair, Picton, Prince Edward County. Class A - est. 1831.
- Lennox County Fair, Napanee, Lennox County. Class B - est. 1832.
- Odessa Fair, Odessa, Addington County. Class C - est. 1835.
- Woodstock Fair, Woodstock. Class A - est. 1836.
- Fergus Fair, Fergus, Wellington County. Class B - est. 1837.

GOODBYE 27 POUNDS!
HELLO ME!

"160 pounds. Only last month I was 135 pounds, or so it seemed. Where did the time go and the pounds come from? It wasn't until I saw the pictures of my son's wedding that I realized that I could no longer be considered slim. I asked my family if I was really as heavy as the pictures portrayed and the response was, "You're not bad for your age". FAT and FIFTY — that was me. It was time to do something about it."

"I saw an ad for Nutri/System . . weight loss guarantee, no weighing or special preparations. It sounded good."

Thousands of satisfied clients just like Dale have made Nutri/System Weight Loss Centres one of North America's largest chains of weight reducing centres.

It's a sound, comprehensive program based on common sense and the most advanced nutritional knowledge. It is a professionally supervised program that uses no drugs, pills or injections. It includes personalized counselling, its own food program, behaviour education classes, light, optional exercise and a long-range maintenance program that makes sure the weight stays off.

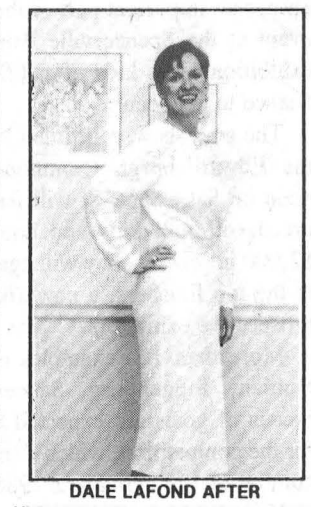
Throughout the program, the Centre's professional staff closely checks and monitors the client's progress.

With the help of Nutri/System's weight-minder computer, a weight goal is set for each client. The computer also sets a target date for achieving the goal.

Nutri/System guarantees that the client will achieve this goal in the predicted number of days or the client stays on the program at no extra charge until the ideal weight is reached.

"I had never dieted before and my lifestyle was such that I didn't have the time, or the patience, for weighing or special preparation of meals, so I decided to make an appointment for a consultation."

DALE LAFOND OF BROCKVILLE BEFORE NUTRI/SYSTEM



DALE LAFOND AFTER NUTRI/SYSTEM, 27 POUNDS LIGHTER

"I was greeted by a friendly counsellor who soon made me feel at ease. After entering my personal statistics, weight, height, frame size, age, etc. into a computer, my ideal weight and time to reach it was computed. When I was told I should and could lose 25 pounds in 8 weeks I was skeptical, but I remembered Nutri/System's guarantee and I was determined to lose those pounds that had crept up on me, so I signed on and haven't looked back."

Clients lose quickly and rapidly by substituting Nutri/System's own line of delicious, nutritionally balanced low calorie foods.

"That decision was one of the best things I have done for myself!"

"The pre-packaged food was appealing both in taste and appearance. There were even occasions when the family was eyeing my meal with envy. The Staff at the Centre was supportive and I looked forward to my weekly visits with the nutritionist and behaviour counsellor. And oh, what a great feeling, when one morning everything I chose to wear was too large!"

Maintaining proper weight after it is lost is the ultimate challenge of any weight loss program.

Nutri/System's aggressive maintenance program offers a full year of support and guidance to the dieter who has achieved his/her proper weight. Dale continues her classes and regular checkups.

"My eight weeks were up and the pounds were gone, 27 of them. I felt great, friends and family said I looked great, but most important, I had returned to healthy eating and a more active lifestyle. I no longer felt FAT and FIFTY!"

SPENCERVILLE - Where's the beef?

The answer to this question can be found at the Spencerville Fair on Sat., Sept. 8 in the annual beef show. The judging of the always-popular competition is all set to begin in the arena at 1pm that afternoon.

Five breeds of purebred beef cattle will be shown at the fair: Hereford, Aberdeen Angus, Shorthorn, Simmental and Limousine. The animals will be divided into classes according to sex and age for the grading process.

There will be four age groups of bulls judged in the show: calf born on or after Jan. 1, 1990 and a minimum of six months of age on the day of judging; yearling born between Jan. 1, 1989 and Mar. 31, 1989; yearling born between April 1 and Dec. 31, 1989, and an animal born between Jan. 1, 1988 and Dec. 31, 1988.

Five ages of female cattle will be judged: calf born on or after Jan. 1, 1990 and a minimum of six months of age on the day of the show; heifer born between April 1, 1989 and Dec. 31, 1989; heifer born between Jan. 1, 1989 and March 31, 1989; animal born between Jan. 1, 1988 and Dec. 31, 1988 with her own 1990 natural purebred calf at foot, and an animal born prior to Jan. 1, 1988 with her own natural purebred calf at foot.

There will also be a special class for breeder's herd - a group of animals bred by the exhibitor that features both sexes. The animals must have been exhibited in previous classes.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the top ten finishers in each section, with the first place winner pocketing $65 and the runner-up $60. Third place nets $50 and fourth is worth $40, while fifth will earn the exhibitor $35.

Sixth is $30, seventh is $25, eighth is $20, ninth is $15 and tenth is $10.

The fair board reserves the right to award just 50 per cent of the prize money if there are less than three exhibitors and 24 animals taking part in the show.

The fee for entries is 25 per cent of the prize money won. The final date for fair secretary Mirian Woodland to receive entries was August 24.

All breeding classes will be weighed in at the show prior to the exhibition. The birth date, show weight and weight per day of age for animals up to 18 months of age will be posted in each animal's stall.

Face-painting is always a popular attraction on the midway at the Spencerville Fair. Little girls and boys are once again expected to be the most prominent customers of the paint brush-wielding clwns that will be patrolling the fairgrounds.

The always-popular pet show can always be counted on to feature both the usual and the unusual. This group of children from Spencerville won a prize at the 1989 fair for the collection of piglets.

Only true heavyweights have a chance at pumpkin title

SPENCERVILLE - Those planning to compete in the Spencerville Fair's Mammoth Pumpkin Stake this year had better grow some enormous specimens if they hope to top Gordon Thomson.

Mr. Thomson, of Hemmingford, Quebec, set a new world record for pumpkin weight on Oct. 9, 1989 when he weighed in a 755 pound (342.46 kilos) monster. It easily won first place at the World Pumpkin Confederation World Weigh-Off in Collins, New York.

During the pumpkin contest at last year's fair 14- year-old Jason Reilly of Spencerville was awarded the crown as top grower. Although it fell far short of Mr. Thomson, it would have finished 27th overall in the world-wide competition.

Although it is unlikely that any Eastern Ontario resident will be able to break the record set by the 755-pounder, hope springs eternal and growers are now patiently waiting until the last minute to harvest their fruit.

Even though the Thomson pumpkin might be out of reach, the Spencerville Fair record 327-pounder exhibited by Charles Coville is within the grasp of this year's contestants. Mr. Coville won the James Utman Memorial Trophy for his record- breaker, and he will keep the award until someone surpasses his achievement.

By the late summer pumpkins are rapidly increasing in size, and growers always leave them on the vine until the last possible moment before harvesting. Liberal amounts of fertilizer and water, along with warm weather and sunshine are amongst the most important ingredients a pumpkin needs at the end of the summer to grow to a substantial size.

The overall winner this year will again receive a keeper trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. David Utman. The owner of the heaviest exhibit will also take home 45 per cent of the total prize money.

Second place will be worth 25 per cent, third 12 per cent, fourth eight per cent and fifth and sixth five per cent each.

The winning pumpkin will become the property of the Spencerville Fair, which will use it to produce seed for next year's contest.

Sheep Show remains popular fair event

SPENCERVILLE - Although they usually get lost in the shuffle of the numerous horse and cattle exhibitions at the Spencerville Fair, the sheep show remains one of the more popular events.

Once again more than $2,000 in prize money will be up for grabs in the competition, which will take place on the fairgrounds at noon on Sat., Sept. 8. A total of six breeds of the animals will be judged in various categories according to their age and sex.

The six breeds to be featured are Suffolk, North County Cheviots, Leicester, Hampshire, Dorset and Oxford.

There will be six sections judged in each breed, including separate categories for ewe and ram yearlings. An additional category for the two sexes will include older animals that have to possess their first set of temporary incisors to qualify for grading.

Other judging categories are get of sire and group of four animals. The get of sire will include three animals by the same sire who have their full mouth milk teeth. Both sexes can be represented and the animals may have been shown in other classes.

The group of four animals must have been born and bred by the exhibitor and it must include at least one and no more than two rams. Each animal presented must also have been shown in one of the other classes.

A champion and a reserve champion will be named in each of the above groups.

The judges will also name a grand champion ram and a grand champion ewe of the entire show. Reserve winners will be named.

A first place sheep in any category will earn its exhibitor a $65 prize, while runners-up will take home $60 and third place finishers will pocket $50. Fourth is $40, fifth is $35, sixth is $30, seventh is $25, eighth is $20, ninth is $15 and tenth place is $10.

Only half of the prize money will be paid out by the fair board if there are less than three flocks entered in the show. A low number of entries renders the fair ineligible for the government grant that provides a portion of the cash awarded.

The entrants will be judged according to the regulations set down in the Agriculture Canada Classification for sheep exhibition. All breeds, except the Leicesters and the North County Cheviots, must be shown with less than one inch of fleece.

All pure-bred sheep must be completely identified by tatoo.

Entries must be in by August 24.

Walters Family band to entertain Friday

SPENCERVILLE - One of Canada's hottest new country and western bands will be appearing at this year's Spencerville Fair.

The Walters Family, a five-member group based in central Ontario, will be the main attraction at the fair's Family Show on Fri., Sept. 7. They will be performing an hour-long set of their favourites during the intermission of the annual Fair Queen Pageant.

The Walters Family, whose members are Garry, Shirley, Bradley, Darren and Kimberly, have built a large following in the Canadian music scene over the past few years. Through the recording of four albums and a number of singles they have built up a great deal of fan support throughout the nation.

Oddly enough, the two youngest children, Darren and Kimberly, started the idea of the band as mere infants. While still very young they began performing at wedding receptions, fairs and conventions, inspiring their parents to take up instruments and join in the fun.

Soon the father, Garry, was playing the drums and his wife Shirley had taken up the bass to provide him with some accompaniment.

They joined Darren, who plays a total of nine instruments, although he specializes in the fiddle, and Kimberly, who is the family's keyboardist. The other member of the band is Bradley, the eldest son, who plays an acoustic guitar.

With the exception of Garry, each family member sings during their performances, providing the audience with some exceptional harmonies to enjoy.

The Walters have recorded three albums together, "Your Favourites", "Just For You" and "The Best Of The Walters Family". Darren has released one LP of his own, "Darren Walters In Session."

Such prominent events as the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver and the Central Canada Exhibition in Ottawa have featured the band on their stages.

In the United States they have appeared at the International Fan Fair in Nashville, Tennessee and the Florida Federation of Fairs in West Palm Beach.

They have also made numerous appearances on television, including a 26-week run of a series called "The Walters Family Live At The Stampede Corral" that was aired across Canada. They were also the featured stars of a show called "I'll Take Country" that was broadcast for 13 weeks nationwide.

A number of specials have also been aired under the Walters Family name, including "Christmas With The Walters Family."

Connell predicts parade won't disappoint crowd

SPENCERVILLE - If you love a parade (and doesn't everyone?), Spencerville will be the place to be.

On Sat., Sept. 8 at 10:30am the annual fair p rade will once again hit the pavement for a lengthy tour through the village streets. The sidewalks are expected to be lined with crowds as the procession of floats and bands is always one of the most popular events at the fair.

Fair board president Martin Connell is predicting another successful parade, with the presence of four of the best pipe bands in the area making it one of the best in years.

So far the Spencerville Legion Pipe Band, the Ottawa Police Pipe Band, the Smiths Falls Lamplighters Royal Brigade Drum and Bugle Corps and the North Gower 59ers Drum and Bugle Band have confirmed their participation.

"We have some excellent bands coming here and we're fairly lucky to get them," says Mr. Connell. "Most of them...are just getting back to school in the fall and they aren't organized enough to put on shows so early (in the school year).

"Because of the timing of our fair we're not quite able to get most of the local bands into our parade."

Although parade organizers expect nearly 100 floats to be once again taking part in the parade, the exact number of the entrants will not be known until the day of the event.

No prior registration is required before 10am on Sat., Sept. 8 at Centennial '67 Public School, when the floats have to be registered with parade chairman Kathryn Connell. The entries are all judged at the same time.

The parade route itself remains unchanged from past years, with the floats leaving the public school at 10:30am to proceed down main street and through the village before finally ending up on the fairgrounds at the grandstand.

Numerous cash prizes will be awarded to those entering the best-decorated floats, with the top commercial entry receiving $35 and the runner-up earning $25. Third place in that category will be worth $20.

The same cash awards will be given out to the non- commercial entries.

First place in the senior miscellaneous class will be worth $25, second place nets $20 and third will pocket $10. A $20 prize will be awarded to the exhibitor of the best junior miscellaneous float, with $12 going to second place and $6 to third.

The exhibitor under the age of 17 showing off the best costumed pony in the parade will win $8, with the runner-up taking home $7 and third place earning $6.

Fourth place is $5, fifth is $4 and sixth is $3.

The finest decorated bicycle rider will win $7 reward for his hard work, with the runner-up pocketing $6. The consecutive placings will receive $5, $4, $3, $2 and $1. The same prizes will be given out in the child in costume category.

The owner of every antique and classic car that takes part in the parade will receive a special plaque.

Following the parade's conclusion at the grandstand, CJOH-TV anchor Max Keeping will be presiding over the fair's official opening cermonies there. The special event will begin at 1:30pm.

Cook Memorial trophy for overall points winner

SPENCERVILLE - The exhibitor earning the most overall points at the Spencerville Fair this year will once again be receiving the Dean Cook Memorial Trophy.

The trophy, which was introduced to the fair in 1986, was donated by Helen Cook on behalf of her late husband. The silver tray will be presented to the person who has accumulated the most points in at least two separate events.

All competitors in fair exhibitions, from those entering the giant pumpkin contest to those displaying cattle, will be eligible to take home the four-year-old honour.

SPENCERVILLE - The entries just keep getting better and better.

That's how Spencerville Fair photography contest organizer Martin Connell describes the pictures that shutterbugs have been sending to him over the past few years.

Each time around the quality of the entries has increased dramatically, with the competitors in last year's show coming up with some photographs that were prize winners at the provincial level.

"(The photos) get better every year," said Mr. Connell. "We won three prizes in Toronto at the competition among all of the fairs. This was good because we were competing against all of the fairs in Ontario."

Spencerville photos placed first, third and fourth at the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies Competition, their best showing yet. The first place award was one by Madeline Hambly of RR3 Spencerville for her picture of a livestock exhibit.

In addition to the quality of the entries greatly increasing last year, there was also a positive change in the quantity of the entries. According to Mr. Connell, "last year we received the highest number of entries ever."

The overall winner of last year's contest was Wendy Barber of RR5 Spencerville, while Marjorie Somerville of Bowmanville came in second and J. Van Rysyck of RR10 Oxford Station placed third. In fourth spot was Mrs. Hambly.

Cash prizes will again be awarded in a total of 11 classes this year, with photos of different events being separated into different judging sections.

A first place entry in any section is worth $6, while second will earn the photographer $4 and third will be worth $2.

Sections to be judged are: 4-H Club display; 4-H Club livestock exhibit; a most unusual exhibit; youth participating at the fair; livestock shows; horticultural displays; fair landscape; human interest story; display promoting agricultural education; pet show, and live demonstration.

A special $10 award will be given to the photographer who produces the best shot of "an unusual and preferably unique" aspect of the fair. Fair board directors would like to use such a photo for promotional purposes and perhaps for reproduction on a color poster advertising the fair.

Pictures must be submitted for judging by Fri., Oct. 20, 1990. The entries should be mailed to Secretary - Spencerville Agricultural Society, Box 86, Spencerville, Ont., KOE 1XO.

Prize-winning entries become the property of the Spencerville Agricultural Society, which reserves the right to freely use them in promotional material. The society also reserves the right to enter the photos in the provincial fairs competition.

Judging of each frame will be made on the basis of 50 per cent photographic technique and 50 per cent content.

Only 35mm colour slide film is permitted to be entered so that the judges can see a wide view of pictures to determine which should be sent to the provincial competition.

Another day at the office was the theme of Josh MacLeod and his dog Jake during the Spencerville Fair's pet show last year. This year's show takes place at the arena at 10am on Fri., Sept. 7.

Pet Show offers virtual menagerie of creatures

SPENCERVILLE - Although adults will be responsible for exhibiting most of the animals in this year's Spencerville Fair, one event allows youngsters to show off their own animals.

The popular pet show, which will begin at 10am on Fri., Sept. 7, is always guaranteed to crowd the confines of the Edwardsburgh Community Centre with a virtual menagerie of domestic and non-domestic creatures.

Participation of elementary school children from across Edwardsburgh Township will again be featured. More than 100 youngsters are expected to drag, pull or ride more than 100 pets into the arena for the early-morning contest.

The pets are divided into separate categories for judging according to the age of the exhibitor and the type of the animal. Youngsters have to lead their pet around a makeshift ring in the arena for the appraisal of the judges.

Preschoolers are usually the most popular part of the show, their appearance always being a comical one as they attempt to control pets that are often bigger than they are.

The tiniest fair participants are also the ones most likely to bring in the most outrageous pets, often proudly displaying their snakes and frogs before the bemused judges. Some of the tots are more conventional, however, bringing in dogs and cats instead of reptiles and amphibians.

Both fair directors and the parents of the exhibitors are responsible for maintaining control of the show, something that often turns into an impossible mission when the arena fills up.

The sponsor for this year's show is the Prescott Animal Hospital, which is donating all the prizes for the competition.

The exciting midway will once again be the place to be during this year's fair, with the rides, games and concession booths providing lots of enjoyment for both young (pictured above) and old.

Proud parents will return to popular baby show

SPENCERVILLE - Proud parents will once again be returning to the Spencerville Fair this year for the baby show at the Edwardsburgh Township Hall.

The annual showing of some of the cutest and cuddliest youngsters in the area will take place upstairs in the hall on Sat., Sept. 8. Infants have to be registered between 1pm and 2pm.

Both mothers and spectators are expected to crowd into the exhibition room for the contest, which has been one of the fair's most popular events since its inception in 1935. Event organizers anticipate that more than 50 youngsters will again be taking part.

Such large numbers guarantee a lively atmosphere, with parents and grandparents trying to control the frantic actions of their children. Because of all the confusion the crowd is often more entertained by the parents than their youngsters.

Registered.nurses will once again be handling the judging of the show, grading the children on their bone and teeth development according to their age. The examinations will be performed behind screens in the exhibition room.

The babies will once again be grouped into four separate categories for judging. There will be individual classes for boys and girls aged to six months and those between six and 12 months of age.

Only children born between Sept. 1, 1989 and Sept. 1, 1990 can take part in the contest.

The competition for boys aged to six months will start promptly at 1pm while the girls of the same age class will be judged at 1:15pm. Entrants in both categories have to be registered at 1pm.

Boys from six to 12 months will take over centre stage at 2pm and the girls of the same age will finish up the show at 2:15pm. Registration for this segment of the show will take place at 2pm.

Cash prizes remain the same as they were at last year's event, with all first place finishers earning their moms and dads $6. Runners-up will take home $5 and third spot will pocket $4.

Fourth place winners receive $3 and those in fifth will crawl away with $2.

Last year's winners included Katrina Patterson in the girls under six months in age class. The pride and joy of Gary and Marlene of Prescott edged out Brittany Robinson, daughter of Robert and Marie of Cardinal for the award.

In third place was Jessica Lynn Hamilton, daughter of Tom and Gillian of Inkerman.

Amanda Keeler, the daughter of Troy and Diane of Brinston, placed first in the girls aged six months to one year category. Kelsey Tobin, daughter of Mike and Kelly of Cardinal was the runner-up and in third place was Miranda Helmus, daughter of Annette of Prescott.

Tristian Howard, the son of Gord and Roxanne of Ottawa, was the number one youngster of the boys aged under six months. Adam Molson, son of Allen and Betty of Prescott, was second and Benjamin Glynn, son of Jay and Annie of Prescott was third.

The son of Ed and Karen of Williamsburg, Trevor Burgess, placed first in the boys aged six to 12 months category. Andrew Harbers, son of Albert and Linda of RR1 Brinston was right behind him and Carl Tracy, son of Muriel of Prescott came in third.

Top dairy cows will compete for area honors

SPENCERVILLE - Cattle judges will once again be looking for the top examples of dairy cows from across Eastern Ontario at this year's Spencerville Fair.

A large herd of Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey cows will be exhibited at the arena on both days of the fall fair. The Holsteins will be shown at noon on Fri., Sept. 7, while the Jerseys and Ayrshires will take centre stage at the same time on Sat., Sept. 8.

The Holstein show is expected to be the most popular of the dairy cattle exhibitions. The more than 100 head of cattle entered in the competition forced organizers to hold it separately from the other cow shows.

The cows will be separated into various categories according to their breed, sex and age for judging purposes.

Three classes for calves and yearlings will be judged, and they are: heifer calf, born between Sept. 1, 1989 and Feb. 28, 1990, from a dam with at least one record with a minimum BCA of 125 for milk and fat; junior yearling, born between March 1, 1989 and Aug. 31, 1989 from a dam with one record of a minimum BCA of 125, and senior yearling, born between Sept. 1, 1988 and Feb. 28, 1989 from a dam with at least one record with the minimum BCA of 125.

Age groups also to be judged are: animal born Sept. 1, 1987 to Aug. 31, 1988 not yet calved for the first time; animal born Sept. 1, 1986 to Aug. 31, 1987; animal born between Sept. 1, 1985 and Aug. 31, 1986; animal born Sept. 1, 1984 to Aug. 31, 1985, and an mature cow born before Sept. 1, 1984.

Unless otherwise noted, each animal exhibited in the above categories must be in milk or dry and within eight weeks of calving and have at least one BCA record of 125.

A breeder's herd grouping of four animals will also be judged. The judge will also be designating the two best udders in each breed class of cow born prior to Aug. 31, 1987.

First place will be worth $65, second $60 and third $50. Those finishing in fourth spot will earn $40, fifth $35, sixth $30, seventh $25, eighth $20, ninth $15 and tenth through 15th, $10 each.

Rules ensure fair is efficient and equitable

SPENCERVILLE - Realizing that having proper regulations are the only way to ensure that an event is run efficiently, the Spencerville Fair's board of directors have a set of guidelines that must be strictly followed by all exhibitors.

This year's fair takes place Fri., Sept. 7 and Sat., Sept. 8.

All entries must be in the hands of longtime fair secretary Miriam Woodland by 8pm on Mon., Sept. 3 or a late fee of 25 cents per entry will be charged. This rule will be strictly enforced.

All exhibitors must be full members of the Spencerville Agricultural Society and have paid their $5 fee for the 1990 season by the time of the fair.

Although fair organizers will be taking every precaution to avoid accidents, they will not be held responsible for any mishap that occurs on the grounds. All exhibits and displays are shown at the risk of the exhibitor.

The society will not be held responsible for any loss, damage or accident that happens to any person, animal or personal property. Exhibitors of livestock must have their own liability insurance in order to be able to compete.

Products shown must have been raised by the person exhibiting it, and they must be this year's growth. All articles and animals must be fully- owned by the society members in whose names they have been entered.

No exhibitor will be allowed to compete for more than one prize in a section, with the exception of livestock. No animal will be allowed to compete for more than one prize in any class except special prize.

If required, the ownership of an animal or article and the ages of animals must be sworn to by the exhibitor.

All animals must be secured from running at large on the fairgrounds on the day of the show. All articles and produce brought for exhibition in the hall should be given to the officials in charge before 10am on the first day of the show.

Articles may be brought in Thursday evening after 6pm.

All horses competing have to be on the grounds by 9am on the second day of the exhibition. The horse and cattle entrance to the grounds is on the Goodin Road.

No exhibitor will be allowed to show extra animals or articles not on the list of his or her entries.

No person will be allowed to remove any animal or article from the fairgrounds until 4:30pm on the second day of the event. Before anything is removed the exhibitor must receive permission from the superintendent in charge of that portion of the show.

Any objections to an article or animal competing in the fair must be made in writing and given to the secretary on the date of the exhibition in question.

Swine Show will draw prize porkers

SPENCERVILLE - A pack of prize porkers will be making their way to the Spencerville Fair for this year's edition of the swine show.

The exhibition will begin at the exhibition hall on the fairgrounds at noon on Sat., Sept. 8. This year's fair begins on Fri., Sept. 7 and concludes the following day.

The swine will be separated into separate judging categories according to their age and sex. The classes remain the same as they were last year, with the judges examining boars under one year of age, sow under one year, sow over one year and a pair of market hogs.

First place finishes in the boar or sow categories will be worth $10 each with the runners-up each receiving $8. Third place is valued at $6, fourth at $5 and fifth at $4.

A cash award of $15 awaits the exhibitor of the best pair of market hogs, and his closest competitor will walk away with $10 for his efforts.

The third place finisher wins $8, while fourth earns $6 and fifth place $4.

Harness races always draw good crowd of gamblers

SPENCERVILLE - High stakes gamblers will be rolling into the village during this year's fair to take in an afternoon of harness racing.

The horse races, which always draw a large crowd, will take place at the fairgrounds racetrack at 2pm on Sat., Sept. 8. The card will feature a total of six heats.

Pari-mutuel betting will again be in operation on each race, allowing more adventurous spectators to wager on their favourite fillies. As long as the weather is pleasant and the crowds come out, a substantial sum of money is bet during the day.

Bets can be made at a number of specially-constructed booths built in 1986 as part of the Herman Baker Memorial Building. Fair board members decided to add the facility because of complaints over the long lines bettors were forced to endure in previous years.

A large field of high-quality standard-bred horses from across the province will be the competitors in the races. The field is expected to be an even one and those putting their hard-earned cash on the line will be facing some difficult choices at the betting booths.
