Williamsburg Reeve is Counties Warden

Donald Kyle, popular reeve of Williamsburg Township, was sworn in as Warden of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry in formal ceremonies in the new jury courtroom of the United Counties Building at Cornwall on Monday afternoon.

The installation followed his unanimous selection as Warden for 1966, on a motion by Morrisburg's reeve, Fred A. Hill. Seconding the nomination was Alfred Joanette, reeve of Lochiel. The two men escorted Mr. Kyle to the front of the room, where the oath of office was administered by Counties' Clerk-treasurer, L. C. Kennedy. Mr. Kyle was invested with the chain of office by the dean of council, J. L. McDonald, reeve of Cornwall Township. He was the nescorted to the dias and formally seated at the desk from which the warden customarily presides.

Mr. Kyle called upon Rev. D. L. Gordon, minister of the United Churches at Williamsburg and Colquhoun, to offer prayer and conduct the ceremony of invocation. Mr. Gordon read the 121st Psalm, zeginning "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help," and asked God's help for Council in all its deliberations and decisions during the year.

In his own remarks, the new Warden thanked the members of Council for the honor of becoming their Warden, as well as those who had carried out the installation ceremony. He also thanked the electors of his township, without whose continued support, he said, he could not have reached the position he holds.

Mr. Kyle welcomed the two new members of Council present, Neil MacLean, deputy reeve of Kenyon Township, and John McBain, deputy reeve of Lancaster Township, and paid high tribute to county officials and staff. He also called attention to the presence of nearly 50 grade eight students from Williamsburg, who attended the opening session in a body, and thanked the school board for arranging this It is believed that this was the first occasion on which students attended such a session of council.

Referring to business in prospect Mr. Kyle referred to an anticipated visit by Mr. Dougal of the Ontario Department of Reform Institutions, who will discuss regional jails with council. He also indicated the eight new bridges are completed and will be debentured for. The centennial project,a new chapel at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge, is already well under way and should be completed in time for centennial year observances. The counties' part in these observances will have to be planned by the 1966 Council.

Mr. Kyle introduced members of his family and members of the Williamsburg Township Council. He invited F. M. Cass, Q.C., and MPP for Grenville-Dundas, to speak.

Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP for Glengarry ,added his congratulations and good wishes; and letters of regret because of their absence due to the opening of Parliament were read from Viateur Ethier, MP for Glengarry-Prescott and Luicien Lamoureux, MP for Stormont, and the new Speaker in the House of Commons.

A number of former members of council congratulated Mr. Kyle on his election as warden. Mr. Kyle called on past warden Charles E. Blair of Moose Creek, to come to the front of the room and presented him with a framed color photograph of his own investiture in 1965 as a gift from council. Mr. Blair said the picture would have a prominent place in his home.

The newly-elected Warden is a farmer in the Colquhoun district of Williamsburg, farming on land which has been in the Kyle family since 1829. He was born in 1919 at the family home, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kyle, his mother being the former Ellen Hodgson of Elma.

Mrs. Kyle is the former Gladys McIntosh of Elma. They have two children, a daughter Elaine, now Mrs. Patrick Curran, and a son William.

In 1949 he stood for office in the Township Council. Since then he recalls he has been supported so strongly on some occasions that he led the polls, and he has also been defeated, recalling one instance in 1950 when a narrow margin of 7 votes barred him from the council table for a year.

In 1952, Mr. Kyle became deputy reeve of his native township and thus automatically a member of Counties' Council. In 1954 he became reeve, subsequently holding a series o fchairmanships of counties' council committees. He is a member of the Board of Colquhoun United Church and takes an active interest in church and social affairs locally, as well as in municipal business.

COMBINES BEAT METEORS TWICE

Moorrisburg's high-flying Combines maintained their three point lead in the St. Lawrence Senior Hockey League for another week. In order to do so, they walked away with two victories from the Hawkesbury Meteors on Friday night and Sunday afternoon, both games being played in the Morrisburg Community Centre.

In the meantime, the second running Ottawa - Carleton Maroons whipped the Maxville Highlanders on Friday night in Ottawa and on Sunday at Moxville, 11-2, to maintain the narrow margin between themselves and Morrisburg.

Friday night a crowd of 385 saw Big Doug Casselman and Weiner Brown each collect a hat trick. Jim Forrest scored twice and Bert Morrow added a singleton to make the count 9-4. The big gun for Meteors was Rheal Charlebois with 2 goals, followed by Harold White,, a member of the Los Angeles Blades in the Western Hockey League last year, with one goal and one assist. Claude Lebuis brought the count to four goals and Red Proulx had two assists.

Morrisburg outshot Hawkesbury 38 to 20. A total of ten penalties was handed out by referees Chief Garand and Gus Lebrun, 7 to Morrisburg and 3 to Hawkesbury, including a match misconduct to Rheal Charlebois.

Sunday afternoon, it was Mel Tomalty who led the scoring with a hat trick, all three of his goals coming in the third period. He also picked up an assist as the Combines again tromped their visitors by a 7-2 score. Weiner Brown scored twice and helped set up two others, and Big Doug Casselman had one goal and three assists, as each member of this powerful forward line had a four-point afternoon.

Jimmy Forrest, who leads the loop in scoring this year, picked up the other goal.

Harold White, the speedy Hawkesbury forward, scored both the Meteors' goals. He gave Hawkesbury a 1-0 lead at 1:31 of the first period and made it 2-0 at 5:46.

Big Doug narrowed the count to 2-1 midway through the second frame, before Brown tied up the game with less than two minutes left in the period.

Tomalty scored the winner after only 41 seconds of the third; then Combines went on to score five unanswered goals before time ran out. Only four penalties were handed out.

As this issue is being printed, the Combines are engaging Hull Mustangs at Hull, and on Sunday afternoon at the Community Centre, they play host to the Ottawa-Carleton Maroons, who will be out to narrow the Combines' lead in the race for first place.

JUNIOR HOCKEY

While there is no junior hockey team in Morrisburg this year, Haddo, a member of the St. Lawrence Junior Hockey League, has among its anks, seveal local boys. Joe Billings, Morrisburg's nimble lacrosse net-minder is trying his hand at stopping pucks instead of lacrosse balls. Jim Notman and Steve Casselman play defence and Mickey Mabo plays centre.

Teams from Russell, Perth, Prescott, Spencerville and Kemptville-South Mountain-Winchester are included in the league. Presirent is Karl Guy of South Mountain. The Haddo team, which plays home games in the Morrisburg Community Centre, is coached by Frank Sisty of Iroquois. To date, the boys have tied one game and lost three, one of those to Prescott this week.

Haddo led Prescott at the end of the first period 3-2 and 7-3 at the end of the second. However, Prescott scored 5 unanswered goals in the third period to win the game 8-7.

Dale Kingston set the pace for Prescott, scoring a hat trick and one assist. Jim Farmer scored twice and singles were added by Tony McDonald, John Donovan and Irvine Francis.

For Haddo, the McCurdy brothers, Tom, Terry and Dan; and the Montgomery brothers, Dave and Doug, all of Iroquois, counted all their team's markers. Tom scored once, Terry twice ,and Dan set up three of the goals. Dave Montgomery scored twice and assisted on 2 more, but was outdone by brother Doug, who scored two and set up three others.

Prescott youth, Tommy Hare, suffered a cracked nose during the game, but finished the game after a visit to the doctor's. Two five-minute fighting penalties were given out, one to each team.

Still another team from Morrisburg is walking away with hockey honors. The Morrisburg Midgets, coached by Red Lawlor, came up with a 6-3 victory over a Junior team from Cornwall. It is expected that Morrisburg will return the visit to Cornwall on the week end or next week.

Scoring against the Juniors were "Cookie" Bill Lawlor, Don Honey, Ken Morrow, and Jim Notman. In several weeks' time, this team is planning to attend a Midget Hockey Tournament in Hull, where teams from Montreal and the Ottawa-Hull area are expected to participate.

×

Friday night in the Community Centre, the Intermediate Williamsburg team meets Glen Walter and on Sunday afternoon, the Morrisburg Combines will be at home to their arch-rivals the Ottawa Carleton Maroons.

Annual Meeting of St. Paul's Church

The Annual Meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Morrisburg, was held on Wednesday, January 12, at 6.30 p.m. with a supper in the Parish Hall.

Reverend F. L. Howald conducted the opening devotions and the business meeting. He reminded the members that in 1966 the congregation celebrates its 90th birthday, and that in 1967 it will celebrate Canada's Centennial.

In his review of the year's work, the Pastor reported that there were 275 baptized members under his care. Durin g1965 there had been 17 baptisms, 8 confirmants, 4 accessions and 5 funerals .

The treasurer, Mr. Walter Bowman, reported an excellent year, with a new ceiling and oil furnace in the parish hall and other improvements. Mr. George Beavers, auditor, commended the congregation for their efforts.

The Sunday School reported an enrolment of 70 members and the Luther League summarized its work.

Mrs. Miriam Salmon, President of the Lutheran Church Women, reported on world and local projects.

For a period of three years, Mr. Gordon Barclay was elected to the Church Council as Trustee and Mr. Carl Schwerdtfeger and Mr. Walter Rosenquist as Elders.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Reverend and Mrs. Howald for their line leadership and guidance during the past year.

March of Dimes Campaign Week of January 31st

The March of Dimes Campaign across Ontario takes place during the week of January 31st. The money raised during February goes toward rehabilitating handicapped, as well as buying wheelchairs, braces, artificial limbs, etc. In Morrisburg, the campaign has been undertaken by members of the Catholic Women's League.

Funds are very badly needed to carry on the vital work of rehabilitating the adult disabled of this district. Morrisburg is part of the Ottawa Valley Branch and there are close to 300 disabled persons already known in this Branch area. No doubt there are many more who have not yet come for help, not realizing that something might still be done for them in spite of long-standing disability. If any readers know of such persons, please suggest to them that they write to the District March of Dimes Office at 24 Adolphus Street, Cornwall and the caseworker will call on them.

There are some people who cannot be rehabilitated, for various reasons, but the March of Dimes is anxious to be sure that on one is missed who can be helped.

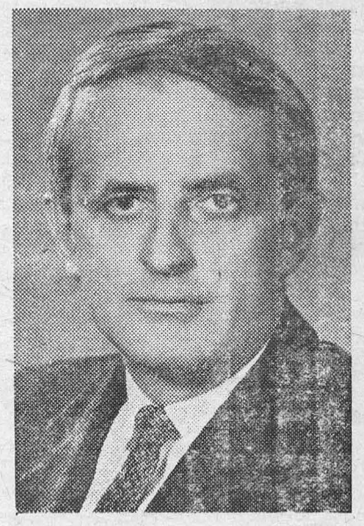
Please be as generous as possible when the canvasser calls on you for the March of Dimes.

Jogging Around

By The Editor

An Ontario magistrate has suggested that drivers' licenses in Ontario be limited to those with a grade 10 or better education. This idea is worthy of serious consideration. Not only would it cut down the number of irresponsible drivers, but can you imagine what a spur to a better education it would be, if the objective were upped to a Grade 13 education. With the kids staying in school longer, unemployment could be virtually eliminated. And when the young workers did appear in the employment picture, they would be better qualified to get better jobs. We're all for this magistrate's idea. He didn't say what he would do with the rest of the uneducated clucks who are already cluttering up the highway.

CAN HE WIN WEST'S SUPPORT?



HON. J. J. GREENE

John Joseph Greene, M.P. for Renfew South, and Canada's new Minister of Agriculture, the first easterner to hold that position for some fifty years, has already been on a tour of Western Canada, and according to press reports was favourably received wherever he went.

Question on Parliament Hill is, can Mr. Greene, a small town lawyer from Eastern Ontario, win for his party a foothold on the prairie where the late James Gardiner once held the fort for the Liberals?

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Greene was mentioned in dispatches and awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. He is married to the former Corinne Bedore of Arnprior and they have two sons, Peter and Glenn, and three daughters, Jocelyn, Stephanie and Virginia.

JOHN DRAINIE, MANY FACES, MANY VOICES

Will the real John Drainie please stand up?

Sometimes he does: for instance when he is commentator for a Toronto Symphony Orchestra performance, as he was recently. Or when he serves as narrator for a National Film Board production or a CBC documentary, as he does frequently.

But most often this versatile Canadian actor successfully cloaks himself in such a bewildering array of disguises that the real John Drainie is nowhere in evidence. By far his most successful impersonation occurs when he wears the mantle of Stephen Leacock, the Canadian humorist whose fame increases with each Drainie portrayal.

Drainie's virtuoso versatility is currently demonstrated on the CBC radio series Stories With John Drainie, heard from 1:45 to 2:00 p.m. E.S.T. Monday to Friday. This series of Canadian stories by Canadian writers, now in its seventh year, allows story-teller Drainie to use the variety of dialects he has perfected over 27 years as a CBC personality.

During the years, Stories With John Drainie has been on the air about 1400 stories have been broad cast. "The supply from writers all over Canada seems to be endless", says Drainie. "Iur 1400 stories were selected from 7600 submissions. One of the main reasons for the show's existence is to encourage new writers in Canada. It is very gratifying to see raw beginners develop — under the wise and helpful guidance of script editor Dorothy Needles — into professional writers who are capable of branching out into other writing fields after one or two years with this series".

JOHN DRAINIE

John Drainie was born in Vancouver in 1916 and studied acting and playwriting in Vancouver and Hollywood. He began his tage and radio career in the mid30s. In 1943 he moved to Toronto and became a leading actor in the famous radio series CBC Stage. Radio listeners still remember his Jake and The Kid programs — a Canadian institution for six years.

Drainie's facility to assume the voice and character of many different types soon gained him a reputation for an astonishing versatility — a man of many voices. With the advent of TV he consolidated his position by demonstrating his ability on numerous CBC-TV dramas — to be a man of many faces too.

This talent soon brought him to the attention of U.S. TV producers; among his many credits below the border are appearances on Camera Three, Summer Playhouse, Studio One, and the U.S. Steel Hour.

John Drainie's talent had an even more telling effect in the U.S. with his portrayal of U.S. Senator Joseph McCarthy in the recorded drama The Investigator; many thousands of copies of the Canadian record were bootlegged south of the border.

Meanwhile CBC Radio's Stories With John Drainie continues to add many new voices to his still-expandng repertoire.

Nursery Superintendent

The smell of the earth, in spring time, seemed to be in the air as last year's December quietly slipped away. The "June in January" weather that followed briefly, can be a reminder to you in your planning for tree planting this spring. Perhaps you have been thinking about those few idle acres that always seem so difficult to maintain OR, you may have been looking at that old, stately row of trees, set out sixty or seventy years ago for protection and beauty, and thinking - how long will they last?

Should I be doing something about replacing them? OR, your wife has made the remark "How nice it would be to have a windbreak off the windy west corner of the yard". Trees have influenced man's life for centuries and have dominated our landscape to create in us an inherent appreciation for their need.

Trees for windbreaks or shelter belts and for larger areas for reforestation are available from the Provincial Forests Nurseries of the Department of Lands and Forests nearest you. The major nurseries are located thoughout the Province of Ontario at Dryden, Fot William, Swastika, Midhurst, St. Williams, Orono and Kemptville.

Before your tree planting programme becomes a reality several things have to be considered. The following check list prepared by the Timber Branch will serve as a guide:

1. How many acres must I have? Two acres or more free of buildings.

2. How much do trees cost? Scots Pine is $14.00 per 1,000 trees; all other species are $10.00 per 1,000 trees f.o.b. the nursery.

3. What is the minimum number of trees I can order? 25 trees of each species.

4. What species are usually available? Scots Pine, White Pine, Red Pine, Jack Pine, White Spruce, White Cedar, European Larch, Tamarack, Black Spruce, Norway Spruce, White Ash, Silver Maple, Red Oak, Carolina Poplar and Black Locust.

5. Which of the above species are best suited to my needs? Contact the office of the Department of Lands and Forests nearest you. A member of the Timber Staff will examine your property with you and give advice an assistance in planning your planting project.

6. How are trees obtained? Application Forms TM-523 are available from the Department of Lands and Forests. The completed form is forwarded to the District Forester in your area. Be sure your application is accurate and complete.

7. Should trees be reserved ahead of time? Yes. Reservations are made in the order the application is received. An invoice and notice of reservation will be mailed to you at that time, showing the quantity of stock reserved, the amount of charges owing and the date when payment is due.

8. What about delivery? Nursery stock reserved and paid for ahead of time may be shipped via express to your nearest express office, or you may wish to come to the nursery and pick up your trees personally. Indicate your preference on the back of the form in the space provided.

Summer and early fall requests for planning assistance and ordering of nursery stock are sure ways of realizing your planting ambitions — for two reasons. Trees are in adequate supply and applications are filled on a first come, first served basis, and Department staff can carry out their planning service more effectively.

CONSTABLE GIVEN COMMISSIONER'S AWARD OF VALOR

On Tuesday, January 11, 1966, at 11:30 a.m., Commissioner E.H. Silk, Q.C., presented the Force's highest award, 'The Commissioner's Certificate of Valour', to Provincial Constable John Frederick Fitzgerald, age 22, of the Chatham Detachment, No .1 District.

The presentation took place in the Boardroom of the O.P.P. General Headquarters, Toronto, attended by his mother, Mrs. Marjorie Fitzgerald and his sister, Sandra, toegther with Senior Staff Officers of the Force.

Unarmed and with four bullet wounds in his legs, Constable Fitzl gerald continued on foot to overtake and arrest an armed robbery suspect, near the village of Merlin, Ontario.

On October 12, 1965, at approximately 5.00 a.m., Provincial Constable Fitzgerald (Probationary Constable), was dispatched to assist the Tilbury Police Department in the investigation of an attempted armed holdup of the Tilbury Hotel, by a hooded gunman.

The hotel's night watchman and holdup victim, grappled with the gunman and removed his hood, whereupon he was able to recognize him as a local resident, later identified as Gordon James McEllistrum, age 50, of Raleigh Township.

Constable Fitzgerald, together with another Povincial Constable and one Tilbury Constable, proceeded to the McEllistrum residence and surrounded the house. As one officer knocked on the front door, the house lights went out and a moment later, the suspect ran from the rear of the house. Constable Fitzgerald, covering the rear of the house, gave chase and was closing on the suspect. The suspect stopped and dropped to one knee and fired point blank at Fitzgerald, who was a few yards behind.

By the time Constable Fitzgerald was able to daw his revolver, he had been hit three times, the fourth shot knocked him down, causing him to drop his unfired weapon.

Constable Fitzgerald, although fired at five times and hit four, was able to get to his feet overtake and capture McEllistrum. Fitzgerald struggled with McEllistrum, forcing him to the ground, where he was handcuffed and turned over to the other two Constables.

On Thursday, January 6, 1966, Gordon James McEllistrum appeared before Magistrate F.K. Jasperson in Magistrate's Court, Chatham and was sentenced to 10 years on each count of attempted armed robbery and attempted murder. Sentences to run concurrently.

Thunderstorms occur most frequently in Canada on the southern prairies and in southern Ontario, an average of 20 to 30 days with thunderstorms each May-September period.

A Winter Weekend

Winter is a delight to the young, a bit of a horror for the old, and a blasted nuisance for the rest of us.

Yet even for me, one of the most violent winter-haters in the last category, there are moments when it has a mysterious charm that cannot be duplicated at any other season.

Today is one of them. Nope, it's not one of those sparkling, crunchy, sky-blue winter days which no one but a complete misanthrope could fail to enjoy. It's just the opposite.

It's one of those brooding winter days when the shadow of the great monster of the north hangs low over the shrinking earth, and his icy paw feels about the walls of the house, seeking a weak spot where he may enter and strangle.

His cold, blue breath raises snow-ghosts that sift silently among the naked, shivering trees. His very presence makes the blue-green spruce huddle closely, like frightened cattle in a storm. The water of the bay reflects fearfully the slate-gray of his sightless eyes.

Don't be frightened, children. The old spook won't get us. As long, that is, as the snow doesn't block the roads, and we don't run out of fuel, and there isn't a power breakdown.

It's a day for sitting by the fire with a hot noggin, dreaming, shivering deliciously once in a while, as the monster outside gives a snort of frustration that rattles the windows. And that's exactly what I'm doing.

We've been spending the weekend with the grandparents, in the country. It has followed its inevitable pattern. The night we arrived, it blew and it snew. In the morning it was still snowing, with a wind gusting to 40 miles an hour, piling up the drifts, filling the driveway.

Late in the day, the snow stopped, the wind dropped, and so did the temperature, to a nice round figure — zero. Typical visiting winter weekend.

But we care nowt. Flames dance in the fireplace, fairies on the television. Tomorrow is time enough to dig out the car, pray that it will start, and hope the snowplow will get through the side-road.

While the monster prowls outside, all is serene within. Grandad reminisces about winters 30 years ago, when he drove a rural mail route, with team and sleigh. Bundled to the ears. Buffalo robes. Snow piled to the top of snake fences. Stopping for lunch in the still shelter of deep spruce woods. Lonely as the Ancient Mariner, on a white, white sea. And home, darkness deepening, to cosy lamplight, snug farm kitchen, hot food, and anxious wife.

While he talks quietly Granny produces endless pots of tea, cake, sandwiches, chocolates. The kids sprawl on the floor, strumming guitars or dreaming. The Old Battleaxe dozes, silent for once.

And even yours truly, lulled by the fire and stunned by a huge dinner, admits that there are times when winter can be wonderful.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

'Maitres Chez Nous'

Canada's new Parliament assembled this week and Prime Minister Pearson found himself challenged over the very issue on which he had sought but failed to obtain a majority in November's election.

It sounded like the old refrain with a new chorus added as Ottawa was thrown yet another demand by Quebec — this time, to turn over all social welfare programs to the provincial government.

The demand wasn't made in Parliament, but it almost overshadowed the ritual opening and the Throne Speech listing government proposals for this session.

But the PM could find little satisfaction in reflecting that the voters last November had failed to heed his plea for a strong majority government at Ottawa which he said was needed to resist demands from many provinces — not just Quebec — for more autonomy in fiscal and welfare matters.

And he would find little support from the big Conservative Opposition for anything short of a hard line against further encroachments by Quebec in areas of Ottawa's authority.

The double-barrelled onslaught from Quebec came a week before Parliament's opening. Left-leaning Quebec welfare minister Rene Levesque told the Federal-Provincial conference of welfare ministers that Quebec was determined to take over family allowances as well as other Ottawa-supported welfare programs. Quebec already has set up its own parallel program to the Canada Pension Program, and is determined to do likewise in other fields.

But what really made Ottawa sizzle was Quebec revenue minister Eric Kierar's letter to Washington protesting U.S. curbs on American investment in Canada.

The spectacle of a provincial cabinet minister conducting foreign affairs appalled Ottawa circles. The PM hit back hard, branding Kierans' action "highly irregular" and "embarrasing."

But it is Levesque's latest broadside that is the more serious of the two. Warning that "we are moving into a new Canada, or no Canada at all," Levesque seemed to be reaffirming Quebec's intention of achieving separation from Canada in fact, if not in name.

The Levesque outburst at least put the emphasis on the bedrock issue of Canada's continuing constitutional problem — a special status for Quebec.

Faced with continuing demands from Quebec, the federal Liberals have given ground on many fronts since Mr. Pearson became prime minister in 1963. But in order to avoid the appearance of favoring Quebec, the government extended the same privileges to other provinces as it has so far given Quebec.

Now, the country is faced at last with recognizing that if Quebec is determined enough to win more control over its own affairs, then the same privileges must not be granted other provinces.

Of course, a strong case can be made for withholding special privileges from Quebec as well. But it's not very realistic.

Quebec's formula for achieving separation from Ottawa without actually pulling out of Confederation lies in the "opting out" system.

Under this system, Quebec would pull out of federal-provincial programs but would continue to receive its full allottment of monies ear-marked by the Federal Government for spending in that province. The catch is that instead of the money going directly from Ottawa to Quebec residents via federal machinery, it would be turned over as a blank check to the Quebec government for spending as Quebec sees fit.

The idea of such a special status is of course offensive to much of the rest of Canada. In the case of family allowances, Quebec City would like to get its full share from Ottawa, and add provincial monies to hand out bigger allowances to teenagers and to families with more than three children. Financially, it wouldn't have any real effect on the rest of the country. But it would give added satisfaction to the Quebec dream of "maitres chez nous" — masters in our own house.

BELL LINES

ARMS, INSTANTS, AND TONGUES

If you're very good at riddles, it shouldn't be very hard to find the answer to these three questions:
What can reach across a continent, yet has no honds?
What takes you places in an instant, yet never moves itself?
What speaks in a thousand tongues, yet has none of its own?

The answer is of course your telephone . . . that easy-to-use convenience that takes you places every day, helps the family in so many ways. It helps you get news and information, make dates, invite guests, arrange meetings and social activities. It's a very comfortable way to go shopping in blustery January days without getting your feet cold . . . and the only way to check with the baby-sitter without leaving the party. There's certainly no question that the telephone has many uses. Whenever you need it — whatever you need it for — it's always there to call on.

TELEPHONE CHAINS— LIFE LINES FOR THE ELDERLY

For the benefit of Morrisburg residents who may not have seen a ecent item in "Telephone News", the leaflet which accompanies telephone bills, I'd like to sum it up again here. It's one of those things that automatically make you wonder why it wasn't thought of long ago. It concerns elderly people — particularly those who live alone — and the fear that sudden illness or accident may one day prevent them from even reaching the phone to call for help. The answer to this problem, as suggested by the Leaside (Ontario) branch of the Red Cross, is a "telephone chain" of five or six eldeerly people who phone each other every day in a pre-arranged order. That is, each chain member makes one phone call and receives one call every day. If a chain member cannot reach the member he is to call, he notifies the member who acts as Chain Captain. If the Chain Captain cannot reach the member within a few hours, he in turn notifies the chain's sponsoring group (which can be a church, social or women's club, or any group of interested citizens) and one of the sponsors immediately makes a visit to find out the reason for the unanswered phone.

Apart from the obvious security of mind such a system brings, it has other advantages as well. It is the elderly people themselves who check up on one another, giving them a definits role and responsibility to enjoy, and of course very close friendships can easily develop from the daily conversations.

Information on suggested procedures for organizing a Telephone Chain is available in brochure form from the Senior Citizens Coommittee, Ontario Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, 460 Jarvis St., Toronto 5, Ont.

SLAVES OF FASHION, ARISE, The feminine set is often accused of being in bondage to fashion. Womankind, it is alleged, would wear potato sacks if fashion so decreed. But that is only a half-truth. Otherwise there would be no such thing as a well-dressed lass or lady, but their numbers are legion.

The well-dressed never let Dame Fashion play the tyrant. Rather they counter her decrees with a kind of personal declaration of independence. It can be summed up as the right to adopt those styles that enhance individual looks and personality, and let the rest go by.

With so much emphasis on mini-skirts and baby-waistlines, it might seem that all the designers are on the teen-kick, and that a woman has no choice but to joint up. That's fine if you want to look like a kid and can get away with it!

But take care, the trappings of youth can make a woman over thirty, and even some teens, look like a case of arrested development. Clothes that grace a grown woman never want for youthfulness, but neither do they lack the glamour of sophistication.

Embracing the idea is a large group of talented designers. Their clothes this season are marked by soft silhouettes and a simple kind of elegance. Like still waters, the fascination runs deep.

Girl or woman, you have a choice: You can be subjugated by fashion or make a valuable ally of it.

Petroleum facts

DID YOU KNOW THAT: waterborne shipments of crude oil and petroleum products provide most of Canada's East coast ports with approximately half of their total tonnage?

Figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for 1962 show that crude oil and petroleum products represented 47 percent of all waterborne commerce in the ports of Halifax, N.S., Saint John, N.B., Quebec and Montreal, Quebec.

The Port of Montreal — the nation's busiest — handled 19.8 million tons of waterborne freight. Petroleum represented 7.7 million tons of 39 percent of the total.

Halifax handled 8.2 million tons of which crude oil and petroleum products represented 4.9 million tons of 60 percent.

Shipments handled by Saint John totalled 4.6 million tons of which 63 percent or 2.9 million tons were petroleum.

Crude oil and petroleum products accounted for 38 percent or 1.8 million tons of Quebec's 4.6 million tons waterborne freight traffic.

Post-Election thoughts

Hindsight being a great thing, almost everybody (newly successful candidates excepted) would no doubt agree that it would have been a great deal better if the November 8 federal election had never been.

If, indeed, the pollsters had a hand in its calling, well, the egg left on the faces of most of them by the result is surely punishment enough. Yet, ought the rest of us be too hard on them?

Few people, after all, were prepared for the virtually stand-pat outcome, culminating as it did in the election of the third minority government in as many years. And, in point of fact, there were at least two or three pundits who, either by intuition or accident, did call the score almost exactly, while several others were fairly close.

Unfortunately for the professionals, to be "fairly close" in estimating the national percentage vote of the parties just won't do when it's a question of going out on a limb and predicting the winner; too many seats are won or lost within a range of three or four percentage points.

The problem is compounded when, as in this election, electoral balance is so grotesquely distorted that a candidate can be elected in one riding with fewer than 4,000 votes while another elsewhere can receive as many as 54,000 and still lose. Fortunately for the democratic process, long-overdue redistribution of riding boundaries will take care of such glaring inequities next time around.

Another anomaly again underlined by the result of this election is the peculiar manner in which the armed service vote is segregated from the rest of the national poll and not revealed until a week later.

No other country insists on making this extraordinary distinction, delaying as it does the final result. Why not simply allow servicemen and their families to make use of the advance poll facilities which are available to every other citizen who cannot be in the country or their normal residence on election day?

A final election thought has to do with the distaff side. There are more women electors than men and by all accounts they once again did the lion's share of the procedural and campaign work.

And yet, of 1,011 candidates a mere 35 were women, most of them nominated by their party in ridings where they had little or no chance of winning, barring an upset. The result: the new House of Commons has 261 male members — and just four women.

Clearly, all the parties are at least unanimous on one thing: to nominate a women candidate is to incur a disadvantage.

But why? Is it because of the widely held belief that a woman will not as a rule vote for a woman? Or because men for the most part are held to be prejudiced against women candidates? Or a bit of both?

Anyone care to answer?

Forgive us our dinners . . .

The philosopher who once remarked that we all of us know far less than we think we do was not exaggerating.

The point is well made by one chastened Canadian educator who tells of the experience of a New England colleague who without any advance warning asked all her English students, 9th grade through 12, to write from memory the Lord's Prayer which they had been reciting every school day from the first grade on.

The month of Christmas is perhaps a not inappropriate time to quote from several of the papers received from what are described as "reasonably competent pupils":

Senior, 18 years old: "Our Father, who art in heaven, halloween our name."

Sophomore, 16: "Give us our daily bred and forgive our dinners . . . ."

Sophomore, 16: "Thy will be done as it was on earth as it is in heaven. Giveth our daily bread, giveth our trustpass as we forgiveth our trustpass against them."

Sophomore, 16: "Hal be thy name, kingdom come, thou shalt be done, as it is in heaven."

Freshman, 15: "Our father, who art in heaven thou'll be our name. Thou Kingdoms come, thou will be done on earth as it is in heaven. And give us this day our daily trespasses."

So much for the "reasonably competent pupils." What of the less gifted? Let the following example suffice:

Junior, 17: "Our father who ark in having hardledeniname thay King than come thind will be done on Earth there is no having . . . ."

After which, what is there left to say?

FASHION BARES THE BACK. The strapless evening dress is back in fashion. The one-shoulder dress, both short and long, comes on strong. To say that satin-smooth shoulders are in demand would be an understatement.

Ways to satinize the shoulders and back, as need be, are detailed below:

Treat dry, roughened skin with an oil soak. Using warmed skin oil or olive oil, thickly coat back and shoulders; let oil "set" for fifteen minutes. Then bathe or shower, and scrub with a sudsy, long-handled brush. Follow with a stiff towelling. Finish with a body-lotion massage. Until the skin improves, repeat the treatment several times weekly.

To free the back of blackheads, brush-scrub during daily baths until the skin glows. Twice weekly apply a grainy cleanser after soaping up, and massage it in with a long-handled sponge. Thoroughly rinse and dry. Then pat on an antiseptic lotion and let air-dry.

Eruptions and pimples are controlled with medicated soaps and lotions, used night and morning. Treat affected areas with a feather touch; don't scrub. Lather up with a soft sponge; pat on lotion with sterile gauze pads.

If bra straps have marked the shoulders, check bras for sizing and strap adjustment. A properly fitted bra usually does not ridge the skin. Until markings fade, wear protective pads under straps.

FOR THE FIRST TIME since the turn of the century a steel rescue cruiser has been built by a Glasgow, Scotland, shipbuilder for Britain's Royal National Lifeboat Institution. The 70-foot all-steel cruiser is unique, being the fastest lifeboat in service in Britain and the first vessel to have facilities for the crew to sleep on board. Powered by twin diesel engines operating from separate watertight engine rooms, the rescue boat has a maximum speed of 11.14 knots and a range at this speed of 650 nautical miles. The steel rescue cuiser carries two additional rescue craft. One is an inflatable inshore rescue boat powered by a 33 horse-power outboard engine which is stowed on the engine casing forward of the wheelhouse. A smaller boat of a similar type with an 18 horse-power engine is stowed in the forward cabin. The forward cabin carries stowage for six stretchers and there are seats which can be converted into berths. There is also a small galley and a lavatory attached to the forward cabin. The vessel is divided athwartships by six watertight bulkheads. The space below the tank top is sub-divided into watertight compartments, some of which are used for stowing fuel, oil and water. Above the tank top an inner shell is arranged to deck level. The space betwen this and the shell plating is filled with polyurethane. The engines are controlled from the wheelhouse, the controls on the steering wheel being duplicated on the flying bridge. The rescue cruiser also carries standard items of equipment to be found in lifeboats.

Accidents are more easily avoided than mended.
Reduce the risk in winter driving with courtesy and caution.

No matter how careful you are your car might still be involved in an accident and . . .

. . . you might be found totally or partly liable for damage

. . . your own car might be damaged

. . . you or members of your family might be injured in your own or another car

CIA's AUTOMOBILE and ACCIDENT INSURANCE could help you meet the costs of these and other emergencies.

IN MEMORIAM

MILLWARD—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Thomas E. Millward, who died January 21st, 1965.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Gone but not forgotten.

—Ever remembered by wife and daughters, Annie, Gladys and Marjorie .
