Vandals hit area, steal Seaway anniversary plaque

by Don Moore
Chieftain Staff Reporter

Sometime last Friday night or early Saturday morning vandals stole the plaque which commemorates the 25th anniversary of the Seaway opening. The plaque is bronze and about 22 inches square.

Anyone having information which might lead to its recovery should communicate with the Ontario Provincial Police at Morrisburg, telephone 543-2949.

The plaque was erected on Sunday, October 11, 1984 in the centre lawn of the visitors area overlooking the Iroquois Locks, which was the first of the Seaway locks to be opened.

The inscription on the plaque reads: The St. Lawrence Seaway was inaugurated by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II and the President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, on June 26, 1959. The Seaway has opened up the industrial Great Lakes Region of North America to the trading nations of the world, and it has provided an improved navigation for the transportation of Canadian goods to consuming countries.

The plaque was erected by the Canadian Canal Society in co-operation with the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, Ontario to recognize the 25th anniversary of this great waterway.

Vandals also broke into the Iroquois Legion premises sometime Friday night, and also paid Iroquois Enterprises a visit. Neither of these places leave money on hand over night, lessening the temptation.

At the Legion a small amount of beer was taken, and some damage done to a window and doors. Again, with nothing tangible to steal at Iroquois Enterprises, losses were confined to the back window where entry was gained.

And the Iroquois Golf Club did not escape. Someone, on Friday or Saturday, or overnight, had torn up greens numbers 5 and 6, with some sort of vehicle. The club house was also entered; Constables Roach and Lackey are investigating.

In the Morrisburg area vandals were also active, with a break-in reported at the Ministry of Transportation and Communications property on Highway 31, sometime between Friday and Monday morning, April 21. Investigation continues with Corporal Thompson in charge.

Another break-in occurred at Permanent Concrete on Highway 31. Nothing was reported taken, and only about $50 damage was done during this entry, which happened sometime between April 16 and April 21.

Apart from the break-ins in the Iroquois and Morrisburg areas, the OPP report a quiet week with no accidents, and only one impaired driving incident being handled by the Morrisburg detachment.

Co-operative Education provides students with hands-on experience

Students at Seaway District High School are participating in Co-operative Education Program. 'Co-op' is a program which started a few years ago in Toronto and has been implemented in a number of area high schools.

The program is designed to provide students with some hands-on experience in the work world which will assist them with making informed career choices. One of the most impressive aspects of this program is that, according to students and employers, it works.

Other schools participating in the program are North Grenville in Kemptville, and South Grenville District High School in Prescott.

This is the second year for Seaway with the Co-Operative Education Program. Last year there were eight students participating, advised Donna Notman, teacher-coordinator of the program. This year there are 22 students. Next year Mrs. Notman expects to have room for 20 to 25 students.

There is a lot of work involved in the co-operative education program. Everyone has to give a little extra to participate. This includes teacher, student and employers.

Students have to put 320 hours of work experience into a two credit program. The one credit option requires 160 hours on the job. The time is made up by the student who using spares (45 minute periods in which they have no class scheduled), and after school hours.

Gordon Vinema and Mike Byvelds are working at Seaway Valley School on placement. The Co-op program requires that a student be currently enrolled in a class which corresponds with his placement, or has previously received credit for a course which corresponds with placement. Gord and Mike are working in the area of wood working and shop (respectively. Both are grade 12 students.

They spend two 45 minute periods at Seaway Valley School alternating mornings and afternoons, roughly twice a week. This is because Seaway High School does not have semestering and operates on a four day cycle.

At Seaway Valley School the boys teach handicapped students the basics of woodworking and shop. Students are guided through the steps in making items such as flower boxes and the boys show incredible patience and carking working with these young people.

Gordon and Mike, while increasing their woodworking and shop skills of placement, are

Fire fighters hold quarterly meeting

The Eastern Ontario Fire Fighters Association held its quarterly meeting in Iroquois, Ontario at the Civic Centre. Of the 12 Municipal Volunteer Fire Departments which are members of EOFFA, 11 were in attendance. Guest speakers, John Lawson and Mike Dowling from the Workmans Compensation Board in Ottawa, addressed the men on the topic of Workman's Compensation.

Reeve Frank Rooney welcomed the men to Iroquois stating that their role in the community was a vital one which tended to be under-estimated by the majority of citizens. Citizens, Mr. Rooney said, do not seem to know what Firemen do until they actually need them. Most, he said, do not realize the time involved in being a volunteer fireman. After a fire there is clean up and general maintenance of equipment. In addition, there is time spent addressing schools and clubs on fire safety.

After Mr. Rooney's welcome, the meeting was called to order and general business discussed. During the course of the evening a new member, of the Kitley Volunteer Fire Department, was accepted by EOFFA. Mr. Ken Baker, of Kitley, made representation to the Association on behalf of the members of his fire department.

Mike Dowling, of the WCB then gave a short presentation which evolved around the history and principles of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The Workmen's Compensation Act advised Mr. Dowling, become effective in 1914. It operates on four axioms. Firstly, it is a 'no-fault' system, in other words negligence is not a factor in determining benefits. Secondly, it is a security of payment. Employers find the WCB and finally, the commission itself adjudicates claims. WCB claims do not become part of the legal process.

Within the Act there are two types of employers. The first, known as 'schedule 1' are basically all employers specifically mentioned in the act. Excluded from the Act are Beauty Salons and Law Offices, advised Mr. Dowling.

The second type, 'schedule 2', applies to a small group of about 500 employers. These are generally government employers, Bell Canada, and other similiar groups. Under 'schedule 2' payment for employees injured are billed directly to the employer.

'Schedule 1' employers pay a premium. There are 27 classes of employers and 109 rating groups under schedule 1. Assessment is determined by the groups claim

Iroquois-Matilda Fire Protection

Despite a lengthy meeting last week, Iroquois and Matilda are still not in complete agreement about the Township's fire protection arrangements. Last Wednesday representatives of the two jurisdictions met in an attempt to come to terms with the provision of fire protection to a portion of Matilda Township. But at the end of Wednesday's meeting no conclusions had been reached.

However, Iroquois' Reeve Frank Rooney is optimistic that a new agreement will soon be reached. In the meantime the old pact remains in force whereby the Iroquois Fire Department responds to calls in Matilda Township, and in exchange, Iroquois is allowed to haul refuse to the Matilda Waste Disposal site.

This arrangement has been in effect for several years, an agreement whereby services have been exchanged but no money has changed hands.

Another meeting is to be scheduled, hopefully to bring the matter to a successful conclusion.

Universal Terminals proceeding against Matilda

It has been more than a year since Universal Terminals Limited started legal proceedings over Matilda Township's stand on zoning. And the two sides are still waiting for their day in court.

Matilda's solicitors, McInnis and McEwen have their case ready, but according to Roger Mills, their spokesman, it is now a matter of waiting for a spot on the court list. The case will be heard in the Ontario Supreme Court, possibly some time in May or June. A Toronto lawyer, John Parkinson, is expected to make the court room appearance on behalf of the Township.

Universal Terminals started the legal battle when the Township refused to lift a holding designation on a parcel of land which is zoned light industrial. In February of 1985, UTL filed a notice of application, asking the Divisional Court of the Supreme Court of Ontario to review the Township's zoning by-law, as it relates to UTL's land.

UTL have argued that they had a prior, non-conforming use of the land, based on a long-term establishment of its dock and port facilities. Also, they argued, approval had been given to a new dock, fill area and storage pad sometime prior to the passing of the zoning by-law. UTL has also claimed that the action was discrimatory and unduly restricts their expansion.

It is expected that the action will be heard before a panel of three Supreme Court of Ontario Judges when it does come to trial.

Lions Club Public Speaking contest

Eldon Horner of Brinston placed first in the District level of the Lions Club public speaking contest. This level was held in Almonte, Ontario on Friday, April 18.

He will speak again at the Eastern Ontario level, to be held in St. Catharines, Ontario on May 4, and if successful will go to all the all-Canada competition which will be held at the Lions convention in June.

Lloyd C. Davis will be missed

A long-time Reeve of Iroquois has passed away. Lloyd C. Davis served as Reeve of Iroquois for over a quarter of a century, from 1948 to 1969, and again from 1973 to 1976.

He also served as Warden of the United Counties, was active in the District School Wards, and in dealing with Ontario Hydro during the Seaway relocation. A man that will be missed.

S.D.H.S. plan for Health Fair soon

The Health Fair at Seaway District High School will open during Education Week, the week of April 27, 1986. The theme for the Fair is "It's My Life", and was suggested by Murray Richer of the District Health Council of Eastern Ontario.

This year there will be a unique feature at the Fair. A "Health Passport" will be given out to those attending. Three different passports are being designed, for intermediate students, senior students, and the public. The passports will contain multiple choice questions which have been submitted by the exhibitors.

Answers to the questions can be found while visiting the various agencies at the Fair.

The Health Fair will get underway officially on Monday, April 28 at 2:15 p.m. when Dr. Pipe, a cardiac surgeon and proponent of a smoke-free society, will address Seaway students and staff. The public is invited to attend the Fair from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, April 29. Senior Citizens from the area are invited for an exclusive visit from 1 to 4:30 p.m. on April 29. There is no admission charge.

Dark Deeds at Swan's Place attracts large crowds

Will the wedding take place?

Guests tremble in fear as they await the outcome of Jack Swan's and Montague Leech's encounter.

Curses, Foiled Again!!

This is one wedding you would not want to miss.

Dark Deeds at Swan's Place was presented to the Iroquois Community on April 17, 18 and 19 at Seaway District High School. After weeks of rehearsing the cast and crew finally had the opportunity to meet the audience in a spectacular performance, according to those who have viewed the play.

Charles Marsden as Montague Leech was expected to steal the show, according to anticipating viewers, but with a cast of equally talented actors and actresses was no "stand-out" amongst them. All were excellent.

The Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club may well be proud of the performances this past weekend. The cast included Garry Barkey, Marg Swerdfeger, Charles Marsden, Don Fairweather, Bill Rumble, Glen Swerdfeger, Dan Hoffman, Jean Mattice, Elaine Turner, Nellie Lieghtizer, Marg Rooney, Jim Locke (who is also the production manager) and Diane Orlicky. Wendy Gibb directed the play and Edwina Billik looked after set design.

Trees for Canada planned on May 3

The Boy Scouts will soon be soliciting sponsors for their annual Trees for Canada Campaign. Only recently the St. Lawrence District Boy Scout Organization contributed $100.00 to the Jaime Adams fund. The money was obtained through their 1985 Trees for Canada Campaign.

Scouts, cubs and beavers obtained pledges from sponsors which indicated an amount per tree planted. The boys planted on a day marked by scouting groups across Canada as Trees for Canada Day. The amount pledged was paid to the boy upon completion of tree planting day.

The date set for the event this year is May 3, 1986. Trees will once again be planted by Boys across Canada involved in scouting.

The trees in this area are donated by the South Nation River Conservation Authority, advised Keith Hall, Iroquois Cub Leader. The Boys plant the trees in areas where they are needed. Last year the cubs planted trees on a farm near Shanly. Over 11,000 trees were rooted by cubs, scouts and beavers taking part in the campaign.

There are 13 groups of boys in the St. Lawrence District with about 400 boys taking part in scouting. The District ranges from Prescott to Morrisburg, back to Chesterville across to Kemptville and includes surrounding areas.

This year the trees will be planted on the Earl Eaton Management Reserve which is actually owned by the St. Lawrence District Scouting Organization, according to Mr. Hall.

The boys take part in various community activities and events. Through these they learn a lot about the world around them. Guidance offered by adult leaders is necessary. If you would like to become one of these leaders contact Bill Rumble, Chairman, or Keith Hall, Cub Leader. They are looking for more adults to take an active roll in leadership.

In the meantime, be on the look out for cubs seeking pledges. Your support is appreciated by the boys.

Bed and Breakfast spots gaining popularity

by Margaret Gladstone
Chieftain Staff Reporter

With the increase in popularity of Bed & Breakfast places it seems only appropriate that we attempt to highlight some of the local havens for tourists. The Seaway Valley is beginning to be flooded with area residents who are starting to operate bed and breakfasts.

Last year Glenn and Kay Keyes of Mariatown decided to venture into the business of Bed & Breakfast.

The idea of operating a Bed and Breakfast came to be a reality late in the tourist season of 1985. Kay did not open her home to visitors until June or July of the year. Nevertheless, she had over 25 families visit her home.

Visitors came from as far away as France, even with limited advertising, Mrs. Keyes advised. People from Ottawa, the United States, Holland, and other places were welcomed into her home.

Kay decided that she did not want to give her guests the conventional restaurant breakfast of bacon and egg. They could get that anywhere she said. Instead she made homemade cooked cereal from whole wheat she grinds herself. She also served up homemade jams, muffins, and an array of fruits and juices.

The venture says Mrs. Keyes was fun and she plans on repeating it again this year.

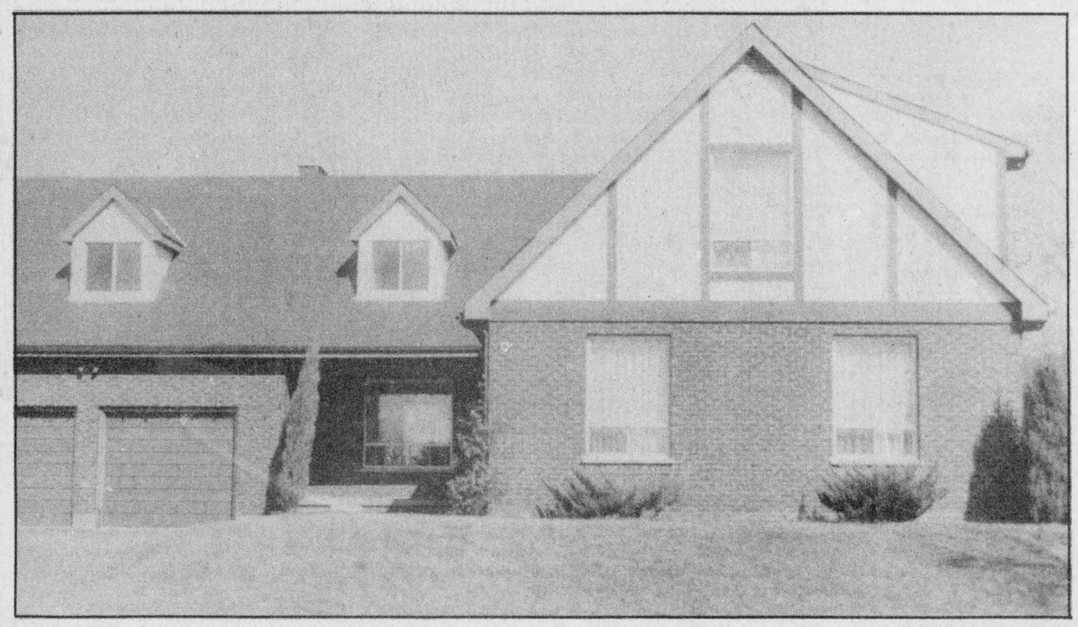
People who travel to Bed and Breakfasts, advised Mrs. Keyes, seem to be more interested in people and in area history than those who are content to simply settle into a motel and see the more common tourist sites.

By taking advantage of the Bed & Breakfast sites tourists can become more deeply involved with the community life. At the Keyes residence a visitor can walk out on the front lawn and view ships which pass along the St. Lawrence. The ships are so close to shore one can read their names without binoculars. At a quick glance one would guess the ship to be as little as twenty metres from the shore line.

Taking an evening away from the house a visitor can attend one of the plays at the Upper Canada Play House. Upon arrival to home base the Keyes are more than happy to listen to their account of the evenings events.

Other tourist attractions nearby include Prehistoric World; horseback riding stables, Upper Canada Village and The Iroquois Locks.

The house is also within a one hour drive to Ottawa, Brockville and Cornwall for major shopping centres.



FROM THE FRONT

average. It can range from .14¢ on the $100.00 to $28.00 on the $100.00. For volunteer forces it is $2.71 every $100.00, advised Mr. Dowling.

It was not until 1955 that volunteer fire fighters came under the act. Coverage for these groups is extended through the municipality, and is dependant upon the premium paid for coverage. The municipality chooses the amount of coverage they want for their firefighters.

If a municipality is covered for $20,000, multiply it by $2.71 to gain an assessment at $541.00. The municipality will pay $54.00 for each man on the department. The minimum insurance coverage is $16,000 and the maximum is $32,100. according to Mr. Dowling.

Other matters discussed at the meeting were arrangements made by the Cardinal Volunteer Fire Department regarding the summer tournament. Ray Laming advised those present that the planning was going quite well and everything would be in order for the annual event.

Co-operative Ed.

.inding that they have a few hidden talents many lack. The patience and caring necessary to work within the classroom in an ordinary school is one thing, but that needed to work in a special school, such as Seaway Valley School, is indeed another.

Carol Rumble, their supervisor at Seaway Valley, is appreciative of the effect they have had on the students in her classes. The children respond to the boys in a positive manner, advised Mrs. Rumble Watching as one student struck the pose of a genuine "artist" while painting window boxes the class had completed, Mrs. Rumble, pleased with the performance, said "They didn't act like this before the boys came".

Mike and Gord prepare the materials for class and then guide the students through the process of hammering nails and filing rough edges. Each student, in turn, would hammer in a nail while Mike and Gord patiently looked on. If problems were had grasping the hammer and striking the head, the young men would lend a hand. They never once lost patience or completed the task for a student having difficulty.

Students are placed in various areas. Upper Canada Village Green House has two students working on the Queens Garden. Jeff Whyte and Jimmy Cooper are grade twelve students using Biology as a base for their work at the Green House.

The program may not be accomodating to most students in terms of time as it takes alot of effort on their part to make up the hours. With class periods which are 45 minutes in length, students with two spare periods in a row can make better use of the program.

Mike and Gord, for example, arrive at Seaway Valley at 9:00 and leave at 10:30 to catch their morning classes. In this 1 1/2 hour period they teach two classes at Seaway Valley. Two days per week they have 1 1/2 hours at Seaway. They make up additional time building a slide for the primary students at Seaway Valley School during after class hours at the high school.

Students are accepted into the co-operative program after a screening process. When they apply they must accompany their application with a teacher's reference. A panel of teachers and administrative staff interview each student before accepting them into the program.

Other students involved in the co-op program include Esther Prosser, a grade 12 student who will be graduating in June. Esther is working at the guidance office at Seaway for her placement. Shelley Black, another grade 12 student, has gained experience at Martin Bell and at Biba. Shelley initially throught she would like to work in accounting but found she much preferred the fashion industry. The co-operative program really helped with the career decision, advised Shelley.

Students enjoy the co-operative program and find that it is an exciting way to make learning fun and provides them with real work experience. Although they are not facing the true to life experiences of working for a living, they are gaining some insight into what it is like to hold a job and the responsibilities that accompany working full time.

For more information on the Co-operative Education Program contact your local high school.

Cablenet will arrive

Ivan Grossutti, General Manager of Kingston Cablenet advised that Cable Television will most definately be arriving in our area. The company which has been awarded service rights to Iroquois, together with 23 other rural areas is 01 Rural. They have nearly completed the preliminary study of the areas and have only to determine the actual site locations for the cable stations. Other areas to be serviced by 01 Rural include Winchester, Morrisburg, Iroquois, Hastings, Marmora, Cannington, Norwood, Cardinal, Chesterville, Merrickville, Athens, Caesarea, Havelock, Limoges, Sydenham, Pleasant Point, Bourget, Sunderland, Clarence Creek, Verona, Omemee, Blackstock and Woodville.

Reinsurance market causing havoc

by Norm Warner

Over the past few months the property and casualty insurance industry has gone through a very difficult period. These problems have affected both the availability and affordability of insurance to the public.

On Wednesday, April 9, Mr. R.M. Hammond, the Federal Superintendent of Insurance appeared before the Standing Committee on Finance and Economic Affairs. In response to my questioning on the reasons for the industry problems Mr. Hammond offered the following explanation.

"I think there are a number of factors. First of all . . . companies had been trying to attract cash-flow to be able to make money on the investment income during the periods when interest rates were quite high. I guess there is some pretty good evidence that it was a highly competitive business in order to track that cash flow, the companies were not increasing the premiums to the degree that they should have. When investment income began to drop they did not increase the premiums significantly to catch up.

The other factor is the reinsurance market. A lot of new companies came into the reinsurance market during the 1970's . . . Those companies have by and large taken a beating . . . They have either withdrawn from the market or failed . . . We talked about reinsurance being a cause, that in some cases the companies had gone overseas for their reinsurance and it turned out that those reinsurance companies were not able to pay or chose not to pay. There has been a contraction in the reinsurance industry as a result . . . The ones who remain are being choosy about the type of business that they write and they are also demanding significant premium increases.

I think the third factor is that claims are turning out to be larger than people anticipated, particularly the claims on what we call the long tail business, the liability business where it may take years before a claim is settled. As you are aware the companies in the liability business were issuing what were called occurrence policies. If a claimable incident occurred when the policy was in force, no matter when the claim was reported, even if it was reported many years later, you had a claim against the company. When claims occur many years later, the problem is that they tend to be settled in terms of the existing environment. Of course, we have had inflation, we have had a different attitude on the part of the courts. So claims are turning out to be larger than the companies anticipated when they wrote the business.

I think the other thing is this tendency on the part of the courts to give larger settlements. I think it has been far more pronounced in the United States than in Canada. We have seen some indications in Canada that there may be some tendency to go to the direction of the U.S. courts, but I do not think the situation has been as severe.

This all seemed to develop at the end of the year and in January, complicating the timing, and everybody wondered why there were so many crises in such a short period of time. Compounding the problem is the fact that the reinsurance treaties are all traditionally renegotiated at the end of the year, for the most part. So I think all these events precipitated the circumstances we have seen during the last few months."

Space adventure series created

Stephen Carkner continues to create his space adventure series. Last year he was using his classmates as characters in his science fiction cartoon adventure series. Now he has graduated to teachers.

One Year Later

Mrs. Bonnie Adair appears as the ship's scientist. They have just landed on earth after discovering a planet in a previously unknown solar system. Scientists are busy studying bacteria in search of life forms.

Stephen says his characters are more mature now and are learning about what people should know about planets. He combines knowledge he gains from books with his sharp imagination to create comic tables for his classmates.

Stephen says he works at his comic strips as a past-time so that he might improve his drawing skills.

Stephen is the youngest of six children of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Carkner of Iroquois. He is currently a grade 8 student at Iroquois Public School. His talent was recognized by Principle Leightizer when he intercepted a comic strip being passed around his classroom.

Dental Health Month

Every month brings a new cause it seems, sometimes each week; but among the important months of the year is Dental Health Month - April.

Tooth decay is still with us. Treatment has taken great strides, but one of the major causes of tooth decay is so common that it is difficult to defeat it.

The culprit is sugar. Now, sugar is not all bad, but it is bad news to teeth. That is a well know fact. And the bacteria in the mouth thrives on sugar, producing acids which eat away at the tooth enamel, creating cavities.

Actually, the length of time that the sugar stays in the mouth is more important, or more harmful, than the actual amount of sugar that one eats. Naturally, the longer sugar remains in ones mouth, the greater the danger. Thus, a candy eaten every half hour would do more damage (to your teeth, that is) than a handful eaten all at once.

We are told to brush after every meal, and that is certainly good advice if you want to keep your teeth. Actually, the saliva that is produced while eating a meal will help to wash away the acids. Brushing makes more certain.

But, between meal snacks are probably the greatest root cause of tooth decay, if the snacks are the kind that contain considerable sugar. Foods that stick to the teeth are the worst offenders, as, of course, they are in contact with the teeth for longer periods, and are more difficult to remove from between the teeth.

And as we said a few weeks ago, during Nutrition Month, we really do consume a lot of food which is not good for us. Soft drinks, chips, candies - all bad for you! Even coffee and tea, with sugar, and fruit juices are harmful. The experts tell us to substitute dentally safe foods. Use milk instead of milk-shakes, fresh fruit instead of dried fruit, bread and butter instead of cake and cookies, and sugar-free gum instead of that other kind.

Perhaps surprisingly, one growing source of tooth-destroying sweets are liquid medications like cough syrups, throat drops, and chewable vitamins, the flavour ingredient of which is sugar. Many health care professionals are now arguing for the replacement of the sugar in drug products with sugar-free substitutes. Several such products are now available; one such substance is called xylitol. Some of the other substitutes which have been developed are safe for your teeth, but their overall health safety is in question.

New on the market is another aid-chewing gum that is designed to clean your teeth. Two years ago there appeared a gum to help smokers reduce their nicotine cravings, new types are available to help dieters diet, give the health conscious their vitamins, and to help clean their teeth.

The final word is: if you must have your sugar, take it with a meal, or use substitutes, and remember to brush. DM

NEW FLOOR FOR GOLF CLUB

It is planned to have the course open this weekend as the grounds keepers started last Monday and with the extremely warm weather we have been having the course is as dry as it has been for this time of the season.

The club house verandah has a new tile floor and looks real good. Thanks to the efforts of the directors and members who did the work it means that it will be excellent for dancing at events in the future.

The Canadian dollar

Guest Editorial

While the slide of the Canadian dollar does not say much for our national economic state of affairs, it should mean a boost in the tourist industry.

In fact, the tourist industry should hop on the bandwagon immediately and encourage vacationers to spend their deflated dollars at home rather than travel to the United States this year.

There should also be a major pitch made to United States residents, encouraging them to come to Canada where their dollar will be worth more.

It's depressing knowing that our dollar is skidding down the economic ladder with increasing rapidity, but we should take advantage rather than sit around moping.

A devalued dollar could also mean that our trade exports will increase. It will be cheaper for Americans to purchase Canadian manufactured goods.

It may be difficult, but as a nation we should look at the bright side of the degenerating dollar. The 65-cent dollar could be a reality in the near future and we will have to make the best of that situation.

It may spell doom and gloom for the Canadian condo owner in Florida, or the Snowbirds who make the winter trek to Key West, but the lower dollar should brighten the smiles of Canadian tourist operators and border town Chambers of Commerce.

It will take a lot of tough slogging in the corridors of power in Ottawa to bring the Canadian dollar back to where it was in the early 1970's (if it ever reaches those dizzy heights again). In the meantime, let's capitalize on the current situation.

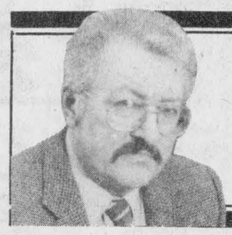
Suppertime



Peter Hessel

I DON'T know what supper is like at your house. I guess it depends on your age, your family circumstances, your life style, and a lot of other factors.

At our house, suppertime can be hell. But that is going to change because on May 1, I fool you not, Peter's Plan will spring into action.

A typical suppertime until now has gone roughly (no pun intended) like this:

Elizabeth: "Peter, would you, please, get the children to the table?" (Note the polite 'please' in the initial phase of the supper campaign!)

I approach the children in the following manner: "Supper is ready. I want everybody to go to the toilet, wash their hands and be in the kitchen in three minutes." This seems like a reasonable request, but it is always met by protests, non-compliance and escalation to Phase 2: I either turn the TV off and tell the kids to get moving or I physically carry, drag or push them first to the bathroom and then to the table. All this is, of course, accompanied by dialogue so ridiculous that I am ashamed to admit it.

When all children finally somehow attach themselves to chairs by sitting or kneeling on them, hanging or swinging from them or rocking in them, the subject of The Blessing is brought up. This part of the meal may go very smoothly, but more often than not it goes like this: "Duncan, will you ask the blessing today, please?" "No." "Stephanie, will you?" "I don't feel like it." "Alexander?" "I don't want to." And the blessing will be asked by an adult.

Alexander doesn't eat potatoes. Stephanie doesn't care for chicken except for the skin. And Duncan won't eat anything unless it is smothered with ketchup. And so the grownups urge and cajole, they implore and beg and bribe and threaten their way through the "main course", the generally unpleasant, dreaded part of supper that is tolerated by the kids only because of the prospect of "DESSERT."

"What's for dessert?" they ask, and the answer to that question will determine their behavior during the main course. Fruit for dessert will result in nibbling, dawdling, punching holes in the table top with forks or spoons, pinching your sister under the table, and other manifestations of displeasure. "So if they tell me I can't have a pear or an orange for dessert, so what?" Duncan will reason. And he will continue making patterns of ketchup on and around his plate.

Adult conversation during the family meal? Forget it. Elizabeth or I may start a sentence, but the overlapping interruptions are always too much to compete with. No point in even trying to talk. Just get the main course cleared, and bring the dessert to those who deserve it. If the dessert is chocolate pudding, there will be fifteen seconds of silence while it is slurped down in huge, overflowing spoonfulls. And then: "Can I get up now?"

Suppertime, a stressful, noisy, tumultuous time that often ends in tears for more than one tired little tot.

Now enter: Peter's Plan. As of May 1, on an experimental basis, suppertime will go like this at our house:

Elizabeth: "Peter, would you, please, get the children to the table?" And I will round the little ones up and address them as follows: "The grownups are going to have supper now. We have what we think is a fine meal, a delicious main course followed by a yummy dessert. We are going to enjoy ourselves because suppertime is going to be a time of celebration. We are going to celebrate the fact that we are all together as a family and that we have this great chance of sitting down together over a good meal. We're going to have some nice conversation and talk about the good things that happened today. Would any of you children care to join us?"

This question can only be answered with a yes or no. A child may opt in or out. Those who opt out will get no food of any kind until breakfast. Otherwise, they may do what they want, as long as they stay out of the kitchen where supper is being eaten. Those who opt in will be expected to follow the rules: go to the bathroom and wash their hands immediately, come to the table within three minutes, sit down without upsetting the chair, eat most of their food and not complain. They may talk - one at a time. They will not be interrupted, and they must not interrupt others. For each "offence" there will be one warning. If the offence is repeated, that child will be removed from the kitchen and go without food until breakfast. There will be no scolding, no raising of voices.

As I mentioned, this will be an experiment. We may get undernourished children and a drop in food consumption. Or we may get a quiet, enjoyable suppertime. Who knows, the kids may get to look forward to having supper with their parents?

Wouldn't that be a blessing!

FOR MOST OF US, few days pass when we don't deal with a small business person. Whether it's running errands, seeing the doctor or dentist, or calling an expert to help seal a leaky springtime basement, daily life brings us into contact with "small business".

NO SURPRISE THERE, given that 98 per cent of all businesses are small. But how often do we stop to think about these people who provide us with every imaginable product and service? What kind of people are they? What makes them tick.

THERE'S NO SINGLE ANSWER, of course. But if you had the chance to talk to a few of these people at length, as I did recently, you'd probably find a few common threads. First is plain hard work. Take the small sign manufacturer who has not had a day off in two months, whose shop is jammed with orders, who is in the process of hiring help and creating employment. Or the tire shop head who drives truck at night to help pay the bills.

WHY BOTHER? Well, you'd probably also note a strong streak of independence running through all these people and the hundreds of thousands like them across the country. They want to be their own boss. They use different words and take varying actions, but in the end they're all saying the same thing: They are creating something of their own with their own labor.

THEY'RE PROUD OF THAT, and rightly so. And that pride is perhaps the strongest signal these people send out to a visitor such as me. For the sign painter, it's what makes him stop and talk about "his baby" with a stranger, then insist on taking time to show off his shop and his work, all the while protesting that he dosen't have time to chat.

IT'S PRIDE OF A DIFFERENT NATURE FOR THE WOMAN who runs the busy restaurant at the hub of a tiny community on the west coast. She grabs a few moments over lunch to talk, pointing to the business-boosting menu changes. The high school guidance people, she confides, beaming, say she trains more young people for jobs than anyone else in the community. As she speaks, she's interrupted, twice, by her son who she's sending away for a course on restaurant management. She's thinking ahead to the day when one pride and joy will take over her other pride and joy.

THAT KIND OF PRIDE IS CATCHING. You can see it, for instance, in Chemainus, British Columbia where the people of the community have commissioned larger-than-life murals of the town's history on downtown buildings, reviving a once-nondescript logging village. For the people of Chemainus - and dozens of other towns who have created their own variations on this theme - this is not the pride that goes before a fall. It is a discovery of the positive power that flows from the intense commitment owners have to their business.

IT IS THE ESSENCE OF SYNERGY, in which the effect is greater than the sum total of all the parts, It is, in short, the power of pride.

THIS WEEK'S BOTTOM LINE: What we learn from the past is that we seldom learn from the past.

Students give creditable performance at contest

Although local students didn't place as high as in some years, their performance at this year's Canadian Mathematics Competition was quite creditable.

Tim Rosenquist, Grade 10 student at Seaway District High School, pulled off the highest mark, scoring 100.50 out of a possible 150, giving him an award of distinction. This places Tim within the top 10 per cent of the students participating. Teammates in the match were Tijs Theijesmeijer and Eric Pietersma. As a team, SDHS placed 13th, out of 510 schools and 7967 students, in Ontario.

In the Grade 9 level category, Karen Faller scored 81.75 to give her a merit award, placing within the top 25 per cent. In the same category, Stephen Kenward and Catherine Carruthers just missed out. As a team they placed 24th. Also competing were Grade 11 students Dan Byvelds, Steven Horner and David Andersen. In the Grade 11 contest there were 500 schools involved, with 6304 students participating. SDHS team placed 18th.

In total approximately 53,200 students participated from over 1650 schools from across Canada.

Rothwell-Osnabruck H.S. to receive grant

Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner today announced that the Rothwell-Osnabruck High School in Ingleside will receive a $12,800 travel grant under Secretary of State's Open House Canada Exchange Program.

Open House Canada is a year round exchange program, available to youth groups between ages 14 to 22, that offers young Canadians an opportunity to travel and discover Canada.

The Osnabruck group consisting of 43 school band members will be travelling to Vancouver B.C. on May 13, to visit its twin group, the Britannia Elementary Secondary School for one week.

The Britannia School is a grade 8 to 12 inner city school with the majority of its student body consisting of Oriental and Vietnamese children. The Osnabruck students will be immersed in a structured program aimed at educating them in the geographical, social and cultural aspects of the Vancouver community.

Some of the highlights of the trip will include three days at Expo 86, admission to the Canadian National Stage Band Festival, a tour of the B.C. legislature, and participation in various Chinese cultural activities.

Following the journey to Vancouver, the Osnabruck students will then have the opportunity to host the Vancouver school in the Ingleside community commencing June 22.

The grant provided by Open House Canada will cover transportation costs for 27 students taking part in the exchange. The remaining costs are being covered through the fund raising efforts of the participating schools.

Science Fair

Further winners of prizes and awards at the Science Fair have been announced. The Science Fair was held in Cornwall on Saturday, April 12, and some of the winners will be going on to the Canada-wide fair to be held in Calgary on May 11 to 18.

Poster competition winners at Cornwall were, in the Senior Division, Gloria Kastack of Char-Lan District High School, and in the Junior Division, Gerry Hoffman of St. Cecilia's in Iroquois.

Guilder competition winners were Rachel Kastack and Gloria Kastack of Char-Lan. Rachel Kastack also won the technical innovation award for the best project directed towards the development of a potential commercial product or improved process. Cardinal Broncos hold banquet

Sports

The Cardinal Bronco's Junior B Hockey Team held their annual banquet at the Seaway Dragon Restaurant in Iroquois, Ontario on Saturday, April 19th.

The head table consisted of owners, Roger and Elaine Stitt, Dick Willis, Bonnie Bell and Earl and Ann Nesbitt. Also Head Coach Roy Lapier.

Various prizes were provided for the evening by Caldwell, The Canada Starch Company/Casco and Seaway Dragon Restaurant.

Brent Murray received the award for the highest scorer as well as the Most Valuable Player Award. John Hanna received the Coaches Trophy and the Rookie Award.

Jarrett Scott won the Defenceman Award and Robin Cummings (goalie) the Most Improved Player Trophy.

An Affiliate Award, given to midget players in Junior B was received by Randy Mullins and Shawn LaPierre.

Three team participants received plaques: Doug Veltcamp, Mark Nesbitt and Francis Roode.

Mitch Collison, it was announced, would be accepting the post of General Manager for the next season.

Coach Roy Lapier advised that he was well pleased with the performance of the players this year. He also emphasized that the most important skill to be considered when selecting players for next years team will be skating ability.

While presenting the Coaches award to John Hanna, Mr. Lapier stressed that consideration was given to the ability to play good clean hockey, strong skating and high turnout.

Roger Stitt, one of the team owners, took the opportunity to thank all those who had taken a part in this years hockey season, in particular the 50-50 ticket sellers. Without these people, said Mr. Stitt, there would be no Bronco's. It costs between $300.00 and $500.00 for each home game, he said. "The tickets are the back bone of the organization" stated Mr. Stitt.

Iroquois Rec. Committee completes ball planning

The Iroquois Recreation Committee met this past week to complete the organization of the Baseball teams for the season.

The Squirt Coaches are Alan Claxton, Hugh McMillan, Tony Easter and Carl Hamilton. The T-Ball Coaches are Nellie Leightizer, Arnie Fader, Doug Millard and Jim Millard.

Lorraine Fader advised that there are 16 or 17 Bantam players registered but they have no coaches at present. In addition, a full team of Peewee players have signed up for the season but no one has come forward to coach this team either.

In the event no coaches are found these young people will be unable to take part in the sport this coming season. Any one interested in helping out is asked to contact Lorraine Fader at 652-4420.

Remember that cliche, "If you don't play a sport, be one"? In this instance, it is: "If you don't play a sport, coach one".

The committee is also looking for umpires for the games. They will pay $7.00 for each game at home plate and $4.00 for each game at first base.

The next meeting of the Recreation Committee will be held April 28, 1986.

Tryouts for Intermediate Fastball start tonight

With the arrival of spring, the ball diamonds become a hub of activity.

Tryouts for the Cardinal Intermediate Fastball Team will be held tonight (Wednesday, April 23) and Thursday, April 24th at 6:00 p.m. and Saturday, April 26th at 11:00 a.m. at the Cardinal ball diamond.

Teams in the league are: Cardinal, Johnstown, Toledo, Mr. Gas (with home games being played in Spencerville) and five teams from the Brockville City League.

Cardinal's first game will be May 8th against Johnstown. Along with players we are looking for a coach, said Jake Stitt. For more information call Jake at 657-4888.

Plaque suggested to honour Longboat

Glen Elliott, a competitive runner, is still working at saving the cinder track beside the old highschool in Morrisburg. If all else fails he will be satisfied with the erection of a plaque commemorating the run Tom Longboat completed in Morrisburg in the early part of this century running on the cinder track. Mr. Elliott has been attempting to save the track by having it acknowledged as an historical site.

Longboat is recognized as a significant historical figure at the Federal level by the Historical Sites and Monuments Board of Canada. This spring a plaque was erected in his honour at the Six Nations Indian Reservation.

Pike derby

The Cardinal Fish and Game Club will be holding a Pike Derby on Saturday, May 3 and Sunday, May 4. Tickets are $2.00 for members and $4.00 for non-members and must be purchased by midnight May 1st.

Pre-arranging Funerals

Pre arranging, and sometimes prepaying, a funeral is simply a method chosen by some people to assist their survivors after a death occurs. By doing so, the major decisions involved in arranging a funeral can be made in an atmosphere that does not involve emotional upset which follows the death of a family member.

IROQUOIS BRANCH 370 LEGION REPORT

Dr. Peter Playfair

The major item for the attention of both the monthly meetings was the formal receipt of the resignation of our President, comrade Ray Delegarde. This was received with deep regret and the sincere hope that he will see fit to return to an active role in the Branch in the near future. In the meantime, all the Vice-presidents will advance one step for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Comrade Wytze Doumas presented the audited financial report for Branch 370 for 1985. This was duly received. It was pointed out that the year ended in the black despite the fact that legal and accounting fees were unusually large (and will be non-recurring) that the bank loan had been paid off in full and that overall income generated had increased by some 1.4½.

Reporting for the Building Committee Comrade Bob MacDonald noted that the building permit had been approved for issue when required. He pointed out that as yet no contract had been signed for the project. Approval was granted to proceed as soon as possible. In his report for the Membership Committee, Comrade Clare Tucker noted that new Dominion regulations prevent inter-branch transfers without a 'new-member' type review of eligibility.

The Branch membership board is to be renewed completely and brought right up to date.

The Honours and Awards Committee once again asked that each Legion member who has served on the Iroquois Branch executive take a moment to contact Bob MacDonald to check on the records of such service and arrange for issue of Past Officers' medals and/or bars.

Comrade Lawrence Scarbo pointed out that the Sick Visiting Committee had recognised Comrades Jean Lavallee and Percy Roberts at the time of their recent illnesses.

The House Committee is still searching for a janitor for the Branch. Advertising was approved requesting applications in writing for May 1st.

Comrade Jim Logie mentioned that the Mixed Dart League is in the midst of hotly contested final competitions. The closing banquet and presentation of awards will be held at the Branch on April 26th next.

The Youth Education Committee reported that two of the Branch winners in Public Speaking had done well at the district G competitions in Perth on April 12th. Shelley Harrison and Eldon Horner placed third in the Intermediate and Senior categories respectively. Comrades Ken Thompson and Roger Coulter have completed the awards locally. The Annual Convention for District G is to be held at Amherstview Branch on April 25, 26, and 27.

Bird Notes

by E. G. AVERY

As this is written, the warm rain that has been expected for so long is falling on the thirsty lawns and budding trees. The Robins will find a fresh supply of juicy worms and insects which will sustain them during the busy nesting time.

Up until Friday we had the House Finches, Red Polls and Grosbeaks, but they are probably on their way now, along with the Tree Sparrow. A few Goldfinches are around, now almost completely turned to their beautiful bright yellow, but they will be able to find a few left-over seeds in the fields and road sides, and will not depend on the feeders.

Many feeders have now been stored away until Fall; we usually keep a small one going for a few weeks longer, in hopes of seeing White-Crowned Sparrows. Bird baths are much appreciated by many birds, and this is a good way to fill the gap when the feeders are discontinued.

One afternoon we saw a large flock of Juncos among the trees on Davis Dr. There were more than one could count, darting about, showing off the long white tail-flashes on a bewildering bustle of activity. Juncos are permanent residents, but like other birds we will be moving into the woods, coming only occasionally to visit us in town.

The many tall Poplar trees provide good look-out posts for many different birds, from Robins to Redwings. As we passed a row of these trees, there came a strange sound; it was faint, somewhere between a honk and a quack, a small voice. Investigation revealed a white-breasted Nuthatch heading down the tree, looking for food and apparently having some success. Then we discovered a Downy Woodpecker (perhaps Dora?) directly above the Nuthatch backing down the tree, also in pursuit of a bite to eat. When the Nuthatch moved to a different part of the tree, the Downy followed, still staying above the smaller bird. It was an interesting little scene. Both birds are fairly tame, and paid no attention to the spectator.

There have been no reports of Swallows yet, but they have been seen in the Ottawa area. May is the month for Warblers, so it is time to get out the bird-book and study the section about Spring Warblers, the most confusing of all birds to identify.

Just for the record, last week we referred to the Biblical story of the widow's cruse (container) of oil which did not fail. This fascinating story of an Old Testament miracle can be found in 1 Kings - 17:1-16.

Incidentally, there was enough Suet for Dora when she came to-day, so the reference still applies.

Correction

In the April 16, 1986 edition of the Iroquois Chieftain, on the front page, it was stated that: "The BIA suggests that merchants limit the distribution of Bucks to $50.00 on any one sale." The line should have read "$500.00" on any one sale. We apologize for any inconvience this error may have caused.

Correction

In our One Year Later Column, of April 9, 1986, Mrs. Cinnamon, a Cummins Diesel representative, was quoted as having stated that Cardinal Council and Edwardsburgh Council had been contacted with respect to ascertaining additional space and facilities for the site on Shanly Road. Wesley Baldwin, clerk of the Village of Cardinal called the Chieftain to advise that Cardinal Council had not been contacted by Cummins regarding re-location.

Cummins representatives in Cardinal were unable to be contacted at their local number for further comment.

Creative Artists in Schools program

The students at Seaway gained a bit of insight into paper making this week when Karen Carriere, a print and paper making artist, instructed classes. Karen is working at Seaway under a program which provides a partial grant from the Ontario Arts Council. The program is the Creative Artists in Schools program. Students learned papermaking, creating pulp (made from blending water and scrap paper together) and pouring it into a tub with a screen placed across the bottom to form a mould. The project results are hoped to be placed on display in the Iroquois Mall.

Special Scottish service planned

During the church service on Sunday April 27th at St. John's United Church in Cardinal "The Glengarry Strathspey and Reel Society" will provide a special musical program.

Rev. E. Bruce Ross, Minister of St. John's is a member of the Society and the group's main thrust is to enjoy and promote Scottish music with its jigs, reels, marches, clogs and strathspeys and on Sunday-hymns.

This group was formed in 1977, when a small number of Scottish fiddlers, with roots in Glengarry County, got together to share their feelings about their particular music. They decided to share their talents; thus the Glengarry Strathspey and Reel Society was formed.

Although this group is centred in Alexandria, Ontario, members reach from as far east as Montreal and as far west as Ottawa and Cardinal.

There are 16 members in the Society: Dr. Donaldson McLeod, Dunvegan, president, a Civil engineer and until just recently a professor at Carleton University; secretary is Catherine Defreitas of Long Sault - pianist; Lorne Lawson of Alexandria, a High School Administrator; Duncan B. MacDonald of Ottawa a banker; Finalsy McDonell of Loch Garry, retired Shell Oil boss; Hugh Allan MacMillan, McRimmon's Corners, a school custodian and bus driver; Allan McPhail first president of the Society is a high school teacher in Cornwall.

Bernard McDonell, of Montreal, son of Finlay, is a Real Estate worker with Steinberg's; Duncan J. MacDonald, retired farmer of Dunvegan; Donald McPhee, treasurer, farms in Alexandria; David McPhee of Ottawa is a student at Kemptville Agricultural School; Gary Cooper of Ottawa works in the seed department at the experimental Farm; Brian McLean of Ottawa; Jackie Smith bass player, is with the department of Highways and hails from Greenfield, Ont.; Lucien Ranger of Cornwall; and Rev. Bruce Ross, United Church Minister of Cardinal and Johnstown.

This group recently performed at the Art Centre in Ottawa. Anyone wishing to hear some real Scottish music is cordially invited to attend the church service at 11 a.m. on Sunday, April 27th. Following the service the group will entertain in the church hall.

New regulations planned concerning PCB material

The provincial Ministry of the Environment has announced new regulations concerning the handling of PCB material which should make citizens' groups breath a little easier.

Environment Minister Jim Bradley has said that the regulations pertaining to the use of mobile facilities for the destruction of PCBs provide a procedure for destruction technologies to be approved. Those who wish to destroy PCB waste would also have to seek MOE approval.

The regulations enable PCBs to be destroyed in two different ways. Class one mobile incinerators can be used to destroy high-level PCB wastes, while the class two system provides for the chemical destruction of low-level PCB waste and recovery and re-use of the mineral oil which contained them.

This would be the case with the PCB material which is now stored at the Caldwell plant in Iroquois.

The Ministry has also announced a program whereby householders can get rid of small quantities of hazardous waste such as garden pesticides, weed-killers, aerosols, solvents, outdated pharmaceutical products, and paint.

MOE had sponsored a "Domestic Special Waste Day" in Waterloo, and are now prepared to mount a public awareness campaign, with funds and technical assistance. Information is available from MOE which will explain acceptable disposal techniques, and the ways to cut down the production of wastes.

Winchester District Memorial Hospital regular meeting held

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital was held on Tuesday, March 25, 1986 in the Board room at the hospital.

Mrs. C. Manley, co-ordinator for this project, reported to the Board that the second educational seminar conducted by staff members from the Queensway Carleton Hospital in Nepean, Ontario is to be held on Thursday, April 24, 1986. One more seminar is to be held after that and it is hoped that all department heads will then be in a position to finalize their respective mission statements and implement their program in their departments.

Mr. David Cull and Mr. J.G. O'Groman reported that a further meeting with officials of I.S.T. Health Comp. Inc., had been held on Thursday, March 20, 1986, during which much valuable information had been received and discussed with reference to that company's proposals for computerization of our hospital.

It was further reported that visits would now be made shortly to area hospitals who are working with the I.S.T. Health Comp. system, after which final proposals will then be made to the Board. Competitive quotations, although difficult to obtain, will also be secured to further assist committees and the Board in the selection of the most economical and efficient system.

Mrs. C. Manley reported that a cheque for $3,000.00 had been received to cover the cost of the proposed employment equity survey, which is to be held this year at our hospital. E.E.O. Associates of Ottawa, Ontario were selected by management for this purpose and the work should get underway within the next few months.

The Executive Director informed the Board that he had asked the Management consultant firm of Peat Marwick & Partners of Toronto, Ontario to submit a quotation for the preparation of Terms of Reference for the eventual preparation of a master program and masterplan for the hospital.

The Board then reviewed this proposal in detail, after which it was moved by Mr. James Alexander, seconded by Mr. William Stewart and passed that the quotation received from this firm in the amount of $3000.00 be accepted and that the Executive Director be authorized to make all arrangements necessary for an early start of this project.

Among the correspondence was a thank you letter from the Canadian Red Cross addressed to the Hospital Auxiliary for the well organized and well attended blooddonor clinics, which are being held at the hospital three times per year.

A letter from the Ontario Hospital Association providing the hospital with details of the O.H.A. submission to the Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations' Task Force on Insurance.

A letter from Mr. F.M. Cass, Q.C. of Workman/Cass, Barristers and Solicitors, in which Mr. Cass provided the hospital with details of a bequest of $5000.00 in favour of the hospital under the will of the late Mrs. Helen Madge Allison. The hospital has already received this cheque.

Mrs. Rose Campbell, President of the Auxiliary gave a (written) report of the activities of the auxiliary since the last Board Meeting. This report showed that the Blue Cross travel booklets were being updated, that several Auxiliary members would be attending the Region No. 9 Hospital Auxiliaries' spring conference in Hawkesburg, Ontario on April 9, 1986 and that two members of the Sunshine Circle would be attending a seminar in Ottawa, Ontario on geriatric care.

The report further showed that the Gift Shoppe continued to be a profitable venture, that the Annual Dessert and Card Party is to be held at the hospital on April 15, 1986 and that Mrs. Lee Wenz would be the new (interim) Auxiliary Treasurer replacing Mrs. Anne Freeland, who is retiring after 4 years.

Mrs. Campbell then reported that the Auxiliary had recently approved several adjustments to its Constitution and By-Laws, such as changes to the Gift Shoppe clauses, the deletion of the Tuck Cart, the section dealing with expense accounts and especially the change in definition of items of equipment, which would be eligible for payment from the In-Memoriam Fund.

Staffing changes included hiring of Mildred Murray, R.N.A. and Sheila Howat, Director of Dietetics. Staff Awards: Edward Crump, Dietary Department, 10 year pin (Feb. 1, 76); Betty Barkley, Housekeeping Department, 25 years (Feb. 1, 61.

Mr. Stel also reported that receipts for both the I.P. and O.P. fundraising project had totalled $5670.00 and $8320.50 respectively, for a total of $13,990.50 for the period January 1, 1986 to March 25, 1986.

The Executive Director advised the Board that the Frank Cowan Company, the hospital's insurance broker had forwarded its account for the 1986 renewal of the hospital's various insurance policies, showing an approximate 150½ increase in fees ($31,866.00 as compared with $12,720.00 for 1985), with the major portion of this fee (2/3rds) pertaining to the hospital's liability insurance, which was also reduced by the company to $7M from the present 10M. Although this coverage is still adequate, further review of the situation will be necessary and this report will be further reviewed by both Management and Finance Committees and the Frank Cowan Co. itself in an effort to arrive at the best solution to this problem for our hospital.

All necessary budget appeals now have been made and there is some indication that the Ministry of Health is reviewing our hospital's particular budget problem, which is mainly caused by higher (major) maintenance costs, higher laboratory referral out costs and higher nursing care costs caused by the considerable need for more intensive nursing care required by the large number of elderly patients now being cared for at our hospital, both in terms of staffing and medical supplies.

The hospital's capital fund total stands at $209,045.00, at least 50½ of which will shortly be needed to pay for the new ultrasound equipment.

Mr. O'Gorman also stated that year-end inventory adjustments would likely have considerable bearing on the hospital's final year-end deficit which is presently being projected to be $259,016.00 (before building depreciation).

The Secretary also informed the Board that the Annual Meeting of the Hospital Corporation would be held on either June 3, 1986 or June 10, 1986 at 2000 hours in the Main Conference Room, most likely on June 3, 1986, depending on auditing time needs.

Finally, it was moved by Mrs. Joan Farlinger, seconded by Mrs. Rose Campbell and passed that a letter of congratulations be sent to Mrs. Louise Sloan on her election as President of the Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario for 1986. Mrs. Sloan is a Past-President of our Auxiliary, a past Member of the Board and a past-Chairman of the hospital's Public Relations Committee. Among other things, Mrs. Sloan was very instrumental in the initial establishment of the Gift Shoppe.

Dundas farm news

by R.A. Humphries

Spring weather has arrived and the planting season will soon be underway. Planting is a very hectic time for farmers and for farm suppliers. Farm safety should be a priority consideration so that accidents and mistakes can be avoided.

At several farm meetings this winter, presentations were made on Ontario's Spills Bill which became law in November 1985. The Spills Bill is rather frightening in its scope and it alone can cause people to act in a safer manner. It should be pointed out that the normal use of herbicides and other pesticides are excluded from the Bill along with the disposal of animal wastes in accordance normal farming practices.

The Ministry provides two excellent publications to assist with crop management decision making. The 1986 Field Crop Recommendations provides up to date information on varieties, seeding rates, fertilizers and disease/insect control. The 1986 Guide to Chemical Weed Control contains the latest information on herbicides and their safe use on the farm. Several chemical companies are offering Pesticide Safety Kits this year. It might be a good idea to have one on hand for this spring's spraying.

Our office usually receives a number of calls in the spring about custom farm rates for tillage and spraying. These rates are published in a book called "A Survey of Custom Farm Work Rates Charged in Ontario in 1985". The figures are one year old but can provide a useful guide in discussions with a custom operator.

Another question that is often asked is "what is a fair rental rate for land?" The rate is always determined by supply and demand. If crop prices are optimistic then the demand for rented land will increase. At present the price outlook is pessimistic so rental rates will probably be lower. One of the Ministry's Farm Business Advisors came up with a formula based on the land's ability to produce a crop. If the land is capable of producing 95 bushes of corn per acre, the landlord's share would be 21 per cent or 20 bus/acre. A more common thumb rule in our area is a flat percent of current market value. If land is valued at $700 per acre and an 8 per cent rate is applied the annual rent would be $56 per acre.

The Ministry will be offering the Agricrew and Junior Agriculturalist Programmes again in 1986. This summer's coordinator will be Hugh O'Neill from Oxford Mills. Hugh will be available for calls on May 5.

We are also pleased to welcome back Dan Carlow the R.O.S. Specialist for Grenville-Dundas. Dan was on special assignment to the Guelph Agriculture Centre for the past seven months.

The Junior Farmers are interested in promoting the Century Farm Signs. If you have one now that is rusty or broken it can be replaced for $10.00. If your family farm has just become eligible for a sign the cost will be $15.00. More information is available from Tony Vanderlaan, 774-5319.

There have been two deadline extensions for beef and pork producers. The Application deadline for slaughter cattle and hog payments under the 1985 Stabilization Program has been extended to April 30, 1986.

Pork producers have until May 15, 1986 to enrol on the National Tri-Partite Hog Stabilization Plan. This is a voluntary plan and OPPMB members will be sent forms directly from the Board.

Computers come to Seaway

It was a long time coming, but the computers have arrived.

"The Apple Orchard", as it has come to be known consists of 15 Apple computers. Plans have been underway for some time, but it was not until recently that the provincial government came up with the necessary funds.

The Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, in one of the last grants issued, provided the funds for the purchase of the 15 computers, on the condition that they would be available to elementary students. The programme will also be geared toward the general public, with the computer centre housed in the Seaway District High School, in Iroquois.

As part of the on-going co-operative education program, students will help to run the program, and receive credits for the work they do. People will be able to come in, learn how to operate the computers and run their own program on them
