Dun. entries take many prizes at Ottawa Winter Fair

Dundas dairy cattle and swine brought home many prizes from the recent Ottawa Winter Fair.

Reserve Grand Champion Holstein cow was the award received by Ralph J. Fawcett on the cow Maggie Pabst Walker. This cow is an outstanding individual for both type and production, in that, she is graded Excellent and has produced over 25,000 lbs. of milk in one lactation. This cow also stood third in the best udder class.

The first prize two year old in milk was exhibited by Basil Dawley, Winchester. This extremely dairy female won in a class of more than thirty quality entries.

Atotal of 318 Holsteins were shown before Judge J. M. Fraser of Streetsville, Ontario. Other Dundas exhibitors were Lorne Henderson, Brinston; Johannes Byvelds and Sons, Williamsburg; Allison Fawcett, Winchester; Hugh Blaine, Mountain; J. Dwight Dawley, Winchester From these exhibitors a strong county herd was selected to represent the Dundas Holstein Breeders Club. They were beaten, however, by the entries of Glengarry and Renfrew Counties and had to be content with third prize in the class of 11 entries.

Wm. McRoberts and Son was the County's only Ayrshire exhibitor. This herd brought home many prizes including the Reserve Grand Champion Bull on Bridgeholm Royal Victor. They also received first prize on their mature cow dry as well as many other second and third prize ribbons in other classes.

The Guernsey breed was well represented by the herds of Malcolm MacGregor, Crysler and Lloyd Walker, Winchester Spgs.

The MacGregor herd won the coveted Premier Breeder award and did so on the basis of six first prizes and 12 second prize awards. Rated as one of the top herds of Guernseys in Eastern Ontario, the winning of the breeder award has become a habit for the MacGregor herd.

Lloyd Walker also had a fine exhibit at the Show and exhibited the Junior Champion female.

In Yorkshire swine classes, Morton Stobo, Winchester, had both Grand Champion Awards as well as Junior Champion Sow. In all the herd won seven first prize awards. This herd is always brought out in excellent condition for the Show and much of the credit here goes to Mr Thomas Stobo, father of Morton, who plays an important part in the care and feeding of the show herd.

The 4-H Championship Show had 575 boys and girls exhibiting their calves. Dundas County was represented by 27 4-H Club Exhibitors. Ruth Walker received the Championship award on her Guernsey calf and the Williamsburg Club had the reserve Champion junior group of three calves. Ruth also represented the County in the Championship Showman Class and was a strong contender in this event.

Eight out of fiteen Holstein calves were in the first prize group and the South Mountain and Brinston Club were first in their division for a group of three calves. Exhibitors were Gordon Empey, Francis Henderson and Garry Smail.

Five Ayrshire calves and three Jerseys rounded out this County exhibit.

E. K. Pearson, Agricultural Representative for Dundas was Chairman of the Junior Agricultural Committee and in charge of the 4-H Show.

This 4-H Show is the largest in Canada. The Club members receive free transportation for their calves. They also receive free lodging and meals for the two days of the Show.

The grand finale of this mammoth 4-H Show is the trophy presentation and the parade of 200 boys and girls and their calves at the evening horse show.

The chemical company makes and sells agricultural fungicides, various acrylic emulsions for the paint, textile, leather, paper coating and general coating industry. They also are large suppliers of epoxy plastizers for the plastic industry.

Construction is now under way of a general purpose services and warehouse building, 200 feet by 60 feet. Local employment during construction is estimated at about 20 men. C. M. Newman Construction Co., Ltd., Toronto are the general contractors.

Rohm and Haas Co. has its headquarters at West Hill, near Toronto.

Chesterville council meets

Village councillors met last week for November council meeting with not too much on the agenda. Of pressing importance was the reconstruction of Mary Street and its progress. Street commissioners reported preliminary work just about done and the heavy grading about to start.

Several reports were on hand about anticipated spring floods on the street because of the changed grades. Council took a "wait and see' attitude. It was pointed out the Department of Highways was overseeing the job with an engineer on hand at all times.

Colin Sizer, water system maintenance engineer reported a steady increase in subscribers. There are now 255 on the list and more in sight. Sizer also reported an involuntary second bath Sunday morning. He had readied up for church, and had gone to check the No. 1 pump house. When he opened the door water met him full force from a sticking air relief valve. It was finally fixed after a damp approach to the trouble.

One of the knottiest problems before council in both water service and hydro service had to do with overdue bills. Service accounts in arrears were discussed and the serviceman was ordered to make it quite plain to the subscribers council's attitude. The word is to cut off the service if in lengthy arrears. It was also noted out loud the attitude is an official one. Local village employees only carry out the directives from the reeve and councillors.

It was decided to hold nomination night now on a Thursday, instead of the usual Friday night. This was done to accommodate many of the businessmen of the town who had to stay away from the meetings because of store opening.

After setting up polling booths, DRO's and clerks in case of an election.

The small spirits of Hallowe'en had an early start last Thursday. Over at Chesterville Public School nearly all the rooms were represented in a fine big party, dress-up type. The sprites ranged from scary skeletons to lovely brides, small size, to Mexican models right from the land of the bull. Here they are, lined up on the black-top at the new school, thanks to the shepserding of prin- thanks to the shepherding of prin- cheerful staff.—Record Photo.

The problems presented by automation are so complex that it is not likely that any solution will be arrived at without careful study. The conferences are in effect, just such a study. Actually, Indian Summer can come any time from mid-September till early December , any time after first hard frost and before the onset of winter. It can come twice in a season, even three times now and then. If there is a spell of raw, cold weather between two intervals of Indian Summer, that is Squaw Winter. The Indians dirn't use that name either; nobody knows where it came from.

It required, says the St. Thomas Times-Journal, a good deal of moral courage for a man of 36 to renounce his driving privilege for life, and it is not likely many others will follow his example. There are many in this country who should do so; if not for all time, for a time specified by themselves. It would be better for drivers to summon up courage to discipline themselves than have a magistrate do it for them.

His Imperial Majesty, Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, has visited Canada recently. His country, lying south of Egypt, and bordering Sudan, has a history going back 3,000 years. The 20 millions of people are ruled by a man of Christian faith and ourage.

The Emperor has done everything possible to encourage missionary work. The new Amharic Bible, in the official language of Ethiopia, was recently honoured n a Bible Exhibition in Addis Ababa. H.I.M. Haile Selassie was presented with a copy of the Amharic St. John's Gospel at the time. The new Bibles were printed on the Emperor's own press in Addis Ababa.

The circulation of the Christian Scriptures has increased remarkably in recent years. A record circulation of 40,000 was obtained in 1962, states the Bible Society's Popular Report, in addition to nearly a quarter of a million Amharic Gospel portions provided for a special missionary campaign.

The encouragement of the Emperor H.I.M. Haile Selassie, in the matter of having and reading the Christian Scriptures is a boon to the wider use of God's Word in Ethiopia.

Your Federal Report

by Mrs Jean Casselman, M.P.

For many years Canadian politics has been hoping for another Quebec Leader of wisdom, strength and stability. The difficult, subtle relationship between our two major races and cultures has existed most amicably when we had such leaders. Laurier, Cartier, Lapointe, St. Laurent, were all French Canadians of broad education and humanity, understanding the emotions of French Caanda and articulate enough to interpret them to the English part of Canada they loved.

During a period devoid of such leadership we have seen the emotions of French Canada rising to a dangerous explosive height. Instead of being able to understand or improve the situation, English Canada has risen to comparative heights of anger and intolerance. Instead of a leader of needed sature we have witnessed the appearance of many hot-headed opportunists, biased, prejudiced and quick of tongue.

In the last week of October, a hero seemed to be emerging. The Hon. Leon Balcer came to the House of Commons having served with distinction in Canada's Navy all through the Second World War. Gradually over the years he became known as a true Conservative, by background, character and inclination. Probably because of his conservative character he became known also as one of the least personally ambitious. His unusual charm and elegant manners went mostly unnoticed except amongst his close associates. Here he was deeply appreciated as a sterling character and a delightful personality. He worked hard and steadily for the Conservative Party before 1957 and as Solicitor General and Minister of Transport from 1958-1962. He was a reliable and ourable Member of the Conservative Cabinet.

Leon Balcer proved to be a thorough gentleman by the recognized criterion of being slow to take offence and slow to give offence. He was ready to come to the aid of his troubled province and his troubled country with one of the most statesmanlike speeches heard in Canada's House of Commons for many years.

It has been widely publicized in most of Canada's daily newspapers, but bears repeating:

"We have not been elected to bisect the country, but rather to consolidate and favour mutual understanding not only between the two great races which form it, but also between the different provinces." . . . "I am not here to legislate only in matters of interest to my province, I am here to take an interest in the affairs of the whole country. I know for a fact that the province of Quebec will be strong and prosperous inasmuch as the whole of Canada is strong and prosperous, and vice versa. I am here to lend a hand to all members, be they French-speaking or English-speaking, who want to work for the good of our country. Indeed, such are the basic principles of the Conservative Party which led to the birth of Confederation as we know it today."

WHEAT EXPORTS SETS ALL-TIME RECORD

The signing of the Canadian U.S.S.R. wheat agreement on September 16, has ensured an all-time record for wheat exports, to match the near-record crop produced this year. The Hon. Mitchell Sharp, Minister of Trade and Commerce, points out that Canada's total export sales of wheat will be in excess of 550 million bushels during the present crop year. For the first time in eleven years, wheat is once again Canada's number one export commodity.

These enormous sales will represent foreign exchange earnings of over $1 billion between now and next July 31. These sales are of such a magnitude that they may well wipe out Canada's current account deficit this year for the first time in more than a decade.

Along with its beneficial effect on the economy, the Russian wheat deal has faced Canadians with a challenge, the challenge of carrying out the largest single movement of goods ever undertaken in this country.

The estimated 550 million bushels of export wheat represents a movement 35% greater than the previous all-time high and some 70% greater than the five year average 1958-59 to 1962-63. Speaking at a meeting of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union in Moose Jaw following the Russian sale, Mr Sharp gave some indication of the size of the job ahead when he pointed out that if the extra railway boxcars required to move the 239 million bushels of Russian wheat were coupled together they would form a train more than one thousand miles long. In addition handling facilities and storage space must be geared up quickly for the extra 11 million cubic yards of grain that will be moving out of Canadian ports this year. For the first time in history, commented Mr Sharp, the limiting factor is neither supply nor demand — it is transportation and handling capacity.

The Russians too have their work cut out for them. More than 600 shiploads, averaging 10,000 tons, will be required to complete the movement of wheat and flour.

Nor are they wasting time in getting started. On September 26 just ten days after the contract was signed, the first Russian freighter had loaded in Montreal and was heading East with 10 thousand tons of Canadian wheat aboard. The following day two more freighters arrived, the forerunners of a veritable armada of fifty ships reported heading for our shores.

In Canada, the benefits of the enormous transaction will reverberate through the entire economy. The Western farmer will, of course, benefit most directly. In his Moose Jaw address, Mr Sharp estimated that the average wheat producer would achieve an added income of $2,000 during the current crop year. This additional cash income will in turn mean a great boost for manufacturers and retailers in the West and, indeed, throughout Canada.

The flour milling industry, which has been operating far below capactiy, will be all-out to handle the 575 thousand tons of wheat flour included in the agreement, thus increasing activity and employment in this industry. The railways will, of course require all available men and equipment to facilitate this record movement, and terminal elevators and ports, both East and West will be working at full capacity until next summer.

Along with benefits come responsibilities, and Mr Sharp has called for the co-operation of all concerned to make a success of this great undertaking.

From the wheat producers he has asked for as prompt delivery as possible for their wheat to country elavators. He has asked their understanding if, of necessity, wheat quotas do not open up evenly throughout the West.

From the railways, the port authorities, the grain exporting firms and labour, he has called for a maximum effort to facilitate the "smooth and efficient movement of grain from country elavators to ocean going vessels."

Given a reasonable break in the weather, and the co-operation of all concerned, Canadians by next July 31 will be able to look back with satisfaction on the most spectacular export venture in the country's history.

CONTACT LENSES FOR CHICKENS

A leading British veterinary surgeon endorses rose-tinted contact lenses for chickens.

"Chickens wearing rose tinted contact lenses are less flighty, more docile and much better behaved than those without them," said Dr W. P. Blount.

He went further and asked:

"If the tranquillizing effect of the lenses works on nearly tame farmyard hens, why not apply the principle to other farm stock, like a dangerous bull?"

To prove his point he produced a batch of tranquil hens gazing placidly at the world through their rose-tinted lenses.

Ontario Legislature Report

Hon. F. M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

The first special session of the 27th Ontario Legislature was opened by the Lieutenant Governor, the Honourable Earl Rowe, Tuesday, October 29. The Government of Premier John Robarts, of course, had been returned with a large majority just one month previously in an election which accomplished the personal defeat of the Provincial Liberal Leader and a reduction in the number of Liberal Members in the Legislature.

The session was called to enact legislation to enable municipalities to participate in the Federal Government's Municipal Loan Fund and, of course, could have been confined to this one matter. However, Premier Robarts in his opening remarks indicated that he, like former Premier Frost, did not ever wish to restrict public debate on matters of importance. As a result, there was a day of speeches by the Leaders and Members of both Opposition Parties ranging over the whole area of the Legislature's powers and duties. In particular the matter of a fall session of the Legislature was exhaustively debated. The Premier pointed out that government administration just couldn't cope effectively with the split session of the past three years and that he intended to call the Legislature into session early in the new year and there would be more extra sitting days in January than would be lost by not having a fall session.

The Act to Assist Municipalities to Finance Capital Works finally was duly passed and received Royal Assent. Our Ontario municipalities are now, therefore, able to participate through the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs in the Federal scheme.

At the opening of the 27th Legislature a new Speaker was elected. All of us in Eastern Ontario, I am sure, are pleased and proud to know that Donald H. Morrow, a native of Winchester Springs in Dundas County, and Member for Ottawa-West, was the unanimous choice. The Hon. Don has already demonstrated, during the short special session, that he will be one of the outstanding occupants of the chair of Mr Speaker.

When the House reconvenes in January it is my hope to bring you again, by courtesy of the Editor, a short weekly report of events at Queen's Park.

AIRBORNE COWBOY

Jim Todd is a steward working for an airline—not a very strange occupation until one considers his passengers.

For Todd is the world's No. 1 airborne cowboy. His official title is chief animal steward for KLM Royal Dutch Airlines.

He is head of a specially trained crew that will fly anywhere in the world at any time, looking after animals in flight.

Other airlines move animals, but only KLM hires special men who must take a course at the Veterinary University at Utrecht, Holland, before they join the crew.

Todd, a Briton living in Holland, has moved lions from Africa and elephants from India. The most troublesome animal, he says, is the jittery thoroughbred racehorse which cannot be flown by jet because of the rapid acceleration.

He was in Vancouver recently to take over a herd of Holstein and Hereford cattle, part of which came from Hay Farm, Ontario, being flown to Japan.

The 29,000-pound cargo was valued at $100,000.

Previously he had taken cattle from New York to Milan, Italy, and his next job was cattle from Toronto to Rome.

SYSTEMICS FOR WARBLE CONTROL

Autumn is warble-control time. Beef, dairy heifers and bulls can be protected from warble grubs if they are treated in time. Treatment should take place sometime from September 1 to November 30 if you are using one of the new "pour-ons."

The systemic "pour-ons" appear to give reasonable control according to experiments at the O.A.C., Guelph. Where untreated steers had more than a dozen grubs each, treated steers only showed two or three when an organophosphate "pour-on" was applied.

Co-Ral and Ruelene are the comparatively new insecticides which may be poured or sprayed on the animals.

When applying these chemicals, it is important to pay particular attention to the time of application and the proper dosage as suggested by the manufacturer.

Newington U. C. W. holds Thankoffering

The Autumn Thankoffering meeting of Newington U.C.W. was held recently in the church hall. Mrs Boal presided.

The meeting was opened by all repeating the U.C.W. "Purpose" in unison. Twenty-two members answered roll call. Minutes were read by Mrs Pettit and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs Evans.

Mrs Gordon Ross read the report of the social committee, naming conveners and giving plans for the Noel tea and bazaar to be held November 20. Mrs Cass, wife of the Hon. F. M. Cass, Attorney General of Ontario, will officially open the bazaar. A special feature will be the children's shopping centre, as well as the usual apron, fancy work, novelty and home baking tables. The Junior Choir will sell homemade candy.

The group will cater for the Ayrshire and Jersey Breeders' banquets.

Mrs Russell Presley led the worship service, the worship centre being attractively set up in keeping with the Thanksgiving theme. She was assisted by Mrs E. Presley. Mrs Ross was pianist.

Lunch was served and a social time enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

FEEDING BEER TO BEEF CATTLE

How much beer are you feeding your cattle these days? If you want to keep up with the latest trend in cattle feeding, the Meat Packers Council of Canada suggests you take the first plane over to Japan and observe the fine art of raising beef cattle the way the Japanese do it.

Not all the cattle in Japan are permitted to indulge in a pint of ale after each meal. It's a privilege reserved for just certain cattle being raised to produce a special kind of beef, known as Kobe beef.

This particular beef comes from the native black cattle of Japan and to show how special they really are, each Japanese farmer lets one or two selected animals live right in the house with him.

Naturally, the critter that's fortunate enough to receive this most honourable position in the Japanese household, isn't very likely to suspect what his ultimate fate is going to be. So he quickly settles down to a life of complete luxury and meticulous pampering in the privacy of his own personal living quarters. The standard ration consists of a warmed beer mash, chopped hay, and barley sweetened with molasses.

In addition to being fed this diet, by hand, every time he can be persuaded to open his mouth, the lucky bovine receives a daily massage and rubdown to help make the final product, Kobe beef, as tender as possible.

The beef itself is very fat. The Japanese slice it razor thin and use it for making Suki Yaki. The usual custom is for the beef slices to be cooked in a tiny iron pot with a few vegetables such as radish and cabbage leaf to provide moisture, and also some oil. When the cooking is done, you seize the beef with your chopsticks, dip it into a freshly beaten egg in a saucer, and pop the whole thing into your mouth.

Anybody that has tried Kobe beef says it's delicious. And well it should be, because an introductory shipment of Kobe beef is coming into North America sometime this fall, and the probable selling price is expected to run somewhere between $3-$8 per pound.

Paper bills cost the U.S. treasury about one cent each to produce.

Colquhoun Co-ordinates hold fifth meeting

The fifth meeting of the Colquhoun Co-ordinates was held at the home of Cheryl Dennison.

The meeting was opened with the 4-H pledge and motto, followed by the minutes of the last meeting. The roll call was answered by eight members.

Patterns were then traced around and a sample of stay-stitching done for the record books.

PAINT, A PROTECTOR

Paint plays one of the most important roles in protecting your house and increasing its life span. All woodwork exposed to the elements should be painted or otherwise refreshed from time to time.

Metal work also must be protected by paint or some other finish. Paint, even of the higher quality, will not last forever. There is no exact schedule that can be given for painting a house.

It may be necessary to repaint every two years or it may last as long as four or five years.

Climate, the quality of the paint, and the species of wood are factors determining how long a paint job will last.

But probably the most important item is how well the surface is cleaned before the paint is applied. Compared to the original investment the cost of painting is small and it will pay off in retaining the beauty and life of your home.

Public relations topic Chesterville W. I. meet

Public Relations was the topic for study at the October meeting of Chesterville W.I. which was held Tuesday, the 29th, in the Library of the Community Hall.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs George Merkley, president, assisted by Mrs Orma McElheran, secretary. Mrs Dalton Docksteader, treasurer, reported a bank balance of over $500, and Mrs George Johnston, card secretary, reported a number of sympathy, baby and get-well cards sent since the September meeting.

Mrs Edwin Forward and Mrs Dora Styles agreed to attend the leaders course in block printing to be held in Winchester November 26 and 27. Mrs Myles Merkley is to be chairman of the March of Dimes committee and will choose others to work with her.

Mrs Foster Bowman gave an interesting and informative report of the area convention held recently at the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa.

Mrs Myles Merkley made a motion that a wreath be purchased for Remembrance Day and it was seconded by Mrs John Sutherland.

Mrs Foster Bowman directed a panel discussion on Public Relations. Panel members were Mrs Dalton Docksteader, Mrs Myles Merkley and Mrs John Sutherland. This was followed by a general discussion with a goodly number taking part.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close after which Mrs Bowman and her committee served a delicious lunch.

Kenneth Stephenson dies in hospital following accident

Resulting from a car-truck crash near Avonmore last Tuesday afternoon which had earlier claimed one life, Kenneth Henry Walton Stephenson, 44, of R.R. 2, Newington, succumbed to injuries in Winchester and District Memorial Hospital Thursday.

Mr Stephenson, a well-known district farmer who lived about four miles southwest of Avonmore, passed away while undergoing surgery on his hip which had been crushed in the accident. He had also suffered severe injuries to his chest.

Rolland Bourgeois, 49, of St. Albert, a passenger in the car which met in head-on collision with Mr Stephenson's truck on the Boundary Road four miles northwest of Avonmore, died en route by ambulance to Cornwall General Hospital. A son, Gilles Bourgeois, suffered minor injuries in the crash and was treated at Cornwall General Hospital.

Mr Stephenson was born at Avonmore on December 7, 1918, a son of the late Henry Stephenson and Mrs Stephenson, the former Jennie Irene Quinn. He attended school at S.S. No. 13, Roxborough.

He spent the greater part of his life in the Avonmore district. From 1948 to 1953 he worked in a mine near Sudbury.

On February 29, 1948, he married Amy Plumadore who survives. In addition there are his mother and five children: Janet, 13; Milton, 12; Gary, 9; Wayne, 8, and Lyle, 5; two sisters, Mrs Floyd (Essie- Bole, Ottawa, and Miss Malinda Stephenson, Hemingford, Que. A son, George, died at the age of five months, eleven days.

The body rested at the W. G. Brownlee Funeral Home, Finch, where the funeral service was held on Saturday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The service was conducted by Mr James Booker, pastor of Bethany Chapel, Winchester.

Interment was made in Finch Cemetery.

ARTIST WORKS IN WELDER'S MASK

Krystyna Sadowska is an artist who works in a welder's mask and carries a torch for steel fashioned into larger than life sculptures.

And perhaps her severest critic is her welding teacher who says the joints she welds are messy.

Mrs Sadowska is a native of Poland who for years executed tapestries and ceramic figures, and only recently became convinced that her talents were for metal sculpture.

„I do everything the hard way," she says. "Years ago my teacher in England told me: 'You would have a much better feeling for metal than for clay; I will organize classes for you in metal sculpture.' But I refused. I have so many techniques, I thought I'd better stay with ceramics.

"Now, of course, I've found that teacher was right. Clay means small-size sculpture. Metal has no limits. She knew I am for larger rather than small things."

Although she had to stop welding while finishing a commission for four batik hangings for the new Winnipeg airport, her studio is becoming more crowded with welded sculptures and, she says, "I am nearly ready for an exhibition."

Mrs Sadowska escaped to England after Hitler's attack on Poland and spent the Second World War years there before going to Brazil with her late husband Konrad.

The Canadian deputy trade commissioner saw her tapestry and invited the couple to come to Canada. They came, in 1949, to teach handicrafts in Halifax for the Nova Scotia government.

Mrs Sadowska resigned to go to Montreal to exhibit and in 1953 she and her husband, a ceramics artist, moved to Toronto where they both lectured at the Ontario College of Art.

When she decided to turn to metal sculpture, she took lessons from a welder who worked in a furniture factory next door to her studio.

As an artist, she had used the molten metal to give surface texture and suggest hair and features. The welder saw only faulty joints.

However, when the six-foot sculpture, Christ on the Cross, was shown at an art show last winter heturned up with his wife and was proud of the recognition the piece received. It later went to the spring show of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

GUM DISEASES NEED EMPHASIS

A dental scientist says too much emphasis is being placed on tooth decay and not enough on gum diseases, which, he said, cause the greatest tooth loss in adults.

Dr Henry W. Scherp, Bethesda, Md., said there is little recognition of the importance of oral hygiene in preventing peridontal (gum) diseases.

In a paper presented to the annual meeting of the American Dental Association at Atlantic City, he said studies showed that "the severity of periodontitis increased progressively with age, especially after 25 years."

FLASH SYSTEM TO PRODUCE ELECTRICITY

Engineers at a mineral bath resort on New Zealand's North Island have succeeded for the first time in using the "flash" system to produce electricity from geo-thermal steam.

They claim this is the first time it has ever been done anywhere in the world.

With the "flash" system, power is harnessed from "waste water." The new plant, now working 24 hours a day, makes use of hot water which previously escaped from the wellheads of the bores as steam.

Instead of being released into the atmosphere, the steam now is piped under high pressure into "flash" tanks. The pressure is then reduced sharply and the steam piped into turbines.

This will mean a cut in the cost of electricity supplied to local consumers because it provides more power without any additional bores being drilled. It has been estimated that by using this system production in the plant could be increased by 60 per cent, but experts say this would not be economical.

Wairakei, scene of the project, was a tourist attraction long before anyone thought of harnessing its thermal activity for use in electricity. Towards the end of the last century a far-sighted resident set up a hotel which did a good business catering for those anxious to try the reputed curative hot mineral baths.

He also catered for visitors who wanted to see the geysers, multi-coloured rock terraces, rapids, waterfalls and sulphur craters.

One of the most spectacular sights is the Karapiti blow-hole, a powerful jet of steam erupting at continuous violent pressure.

Duckweed is the common name for the plant that forms a green coating on stagnant ponds and ditches.

POLISH AUTHOR LIKES CANADA

Tomasz Wydzga loves the life here in his adopted country and writes skilfully about it. But Canadian readers have never seen his work.

Recognized in Poland as a successful author—the first printing of his first book sold out there—he is known here only as a hospital orderly, previously a farm worker in Manitoba and as a lumberjack in Northern Ontario.

He records in his native Polish impressions and observations about Canada, concentrating on the way of life in the north, scenic description and anecdotes about wildlife.

"I love Canada," he says, "and I like to tell people about it. I cannot speak well in English but I can write in Polish."

He has written a second book, about hunting and outdoorsmanship in British Columbia, and is awaiting word about it from his Polish publisher.

Mr Wydzga came to Canada penniless following the Second World War after spending five years in German prison camps.

He had been a cavalry officer and before the war bred horses for racing and the army.

He says he finds so much to fascinate him here that "I have never bothered to go to the United States, even for a visit."

Friends and relatives from Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall, Huntsville, Belleville, Merrickville and Massena as well as those from the surrounding community attended the funeral.

Mrs L. M. Castleman

The funeral of Mrs Lilly Maude Castleman was held at Trinity Anglican Church on Monday. Archdeacon W. D. McL. Christie conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Peter Barkway.

Burial was made in Woodlawn cemetery.

Pall bearers were Cecil Gow, Thomas Armstrong, Rudi Gunther and Leonard, Charles W. and William Brydges.

Mrs Castleman leaves one brother, Charles Brydges, of Crysler, and several nieces and nephews. Her husband John Castleman predeceased her.

Friends and relatives from Crysler, Cornwall and Dutton Ont., attended the funeral.

UNDERWATER LUMBERJACKS SALVAGE LOGS

Along the banks of the Bonnechere River the lumberjacks never yell "timber!"

It's not easy to yell anything when your face is covered by a scuba diver's mask.

And there wouldn't be any point to it, anyway, because the timber is being brought up from the bottom of the river.

The Bonnechere, which flows into the Ottawa River 40 miles west of Ottawa, has since 1962 been the scene of a salvage operation carried on by Jim Vollbrecht and Bert Jolly.

Partners in a firm called Commercial Divers Underwater Salvage Company, they're reaping a harvest left from the boisterous 19th century logging boom.

Last year they set up a mill near Round Lake and have worked their way 10 miles upstream. By next year, when they have cleaned out the river, they will have salvaged more than 1,000,000 board feet of white pine and hemlock.

In an 82-foot-deep section of the river where the salvage team was operating this summer there were logs lying 30 feet deep in the mud of an underwater cavity.

The firm efploys 26 men, four of them divers, and uses a winch, a 16-foot turbocraft boat and scuba diving equipment.

"We work from ice to ice—started April 27 this year in a blizzard," they said. "Last fall we would walk out on the ice until the ice broke, then go in. We aren'e going to do that again."

The winch, fitted to the back of a truck, is placed in postion at the side of the river and the boat takes the cable and diver across. Working with a light, the diver carries the cable to the river bottom and puts a half hitch around each log.

Extreme care must be taken for logs lie yedged in the sides of the underwater cavity and it doesn't take much to start a slide.

As many as 55 logs are hitched at once. The diver must be up and out of the water before the winch goes into action. Having once had 35 logs dragged over his back, Jim Vollbrecht makes this a strict rule.

A shore crew unhitches the logs while the diver rests before going down again. Then another winch moves the logs to an orderly pile where trucks pick them up and haul them along the river road to the mill.

The logs dry about 20 per cent faster than timber cut from the bush, and some are virgin timber, entirely free from knots.

Unit 4, Ingleside U.C.W. holds meeting at Brownell home

Mrs Wm. Brownell and Mrs Robert Brownell entertained the members of Unit 4 of the U.C.W. at Ingleside on Thursday evening.

Mrs M. Countryman opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving poem. Mrs George Ferguson was in charge of the worship service.

Several very appropriate readings were given by members. Mrs J. Casselman conducted the Bible Study hour and a discussion was held on the various questions presented.

The business meeting opened with the reading of the minutes by the secretary and the roll call was responded to by 14 members. There were two visitors.

A money-making project was planned for the December meeting.

Mrs Fred Gallinger conducted a Biblical contest and it was won by Mrs Giffin. The November meeting will be held at Mrs M. Countryman's home.

Lunch was served by Mrs M. Countryman and Mrs F. Dafoe and a social hour enjoyed.

TIPS FOR THE HUNTER

Instructions you must have for your hunting trip:

First, you need a fast car — so you can beat the other hunters to the best spots. One that will do, say 90 or 100 m.p.h. That will give you a chance of being killed before you get out in the woods. And save some other hunter some ommo and the mess of shooting you.

One or two cases of whiskey, four cases of beer, and lots of ammo. Food, tents and sleeping bags take up a lot of space. So get another case of whiskey instead.

Be sure to shoot at anything that moves, or looks as if it might. If it's not a deer, there's always a chance it might be your mother -in-law.

Now, if and when you get a deer or moose down, be sure and shoot all the shells you have left into it. This will be sure to splinter all the bones and bust all the entrails.

In case you are the kind of hunter who likes to draw your kill, be sure to rip open any intestine you will find intact. Don't bother to wash or wipe it out, as the blood and manure will improve the flavor. Besides, the locker plant operator will be disappointed if you bring in a clean one.

If you decide to skin it, be sure to roll it around in the dirt, leaves and pine needles. Then wrap, it in newspapers as they will stick well, and printer's ink has the delicate flavor of burnt rubber. This will enable you to read September's paper next February.

Now drag it out to the car, throw it over the hood as close to the radiator as possible, so it will get all the heat, dust, etc.

On the way home. At a tavern so you can tell theother liars how you shot it between the eyes at 300 yards.

Be sure to stay at the tavern until you are sure the locker plant you want to hang your meat in has been closed for the night and the operator is sound asleep (or most likely having a nightmare).

He will no doubt have a couple hundred hanging around. So make sure he cuts yours first—and makes it all into choice steaks and chops.

And durned if he won't try!

DEAF AND HEARING TOTS MIX IN DANISH SCHOOLS

Deaf children should be given a hearing aid early, then surrounded by normal children and inundated with talk, Bodil Willemoes, a Danish expert on hearing, said recently in Vancouver.

She says Denmark looks on its deaf children as "only normal children with a small defect."

They are placed in integrated kindergartens as early as three years of age, because their best helpers in learning words are their classmates.

Miss Willemoes, director of education for pre-school deaf children in Copenhagen, told health officials a word must be repeated from 60 to 500 times before a normal child of five will learn it.

"A child with hearing difficulty then may have to have a word repeated 1,000 or even 2,000 times before he will be able to learn it."

In her classes two to four children with hearing problems are placed in each class of 20.

"We have found that normal children benefit from it as well. They learn to speak distinctly so the deaf children can learn to read their lips to supplement what they can hear with their hearing aids.

DO IT THIS WAY FOR A CHANGE

I O YOU ALWAYS boil potatoes, cut carrots in slices, roast or boil chicken and make the same design on the top crust of your pies? If you do, it is time to change. It will surprise you to find that carrots seem tastier cut in a new style, the pie looks more tempting with a few new squiggles instead of the straight slits you have been cutting since goodness knows when. It will all make cooking more interesting to you too. There are a few recipes that I have tried recently for the first time:

Hamburgs with Mushroom Sauce

1 lb. ground beef
½ lb. ground pork
2 eggs
¾ cup grated cheese
½ tsp. crushed oregano
Few grains pepper
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
2/3 cup water

Mix meats, eggs, cheese and seasonings. Shape into small balls; brown well on all sides in hot fat. Remove any excess fat. Add water to soup and stir to blend; add to meat balls. Simmer 20 to 25 minutes. If desired this may be cooked in the oven in a covered casserole. Before serving garnish with chopped parsley.

Salmon Casserole

2 cups mashed potatoes
2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. flour
1 cup milk
Salt, pepper and a dash of cayenne
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese
1 ½-lb. tin red salmon
1 cup buttered crumbs

Place mashed potatoes in a buttered casserole. Make white sauce of butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Add grated cheese and stir until the cheese is melted. Pour half the sauce over the potatoes. Mix salmon and remaining sauce; pour over potato mixture. Top with buttered crumbs. Bake 20 to 25 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Serve with a green tossed salad for an easy and colourful supper.

Chicken Cacciatore

Italian dishes have grown in popularity during the last few years, and many of them have been adapted to Canadian tastes. Here is an easy and very tasty way to prepare chicken. You can prepare Cacciatore as I have described below or if you have a favourite tomato sauce that you use with spaghetti and meat balls use it with fried chicken for a change.

1 frying chicken
½ cup cooking fat or vegetable oil
1 onion, thinly sliced
½ tsp. garlic salt
3½ cups canned tomatoes
1 6-oz. can tomato paste
½ cup water
2 tsps. salt
½ tsp. pepper

Brown the chicken in hot fat; add onions and seasonings and cook until golden brown. Add tomatoes, water and tomato paste. Simmer covered until chicken is tender, about one hour.

COUNTF TEACHERS—

New teachers to Dundas were introduced by the principals of the larger schools, and by M. N. Hutchinson, B.A., B. Ed., school inspector for Dundas

Miss Kaye Morgatroyd, who recently retired from Iroquois P S., was specially introduced.

Mr Hutchinson offered sincere congratulations to the teachers when reporting that 180 special Department of Education certificates were now held by the 116 Public School teachers in our county.

The speaker for the afternoon, W. H. Moore, B.A., A.R.C.T., F.-T.C.L., Director of Oral English, Hamilton Public Schools, was introduced by Robert Coleman of Chesterville P.S., and thanked by Mrs Nelda Hanes of Stampville P.S.

Using a tape recording of various poems, and a practical demonstration of Choral Speaking, Mr Moore very effectively pressed home his conviction that literature, since it appeals to the emotions, must be taught mainly for enjoyment.

At the close of the day, president Melvin Tomkins of Hallville, presented the gavel to incoming president for 1963-64, Miss Florence Barclay of Chesterville P.S.
