Chesterville Fire hall invaded

CHESTERVILLE — The Chesterville Fire Hall on Industrial Drive was broken into Dec. 15 and stolen were a speaker from a fire truck and some personal belongings of some fire fighters, said Morrisburg OPP. Anyone with information should contact Const. H. Blokland at the Winchester or Morrisburg detachment.

Grinch steals Ault's Christmas

WINCHESTER — More than $6,000 worth of gifts that were to be given away at an Ault Foods function were stolen from a storage area Friday, said Morrisburg OPP. Anyone with information on this crime should contact Const. Al Lummiss at the Winchester or Morrisburg detachment.

Reunion planned in South Mountain

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Plans are in the works for the reunion of former students, staff and friends of Mountain District High School, which closed its doors in South Mountain 25 years ago. July 7, 8 and 9 are the dates set for the festivities which will be centered at the fairgrounds in South Mountain. This is geared to be a reunion also of former students of North Mountain Consolidated and South Mountain Continuation schools. A list of former students does exist and many hours were spent reviewing the names with hopes to contact each person in the weeks to come. The committee needs the help of the residents of the area to inform relatives and friends who have an interest in the reunion. Anyone interested in the planning of the event can attend a meeting Jan. 10 at the Ag hall in South Mountain. A meeting is scheduled for the second Tuesday of each month until July. For more information contact Bob at 989-2823 or Richard at 989-5397.

Tips sought in diamond theft

Crime Stoppers this week is asking for the public's assistance in solving a substantial theft at The Brookslyn jewelry store in Chesterville on December 12 at about 4 p.m. Two males and two females entered the store together and the males asked for assistance while the females stood near a display case. After purchasing an inexpensive vase, the four left the store, the females leaving first. Clerks realized a short time later that three trays of various anniversary and engagement rings were missing. The total value of the stolen goods is $80,000. If you have any information on this or any crime, call Crime Stoppers toll-free at 1-800-265-TIPS. If your tip leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash reward of up to $1,000. You do not have to reveal your identity to help solve a crime.

Finch Township reeve acclaimed warden

CORNWALL — Finch Township Reeve Floyd Dingwall Monday reached the apex of his career in municipal politics Monday as he was sworn in as the 147th warden of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Dingwall was installed Monday in a ceremony that included many accolades and congratulations, some procedural rituals and a little bit of politicking.

Dingwall becomes the eighth Finch Township reeve to hold the post. As warden, he becomes chief signing officer for the county level of government, much the same as a reeve or mayor is for a municipality.

A retired Jersey farmer from Berwick, Dingwall claims the wardenship at the beginning of his second term as reeve.

Previous Finch Township reeves who served as warden were A.J. Cockburn in 1868, F.D. McNaughton in 1884, H. McMillan in 1907, Robert Bogart in the 1920s, Henry Nugent in 1932, Kenzie McGillivary in 1947 and Ralph McKenzie in 1986.

The nomination at Monday's inaugural session of Counties Council was no surprise to Dingwall, who has known for almost a year he was to become warden. Monday's ceremony was in effect a formality. When nominations for warden were requested by clerk Ray Lapointe, Dingwall was the sole nominee.

Finch Township deputy-reeve Archie Byers presented Dingwall with the chain of office and prompted the declaration of office. He also presented him with a framed print as a token of congratulations on behalf of the township.

Dingwall replaces Lancaster Township Reeve Charles Sangster, who during the ceremony fixed a United Counties lapel pin on Dingwall's chest.

In his first address as warden, Dingwall expressed appreciation to his colleagues for the confidence they had shown in him, describing his selection as a "challenge I accept with humility."

He also thanked the continued support of the people of Finch Township, and said he was particularly honored by the presence at Monday's ceremony of Grade 7 and 8 students from Berwick's North Stormont Public School. Dingwall also welcomed those members of Counties Council who were members for the first time.

Dingwall noted the successes of the previous county council, especially the completion of the new Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge in Cornwall earlier this year.

And he stressed the importance of continued work toward a number of projects, including the selection of a landfill site under the Waste Management Master Plan, implementation of a 911 emergency telephone system and allocation of federal and provincial infrastructure grants in individual municipalities.

Dingwall also warned that county council must consider amendments to the provincial government's Planning Act, which outlines land uses, and consider the pros and cons of a county-wide Official Plan.

Man charged in accident that claimed village couple

Record Staff

CASSELMAN — A Russell Township man is facing a number of serious charges in connection with an Embrun-area accident in which a Chesterville couple was killed in early October.

Michael Van Breugel, 24, made his first appearance in provincial court in L'Orignal last Wednesday and the case was adjourned until December 28.

Van Breugel is charged with two counts of impaired driving causing death and two counts of criminal negligence causing death. He is also charged with impaired driving as well as driving without a licence, and impaired driving causing bodily harm in connection with injuries to a passenger in his vehicle.

Allan and Margot Johnson, of Albert Street in Chesterville, were travelling southbound on St. Marie Road near Embrun October 7 when their vehicle was struck at the intersection of Route 400 at 10:15 p.m.

Allan Johnson, 45, was pronounced dead at the scene and wife Margot, 42 died in hospital the next day. Van Breugel and a passenger were admitted to hospital with minor injuries and later released.

While Van Breugel is scheduled to appear in provincial court again Dec. 28, no dates for a preliminary hearing or trial have been set, said Casselman OPP Const. Ray Seguin.

The maximum sentence for impaired driving causing bodily harm under Canada's Criminal Code is 10 years in prison, and the maximum sentence for impaired driving causing death is 14 years in prison.

The maximum penalty for criminal negligence causing death is life imprisonment.

Burning train chugs into village

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Chesterville's Volunteer Fire Department was on the right track early Sunday morning when they responded to a somewhat unusual call in the village.

A burning freight locomotive with a ruptured diesel fuel line pulled into the village shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday, touching off a 45-minute battle for local fire crews.

"It was blazing pretty good when we got there and it didn't really change for the 45 minutes because the diesel was shooting straight into the fire," Chesterville fire fighter John Van Der Veen said.

Van Der Veen said the train's operator had told him the third engine of the eastbound train had caught fire on the tracks near North Dundas District High School. The train proceeded into the village behind the Legion Hall, where the engine was uncoupled and pulled to the level crossing near the Nestle factory on Main Street North.

The operator alerted residents of a nearby apartment, from where the fire department was called.

Flames shot out of the unit's engine compartment and most of its midsection, and through its roof.

Eight village fire fighters battled the blaze for about 45 minutes, Van Der Veen said, to no avail, even after the engine's fuel line was shut off. It wasn't until the engine's main power was cut off that the fire was successfully extinguished.

Family, friends pay tribute to Tracy

Melissa Batchilder

CHESTERVILLE — Those who didn't know Tracy Robinson missed a wonderful experience, say those who knew her.

The 23-year-old RR2 Chesterville woman's life was claimed as the result of a tragic car accident Dec. 9.

However, her generosity and goodwill will live on in the lives of others, as in accordance to her wishes, six of Tracy's organs have been donated so others will have a new lease on life.

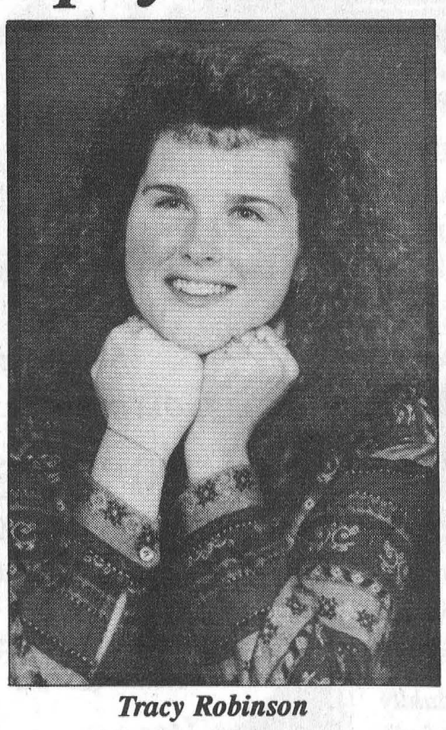
The daughter of Glen and Linda Robinson, Tracy was one of four children. "We thank the Lord we shared 23 years with her," says Mrs. Robinson. "Tracy always thought of others. She really didn't see bad in anyone. She always found the good."

The donation of organs was Tracy's idea, says her mother, who admires her strength for doing so. "That's the way she was. She was always thinking of others."

Now as a result of Tracy's generosity, "six others will have a new lease on life." Donated were her heart, liver, both kidneys and corneas.

Life must now go on for the Robinson family along with many of Tracy's friends. "We will have to go on in our lives and thank the Lord for the gift He did give to us in Tracy," says her mother.

Sustaining serious injuries as a result of the two-car collision at 7 a.m. that morning on Hwy. 31, Tracy was airlifted from Winchester and District Memorial Hospital to Ottawa General Hospital and lost her battle for life Dec. 14.



Tracy Robinson

Friends who knew her will never forget her enthusiasm for life and willingness to always put others before herself.

Employer and friend Joel Steele says she had "thousands of friends who loved her." Steele is the owner of Country Boy/Country Girl in Winchester and adds, "she had nine or 10 good friends here at the store."

• Please see TRACY on page 2

In Memory of a Friend,
Tracy Robinson

The world is full of special people
we know and greet each day
But none so true as Tracy
she was never far away.

She always let you know how much she really cared
She took you through each day, as Tracy wouldn't be scared.

Down on us she looks each day to guide us in her special way.

Tracy was a special person not like all the rest.
She shared with us a part of her
we thought was all the best.

Tracy was a friend who understood and a friend she did believe.
She was a friend who stood by you and never would deceive.

A friend who would listen and a friend who would talk
A friend to go with you on those midnight walks.

A friend is special
A friend is true
You see my friend
That friend was you.

Demolition eases parking woes

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Finding a parking space in downtown Chesterville should now be a little easier.

The demolition of an old Ralph Street home has resulted in 28 new parking spaces for the downtown core's biggest business, Mike Dean's grocery store. And the resulting effect should ease the parking scene for the entire area.

The move brings the total number of parking spaces in the downtown area to 140, including established lots such as the one between the Seaway Valley Pharmacy and Brookslyn, and street parking.

Dean purchased the house, between the Snack Shack and Cass & Grenkie Law Office near the intersection of King Street, from lawyer Doug Grenkie.

The building was taken down in about an hour last Wednesday afternoon by local contractor Jim Sullivan and was taken to the landfill site over the next two days.

"They started to tear it down at noon on Wednesday and by Friday at noon we had a parking lot," Dean said, adding it almost doubles the number of immediate parking spaces for his customers.

Dean said customers have always complained there was not enough parking within easy walking distance of the store.

He said his staff will park in the new lot, freeing 11 spots on a paved surface at the back of the store. Dean says the new lot will be paved as soon as possible in the spring.

"It's good for the whole village," Dean says. "Twenty-eight parking spots in downtown anywhere is a lot."

Dingwall claims SD&G wardenship

But Dingwall said it is his hope that county services can be maintained at their current level without an increase in county taxes.

SD&G and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve told those who attended the ceremony that he had long been a friend of Dingwall and had followed his political career.

"Today, Sir, you have reached the apex of your career in municipal politics," Villeneuve said. He also noted that the task will not be easy in light of cutbacks from the province, and that the expected change in provincial governments after next year's provincial election could also become a factor.

Villeneuve wished Dingwall and his colleagues a safe, propserous and "Progressive" year.

Stormont-Dundas MP Bob Kilger, who blamed a protest at his constituency office for a late arrival, pledged his co-operation, as did Cornwall Mayor Ron Martelle.

Counties Council is comprised of the reeves and deputy reeves of SD&G's 20 municipalities, a total of 37 members. The wardenship generally rotates among reeves from each of the three counties, to a member who has served as chair of each committee.

Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook held the post in 1992, and Winchester Townmship Reeve Claude Cousineau was warden in 1990.

Train catches fire in village

Nobody was injured, including the two operators and one brakeperson aboard the train. After the fire, the locomotive was pulled onto extra tracks east of the level crossing and was taken away later in the day.

Van Der Veen said he felt the operator showed good judgement by pulling the train to the level crossing, as it was easy for the fire crews to access and was near a fire hydrant.

"We would have had a hard time getting back there at North Dundas," Van Der Veen said.

The village's new pumper was not used during the incident.

CP Rail officials could not be reached for comment on the incident.

Tracy remembered

What stands out in Steele's mind about the vibrant 23-year-old was her "willingness to always do for other people. She never asked for anything in return."

Robinson worked part-time for the Winchester clothing store and was "extremely well thought of by her co-workers." She had managed Country Sole for several years before obtaining employment in Ottawa, which was where she was travelling to the morning of the accident. However, she continued to work part time at Country Boy/Country Girl.

"Anyone who didn't know her missed something," he adds. "Those who did know her were better off."

A tremendous friend to everyone she knew, says Steele, "to say she is missed is an understatement."

Tracy was always doing something for someone else. "She believed in her community and its people. She was one of our best junior citizens. We miss her terribly."

Dealing with the loss makes it even more difficult knowing her affection for the Christmas season. "It really was one of her favorite times of the year."

Good friend Karen Parker smiles as she too recalls Tracy's love of Christmas. "Christmas was a very, very special thing in her life. She loved to shop and prepare for it."

Tracy is also remembered by her friend as someone "who never held a grudge and you never knew what she might come out with. She always made everyone laugh and giggle."

Living life to the fullest is how Parker remembers her friend who "was someone you always invited to your birthday party since kindergarten. Her parents camped with my parents. We all camped together."

Family, friends and work were Tracy's priorities in life, says Parker. "She valued those tremendously.

Parker again smiles as she remembers Tracy's talents. "She sewed. She kept all of our friends in hems. And she loved crafts."

Tracy Robinson is gone, but not forgotten.

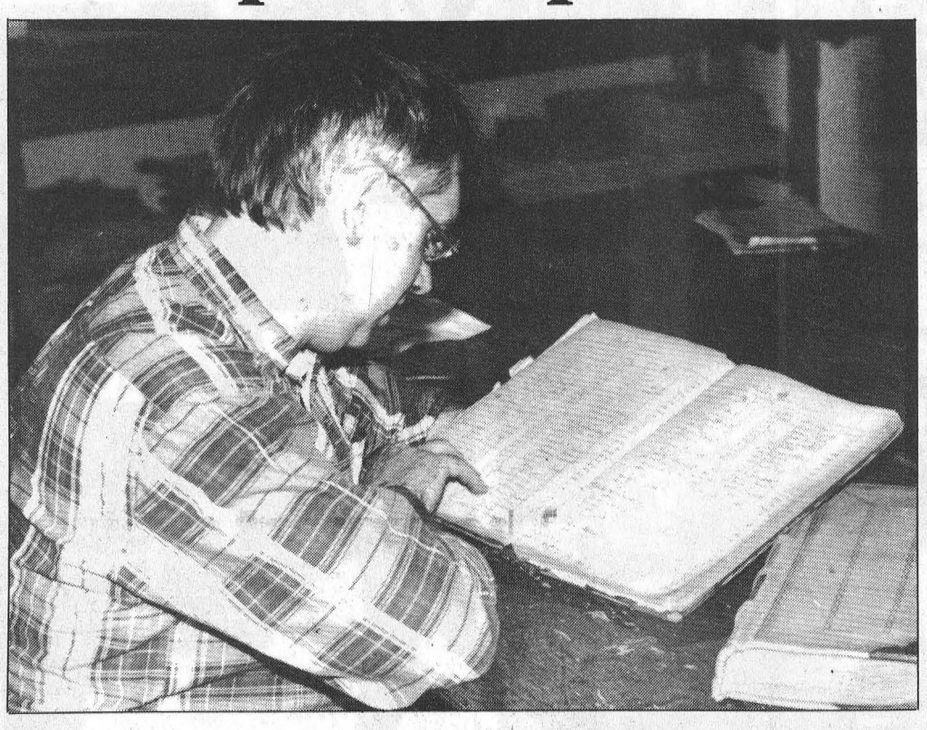
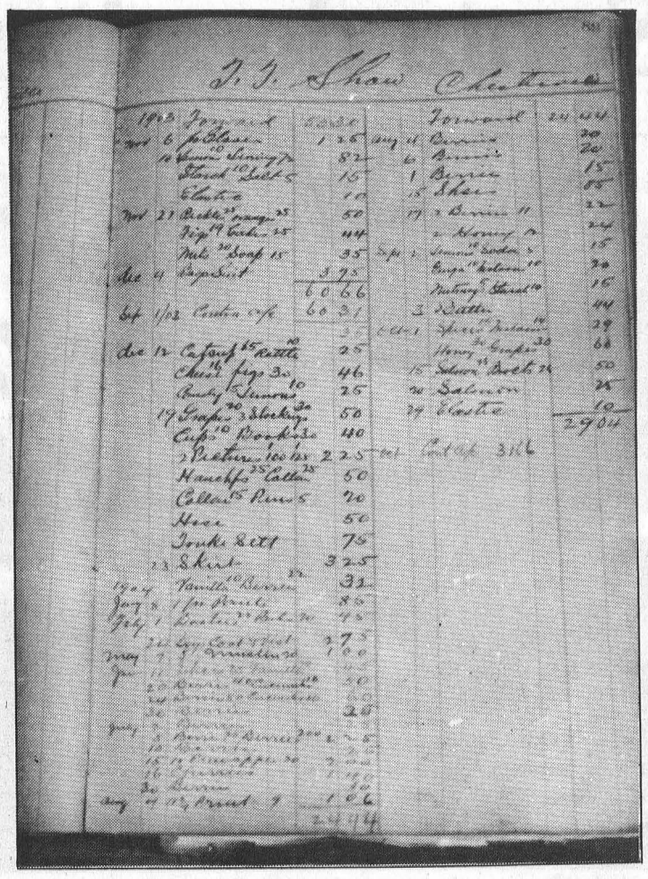
Recovered store ledger provides historians with peek of purchases past

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff



Chesterville historian Pat Coyne studies a turn-of-the-century accounts ledger from McGee's Store. To the right is a page that lists purchases made by Chesterville Record editor Thomas Shaw in 1903 and 1904. Coyne, of the Chesterville and District Historical Society, says the ledger, donated by a local resident, is a useful tool for studying the history and habits of the past.



It was the day after Christmas, in 1906, when Morewood's S. Cheney visited McGee's store in Chesterville. He bought a coat for $8 and a pair of mitts for 25 cents. He paid cash.

The record of this transaction, along with thousands of others that were made at the general merchant's store in the village are about to become an official part of Chesterville's documented history.

The Chesterville and District Historical Society, through a donation, has acquired two ledgers for Tom McGee's store, which stood where the MacEwen service station now stands at the corner of Main and Queen Streets.

One book is a simple list of inventory, but the other is a detailed accounts book, listing dates, names, purchases and prices. Both are in surprisingly fine condition.

The accounts book chronicles a multitude of purchases made at the store from 1898 to about 1917, listing the accounts of more than 100 Chesterville and area customers.

"There's probably not a large nominal value to them, but there's quite a historical value," says the Chesterville and District Historical Society's Pat Coyne.

The books were donated to the society by Chesterville's Edith Chambers, whose husband rescued them from the garbage of a house across the street more than 10 years ago — the same College Street house where Tom McGee and his family once lived.

Coyne says the books are an excellent tool for local historians to learn what were the necessities of the day in the village, along with the luxuries and anything else that came across McGee's counter and out the door. And by studying the entries, much can be learned about a particular account holder, and life in general.

For example, he says, a customer who regularly purchased "inordinate amounts of material" was sure to have a dressmaker in the family.

In September 1899 in Chesterville, three handkerchiefs could be bought for 15 cents, a shirt for $1, a cap for 50 cents and a pipe and tobacco for a mere quarter. In October 1900, Jacob Beckstead shelled out the princely sum of $4.50 for a rubber coat.

More commonly purchased at McGee's, however, were basic dry goods such as flour, sugar, tea, eggs, materials, soap and other necessities. Luxurious items, such as pineapples and oranges were available, but less common in the 'purchases' column.

And not all purchases were paid for with cash. The ledger shows that blacksmith Pat Grady, from May 1898 to March 1899, ran up a bill of $13.75 for such items as a wheel barrow, shirt, boots for the boys, and drawers. He settled his account for about seven cords of wood. Other customers paid with butter or labor. One insurance agent provided coverage in return for goods.

And McGee's also delivered — for a small fee. On May 29, 1898, Giles Bogart's 75-cent purchase of sugar and tea was "carried by wagon" for an extra 25 cents.

Thomas John McGee was born in Newmarket, Ont., in 1862 and came to the village in 1897 from western Ontario, where he had also operated a store. In Chesterville, his general store was open for 60 years. His sister Elizabeth operated the dry goods end of the business.

The Time That Was, the history book of the Chesterville area, describes "TJ" as "a familiar figure, riding his bicycle from the store to his home." McGee died in 1941 at the age of 79.

By studying one of the ledger's accounts in particular, that of machine dealer John Jordan, historians can get a sense of how prices, buying habits and inventory evolved over an 18-year period. Jordan's account is by far the largest and most extensive, filling more than 30 pages with a list of his purchases from 1898 to 1916.

The ledger shows that as with today, people were concerned with getting their money's worth. One curious entry is dated March 31, 1899 under the name of John J. Coin. It lists a series of would-be purchases, including oranges and lemons — 25 cents, pickles — 13 cents, ketsup — 15 cents, biscuits — 23 cents, tobacco — nine cents, candy — five cents and medicine — 25 cents for a total of $1.15. But penciled in the right hand column, the following: "Disputed, did not get goods."

And judging by another of the bookkeeper's written comments, the store was also interested in getting its due. A November 8, 1898 purchase by Welburn Murrell, a $2 pair of boots, is followed by this warning: "Written Nov. 22 — will sue if not heard from in a few days."

Chesterville Record editor Thomas Shaw's account in 1904, says Coyne, shows he felt he was a man of status. Many of the entries in his account are for gentleman's clothing, such as vests, hats, and gloves, as opposed to the overalls that might have been purchased by a farmer or laborer.

Shaw's account also shows him to be an avid reader, with "books" penciled in on many an occasion, at a cost of about 10 cents each. It also shows that on August 18, Shaw visited McGee's and purchased tomatoes for 10 cents, salmon for 15 cents and a new pair of shoes for 50 cents.

Chesterville Lawyer W.B. Lawson seemed to have a liking for berries and bread and on September 13, 1909, he paid 50 cents for a cucumber, not much different than today's price. Lawson paid his account sometimes with cash, other times by cheque, usually when it reached between $10 and $15.

The Anglican Church's account shows purchases of oil and wicks for the coal oil lamps were made regularly. And of course, Coyne says, the account was always paid in full.

Coyne says the appearance of such items as shoes and shirts as common purchases marked the end of the glory days for the tailor and the cobbler.

"You can tell that the old trade of shoemaker or tailor was disappearing," Coyne says. "You can see that the industrial revolution had reached Chesterville."

While the accounts in the ledger end at about 1917, a page near the end of the book lists expenditures for the early to mid 1920s. They include roof repairs of $2.65 in 1925, rent of about $15 a month, and $31.45 for wallpaper and work in December, 1926.

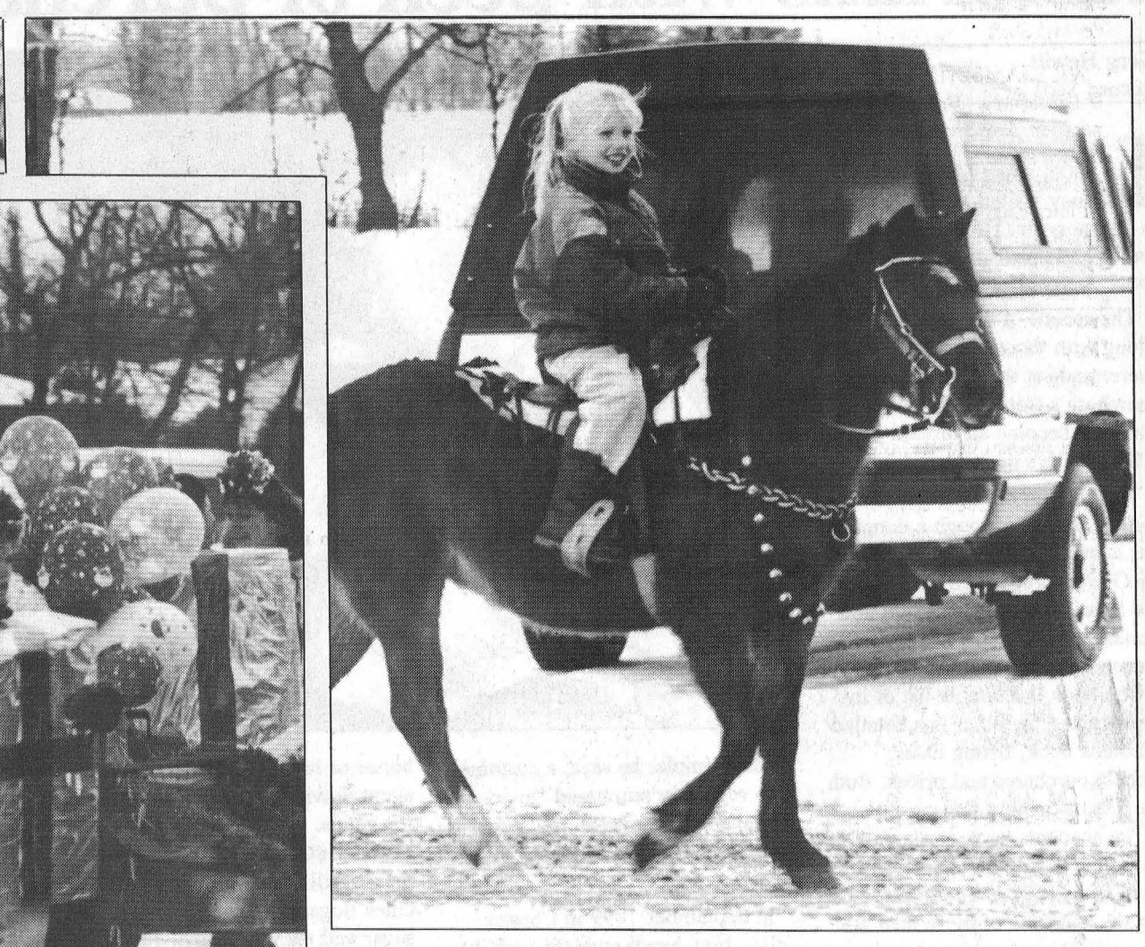
The store's taxes were $50.40 in 1923 and $52.50 in 1924, but dropped to $50.50 the next year.

Coyne says he hopes similar historic treasures as the ledgers do not have to be rescued from garbage piles, that people consider their value and remember the Historical Society.

Chesterville historian Clarence Cross says he remembers McGee's as a small general store, not the biggest in town, but larger than the village's current Becker's store, for example.

"I was a good alternative to the big stores," Cross says.

Santa does it one more time for Morewood



The streets of Morewood were alive with the Christmas spirit Saturday for the hamlet's annual Santa Claus Parade. Residents who lined the streets to view the procession, along with Santa and Mrs. Claus, endured less that festive weather for the tradition, but Yuletide excitement was raised nonetheless.

Williamsburg council installed

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

WILLIAMSBURG — Newest Williamburg Township council member Tom Henderson is going to have some big shoes to fill as he replaces Trevor Tolley on the 158th Williamsburg Township Council, which was officially sworn in last Tuesday.

Following the ceremony, conducted by Rev. Harry Brown of the Holy Trinity Church Riverside Heights, council members gave their opening addresses.

The resounding sentiment of the evening was that Trevor Tolley, who was unsuccessful in his bid for the deputy reeve's chair, was going to be greatly missed but Tom Henderson was the best replacement one could ask for.

Councillor Robert Gillard summed up his feelings toward Tolley's absence: "I won't have anyone to aggravate," he quipped. "He was very conscientious of whatever he took hold of and he will be sadly missed."

Reeve Johnny Whitteker expressed confidence in the selection of Henderson as a councillor.

"I think Tom will make a good councillor because of his vast knowledge of the township and the town's happenings," he said.

Henderson's reply to Whitteker's optimism was modest, like Henderson himself.

"It is a learning process and I hope I can fullfill your expectations," said Henderson.

Council members also noted the importance of teamwork during their three-year term.

"If we can continue to work with the present council the way we have with past councils, work as a team, we'll come up on top," said Gillard.

Finacial contraint is going to be the buzz word for the council.

"Making do with less in the three year agenda," added Whitteker, "the easy way would be to raise taxes, but we aren't. So we're going to have to continue being shrewd and cut where we can."

"We have a tough three years ahead of us and I don't think the recession is over yet," said Whitteker.

Reader has enlightened wish list

To the Editor:

Christmas Wish List

What do I want for Christmas?
Six little words with a wealth of meaning...
Of material goods I have no need,
For spiritual blessings I would plead.
An end to hunger and fear worldwide;
All races and colours stand side by side;
Free to worship, each in their own way,
Welcoming peace here on earth every day.
Families together, healthy, happy faces;
Everyone visiting old familiar places.
Through windows, softly glowing in the dark,
Glimpses of friendship and love are the spark,
Lighting the spirit of this holiday season.
Keep it year 'round, defying all reason.
White Christmas! What a dazzling sight!
Sparkling crystals, prisms of pure light.
Candles gently glowing, drawing us nigh;
Fragrant trees gleaming, reaching on high;
Wreaths hanging on doors - "Welcome, friend."
Joy to the world...peace without end.

Off The Record

Chesterville's first Christmas

By Robin Morris
Religion Editor

Now it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Mulronius, that all the world should be reviewed for the new Child Tax Credit. (And this taxing was first made when Robert Raeus was governor of Ontario.) And all went to Revenue Canada offices, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Stormont, out of the City of Berwick, into Finch (because he was of the house and lineage of David;) to be reviewed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child, safe in the knowledge that should she be taken for childbirth to the nearby hospital in Winchester which would be unto them a safe haven.

So they packed their health cards and also a great quantity of swaddling clothes and set out by Via Rail for the Royal City, Joseph having been unable to keep up the payments on the family donkey when he lost his carpentry job in the Great Recession.

But they were sorely vexed when they boarded the train to learn from the conductor that although they were to pass through Chesterville, Caesar's laws forbade its stopping until it reached the great city of Winchester, several leagues hence.

"Thou canst not stop in Chesterville, save twice a day, and to do that, thou must cometh from both directions, whilst dodging run-away freights," the conductor said unto them.

So Mary sayeth unto Joseph, as she gasped from lower back pain, "Of the Royal House of David thou mayest be, but for reading timetables thou don't knowest toffee. And why do I speaketh like Shakespeare all of a sudden?"

"Thou knowest not in which direction the writer of this piece may send us, wife, for at this point he also knoweth not, and thou couldst end up speaking Hindi by the end," sayeth Joseph.

They alighted from the train in Winchester, Joseph securing a donkey that Mary might ride the 12 leagues east from Budget Rent-a-Beast (Rest Your Butt on Our Ass, the company's slogan proclaimeth.)

"At least thou hast made reservations at the new inn, so that our stay in the royal city might be a great comfort to me and our unborn child," Mary sayeth to Joseph. "Room service shall be a welcome change from the unleavened cardboard of Via. It was of having been prepared in Ur of the Chaldees and brought to our train by the roundabout way."

They trekked on, marvelling at the display of lamps in the windows and atop the roofs of the houses they passed, for these people knoweth neither famine nor hardship, and Ontario Hydro hath delivered unto them an endless supply of oil for their lighting, so that their joy might be the greater, at least until they receiveth the latest increase in their PUC bills.

Great was the press of people as they entered the Royal City, for it was that time of the year when the Festival of the Cash Register was celebrated throughout the land and Chesterville was second to none in the fervor with which the great event was marked, even though frost lay deep upon the ground and the winter wind was cruel. The crowd was even larger this year because of the great Child Tax Credit registration, for all those who had been born in Chesterville but who had had to move across the continent to find employment for their labors had returned to their birthplace to have their names entered on the rolls.

Great was Mary's joy as they threaded their way through the throngs of revellers; soon they would be warm and would feast upon a great repast at the inn. The labors of the journey would be put behind them and her husband could ready himself for the great registration for their unborn child.

But when they cameth upon the street there was no inn; neither was there a building of condominiums.

"And thou wouldst have feasted on roast flesh and retired to a warm bed, wouldst thou?" demanded Mary of Joseph. "Well, thou canst feast on this: I am wroth to offer you hot tongue and cold shoulder, for thy travel arrangements is as wormwood and gall to me."

Joseph was sore perplexed for he knoweth that other than bed and breakfasts, there were no other inns, save those that were filled to overflowing with revellers and registrants and so they betook themselves to wandering the streets in the hope that shelter from the cold could be found, but they were without good fortune as the pangs of impending childbirth settled upon Mary and she cried out even one of the bays at yonder garage would suffice, and so they asketh of the service station owner and he answereth that although it was unusual, he could not see a child come into the world on Queen St., even if it was destined to be the King of Peace. And there was Mary delivered of a child, amidst the rumbling throttles and lowing carburetors.

And lo and behold, a great shining star appeared over the service station, and three dairy farmers, who had been tending their herds close by, drew nigh, and they were sore afraid, but were greatly comforted by all the company and hosts of heaven on the station's radio.

And three Wise Men appeared from the east of the people of the Magog, each bearing a gift and a can of air freshener.

"We Three Kings of Florient are," singeth they.

"I am Marchand, gold I bring thee in the name of the universality of social programs," spake the first.

"Pelletier am I, and Myrtle Beach tickets have I for thee," sayeth the second.

"Francophones to offer have I, so that my government soon may be nigh," singeth the third, who answered to the name of Trudeau. And so came to pass Chesterville's first Christmas.

THE FARMER'S WIFE S

By Wyn Thompson

Christmas is Christmas the world over, and one of the nicest things about Christmas is that people don't have to be Christian to celebrate it.

For even believers don't always go to church on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day, and many of those who do are there to enjoy the wonderful music and tales of happenings that surround the celebrations of the birth of Jesus.

The rest of us can celebrate as we see fit. It we choose, like our pagan ancestors at the festival of lights, we can eat, drink, and toss the well- cleaned bones to the dogs under the tables then pick a fight with a neighboring tribe.

Yet what makes this celebration so special is that the Christmas story is easy to understand. The birth of a baby is something familiar to us all as it is the way by which we all enter this world. Humankind and animal alike.

It's easy for any mother to imagine joyful songs being sung at the birth of her baby. It's a dullard of a father, indeed, who cannot imagine a star-struck man, be he shepherd or wise man, travelling across a desert to see a new-born infant.

It is such a believable story, this birth of baby Jesus in a simple setting surrounded by love.

And yet...Santa Claus has become the centrepiece of the Christmas festival for many boys and girls whose parents have no interest in its religious aspects. Santa thus symbolizes love and caring, not a bad thing as some would have us believe.

Every country has its own version. In Holland St. Nicholas comes on Christmas Eve and fills the children's wooden shoes with gifts, proof that their patron saint has not forgotten them.

In Scandinavia, Nisse is the little man of Christmas Eve. Few but the family cat have seen him for he sees to the animals making sure they are fed, watered, and bedded down. He appears on Christmas cards, in shop windows and in the homes as the spirit of Christmas.

In Switzerland, Father Christmas marches up and down the Alpine streets with his wife Lucy and, of course, on Christmas morning the children find their trees loaded with presents.

And so it goes...

Here in North America one sometimes feels that Santa Claus is severely tarnishing his reputation. He appears too soon, being paraded atop glittering floats into the streets of every city, town, village and hamlet in the land.

The commercialization of Christmas sometimes becomes tedious, the manipulation of children and adults by television ads occasionally fills one with disgust. Yet by the Eve of Christmas...the food bank shelves are topped up, the Salvation Army kettles filled, and most charity appeals answered.

The excitement dies down, the stores closed at last, the streets quiet, it is all over but the giving on the next day. And, isn't that what it is all about anyway.

Sure, the giving in some cases may be a bit Scroogish; but mostly it is inspired by loving and caring.

And that is what led the shepherds to Bethlehem and what leads us all to knock outselves out for this one special day in all the year. That, too, is what made the angels sing.

Once again, it is Christmas Eve. Hill House is quiet as we enter it after the candlelight service at a little nearby rural church. The two youngest grandkids were involved in the music and the Farmer and I, like all the other Grandees, poked each other full of pride.

For the first time in our married lives, no pets greet us, although a six-toed cat that an uncaring and irresponsible human dropped at our gate, will be around for his rations in the morning. And, of course, we have the birds.

We light the Christmas candles, fill our cups with hot cider, and reminisce a bit.

"Time for bed," says the Farmer rising to put another birch log on the fireplace.

As has been my custom for many years, I go out to the back step and look up at the sky rich with stars. To see the stars in their constellations in their galaxies, solar systems beyond solar systems is to glimpse the unknown on one hand and the presence of order on the other.

Such acknowledgement sparks the joy of the season —a joy that sprang first for the ancients of the world awaiting the warmth of the sun and then for the millions around the world with a birth of a baby.

Christmas is truly in the heavens, there for any of us who can see the stars.

And as I step back into the warmth of Hill House, I repeat again my Christmas wish.

"God rest you merry, gentlemen."

A Christmas pondering: "Give each new day its own good cheer
All other days apart,
And every day throughout the year
Keep Christmas in your heart."

Jim Behan: Santa's Chesterville connection

Following is a story about Chesterville's Santa Claus. This is the first year since 1977 that Jim Behan was unable to participate in the Santa Claus Parade due to illness.

Melissa Batchilder
Record staff

Ho! Ho! Ho! Although Santa Claus is laid up this year at the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital, he assures a good friend is taking his place at the North Pole.

Children from around the world, and especially those in Chesterville, are not to worry, says the merry old elf. "I'll be back in my sleigh come this time next year."

Meanwhile, his support staff at the pole are working diligently to make up for his absence. Thousands of toys are being created and packed for the annual world tour early Sunday morning.

With the optimism of an elf, Behan assures from his bed at the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital, "I'll be back next year."

The white-haired, bushy-eye-browed Behan has been known for his association with Santa Claus in Chesterville since 1977. "Dr. Slowey stopped me on the street one day and told me I would make a good Santa Claus. It all started then."

His face has been a familiar one at the end of the annual Chesterville Santa Claus parade since then.

However, not many people realize there was life for Behan since he took on the responsibilities of running a workshop and organizing elves. "Most don't realize the elve's union is becoming more and more difficult to negotiate with each year."

Regardless, "Santa Jim" did wear other clothes besides a red suit prior to the 1970s.

He was born in Eastview, which was a section of Ottawa which is now Vanier. "My mother was from Ireland and my father was from Huntley."

As a boy, he attended school in Eastview and like most others of that time finished his schooling at an early age. "I suppose I got my grade eight. That was all you needed back then," he adds. Just another one too smart to be in school!

Of course, when someone realizes his destination in life is to grow up and become Santa Claus, there is no need to waste time. There's living to be done.

"I went to work as a delivery man for a drugstore and I used to work for a paint and glass company on Cooper St."

After this, Santa Jim explains, he went into the funeral business for 10 years before World War Two began. "I suppose I've been into everything," he chuckles.

While with the forces, Santa Jim served overseas in England for four years. "I spent most part of the war in Bramshaw in the pay office. I was paying the boys off, I guess."

When the war ended, he adds, he knew exactly where he was. "Why I was in a bar having a few glasses of Coca-cola," he winks. "We were all drinking Coca-cola."

Back in Canada, he resumed his career in the funeral business. "I also worked in government administration for four or five years. Then I went back into the funeral business."

When he retired in 1977, Santa Jim moved to Chesterville and took on a security tenants' job at the senior's building.

The same year, he slipped into his current role as Santa Claus. "This is the first year I haven't been able to make the Chesterville parade, but someone replaced me."

For Santa Jim, the red suit and hat were donned annually for the children. "There were hundreds of kids sharing their wishes with me. They would have to line up the stairs at the town hall."

Seeing children happy was inspirational to Santa Jim. "I liked everything about Santa Claus. I loved to see the children smile."

Over the years he has given out chocolate bars, candy-canes, toys and other treats for children of all ages.

"Kids were always trying to figure me out. They never knew who I was." Why he was Santa Claus, of course, the jolly old elf himself.

Since being a patient at the hospital doesn't allow him to make a lot of noise, he explains, he has to muffle his "ho, ho, ho," so it won't keep people awake.

"I always had my little sleigh and horses and kids always asked me for dolls and toys."

In addition to his duties at the parade and afterwards at the town hall, Santa Jim, also played another important role. For years he has been delivering prescriptions for Seaway Valley Pharmacy and at Christmas customers could be guaranteed he would be dressed in seasonal garb when he arrived at a house.

Despite years using a sleigh as his primary means of transportation, Santa Jim assures he has never had an accident. "They all know who I am and where I'm going. Once my sleigh is in the sky, my path is clear."

Back in Chesterville, he says, he has been known to use a car, but he prefers the sleigh.

Area youngsters also had an in with Santa Claus too because he lived here during the warm months. "I would listen to what the children wanted and then inform their parents as to the importance of having it under the Christmas tree."

And does Santa Jim have children. "Well, of course. I have four children."

Throughout the years the mystery of Santa Claus has been a mystery to almost all of us, but not to Santa Jim. The character with the white beard seems to have no difficulty in understanding the concept of a strange man entering your house in the middle of the night to receive cookies and milk in exchange for presents.

"It's a wonderful thing to be able to do."

However, with toys becoming more and more difficult to put together and children having access to more and more, preparations for the world Christmas tour have changed over the years.

No longer do wee ones hope for an orange and a ribbon for their hair. "Their wishes are a lot more expensive and for more elaborate gifts."

Nevertheless, he says, Santa Claus is magic and can do anything. Therefore accommodating the increasing demands of Christmas is not difficult.

One of the greatest obstacles over the years has been the weather. "I never know what it's going to be like. I'm constantly changing stations on my radio in the sleigh to keep up with local weather reports."

And on Christmas Eve most radio stations keep a close eye on Santa as well.

This year Santa Jim expects he will tie his horse up in Ottawa at his daughter's, depending on his health. "I would like to be able to spend Christmas with her."

Although Santa Jim's stay in the hospital affected the season for him, "it shouldn't affect it for the children. My team at the North Pole has everything under control."

By Christmas Eve he should be back at home preparing for his duties. "So until then I wish you all a Merry Christmas and to all a good night."

Melissa! — by Melissa Batchilder

MERRY HO! HO! CHESTERVILLE! (And the surrounding area, of course.)

It's that time of year again. It's the time to come up with a new and original Christmas column. Can you believe there was actually a year I forgot to write the Christmas column? I blanked out completely and wrote some boring drizzle about nothing.

However, this year my brain cells are intact and for the next umpteen paragraphs we're gonna walk down memory lane in my style!

Now that I'm the ripe ole' age of 26, there are a number of years I can reflect on. I can drag up weepy tales about d'oisland or my first Christmas away from home, but I'd rather not. Even I won't go so far as to bawl and wail over my computer screen.

Instead I will tell you of what it means to be away from home for the holidays, thousands of miles from those you love the most, (like Haley- the wonder child) and the rest of my siblings. Naturally, Momma and Poppa are at the top of the list for those I miss the most, (cause they are the ones who hand out the best pressies! Teehee!)

Despite being away from them physically as we are scattered around the world this Christmas, (I have a sister-in-law posted with the Canadian Forces in Rwanda), we are always together in great spirit.

Growing up, it was as if we were somehow prepared to face many challenges in life without the actual presence of family nearby. We always knew there was nothing on d'oisland to keep us there after graduating high school. This of course, meant spending Christmases without the beauty of family celebrations.

Therefore, my mother came up with the wonderful and cherished tradition in our family of the Christmas candle.

Come 6pm (PEI-time) Christmas Eve, no matter where each of us is in the world, we light our Christmas candle. It symbolizes faith and family unity. Despite not being together in body, we are together in spirit.

Sure it's a weepy moment, but even more so, it is a moment of pride and joy that once again we are gathered together in our thoughts to celebrate the birth of Jesus.

Over the years our candles have been lit around the world, depending on where my siblings have been posted with the Canadian Forces. It's truly a cherished moment when you light your candle with another family's and bring a part of your home to their's.

******

Thanks to my dear Poppa we also share in the annual "bizarre gift to Melissa" tradition.

This little oddity began years ago when I spent my first Christmas away from home in Newfoundland.

I received a phone call from Poppa Christmas Eve telling me he was thinking of me because it was my first Christmas away and as a result he was sending me a special package.

I was to pick it up at the Gander airport. Well, I was so moved, thrilled, chilled and delighted that I practically told the whole town (can you imagine me doing that!) of what my father had done for me.

My dear, there was a convoy up to the airport to see what that special gift was. I tore up to the terminal and got my hands on a brown paper package containing the "special" gift.

Imagine my reaction as I started frantically ripping it open and a rotten potato, a three- pronged carrot and the biggest hunk of salt fish you have ever seen in your life fell out. I was horrified! I was tripping over myself to get this stuff hidden out of public view when I saw a cassette tape was also enclosed.

Heading out to my car with mortification written all over my face, I couldn't imagine what prompted this bizarre gift. Then I played the tape which had my father's voice recorded and he was laughing hysterically and saying, "I hope you enjoy your Christmas dinner."

Well my darlin', I laughed and I laughed and I laughed. It was then that I realized my father had sent the greatest gift of all...his humor. Throughout the years, he has always been able to make me laugh at the drop of a hat. He's as bizarre as the gifts he sends. Realizing that I might have spent a sad Christmas that year in Gander, he did his best to make sure that I kept laughing. We played the tape over and over that year and to this day it's kept close by...just in case I need a giggle.

Since that year he has sent me some of the strangest items. I wanted duck boots one year and he sent an old pair of his rubber boots which he had cut off and decorated in festive fashion. He even painted them and glued little wooden hearts to them. Of course, Christmas garland decorated the edges.

******

My family never forgets Ma Bell at Christmas either. The phone starts ringing d'oisland Christmas Eve and doesn't stop until all the gifts have been opened and everyone knows what everyone else got!

It's always a major deal to find out what my Poppa got my Momma. Honestly, no one ever knows until Christmas morning. He won't tell a soul, unless of course he gave my sister or I the funds to buy it for him.

In that case I go all out and buy everything for him to give to her. My older sister on the other hand is known for her frugality and we always know when and who Poppa has decided to give the money to do his shopping for him.

******

See, so Christmas away from d'oisland isn't really that bad. Granted, I'm sure if I could I would be homeward bound right now, but that's not the way it is for me anymore.

Christmas means sharing the day with dear friends I've come to know in my life here. It means having a wonderful lunch with the people I work with, because they all in a sense have become a surrogate family.

It means bringing a part of my family to someone else's by means of a candle, or by sharing memories. It means my wondering like a mad woman who is gonna bring me my pressies from home. My Momma always sends them to someone other than me cause she knows I'd have them all opened long before Christmas if she sent them to me. Oh my Momma, she knows me so well.

******

You see, it doesn't really matter come Christmas where you are in the world, just as long as you share it with someone.

My first year in Ontario, I hardly knew a soul so I put an advertisement in the paper asking anyone who was spending Christmas alone to come to my house.

Maybe it sounds a little loonie, but there were 10 people at my table for dinner and we all had a marvelous time. We sang carols and made dinner and talked about our families a lot. Since then two of these people have become great friends. Some were older and some weren't. Some were insane and some weren't. But, we all had a wonderful Christmas that year.

******

Growing up, we were encouraged to open our hearts to people and our homes. My father denies this now when he sees some of the strays that wander into my house, but it's true. I've seen some of the strays that wander into his house too!

This year I had a get-together of a few people who I felt may not have the opportunity to decorate a tree otherwise and we did mine up in fine style Sunday.

And on Monday I went to South Mountain to join in Christmas carols with folks from the House of Lazarus. This week-end I will spend with friends who are like family and I can't wait. No it isn't just the present part either!

Morewood man spending Christmas with UN force in Bosnia

MOREWOOD — Don't try calling Barb or Tom Savary between Dec. 22 and 27.

The Morewood couple will be keeping the telephone lines open in anticipation of a call from their son Jamie, because Jamie Savary won't be home for Christmas this year.

Then again, he didn't expect to be after volunteering for a United Nations peacekeeping mission in Bosnia in October.

Life goes on for his family, says his mother Barb, but all is not normal. "We've been doing our best to adjust to his absence but we miss him terribly."

The 21-year-old Morewood man left Thanksgiving weekend in October for the wartorn lands of Bosnia after months of intense military training.

As a member of the SD&G Highlanders militia unit, he is currently attached to the Royal Canadian Regiment contingent in Bosnia.

"There are a small group of volunteers," explains his mother as she glances over at the Christmas tree in her Morewood home. "We try to take it all in stride. We have received many phone calls offering support and many people have approached us."

Tom and Barbara Savary, Jamie's parents, weren't surprised when he offered himself for the voluntary stint. "He's been in cadets since he was 12 and then joined the militia when he was 17. He's always been interested in things like this," adds his mother.

Although his six-month term in Bosnia is obviously an eye-opening experience for the former North Dundas District High School student, the letters he writes home often reflect his "culture shock."

A recent letter to home reads, "I can't believe people live this way. It's small, smelly and poor."

From what his parents understand, Jamie's days are filled. "He is doing patrol on the Bosnia/Croatia border. It actually depends on where he is as to what he is doing," adds Mrs. Savary.

His parents have pored over literature from the Canadian Forces as to how to cope with a family member posted in such a situation as Jamie.

"It's really helpful to have handbooks and a number to call if we need any sort of information," says Mrs. Savary.

Jamie's letters to home arrived frequently at first, she adds, and phone calls came every few weeks. "We haven't received anything for a while though, but we're not worried."

Life in a war-torn country has taught Jamie another side of life, admits his father, who has experienced his own share of worry. "Sometimes I wake up in the middle of the night and wonder if something has gone wrong with Jamie."

However, he adds, "I try to look at things objectively and what a great experience this is for my son. I admire a young man for doing this."

Mrs. Savary echoes her husband. "I really stand in awe of all these young men and women, (serving with the United Nations), they are really selfless."

Although his parents aren't exactly clear on his current day-to-day activities, they are well aware of what took place in their son's life prior to his departure. "He underwent a lot of training and preparation," says Tom Savary. "But, he had the right combination of fear and expectancy before he left."

Jamie will come home for a break in March, but will head overseas again after a few weeks. "If all goes according to plan, he will be finished for good at the end of April or early May."

Life for the talented drummer and musician isn't what it used to be, adds his girlfriend Lisa McMartin. "He's homesick I think. He says he misses his family."

Meanwhile Tom Savary sits back in an armchair taking everything in. His wife insists he is being quiet. Both chuckle when he insists his wife continue speaking because she is doing such "a good job."

On Mr. Savary's lapel is pinned a blue ribbon. Many family members of United Nations Peacekeepers sport them in a move to show their support.

With Christmas being only a few days away, it is agreed Jamie will be greatly missed. "We will be looking forward to his phone call and have already sent packages to him."

Jamie's passion for chocolate-covered almonds certainly wasn't overlooked by his mother, who sends them to him in care packages.

Despite this season of peace, Lisa says, she can't help worrying about her boyfriend of almost two years. "He says he is fine and he doesn't have to work Christmas Day." Instead he will enjoy a traditional Christmas dinner with his comrades.

As well, adds his mother, they have been trying to keep their spirits up by holding a Christmas decorating contest and they are going to make a fireplace to add a touch to the season.

Regardless, it won't be Christmas at the Savary household until they receive that long-awaited call.

The following is a special air mail letter received by the Chesterville Record from Pte. Jamie Savary, with greetings for friends and family:

Merry Christmas from Croatia!

I would like to wish my mother, father, brothers, Lisa, her family (the McMartins) and all my friends a very merry Christmas and a happy new year. Thanks to everyone for their prayers, love & support. It is greatly needed and appreciated. I wish I could be home at this time to celebrate with you all. Thanks again and good luck in the new year.

Byvelds named DFA's Farmer of the Year

Dianne Fetterly
Special to the Record

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Steven Byvelds of Williamsburg is the Dundas Federation of Agriculture's Farmer of the Year for 1994.

"Steven's use of the latest management practices in running a profitable and production oriented dairy operation and his leadership to Dundas farm organizations make him a worthy winner of the Eric Casselman Award as the 1994 Dundas Farmer of the Year," said DFA president John Mellan on presenting the award.

Along with his wife Debbie, Steven runs Bycrest Farms Ltd. — a 125 head, 350-acre dairy operation just north of Williamsburg.

Crops grown at Bycrest in 1994 included forage, corn, soybeans and barley underseeded to alfalfa. The Byvelds use a rotation of two years corn out of sod, third year forage underseeded to barley or soybeans. Nitrogen soil tests have been completed on the farm over the last two years. Recommendations indicating no nitrogen have been followed and 1994 corn yields were four tonne per acre. Manure and sod provided the required nitrogen.

The milking herd consists of 65 purebred Holsteins with a current BCA of 220 for milk, 216 for fat and 217 for protein. The herd is classified by Holstein Canada and animals are bred to selected AI sires.

In 1994 a TMR mixer was installed on the farm. Alfalfa haylage, alfalfa hay, high moisture corn, roasted soybeans and purchased bypass protein supplements and minerals make up the mix. Byvelds attributes a 10 per cent increase in milk production to the TMR.

A Shurgain-style heifer barn was built at Bycrest to manage the heifers. Under this system heifers grow well and are milking at about two years of age. A liquid manure storage system was installed in 1993 to better utilize manure and offset environmental concerns. Milk house waste water is channelled into the system. A computer is used to monitor the herd's performance and the business's financial records.

In 1993 Bycrest Farms Ltd. was the fifth highest BCA herd in Dundas County. The farm also received a Gold Milk Quality Certificate last year and recently received a certificate of achievement from Holstein Canada for Bycrest Tyrabach Barbie who had four concurrent superior production awards.

Byvelds is past-president of the Dundas Soil and Crop Improvement Association, a director on the Dundas Milk Committee, a member of the Dundas Dairy Management Club and past director of the Dundas Holstein Club. He is also an EBI voting delegate for Dundas County and a co-operator in the Dundas rainfall recording project. He offers his farm for tours and projects as well.

Byvelds is also a past executive member of the Morrisburg Curling Club and the family are active members of the St. Mary's Church in Morrisburg. The couple has three children — Thomas, Andrew and Jonathan.

Steven returned to the family farm in 1980 after attending Fanshawe College in London, and working out for two years. He formed a partnership with his parents John and Toni in 1987 and in 1991 he and Debbie purchased his parents' interests and formed a corporation.

Johnson wins Award of Merit

Dianne Fetterly
Special to the Record

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Chesterville's Marilyn Johnson is this year's recipient of the Award of Merit from the Eastern Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association.

Johnson received the recognition for her outstanding contribution to rural community organizations in Dundas County.

"Marilyn's enthusiasm, dedication and willingness to take on any challenge for the betterment of the farm and rural community make her a worthy winner of the Award of Merit," said Phyllis MacMaster on presenting the award during the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting last week.

Marilyn Johnson accepts an award of merit from the Eastern Ontario Soil & Crop Association's Keith Matthie.

Besides being recognized by the Soil and Crop Association, Johnson also received a Canada 125th Community Involvement Medal recently, and was honored by the village of Chesterville earlier this year with an Appreciation Award for outstanding service and dedication.

An impressive list of organizations have benefited from Johnson's dedicated hours of volunteer work. They include her work as: secretary/treasurer of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture; secretary and past-president of the Chesterville Fair homecraft division; treasurer of the Second Hand Shop, Chesterville; treasurer of Chesterville Brownie pack: secretary of Nation Valley District Council Brownies and Guides; past co- ordinator of the Christmas toy drive; layout co-ordinator for the WSA Newsletter; director for the Ontario Farm Women's Network; member, Advisory Committee for Dundas 4-H Steps program; and a member of the regional Advisory Committee for Executive workshops.

This year she also joined the Women and Rural Economic Development (WRED).

Johnson also supported her husband Gord during his years serving as secretary of the Dundas Milk Committee and his bid for member of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

Along with their son Chris, the Johnsons own and operate a 470-acre, 45-cow dairy operation just east of Chesterville. The couple also has a daughter Carol who lives in Guelph as well as four grandchildren.

While a bout of laryngitis left Johnson nearly speechless during last week's award ceremonies, she was able to say she was pleased to receive the honor.

Dancers contribute

Dance teacher Christine Laplante's 36 students, including these merry members of the junior dance group, helped make this Christmas a little merrier for those who are in need by bringing in canned food for the North Dundas Food Bank. Laplante, back row at the right, teaches dance, ballet, jazz and tap at the Dunbar Recreation Centre Monday nights.

If You Drink And Drive Your Time Could Be Up!

Christmastime. Time for celebration. Time for partying. And unfortunately, time for accidents and fatalities on the road.

But what's most unfortunate of all, is that many of these traffic accidents could have been avoided if the drivers had exercised good judgement about alcohol.

That's why we're taking the time out to remind you to use common sense this holiday season. Whether this involves appointing a designated driver, calling a taxi, or hosting an alcohol-free gathering of your own, taking a few moments now to plan a safe evening can save a lifetime for you and others.

HAVE A HAPPY AND SAFE HOLIDAY SEASON.
Please Don't Drink And Drive.

Demons tie Brockville 4-4

CHESTERVILLE - The North Dundas Bantam 'C' Demons held off the visiting Brockville II squad for a 4-4 tie in last week's Upper Canada Minor Hockey League action.

The Brockville team took a first period lead after Robbie Thompson fired the puck between the posts on a solo skate from his blue line.

The Demons finally got on the board with just over 13 minutes left to play in the second period.

Darcy Roberts smoked the puck into the Brockville net for a 1-1 game. Mike Deighton and Chris McRoberts assisted.

Less than three minutes later Jarett Simpson gave his Demons a 2-1 lead when he easily shot the puck between Brockville's goalie Pat O'Shaughnessy and the posts. Cory Cauvier and Steve Wyman assisted.

Brockville quickly retaliated for a 2-2 score.

Brockville went to the net once more before the end of the second period for a 3-2 lead.

Early in the final period of the game, Dean Kerr drove to the Brockville net all by himself for a 3-3 tie.

Five minutes later the Brockville II's regained their one-point lead.

With less than a minute left in the game, the Demons found one more trick in their bag.

Wyman netted his second goal of the night on a pass from scheming teammates Simpson and Kerr with 40 seconds on the clock for a final 4-4 score.

Johnston nets five for tie

FINCH - The Finch Merchants and Avonmore Aces skated to a 6-6 tie in last week's NSIHL action.

The Merchants led the Aces 3-2 after the first period.

Mike Laponsee gave his Merchants a 1-0 lead with 15:42 left in the first period on a feed from teammate Steve Stewart.

Jeff Johnston scored his first of five goals just minutes later for a 1-1 game. Frank Sinfield and Steve McGrath assisted.

The Merchants came back with a shot between the posts from Terry Gove. Ed deWit made the assist.

Once again the Aces fought back and tied the game at 2-2 on a goal from Sinfield and Bruce Barker.

In the last two minutes of the opening period Laponsee netted his second of the night on a feed from Gove and deWit for a 3-2 Merchant lead going into the second period.

The Merchants continued their run at the net in the early minutes of the second period.

Laponsee netted the hat trick on a pass from Gilles LaSalle.

deWit scored his first goal of the night when he fired the puck between the posts on a pass from Laponsee for a 5-2 lead.

The Aces were not to be counted out of the game just yet.

Jeff Johnston turned on the steam and drove to the net four times in just as many minutes.

Johnston's second goal of the night came on a feed from teammates Kevin Poapst and Barker.

Less than a minute later Sinfield passed to Johnston for the hat trick and a one point deficit.

Johston tied the game up at 5-5 when he rifled the puck past Merchant goalie Brian Perras. Brent Cater and Sinfield assisted.

The Merchants' deWit managed to get the puck away from Johnston long enough to score his second goal of the night. The Merchants led 6-5 at 3:58 of the second period.

At 3:12 of the period Johnston was once again fed the puck by teammates Sinfield and Cater. Johnston tied the final score up at 6-6.

Devils downed by Panthers, defeat Patriots

MAPLE RIDGE - The North Dundas senior girls volleyball team dropped two games to the St. Joseph's Panthers.

Last Tuesday the Devils travelled to St. Joseph's where they defeated two matches to one. The Panthers took the first two games 15-6 and 15-10. The Devils came back to win the third match 15-13.

"They played really well but St. Joe's is a really good team," said senior Devils' coach Patti Hall.

Although the Devils were only able to pull off one win against the Panthers, Hall believes the loss was still encouraging.

"It wasn't a bad loss...They played much better than what the points showed...It was encouraging to see them play so well," noted Hall.

"They (St. Joseph's) were doing lots of spikes and we were getting them back but we weren't getting the points."

The midget Devils remain undefeated as they took all three matches from the Panthers.

"When they have an easier match they play better," said midget Devils coach Jen Robinson.

"The more we get into the season, the better they get," noted Robinson.

DEVILS VS PATRIOTS

The Devils may have had a difficult time scoring points against the Panthers but that was not the case when North Dundas hosted La Citadelle Wednesday afternoon.

The Devils defeated the Pats in two straight matches with scores of 15-10 and 15-11.

"They didn't play as well (on Wednesday) as they did on Tuesday. They missed a lot of serves but luckily the other team wasn't doing anything amazing," said Hall.

Communication was also a key factor in their win over the Patriots.

"They stuck together as a team and talked to each other on the floor. That's their strong point. They're always talking," noted Hall.

The junior Devils were also victorious in their match-up against the Patriots.

The junior North Dundas squad took two of three games away from La Citadelle. The Devils defeated the Pats 15-5 and 15-12. La Citadelle took the second match 15-7.

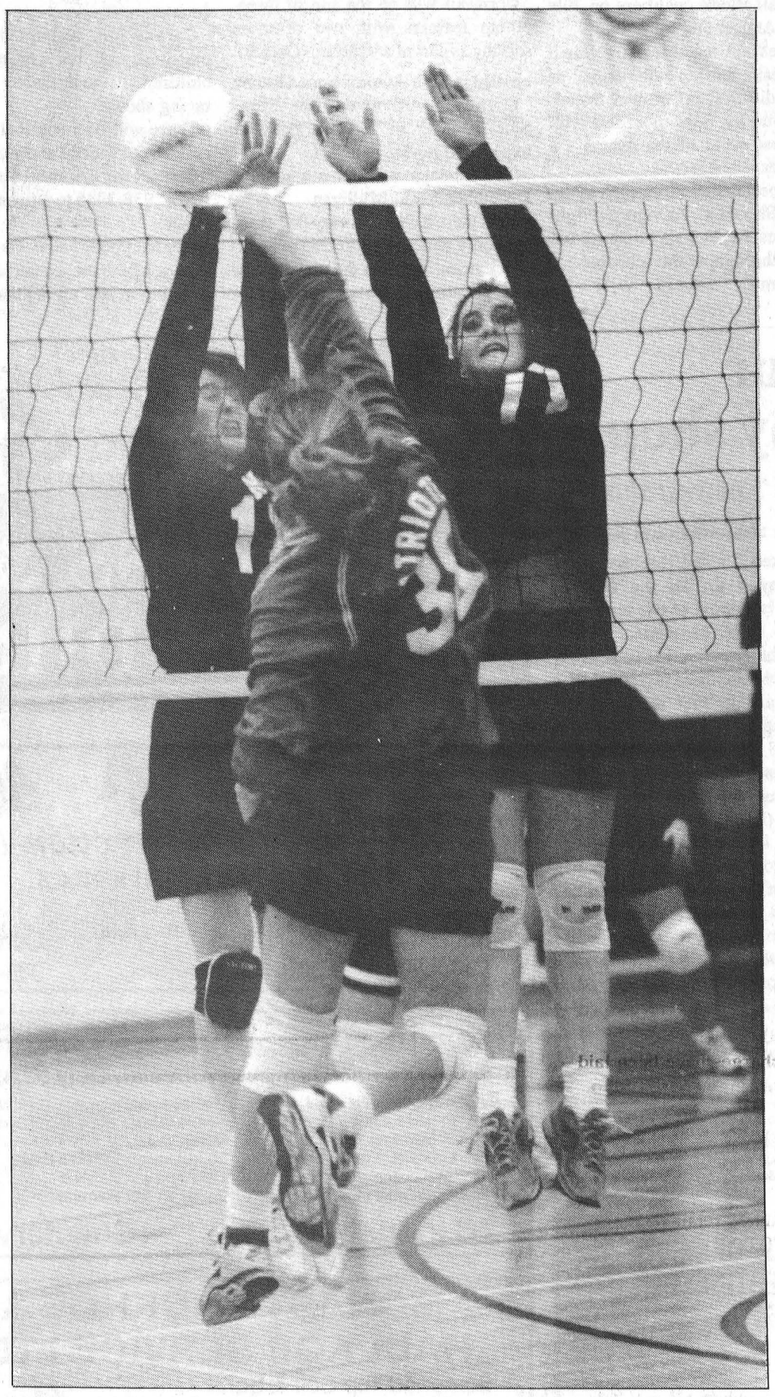
"They gave me a bit of a scare in the second match," noted Patti Hall, who took over coaching duties for the day.

"They had to work for it (the win), it wasn't given to them."

"I was quite surprised with La Citadelle. We thought they would be stronger because they have been in the past...But they may end up being tougher later," said Hall.

The midget Devils continued their winning streak as they defeated the visiting Patriots in three straight matches. The scores were 15-13, 15-8 and 15-11.

"They all played well...We started a new method where they all get equal playing time," said Devils coach Jen Robinson.



The senior Devils tag-team a block against the La Citadelle Patriots in last week's SD & G volleyball game at North Dundas.

Intensive practises, which focused on the basics of the game, also helped lead this team to victory.

"We've been practising the spiking and serving a lot...They all went to the net a lot," she said.

The m idget Devils are playing so well that even Robinson is surprised.

"What really impresses me is the way they'll go for the ball. It's amazing how they cover each other. I never noticed it before this game," said Robinson.

Guy dominates puck, Hornets fly by Knights

Sandra Dillich

CHESTERVILLE - The Green Hornets' John Guy buzzed by the White Knights to score all four of the Hornets goals in the Hornets' 4-2 victory over the Knights. The Knights were the first to score when Barry McShane rifled the puck between the posts on a feed from Darrell Shelp and Kevin Moore at 18:36 of the first period.

Hornets' defenceman John Guy started his scoring run with a retaliation at 10:51 of the period for a 1-1 game. Chris Williams and Daryl Robinson assisted.

With just over four minutes left in the opening period Guy netted his second goal of the night for a 2-1 Hornets' lead. Ray Sherrer and Sean O'Connor netted the assists.

The game continued to belong to Guy who potted the hat trick at 18:54 of the second round of action. Dave VanBruinessen helped out.

Two minutes later McShane managed to drive through the Hornets' nest for his team's second point of the night. The Hornets were still leading with a 3-2 score.

Guy drove the final puck into the net with just over 10 minutes left in the game for a final score of 4-2. Fellow Hornets Sherrer and Williams were in on the assist.

In the second game of the night, the Black Aces doubled the Red Rockets 4-2.

Don Marcellus gave his Aces a 1-0 lead when he fired the puck between the posts and Rocket goalie Jeff Whittaker. Jeff Moore and Mark Smith netted the assists.

Less than two minutes later Moore drove to the net on a pass from teammates Mark Smith and Willy O'Connor for a 2-0 lead.

The Rockets' Tony Fraser finally penetrated the Aces defence with 10:20 left in the opening period to make it a 2-1 game. Jason Kennedy assisted.

Moore netted one more point before the first period of play ended for a 3-1 Aces lead. Smith and Marcellus were also in on the point.

The Rockets were firing fast and furiously in the opening minutes of the second period.

John Tessier posted his first goal of the game on a pass from Brad Cotnam.

Both teams continued to fire rubber at the net but it was not until the last two minutes of the game that the Aces were able to increase their lead by two points.

Brent Hillis rifled the puck past Whittaker on a feed from teammate Pete VanKessel for the 4-2 win.

N.S. Express blinded by Stars, derailed by Lions

Stars shone bright for Casselman, not the Express in last week's EOJCHL action.

FINCH - The North Stormont Express dropped two games this past weekend to bring their record to 6-13-0, one point behind fifth place Vankleek Hill.

The Express's first loss came Thursday when they hosted the Casselman Stars.

The Stars blinded the Express and derailed them for an 8-3 victory.

"We just had a bad third period," explained Express coach Peter DeRooy.

The Stars took an early 1-0 lead when Francis Brisson fired the puck past Express goalie Todd Brownlee at 13:56 of the first period.

The Stars blinded Brownlee once again with just over five minutes left in te period for a 2-0 lead going into the second period.

The second period was dominated by the Express who shifted into high gear for an even match.

Although the Express found themselves killing penalties for most of the second period that did not stop them from riding the rails straight to the net for two of their own goals.

Captain Chris Leroux was the first of the Express to drive to the Stars net. With 14:22 left to play in the second period, Leroux rifled the puck past Stars's goalie Stephane Adam for a 2-1 game. Defenceman Pat Cadieux made the assist.

With defenceman Lance Ouderkirk feeling shame in the penalty box for hooking, teammate Tommy Cooper fired the puck into the net for a shorthanded goal and a 2-2 game. Leroux and Tyson Chadwick netted the assists.

After shutting the Stars out in the second period, Brownlee's net became an open doorway.

The Stars scored two quick goals within the opening minutes of the third period for a 4-2 lead.

A controversial request by DeRooy to measure a Cassleman player's stick, to determine whether or not the curve was legal, became a costly turning point for the Express.

"I called it for two reasons. Number one, Stephane Perth (from Casselman) is an excellent penalty killer and I also thought I could give our better players a bit of a rest and get us back in the game," explained DeRooy.

The stick was, however, ruled to be legal which cost the Express a potential five-on-three scoring opportunity.

"It didn't put us short because the stick was legal but it didn't help us any either," noted DeRooy.

Cornwall Speedway gears up for '95 season

CORNWALL - Racing fans can start circling some red-letter dates on their calendars with the release of Cornwall Motor Speedway's 16-event, 1995 tentative schedule.

"The traditional opener, on the Victoria Day long weekend, is set for Sunday, May 21st," explained Speedway marketing director Brian Mulligan.

"The Big Block and Small Block Modifieds will be mixed together that evening and kick things off with a twin 20-lap feature."

Ron Morin's Speedplant will crown track champions in both the Big Block and Small Block divisions in 1995.

As was the case last year when the 'Flyin' O'Brien Brothers, Danny and Pat from Kingston, Ontario claimed the honours respectively.

The Small Blocks will appear in 14 shows altogether but their domination of the newly-banked, Cornwall Quarter Mile will be challenged on seven occasions by the high-horsepowered Big Block runners.

The brightest stars on D.I.R.T. will shine on Sunday July 9th when Cornwall plays host, for a second time, to the Skoal Super Dirt Series for Big Block Modifies.

"The return of 'Barefoot' Bob McReadie, 'Jumpin' Jack Johnson, Brett 'The Jet' Hearn, and the remaining cast of heavy-hitting luminaries virtually assures another standing-room-only-crowd packing the grandstand," understated Mulligan.

The Empires Super Sprints bring their inimitable, wing-wheeling entertainment to the 'action track' on Sunday, June 11th.

In the meantime, the road to Syracuse, New York and 'Super Dirt Week' will pass through Cornwall with Small Block qualifiers on July 2nd and August 6th.

The quest for the 'Mr. Dirt' Small Block championship will begin, as tradition dictates, at Cornwall Speedway on Sunday, September 3rd with the longest event of the season - a 100-lapper.

Other special attractions such as the 'Six Star Shootout', Autograph Night and Ladies Night will be sprinkled liberally throughout the schedule.

Sportsman racers will be prominently displayed in 1995 as the primary sporting class to the modifieds.

"The Sportsman category is the chief source of driving talent for the modified division.

"The stars of tomorrow," noted Mulligan.

"We feel it is extremely important for them to be showcased as much as possible and they'll be involved in every event in 1995 except the season-ending Enduro."

Seaway Valley Sportsman racers will also be tested under fire by a very competitive sportsman class out of Quebec.

Cornwall will be the site of three, 50-lap features with two of those serving as part of a 'Quebec- Ontario' challenge with Autodromme Granby.

Cornwall will also offer Street Stock Racing in 1995 in both the expert and novice categories.

"Rule books will be available in December," said Mulligan.

"But there have been very few changes, only minor adjustments in Street Stock rules. We're in the process now of negotiating all the sponsorships for the points series and awards in five different classes, which include a pair of track titles in Modified."

A season ticket good for all 16 events at Cornwall Speedway is the perfect gift to put under the Christmas tree of a racing fan. There are substantial savings if a season ticket is purchased by the end of December.

The cost is $175 for adults or $200 in the reserved seating section. A pit pass, good for all events, is $50 more.

Fans purchasing a season ticket and paying in full prior to the end of the calendar year, receive a $25 discount.

Cornwall is re-implementing its past policy of free admission for all children 12 and under to regular racing shows.

There will be a nominal charge for children at special shows.

Contact the Cornwall Speedway office at 938-3945 to purchase a season ticket.

One telephone call in December can save you both money and a lot of time standing in line all next summer.

R/J's is not your ordinary hobby shop

Family tribute inspires Finch's newest shop

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

FINCH - There is a new store in Finch - R/J's Sports and Hobby Shop.

"The town needs a sports and hobby shop. The closest ones are in Cornwall or Ottawa," explained owner Claire Hubbard.

The little shop, located on Main Street, celebrated its opening a few years earlier than anticipated.

"My husband is disabled so we decided to open the shop a little early," she said.

Everything a sports fan could possibly want can now be found at R/J's. Not only can you find cards, models and pictures, but R/J's also houses hockey equipment. "We have used NGS hockey jerseys, skates, new sticks. We can also order team jerseys and jackets," noted Hubbard.

Displayed up on the front counter is a photo of two hockey players from Massena, New York. The question that begs asking is who are these two people?

They are in fact the store's namesakes.

The 'R' stands for Ray and the 'J' represents John who are both Claire's uncles.

"They (Ray and John) did a lot for the kids...Ray died seven years ago playing hockey...And if it wasn't for John we wouldn't have had outdoor rinks to skate on when we were younger," noted Hubbard.

To make the store's tribute all the more special, a poem written by Ray's former hockey team is prominently displayed behind the counter.

Village of Winchester Water Supply Expansion
Class Environmental Assessment Project
(O.C.W.A. Project No. 41-0379-02)

The Village of Winchester is in the process of completing a Class Environmental Assessment, Schedule C, regarding proposed expansion of the village's water supply.

A preliminary findings report was prepared in August, 1992 and a public information open house was held September 15, 1992. The outcome of the studies and the open house public consultation was a conclusion that the preferred alternative solution to the village's water supply shortage problem would be to construct a well or wells in the coarse gravel portion of the Morewood Esker aquifer formation, which is located to the northeast of the village in the Township of Winchester. A pipeline to the village would be required. The study also addressed the inadequacy of the village's water storage tank and concluded that additional elevated or underground storage tank capacity is required.

As a necessary step in completing the Class Environmental Assessment for this project, the village has obtained an option to purchase a six-acre parcel of land for a proposed well site located on Lot 15, Concession IX in the Township of Winchester.

The village's consultants have constructed a test well on this property and carried out a thirty-day pumping test at a rate of approximately 2,100 cubic metres per day (325 Imperial gallons per minute). The favorable results of the test indicate a well or wells at this location can provide a solution to the village's water supply shortfall over the next twenty years.

A Public Information OPEN HOUSE will be held Thursday, January 19, 1995 from 3:00 to 5:30pm and from 7:00 to 9:30pm in the Village of Winchester Municipal Building to update members of the public and interested review agencies on the progress of the water supply expansion project and to present the findings of the well pumping test. At this open house, written comments from the public will be solicited which will be addressed and incorporated into the study.

Pringle perfect as Raiders blank Knights 4-0

WINCHESTER—Brad Pringle kicked everything out that the Newington Knights could fire at him as the Winchester Raiders crushed the Newington Knights 4-0 in overtime here Sunday night.

It was the second consecutive Winchester and District Broomball League win for the Raiders as they improved to 4-8-1.

The game was a scoreless deadlock heading into overtime with Pringle and Dave MacLean playing stingy between the pipes. The Raiders were first to hit the twine when Bill Fisher scored from Ron VanKoppen with 1:33 left on the clock. Pete Heuvelmans then connected on a relay provided by Scott McIntosh at 1:16. Ira Gibson and Heuvelmans teamed up to make it 3-0 at 1:02 and Sean Watson made it a 4-0 final scoring from VanKoppen at 0:23.

In the other games first-place Morewood remained undefeated (13-0-0) edging the Toyes Hill Roadrunners 3-2. The Prescott Road Knights (10-3-0) turned back the Ormond Cloverdales 3-1 and the Manotick Merchants blanked the Mountaineers 2-0.

Guy Marion scored twice from Brian Como and Lucien Proulx in the first half as the Vikings took a 3-0 lead before the intermission. Dave Bilmer scored what would prove to be the winning goal on a play set up by Denis Bourbonnais at the 7:42 mark.

The Roadrunners got back into the game on a pair of second-half goals by Ted Bongers but came one short in a 3-2 loss.

Chris McEvoy registered the zero backing the Manotick Merchants in their 2-0 win over the Mountaineers. Bert Ruiters scored the winning goal on a pass from Rick Cureston at 21:00 of the first half and Linc Tym added the insurance scoring from Darryl Payne at 12:59 of the second stanza.

Chad Benoit and Dave Hudson scored in the first half as the second-place Prescott Road Knights improved to 10-3-0 with a 3-1 win over the Ormond Cloverdales (6-6-1).

Dave "Gunner" Holmes pumped in the final marker at 10:19 of the second half. Rob Carkner (2), Dave Petersen (2) and Rick Jackson set up the goals. Bruce Morris lost his shutout at 24:29 of the second stanza as Brett Fitzsimmons put a pass from Trevor Dean and Paul Downey into his net.

Atom 'A' Demons hot in last three games

LONG SAULT—A pair of second-period goals helped the North Dundas Mike Dean's Super Store Demons extend their current undefeated streak to three games.

The host South Stormont Flyers took a 1-0 lead in the first period of last Friday's game when Ryan Sage turned a feed from Ryan Fraser into a goal at the 9:51 mark.

North Dundas rallied with a pair of goals in the second period and held on for an exciting 2-1 UCMHL victory. Jamie Wyatt tied it on a goal set up by Nick Paas and Nathan Thompson with 6:14 to go in the stanza. Dan Wilson snapped the tie at the 5:13 mark when he pumped in a pass from Mike Thompson.

The victory left the Demons with two wins and a tie in their most recent league action.

On Dec. 13 North Dundas battled the Braves to a 2- 2 tie in Brockville pulling out the decision with two goals in the final 1:40 of play.

Aaron Kelly tied the game up 1-1 when he connected from Scott Baldwin and Dave Gallant 1:40 before the end of the game. Captain Francis Dagenais then fired in a feed from Bryce McBain and Kelly Beckstead with 0:20 to go to make it 2-1 but the Braves dashed any hope the Demons had for a win scoring the tying goal with just 0:13 left on the clock.

Three days earlier the Demons got four goals from four different shooters as they defeated the Morrisburg Lions 4-1 in Morrisburg.

Scott Baldwin made it 1-0 with help from Aaron Kelly at 8:57 of the opening stanza. Dave Gallant then found the target with a Nathan Thompson relay at 6:36 of the second stanza. Francis Dagenais then teamed up with Mike Thompson for a 3-0 lead 3:38 before the end of the same frame.

Morrisburg got on the board when Shawn Hitsman scored with 5:03 left in the third. An unassisted marker by Mike Thompson with 3:19 to go restored the Demons' three-goal lead and a 4-1 victory.

Bryan Verhoeven and Chris Currie shared the goaltending chores.

Classics suffer first defeat at hands of Sports Unlimited

Sandra Dillich
Record Staff

WINCHESTER - Stewart's Classics suffered their first loss of the season in last weekend's WDLHL action. Sports Unlimited dethroned the Classics 7- 0 to take top spot.

The Unlimited squad came ready to win. Sharon McLeod and Nancy McDiarmid split the goal scoring, both making the hat trick. Carolyn Clement rounded out the total with a goal.

McLeod was first to score on Classics' goalie Carrie Nolan at 11:57 of the first period on a feed from Bev Short and Lee Anne Van Delst.

The Classics held off the Unlimited squad until there was just under five minutes left to play in the first period.

McDiarmid drove to the net alone at 4:56 of the first period for a 2-0 lead. Less than a minute later McLeod netted her second goal of the day on a pass from teammate Carolyn Clement.

Sports Unlimited led 3-0 going into the second period.

Things did not improve for the Classics' squad in the second period.

Clement netted her only goal of the game with 12:50 on the clock.

Less than two minutes later McLeod completed the hat trick on a solo shot.

McDiarmid fired in her second of the day with 8:50 left to play in the game to give her team a 6-0 lead.

With three minutes left on the clock, McDiarmid drove to the net again for a final score of 7-0.

Jackie Boulanger posted the shutout for Sports Unlimited.

The Country Girls blanked Annable's Jewellery 3-0 in their match-up.

Shelly Benoit got the scoring started early in the first period when she fired the puck into the net on a pass from teammate Carrie Kennedy.

With 12:50 left in the first period, Karen Ouderkirk netted her first goal of the game. Tina Fawcett assisted.

Less than a minute later Country Girl Debbie Henderson went to the net alone for a 3-0 game.

Annable's goalie, Roxanne Backes, held off the Country Girls in the second period for a final score of 3-0.

Country Girl net minder Lori Garlough posted the shut-out.

Deanne Corbitt-White led her team, Andy's Food Town, to victory by scoring five goals against Double Beauty goalie Sherry Stewart. Andy's Food Town won with a final score of 7-2.

The score was tied 1-1 after the first period.

Double Beauty's Dana Doumoulin was the first to score with 13:02 left in the first period. Lori Marriner assisted.

With just over three minutes left in the first period, Corbett-White tied it up on a pass from teammates Marilyn Collins and Kim Simms.

The Double Beauty goalie saw a lot of unstoppable rubber come her way in the second period.

Sue Whelan gave her squad the lead when she netted her first goal of the day on a pass from Rhonda Winters.

Joanne Fawcett followed Whelan to the net less than two minutes later for a 4-1 Andy's lead.

Corbett-White potted her second goal of the game before Double Beauty's Doumoulin netted her second goal of the game. Linda Hamelin assisted.

The last six minutes of the game belonged to Corbett-White who netted three more goals for Andy's Food Town's fifth win of the season.

'AA' Kings snap losing streak in Kingston

RIDEAU-ST.LAWRENCE - The Rideau-St.Lawrence Minor Bantam 'AA' Kings finally broke a three game losing streak with a pair of wins this weekend.

Saturday evening in Kingston, the Kings beat the Frontenacs 3-2.

The win gave the Kings a season sweep of four games straight.

Scoring for Rideau-St.Lawrence was Dusty Kingston, Bill Christie and rookie Nathan Cassie. Ashley White and Joel Hanmore tallied for Kingston.

Sunday in Brockville, the Kings were home to the Ottawa West Golden Knights.

The Kings proved to be too strong as they routed their guests 8-1.

The Kings showed better team play and hustle and it was obvious to be seen as eight different players hit the score sheet.

Matt Carkner, Avery Flanagan, Sean Williams, Chris Barkley, Ryan Poll, Nevin Patterson, Kingston and Cassie all scored. Jay Bullied handled all shots except one.

The ODMHA league record for the Kings now stands at 12-8-2.

Senior Devils flying high after first victory, midgets tie

MAPLE RIDGE—Senior coach Randy Steeds got an early Christmas gift here last Wednesday. After a pair of one-sided losses his North Dundas Devils earned their first SD&G Boys High School Basketball League victory.

North Dundas led 20-17 after the first period and 32-31 at the half. It was 40-37 at three-quarter time and 43-59 at the buzzer.

The afternoon opened with the Midget Devils coming within a point of winning their first game of the campaign.

They shut down the Saints in the final quarter, outscored them 10-0 rallying from a 30-20 deficit and tied the game 30-30.

Both sides came out running and gunning in the opening quarter. It was 8-8 at 4:47 on a Chris Wilson bucket and 15-14 (Saints) on a rainbow from three-point land by Sean Hachey at 1:59. Hackey swished a deuce to tie it up 15-15 and then Chris Wiche, Matt Robinson and Aaron Lannin (single) came through in the final seconds to put the senior Devils up 20-17 at the break.

Jared Cote hit the highlight reel in the second stanza looping in "trois" as the battled raged to the half. North Dundas carried a 32-31 lead to the intermission thanks to a pair of late hits by Matt VanGilst.

Aaron Lannin, Matt VanGilst and Chris Wilson combined for the Devils eight points as they worked themselves into a 40-37 lead by three quarter time.

Matt VanGilst, one of the Devils graduating players, came up big in the final period draining seven consecutive points before Sean Hachey clicked in with four to make it 51-37.

Jason McSheffery, Hachey and Chris Wiche found twine in the final 2:00 to drive the final total to 59-43.

"I can't believe it, we blew it again," were junior Devils coach Jevon Groves's words following a frustrating 57-42 loss to the Saints.

"We went to a man to man press and it worked in the third quarter. But they (Saints) got up on us by six points and we got desperate, went to the long ball but it didn't work. And then the guys got frustrated."

North Dundas held Studnicki to four points in the second half and outgunned their opposition 14-6 (10 points by Jason Sheldrick and four by Felipe Ortiz) in the third period as they closed the gap to 33-31.

Jason Sheldrick was top scorer with 11. Evan Porteous dunked nine.

Coach Sean Hachey described his team's match as, "very exciting".

"We were down by 10, came back and had the ball in the final second. We could have won it."

N.S. Express stalled at sixth

The Stars went on to dominate the third period as the Express continued to lose steam.

The Stars scored two more goals on Brownlee before Ouderkirk smoked the puck into the Stars net for Ouderkirk's first goal of the night and the Express's third. Leroux and Randy Sauve assisted.

But as the Express started to lose even more steam the Stars coasted to the net two more times for a final score of 8-3.

The Express's big upest of this weekend's round of action came from the Russell Lions who are currently in last place with two wins to their credit.

The Lions roared up their second win of the season by defeating the Express 10-2.

"That (a loss to the underdog) happens in all kinds of sports," said DeRooy.

From the first drop of the puck, the Express were fighting a losing battle.

"We spent the first three quarters of the first period killing penalties. He (the ref) seemed to nail us with everything and let them (the Lions) get away with murder," said DeRooy.

"He called a tight game one way. I'm not going to say that's what beat us but it didn't help us," he said.

What does DeRooy attribute the Express's loss to?

"We were flat."

Chris Leroux and Tommy Cooper were the Express point-getters.

Note: Randy Sauve will repalce Mike Marleau at the All-Star game next week.
