60th Anniversary for Mr., Mrs. Fred Wells

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wells of Froat burn, Williamsburg Township celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary May 1, 1972. A family dinner for more than 50 relatives and friends was held Saturday at Treas ure Island in Ingleside. The following day the couple were At Home to their friends during the afternoon and evening.

Mr. Wells and his bride the former Rhoda Brown of Woodlands, were married at the Presbyterian Manse at Woodlands by Rev. N. McClaren. Woodlands, now flooded by the Seaway was located east of Farrans Point. Mrs. Flossie Ranson of Ingleside was the bride's attendant. The late George Ranson, was best man. The couple took a short honeymoon trip in their rubber-tired buggy to visit relatives at Mallorytown before returning to the family farm home in Williamsburg Township. They live in the home where Mr. Wells was born. Mrs. Wells reports that for the occasion the groom wore a derby hat, the one time in his life he was known to sport such an adornment.

Mr. Wells has the distinction of having been born June 23, the same day and reportedly the same hour as The Duke of Windsor, and was christened with an equally impressive list of names — Frederick, Franklin, Michael, Lucius, Peter. Nelson, Bartholomew.

At the family dinner, head table guests were Mrs. Wells' sister Mrs. Carrie Schell, Morrisburg, her brother John Brown, also of Morrisburg and Mr. Wells' two sisters Mrs. Albert Millner of Oshawa and Mrs. George Galley and their spouses. The damash-covered table was centred with a beautifully decorated three-tiered anniversary c a k e baked by their daughter Eileen. This was flanked by tall tapers in floral settings of gold and white mums. The diningroom was decorated for the occasion.

Paster Millner, brother-in-law, toasted the bride and groom. He presented them with a "Book of Remembrance" prepared by the family signed by all present and highlighted with an illuminated address prepared by their neighbour Mrs. Nora Fruner.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells have 6 children; three sons Russell, Raymond and Earl. Their daughters are Eileen, Verna and Jean. They have 17 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren.

Greetings were read from Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Gerard Pelletier, Secretary of State, Wm. G. Davis, Premier of Ontario, Donald K. Irvine, M.P.P., Grenville-Dundas.

More than 100 guests called during the day to offer congratulations and best wishes. In a place of honor three such plaques representing their 50th, 55th and 60th wedding anniversaries hang in a row.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells exchanged diamond rings on their diamond anniversary.

Iroquois Church Marks 98th Anniversary Sun.

The Brittania Chancel Players of Ottawa will present, as guest ministry, the Christian drama "Christ in the Concrete City", a verse-play by P.W. Turner, with the Knox Senior Choir, under the direction of the Rev. John J. Hibbs, Mrs. Ruby Bell, Organist, giving leadership in the ministry of music.

The play tells of the account of the Passion of Jesus Christ from three points of view: first, it is the Gospel narrative, something that happened in our history; second, it is an account of universal significance, a timeless message for all mankind; third, it is a modernday call for personal resposinbility on the part of every Christian.

Arthur E. Hickey, Died in Hospital in 90th Year

Arthur Empey Hickey, one of the district's oldest residents died on Friday, April 28th in the Cornwall General Hospital.

Born May 31, 1882 at "Ingleside", Aultsville, he was a son of the late John Simeon Hickey and his wife, Martha Maria Empey, both of United Empire Loyalist descent. He was the youngest and the last surviving member of a family of eight children.

Mr. Hickey was closely associated with the history of the immediate area. His father was the third John Hickey to become the owner of Ingleside Homestead a crown grant of land. The first John Hickey was a member of the First Battalion of The King's Royal Regiment, which was disbanded in 1784. The crown deed which made him owner of the property where Ingleside Homestead stood is dated 1803 and is signed by Peter Hunter, Lieutenant General commanding the forces in the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada. It seems fitting that Upper Canada Village should stand on a portion of that land specified in the original crown grant, and that the Village of Ingleside should be given the name of the pioneer homestead.

Arthur E. Hickey was educated at the local public schools and Morrisburg Collegiate Institute. In 1901 he joined the staff of Molson's Bank and served at Kingsville,, Hensall, Exeter, Toronto, Williamsburg, Chesterville and Meaford. In 1922 he became a bank inspector, and continued in that position when Molson's Bank was merged with the Bank of Montreal in 1924. He later became manager at the Bleury and St. Catharine Street Branch in Montreal, where he remained until his retirement in 1942. He then returned to Morrisburg, purchased a large stone home on Riverside Drive, which he completely renovated, and made one of the showplaces of the village.

In 1903 he joined the Masonic Order at Hensall and became Wor. Master of Bedford Lodge No. 60, F. & A.M. A member of the Anglican faith, he was confirmed by Rt. Rev. J. C. Farthiah, Bishop of Mon treal at Bedford, Que., in 1921. He later served as warden there.

Mr. Hickey was interested in history, and particularly in the United Empire Loyalists. He completed research on his family tree, and published a family history entitled "The Ingleside Hickeys". Among his other hobbies were stamp collecting, gardening, fishing and golfing. In the latter sport, he once made a hole-in-one.

He was twice married His first wife was the former Cora Marjorie Dulmadge, whom he married at Hensall in 1903. She predeceased him in 1922. From that union he leaves one daughter, Mrs. R. J. Gray (Margaret Louise) of Cornwall. In 1924 he married the former Gladys Eileen Winslow at Port Hope .She predeceased him at Morrisburg in 1963. Besides his daughter, he is survived by two grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren

Predeceasing their brother were six brothers: Charles, John Alexander, Walter Reuben,, Malcolm Allen, James Stanton, Frank Gordon, and one sister, Mrs. George Montgomery (Louise).

Funeral services were conducted on Saturday, April 28th at 2 p.m., from the Fairbairn Funeral Home, Morrisburg, to St. James Anglican Church, with Rev. Cyril W. Earle officiating. Interment will be later at Fairview Cemetery.

C OF C PLANS FOR OLD HOME WEEK NEAR COMPLETION

Discussion of plans for "Old Home Week" from June 28 to July 2, was the chief topic of interest at a Directors' breakfast meeting of Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday. Les Cruickshank, convenor reported that activities are well organized and at a meeting to be held May 10 in the Civic Centre, all plans should be finalized.

The question of various types of advertising for the event were discussed. Alex English and Ralph O'Brien will constitute an advertising committee to work closely with convenors Les Cruickshank and Bob Mattice. It was suggested by Mr. Cruickshank that a daily chairman be appointed for each day of activity.

The Women's Institute and The Senior Citizens' organization will work together to conduct a Hospitality Centre in the mall of the shopping centre during Old Home Week.

Wm. Marshall reported that mem berships are coming in steadily and the canvass is proceeding satisfactorily. He said, "Without exception members are enthusiastic about another fall trade show". Requests for extra space to be rented by merchants was noted and will be given consideration.

The next meeting will be held May 18 at the Hollywood Cafe at 8 a.m.

Pre-School Plans Receive Approval

The Seaway Pre-School Committee met on Thursday, April 27th with Mrs. Evelyn Gripton, Field Supervisor. Day Nurseries Branch, Dept. of Social and Family Services. Mrs. Gripton approved the facilities chosen by the building committee. She outlined for the committee, the steps to be taken for licensing of the premises.

The finance committee discussed the procedure for securing the Day Nursery Branch grants. Mrs. Gripton explained the need for widespread community involvement and support in order that requests for funds be approved. It was suggested that a survey be conducted to assess community interest.

Further discussions on equipment, staff, and parent participation followed, with the individual committees outlining plans for the near future.

The group was greatly aided in their discussions by the presence of Mr. Lloyd Barkley who was able to answer many questions and offered advice on the plans of operation.

The committee will proceed as quickly as possible with their plans as they feel a good pre-school programme would benefit not only the children in the area but would also be an attraction to prospective newcomers.

MORRISBURG TAX RATE TO SHOW A SLIGHT INCREASE

The Morrisburg mill rate will be approximately two mills higher than last year, Clerk Lloyd Barkley told Council at Monday night's meeting. The village rate is 3 mills lower which will offset the increased county rate of an extra 3.8 while education has risen a further 1.82 mills.

Other subjects briefly discussed were additional lighting for the mall of the shopping centre, the purchase of 25 gallons of amber traffic paint, re - employment of Miss Eva Cassell and Mrs. Amy Myers to staff the Information booth and obtaining the services of a company to trim trees and cut down diseased elms in the village.

Will Mark Hospital Day at Winchester

Winchester Dist. Mem. Hospital will be joining more than 300 hospitals in Ontario and more than 1,400 hospitals all over Canada in observing Canada Hospital Day, on May 12, 1972.

The date celebrates the birth of Florence Nightingale the mother of modern nursing. Miss Nightingale pioneered concepts of hygiene and sanitation, taken for granted today, but which were revolutionary in her time.

The revolution did not stop with Miss Nightingale. Her place as a person in the community, serving the needs of the community through the local hospital, is stressed in this year's Canada Hospital Day theme, "This is the House the Citizens Built. . ."

A total of 4,100 men and women serve in a voluntary capacity as trustees of Ontario's hospitals and in them is vested the legal, moral and ethical responsibility for the running of the majority of Ontario's hospitals.

More than 60,000 volunteers and more than 7,000 candy stripers serve in Ontario's hospitals. Mrs. Max Boyd at Winchester District Memorial Hospital is always looking for volunteers to help with the many jobs that need doing.

Unlike most other industries, hospitals are a round-the-clock seven-day-a-week business, dedicated to preventing illness, restoring health and saving lives. On the average, there are 2½ skilled hospital workers for each patient admitted. — These include doctors, nurses, technicians, therapists, medical record librarians and a host of other professional and skilled workers representing some 200 occupations.

The hospital is a labor intensive industry which spends 75-78 cents out of every dollar on wages.

The modern community hospital is reaching out into the community through its preventive medicine programs in its out-patient departments and working closely with other health agencies in the community. Hospitals provide home care programs and liaison with extended care and nursing home facilities.

DAVIS HEADS GUEST LIST FOR CASS TESTIMONIAL

Hon. William G. Davis, Ontario Premier, and Mrs. Davis and Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Mrs. Lamoureux will be among the many special guests paying tribute to Fred and Olive Cass on Saturday evening, June 3rd.

Taking the form of a gala dinner party and dance the Testimonial will be held in the spacious Prescott Community Centre which will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. The entire event is being arranged by a committee of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cass and the invitation goes out to all other friends to join with them on this important evening.

The committee emphasizes that the Testimonial is not a political gathering but a time for all friends regardless of political faith, to pay testimony to both Mr. and Mrs. Cass who served Grenville-Dundas for 16 years while he was a member of provincial parliament.

Mr. Cass, first elected in 1955, was re-elected in 1955, was re-elected in 1959, 1963 and 1967 before retiring last year. During that time he served on the cabinet as Minister of Highways, Minister of Municipal Affairs, Attorney General and Speaker of the Legislature.

Tickets to the Testimonial are $5.00 per person and are on sale on the first come first served basis until May 27th. Tickets will not be available after that date nor will they be sold at the door, the committee stated this week.

Present plans call for a reception to get underway at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m., followed by presentations and dancing. In the Morrisburg-Williamsburg area tickets may be purchased through G. William Gorrell and Mrs. Betty Locke.

GORDON BLAIR'S OTTAWA REPORT

Would You Believe?

The first results of last year's census tell us much about Canada. Our population has almost doubled in 30 years. From 11,506,655 in 1941, it grew to 14,009,429 in 1951, 19,-238,247 in 1961, 20,014,880 in 1966 and 21,568,311 in 1971. The great post-war population explosion has moderated in the last decade as a result of the decrease in the birth rate and immigration.

There has also been a marked change in attitude about population growth. An unlimited population increase is no longer looked upon as a sound national goal. Our increasing concern about ballancing growth, providing employment opportunities for Canadians and protecting the environment have taught most of us that "bigness" is not necessarily "goodness".

Language Distribution of The Population

The first figures emphasize the predominance of the English language in Canada — 12,973,809 gave English as their mother tongue; 5,793,650 French and 2,800,852 Other Languages.

As explained by the Canada Year Book, "mother tongue" means the language a person first learned in childhood and still understands.—This is a different concept from that of an ethnic group which has been defined in previous census by the question "to what ethnic or cultural group did you or your ancestor (on the male side) belong on coming to this continent". In the 1961 census this information indicated that 43.8 percent of the population originated in the British Isles; 30.4 percent France; and 25.8 percent in other countries. We can expect considerable discussion and even heated debate about the meaning of these figures and whether they do full justice to the many racial and cultural groups in our population. To me, they clearly demonstrate the difficulty of ethnic and cultural groups maintaining a sense of their identity and their past in the face of the over-whelming predominance of the English language in North America. The importance given to English-French equation in our country has obscured for many people the problem faced by other ethnic groups and cultures which are now receiving support and encouragement through the multi-cultural programs of the Federal Government and most Provincial Governments.

Grenville-Carleton Growth

The constituency of Grenville-Carleton with a population of 119,-408 is now the 20th largest constituency in the country. The population was only 64,408 in 1961 and 91,635 in 1966. It far exceeds the national average and, as I predicted in a column several weeks ago, contains more people than the total of 111,641 for Prince Edward Island represented by four members. By mother tongue the distribution is English 105,796, French 5,479, and Other 8,133.

We are in step with the national trend in the proportion of young voters created by the lowering of the voting age to 18. Of the 72,443 eligible voters, 5,463 were between 18 and 21. Overall in Canada, men outnumber women by only 22,427, but in Grenville-Carleton alone, men are ahead by 1,928.

Constituency Boundaries

Out of Date

The next Federal election will have to be based on existing constituency boundaries established by the 1961 census results. If the election occurs this year, it will be based on population figures which are eleven years out of date. There is, however, no practical escape from the problem. One of the great reforms of the Pearson Government was to take the redistribution of seats in the House of Commons "out of politics". The census results will now be conveyed to the independent electoral boundary adjustment commissions established in each Province (generally under the chairmanship of the Chief Justice of the Province). Their reports will take more than a year to prepare. Obviously, redistribution when it comes, will change the electoral map, but the new House to be elected after the coming election, will continue to under-represent some and over-represent other parts of Canada.

What of the Future?

The post-war surge in our birth rate which reached a peak of 18.6 per thousand of population in the period 1956-60 declined to 10.2 in 1968. The variation in Provinces is even more dramatic. The birth rate in Quebec which reached 22.0 after the war dropped to 9.6 in 1968 not only below the national average but slightly below Ontario.

Population projections furnished to me by the Bureau of Statistics range from a high of 28½ million in 1984 to a low of slightly over 25 million. On the basis of present trends, it certainly seems that the population will level out at the lower end of the estimates.

The stabilization of the population at which is called the "replacement level" in the words of an official report, "is not some remote vision of the future but virtually an established pattern of the reproductive behaviour of our society.

These census reports will be issued regularly for several months as different sections are compiled. I would be glad to assist anyone in procuring information and answers to questions about census results.

Yours Sincerely . . .

BY MRS. WELLWOOD ADAM

I often find myself wondering why some good-living, hardworking people, who have dedicated themselves for the good of their fellow-men and women, have to die violent deaths at the hands of 'mixed-up' people.

Consider Dr. Martin Luther King, among others, a great man of God, who gave his life, in our day and generation, for his suffering people in U.S.A. and elsewhere. A great leader and a courageous one, and I am proud to say that I have always admired him and cintinue to honour his memory as the years pass. He has been called the American Ghandi, and I think that he personified Christ's teaching of 'going the second mile'. He was one of God's great ministers, and spoke from his heart, sometimes with real prophetic urgency. His was a deep and serene spirit indeed.

I am persuaded to write something I heard of him during the Montgomery bus protest in Alabama. An elderly negro woman called Mother Pollard, well-loved by her people including Dr. King — she took part willingly in the bus protest, having an amazingly intelligent and deep understanding of the principle involved in the movement. She walked for several weeks, and she was asked if she were tired. Her answer was wonderful, even if ungrammatical: "My feets is tired, but my soul is rested."

There came a time, one of many to follow, when Dr. King was arrested by the short-sighted authorities down there, and he also received many threatening phone calls after his release. He managed to convey a feeling of strength and courage to his people, but he felt inwardly depressed and full of fear, especially for his beloved wife and family. After a speech to his people, old Mother Pollard came over to him. "What's the matter, son? What's wrong? You didn't talk strong tonight. You can't fool me! Ain't we doin' things to please you? Or is it the white folks is bothering you?" Then she looked right into Dr. Martin Luther King's face and she said: I don told you, we is with you all the way, and even if we ain't with you, God's gonna take care of you!"

Mother Pollard has since passed on to glory, but Dr. King lived long enough to go through many more days of real adversity and storm for his people. Those words "God's gonna take care of you" came back to him again and again to give peace and guidance to his soul. It was real faith in God which kept him going, and the same for his beloved wife, Mrs. King and their children when he was so cruelly taken from them.

The same goes for his people who continue to work for their freedoms in all their aspects, for freedom is God's birthright to every man, woman and child on this earth. And the same goes for you and me, in this particular corner of the earth we happen to be in—the same faith in "God's gonna take care of you".

Do you believe this is really possible, if we work hard enough for it to materialise? I do.

THE TEACHER'S VIEW

In 1957, Russia launched its far-famed "Sputnik", the first satellite. The result, in educational circles was that a great upheaval began in the teaching of mathematics and science. The North American aim became to "close the gap" between us and the Russians. New mathematics courses, new science courses, new methods and texts became the fad of the times, and mathematics and science developed a "glamour" status in schools. Press, radio and television gave the impression that anyone who did not study mathematics and science throughout high school was somehow cheating himself out of an education. Unfortunately, the impression is just as wrong when created about mathematics as it is when created about any other subject. Certain students should concentrate on mathematics in secondary schools, certain students should concentrate on other subjects, and many students should study a broad program of many subjects.

Now that almost all students are free to choose a combination of subjects to suit their needs, interests and abilities, one would expect the percentage of students enrolling in mathematics to drop. It does not appear to be doing so, and I believe that this is a hold-on from the days following the launching of "Sputnik". The result is predictable, some students choosing mathematics as a course in secondary school are misplaced, they simply do not have the aptitude, interest, or desire to be successful in mathematics. Most of these students readily admit that they are enrolled in mathematics courses because they are convinced that mathematics is essential.

Many of them have been convinced by their parents, parents who readily recognize that their offspring can't draw, or can't sing, or will never do well in French, but will not recognize that some students simply cannot "do" mathematics in high school. It is time that all recognize that, as any other subject, mathematics at the secondary school level requires a certain type of ability, which is, unfortunately, not possessed by all.

If students lacking this ability enroll in mathematics courses, the student either fails to pass the course, or, if successful, it is only with a mark so near to failure that the possibilities of further studies in mathematics are obviously out of the question.

PETER WARD'S OTTAWA VIEWPOINT

Connally Cloud Previews Economic Storm

By PETER WARD

Copyright 1972, Toronto Sun Syndicate

OTTAWA—It took exactly four days for the euphoric veneer of Canadian-American friendship created by the Nixon visit in mid-April to wear through.

As expected, U.S. Treasury Secretary John Connally was the abrasive. Both Connally and Canadian Finance Minister John Turner were scheduled to attend the annual meeting of the International Monetary Conference of the American Bankers Association in Montreal, May 9 to 12.

Turner speaks to the opening session of the conference; Connally was scheduled to deliver the closing address.

But Connally has refused to go, and the refusal is being read by the international finance community and Canadian finance officials as a direct snub to Canada by Connally, who will be the first U.S. Treasury Secretary to miss the ABA's annual session since 1950. Connally will attend, instead, a meeting of Latin American finance ministers. The Montreal session, it was hoped, would present an opportunity for Connally and Turner to meet for the first time. Canada hoped that a new personal relationship between the two men would replace the animosity which had grown up between Connally and former Finance Minister Ben Benson.

But when unofficial word of Connally's intended absence from Montreal reached officials in Turner's office from Washington, it was taken as further evidence of the anti-Canadian attitudes at the U.S. Treasury Department.

There's still that little matter of a trade impasse between Canada and the U.S., and if you read between the lines of the speeches during the Nixon visit, you could have seen something like this coming.

President Nixon recognized Canadian independence, a fact which most of our newspapers pointed out in headline form, but he also told us we'd have to begin acting like equals, as well as talking like big boys. No more running to Washington for favors.

Canada, at the same time, made it clear that she would not fall over backwards in eagerness to continue bargaining over trade differences. Any solution of the trade impasse means that Canada will have to make concessions—something we are determined not to do—particularly with an election in the air.

So the Connally episode is only a portent of the stormy economic weather which lies ahead for Ottawa and Washington. Believe me, it's going to get much worse before it gets better.

AFTER A TOOTH IS PULLED

What should you do after you have a tooth pulled?

As the extraction of a tooth is a surgical operation, appropriate postoperative care is necessary.

—No rinsing or use of a mouthwash during the first twelve hour period following an extraction.

—Avoid touching the wound with your fingers; you might infect it.

—If excessive bleeding should occur, rest, preferably in a seated position. Place a fairly large piece of sterilized gauze or cotton over the wound and close the teeth tightly enough to cause steady gentle pressure. Maintain the steady pressure for about 15 minutes. Repeat two or three times and if the bleeding persists, consult your dentist.

—Swelling often occurs after extraction and should not cause anxiety. Applying to your face for about 15 minutes an ice bag covered by a towel frequently prevents swelling. Consult your dentist should swelling persist for more than two days.

—Liquid or semi-liquid foods (broth, milk, porridge etc.) are preferable during the first 24 hours following an extraction.

By kowing these measures, problems following the extraction of a tooth will be kept to a minimum.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

BY DON IRVINE
M.P.P. for Grenville - Dundas

ELECTION ACT

The new election bill was presented in the House by the Honourable Darcy McKeough, Minister of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs. I agree with the principle of this Act, which affects all elected representatives under the jurisdiction of the Municipal Clerks for positions such as Municipal Council, School Boards and Public Utilities Commission. The Act has the important features of having all terms after 1974 to be for a two year term, all elections to be held on December 1st, and all those over 18 years and over, whether property owners or not, eligible to hold office and to vote.

ESTIMATES

The estimates for the Ministry of Industry and Tourism were passed on Monday, April 24th. There was considerable debate on the overall budget with particular emphasis on the feasibility of continuing the Ontario Development Corporation in its present capacity. The Liberal party was not as vehemently opposed to the concept of performance loans or forgiveable loans to create jobs as was the N.D.P. The Minister, Honourable John White indicated that he was considering broadening the role of the O.D.C. by loaning funds either through government funds or by means of guaranteed loans through banking sources. These funds would be eligible to service industries and small business as well as manufacturing industries. I expressed my opinion in the House during this debate, that it was imperative to retain the policy of additional incentives for areas of high unemployment and low income. These incentives would not only improve the economy for depressed areas, but also, further the desired result of the decentralization of industry from the Toronto region Straight loans are not enough incentive to industry or other business because it is recognized that in Eastern Ontario we do have a higher cost of transporting manufactured or purchased goods and are lacking in an adequate supply of skilled labour. Everyone supported additional financial support to those in the tourist industry to improve their facilities to attract more tourists into all parts of Ontario. I will be most interested to receive the final details of this industrial promotion plan which is expected to be announced by the Minister before the end of May.

The Estimates presented by the Honourable Syl Apps for the Ministry of Correctional Services were passed rather smoothly in recognition of the good work in this department. There has been considerable progress made throughout the Province in recent months by the improvement of existing programmes and facilities and the development of new ones. Plans were announced to replace various inadequate and outdated facilities and to impleme t new methods of rehabilitation for the people in custody in these centres.

A ceremonial highlight of this week in the House was the appearance of the Lieutenant Governor, The Honourable Ross Macdonald to give Royal Consent to the considerable number of bills that had been processed to this final stage.

Rural Learning Meet Held at Kemptville

The third annual Rural Life Conference was held at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology from April 21st to April 23rd with Man and His Environment as the theme.

Dave Murray resource manager of the Rideau Valley Conservation Authority, Kemptville, illustrated his talk on the various authority projects with colourful slides. A highlight of the session was a tour in cars along the Rideau River through troubled waters on flooded roads. A boat being paddled a few feet from the edge of the road; men in hip waders; wet brakes, cottages surrounded in water; lakes where fields normally are evident; and suggestion of flooded basements in a modern subdivision vividly reinforced the learning we had received earlier from Mr. Murray's talk and slides.

Small groups discussed questions relating to zoning of flood plain land; alleviation of flooded cottages and subdivisions; the contribution of farm operations to water pollution and enrichment; the health hazard caused by burst septic tanks and flooded wells; the greater involvement of the public in authority concerns and environmental controls. Some constructive suggestions emerging were; improved municipal planning; greater public awareness and involvement; involve youth; legislate against further building in flood plain land; provide incentives for people with cottages in flood plain land to relocate, and return land to forest, grassland, parks, etc.; provide flood protection through dyking, spillways etc. where permanent homes exist; legislate against winter spreading of manure in flood plain land; provide incentives to encourage farmers to improve manure disposal systems so that wastes do not pollute and enrich streams; discourage watering of cattle in streams, as this causes soil erosion; include environmental studies in school curriculums; involve people other than council representatives as authority members. Perhaps if a fee were charged for being a member of an authority, more sincerely concerned people would serve.

The authority provides an information and education service to encourage the public (adults and students) to learn to appreciate and value the natural heritage of the watershed. For information write the Rideau Valley Conservation Authority, Kemptville.

Named Rubber

Joseph Priestley gave rubber its name. He remarked in a letter that the new substance—discovered in 1735—was useful for rubbing out manuscript mistakes.

Fiddler crabs are so-called because of the extreme difference in size of the claws of the male, one claw resembling a fiddle or violin and the other the bow.

"Unfinished Symphony"

Schubert's "Symphony No. 8 in B Minor" is called the "Unfinished Symphony" because it has just two movements, instead of the usual three or four movements of the classical symphony.

PRESBYTERIAL MEETING U.C.W. - 300 STRONG AT

United Church Women of Seaway Valley -- over 300 of them — who attended the 4th Annual Meeting of Presbyterial recently in Knox United Church here, were richly rewarded. Inspiration, challenge, fellowship, laughter — all were part of the afternoon and evening sessions. Highlight was the presence as special guest of the Right Rev. Dr. A.B.B. Moore, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, who spoke briefly in the afternoon, and again in the evening to a packed church.

President of Seaway Valley Presbyterial UCW, Mrs. F.W.B. Shaw of Hawkesbury, was unable to be present because of illness. In her place Mrs. David Frappier presided. Miss M.L. MacArthur, President Knox UCW, welcomed those present.

A worship service on the theme "Now Is the Time", conducted by St. Paul's UCW, was led by Mrs. Peter Barkway was organist. In her brief message, Mrs. Clifford urged her audience to tackle the problems that exist right here in our midst, now! "How many of you", she asked, "have stopped using phosphate detergents? Let us get on with the work, at this time, now!"

Mrs. Eric Reid of Kemptville, who with her husband has served on the mission field in Zambia, introduced Dr. Moore, dwelling on his deeply human qualities, his patience and understanding, his sense of humour, his ecumenicity. Dr. Moore spoke of his belief in the young generation of our time, and of his faith in them. He said in much of our public worship they have little chance to participate, and that we need to relate the church to our young people as well. In his twenty years as president of Victoria College in the University of Toronto, and his four years as principal of St. Andrew's Theological College in Saskatoon, Dr. Moore has met and known a great many people, and sees in them a great hope.

A hymn sing led by Mrs. Anthony Francis, senior choir director at Knox, was enjoyed by all. Mrs. D.J. Cooper spoke briefly of plans for Summer School 1972, in late August, at Macdonald College, the theme to be "Where in the world am I?" A few moments were spent on a questionnaire on Church union which had been prepared by Mrs. Shaw. Dr. Moore stated that a meeting on union was planned for the following week in Toronto.

Mrs. Enid Wasson, president of Montreal and Ottawa Conference, brought greetings from Conference, and spoke briefly on her impressions gained from reading the Annual Report of Seaway Valley Presbyterial. She explained that there were eleven Conferences in Canada, and that Montreal and Ottawa Conference took in four Presbyteries, of which Seaway Valley is one.

A report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Clifford Larmour as follows: Past president, Mrs. Shaw; President, Mrs. Robert Welland; Vice-pres. Mrs. Cooper; Recording Sec'y. Mrs. Frappier; corresponding Sec'y Mrs. Dwight Bennett; Mrs. Allen Van Allen, Treasurer. Regional vice-presidents: Region 1, Mrs. Willard Presley; Region 2, Mrs. C.A. Penniston; Region 3, Mrs. A.A. Morrison; Region 4, Mrs. Ross Somerville; Region 5, Mrs. Arthur Woodland. Committee Chairmen: Citizenship and Social Action, Mrs. Hugh Coons; Christian and Missionary Education, Mrs. Harold Kempling; Leadership Development, Mrs. A.S. Allan; Nominations Mrs. Woodland. Portfolio Secretaries: Friendship and Visiting, Mrs. E.A. Forward; Literature and Asst. literature, Mrs. Keith Brownell, Mrs Herbert Bockus; Programme, Mrs Allan Hanna; Stewardship and Vocations, Mrs. Wellwood Adam; Supply & Welfare, Mrs. A.W. McLean; Public Relations, Mrs. L.E. Harris. The officers were installed by Mrs. Donald Scoates. Knox UCW served dinner at 5:30. The church was filled to overflowing for Dr. Moore's address at 7 p.m. He spoke of the importance of the present over the past and the future. "Love is the flesh and blood of now." He gave examples of how the United Church has responded with love to people halfway around the world, and thanked the United Church Women who have helped to make this possible. A report of the courtesy committee and of the registration committee brought to a close a wonderful day.

STUDENTS GET STRAIGHT GOODS ON POLLUTION

Students from more than 600 Ontario secondary schools are expected to register for the second youth conference on the environment on August 28, 29 and 30 in Kingston.

Co-sponsored by Queen's University and Ontario's new Ministry of the Environment, the annual conference has been dubbed "The Straight Goods."

"Students have often complained that it is difficult for them to get to the heart of our environmental problems," said Hon. James Auld, Minister of the Environment for Ontario. "This conference will give students that opportunity by exposing them to an impressive array of experts in all fields of the environment."

Each secondary school has been invited to send one official delegate from Grades 11 or 12. Return to school next term is a condition of acceptance. The conference committee hopes delegates will be selected by the students themselves.

"What the university and the province are trying to do is simply create the setting and make redents. To what extent they benefit is entirely up to them," said conference Co-Chairman Rob Buller of Queen's University.

The first Straight Goods conference at Laurentian University last year was such an overwhelming success that government was obligated to make this an annual event", added Dave Booth, Educational Resources Co-ordinator for the new Ontario Ministry of the Environment.

Several renowned key speakers will deliver short stage-setting papers of 10 to 15 minutes. Emphasis is being placed on informal dialogues between the students and about sixty resource people from business and industry, government, and community groups.

The resource people are being invited to contribute their time by being available for impromptu bull sessions called spontaneously by groups of students in meeting rooms and lounge areas in the new Faculty of Education buildings.

The entire conference will be self-contained on the Queen's campus with dormitory and dining facilities provided at nominal cost. Schools sending delegates are encouraged to involve all the students in fund raising projects to finance transportation. There is no registration fee.

On the final day, Wednesday, August 30, a Plan for Action will be presented by the speakers and delegates. This climax to the Conference will generate specific ideas for environmental action by high school students.

Tours of the Kingston area will be conducted Wednesday afternoon and will feature visits to environmental points of interest.

Chilean President Salvador Allende's Popular Unity Coalition government is now two years old. CBC Tuesday Night, May 16, presents the most exhaustive audio program ever produced on the national feeling towards the Allende government. Ttitle The Chilean Dilemma, it's based on 20 hours of original recording, a series of interviews with representatives from both sides, the Marxist government party and the official opposition, the Christian Democrats. All the major issues are touched upon — free press, land reform, political polarization, attitudes toward change, and feelings about Chile's future.

The history of bush pilots is a colorful story of men confronting the elements in a largely uncharted wilderness. It is closely bound to the beginnings of the west coast's major industries — mining, fishing and logging. The stories bush pilots tell of bo... pre and post war flying are fascinating from both an historical and personal point of view. The bonds which formed between them in the course of their work 30 years ago are still apparent today. Between Ourselves, Monday, May 15, traces the past and present life of the B.C. bush pilot. It was prepared by Valerie Hennell whose father died on the job as a bush pilot two years ago. Original music s by Ann Mortifee.

A play very much in tune with today is The Pioneers by Eric Salmon, to be heard on CBC Stage, Saturday, May 13. It's concerned with student demonstrations and anti-Americanism and how one American draft-dodger relates to present society. Henry Comor, Wendy Thatcher and Lee Drew head a cast of Calgary actors.

Gary Karr. generally acknowledged as the world's leading double bass virtuoso, gave a recital recently in the Neptune Theatre, Halifax, accompanied by Monique Gusset at the piano. He is heard on Musicscope, Thursday, May 18, playing works by Eccles, Tittle, Schumann, Koussevitzky, Ravel, Larenzetti, Block and Bottesini.

In some sense our genes determine our fate, but as a result of continuous research, we are approaching the point of direct involvement with our genetic material. What does this imply? Will we, or should we, be able to control our own fate? These questions are discussed on Ideas, Monday, May 15 by some of those scientists and thinkers directly concerned with recent research in this field.

TAX TIPS

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. My father qualifies as a dependant and each year on my tax form I have to fill in all the information regarding his age, income, etc. Is it not possible for me to just put "see last year's return" so that I do not have to fill in the same details each year?

A. If you omit any of this information on your tax form, you are probably going to delay the processing of your return. Therefore, you should enter all the information asked for each year.

Q. My employer pays a portion of my hospital premium. Do I have to report this as part of my income on my tax return and if so where does my employer show this on the T4 slip?

A. This depends on the terms of the contract under which your employer makes the payment. If the payment is a taxable benefit to be included in your income, your employer is required to report this on your T4 slip as "Taxable Allowance and Benefits", and include it in the amount shown as "Total earnings before deductions".

Q. I am receiving the old age security pension. Must I include this pension money as part of my income on my income tax return?

A. Both the old age security pension and the guaranteed income supplement must be reported as income on your income tax return. The guaranteed income supplement however, may be deducted in computing your taxable income in 1971.

Q. I am a student at a Canadian university. How do I calculate the tuition fees allowable?

A. Tuition fees supported by the proper certificate may be claimed for any 12-month period beginning in the taxation year, which means for 1971 you could claim either on the calendar year or the academic year, 1971-72.

Q. If I sell grain to a grain company and request that payment be deferred until the next year, in which year do I report the sale as income on my tax form?

A. You report it in the year it was sold to the company. The fact that you request the company to hold payment until a later year does not change the date of sale. However, if you placed the grain in storage, received storage tickets and did not surrender them until a later year, at which time you are issued a cash ticket, you would report the sale in the year the cash ticket was issued.

If you think that heart disease and stroke hit only the other fellow's family.

The 2nd FORTY

The Type for Typing?

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm a 55-year old widow with two dependent children, having lost my husband just last summer. Now I want to go back to work. The trouble is my education only went through high school. Then — until I was married 27 years ago—I worked mostly as a baby sitter and a waitress. I've been thinking lately I might like to be a bookkeeper or a secretary, or something along those lines, but don't know where to begin. (I've never even learned to type.) Do you think, at my age, it might be worthwhile to take a business course? Please give me your advice. I.C.

Dear I.C.:

Many women, on reaching their mature years, make a fresh start in the world of work either because they want to or they have to. Your own case seems to be a combination of both. Since you've already finished high school, the next step would be to acquire some business skills. You might for example begin with a typing course, which would not only accomplish this, but help you see how you feel about being back in school after all those years. Then, if you'd like to take a full business course — including stenography, bookkeeping, etc. — you can keep forging straight ahead. In other words, start at the beginning and move ahead as you find your own way.

Happy at 65

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm 66. When the change came in my life, I was too busy and too happy to be bothered by it. (I never even experienced hot flushes.) I had four children, but lost two boys at birth because I was an RH mother. Now I have five wonderful grandchildren and two lovely great-grandsons, ages six and eight. I also have the most wonderful husband who ever lived. He's 72. Next month, we're having our golden anniversary. We haven't stopped being in love and we're not too old to enjoy it. I think the secret of happiness is keeping busy and involved with your family. B.P.

Dear B.P.:

It's always good to hear about the happiness of others and to have them share it. It's also interesting to learn that your own change came and went smoothly. But each situation, of course, is different. Many women at menopause do experience uncomfortable hot flushes and other troublesome symptoms. However, this needn't throw them off their stride. (Doctors frequently prescribe estrogen replacement therapy to alleviate these difficulties, which they attribute to a hormone deficiency.) Although you yourself have been fortunate in having no particular menopausal problems, isn't it comforting to know that medical assistance is available for those who might need it.

DUNDAS FARM NEWS

Now that Spring is beginning to settle in and the Nation River is going down, everyone will be getting ready for spring seeding. Time passes quickly, so now is the time, if you haven't done so, to get that tractor tuned up, the drill cleaned, greased and oiled. While checking your machinery do not forget the safety features — chtck the PTO shields and make sure all safety shields are in place.

Also if you are not from the school of hard knocks a good investment is a safety hat. It will do a lot to cushion the bumps plus saves the English language. For some farmers who are driving larger machinery another good investment is sound muffs. Continuous noise will deafen a person. — Therefore, to preserve your hearing try noise muffs.

Silent Heat Periods in The Dairy Cow

Recently I have received some calls from farmers who are concerned because they are unable to catch their cows in heat. This is a problem especially through the winter when the cattle are confined. In a few cases this is a hereditary factor but in most cases it is a management problem. If you are having breeding problems here are a few points to think about.

1. Do you let your cows out every day? — letting cows out for daily exercise, if only for half an hour, does help to bring out heat signs. A little sunshine may save a lot of dollars. What it may cost to move snow may be saved in breeding fees and dollars lost due to not getting cows in calf.

2. Are your cows properly fed? Cows that are under fed in either protein or energy do not show normal heat signs. Therefore, have a good look at your ration. The cheapest is ot always the best in the long run.

3. Minerals — The question here is not only are you feeding enough, but also are they balanced to suit your total ration. In your grain mix 2 to 3 pounds of suitable salt-mineral with each 100 lbs. of grain ration.

These are a few points to think about if you are having a breeding problem in your herd. If your cows are not in calf when they should be you are losing dollars ($1.00 - $1.50 per day loss). To review your herd breeding and feeding program contact me, Tom Clapp in the local Agricultural Office, Winchester or Gary Buck, Dairy Cattle Specialist, Kemptville.

Infectious Bovine Rhinotracheitis

IBR, also, known as "rednose" has turned up in several places in the couty this winter. Once brought into the barn it will spread quickly, particularly in the winter when the cattle are confined.

Symptons:

1. newborn calves may have a fever and symptons suggesting a gastro intestinal disorder.

2. infection of nasal covities and windpipe. Nostrils reddened, hard dry cough, discharge from nostrils, plus sore eyes.

3. a high fever.

4. pregnant cows will abort.

If you feel you have some of these symptons in your herd please check with your local vet. There is now a new vaccine to combat IBR without causing abortions as was in the past.

The More Things Change . . .

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (CEF)

Time was when the language of American politics was colorful and exciting. People talked about mugwumps, scalawags, and carpetbaggers. There were campaign slogans, such as "Fifty-Four Forty or Fight," "Tippecanoe and Tyler, Too," "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" and "A Chicken in Every Pot." We had such nicknames as "Old Hickory" for Andrew Jackson, "Honest Abe" for Abraham Lincoln, "Cactus Jack" for John Nance Garner and "Lemonade Lucy" for Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes, who refused to serve alcoholic beverages in the White House.

But what do we have today? We talk about candidates, preferential primaries, issues and campaign funds. The slogans run to "Re-elect President Nixon," "Don't Re-elect President Nixon" and "Stop the Busing." And all of our candidates are named either Richard, George, Ed, Henry or Hubert. We can all remember more interesting campaigns from student council elections in high school.

Think of how much better things could be. We could, for instance, have political pandas, Hughsification, governmental godfatherism, bunkerality, andersonizing, kissinger cousins, agnewizing dialogue, the Dita Beard syndrome and smoke-filled rooms (some things never change).

For slogans, we could have such things as "ITT: The Terror That Came from the Telephone," "All Political Poles Rank Muskie No. 1," "Why Didn't We Let Alabama Secede When It Wanted To?", "We Need George in the McGovernment," "Would You Buy a Used Drugstore from This Man?", "They Loved Him in China; They Cheered Him in the Soviet Union," "What Did Henry Jackson Ever Do That Was So Bad?", "Recall All Defective Candidates for Repairs," "Stop the War, Racism, Oppression, Male Chauvinism, Big Business and the Baltimore Orioles," "In Your Heart, You'd Probably Just as Soon Forget the Whole Thing" and "A Chicken in Every Pot" (some things never change again, especially with meat prices so high).

And as for nicknames, we could have Edmund "For Crying Out Loud" Muskie, Hubert "Boomerang" Humphrey, George "Lefty" McGovern, Henry "Righty" Jackson, George "Southern Comforter" Wallace, Edward "Invisible Man" Kennedy and Richard M. "Richard M." Nixon (some things never change no matter what).

A.R.D.A. Extends Drainage Program in Eastern Ont.

An extensive Agricultural Drainage Outlet Assistance Program provided by ARDA since 1965 for 11 Eastern Ontario counties has been extended for another year. Under the terms of this program, ARDA will provide a grant of 33 1-3 percent of the cost of engineering and construction of agricultural outlet ditches built under the Drainage Act of Ontario, in addition to the 33 1-3 percent already provided for by statute under the terms of the Drainage Act. This special assistance for eastern Ontario was initiated in 1965 to encourage the development of additional drainage outlets, thereby permitting the utilization of good quality land for the production of such crops as corn and cereal grains

The 11 counties named in this program are Lanark, Leeds, Renfrew, Frontenac, Grenville, Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and the Regional area of Ottawa-Carleton. Since this special assistance for drainage was initiated by ARDA in the 11-county area, the acreage of grain corn has increased from 8,908 acres in 1966 to 82,000 acres in 1971, with an average of 82 bushels to the acre. The expansion of this crop, and the ability to grow other crops, has been the direct result of the drainage program, and the total farm economy of the area has improved considerably.

The decision to extend drainage assistance for another year was made jointly by the two levels of government, Federal and Provincial, and they will share equally in the costs, under the terms of the 5-year, Federal-Provincial Rural Development Agreement signed in 1970. The announcement of the extension of this program was made jointly by the Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food for Ontario, and the Hon. Jean Marchand, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, Government of Canada. The assistance will now terminate April 1, 1973.

McLaren Honoured In Ottawa

Two major honours were bestowed upon film maker Norman McLaren of the National Film Board within two days.

At Government House in Ottawa, McLaren was presented with the Public Service Achievement Award for exceptional contributions to the development of filmmaking in Canada. The award is the highest honour which can be presented to a public servant. The presentation was made by Governor-General Roland Michener and was attended by Prime Minister Trudeau.

On the following day at Ottawa's Chateau Laurier Hotel, the NFB artist, along with contralto Maureen Forrester, and poetess Rina Lasnier received the Molson Prize of the Canadian Council "given annually to recognize and encourage outstanding contributions to the arts, humanities, social sciences or to national unity".
