Painted Floor Protection

Your painted floors get hard usage. Unless they are properly protected they become scratched, marred and unsightly. What they need is a special mar-proof varnish called Elastica Floor Finish—the finish that has taken 40 years to perfect.

What It Is

Elastica Floor Finish is a tough, elastic, waterproof coating. Tramp on it, roll heavy things on it, throw water on it—there is not a mark left on Elastica.

"Elastica Stands the Rocks"
TRADE ELASTICA MARK
Look for this Trade-mark on a Yellow Label. All others are imitations.
FLOOR FINISH

For Every Floor

Elastica Floor Finish isn't confined to painted floors. For natural wood floors, porch floors, linoleum and oil cloth, it is the ideal finish. There is nothing else like it.

ELIAS DROPPO PASSES AWAY

Last week we chronicled briefly the accident of which Mr. Elias Droppo was the victim when he fell from the mow of his barn to the floor below. Mr. Droppo never regained consciousness but lingered in that state until Good Friday morning when he passed away. The funeral was largely attended on Monday this week.

PLATE GLASS BROKEN

Monday last while repairs were being made to the premises of W. O. Dixon, workmen removed from the front window of the show room one of the large plate glasses and stood it to one side in apparent safety, where from some unknown cause it was badly smashed necessitating a hurry-up call on Ottawa dealers for another glass of similar size, which was rushed here by motor truck and placed in position the same afternoon. The The loss is understood to have been over one hundred dollars.

MAN AND TEAM OF HORSES DROP INTO NATION RIVER

Saturday last George Bremmer, in the employ of Dr. Locke of Williamsburg, had a very exciting and strenuous time when he landed in the Nation river at the point where Summers Bridge formerly spanned the stream at Nation Valley. One of the horses was drowned and with great difficulty only was the other saved. It appears that Bremmer who was on his way to W. A. McElroy's approached the river from the south over a road very little travelled to the river, and thinking the bridge was still there but submerged, drove over the old abutment into about fourteen feet of water. One of the horses was evidently hurt in the fall and nothing could be done to save it, but Bremmer who was a strong swimmer, swam to the assistance of the other and held its head, guiding it while the horse swam dragging the wagon and its mate to the north bank of the river. Bremmer made his way to Arnott Johnston's where he was given hot refreshment and dry clothes with the other assistance required.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS

The shoe repair business formerly carried on by Mr. Frank LaSalle on Queen street has been taken over by Mr. William Fyke and henceforth will be in his charge. Private Fyke when serving his king and country overseas had the misfortune to lose a leg, since returning to civil life has taken up the shoemaking trade and no doubt will receive a generous share of the trade of Chesterville and vicinity. The former customers of Mr. LaSalle who still desire to have his hand made shoes will be looked after by him in Mr. Fyke's interests.

DISPOSING OF THE BRICKS

(Con. by Women's Institute.)

Our own candid opinion is, that we ought to have more persons laying bricks and fewer throwing them.

Stand By Your Town.

If you think your town's the best,
Tell 'em so.
If you'd have her head the rest,
Help her grow.
When there's any thing to do
Let the fellows count on you,
You'll feel bully when it's through,
Don't you know?

If you want to make a hit,
Get a name.
If the other fellow's it
Who's to blame?
Spend your money in your town,
Thusly keep your prices down,
Give the mail concerns a frown
That's the game!

If you're used to giving knocks,
Change your style;
Throw bouquets instead of rocks,
For a while;
Let the other fellow roast,
Shun him as you would a ghost.
Meet his hammer with a boast,
And a smile.

When a stranger from afar
Comes along,
Tell him who and what you are—
Make it strong;
Needn't flatter, never bluff,
Join the boosters—that's the stuff,
We belong.

FARMER DROPS DEAD ENTERING HIS HOME

The funeral of Mr. Lucian Loucks well known farmer of Russell County, who died suddenly yesterday morning of heart disease, will be held at two o'clock Friday afternoon from his residence at Russell village to North Russell Cemetery. Mr. Loucks was 69 years of age and his death came as a great shock to his family and the many friends and acquaintances that he had in the district. He had been out in the yard at his home yesterday morning feeding poultry. As he entered the house he was seized with a heart attack and fell to the floor, dying almost instantly. Mr. Loucks was born in Russell County, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Loucks. He attended the Public Schools of the district and when a young man took up farming whih he followed till 10 years ago when he moved to Russell village.

Mr. Loucks was a member of the congregation of the Russell Presbyterian Church. He was a staunch deep interest for one of his age in Liberal in politics and displayed a the political activities of the Dominion. He possessed a gift of ready friendship that won him friends wherever he went, and he was highly esteemed in his own community for his many sterling traits of character. He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his widow, two sons, Mr. John Loucks and Mr. Fred Loucks, both of Russell village; one daughter, Mrs. Alfred Morrow, also of Russell, and one brother, Mr. Archie Loucks.

AUXILIARY ENTERTAINS

"The Cheerful Workers" Jr. Red Cross Auxiliary held a most successful Easter tea in Room "B", Friday April 11th. A programme which was chiefly musical was enjoyed by all, after which tea was served by several pupils, being assisted by Mrs. Tate and Miss Anna Smith who poured tea.

The proceeds of the tea was $8.60 with which the members of the auxiliary decided to purchase a set of Health Records for the gramophone, a bat for the boys and a base ball for the girls. The girls and boys were delightfully surprised when Mr. Geo. J. Hunt presented them with a bat for the girls.

We wish to thank our friends for being interested in our Red Cross work.

MAN WANTED

The Record wants a man to call on twelve hundred homes in this district before Saturday night, for which fifty cents will be paid. If that pay seems absurdedly small just bear in mind that The Record will carry your message to the same homes in the same time in a small "Want Ad" for the same money. Get the point that advertising is the cheapest way known to sell goods or service.

IN MEMORIAM

Merkley—In loving memory of our dear brother Clifford, who died one year ago today, April 25th.

Gone dear Clifford, gone forever;
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
Loving and kind in all your ways,
Bright and just to the end of your days,
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
A beautiful memory left behind.
Sadly missed by brother and sisters

IN MEMORIAM

Merkley—In loving memory of our dear son, Clifford, who entered unto rest, April 25th, 1923.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went;
There is some one who thinks of you daily,
But tries to be brave and content,
So we shed a tear silently,
And breathe a sigh of regret,
For you were ours, we remember,
If all the world forgets.
Sadly missed by loving parents.

FOUND LOST WILL

Mountan Herald—When Albert Dillabough, of Oxford Township, died in November 1921, search was made for his will, without success, though it was known that he had made one. Its whereabouts remained a mystery until Monday last when Cecil Wilson discovered it in a safe belonging to E. Colborne, and that had recently been brought to the garage, just opened here by Messrs. Colborne and Wilson.

The safe became the property of Mr. Colborne about 9 years ago when he purchased the store at Heckston, from the estate of Hugh Hughes. Mr. Colborne, after two years operating the store sold out to Andrew Workman who did not want the safe and it remained in Colbourne's possession. There were two drawers in the safe and were locked and the keys missing and Mr. Colborne was never curious enough to force them. The safe being needed in the garage, it was taken there and last week Mr. Wilson succeeded in opening the drawers. One was empty, the other contained papers belonging to Mr. Dillabough and amongst them a will, drawn up in 1888 by Judge Dowsley, of Brockville, then practicing law at Prescott. The will leaves the property to his wife and family and Messrs Colborne and Wilson have handed it over to the heirs of Mr. Dillabough.

BLOCK IN CORNWALL SELLS FOR $65,000

One of the largest real estate deals put over in Cornwall for some time was completed Friday when the property known as the King George Hotel at the corner of Pitt and Second streets, and one of the most desirable locations in town being opposite the post office and right in the heart of the business section, was purchased by Kaneb & Kalil, proprietors of the Economy Store, from the estate of the late Samuel Cline. The block has been conducted as a hotel for a great many years under various names, and was changed to the King George when taken over several years ago by Joseph R. Duquette, who is also proprietor of the Algonquin Hotel at Stanley Island. Mr. Duquette will continue in charge of the hotel until May 1, 1925. It is the intention of the new comers to improve the building inside and out when the present lease expires. The purchase price is said to have been in the neighborhood of $65,000.

CARDINAL MAN ARRESTED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Wilfred Levere, aged 25, of Cardinal, Ont., under arrest in Ottawa, will face serious charges of causing serious injuries by wanton driving, as a result of an accident in which he figured over the week end, at North Gower.

Levere was arrested ot Prescott, on Saturday night, and brought to Ottawa early on Sunday, on a charge of causing grevious bodily harm to William Crawford, aged 66, of North Gower, Ont. Crawford is lying at death's door at his home in North Gower, suffering from severely broken legs, a badly gashed scalp, and a much bruised hand and arm, the result of being run over by an automobile owned and driven by Levere in the main street of North Gower at between 7 and 7.30 o'clock Saturday night. The arrest was effected at Prescott by Provincial Policeman George Clubb, License Inspector Charles Plum, Chief of Police Edward Lavery of Prescott. Levere, along with William Murray of Cardinal, and two women in the automobile, whose names have so far not been unearthed by the police, is alleged to have been driving an automobile along Main street, North Gower, in a southerly direction at an excessive rate of speed, with only the left light of his car lit, and on the wrong side of the street. Mr. Crawford who has been a resident of North Gower for more than forty years, and who has been proprietor of a blacksmith shop there for most of that period, lived on Main street, had just left his home previous to being struck. Almost immediately in front of his home, he saw the single light of the automobile coming down the street, it is alleged at a great rate of speed. With the intention of giving the machine room to pass, Mr. Crawford stepped back. Whether he was deceived by the single light or whether the car swerved and struck him, Mr. Crawford has not as yet been able to explain. The automobile struck him squarely, knocking him down and passing over him.

PROMPT ACTION HALTS A FIRE

What might have proved a very serious fire occurred Monday afternoon, when St. Marks Church Prescott was found to be full of smoke. Upon investigation, fire was discovered in a cupboard in the vestry used as a receptacle for mops, brooms, etc., and which had evidently been burning some time, as the cupboard and contents were destroyed, the woodwork nearby scorched, and quite a little damage caused by smoke. The blaze, the origin of which is unknown, was extinguished by the use of a fire extinguisher, and the services of the fire department, who responded to the call promptly, were not necessary.

PAYING TO KEEP WELL

A group of farmers and small town people in Kansas have hired a doctor to keep them well. The doctor gets a salary, paid by annual dues in the association, and is subject to call by any member. No charge is made to the members except for milage on long trips. If by advising about sanitation, diet and other methods of disease prevention, the doctor can keep his flock well, he has less work to do, can give more time to outside work, and make more money. In other words, if the community stays well, the doctor prospers. If there is much sickness, he has to work hard for a minimum return.

The same plan could be applied also to other fields. It has often seemed to us that it might pay farmers' associations to hire a veterinarian to keep their live stock in good shape, instead of calling him after the stock came down with some disease. Farmers could well afford to pay a veterarian a good salary and keep him travelling around to check up on disease breeding conditions, and have him available without extra cost in case some disease gets a start.

This plan would be a fine thing for the veterinarian. It would relieve him of the temptation to add to his income by selling remedies of questionable value; it would provide a settled income and an established position in the community. To the farmer, of course, the gain would be even greater. Disease, even if checked quickly, is always a loss. It stops the growth of breeding stock, takes weight off fat stock. A veterinarian who would be able to keey the livestock of the district in good shape would be worth ten times as much to the community as one who is merely called on in case of emergency.—Wallace's Farmer.

DIES SUDDENLY BRIEF ILLNESS

Mrs. MacDonell, relict of the late John L. MacDonell, passed away at her home in Cornwall after an illness of only a few days. Her maiden name was Alexandrina McDonald and she was in her 87th year. Born in Fort William, Invernesshire, Scotland, she came to Canada with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald, and settled in the ninth concession of Cornwall Township, when she was about six years old. With the exception of six years spent in Geneva, Ill., after her marriage, Mrs. MacDonell practically grew up with this section of the country. She is survived by a son and daughter, Adrain A. MacDonell, local registrar of the County Court, and Miss Alexina MacDonell. The funeral took place on Monday morning to St. Columba's Church and vault.

THE BOYNE JUNIOR RED CROSS

The sixth regular meeting of The Boyne "Microbe Chasers," was held in the school April 17th, at three o'clock.

All the members were present. The president, Hildred Durant, occupied the chair.

After the meeting was called to order, the secretary, Muriel Durant, read the minutes of the last meeting. These were adopted.

The Merit Badges of last week were handed in. The different committees were decorated with Merit Badges for good work, during their term of office. It was decided to send the proceeds of the Mite Box (two dollars) to the Junior Red Cross, Toronto, to be divided equally between "The Northern Fire Fund", and "Children's Aid Society."

The different committees then gave their reports.

The following programe on "Safety First," for children was given:—

Injuries from Scissors and Forks.—Luella Darling.

Protection from pulling lamps off tables, getting matches and setting fires.—Madeline Darling.

Talk on injuries from cats and dogs.—Mary Paul.

Talk on working about farm machinery, etc.—Margaret Durant.

Care in handling of guns and firecrackers.—Donald Hummell.

Talk on "Accidents I have known."—Hildred Durant.

Flag Drill by four girls—Mary Hummell, Madeline Darling, Hildred and Muriel Durant.

Recitation by Sadie Lefebvre, Victor Belanger, and Warren Durant.

It was reported two dollars in the Mite Box.

The meeting closed by National Anthem.

Crimean Veteran
Praises "Fruit-a-tives"

MAJOR GEO. WALKER

Major George Walker, now a familiar figure in Chatham, Ontario, is one of the men who went through the terrible Indian Mutiny. As he says: "I am a veteran of the Crimean War and the Indian Mutiny, serving under Lord Roberts. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting and continual exposure left me a great sufferer from Rheumatism, so much so that my legs swelled up, making it impossible for me to walk. My bowels were so constipated that I was in terrible shape until I began to use 'Fruit-a-tives.' They relieved me both of the Rheumatism and the Constipation. Today, I enjoy perfect health—no more Rheumatism or Constipation."

And in another letter, written December 1st, 1923 (eleven years after), Major Walker says: "'Fruit-a-tives' are keeping me in the best of health and I shall never be without them."

"Fruit-a-tives" are the famous Fruit Treatment — intensified fruit juices combined with tonics—that make you well and keep you well. 25c and 50c—at all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

MISS IRVING'S RECITAL

Some of the pupils of Miss C. J. Irving went to Winchester on Good Friday and joined the pupils there in giving an enjoyable recital in the S.S. rooms of St. Paul's Church, which was attended by a number of the parents and friends. The splendid way in which the various selections were played showed careful teaching and faithful practice, and although some were a little nervous as it was their first playing in public, yet it was a good training for them and the next time they will not be as nervous.The program was as follows:—

Winchester Pupils

The Musical Family, Dorothy Fisher
The Humming Bird's Frolic, Dora Wallace.
The Jolly Blacksmith, Norma Robinson.
The Acorn, Betty Derby.
Man in the Moon and
Follow My Leader, Harold Leader.
Schottishe, Vivian Lee.
Little Ruby Waltz, Mildred Wallace.
The Mocking Bird, Gordon McQuaig.
Flower Song and Miserere, Frances Eagleson.
Swaying Ferns, Frederick Cass.
Merry Kate, Eleanor Edgerton.
Under the Maypole, Jennie Empey.
Evening Glow, Violet McCourtie.
Masurka, Betty Stewart.
Melody in F, Frances Stewart.
Falling Waters, Marcia Cranston.
On the Meadow, Mary Cranston.
Rose Petals, Lillian Hamilton.
Minuet in G, Lela Johnston.
Twilight Reverie, Minnie Earle.

Chesterville Pupils

Piano Duett, Elfin Waltz, Irene and Helen Hamilton.
Playfulness. William Brown.
The Soldiers Song, Francis Fulton.
Valse Bleue, Aura Graham.
Will-o- the Wisp, Ellen Smith.
The Gondoliers Serenade, Muriel Haley.
How Sweet the Moonlight Sleeps, Helen Hamilton.
Away to the Woods, Edith Brown.

JUNIOR RED CROSS IN S. S. No. 7, WINCHESTER

The first meeting of the Junior Red Cross was held on Thursday afternoon, April 17th. The meeting was opened by the reading and adopting of minutes of our organization. Then followed a short talk by the teacher on Junior Red Cross and its meaning. The rules of the Health Game were then discussed and it was found almost necessary to make a change in rule No. 12. Every scholar agreed to play the game and the unveiling of the names was next carried out. The distribution of the buttons to the members followed next which made each pupil a member of the Junior Red Cross of Ontario. The meeting was then closed.

No Room To Expand

Tommy had had three pieces of cake and wanted some more. "Do you know asked his mother, "what happened to the little boy who ate too much cake? He went off bang."

"That wasn't because he ate too much cake," said Tommy. "That was because there wasn't enough boy."

Early To Rise

The Chief—H'm, late again, Smith:

Smith—I'm sorry, sir, but last night my wife presented me with a boy.

Chief—She'd have done better to have presented you with an alarm clock.

Smith—I rather fancy she has, sir.

THE POSITION IN BROCKVILLE PRESBYTERY

To the Editor of The Record: Will you kindly give space for reply to a letter signed by several Presbyters who were absent from the last meeting of the Brockville Presbytery.

Their letter seeks to belittle the value of the unanimous resolution passed at the last meeting, asking Parliament to put the Church Union Bill through. They admit that the vote was unanimous, but contend that some Presbyters were not there.

Why were they not there? It was the most important meeting of the year. Two of the six absent ministers had important reports to read. Two of them were beneficiaries of the Augmentation Fund, and grants to congregations are made at that meeting. Two of them are from congregations where there exist serious arrearages of stipend, a condition affecting the making of said grants.

The fact is that some of these men are seldom at Presbytery. They seem to disregard the vow taken at ordination and induction—"to give a dutiful attendance upon the courts of the Church." One minister has not been at Presbytery for nearly three years. Another had not attended any of the regular meetings of Presbytery since his induction. He was assigned the duty of preaching at the induction of a brother minister, and he was not there, the minutes of Presbytery record no excuse. Failure in such a duty is rare in the Presbyterian ministry. It was a slack season of the year for the elders who were absent. Some of them might have been there, for they were neither hindered by sickness nor distance from the place of meeting. It ill becomes men who fail to attend a meeting to belittle the value of resolution passed in their absence. Surely the vote of the man who attends to his duty is worth more than that of the man who neglects it.

Of these absentees only one of them attended the meeting of the Synod last fall.

They tell us that the majority of the congregations of the Presbytery will remain Presbyterian should the draft bill pass the Dominion House. They are doubtless depending upon straw votes, but some of us feel that it would be more to the advantage of the Church if these men fould forsake the straw stack and attend Presbytery better. They desire to preserve the Presbyterian Church; but what is the advantage of preserving the Presbytery for men who neglect it. But they will find a Presbytery in the United Church of Canada when they come into it.

They tell us that the Presbytery is far from unanimous on the Union question. It was unanimous at its last meeting, and it has never given anything but a favorable vote for Union. When the antis get even a majority against Union we will hear about it.

Their attempt to discount the vote of the last meeting appears six weeks after the meeting, but just in time to be a bit of publicity for the Dominion Parliament. We hate to show up another man's faiiures; but we think it would be becoming modesty in these men to have held their peace concerning a battle they lost by their own indifference.

The Committee on Church Union,
Presbytery of Brockville.

O'Donnell—Yes, Bridget. We had an explosion on Tuesday an' the foreman docked me for the time I was up in the air."

Bare Dingy Floors are Easily Renewed

WHY not do away with the drudgery of scrubbing? Lowe Brothers' Quick Hard Drying Floor Paint — the modern finish for kitchen, hall or bedroom floors—need not be scrubbed. The finish is so smooth, so hard and glossy, you can keep it scrupulously clean and bright by mopping and waxing.

Lowe Brothers' Quick Hard Drying Floor Paint is specially designed to withstand the hard wear and tear to which floors are subjected. It is an exceptionally hard, durable and elastic enamel. It will dry over night, wear off evenly and retain its gloss and freshness for a surprisingly long time.

Lowe Brothers
FLOOR PAINT

On account of the quality of materials used, their fineness of grinding and the extreme care taken in its manufacture, Hard Drying Floor Paint goes farther and is more economical. It is made by the makers of the famous "High Standard" Liquid Paints, "Mellotone" Flat Wall Paint and "Neptunite" Varnishes.

THE FOSTERING OF CIVIC PRIDE

Trees and urban beauty are inseparable, and yet it is possible to have too many trees growing on our streets and boulevards. Perhaps it is a want of imagination, or more likely the habit of copying others. That has led to the planting of trees much closer together on the streets than is necessary for the purpose for which they are intended. In the hot climates of the south, shade is of the utmost importance, but in this country trees have other purposes besides shading. Their purpose is rather ornamentation but when they are standing so closely together as to almost or nearly shade the ground, no other kind of planting can prosper. One cannot help learning in his home town, or in any other that he may visit, that the planting habit has been about the same. From fifteen to twenty-five feet covers the distance between to remove every second tree later on, is very rarely carried out, with the one result that it is practically impossible in either city, town or village to do any ornamental planting in the front part of the properties. Cities who have taken under control of the street trees and the further beautification of streets by shrubbery planting, have decided that thirty feet is the minimum distance apart that street trees should stand. From this up to eighty or ninety feet is regarded as the latitude that may be allowed. The Ontario Horticultural Association, an organization that is represented by hundreds of local Horticultural Societies distributed over the Province, has taken action to help this situation. At the Annual Meeting held in Toronto in February, it was recommended that municipalities be given authority to control the street trees and to regulate not only the planting, but the keeping in order and the thinning out where it is considered necessary from a horticultural standpoint. It is recognized that wonderful possibilities in street decorations lie before us, and further that if municipalities are to escape the charge of backwardness in civic pride it is necessary that attention be given to these points. Without open sunshine it is impossible to have beautiful lawns, to say nothing of beds of flowers and clumps of beautiful shrubs. It is true that some courage is needed to remove well established trees, but it requires only a little imagination to realize the transformation that may result from exchanging our surplus trees for the park-like beauty that may be given to any of our streets by well directed landscape treatment.

WHAT ONE RICH MAN DID

The newspaper of a southern town gave, not long since, a sketch of the life of a man who had just died there.

He was the only descendant of a wealthy family that had lived in the town since colonial days. After leaving college he spent several years abroad, and coming home, found his native village given over mainly to the control of tnat portion of its inhabitants who were indifferent, who condoned dram-drinking, and in ignorance opened their doors to direct disease. An open sewer ran down the main street, into which all garbage was thrown anl left to decay. Pigs, goats and dogs wandered about. The houses were dilapidated. Three saloons kept up by a busy trade. The schoolhouse was in an almost untenable condition. Typhoid fever lurked in the town the year around.

Mr. P.— the man alluded to—was both earnest and sensible. It was suspected that he had some secret trouble; but if so it never came to light. He did not push his way into politics or literature, and made no effort to make more money, or to make his mark in the world like other men.

He busied himself only with the town in which he lived. "The sewer must be put underground," he said.

"Certainly," said his townsmen, "it would be well to do it—and we shall do it sometime."

"Let us do itnow," he said, and headed the subscription.

The drainage set right, he went to work at the school house and at the church. The idle negro boys, by his direction and encouragement, found themselves at work, cleaning and sprinkling the streets. When any of his neighbors proposed to build a dwelling, he had a picturesque plan ready to offer. He gave packages of seeds to many of the poorer householders, and offered prizes for the best-kept gardens. Trees were planted on the border of the sidewalks, and the pigs and goats were banished.

This was the slow cheery work of the years. More years were needed to bring a majority of his townsmen to close the saloons, but at last the town became known as the cleanest and as being in the most sanitary and social condition of any small town in the state. It had its hospital, its free library, its reading-room, all suggested or given by the same hand, but none of them called by his name.

"I am not fond of seeing my name in print," he said.

He was often asked why he did not marry; but he always replied, "My native town is my wife and child. It gives me enough work. I would rather care for these people among whom I was born than for a family."

He made no reputation for himself; but he opened up a live spring of health and of good in the world.

A prominent man said the other day in a speech in New York, "The American young man without money owes his work to his family; but the young man with money owes his work to his country."

The limited patriotism of this wise and generous man of whom we have written, flowing in narrow and direct channels, will accomplish greater for civilization in the state in which he lived, than either he or the generation of men about him can clearly apprehend or fully measure.

WHAT BOYS REMEMBER

A group of successful men were once recounting the scenes and influences that had stayed by them since youth and given them help and inspiration through their struggling manhood. One said his dearest memories clustered about the old apple tree by the kitchen door where his grandmother sat and sang familiar hymns of old, while she sewed and darned. Another said that memories of a certain corner in his boyhood's room always called into action his best thoughts and highest motives. That corner was covered with pictures of great men and women taken from newspapers and magazines unframed —simply fastened on the wall with flour paste—but their influence had never been effaced. Still another said: "Whenever I sit down at dinner table be it a grand banquet or in a simple restaurant, the memory of my father's table comes back to me and I once more see the plain glass vase with a few green leaves and its spray of pinks or its sprig of mignonette, shedding a sweet benediction upon us. You may smile if you like but that memory has kept me pure."

SAYS ANGLICANS MADE A DEAD SET AGAINST UNION

The Christian Guardian, the principal organ of the Methodist Church in Canada, says that the action of the private bills committee of the Legislature in connection with the Church Union Bill has raised the prospect of "one of the liveliest religious controversies being thrown into the political arena and fought to a finish at the next election." The article scores Hon. Mr. Nickle and other Anglican members of the committee for their attitude on the question.

It says: "When after some twenty years of negotiation the Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches in Canada decided to unite they assumed that it was nobody's business but their own, and that if they properly safe guarded the interests of the minority the Legislatures would without any hesitation give their sanction to this great forward movement in the religious world. It was with great astonishment, therefore, that we heard that the private bills committee of the Ontario Legislature had positively refused to pass the bill to validate the union so far as church property in the province was concerned.

"We know that the small Presbyterian minority had been lobbying persistently to this end, but we did not for a moment dream that a committee of the Ontario Legislature would make the mistake of thinking that this minority, rather than the Presbyteries and the General Assembly, represented the Presbyterian Church, and we do not think that they did, and the reason for the rejection of the union bill must be sought elsewhere.

"It is well known that a number of ambitious Anglicans are bitterly opposed to the union of the three churches on denominational grounds, but no one dreamed that any legislator would ever stand up in our Legislative Assembly and declare that we Anglicans voted against the union bill to become law. We are very reluctant to think that religious differences would be allowed to interfere in such a case, but when we are told that 15 out of 17 Anglicans voted against the union bill it is hard to resist the conclusion that our Anglican friends, for some reason or other, are not anxious to see Church Union as an accomplished fact.

"Another fact also emerged in the struggle in the Legislature. It was very significant that every well known defender of the liquor traffic, so far as we know, stood opposed to church union. Possibly not all its opponents were wets, but we do not think that there were many drys amongst them. The Liberty Leaguers and the Moderationists are all, so far as we know, opposed to church union, their belief in liberty embraces booze but not religion. Candidly, we did not expect that our friends the 'antis' would line up against church union; we did not expect their support, but at least we thought that they would know too much to meddle with a purely religious question."

Putting It To The Test

A Scotsman went to London for a holiday. Walking along the streets he noticed a bald-headed druggist standing at his shop door, and asked if he had any restorer. "Yes, sir," said the druggist. "Here is an article I can recommend. I have testimonials from great men who have used it. It makes the hair grow in twenty-four hours." "Aweel," said the Scot, "ye can give the top o' your head a rub wi 'it, and I'll look back in the morn' an' see if ye're tellin' the truth."

The Rich Indian

A young Englishman who had come over and secured a position in a Canadian bank, at the end of his first month said to the manager:

"I see local Indians are among our largest depositors."

"Yes, we have some very nice accounts among our Indian citizens."

The young clerk pointed to a box.

"I suppose I might as well get rid of that."

"What does it contain?"

"Glass beads I brought over to trade to the Indians for furs."

YOUNG WOMAN FINED FOR DISTURBING RELIGIOUS SERVICE

Almonte Gazette—There was an unfortunate disturbance at the Baptist church in Almonte on Sunday of last week. It appears that a young lady of another religious faith has been attending the services of that church, much to the anger of her family. Matters reached a crisis on Sunday when a sister of the young lady arrived at the place of worship, went inside the building and demanded that she leave. In order to avoid trouble the young lady left, after this intrusion had been repeated but since attended the meetings of the Baptist church.

The incident was dealt with in police court on Monday, when Magistrate Kirkland fined the sister ten dollars and costs and imposed a bond of $500 to keep the peace for one year.

In passing judgment Dr. Kirkland commented upon the fact that such cases were rare in modern days. There ought to be no interference with the right of the individual to worship God in his own way.

In times past, in various sections of Christendom, governments had limited and restrained liberty of public worship as against dissenters from what happened to be the dominant creed. But in Canada today, said Dr. Kirkland, the law forbade any interference with or disturbance of religious assemblies; and all creeds and classes were entitled to the protection of the law.
