MERRY CHRISTMAS

Newsbriefs

Snow business

CHESTERVILLE — Old Man Winter has pulled out all stops this year and has heaped Chesterville with plenty of snow and cold weather to boot. Consequently the snow removal costs for the early part of winter have soared. For the month of November it cost ratepayers $1,715 to have snow removed whereas last year in November there wasn't any snow worth removing and it subsequently, cost the village nothing. Reeve Jim Cook told council Dec. 13 if the cold weather continues snow removal costs could approach the record high set in 1984. That year it cost ratepayers a total $17,000 to have snow removed.

Hearty donation

CHESTERVILLE — Council donated $350 to the Dance for Heart charity group so it can rent the community hall for its annual Dance For Heart fundraiser. Rent for the hall is $350. Council approved the donation as its contribution to the fundraiser. The annual dance raises money for the Dundas Heart and Stroke Foundation as part of its Heart and Stroke month activities every February.

One only

MOOSE CREEK — Roxborough councillors banking on having township business done at the township's Royal Bank of Canada had their motion defeated due to non-sufficient votes last week. Instead council voted in favor of a borrowing bylaw allowing it to borrow $500,000 from the Bank of Nova Scotia to get the municipality through the year. The decision was made following a Ministry of Municipal Affairs recommendation that the township borrow from only one bank.

Land purchase

MOOSE CREEK — Roxborough Township Council has purchased a piece of land from township resident Stan Goodman allowing access to the back of the township fire hall. The 6-metre by 32-metre strip of land was purchased by the township for $100. The access is needed in case any work is needed for the back of the firehall. The land on either side of the fire hall wasn't wide enough to permit access by vehicles to the back of the building.

No truck

MOOSE CREEK — A motion to purchase a tanker truck for the township of Roxborough was defeated in council last week. The motion, moved by Gerald Montcalm and seconded by Art Buchanan was defeated by Alton Blair and Reeve Donald Cumming, with Cumming casting the deciding vote. The $97,000, 3,000 gallon tanker was to be purchased from Almonte Fire Truck Ltd. in Carleton Place. Council recently agreed to buy a pumper truck from the same business.

X-mas hours

Chesterville Merchants will be open until 9 p.m. all this week and on Sat., Dec. 23. The stores running late hours this week are Dean Super Food Store, Al-Mor Ladies Wear, The Brookslyn, B&E Toys, MT Advertising and Sports, A.T. David and Sons - Your Community Shopping Centre, Chesterville Freshmart, Valley Blues, Seaway Valley Pharmacy and Michelle Gallery. Sweet Sisters bake shop is closing at 4 p.m. Saturday. All orders must be picked up by 3 p.m.

Office closed

The Record office will be closed Monday, Dec. 25 and Tuesday, Dec. 26 for the holidays. It will be open regular hours Wednesday, Dec. 27, with the paper being published the following day.

Close comfort

Tracy Rigby and Bolero Jr., the Llama, give each other some warmth after marching through the streets of Crysler in very cold weather. Bolera Jr., who was guided by Rigby, was one of three Llamas who were the star attraction at Crysler's Santa Claus Parade. The three Llamas are from a farm north of Crysler, belonging to Ron and Barbara Armstrong. Record Photo - Cossette

New mascot

Winter bunny hopping for Chesterville Carnival

CHESTERVILLE — A rabbit living at the Nestle Enterprises Ltd. factory has been nominated to become this year's winter carnival mascot.

But he needs a name and a little color to bring him out of his reclusiveness.

The mascot will be a first for Chesterville's winter carnival and organizers are hoping to attract more people to the February winterfest, according to Chesterville recreation director Tom Lee.

He is anticipating the carnival will also be better organized this year. "We've got commitments from more volunteer groups," he said.

A mascot is being introduced to give the carnival a distinct feature that can be passed on from year to year, said Lee.

The Chesterville schools are being asked to have students submit names and also submit an appropriate color for the rabbit, which looks a lot like his famed cousin, the Nestle Quik Bunny of Toronto.

The students, who come up with an acceptable name, and color will be rewarded with prizes, said Lee.

The carnival, which runs from Feb. 1 to 4, will feature some other new additions. A carnival pageant and talent show are being introduced.

Among some of the traditional events are the teen and adult dance, novice hockey tournament, Monte Carlo Night, a log sawing competitin, skating races, bingo and a Junior "C" hockey game.

Proceeds from the winter carnival will go toward permanent bleachers in the arena. Last year's proceeds totalled $2,500. Another $5,000 is needed to match a Wintario grant which will pay the remaining $7,500 for the bleachers.

A number of local service clubs and charitable organizations have donated proceeds towards the bleachers.

Claude Cousineau inducted as United Counties warden

CORNWALL — A long, three-year journey reached its conclusion Monday when, in a packed chamber room, Claude Cousineau took his seat as Warden of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The Winchester Township reeve received the chain of office in front of about 100 well-wishers, including family members, township staff, politicians and Grade 5 and 6 students from Morewood Public School.

"I think it's an honor and a challenge and I'm looking forward to it. It can be tedious but very rewarding. In a sense, it's kind of a fulfillment," said Cousineau.

Though Cousineau, 46, was unopposed in Monday's vote, the real contest for the top municipal position took place three years ago when Counties Council elected him chairman of the social services committee.

Traditionally, council members move from chairman of the social services committee, to the roads committee, to finance committee, then to the warden's chair.

Cousineau outlined a number of priorities for the one-year term during his inauguration speech, stressing county-wide property tax reassessment and the reduction of members on counties council.

Cousineau said he wants a more equitable distribution of property tax levies for munici-

'Nothing shocking' in Rox. Twp. review

Greg Kielec

MOOSE CREEK — Officials are remaining tight lipped about the results of a financial review of Roxborough Township, prompted by the municipality's recurring deficit problems.

Donald Cumming, Roxborough Township reeve, and Ed Wright, township clerk-treasurer, said the review contained no major surprises. But neither would divulge any details of the review.

"It's just a basic review of our municipality," Wright said Monday. "It's nothing new to me. There's nothing shocking in it."

The review by the Ontario Ministry of Municipal Affairs was requested by council in late October. Councillor Gerald Montcalm said in October council ordered the review to see if it can support the construction of two township water and sewer projects. The projects are for the hamlets of Moose Creek and Monkland.

Wright said the results of the review confirm what council had already known about the township finances from its regular annual audits. But he refused to release any details of the review.

Audits done on the township over the past few years have discovered annual deficits ranging from almost $40,000 to around $80,000, he said.

The townhip ran a deficit of $85,000 in 1987 and had a deficit of $38,000 in 1988. Deficits are paid off by municipalities every year and cannot be carried into the next year.

Wright said the province puts a lot of money into municipalities and it is in the province's interest that the money be spent properly.

"If you look at the way it (the financial audit) was published in the papers every year, you can see we have had a deficit. It's like everything else. They (the province) put a lot of money in these municipalities and they keep an eye on all municipalities."

Crysler business owner defends sale of guns, booze

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

CRYSLER — The owner of a Crysler business which sells both hardware and liquor dismissed complaints Tuesday about the stores sale of booze and firearms.

Claude Quesnel, of Crysler Home Centre, which was awarded an agency liquor outlet by the Liquor Control Board of Ontario in June, said a liquor union complaint that the store sells booze and pellet rifles is "out of bounds".

Quesnel accused liquor union members of orchestrating a smear campaign against agency liquor stores, which union members feel should actually be full LCBO outlets with full-time LCBO employees. Agency stores operate out of private businesses and are not staffed by LCBO employees.

"I think it's just a line of bull... It's just dirt they are trying to dig up," Quesnel said Tuesday of the union complaint.

Union member Allan Hubley, job security representative for Eastern Ontario, complained that last month he was able to buy a pellet rifle and booze in the store at the same time. He said Monday if a store is selling liquor, it shouldn't be permitted to sell firearms. "It's a dangerous mix."

Hubley, who purchased the gun at the Crysler Home Centre Nov. 20, had originally thought the gun was illegal to purchase without a firearm certificate because the gun's manual showed it exceeded the minimum power allowed for that calibre in Canada.

He hadn't realized there was a sticker on the front of the gun's manual indicating the gun had been modified to meet Canadian standards.

But he said even though the gun can be legally purchased without a firearm permit, the store shouldn't be able to sell it and booze as well.

He also said the gun can be easily modified to make it more powerful, he said. The change of one spring, a task which takes about five minutes, can make the gun which fire 4.5 millimetre pellets much more powerful, and illegal under Canadian law. The spring can be purchased from the gun's manufacturer, he said.

Hubley has been on a campaign in Eastern Ontario asking municipalities to endorse the creation of full-fledged liquor outlets instead of the agency stores. He says customers at agency stores receive poorer service and that the LCBO is using the stores to make a profit at the expense of customers.

Quesnel said he isn't going to quit selling both firearms and liquor at his store. "I'm going to keep on doing that," he said. "It's not even their (union members) boundary to talk about that."

He said the guns are no more dangerous than a slingshot. He added even if the store did not sell guns, customers can buy liquor there and then go purcahse a gun elsewhere.

He also said the onus is on the customers not to modify guns purchased at the store. The gun meets Canadian standards and if someone modifies it, it is he or she, not the store who is breaking the law, he said.

There have been no complaints from the public about the store's sale of guns and liquor, he said, "it's only the union." And he added, he doubts the union will receive any support from the public or the LLBO on the issue.

Hubley said there should be a full-fledged LCBO outlet, not an agency outlet in Crysler because of the high volume of sales the present outlet has.

He said the store has liquor sales of between $7,000 and $10,000 a week. "If that would be a regular liquor store, that would more than turn a profit."

Chesterville fire department wants youth

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — The village fire department wants to move out of the forties, but not the decade of the 1940s.

An effort to recruit youth is being made to to offset the average age of the 20-men compliment of the fire department, which is 40 to 45, according to Fire Chief Ross Casselman.

Council approved increasing the crew compliment at its Dec. 13 meeting to 22 men, sc the fire department could train new recruits before any members retire. When they do retire, another two people could be recruited as firefighters to bring down the average age of the firefighters.

Casselman had wanted to place an ad in the Record to specifically attract young people to the volunteer fire department. But Reeve Jim Cook advised him against it saying it might be discriminatory.

Casselman doesn't want to discriminate against older men joining, but he said the fire department needs young men.

Only three firefighters on the Chesterville force are under the age of 30. "I don't care what they say, it's a young man's game," he said.

Volunteers require a great deal of training. "Today you just don't walk in and take a hose. You've got to have some knowledge," he added.

The village fire department has a number of men qualified to train new recruits and Casselman stressed the older volunteers are still good firefighters. But he said the older members including himself weren't getting any younger.

In addition to recruiting new members the fire department would like to create a junior fire department for youths under the age of 18.

The youths would receive training, but only provide a supporting role because at fires they aren't permitted to get involved in dangerous situations.

The purpose of such a program would be to train youths so they can join the fire department as qualified firefighters, said Casselman.

One of the firefighters approaching retirement has offered to train up to six such youths. The program could be started as soon as the under-18 recruits can be found, he said.

MERRY CHRISTMAS FROM OUR CARTOONIST.

From Chesterville's Past

09 From the Record Dec. 23, 1909

A meeting of the Winchester Township council was held at Morewood on Dec.15. Bogart-Kirby - that this council give the reeve permission to settle the drainage account with Williamsburg Township and sign an order for the balance due Williamsburg Township on Whitteker and Barklay Creek Drains, in full for all assessments to date after deducting all expenses that are allowed in bylaw and will be lawfully expended.

49 From the Record Dec. 22, 1949

We will raise our voice with all the other and complain about the weather. Rain has accompanied the unseasonable warm temperatures and our snow has disappeared down the drain. The weather bureau has been having headaches trying to find a good snow storm to whiten things for Christmas, but to date they have only found more rain.

On Wednesday evening the Chestervlle Legionaire held a "Christening" of their new headquarters in the old Scout room behind the fire hall. The hall will be shared by the Legion members and the firemen as a meeting place. The evening was spent with music furnished by Legion members with two guitars and two harmonicas on the go and with a set of stick and block, the boys made quite an orchestra.

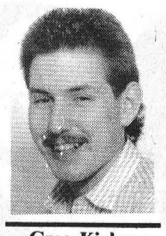
69 From the Record Dec. 24, 1969

The Christmas meeting of the Morewood Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. James on Wednesday evening, Dec. 10. In the absence of the president, Mrs. S. Mattice, the second vice-president was in charge and opened the meeting with the Ode and Mary Stewart Collect.

Column

Two different views on freedom

For the Record



Greg Kielec

I was just finishing the first coffee of the morning Thursday, trying to shake off the cobwebs and face the last day of what had been an unusually hectic week. The morning news, another necessary stimulant for those who hate to face cold winter mornings, suddenly grabbed my attention as I reached out to take another sip of coffee.

ANDREI SAKHAROV IS DEAD, read the sharply-dressed announcer on the television screen. The cobwebs suddenly disappeared from my tired mind, my interest peaked, but at the same time, I felt a slight, but negative release, almost as if something had suddenly left me.

A great hero of the Soviet people, the Soviet Union's most tenacious human rights activist had died. The Nobel prize winning rights activist had just clashed with Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev the day before over the Communist party's domination of power; it proved to be his final clash.

I never knew Sakharov personally, but just from reading of his battles for the rights of the Soviet people in the newspaper and from seeing his stands on television, I could feel a compassion for the man, an empathy for a cause he had fought for so bitterly for so long.

No greater a description can be given of the award winning activist, who turned his attention to human rights after developing the hydrogen bomb for the Soviet Union, than the statement by Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney that Sakharov personified the fight for human rights. No other name is more synonomous with the human rights issue.

What Sakharov fought for over the past 30 years in the Soviet Union is something we take for granted in Canada, the right to be free. All Sakharov wanted was for Soviets to be allowed to speak their minds and make their own choices free from government persecution.

Fighting for freedom of speech and choice and questioning the Communist party's monopoly in power, he himself became the victim of government persecution and lived a major portion of his later years in exile, banned from contact with the rest of the Soviet Union and the rest of the outside world.

Sakharov had been fighting for the freedom of the average Soviet. But the question remains: What is freedom? Reading a group of essays on freedom Thursday night, submitted in an Optimist Club essay contest, I realized there are many different views on just what freedom is, and if there even is such a thing as total freedom.

We in Canada do not have total freedom, read one of the high school student essays. There are certain constraints which are in place to protect people from the negative effects absolute freedom can have. We are a free country, but we don't have the right to rob a bank if we want money, we don't have the freedom to incite hate against a certain religious group or race, we don't have freedom from taxes.

But unlike Sakharov when he was fighting for the rights of the Soviet people, we do have the right to criticize our government and to complain about things we like to see changed without fear of persecution.

There are other constraints on the amount of freedom we have in Canada, aside from the legislative constraints implemented by the government for the general protection of the people.

Although people may not realize it, we are constrained every day by one thing not legislated by the government at all. Economics is a powerful force in Canada, and while Canadians may be free, their freedom is limited by the amount of money they have and the amount, or lack of time, they have to spend earning it.

Canadians may complain that because of this, they don't actually enjoy true freedom, but are just living under an illusion of freedom, an illusion readily perpetuated by a government backed by big business whose political success depends on the amount of business dollars available to fund a successful election campaign.

But even with these constraints, we are still a freer people than those in the Soviet Union. In the Communist government's pre-Glasnost days, the Soviet people had neither economic freedom nor political freedom. At least now they can have their say on both politics and economics.

Up until recently, people in the Soviet Union didn't have a say in the running of their own country and even the running of their own lives. Canadians, even if they don't exercise that option, still have a chance to make their concerns known.

The constraints on Canadian freedom and the constraints which were on the freedom of the people of the Soviet Union cannot be compared. If the two systems were comparable, Andrei Sakharov wouldn't have been needed to fight for the rights of the masses.

Canada and the Soviet Union are playing on two different ball fields. Andrei Sakharov did his best to at least make the playing field a little more level for the Soviet people.

A great Soviet was lost with the death of Andrei Sakharov. But at least his dream will continue on.

And as Canadians, we should hope there never is a need for a person like Sakharov to fight for the rights of the individual in this country. Maybe it takes the fights of people like Sakharov to make us realize just how fortunate we are.

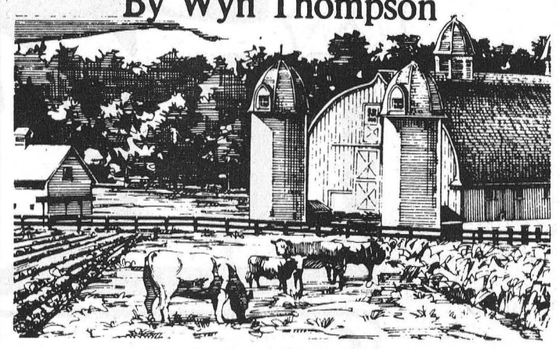
By Wyn Thompson



When the deep freeze hardens the nights and dark comes early, the solstice arrives - proof that life will be restored, that the ground will thaw, the snow will melt, and the crops for our sustinence will be planted once more.

It is human, is it not, for such an event to be cause for a celebration? And, celebrations there have always been. For example, Hanukkah, a Jewish celebration, falls at this time of the year, also.

On December 22, Jewish families light the first candle in the menora - and begin an eight-day commemoration of the triumph in 165 B.C. over a powerful enemy that had tried to ban the practice of Judaism.

And Christmas, a Christian tradition of celebrating the birth of a boy child that verified yearnings for a human symbol to mark the rebirth of love, peace on earth, and good tidings of great joy, falls at this time of year as well.

The joys of the holidays extend from an Eastern Ontario environment, across the Atlantic to a cottage in Scotland, to a French chateau, chalets in Switzerland, homes in Scandinavia, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Italy, Greece, Russia, Israel, and on until West becomes East again.

For Christians, there is a Christmas observance in each of these lands because Christmas and the solstice is interwoven by the centuries. Capricorn signals the return of the sun; Matthew tells us of the Star of the East.

The date set for Christmas is December 25, the solstice is December 21, Hanukkah is December 22. Celebrations are in the heavens and in the earth. How far back such celebrations go! Each according to tradition.

The men and women of the soil, the earliest farmers of Anglo-Saxon times, celebrated with great vigour. Fires burned majestically; wine and wassail flowed like the St. Lawrence; this was no time for gloom. A line from an old 13th century carol expressed the sentiments of the holidays, "Kick and beat the grumblers out."

These were country folk. They understood the importance of the weather, they followed the stars. From the poorest peasant to the proudest feudal lord, there was gratitude for the message of the skies.

In the valley where I live, we still do the same, as do our neighbours across the fields, as do their neighbours across town lines. There are few people who are not the most hospitable of hosts; at this bone-chilling time of year homes are warm with welcome.

I ask the Farmer when we return from wassailing how the holiday revelers of olden times could maintain the celebration pace expressed in every carol or bit of prose of the time.

The Farmer has decided it was their living on the land that helped; he is certain of that. Hanging on to a walking plow, carrying stones from a tillable field, stopping to weed an acre of potatoes, clearing stumps, gathering and chopping firewood, building stone fences, hauling hay to the barn, using a threshing flail - these are good conditioners for celebration.

"A man who has scythed his own harvest would have little trouble in devouring half a leg of ham or a gallon of wine," emphasizes the Farmer.

Luke wrote that it was the shepherds abiding in the fields, keeping watch over their flocks by night, who were the first told of the birth of the boy in the manger.

Ever since the setting has been rural. It was a farmer who watched the skies for signs of a new season. What better time to celebrate the birth of a boy (another strong back for the family), than just after the skies announced the return of light?

It was this combination that forged those wassailing Christmases of the Anglo-Saxons, and even though our holidays pale in comparision to those the peasants cheered, those of us who live in the country are still close to the roots of Christmas. We can still easily view the same constellations recorded by Matthew and Luke.

From the back step of Hill House, set on the highest point between Prescott and Ottawa, on a clear, dark, moonless Christmas Eve, I can easily count a thousand stars.

This vast inverted bowl is witness to the wonders of the universe, the mysteries of the galaxies, the phases of the moon, the certainty of the solstice, the presence of an infinity acknowledged only by faith.

Whereas from a city street, even on a clear night, there are often no stars to be seen. The luminosity of the city blinds the eyes to the mysteries above, just as other urban aspects often deny the certainty of nature.

Tall buildings obstruct the wind, windowless walls cut out the sun, the joy of a spring rain and the fragrance of the trees. For city-dwellers, Christmas must seem more than 2000 years away from its rural setting.

It is difficult to know it is Christmas if one cannot witness the stars that are part of the sundial of the seasons. I suggest that on this Christmas Even 1989, we all should turn our lights as low as possible and look up wherever we are, for to see the stars on a midnight clear is to move closer to the earth and to recapture some of nature's calm that marked the first Christmas, and inspired the country folk and the shepherds abiding in the fields.

It surely can do us no harm. To see the stars in their constellations, in their galaxies, solar system beyond solar system is to glimpse the unknown and the presence of order.

This acknowledgement sparks the joy and wonder of the Yule season - which sprang first for the ancient people awaiting the warmth of the sun, and then for the ancient people awaiting the warmth of the sun, and then for the people world-wide awaiting the birth of the Christ Child.

Christmas, as the story goes, is truly in the heavens, there for any of us who can see the stars. As I close the door on yet another Christmas Eve, I repeat again my Yuletime wish to those I know well and love deeply, and to those I shall never see,

"Give each new day its own good cheer
All other days apart,
And every day throughout the year
Keep Christmas in your heart."

Township Reeve Donald Cumming echoed Wright's comments on the review. There were no surprises contained in the ministry review, he said. "It was all just about what we expected."

The review found Roxborough's financial situation no different than most other municipalities, he said. "We're average with the other municipalities around where tax arrears are concerned.

One thing the review has recommended is that the township keep more money in its financial reserve. Cumming said the ministry and the township's auditor have recommended for years that more money be kept in reserve.

The reserve is needed in case the township is hit with unexpected expenses in the course of a budget year. Instead of running a deficit, the township can take money out of the reserve and build it back up with taxes the following year. "It's just like money in the bank."

The township's deficit problem can be partly attributed to the increased cost of running a municipality, Cumming said. Each year costs escalate, taking more money out of the township's financial coffers.

Council is to meet with Tracy Ruthman of the MMA, in an in-camera session next month to discuss the review. Council is to decide after the meeting whether to make the review public.

Ruthman said Tuesday the review done on the township is "fairly standard" and portrays Roxborough as an "average Eastern Ontario municipality," he said. "I think they're fairly normal."

The review looks at the township's tax base and how many people are moving in the township to determine how capable it is of supporting large projects such as the water and sewer works for Monkland and Moose Creek.

He said if the report has been tabled and discussed at an open council meeting, it should be available to the public. But he added, under Section 78 of the municipal act the township may be able to keep the report confidential.

palities, the public and separate school systems.

He also expressed concern over the size of counties council, quoting a report from the Ontario Ministry of Municipal Affairs that each councillor should represent a minimum of 4,000 voters. In SD&G, the number is less than 2,500.

At present, there are 37 councillors. Cousineau is hoping to reduce the size of council to 30 by next election, and 20 in two terms.

Cousineau also predicted council will be dealing with waste management once local studies are concluded later this year, and the replacement of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge.

He later stated, road maintenance will be a major concern but he stressed, upkeep and repairs will be difficult without an increase in transfer payments from the provincial government.

Payments from the government were frozen last year, said Cousineau, and under government's equalization formula he expects no increase for SD&G in the coming year.

"It's tough to remain at the same level and get no (provincial) money," said Cousineau.

But he predicted Winchester Township will benefit from the extra pull that comes with the position of warden.

"It's an honor for the municipality, and you lead at the county level," he stated.

He said it was partly in anticipation of his election that counties council passed the $375,000 renovation to County Road 7.

Cousineau is the ninth warden to come from Winchester Township.

He will sit on at least 10 counties committees, as well as municipal committees, and work at both the county and municipal level.

He has been serving on counties council for seven years, six as deputy reeve. Before that he spent two terms as a township councillor, and two terms as trustee for the police village of Morewood.

Cousineau has lived in Morewood for 27 years, and was born and raised in Russell Township.

Jim Cook, who nominated Cousineau, said the township reeve's experience will come in handy.

"Claude is well known and he's going to make an excellent warden," stated the Chesterville reeve.

At 46, Cousineau admitted he is young to be hitting the peak of his career in municipal politics. But he hesitated on whether he would eventually move to the federal or provincial level.

"It's too early to tell."

WDMH asks for $45,000

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Winchester District Memorial Hospital's fundraising trail led to Chesterville last week when the hospital asked council for a $45,000 donation for renovations.

The hospital wants to raise $2.6 million through donations to help pay for a major overhaul of the 41-year-old. The renovations are estimated to cost $5.8 million. The rest of the cost is expected to be picked up by a Ministry of Health grant.

In a letter submitted to council Dec. 13, WDMH executive director James Egan based on the requested amount on Chesterville residents' usage of the hospital. Village residents made up 5.6 per cent of the hospital admissions over the last year and a half.

Council deferred the request until it puts together next year's budget in the spring. Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook is not sure what action will be taken at budget time.

"It looks like a lot of money. We're going to have to take a hard look at it," and to see if we can figure out some way to meet it," he said.

Cook said he wasn't familiar with the hospital's proposed renovations and that council would need more information before making a decision.

In all, 26 municipal councils in the SD&G area are being approached for donations for a total of $808,000, said Egan. Winchester village council was asked Monday night to donate $88,000. Residents there make up 10.9 per cent of the hospital's admissions.

Winchester Reeve Larry Gray said Monday night that council would defer the matter until budget time and address it then. "That's certainly a steep bill," he said.

Egan is confident the municipalities will come through. As a community institution and large employer, the public will be willing to support the fundraising drive, he said.

"Traditionally support for the hospital has been very good. I'm optimistic that support will continue," he said.

The hospital raised $325,000 for a new laboratory about five years ago and municipalities made some donations. But Egan, having taken over administration only this year wasn't familiar with how much the councils donated.

One municipal council has already promised to donate some money, but Egan wouldn't say which council or how much it was contributing.

In addition to the donations from 26 councils, the WDMH has asked SD&G county council to kick in $750,000. The hospital is also canvassing service clubs, area professionals and the corporate sector, including area banks.

Supply problem slows water works project

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — The village's new water project has slowed down because of supply problems, but the project is still on schedule according to Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook.

Village council had initially hoped to open the new water works complete with new well, pipeline and pumping station, in January. But work has been held up because the contractors haven't received the three pumps for the reservoir at industrial park, said Cook.

However, he predicted the project would still be completed on schedule. Under contract guidelines the construction firm Markus Construction, has until February to complete the work on the pumping station and reservoir.

Cook made the comments referring to the delay at a council meeting Dec. 13. He admitted council had known about the delay for sometime, but downplayed its significance. "We didn't think it was that important," he said.

The supply problem shouldn't affect the total cost of the project which is estimated at $2.3 million, said Cook. The village's share of the cost is $420,000, the rest is being paid by the Ontario Ministry of Environment.

Construction on the water project was started in the summer and work on the pipeline from the well at Maple Ridge, west of Chesterville, to the pumping station is complete.

The three pumps at the pumping station reservoir will pump water from the new well. The pumps at the reservoir will in turn be controlled by a pump at the village's water tower.

Village residents can expect better tasting water when the new well becomes operational in the new year. The new source of water will overcome the threat of water shortages that comes with summer dry spells and will remove a major obstacle to development in the village.

Two subdivisions, totalling about 125 lots, are planned. One of them, about 105 lots is to be located west of Highway 43, the other, about 20 lots, near South Street. Both have been delayed until the new water system becomes operational.

Council is hoping an abundance of water and cheap real estate prices will attract new residents to generate economic growth in the village.

DILLABOUGH — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Lois who passed away Dec. 27, 1983.
Nor have you travelled far,
Just entered God's garden,
Our family chain is broken,
And nothing seems the same,
But as God takes us one by one,
That chain will link again.
Together as a family,
Once again at your side,
In God's wonderous garden,
In which all abide.
Safe in the arms of Jesus.
Sadly missed
and always remembered,

MOKE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father Lawrence, who passed away Dec. 20, 1987.

Sadly missed
and always remembered,
Ruth and family

IN MEMORIAMS

TRIBUTE TO GRANDMA
Grandma is such a wonderful name,
I love to hear it again and again.
My grandma meant so much to me,
Now all I have is a memory –
Of her beautiful smile, her serene face,
The way she did everything with grace.

She loved us all with a feeling so strong,
And made us feel we could never do wrong.
I miss her so much, but she'll always be near,
In the memories she made with me year after year.

And I know that she's happy with God up above,
But I can still feel her presence and undying love!
Jaime and Aimee

IN MEMORIAM
BECKSTEAD — In loving memory of a dear uncle, Walter, who passed away Dec. 30, 1988.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep.
Always remembered by,
Hubert, Lila
and family,
Donnie, Grace
19

BAILEY — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Greta, who passed away Dec. 25, 1987.
In tears we watched you,
We saw you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peacefully free from pain,
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.
Lovingly remembered by,
Shirley, Harry,
Darren, Kevin and Amanda
18

IN MEMORIAM
BALL — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Sheldon, who passed away, Dec. 19, 1983.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.

Peer helpers predict Xmas charity will grow

MAPLE RIDGE — The peer helpers at North Dundas District High School hope they have started an annual tradition here following the successful completion of their first ever Christmas charity drive.

"It will probably grow in the next few years," predicted Allison Gibson, one of the 11 peer helpers who helped co-ordinate a collection of clothes for the needy.

With a theme of "Let's make this a Christmas for sharing," the 11 female NDDHS students orchestrated a drive this month which brought in 16 boxes of food, a number of toys and a good supply of clothing.

Students were encouraged by the peer helpers to bring in goods from their homes.

While many useful non-perishables were donated, there was a couple of odd food offerings brought to the school. Jams from Hawaii, sauerkraut and oysters topped the list of unusual contributions to the drive.

Working on a point system for the amount of donated food, the Seaway District High School topped North Dundas 60,400 to 52,615.

"Next year we are going to beat Seaway," vowed Kelly Wilson, a peer helper working on the food drive.

Wilson, chatting at the school with other peer helpers Monday, said it "felt satisfying doing something for the public."

Unfortunately, being the first year of the drive, the peer helpers still have a few organizational snags to work out. One is being able to reach more poor than the three families so far targetted as recipients of this year's gatherings.

"I'm sure there are more needy people around here," said peer helper Shannon Summers.

Local ministries and charity organizations will help the school find suitable places to distribute what remains from the Christmas drive, noted Fran Kelly, a staff advisor.

Gibson said students responded well to the clothes drive, bringing in suitable wear for the needy.

However, some people "missed the concept," she noted of the few bathing suits and T-shirts brought in.

Of the effort overall, Gibson said: "You know you're helping people who don't have much at Christmas."

Jenny Sommerhalder said she was very satisfied with how the toy drive turned out. "It was worth the effort. It's kind of nice when you have helped other people."

Kelly is prepared for an even more fruitful drive next year, which may see the toys, clothes and food collected during separate weeks.

Kelly, however, said she is pleased with the effort put forward by the peer helpers.

Fire hall siren is retired

Siren makes way for pocket pagers

CHESTERVILLE — The piercing wail of the Chesterville Fire Hall siren, alerting firefighters to fires, became a thing of the past Wednesday night.

Council approved Dec. 13 the fire department's request to abolish the siren as a means of mobilizing the fire brigade. Instead the siren will act as backup for the pocket pagers each firefighter carries. The pocket pagers have been in use for six years now.

Chesterville Fire Chief Ross Casselman said the siren's use was eliminated to prevent curious onlookers from getting in the way of the firefighters at the scene of a fire or accident.

"You don't want a bunch of people standing around... when you're trying to do your work. We get a lot of spectators who get in the way," he said.

Eliminating the siren will also bring relief to village insomniacs and light sleepers who were awakened everytime there was an alarm. "It only disturbs the public," said Casselman.

The fire department had been debating for two years now to abolish the siren, but only now decided to go ahead with it. "It's something we're going to try to see if we can get along without it," he said.

Casselman went to council Wednesday night seeking approval and received it without objections. Reeve Jim Cook said he couldn't see the point of using it other than as a backup measure.

The siren will still be tested weekly on Saturdays and should the paging system fail, the siren will be activated.

Since the pocket pagers were put into use six years ago, emergency calls have been received at the Nestle Enterprises Ltd. security guard house.

The deputy guard then relays the emergency call on the pagers to all the firefighters with directions to the fire or accident.

The guard house was chosen as the relay centre because it is open 24 hours a day, said Casselman.

Township asks MOE to take over water works

BERWICK — Finch Township Council has asked the Ontario Ministry of Environment to take over the operation of its proposed Crysler water and sewer system upon its completion.

Council passed a resolution making the request at a regular meeting Dec. 4.

Township reeve Don Shane said the township can't afford to pay for a full-time employee to operate the future water and sewer facilities.

The township council also wants to ensure a qualified person runs the water and sewer works. "We don't have anybody qualified to do it," he said.

Shane anticipates the Crysler lagoon will be built right next to a lagoon which serves St. Albert, in Cambridge Township.

Construction is expected to start on the communal water and sewer works in 1991 and the system is scheduled to be operational by 1992.

Shane said a public meeting will be held in early January. The project engineers are expected to give revised cost estimates for the project. An earlier estimate put a $4 million price tag on the project, but Shane predicted the costs would escalate. "We figure its going up," he said.

Earlier this year the MOE promised to pay for 85 per cent of the water and sewer project.

The communal water and sewer system has been on the drawing board for over a decade now. Residents along the South Nation River in Crysler have to chlorinate their water because of its high bacteria content. At the same time sewers empty untreated waste directly into the river causing pollution.

Shane doesn't anticipate any trouble getting MOE to agree to their request.

However, the township will still have to foot the bill for the maintenance of the future communal water and sewer system, Shane added.

PROPERTY ASSESSMENT AND SCHOOL TAXES

Notice to Business Partnerships and to Publicly Traded Corporations and their Subsidiaries

Starting in 1990, the rules by which business partnerships and publicly traded corporations and their subsidiaries direct their school tax support will change. This will affect the way the property assessment base is allocated among Public, Separate and French-language School Boards.

- Business partnerships will acquire the right to support a Separate School Board, or the French-language School Board in Ottawa-Carleton, up to the proportion that the partnership is held by Separate School supporters or French-language School supporters. Until now, all partners had to be Roman Catholic or Francophone and agree to do so.
- The property assessment of publicly traded corporations and their subsidiaries will be shared between Public and Separate School Boards in the same area, and in Ottawa-Carleton by the Public, Separate and French-language School Boards, in proportion to each board's residential and farm assessment. Until now, a corporation's support for a Separate School Board, or the French-language School Board in Ottawa-Carleton, could not exceed the proportion of shares held by Roman Catholics or Francophones.

In order to implement this initiative, the Ministry of Revenue must amend its records to identify those business partnerships that wish to split their school tax support, and to identify all publicly traded corporations and their subsidiaries.

Information about the new school support rules will be sent to you in the near future, along with a Notice of Property Valuation. Please review the new rules, and then check your Notice to verify that the Ministry of Revenue has correctly identified your school support. If it's not right, please tell us. A reply form will be included with the Notice.

Your cooperation will ensure the proper allocation of your school taxes to the School Boards in your area.

Morewood Santa Claus parade whips up Christmas spirit among residents

Dashing through the snow

Joe and Luke of Dukedale Farms pull a sleigh through the snowy streets of Morewood Saturday afternoon for the Santa Claus parade. The snow and cold didn't keep people from viewing Chris Kringle's annual visit to the village, nor did it stop the 15 float entries, along with clowns and individuals who led Santa around the village.

Thinking of You at Christmas

As I sat at the fire place, watching the Christmas burn away, I listened to the soft voices of the carols, that slowly put me to sleep, as the tree flashed quickly, so did my heart. I thought of you, and the Christmas before. The laughter and joy, that we shared that night, was perfect, but now you're gone, and I miss you. Will you be back, it's never known.

The Sounds of Christmas

Amidst the bustle of Christmas this year,
These are some of the sounds you will hear,
The snowflakes falling on the roof,
That strangely sounds like a reindeer's hoof.
The rattling of presents under the tree,
As children wonder what they'll be.
And hearing these Christmas sounds make you pause,
For they make you believe in Santa Claus.

Anderson finds comfort despite loss to Rockland

Mark Brennae
Sports Editor

How does that Kim Mitchell song go? 'We are in Rock land Wonderland'?

The Rockland Nats normally are in their own world of wonder, what with a 17-1 record heading into last night's game against Chesterville. They're now 18-1 following a 6-2 victory at the Arena, but despite the outcome, it was Chesterville who was doing the dancing, to Captain Kirk's tune.

"I thought we played well," said coach Kirk Anderson. "Considering the amount of guys we had out, you know, we did play a system and for the first time, sort of went 'Yea, this system works.' "

The Flyers playing without the services of Ken Byers (wisdom teeth, ingrown toenail), all star Ray Sherrer (charley horse), Tom Reno (returned to New York for holidays) and Chris Holmes who was ill, were forced to depend on a conservative style of hockey which stresses defence first.

Anderson's new system, which was implemented just last month, is contingent upon the defencemen clearing the zone, forwards coming back, and a general effort to play the game in the neutral or offensive zone, rather than in their own end.

Despite an 18-3 drubbing at the hands of Embrun on Sunday -- a game Anderson referred to as "a horror show" -- the system seems to be working. Monday night, the Flyers played the league-leading Nats even in the first and third periods, when the teams exchanged goals, something to take notice of when you consider the Nats have scored an average of eight goals a game this season. Add the fact that heading into Monday evening's encounter, the Flyers had averaged that same amount against per game, and you begin to understand that although a loss is a loss, perhaps a ray of hope exists.

The Nats took a one goal lead after one period, but expanded it to six in the second, before Don Marcellus put the Flyers in flight with a goal from Scott Gibson and Kevin Byers.

Byers scored the only goal of the third period right off the face-off. Dan Dubois, who arrived late from work and missed the first period, won the draw, leaving the puck for Byers, who stepped into a quick snap shot that eluded Nats netminder Darren Proulx.

Anderson says his team isn't catching any breaks right now and he feels if that turns around, and if the players continue to follow his defensive strategy, better things can only come.

"We're losing a lot of pucks in skates and getting a bunch of bad bounces too," said Anderson, "but that's part of hockey. Hopefully in the second part of the year we'll get this together."

FLYER FACTS

- Anderson released defenceman Eric Paquette following Friday's 18-3 shellacking at Embrun. Good attitude says Anderson, but not ready for Junior C.
- Flyers fell 8-3 against the 86ers on Thursday, allowing four third-period goals.
- Shots on goal Monday night were 28-20 in favor of Rockland.
- Marc Saucier took two of the three losses the team has suffered since last Thursday. Ben Henry was other victim a defence still learning.
- Monday's referee, Scott Ferguson, is a better official than baseball coach, at least according to this former player.

Maple Ridge takes v-ball title

MAPLE RIDGE — Three schools fought their way into contention for the 1989 Dundas County Senior Girls Public School Volleyball championship here last Thursday.

Following some quick tabulation, event convener Scott Corden broke the tie.

Maple Ridge's "A" team and Nationview's "A" team advanced to the championship best-of-three while St. Cecilia was eliminated.

According to the plus-minus numbers, Maple Ridge was tops with a plus 70, Nationview was plus 60 and St. Cecilia plus 48.

Corden explained each school had a winning record but had posted wins over each other, forcing the plus-minus tablulations to be used to determine the finalists.

In their round robin portion of the tournament Maple Ridge defeated Nationview "A" 2-1, 15-6, 6-15 and 15-8. They lost 2-1, 5-15, 15-3 and 10-15 to St. Cecilia. Nationview "B" gave the soon-to-be crowned champs a scare, taking them to the limit before losing 2-1 - 15-10, 8-15 and 15-3. The 'Ridge then finished up with a 15-4, 15-5 sweep over Morrisburg.

Nationview "A" lost 2-1 to Maple Ridge "A" but defeated St. Cecilia 15-1 and 15-11, Stampville 15-4 and 15-11 and Morrisburg 15-6 and 15-6.

St. Cecilia lost to Nationview two-zip but defeated Morrisburg 15-71, 15-0 and 16-14, Maple Ridge "A" two games to one and Stampville 15-0 and 15-7.

Game one of the championship match was tied 10-10 before Maple Ridge pulled away on a five-point run to win it 15-10.

In the deciding second game, Maple Ridge took a 4-1 lead breaking a 1-1 tie. Nationview's "A" rallied and went up by one 5-4 before losing their service. The 'Ridge then took the ball and with Carrie Swerdfeger serving, charged into a 13-5 lead.

Nationview took the serve trailing 14-5 and closed the gap to 14-9 before they lost the ball. One serve later Maple Ridge's "A" team claimed the final and game point and the championship trophy.

Maple Ridge's two game sweep enabled them to hold on to the silverware for the third consecutive year. Their current reign began in 1986-87. That victory snapped a five-year grasp Nationview had applied on the trophy.

Stampville finished fourth with three wins, over Maple Ridge "B", Nationview "B" and Morrisburg.

Nationview's "B" team earned two wins defeating Morrisburg 2-1 and Maple Ridge "B" 2-0.

Maple Ridge's "B" squad came away with one win, and a two game sweep of Morrisburg - 15-0 and 15-7.

Morrisburg wasn't able to pick up a win.

86ers miss chance to move

North Stormont 86ers missed an opportunity to overtake the Chesterville Flyers for fifth place in the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League when they were manhandled 9-1 by Casselman Stars.

The Stars, sparked by two goals performances from Martin Hughes, Joel Lavoie, Bernard Boulerice and Chris Leclair, scored three times in each period.

Brent Leclerc scored the other Star goal, while Chris Leroux accounted for the 86er's lone score.

Leclerc's goal, his 10th of the current campaign, came at the 8:35 mark of the opening period, and cut the Stars lead at the time to 2-1.

Casselman completed the scoring with seven unanswered goals over the next 48 minutes.

Richard Gauthier played goal and saw his goals against average swell to 6.12 per game for the 86ers who, with the loss fell to 4-12-3.

North Stormont's 11 points are one less than fifth place Chesterville, who were beaten three times this week.

Coors turns out the lights

Embrun Black Hawks came up with two powerplay goals to scalp St. Albert 3-2 in Embrun Broomball action last Thursday. Also on Thursday, Coors Lite came up with their second easy victory in two weeks, dropping Dunbar 4-0.

In the other sweep game, Embrun Plumbing withstood a late power play goal to wrench away a 3-2 victory over Independent Rad.

Black Hawks 3-St. Albert 2

Brian Como opened the scoring for the Hawks in their game against St. Albert, who tied it 11 minutes later on Serge Mario's goal.

St. Albert ran into penalty trouble in the second period, resulting in goals from Glen Peterson, and Como, with his second, at the 11:40 and 6:20 marks, respectively.

Mario, with his second score of the game made it close, when he tallied with 3:59 left on the clock, but the Hawks held on for the win.

Coors Lite 4-Dunbar 0

In the evening's second game, Randy Peck scored the game-winning goal, three minutes into the match, and the Lite added three others from Don Papineau, Rob Mahoney and Dennis Daly to blank Dunbar 4-0, Scott Stevenson supplied perfect goaltending for the Lite.

Plumbing 3-Rad 2

In the evening's finale, Randay Rosenthal scored two and assisted on another as Embrun Plumbers Blocked Independent Rad 3-2.

The Rad took an early lead on John Dalgity's goal, but from that point on, it was the Plumbers who held the wrench, as Michel Papineau equalled things just a minute and a half later.

Less than two minutes after that, Rosenthal, who had just set up Papineau, gave the Plumbers a 2-1 lead.

He then extended that lead with a score two and a half minutes into the second period.

Michael Bols' goal with the man advantage and just four minutes remaining, made things close, but Embrun held on to record the victory.

Morewood moves into first-place tie

The League leaders were at it again. Guy Marion and Brian Como each score their 16th and 17th goals of the season in leading Morewood to a 5-1 decision over Ormond in a Winchester and District Broomball League game played on Sunday. The win moves Morewood into a first place tie with Russell, in the A pool.

Meanwhile, Winchester shut out Manotick 1-0, to move into first place in the B pool, one point ahead of Prescott Road, who fell by a score of 4-1 to Magnum Force.

Newington remained on the outside, looking in, as Toyes Hill doubled the count, 4-2.

In the Morewood-Ormond encounter, all the scoring was done in the second period.

Gerald Eby, the league's third leading scorer, with 86 points, gave Morewood a one-nothing lead midway in the first period, but the lead was short-lived when Brian Wiggins pulled Ormond even, less than two minutes later.

From that point, Como, the league's leading scorer, with 42 points and Marion, who is second with 38, took over.

Como, who also assisted on two other Morewood scores, put his side ahead at the 11:16 mark. Marion's two goals came in the following seven minutes, before Como's second score punctuated the win with 2:02 remaining.

GO SOUTH, YOUNG MEN

Why is it that anytime the topic of NHL expansion crops up and the city of Ottawa not immediately mentioned, people in these parts cringe in patriotic defense?

'Why should our cities be given a back seat to those in the US which are populated by no good rednecks who no nothin' about our national game?' they demand.

'How can the NHL be justified in bringing our game to places where they think playing hockey means feigning sickness in order to skip school?' they ask. 'California, they say, 'they tried it there years ago, and they wore funny white skates and it didn't work,' they insist.

Here comes the truth though, and watch it, it's going to hurt. Canada's game, not unlike our Geese, must look south in order to survive. Now before you yell and scream, and defy me to take back this blasphemous allegation or else I'll be taken to the nearest beaver pond, weighted down with those Eskimo carvings of which we are so proud, and left to bob in the water and eventually freeze under the ice, as a reminder to future NHLers who skate over me, just how undermining to the nation a statement like this could be, Forget it, it's true.

John A. Ziegler, the leagues president will surely favor the addition of two teams in California, and others in Dallas, Milwaukee and Seattle. The A in Johnny Z's name doesn't stand for "Canadian."

Heck, I'm as patriotic as the next guy. I even have a pair of red and white Stanfield underwear, made right here in the Great White North. I don't know what color of skivvies John A. Ziegler, wears, but you can forget about any maple leaf being on them. You can also forget about Ottawa, and Hamilton and for those who dream, Saskatoon, being granted an expansion team in the foreseeable future.

The future of the NHL lies in two little letters with a lot of clout behind them. TV. A major American television contract is the only thing that has kept the NHL from being able to rub elbows with the big boys of sport, the NFL, NBA and Major League Baseball.

The owners, who have just overwhelmingly agreed to expand by three teams in time for the 1991-92 season and by seven for the year 2000, eye the 1.1 billion dollar contract Major League baseball signed with CBS last year, the big dough being thrown around the NBA and US college football scenes and they salivate in unison, creating such moisture movement that it rivals Niagara Falls.

The entry fee alone, of 40-50 million dollars, minimum would also come in handy to the league. Even Harold Ballard, the belligerent old coot that he is, is in favour of expanding to the US first. Ballard is no fool. Well, not when it comes to money. He sees the market in Southern California and the possibilities in Texas and smiles. How he sees Yolanda and smiles too, but we'll have to take his greed into account to better understand.

Ballard has stated that if an NHL team were to move into the Copps Coliseum in Hamilton, he would demand at least 50 million dollars to compensate their infringement upon the Leaf's territorial rights. If Ballard thought he could make more through a big US television deal, he would support that side, which he has.

Now we know the NHL didn't fare too well in Oakland, where a bunch of seals played sick from school on white skates for a redneck named Finley, but this time it cannot miss.

The NHL cannot afford not to expand into California and perhaps even Texas right now.

With Wayne Gretzky actually being know well enough to be named UPI male athlete of the decade, hockey is at an all time high cycle. To think, even the Great One, in all his Greatness, beating out such American athletes as Larry Bird, Magic Johnson, and Joe Montana is rather surprising, yet it shows us that 'ice-hockey' down south, perhaps since the Miracle on Ice in Lake Placid, is as close as it has even been to rubbing elbows with the big boys.

The NHL must cash in on this popularity as soon as it can. Ottawa may indeed get their franchise, and Hamilton too, but not until the second or third phase of expansion.

The three teams coming in the first expansion will be located in San Diego, San Jose-San Francisco and Dallas or Milwaukee. I'm 100 per cent positive. Right down to my red and white skivvies.

Shelp's 3 pace Green

Darrel Shelp scored three times to lead frontrunning Green to a 4-3 win over second place Maroon last Wednesday night, in a game where all but one of the goals was scored by a player wearing the number nine. Kevin Moore was responsible for all the Maroon scoring.

In the other Wednesday evening game, Blue got a late goal from Todd Findlay to shade White 3-2.

In the Green-Maroon encounter, Shelp, assisted by Jamie Wyman and Wally Vanderkemp, opened the scoring midway through the opening frame. Shelp added to the lead six minutes later, converting passes from Paul Robertson and Dwayne Bazinet.

Maroon cut the lead to one less than two minutes later on Moore's first tally of the night. He then tied it when Don Imrie and Andy Windsor set him up at the seven minute mark of the middle frame.

Shelp's third goal, late in the second and Bazinet's game winner midway through the final frame proceeded Moore's third goal, as Maroon, 5-4-0, blew a chance to take over first place, and fell 3 points back of Green.

Blue's record rose to 3-6-0 following Jerrold Boulanger's two goal performance, which paced Blue to their win over White.

Blue led one-nothing until the twelve and a half minute mark of the third period, when Kevin Boyle beat Jim Hume to tie the game at one.

White took the lead less than two minutes later on a goal from Gary Beisheim, but Findlay's goal, with 1:42 left to play made the final 3-2.

With the loss, White fell to 3-5-1, just one point ahead of Blue, in third place.

NGS midgets still in first

North Glen-Stor Midgets were beaten by South Stormont last Thursday, but came back on Sunday to defeat Cornwall, to remain atop the standings of the Lower St. Lawrence Minor Hockey League.

On Thursday, John Grady's shorthanded score was the only offence NGS could muster.

Kevin McCormick in the first, Mike McAllister in the second, and Darin Bougie in the third, accounted for the Flyers scoring.

Sunday NGS counted one in the first, one in the second and two more in the third to down Cornwall 4-1.

The victory gave NGS 20 points after 17 games, four more than second place South Stormont, who have four games in hand.

Paul Jackson, Chris Leroux scored goals at the 17 minutes mark of the first and second period respectively while Danny MacMillan and Tim McRae added goals in the final two minutes of the third, to seal the victory.

The closest Cornwall got was to tie midway through the opening frame, on Richard Fox's score.

The loss leaves Cornwall in third place, two points back of South Stormont.

Robinson salvages point

Brad Robinson's second goal of the week enabled the North Dundas Demons to escape with one out of a possible four points in UCMHL action last week.

This past Sunday, the Demons were trounced 7-2 by Brockville Warriors. Last Thursday, Robinson's goal, midway through the third period, enabled the Demons to come away with a 2-2 tie against visiting North Leeds.

In the Sunday game, Brockville scored three power play goals, including two by Darrell Whiteland to beat the Demons. North Dundas goalscorers were Jamie O'Reilly in the second period, and Robinson in the third. The Warriors scored three in the first, one in the second and three more in the third.

In the Thursday encounter, Gerry Vankessel scored the first Demon goal at the 10:50 mark of the middle frame. David Mulville staked North Leeds to an early 1-0 lead at 2:07 of the opening period. After Vankessel pulled the Demons even, Dan Ferguson regained the lead for North Leeds, until Robinson's game-tieing score.

Atom B Demons fall short

North Dundas Atom B Demons could not come back from a 4-0 first period deficit en route to a 6-3 loss at the hands of Russell, in a UCMHL game played in Chesterville, last Friday night.

Russell got two goals from Stephen Charlebois, including the game's first score at 13:33 of the opening period.

Just over a minute later, Russell increased their lead to 2-0 on Jonathon Stephens' goal.

The Demons had nothing in the way of offence until the 8:43 mark of the second period, when Tylor Copeland, with the first of his two, put North Dundas on the board. By that time, Russell had put together a 6-0 lead, on goals from Stephen Lapiere, Travis Wilkie, Kris Boucher, and Charlebois, with his second. Less than a minute after Copeland's goal, Michael Casselman made it a 6-2 game. Copeland's second of the game pulled the Demons within three, but that is as close as they got.

Atom A Demons tied up

SMITHS FALLS — The home town Bears needed a pair of third-period goals here Sunday to pull out a 2-2 UCMHL tie against the visiting North Dundas Seaway Valley Pharmacy Atom A Demons.

North Dundas led the Bears 2-0 after a period. Wes McLeod opened the game, scoring from Jason Ross and Terry Wagner at 6:16 of period one. Warren Holmes' unassisted goal at 6:07 increased the lead to 2-0. That difference stood until late in period three.

Jed Thomson cut the Demons' lead to 2-1, scoring at 8:58. Daryl Drew snapped in the tying marker on a Smiths Falls' powerplay with 7:42 left in the game.

Daryl Beck stopped 17 Bears' shots while the Demons pumped 23 at the Bears' cage.

North Dundas also battled the Osgoode/Rideau Senators to a 2-2 (exhibition) tie last week.

North Dundas took a 2-0 lead on the Senators and then surrendered two third-period markers in the tie.

Ryan Filion put North Dundas on the board scoring from Ryan Swerdfeger and Wes McLeod at 9:01. Craig Holmes made it 2-0 scoring on a Terry Warner feed at 4:25.

Osgoode got their goals from Spencer Sorgat at 8:53 and Adam Marshall with 2:44 left to knot the score.

Brrrrrr...

Unfortunately, we're all learning a lot more than we ever wanted to know about trying to withstand the cold this winter. Here are a few more tips to help us survive. With these pointers, January should be a breeze (ouch!).

- Dress for the cold. If the temperature is -15 (balmy, these days), but the wind chill makes it -25, dress for -25.

- Wearing at least three layers of clothing. The innermost layer should be absorbent, with a sweatshirt of natural material on top, followed by a windbreaker of cotton (to allow the sweat to evaporate (although I don't know if anyone is sweating, these days). Then, a regular winter jacket or coat could follow. A turtleneck, followed by a track suit makes a great first layer.

- A hat's a must. Most blood vessels contract to save heat in cold weather, but the blood vessels in the head stay open to keep blood going to the brain. That's why we lose 50 per cent of body heat through our head.

- Mittens are warmer than gloves, since they have less surface area to lose heat. Also, we can ball up our fists to help increase warmth.

- Two pairs of thin socks work better than one pair of thick ones.

- We should make sure our boots are loose enough so they don't slow the flow of blood that keeps us warm.

- Our lips always seem so dry and chapped in cold weather. Try a mixture of lemon juice and glycerin, or a great protection layer of vaseline.

- Especially in this most festive of seasons, we must keep in mind that cold weather and alcohol just don't mix. Even though it makes you feel warm, alcohol actually causes the blood vessels nearest the surface of the skin to expand, so you lose heat more rapidly. That increases the risk of frostbite.

- Try your best to keep your mood light. Winter depression may be associated with an increase in the hormone called melatonin, which our bodies produce when light is restricted. Of course, the remedy is exposure to the sun. Apart from joining the mass exodus to the South, try to get ouside whenever you can. Or, try opening windows if and when the weather permits. Glass filters out most ultraviolet rays of which we need a little these days. Go without sunglasses at least some of the time. As much as possible, take your walks at noon, when the sun is at its brightest.

- You should beware of snow shovelling. That innocent-looking white stuff can be deadly. Deaths go up after a blizzard, and the vast majority are related to snow shovelling, due to heart attacks. This is especially true if this is your only source of exercise throughout the year. If you must shovel, rest often, and stop if you overheat, feel your heart pound, or suffer other signs of exertion. Even people in good health can be affected. However, if you exercise regularly, especially aerobically, there is little danger.

- If you must drive in bad weather, carry a colored scarf to tie on your antenna or door handle if you're in trouble, to signal for help. You'll be seen in all that whiteness. Keep candles in an empty coffee can for melting snow if you get stuck. Also a candle can give a surprising amount of heat inside your car if you're stranded. Keep an emergency pack of extra clothing and plastic bags to wrap around you in case you have to leave the car.

Don't worry if you've gained a few pounds, and you haven't even BEGUN to celebrate. It's just Mother Nature's way of trying to insulate us during the winter. She slows our metabolism for the same reason. This excuse, however, should not be used to the extreme. Have a wonderful holiday.

My Silent Achiever this week is a beautiful, blonde, Winchester grandmother who lives right beside the Arena. She is in such awesome shape that she often can be seen talking two aerobic classes a day! Even her children have been complimenting her on her shapely legs. Good For You!

We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.

Christmas exchange

Kelly MacGregor is a little hesitant when offered a package from Santa and Mrs. Claus after Morewood's Santa Claus parade Saturday. With a little persuasion from her mother Janet, Kelly eventually agreed. The packages of candy were handed out courtesy of the Morewood Recreation Association who sponsored the parade.

WI to help theatre

CHESTERVILLE — Although present temperatures are plunging to record lows, the Upper Canada Playhouse executive is making plans for another season of summer theatre in the tent-theatre and the Women's Institute branches of Dundas County are each making plans to do what they can to help.

District President Vivian Fawcett and her committee, with Lois Rosenquist as guest, met for lunch at Mary's Restaurant, in Winchester recently to consider projects being undertaken.

Rietta Hillis presented several fundraising ideas and announced that the Morewood ladies will have a bake sale and tea on Feb. 10. She also had news of Stormont District which is having a Valentine tea and sale on Feb. 14, to support the theatre.

Ruth Algire, P.R.O. for Dundas District, reported plans being made by various branches to raise money with bake sales, euchres, a community quilt project and, possibly, a cabaret production by one branch.

Everyone in the community is urged to support the project to save the theatre. Donations of money are always welcome and very useful. When the repairs to the building start in the spring, volunteer labor will be needed.

And for those who like to write letters, drop a line to the appropriate members of parliament to encourage them to give support to this community cultural project.

Top guns

Frank Scheepers and Graham Ball were the top shooters on Saturday at the Winchester Trap and Skeet Club.

Despite cold weather, there was a favorable turnout of shooters. Scheepers and Bell, as well as Bill Iven, Jake Geertsma and Claude Dillabough were all recipients of a Christmas turkey. Scheepers and Ball, because of their great aim and hardy appetite, each took home two.
